THE AIM

Of our continual optical advertising is to awaken this community to the fact that it possesses eyes, and that they may require glasses if such be not already used; or that, if they be already used, they may not be the best ones for the eyes. We want members of the public to come to us to find out about these points, and when they come they are satisfied that we know our business.

CITY AND DISTRICT

C. H. Bull has been given the exclusive Agency for the celebrated Mason & Risch Piano of Toronto, for the Counties of Hastings and Prince Edward.

Among the names omitted from the list of invited guests of the Corby-Laidlaw nuptials were Mr and Mrs. J. A. Laidlaw and Mr. C. C. Leavens.

The Ladies' Benevolent Society of St. Michael's Church will give an At Home in the C.O.F. Hall, Monday, Nov. 6, at 8:30. Progressive pedro, music, dancing and refreshments. Tickets 25 cents. d1-4

Plays may come and plays may go, but the Irish drama as portrayed by Joseph Murphy and his complete company seems to run on forever, and possess a charming freshness for a large and intelligent class of theatre going public. Nor is the fact strange when one considers that the hero of such a piece always has the warmest heart and the wittiest tongue in all his country, and the villain is generally the worst scoundrel in Ireland or out of it, and that the schemes to obtain the hand in marriage of the fair heroine are usually foiled with a zest and faculty that make the unmasking and defeat of lesser villains in other plays appear actually tame.

A Suspended Sentence.

County Constable Jonhson yesterday arrested a boy named George Baxendale, charged with entering the residence of Mr. Theodore Parks, near Deseronto, and stealing a silver watch and chain. It is alleged by the boy (who belonged to the home) that Parks owed him money as wages and he could not get it, hence he took the watch. Mr. W. Joyce, with whom the boy is now living, gave him a good character and desired to retain him. The articles taken being recovered, the accused was given a suspended sentence of three months in jail, and allowed to return home with Mr. Joyce.

AFTERNOON DESPATCHES.

MULES STAMPEDED WITH AMMUNITION

And thus Caused the Disaster to the British at Ladysmith.

Captured Force Numbered 1450 Men—Ammunition was Exhausted at 3 o'clock, and when the Enemy Charged the Survivors Were Captured—All Cheerful at Ladysmith—Gen White Deposed.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—The Boers closed around Ladysmith again on Monday night, sending shell into the British camp. The artillery duel was still in progress last night.

The guns of the British naval brigade have knocked a Boer 40-pounder clean off its platform and silenced the guns at Hepworth Hill, overlooking Ladysmith, forcing the Boers to abandon their position.

The Boer loss must have been heavy.

In his despatch Gen. White says: "The lost detachment under Col. Carleton started Sunday night to seize Nicholson Nek, thus turning the enemy's right.

Carleton got within two miles of Nicholson Nek unmolested, when suddenly boulders were rolled from the hill and a few shots were fired. This stampeded the mules drawing the ammunition and they disappeared in the direction of the enemy with practically all the gun equipments. Carleton then entrenched his forces on a neighboring hill.

At 9:30 o'clock Monday morning the Boers attacked the British position in heavy force.

Their fire was searching and two companies of the Gloucester Regiment were obliged to retire from their advanced position. The enemy then pressed on at close range and our losses were numerous.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon our ammunition was practically exhausted.

When the Boers stormed our position our survivors surrendered.

The enemy treated the wounded with great humanity. Gen. Joubert has dispatched a letter offering me safe conduct for doctors and ambulances to remove our wounded; these have been sent. I understand the prisoners have been sent to Pretoria. The failure of the column was due to the stampeding of the mules. The security of Ladysmith is unaffected.

GEN. WHITE SUPERSEDED

LONDON, Oct. 31.—Field Marshal Lord Wolseley cabled Sir Redvers Buller, Commander-in-Chief of the British forces in South Africa, to day, advising him to appoint Gen. Sir Archibald Hunter to succeed Gen. Sir George Stewart White in command of the army at Ladysmith.

Gen. Hunter was second in command to Gen. White.

He is a veteran of the South.

DESERONTO CONSERVATIVES

Held a Very Enthusiastic Rally Last Night—Address by Mr. W. B. Northrup—Officers Elected.

(Special to the INTELLIGENCER.)

Deseronto, Nov. 1.—A very enthusiastic meeting of the Deseronto Liberal Conservative Association was held last evening for the election of officers and general business. W. B. Northrup gave a very interesting address, and the following officers were appointed for the year:

Dr. John Newton, Hon. President.
James Dryden, President.
A. A. Richardson, Vice-President.
Thos. J. Naylor, Secretary.
William Irvine, Treasurer.

After debating as to when the election would take place, and speeches from the officers, the meeting closed with perfect confidence in Sir Charles Tupper as leader. Cheers were given for Her Majesty and the crowd dispersed.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING

That the White man's burden at Ladysmith seems to be a heavy one.

That the Naval Brigade at Ladysmith gave somebody a chance to write another song about "Jack."

That it is quite natural to love this mild autumn weather when you think of the coal you don't have to buy.

That Canadian hearts are all right, but we wouldn't risk our reputation for veracity by saying that about some of their stomachs just now.

That when you come to think of it, it was a funny thing the flag was not hoisted on the Government building in Ottawa when the contingent from that City left for the Transvaal. Mr. Tarte says he did not give orders that it should not be hoisted. It may also be noted that he did not give orders that it should be hoisted.

That the Hallowe'en pranks last night were carried altogether too far. In some cases wilful damage was done. Mr. James Riggs, north Front street, was one victim. He reports that his fence was torn down and badly smashed, and that the repairs will cost him more money than he can afford. He would not mind if they had carried off his gate—he would have fetched it back and taken the joke good-naturedly, but he does not think—and many will agree with him—that Hallowe'en jokes should be carried so far. The worst feature of it is that the perpetrators were not little boys, but fellows big enough and ugly enough to know better. The police are looking into the matter, and it is to be hoped the perpetrators may be punished.

WEDDED IN UNCLE SAM'S DOMAIN.

A Belleville Young Lady Marries a Resident of Oswego.

On Sunday night, at St. Agnes' R. C. Church, Schenectady, N. Y., a wedding occurred in which a well-known Belleville lady was one of the principals. The groom was Mr. Thomas J. Ryan, a commercial traveller of Oswego, N.Y., and the bride Miss Amelia La Londe, daugher of Mr. Henri La Londe, residing on Dundas st. The bride was very prettily costumed in a suit of torquoise blue, with hat to match, and was assisted by her sister, Miss Dollie La Londe, who wore a suit of green broadcloth, with hat to match. The bride's travelling suit was of brown, with hat to match. Many were present at the church to witness the ceremony. Mrs. Ryan was for four years a resident of Oswego as a music teacher, and filled the position of leading soprano in the St. Louis R. C. Church of that town. She has a great number of friends in this city who will wish her every prosperity and happiness.

"FINEST THING I EVER SAW"

So Said one of the Gentlemen Who Went to Quebec

To See the Contingent Off—The Last Day Was a Hard One, But the Boys Stood the Strain Like Veterans.

The Belleville deputation has returned from Quebec, and if you ask one of 'em what it was like he simply shrugs his shoulders and says: "It was grand." Words fail him when he attempts to describe it. The following gentlemen went to Quebec: Mayor Johnson, Sir Mackenzie Bowell, Col. Ponton, Major Pope, Major Donald, Major Biggar, Capt. Stewart, Capt. Marsh, Lieut. McGinnis and Lieut. Morden.

They found and left the Belleville men in good health and spirits.

The last day's work was a hard one on the men, they being under arms from 8 in the morning till the Sardinian sailed.

Owing to the date being changed for the vessel's sailing they did not have the time with the boys they would have liked.

D. Co., the one to which the Belleville squad is attached, had already fallen in when the City's representatives reached them, but the company commander, at the request of the Mayor, ordered the Belleville men to step two paces to the front, and His Worship, accompanied by Sir Mackenzie, walked down the line and shook hands with each man, at the same time presenting them with the City's gift of £4.

The men were proud and delighted, and cheered loud and long for Belleville and the Mayor.

Col. Ponton's letters and messages were eagerly pounced on, and all the boys sent their fondest love to the friends at home.

It was the privilege of Mayor Johnson, Sir Mackenzie Bowell and Col. Ponton, through the courtesy of Mayors Parent, of Quebec, and Prefontaine, of Montreal, to accompany the Sardinian for four miles on her voyage down the river.

"It just beggared description. We had a band on board, and they played patriotic airs all the time. We located our boys all together on the forecastle and they had the biggest Union Jack on the ship to stand under. They saw us but didn't know we saw them, and Frank Lynn was sent back to the stern of the vessel with a message. Pretty soon a roar came to us: 'The Belleville boys are under the flag.' We shouted back: 'We see them, God bless 'em.' Then Lieut. Hulme came to the side of the Sardinian and shouted: 'God bless Belleville for this send-off.' Then they grouped themselves together again and we got their final message, 'Love to all at home.'"

THE STREET PARADE.

The scene when the Contingent was marching down to the dock was an extraordinary one. The deputations from various cities, who had come to see their boys off, shouted and cheered as the well known faces went by, and when the Belleville men came our representatives nobly kept up their end. What they lacked in numbers they made up in noise.

In conversation with one of the gentlemen just returned, THE INTELLIGENCER was told that the scene when the Regiment was drawn up on parade was the most notable sight in the memory of anyone present. When you looked from the street you saw first the grand stand, on which were the Governor-General and his suite. Just above them was the Royal Canadian Regiment, just about to embark for active service in the Transvaal. Immediately behind them were the Quebec troops, with their gay uniforms in striking contrast to the sombre black of the "Special Servicemen;" behind them the spectators, with handkerchiefs and hats waving, the roof and spires of the Parliament Buildings forming a fitting background to the whole, and on the topmost spire of all, gleaming brightly in the glorious autumn sunshine, waved the meteor flag of our Mighty Empire, the grand Old Union Jack. It was not a planned effect, but it was wonderful.

As before stated, the men had a hard day, and it was beginning to tell on some of them as they marched to the wharf to embark, but the hearts of the Belleville spectators leaped with pride when they saw how jauntily and sturdily the men of Co. "D" stepped out. Not a man in Co. "D" or the Toronto company showed any sign of weakness, and our Belleville representatives have nothing but words of pride and good cheer to present to the anxious hearts left behind.

NOTES.

Gen. Hutton said: "That was the finest demonstration I ever saw."

Mr. Cook, correspondent of the London Times, when he heard this City had sent fourteen men, and also had a party down to say good bye, said, "Well done, Belleville."

Major-Gen. Hutton was highly pleased with the send-off the Fifteenth gave their boys at Quebec.

"It made us feel proud and delighted," said His Worship the Mayor and Col. Ponton, "to see the affectionate reverence which was shown to Sir Mackenzie by the prominent citizens of Montreal and Quebec."

Dolls' Day FOR VICI KID.

The little women cannot begin too early to know the very best of shoe leather; the softest, easiest, most pliable, and most lasting shoe leather. That is precisely the kind they want for their dolls. Nothing is too good for dolly. And so we have arranged to give every girl in Belleville who, accompanied by a parent, brings her doll to the store on Friday, a pair of genuine "Vici Kid" Slippers for the little play-child's feet. No matter how big the doll or how little, we have a pair of slippers ready for its feet.

Do you wonder why we give away dolls' slippers of real Vici Kid—the best and costliest kid that goes into shoes? Of course, you do. Something for nothing isn't the usual way. It isn't the way with these Vici Kid slippers, either.

There is but one genuine Vici Kid. Mr. Robert H. Foerderer produced that kid and named it. There are many imitations. We want every girl and every woman to know exactly what the genuine Vici looks like and feels like. Then the men will all know, too.

And so we make these dolls' slippers, knowing well that in her play-talk dolly will tell how soft and easy they are, and the little girl and all the house will see how handsome and tough they are—what a perfect shoe leather they are made of. This will make them all ask for Vici Kid shoes for themselves, and make them insist upon getting the genuine.

That is why these dainty slippers are so gladly given away; they carry the story and the fact of Vici Kid into every house they enter.

Bring the dolly, big or little. If we haven't a fit ready for her, we'll make the slippers to order.

During this week we have a ladies' maid at our store teaching shoe care by proper dressing. It means better wear, better looks, better satisfaction from shoes—money in one's pocket. No charge.

HAINES & LOCKETT.

THE MYSTERY OF COUNT LANDRINOF

BY FRED WHISHAW.

COPYRIGHT 1899 BY THE AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION.

or my friend. At Londestone no one had been known as Fidus and Adaes. He would come as a guest at present. If afterward it should turn out that mother required some one as agent or clerk or whatever you like to call it, then Percy would step forward and say, "Will I do?"

So we dined and drove to Victoria, and Percy saw me off, promising to follow by the same train tomorrow or next day.

I had plenty to think about during the journey as the train flew through Holland and Germany and presently through my own poor, barren looking native country—the mystery of my father's disappearance and the thousand and one conjectures that grew out of it. the dead days of dear Toddlestone; Oxford and its untried delights, long looked forward to, now suddenly nipped in the bud; the match and my sudden revelation of talent; sweet visions of varsity matches saved by me for Oxford, foolish dreams, but consoling things that helped me to pass through that trying time of suspense and uncertainty! I arrived at St. Peterburg at last.

One of our men was at the station to meet me and a carriage waited outside. I asked after my mother.

"The countess is well," said the man, "but"—he hesitated.

"Well, but what—speak!" I said. "Is my father well also?" I said this on purpose to watch the fellow's face in order to observe whether father's mysterious absence was a matter of general knowledge in the establishment at least.

"The count is still absent," said the man, "and the countess, though well—it is said—in health, will, I believe, be very glad to see her son!"

This was oracular quite and revealed just about as much as the old Grecian oracles were wont to predict, which was just nothing. I could not gather from the fellow's face whether he knew of our trouble or only guessed it.

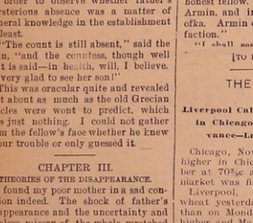

CHAPTER III.

THEORIES OF THE DISAPPEARANCE.

I found my poor mother in a sad condition indeed. The shock of father's disappearance and the uncertainty and helpless misery of the whole wretched affair had quite upset her, and for the time being at least she was practically in a state of collapse.

She lay in bed, looking a shadow of her real self, and she burst into tears when I entered the room.

"My son, my son!" she cried. "Thank God you have come, for we poor women are wretched beings when we are suddenly deprived of the strong arm in which we have trusted."

"I thank God, too, mother, that I came," I said. "though I feel sure that we shall not be deprived for long of dear old father's presence!"

"Oh, do you really believe it?" she wailed. "I have tried to—so hard, but I feel I am losing my hope. Tell me, my Boris, have you formed any theory—do you found your hopes upon anything you know or have thought out?"

"I cannot form a theory, mother, until I know the facts," I said, "but I have a kind of feeling that we shall find father in God's good time. Be sure we shall be surprised when we know it at the simple solution of what seems so mysterious now; we shall langh and say, 'How is it we never thought of it?'"

"Heaven knows—heaven knows! I cannot tell what to hope or believe. And did you think it thoughtless or unnecessary in me to have sent for you and put an end to your Oxford career?"

"Mother," I said, "I would not have staid away from you for a hundred years of Oxford! Besides, when father comes home I shall be able to return. Now, tell me all the particulars, darling, and then we can consult quietly."

Mother dried her tears and sat up and told me how

Father, it appeared, had traveled by the private railway to Erinofka, a big moor, the shooting of which he rented with two other sportsmen, a Russian grand duke and an English gentleman called Halbert. Father liked the place principally for the excellence of its buttons for elk. This was not the season for elk, but he had set out on the Tuesday morning, intending to walk the moors for grouse and black game on the Wednesday and to return by the midnight train that day, but he had not returned up at home. Mother had waited till Thursday night, thinking that possibly father might have found the birds so plentiful that he had decided to remain another day. But when Friday morning had come and still father had not arrived mother grew anxious and telegraphed to the head keeper at Erinofka, inquiring whether father was still there.

An answer came presently to the effect that father had left on Thursday evening with the rest of the party.

Then mother sent a man down to the lodge, 40 miles away, to make inquiries, but nothing had transpired excepting that father had undoubtedly been to the lodge and had as certainly left it again to return to town.

"That's all," said mother. "I waited until the Tuesday, as you know, to send for you, my beloved, and now you have come. At least we can bear our sorrow together. Alas, what else is left to us but to bear it?"

"Oh, mother, much," I said encouragingly. "The time has not nearly arrived to give way to despair. Believe me, I shall not rest until I have either found my father or learned the secret of his disappearance. Cheer up, my sweet. It is not like you to give way. You are to brave and sensible. All the world knows that!"

"I can bear ascertained calamity, said poor mother. "When one knows the full extent of the trouble, it can be borne more easily. It is the uncertainty of this that has unnerved me. But you are right. We ought still to hope, my Boris. I will be brave. I will hope as you do. We will not despair until we have done all that there is to be done. What shall be our first move? Come, tell me. You have done some good already. Thank God that I have still a brave son. What is to be done?"

"Percy is coming to help me tomorrow or next day," I said. "I thought it would be as well to have him here. You know him and like him."

"And meanwhile I shall go to Erinofka by the very first train I can catch tomorrow morning in order to make inquiries on the spot. Whom did you send from here?"

"The second coachman, Pavel, an honest fellow. He knows the keeper, Armin, and interviewed him at Erinofka. Armin could give him no satisfaction."

"I shall see Armin for myself and

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

Toronto, Nov. 1.—The run of live stock at the Cattle Market here yesterday was light for Monday's market, 62 loads, made up of 910 cattle, 1,340 hogs, 1,083 sheep and lambs, and 40 calves. Quality of fat cattle was fair, being somewhat better than for several weeks past. Trade was dull, except for the best grades of exporters and butchers' cattle, which were very scarce and readily picked up. Lambs were firm, especially for the best qualities. The market for hogs took a drop of 12½c per cwt. Milch cows were few in number, and high prices prevailed; more good cows and springers would have found ready sale.

THE FEAR OF HUMBUG

Stomach troubles are so common and in most cases so obstinate to cure that people are apt to look with suspicion on any remedy claiming to be a radical, permanent cure for dyspepsia and indigestion. Many such pride themselves on their acuteness in never being humbugged, especially in medicines.

This fear of being humbugged can be carried too far, so far, in fact, that many people suffer for years with weak digestion rather than risk a little time and money in faithfully testing the claims made of a preparation so reliable and universally used as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Now Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are vastly different in one important respect from ordinary proprietary medicines for the reason that they are not a secret patent medicine, no secret is made of their ingredients, but analysis shows them to contain the natural digestive ferments, pure aseptic pepsin, the digestive acids, Golden Seal, bismuth, hydrastis and nux. They are not cathartic, neither do they act powerfully on any organ, but they cure indigestion on the common sense plan of digesting the food eaten thoroughly before it has time to ferment, sour and cause the mischief. This is the only secret of their success.

Cathartic pills never have and never can cure indigestion and stomach troubles because they act entirely on the bowels, whereas the whole trouble is really in the stomach.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets taken after meals digest the food. That is all there is to it. Food not digested or half digested is poison as it creates gas, acidity, headaches, palpitation or the heart, loss of flesh and appetite and many other troubles which are often called by some other name.

They are sold by druggists everywhere at 50 cents per package. Address F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich., for little book on stomach diseases, sent free.

Henry Anderson visited at Mr. Thomas Arthur's on Sunday.... Mrs. Benjamin Leavens, daughter of Mr. Geo. Curry, of Belleville, died here on Thursday last and was buried at the English Church cemetery Saturday. Mrs. Leavens has been ill for a long time, and leaves two little boys and a husband to mourn her loss.

A REVERSE NOT A DISASTER.

His Excellency's Eulogium on the Contingent, Which Got a Great Send-Off at Father Point, and Which Passed Out to Sea at 5.30 p.m. Tuesday Night — A Second Contingent Suggested at Quebec.

Montreal, Nov. 1.—Lord Minto, the Governor-General of Canada, in a speech delivered here last night before the Caledonian Society, took occasion to refer to the situation in the Transvaal. Lord Minto, who is an old English army officer, denied that the recent news showed a disaster. It might be a reverse, but it would stimulate the English for the end they had in view. Lord Minto also praised Gen. Buller, who, he said, had won the Victoria Cross over and over again, and who was a credit to the Gordon Highlanders, which had turned out so many splendid officers.

THE CANADIANS.

Father Point, Que., Nov. 1.—The troopship Sardinian passed outward at 8.30 a.m. yesterday. The vessel was boarded here and all were found to be in happy trim, moving about the decks in a lively step, laughing and joking. Not a mournful countenance was met. All seemed impressed with the duty they owed to the brave old flag, for the honor of Canada. They were delighted with the magnificent send-off they got at Quebec. Capt. Johnson said in conversation that he had seen many troops embarked on troopships, but never did he see better handling, discipline and comportment aboard ship. He is proud of his passengers.

Mayor McWilliams boarded ship, taking a large case of British magazines to the boys, for which he received three rousing cheers, and he sold up a British ensign at 'arm's length on leaving the ship, and three more cheers rang out from stem to stern of the troopship, with cries, "We will hold it up."

Little Metis Signal Station, Que., Nov. 1.—The Sardinian passed out at 10.30 a.m. yesterday. All well.

Cape Magdalene Light, Que., Nov. 1.—Sardinian outward 8.10 p.m. She answered our whistle of good-bye. Fine weather.

A Captain as a Private.

Kingston, Nov. 1. — Capt. Bruce Carruthers, a graduate of the Royal Military College, having been refused a commission in the Canadian contingent, quietly slipped off to Quebec and entered the service as a private. He is a son of the late John Carruthers.

Gift to the Contingent.

Quebec, Nov. 1.—Thomas C. Ormsdorff, of Worcester, Mass., presented to the contingent yesterday one thousand bandoliers, valued at over $1,600. These carry each 400 rounds of ammunition. The gift is a most generous one, and deserves the hearty thanks of every Canadian.

HOWARD WAS TOO LATE.

The Gatling Gun Man Wanted to Go With Canadian Contingent.

Quebec, Nov. 1.—Captain A. L. Howard, of Gatling gun fame, who arrived in the city Monday evening, is to-day a disappointed volunteer. He arrived here just in time to be too late, and consequently goes not form one of the contingent on board of the Sardinian, now sailing for the seat of war in South Africa. Mr. Howard preferred his services to the military authorities to act in any capacity in the ranks and allow his salary to be devoted to the ambulance corps, and on last Saturday morning started for Quebec, from where he was located, about 100 miles north of Lachine. He drove in a team for many miles as far as Cap Lumet, but unfortunately missed the train at that point, and consequently was unable to reach the ancient capital in time.

A Second Contingent.

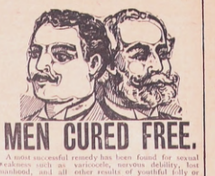

It is seriously suggested here in military circles that the Canadian Government, in view of the recent disaster in South Africa, and the number of Canadian volunteers anxious for service abroad, should offer a second contingent of Canadian troops. If this is not done, it is said that the dozen or two officers who want to go should be sent.

LORD MINTO'S SATISFACTION.

Quebec, Nov. 1.—The following military orders were issued last evening in compliance with the order received from the general officer commanding the militia of Canada.

"I am instructed to convey to Military District No. 7 that His Excellency the Governor-General has been pleased to express his cordial satisfaction at the orderly appearance and disciplined embarkation of our comrades and representatives of the second special service battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment, on Monday, the 30th inst. The general officer commanding also desires to express his congratulations to all concerned upon this auspicious event in Canadian military history. By order, Geo. Rolt White, colonel, acting D.O.C., M.D. 7.

"In accordance with instructions received from the Deputy Minister, I am requested in the name of the Minister of Militia and Defence, to convey his cordial thanks to His Worship the Mayor and the citizens of Quebec, and to express his extreme satisfaction at the loyal demonstration accorded to the second special service battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment, on the 30th inst., on the occasion of their departure for active service in South Africa. By order, George Rolt White, lieutenant-colonel, acting D.O.C. M.D. 7.

MEN CURED FREE.

A noted successful remedy has been found for sexual weakness such as varicocele, nervous debility, lost manhood, and all other results of youthful folly or excesses. It cures any case of the difficulty named, failure to restore the full natural strength and vigor. The Doctor who made this wonderful discovery wants to let every man know about it. He will therefore send the receipt, giving the natural ingredients so he can get that all men at a trifling expense can cure themselves. He would like every sufferer to write him and he will forward the same and address to L. W. Knapp, M.D., 274 Hull Bldg., Detroit, Mich., regarding the free receipt as reported in this paper. It is a generous offer, and all men ought to be glad to have such an opportunity.

The Company owns over twelve thousand acres of rich copper land in Texas, opened, tested, developed and NOW BEING OPERATED. Millions of tons of copper bearing clay and marl running from five to ten per cent., and large quantities of ore carrying from fifty to seventy per cent. copper in sight. Cheaply mined and treated, favorable climate, cheap fuel, and ample water. Stated by geologists, chemists, experts and engineers to be one of the greatest and best in the world. Amount of land, quantity and quality of ore, cheapness of mining and treatment, the increasing demand and profit in producing copper considered, the Boston and Texas Copper Company possesses unequalled advantages and affords the best kind of an investment.

COPPER MINING IS THE SAFEST AND MOST PROFITABLE OF ALL INDUSTRIES.

Calumet and Hecla ore averages 4 1-2 per cent. copper. It has paid $62,850,000 dividends

Tamarack ore averages 3 per cent. It has paid $5,910,000 in dividends.

Atlantic ore averages 85-100 of 1 per cent. It has paid $780,000 in dividends.

Boston and Montana ore runs 7 per cent. It has paid $10,775,000 in dividends.

Franklin ore averages 1 37-100 per cent. It has paid $1,290,000 in dividends.

The Quincy ore averages 1 8-10 per cent. It has paid $11,070,000.

THE AVERAGE OF BOSTON & TEXAS ORE IS OVER 50 PER CENT., and of copper marls and clays from 5 to 10 per cent. Both the ore, marl and clay are within a few feet of the surface of the ground, so that the expense of mining and hoisting is minimized. A party of New England capitalists who have just returned from an examination of the mines in conjunction with one of the ablest mining engineers in the country, report the property to be one of the largest and best in America, and to contain inexhaustible quantities of rich copper deposits.

It is estimated that the plant now being arranged for will produce $3,000 to $5,000 per day, NET.

Prospectus, engineers' reports, assays and full information will be furnished on application. Remit by check, P. O. order, draft or registered letter to Treasurer.

It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which causes difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relief to that depressing tightness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and huskiness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous. At Death's Door—Dyspepsia Conquered. A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

GEN. WHITE'S HEAVY REVERSE

Two Battalions and Mountian Battery Captured By Boers.

The Number of Killed Yet Unknown—Great Anxiety in Britain for News—The War Office Has Given Nothing Out But Gen. White's Message Telling of His Misfortune.

"Ladysmith, Oct. 30. — (10.35 p.m.)—I have to report a disaster to the column sent by me to take a position on a hill to guard the left flank of the troops. In these operations to-day the Royal Irish Fusiliers, No. 10 Mountain Battery and the Gloucestershire Regiment were surrounded in the hills and, after losing heavily, had to capitulate. The casualties have not yet been ascertained.

"A man of the Fusiliers, employed as a hospital orderly, came in under a flag of truce with a letter from the survivors of the column who asked for assistance to bury the dead. I fear there is no doubt of the truth of the report.

"I formed a plan, in the carrying out of which the disaster occurred, and I am alone responsible for the plan. There is no blame whatever to the troops, as the position was untenable.

"The following is a list of the officers taken prisoners yesterday:

"Staff-Major Adye.

"Irish Fusiliers—Col. Carleton, Major Munn, Major Kincaid, Capt. Burrowes, Capt. Rice, Capt. Silver, Lt. Heard, Lieut. Southey, Lieut. Phibbs, Lieut. McGregor, Lieut. Holmes, Lieut. Kelly, Lieut. Dooner, Lieut. Kentish, Lieut. Kinahan, Lieut. Jeudwine, Chaplain Matthews.

"Gloucestershire Regiment —Major Humphrey, Major Capel-Cure, Major Wallace, Capt. Duncan, Capt. Conner, Lieut. Bryant, Lieut. Nisbet, Lieut. Ingham, Lieut. Davy, Lieut. Knox, Lieut. Temple, Lieut. Radice, Lieut. Breul, Lieut. Hill, Lieut. Short, Lieut. Smith, Lieut. Mackenzie, Lieut Beasley, Lieut. Gray.

"Royal Artillery—Major Bryant.

"Mountain Battery—Lieut. Wheeler, Lieut. Nugent, Lieut. Moore, Lieut. Webb."

More Troops Ordered.

The commander-in-chief, Field Marshall Lord Wolseley, has issued an order for the mobilization by Nov. 6 of the reserves of the Suffolk, Essex and Derbyshire regiments, who will be added to the South African forces.

Is It for Europe?

The preparations to call out the second army corps, as cabled to the Associated Press yesterday morning, taken in conjunction with the extraordinary naval activity here, has again aroused the belief in service circles that the Government has good reason to anticipate European hostility. A representative of the Associated Press has investigated the matter, and still finds no reason to justify this latest reiteration of rumors of Russian, French or German intervention. It was learned on good authority that the motive consists, to quote an official, "in wanting to show the other fellows what we can do," and is on a line with calling out the militia as a purely precautionary measure, dictated by the necessity of bringing up the home military force to its normal strength, or, rather, to a strength proportionate with the necessities of a nation engaged in a foreign war. Still, it is doubtful whether the second corps will be actually called out. That development depends on two circumstances: First, the attitude of Europe, as evinced after this first serious British reverse; second, upon the judgment of General Buller, who, finding the conditions not so favorable as expected, may demand more troops. It does not follow that the entire army corps, even if called out, will be sent to General Buller. It is more probable that it will be kept home to supply the places of units sent out in consonance with General Buller's wishes. Upon the present organization the home forces are supposed to be capable of raising at short notice three army corps. Should the War Office decide upon raising a second corps, it will necessitate the calling out of more reserves.

HAS THE WAR OFFICE NEWS

That It is Thought Advisable Not to Publish Just Yet?

London, Oct. 31.—There was a continuous stream of callers at the War Office until a late hour, everybody anxiously enquiring regarding yesterday's casualties, but the War Office declared that nothing had been received since Sir George White's despatch communicating the news of the capture of the Royal Irish Fusiliers and the Gloucestershire Regiments.

Has the War Office News?

This delay in getting further intelligence is attributed in part to the breaking down of the east coast cable, but it is generally believed that the War Office is possessed of further news, which it is probably thought advisable should not be published as yet.

Where Blackest Gloom Prevails.

The disaster has caused a feeling akin to consternation and in Gloucester and North of Ireland, where the captured regiments were recruited, the blackest gloom prevails, families awaiting with beating hearts the names of slain and wounded, which are expected to reach a high figure. Many homes are already in mourning in consequence of losses sustained by these regiments in previous engagements.

The Situation is Grave.

Public anxiety was increased by a special despatch from Ladysmith, published in the late editions of London morning papers to the effect that before darkness yesterday the Boers reoccupied the old position held by their heavy artillery, which Gen. White had reported silenced by the guns of the naval brigade from the Powerful, and had opened fire again. The despatch further says: "The enemy are again closing in and the situation is one of grave anxiety. Beyond doubt the Boer retirement yesterday (Monday) was a ruse to draw Gen. White into the hilly country and away from the British camp."

Some harsh things are said in military circles of the British tactics, which have made possible the ambush of the 18th Hussars at Glencoe and now the loss of two line regiments.

Will White Be Superseded?

Sir George White's honest admission of full responsibility and the terms of his despatch are regarded in some circles as virtually placing his case in the hands of the home authorities, and it is even rumored late this evening that the War Office has already decided to supersede him.

Troops to Arrive Sunday.

About six thousand fresh troops will arrive at Cape Town on Sunday next, and will be available to reinforce Sir George White. Transports will arrive there daily after Sunday until, by the end of next week, 28,000 troops will have been landed in South Africa. These men are intended for Gen. Sir Redvers Buller's army, but they will undoubtedly be detached to Natal if the situation there should become perilous. The British army will eventually reach the huge total of 89,639, of which 69,634 will be regulars, and the other 20,000 miscellaneous, but excellent, colonial troops.

Salisbury Wanted News.

Late this evening the Prince of Wales and the Marquis of Salisbury sent their respective secretaries to the War Office to make inquiries, but the reply given was that no further news had been received. Large crowds still waited in the vicinity shortly before midnight.

Money for the Widows.

The tidings of disaster will have the effect of giving a strong impulse to the popular movement aiming to raise funds for the benefit of the wives and children of the men at the front. The War Office, under the signatures of the Marquis of Lansdowne, the Secretary of State for War, and Gen. Lord Wolseley, commander-in-chief, has issued a long statement indicating British methods of distributing the money thus received.

BOERS ARE CONFIDENT

That They Have the Whole of Natal in Their Own Hands.

London, Oct. 31.—Advices from Cape Town show that the Boers are gathering in considerable force at Dewdrop, southwest of Ladysmith, while large forces of Boers are advancing over the Helpmakaar road.

A big camp of Boers is to be formed between Harrismith Bridge and Potgietere Farm camp, at Dewdrop, which, it is said, will extend four miles.

Fired Out of Pretoria!

An Englishman, who has arrived at Aliwal North, from Pretoria, whence he was expelled by way of Bloemfontein, says that when he left Pretoria all the stores there were carrying on business as usual. President Kruger was still there, and he did not see any wounded at Johannesburg. Some of the Transvaal papers are still published and contain glowing accounts of the successes of the Boer arms, saying that Kimberley and Mafeking are expected to fall at any moment, while Bechuanaland is conquered and annexed, that the republican arms are also successful in Natal, and that the burghers are continuing their victorious march south, capturing British prisoners and stores.

What the Boer Papers Admit.

The papers admit that the battle of Elandslaagte was a reverse for the Boers, who lost 30 killed, had many wounded and that 85 Boers were made prisoners. Ladysmith, according to the Boer newspapers, is soon to be taken. The Englishman added that the Boers are absolutely confident of their ultimate triumph, and believe the whole of Natal is already practically in their hands.

Boer Flag at Vryburg.

A despatch from Vryburg, dated Oct. 25, gives a report of a speech of Commandant Delagey, when hoisting the Boer flag there. He declared that the flag of the Republic was now floating over the whole country north of the Orange River, and that the British flag would never again fly there unless hoisted over the dead bodies of the burghers.

Complete order prevailed at Vryburg.

Demolishing Modder River Bridge.

Advices from Kimberley, under date of Oct. 27, received through a despatch rider at Orange River, Oct. 30, report that all the wounded are progressing favorably. It also appears that as they are unable to blow up the piers of the Modder River bridge, the Boers are demolishing them stone by stone. They have blown up practically every culvert from the Modder River to the Orange River. An armored train, strongly supported, made a reconnaissance Oct. 25, and found the Boers still at Spytfontein.

CURTAIN HIDES THE SCENE.

London, Nov. 1.—An ominous curtain has again descended upon affairs in Natal. No despatches except the official telegrams of General Sir George Stewart White have thus far been permitted to mention the disaster, and no telegram from Ladysmith has been received in London since the advices from the British commander. This gives rise to a belief that communication has already been cut, in which event some time must elapse before details regarding British losses are received.

If the War Office officials have received information on this point they have refrained from publishing it. General White's estimate that the British losses were about 90 is evidently quite separate from the probable losses in killed and wounded among the captured battalions. On this point there is the greatest suspense among the relatives of the prisoners. It is supposed that the stampeding of the mules meant the carrying away of the reserves of ammunitions, and that the troops captured capitulated after firing the rounds which each man carried.

In the absence of news, the morning papers are reduced to speculation as to how the disaster occurred. The general opinion is a misuse of the cavalry was the real reason for the fall into the Boers' trap. Apparently there was no cavalry to watch over the safety of the missing column.

Might Have Been Worse.

The Morning Post, pointing out how near the British were to a "still greater disaster," says: "In capturing the column the Boers also had the Devonshire Regiment practically at their mercy, and a little more daring would have made a bad business much worse, and, seeing that a force strong enough to scoop a couple of infantry battalions could have put itself practically between Sir George White and his camp, we may be very thankful that things to-day are not more serious than they are. The lesson has been a severe one. It is humiliating to find a nation of farmers beating soldiers at their own game, but the sooner a proper respect is had for Boer strategy and tactics the better for our fortunes in Natal."

Will Be Carried Through.

This sobering note is struck by all the morning papers to-day, together with the expression of a determination to carry the matter through, at whatever cost.

Can White Hold Ladysmith?

The Daily Chronicle, referring editorially to the situation, says: "In view of the patent failure of the campaign, and the terrible humiliation of the British army, we can only vaguely hope that Sir George White in the hard days that lie before him may be able to hold Ladysmith. Retreat would be an undertaking which the imagination fails to grasp. If this war is to be a war of vengeance, we shall have to wipe out a disaster before which the memory of Majuba fades away. The Empire is face to face with a repulse comparable only to the surrender of Burgoyne to the embattled farmers of our American colonies. If the catastrophe will bring forth something better than music hall patriotism we may come to reckon it as a timely lesson, well learned for the good of our souls."

The Daily News says: "If it is found possible to move the stores, Sir George White will probably be ordered to withdraw upon Colenso. If the order is not given it will be because a removal of the stores would be too risky."

"Capitulation" a Word of Shame.

The Morning Post calls attention to Sir George White's use of the word "capitulation," remarking that it suspects the word was used carelessly. It says: "We prefer to assume that the column fought until it was cut to pieces and all the ammunition was gone. Capitulation is a word of shame. Troops in the field cannot capitulate without disgrace, and disaster is not necessarily dishonor."

The Times says: "We have met with a considerable reverse. It is for the nation to show that it can bear ill-fortune with courage and dignity."

There is no general desire evinced on the part of the morning papers to criticise Sir George White hastily, pending the arrival of further details. On the contrary the disposition is to admire his manly courage in assuming full responsibility.

THE WOUNDED AT DURBAN.

In Hospital Boers and British Will Be Treated Alike.

Durban, Natal, Oct. 31.—The legislative building has been transformed into a hospital for the Boer and British wounded, who will be treated alike. Mr. Walker Morrison, M.P., has sent £1000 for the aid of the Natal volunteers.

The Eastern Cable Company has sent out a notification that the cable from Delagoa Bay and Mozambique is interrupted, and all messages must travel by the west coast.

British Cabinet Called.

London, Nov. 1.—A Cabinet council has been summoned for to-day (Wednesday). The Secretary of State for the Colonies, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, arrived in London last evening.

Col. Yule Promoted.

London, Nov. 1.—The Gazette announces the promotion of Substantive Lieut.-Col. W. A. Yule to the rank of Major-General on the staff to command the 8th Brigade of the South African field force, with the substantive rank of colonel in the army.

Another Battle in Progress.

Cape Town, Oct. 31.—(12.10 p.m.)—The South Africa News publishes the following despatch: "Ladysmith, Oct. 31.—A battle is proceeding at the foot of Umbanbane, a few miles from Ladysmith. Several shells have dropped into the town."

What Will White Do?

London, Oct. 31.—Reports are current here that General White may retire to Pietermaritzburg while the railroad is intact. There is much divergence of opinion in military circles as to the advisability of such a step.

For Benefit of Their Families.

London, Nov. 1.—Ignace Paderewski, the pianist, will give a recital in London in behalf of the fund for the families of the soldiers.

GERMAN NEUTRALITY.

Indicated in the Kaiser's Message to His Own British Regiment.

Berlin, Nov. 1.—Emperor William's farewell message to the British Royal Dragoons, the regiment of which he is honorary colonel, on its departure for South Africa, expressing His Majesty's hope that all might return "unscathed and well," is generally taken as a proof of Germany's official neutrality. One of the evening papers, referring to the despatch, points out its high official significance, and says it is the best answer to "Pan-Germanic leagues, anglophobia and predictions of foreign intervention, in which Germany is to play a leading part."

The Borsein Courier says: The repeated efforts to inveigle Germany into interfering in a question absolutely foreign to her national interests have palpably the sole object of discrediting her policy. Germany declines the role of acting manager in foreign interests detrimental to her own.

The Feeling in Germany.

Berlin, Nov. 1.—The Berlin papers have had very little to say so far regarding the British disaster at Ladysmith, but they show a disposition to magnify it and to criticise Sir George White's tactics severely, particularly what one paper styles "his endeavor to deceive the British public."

There is little doubt, however, that in view of Emperor William's coming visit to England the opinions held in high quarters will influence the newspapers commenting.

Gladness in Austria.

Vienna, Nov. 1.—The general public throughout Austria, so far as can be judged from the utterances of the press, seems rather glad that the British have met with a reverse.

Italy With England.

Rome, Nov. 1.—With the exceptions of the organs of the Vatican, the Italian newspapers sympathize with England in her misfortune.

SATISFACTION IN FRANCE

With the News of the British Reverse at Ladysmith.

London, Nov. 1.—Abroad, especially in France, no pains are taken to disguise the satisfaction felt in consequence of the British rebuff. In Paris every means of spreading the news was utilized. Some of the more dignified papers have adopted a respectful and sympathetic tone, but the majority were overjoyed.

The Courrier du Soie thinks that the continental powers will propose arbitration.

M. Yves Guyot, in The Siecle, is almost alone in supporting Great Britain against the Boers.

Irish Nationalist Papers Gleeful.

London, Nov. 1.—The Irish Nationalist papers are quite gleeful. The Dublin Evening Telegraph, Mr. John Dillon's paper, says: "A big bully triumphant is no lovely spectacle, but a big bully beaten is the very acme of disgrace."

The Dublin Evening Herald ridicules the idea of Great Britain menacing Russia after Sir George White's message.

A TALK WITH DR. LEYDS.

The Transvaal Agent Was Surprised at the News.

Brussels, Oct. 31.—Dr. Leyds, the special representative of the Transvaal Government in Europe, in the course of an interview to-day regarding the situation at Ladysmith, said:

He was greatly surprised at the news of the British disaster. While paying a warm tribute to the candor of Sir George White, he pointed out that a tactical error had been committed by the British commander in dividing his forces and underrating the strength of the Boers. He declined to give an opinion regarding future developments. Telegrams of congratulation had been received by him, he said, from all parts of Europe and from all classes of society.

In reply to a question as to the Boer forces, Dr. Leyds said that the combined commandos of the Transvaal and the Orange Free State aggregated only 50,000, including old men and boys.

Three Friendly Nations.

London, Oct. 31.—The president of the Local Government Board, the Right Hon. Henry Chaplin, speaking this evening at Manchester on the war, expressed his intense satisfaction at the friendly relations of Great Britain with the United States and Germany.

WANT CLARK TO RESIGN.

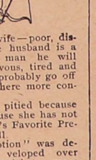

Caithness People Won't Have Him as Their Representative.

London, Oct. 31.—At a meeting of the Caithness electors yesterday evening a resolution was unanimously adopted condemning the attitude of Mr. Gavin Brown Clark, Radical, the member of Caithness in the House of Commons, on the South African question, and asking him to resign. Mr. Clark was formerly Consul-General of the Transvaal in London.

Gavin Brown Clark, referred to above, is a great friend of General Joubert, and when Joubert made a tour of the United States and Canada some time ago Clark accompanied him.

is dependent upon the health of the wife more than on any other one thing. If a woman is troubled in a distinctly feminine way the most delicate nerves of her body are in a state of chronic irritation. She has headache and backache. She is listless and spiritless. She is cross and blue. She feels that life is not worth living and her temper reflects the condition of her nerves. Poor, suffering wife—poor, distracted husband. If the husband is a cheerful, good-humored man he will sympathize—if he is nervous, tired and irritable himself, he will probably go off to the club or seek elsewhere more congenial company.

A sick woman is to be pitied because she is miserable and because she has not yet learned that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will make her well.

The "Favorite Prescription" was developed over thirty years ago in the regular practice of Dr. R. V. Pierce who is and was then, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. Since then it has been used by millions of women and has brought health, happiness and contentment to as many homes.

"My wife was sick for over eight years," writes Albert H. Fulte, Esq., of Altamont, Grundy Co., Tenn. "She had uterine disease and was treated by two physicians and got no relief. At last I read about Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I sent to the drug store, got one bottle and the first dose gave ease and sleep. She had not slept any for three nights. Being sure that it would cure her I sent for five more bottles and when she had taken the sixth bottle she was sound and well. We now have a fine boy at our house."

The "Favorite Prescription" contains no alcohol and no opium or other narcotic, and is perfectly harmless in any condition of the system.

Mr. J. E. Farewell of Whitby and Mr. William Lount, Q.C., made applications on Monday at Osgoode Hall for the issue of summonses against all those reported for bribery in the two South Ontario election trials. As Mr. Justice Ferguson, who was associated with Judge Osler in the first trial, was not in town, no action was taken. The summonses asked that the alleged bribers be compelled to pay the fine of $200 required by law, or, in default, should be committed to jail, and should also be disqualified for eight years from sitting in the Legislature, or holding any municipal office.

GENERAL WHITE'S BLUNDER.

The news of yesterday and to-day have not been pleasant reading, but it indicates the desperate nature of the defence to which the British garrison at Ladysmith is committed. It would appear that the primary cause of yesterday's disaster was Gen. White's precipitancy. Nothing more was expected of him than that he would hold his position until Gen. Buller came up with the main army. His sortie was brilliant, but it was not good tactics—one correspondent says it was foolhardy.

However, every man is not a Napoleon, and General White's manly letter shows that he simply failed to grasp the fact that the Boers were such clever strategists. British successes everywhere have been gained by daring and readiness to take chances. One such manœuvre has failed—that's all. We all sorrow for the men who have fallen and the others who are taken prisoners, but it will not do to forget that the British are fighting a battle of defence and for delay against a superior force, and we must look for losses. The reckoning time for the Boers will be here before long. Let them laugh while they can - their time is short.

In view of the later despatches concerning the stampeding of the mules it would appear that the criticisms of Gen. White have all been wrong.

FACE & HEAD COVERED WITH SCALES

Shed a Tablespoonful at Night. Hair Full of White Scabs. Offer $100 for Cure. Friend Suggests CUTICURA REMEDIES. Tries Them and is Cured.

Last summer I had company,—a man and his wife. The man's hands and face had dry, scaly sores on them, and his head was covered with the same, his hair being full of those white scales or scabs. His wife said, "Some mornings she would find a tablespoonful or more of them in the bed." I asked him what ailed him, and he replied "that he did not know." "Why don't you cure yourself?" "I would give a hundred dollars to be cured. I have paid out a lot of money, but don't get cured," he said. Well, I told him "I would cure him for less than that," and told him to get the CUTICURA remedies and he would be cured. As he was living in Bristol, Vt., I did not see him for some time after, and then he fairly shouted to me: "I am cured. CUTICURA has done it. The Lord bless you and CUTICURA." MRS. SARAH E. STEAM WAS GOT UP YESTERDAY

For the First Time in the Spike and Nail Factory.

A visit to the rolling mills yesterday by a representative of THE INTELLIGENCER showed that the work of getting this industry into shape for work is progressing rapidly.

In the nail and spike factory the machines are all in position, and the workmen are now engaged putting up the belting, which, when completed, will set in motion a large number of machines for the turning out of nails and spikes of various sizes. Yesterday for the first time fire was started under the large boiler which will supply the motive power for the running of the spike and nail factory. This portion of the works will soon be in readiness for operation.

About the rolling mills a large number of mechanics and workmen are busily engaged in placing in position the machinery necessary for the carrying on of the work. Some portions of the machinery used here are of great size and weight, considerable time being occupied in placing them in position. Some of the furnaces have been bricked over and are about ready for use. Mr. B. F. Peacock, the company's superintendent for the placing in of the plant, is constantly upon the ground superintending the work.

The two additional buildings, known as the bar iron warehouse and the storehouse, being erected by Mr. Walter Alford, are nearing completion. The frame work on the former is completed and is now being sheeted. It is situated just east of the nail and spike factory and the storehouse just north of the factory. The store house will be used for placing in manufactured articles from the nail and spike factory. These buildings are of a substantial nature and commodious, the warehouse being 85x45 feet and the storehouse 120x55 feet.

Every day cars laden with either machinery or scrap iron are taken over the rails to the mills. An immense quantity of scrap iron has already been placed on the ground, ready for use as soon as the furnaces and other machinery are ready.

Messrs. Abbott and Mitchell and the other members of the Company are anxiously waiting for the time when the hum of machinery will be heard and the industry running at full blast.

The Town's Talk.

So many cures have been effected by the use of Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure that it's the town's talk. If you are a sufferer from that horrible malady, go to your drug store and get a bottle. Mr. Wm. Tait, farmer, Collins' Bay, Ont., was afflicted with Sciatic Rheumatism for twelve months. One bottle of Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure cured him completely. This preparation is taken internally. 50 cents a bottle, containing ten days' treatment. For sale at all drug stores.

Going to Belleville.

The Peterboro Times says: "Mr. W. Cochrane and his staff of men and teams leave for Belleville to-day, where they will make a thorough house-to house canvass of that district in the interests of the Wrought Iron Range Company, of Toronto. Mr. Cochrane has just completed a similar canvass of Peterborough district, where he has disposed of seven carloads of these magnificent ranges. His great success is largely due to the fact that the stoves are superior for domestic purposes, and are very cheap, coming direct from the manufacturer without any intermediate man's profit. They are specially adapted for farmers' use, and are built by the Wrought Iron Range Company, Limited, of Toronto, of which Mr. Cochrane is manager for Eastern Ontario.

Mr. Cochrane has arrived in Belleville and opened a branch here in the front of the premises of Mr. St. Charles carriage repository.

The Late G. T. R. Accident.

McClure's Magazine for November.

A poem by Kipling on the Transvaal crisis is, of course, the first item to attract attention in the November number of McClure's Magazine. In England they are placing the poem even above "The Recessional," and certainly it is a very powerful and inspiring utterance. In order to get it into the present number, the editors of McClure's had to have the poem sent to them by cable from London.

Slowly Recovering.

William Courteney, of Rawdon, who was injured in a runaway accident at Hog Lake Crossing on Friday, Oct. 20, and was soon after brought to the hospital here, is reported as recovering slowly from the injuries received. We are pleased to learn that Mr. Courtney belongs to a very respectable family and that a large circle of friends and acquaintances are very solicitous as to his welfare. THE INTELLIGENCER joins with those in wishing for his speedy recovery.

SPORTING NEWS.

It is said that deer are plentiful this year in the northern country. That a number will be slaughtered there can be no doubt as many hunters have left for the haunts of these fleet-footed forest roamers. Mr. H. K. Speaking in general and for everybody

There's a profound pleasure in writing these trade invitations for this store, from the fact that we can do so much better for you with the goods themselves than we can in telling about them—the reality here is better than your expectations.

Here we are in October—the month of brown leaves and frosty weather—with every department fairly running over with new goods—right up to the mark in fashion—equal in every way to the good stores of the largest cities.

CLARKE'S KOLA COMPOUND CURES

A Child That Suffered From Asthma Almost Since His Birth.

Mr. J. Paterson, 52 Princess ave., Victoria, B.C., writes: "Our boy, who is just nine years of age, has been troubled with asthma almost since his birth, which has been continually growing worse in spite of all the medical aid we could procure. Our doctor bills have been very large each year; neither myself nor my wife have had a full night's sleep during the last year of his trouble, having had to poultice and give him medicine to keep him from choking. We heard of a neighbor who had been cured by Clarke's Kola Compound and resolved to try it, with the result that to-day our child is completely cured, not having had an attack since taking the second bottle, almost a year ago. He has grown very fast since and is now quite strong and healthy. We feel very grateful to Dr. Clarke for the discovery of this wonderful remedy, as it has saved our child's life." Certified correct by Messrs. Hall & Co., druggists, Victoria, B. C., from whom the medicine was purchased. Three bottles of Clarke's Kola Compound are absolutely guaranteed to cure any case of asthma or hay fever. Free sample bottle to any address mentioning this paper. Address the Griffiths & Macpherson Co., 121 Church street, Toronto, sole agents for Canada. Sold by D. M. Waters, cor. Front and Bridge sts.

Clarke's Kola Compound has permanently cured more cases of asthma than all other remedies combined.

Plum Puddings and Mince Pies often have bad effects upon the small boy who over indulges in them. Pain-Killer as a household medicine for all such ills is unequaled. Avoid substitutes, there is but one Pain-Killer, Perry Davis'. 25c and 50c.

That Hacking Cough is a warning not to be lightly treated. Pyny-Pectoral cures with absolute certainty all recent coughs and colds. Take it in time. Manufactured by the proprietors of Perry Davis' Pain-Killer.

We Claim that The D. & L. Menthol Plaster will cure lumbago, backache, sciatica or neuralgic pains quicker than any other remedy. Made by Davis & Lawrence Co., Ltd.

If Taken in Time The D. & L. Emulsion will surely cure the most serious affections of the lungs. That "run down" condition, the effects of a heavy cold is quickly counteracted. Manufactured by the Davis & Lawrence Co., Ltd.

The fashionable chain is reducing, in some instances, both its dimension and weight. It is neither so long nor so heavy as heretofore.

It is predicted that this winter will prove distinctively a ring season, that rings will be worn on all but the little finger by ladies, and from two to four will be the proper number on the middle finger.

Chain purses of all kinds are the rage. They come in gold, in silver variously shaded and in gun metal. They are plain, and they are jeweled. They are round, oblong or bag shaped. They may have gate tops, circular frames or straight frames.—Jewelers' Circular.

OUR OWN SULTAN.

According to current advices, our sultan of Sulu is an ardent civil service reformer. He never discharges a wife without cause.—Illinois State Register.

In giving the sultan of Sulu a fat salary the government might have been actuated in part by the knowledge that it takes a good deal of money to buy hats for 12 wives.—Rockford Star.

The sultan of Sulu, it seems, is greatly under the influence of his mother. If his 12 wives also have influence, petticoat government is evidently what Uncle Sam has to reckon with in that quarter.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

"How do you expect to get on with the United States?" "Fine," answered the sultan of Sulu. "Even if I have to abdicate, I think my harem is big enough to entitle me to a seat in congress at the hands of the Mormon vote."—Washington Star.

The Savannah Line steamship City of Augusta rammed the Pennsylvania passenger ferry boat Chicago in East River, New York, on Tuesday morning. The ferry boat sank in 10 minutes in 70 feet of water, within 150 feet of her pier. All but John Bryson, of her 50 passengers and crew, were saved.

The Hackettstown, N.J., Seminary building, owned by the Newark Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, was completely destroyed by fire Tuesday morning, entailing a loss of about $300,000. Afternoon Despatches.

Situation is Very Grave

At Ladysmith---Boers in Overwhelming Numbers.

An Unconfirmed Report Tells of a Crushing Boer Defeat--Feared that Communication May be Cut Off--Story of a Gallant Fight.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—The War Office received a despatch from Ladysmith at 9:25 this morning, saying that General White was well and holding his position.

HOFFTOWN, Cape Colony, Nov. 2.—Magistrate Harmsworth has arrived from Klipdam and reports that there are 6,000 Boers around Kimberouri and that all the roads are strictly patrolled.

He says he passed close enough to Kimberouri to see the searchlight and was informed that the defenders of Kimbouri were satisfied they could hold out, but were wearied with the inaction and hoped a relieving force would soon arrive.

Stories of Boer victories have spread rapidly along the western border and Magistrate Harmsworth estimates that over half the Dutch residents of Bechuanaland and Griqualand will join the Boers after the declaration of annexation.

A telegram got through from there last night which announced that the Boers were threatening Colenso, 20 miles south of Ladysmith, where there is a big railroad bridge. If the Boers should destroy this White would be isolated.

Gen. White would abandon Ladysmith if it were not for the immense amount of military stores there. These amount to about one-half of the total British stores in South Africa. When they were placed there it was not dreamed the town would be besieged.

The Boers have unmasked new batteries, which are easily silenced, only to break out again when the British fire slackens.

It is thought the bombardment, which is not serious, is simply to distract attention while the Boers are being moved to the rear of the town.

The Naval Brigade now has four long range guns mounted.

THIS LACKS CONFIRMATION.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—News has been received at Cape Town that the British have administered a crushing defeat to the Boers at Ladysmith. The enemy's loss is said to be enormous.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—A special despatch from Ladysmith says 20 British dead and 100 wounded have been counted on the scene of Monday's disaster, while 370 prisoners were sent to Pretoria.

An official despatch has been received from Ladysmith under to-day's date, thus relieving any fear that Gen. White had been cut off to the south. The telegram says the bombarment is continuing and that Lieut. Eggerton of the Cruiser Powerful has been dangerously wounded by a shell.

The War Office officially declares that it has no information of any further engagement at Ladysmith, or of a British victory as reported in New York.

Another list of casualities at Dundee was issued by the War Office this morning. It gives non-commissioned officers and men of the Dublin Fusiliers missing, indicating that the Boers captured as many Fusiliers as they did Hussars.

THE WAR SUMMARY.

Later despatches from General White show that the Gloucestershire Regiment and Royal Irish Fusiliers maintained a most desperate fight for many hours before surrendering.

The disaster is directly attributable to the stampede of the mules carrying the reserve ammunition and the mountain battery guns.

London Times believes that the mules did not stampede, but were treacherously driven away by their drivers.

Sensational report from New York that the British at Ladysmith have administered a crushing defeat to the Boers.

The War Office yesterday issued the list of additional casualties sustained by General Yule's force from the battle of Glencoe until it reached Ladysmith.

The total British loss to date is calculated at about 2,030.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING

That the crossing at the corner of Moira and Murney sts. is badly in need of repair. In its present condition it is worse than no crossing at all.

That people who send mail to the men who are gone can take note that the following is the correct address: "With Royal Canadian Regiment, South Africa."

That people are wondering what those poles are for which are lying on Front st. Surely our principal thoroughfare is not going to be decorated with any more "ornaments" of that kind.

And that British loss of 2,000 men has come down to 900. Good gracious, hear the croakers. A "staggering blow," because 900 men, without ammunition, couldn't hold out against 20,000!

That some of our patriotic societies should get up an entertainment in aid of the Emergency Fund for the boys who have gone to the Transvaal. The lads are out of sight, but they ought not to be out of mind.

That, really, you know, there is no need to get excited. Gen. Buller has got to Cape Town with 6,000 men, and 22,000 more will reach there by the end of this week. Don't lose any sleep over the situation.

That Mr. Vincent P. Hunt, director of music at Albert College, is doing a graceful act in giving an entertainment in aid of the Hospital and Home. With Miss de Guerre as vocalist and Mr. Tripp, of Toronto, as piano virtuoso, a delightful evening is assured to all who attend.

That people who have been making enquiries about difference in time will find the following figures of interest: The time at London, Eng., is five hours ahead of Belleville time, and Cape Town time is one hour and a quarter ahead of London time, and thus six hours and a quarter ahead of Belleville time. Paste this in your hat.

PROBABLY THE TRUE STORY

Correspondent of a London Paper Sends a Terrible Tale.

London, Nov. 2.—The Echo, an evening paper, not given to sensationalism, prints a despatch, dated Ladysmith, October 30th. The correspondent declares he sends a true story of the capture of the British troops by the Boers. He says after dark a man of the Irish Fusiliers staggered into camp. He was haggard and almost exhausted, and he said the troops were completely surrounded, and had marched blindly into a trap. The first they knew of danger was when they were fired upon by the Boers, who were stationed in a covered position. The fight raged for an hour, and there were heavy losses on both sides. The dead and wounded were lying about in heaps. The man from the Fusiliers gasped out, "I come for help to bury our dead."

INSURANCE WAS NOT EFFECTED.

Pensions and Gratuities--Canadians Who May be Maimed or Injured Will Thus be Looked After.

Ottawa, Nov. 1.—The official announcement that the Government has not been able to effect insurance upon the lives of the members of the Canadian contingent will be received with great regret, especially after the prominence given to the original intimation by the Ministerial press.

All negotiations are now off, and the Government has decided to carry the risk itself by providing pensions and gratuities to such of the men as may be maimed or injured.

The only insurance carried, therefore, is that arranged through Sir Charles Tupper, or by local committees. It is said that Council may reconsider the matter and correct what looks like a big blunder.

GATHERED TO HIS FATHERS.

Well-Known Citizen of Tweed Passes Away.

Tweed News: On Monday evening Mr. Thomas Easterbrook, one of our most esteemed citizens, passed peacefully away at his family residence on Metcalf street. About a year ago he suffered a severe attack of la grippe and since that time his health has been gradually undermined. During the past six months he has also been afflicted with several paralytic strokes. Deceased, who was in his 64th year, was a native of Devonshire, England, and came to this country in 1855, settling in Thurlow on a farm with his late brother-in-law, John Shillabeer. He was afterwards in the employ of the late Henry Corby in the mills at Corbyville and came to Tweed in 1870, where he has since resided. During his residence here he was in the employ of his brother, George, now at Lorenzo Marquez, South Africa. Deceased was married in 1863 to Elizabeth Hambly, who survives him, together with three sons and four daughters. There is also one surviving sister, Mrs. John Pearce, of Rodney.

Deceased was a staunch supporter of the Anglican church and for a number of years was warden of St. James' church, Tweed. He was a prominent Orangeman in this section and has filled the office of Worshipful Master at Melrose, Bogart and Tweed. At the time of his death he was Treasurer of Tweed Lodge. He was also a member of the I.O.F., and has filled the office of Chief Ranger of the local lodge. In politics he was a strong Conservative. In his home life he was a kind father and an affectionate husband. Through industry and application he has been one of our most respected citizens and he will be very much missed by all with whom he came in contact.

OBITUARY.

MRS. WALTER FANNING.

Some two weeks ago Mrs. Walter Fanning was operated upon at the hospital with the hope that her life might be prolonged, but such did not prove to be the case, as shortly before midnight she died. The deceased, whose maiden name was Miss Georgie M. George, was born at Bath 52 years ago, being a daughter of the late John B. George. She was married to Mr. Fanning 33 years ago and had resided here nearly all that time. She leaves, in addition to her husband, a family of four daughters and one son, namely, Mrs. R. S. Conley, of Cleveland; Mrs. J. S. Bonar, of Cornwall; Mrs. W. H. Meyers, of Niagara Falls; Pearl and Walter at home. Mrs. Fanning was a member of Bridge st. Methodist Church and was well and favorably known. To the family will be extended the sympathy of our citizens.

MRS. JOHN D. BREEZE.

Word has been received in the City announcing the death of Mrs. John D. Breeze, which sad event occurred at Vancouver, B. C., on Monday afternoon. The deceased, with her husband and family, was for many years a resident of this City, being a lady much esteemed. She was about 55 years of age and was a native of Madoc, her father, the late Wm. Kerr, being a well known resident of that village. Mr. Breeze, whilst here, was engaged in the lumbering business, and was also in the Inland Revenue department at Mr. H. Corby's distillery. The husband and a family of two sons and two daughters survive.

TO-MORROW WILL BE DOLLS' DAY.

Every girl who comes with a parent and brings a doll to the store shall have a pair of real Vici Kid slippers for the doll.

You know some dolls' tracks would frighten a bear hunter, but never mind how odd the feet are or how large, bring dolly along; we've a lot of sizes all ready, but if necessary we'll measure the feet and make special slippers to fit them.

A lot of trouble and a lot cost for us, say you? Yes, both trouble and cost, but we shall get it back again from the

VICI KID

Shoe sales we shall make during the next year—Genuine Vici Kid, bought from Mr. Robert H. Foerderer. He makes Vici Kid. He is the only man in all the world who can make genuine Vici Kid. He discovered how to make it, he named it, he keeps the secret. He tans more than nine millions young kid skins every year into Vici.

It is to get a sample of the real Vici Kid into every home that we rend out these pretty slippers. Don't fail to bring you doll. If we cannot fit its feet with slippers in stock, we will make a pair to measure.

This week we have a ladies' maid at our store teaching shoe care. It is a lesson none can afford to not learn. Tidy, clean shoes are as essential to completeness of dress, as tidy, clean hands.

many other people besides," I said. "I shall make preliminary inquiries tomorrow and then come back for Percy and continue them together with him."

"But have you any sort of notion as to what can have occurred? That is what is so dreadful to me that I cannot imagine what nature of calamity could possibly have happened to him. I feel so helpless about it."

"I cannot, really, until I have made inquiries, dear mother. It is possible that poor father may only have fallen from the train en route and rolled down an embankment. You have not seen the line to Erinofka. It is a mere toy railway, with a gauge but three feet wide and tiny carriages like small busses with balconies. The train runs most unsteadily, and father might have fallen asleep and been jerked from the balcony without any one seeing. He might have lain stunned until some one found and took him into shelter. The finder, unaware of his name, would be unable to communicate with his friends, and poor father still too ill perhaps to give him any information. That is at least a theory and would account for the absence of news. Then there is another thing that might possibly have happened, though I admit it does not seem very likely"—

"Go on, Boris, tell me everything you have thought of," said poor mother, who wept quietly through my somewhat grewsome recital. "How dreadful to think that my poor dear Vladimir may be lying even now unconscious, and we unable to help him because ignorant where to look for him—God grant it is not that!"

"He will have found kind friends, never fear," I said, "but my other theory is less painful to contemplate. I told you the worst first. It is this: Father is well known and known to be rich too. It may be that some wretched fellows, desperate perhaps for want of money, may have formed a band, like Greek brigands, to abduct him. If so, they will send a deputation one day, presently, or a message, claiming a sum of money for his ransom."

"Is that possible, here in civilized Russia?" said mother wistfully. "I have never heard of anything of the kind, have you? At all events, not in this part of Russia."

I was obliged to confess that I had not.

"But we must not reject the idea on that account. We must weigh and investigate every notion either of us has, however wild or impossible it may be."

"Yes, yes, that is true. We will not leave a stone unturned!" said mother.

[illegible] up to Erinofka the next morning. I could not help thinking, as I stood upon the balcony outside the little railway carriage, that any one tired from a hard day's shooting over the moors and leaning on the rail as I now leaned might most easily be pitched out by a jerk of the train. Jerks, violent ones, were common enough, for the train was but a makeshift thing and the line very narrow and badly laid. It had been made for the sole use of a factory of some sort, close to Erinofka, the manufactured goods being sent by its means to St. Petersburg, while the raw materials were carried up from town to the works.

Accidents were of frequent occurrence, though the train went so slowly that personal injury was rare. Passengers were allowed to use the line, which was thus most useful for my father and his fellow sportsmen. He might easily have fallen out then. But in that case would not Hulbert—who was shooting with him that day, as I had ascertained—have known of it either at once or when the train arrived at St. Petersburg? At any rate, he would have missed my father and have given the alarm. As a matter of fact, and as I discovered presently, Hulbert had remained behind for another day's sport when my father returned, Hulbert returning on the Thursday and father on the Wednesday, so that the accident—if it happened—would have occurred without Hulbert knowing anything about it.

I found Armin, the keeper at the lodge. It was from him that I learned that father had started for home earlier than Hulbert. He had done so, Armin explained, because he had found that the birds were still so small that he did not care to shoot them. Armin had been away in town when our man came to make inquiries. It was Spiridon that the man had interviewed.

"Did you see my father off on the Wednesday, Armin?" I asked him. Armin reflected. No, he said presently, he had not. He had been out on the moors till late with Mr. Hulbert. If our men had been told that the count returned with Mr. Hulbert, it was a mistake.

"The count left us early in the day," he added, "being discontented with the size of the birds. They certainly were small, for it was the very first day of the shooting, or near it."

"Did Spiridon (the second keeper) drive him to the station?" I asked.

"You were drunk when our man came to interview you, Spiridon," I said. "Confess it. You don't remember what you told him."

"I certainly went home with the count from the moor," he said, "but when we reached the house he gave me a ruble and sent me back to the moor, to the other gentleman and Armin, saying they might want me to carry game. He had no luggage and would walk to the station." Then Spiridon grinned and scratched his head. "I may have been a little drunk when your man came down," he added; "the gentlemen had both tipped me generously."

There was no more to be got out of Spiridon.

Then I went to the station and inquired of the station master, who said he knew the count well, whether he had seen my father on the day in question.

"Did he travel home by the afternoon train on Wednesday the—?" I asked.

"Wednesday, the—," repeated the man reflectively, consulting his daybook. "Ah, I thought so—no, he did not, for that was the afternoon that the line was blocked. Some rascal had laid a tree across and the engine ran off the line—the up engine—and plowed the metals. I remember your father coming to the station, but he did not travel."

"What did he do, then?" I asked, flushing with agitation, for here, I thought, was the beginning of a clew.

"Well, I can't tell you," he said. "He left the station, and, now I come to think of it, he did not reappear. The other gentleman took the train next day, but not the count."

"Not the count!" I repeated. "Are you sure?"

"Quite sure!" said the man. "He came on the Tuesday, but—well, he has not gone back yet, and that's a fact!"

CHAPTER IV.

A SLIGHT CLEW FOUND.

Here was a surprise indeed.

Father had come to this place, of that there was no doubt whatever. He had been out on the moors, that was equally certain, and he had presented himself at the station with the intention of returning to town, but had been balked of his train and— And there was an end of the trail so far.

"Please think again," I murmured. "Are you perfectly certain the count did not catch some other train later in the day or perhaps early the next morning? Did you see each train away?"

"I have not missed a single train, in a-

Want to Go to War.

They say that the routine at the school since the contingent left has become so deadly monotonous that they would welcome any change.

Montreal, Nov. 1.—The SS. Sardinian passed Cape Ray this afternoon, and will proceed direct to Cape Town, where she is expected to arrive in about 28 days.

SHOCKING REVELATION.

Crown Prince of Austria Infatuated With a Woman Who Proved to Be His Sister.

Vienna, Nov. 2.—A most remarkable revelation has now been made in connection with the death of the Crown Prince Rudolph in 1889. It is positively asserted in court circles that the Crown Prince not only committed suicide, but also killed the woman with whom he was infatuated, Baroness Marie Vetsera. At the time of his tragic death it was plain that he had shot away the back of his head with a cavalry revolver. The woman to whom he was so madly devoted that he was willing to renounce a crown to become her husband, lay dead beside him, her body covered with wild flowers. It was publicly supposed that she had voluntarily taken poison, and the details, shown by investigation, were suppressed.

It is now asserted that on the night of the tragedy the Crown Prince had an interview with his father, the Emperor Franz Josef, in which he once more pleaded to be divorced from the Crown Princess Stephanie, so that he might marry the Baroness Vetsera. Driven to desperation by his son's insistence, the Emperor is said to have confessed to the young man that the Baroness was, in truth, the daughter of the Austrian ruler. Despair then led the Crown Prince to commit the crime at his hunting lodge.

TWO BODIES COLD IN DEATH.

Suspected Double Murder in the Township of Wilberforce.

Eganville, Ont., Nov. 2.—A double tragedy was perpetrated early Wednesday morning or late Tuesday night, about 18 miles from Eganville, in the Township of Wilberforce. Mrs. William Yaster and her 17-year-old daughter were horribly mutilated about their heads by some heavy instrument while in bed, and their lifeless bodies now await the coroner's inspection. The husband and father, William Yaster, aged about 50 years, who for some time has given evidences of insanity, is accused of doing the terrible deed. He had previously threatened to take their lives. Three children, younger than the dead daughter, were in the house and it was they who gave the alarm to the neighbors.

MR. ROSS BURNED TO DEATH.

Awful Tragedy in a Stable Near Holland's Landing.

Holland Landing, Ont., Nov. 2.—At 8 o'clock last night the stable of Mr. John Ross, who lives two miles and a half south of here, on Yonge street, was seen to be on fire and on arriving at the stable the sad news was revealed that Mr. Ross had perished in the flames. It appears Mr. Ross went out with the lantern to attend to his horses and cow for the night, and that in some way he upset the lantern and in trying to extinguish the fire he lost his life. His horse and cow, besides the buggy and wagon and other rigs were burned. Deceased was an elderly man and leaves a widow and daughter, Miss Ross, who teaches in the Newmarket Model School.

COOKING OF MILKY FOODS

Souvenir

A Perfect Success

Milk is of an impressionable nature and takes to itself everything with which it is surrounded.

If you've cooked a roast in the oven previously the aroma remains usually in the oven and imparts its flavor to the rice pudding or custard or other dish containing milk that goes in next.

This trouble is overcome completely with an aerated oven. Food cooked in this way is always surrounded by pure, fresh air. There is a constant flow of this health-giving element in and out all the time, making impossible the retention of any foul odors to destroy the flavor of the most delicate and carefully prepared dainty.

Is Gen. Lawton Dead?

A telegram to Aguinaldo from an insurgent colonel was found, which reported that General Lawton had been killed in a recent fight, and that his body had been sent to Manila. The operator added that 600 insurgents were approaching Aliag from Tarlac. Captain Batson's scouts are ambushed awaiting them. Col. Hays, with four troops of the Fourth Cavalry, has charged the towns of Talavera and Cobal, mounted, dispersing 150 insurgents and pursuing them for three miles without loss. The Company owns over twelve thousand acres of rich copper land in Texas, opened, tested, developed and NOW BEING OPERATED. Millions of tons of copper bearing clay and marl running from five to ten per cent., and large quantities of ore carrying from fifty to seventy per cent. copper in sight. Cheaply mined and treated, favorable climate, cheap fuel, and ample water. Stated by geologists, chemists, experts and engineers to be one of the greatest and best in the world. Amount of land, quantity and quality of ore, cheapness of mining and treatment, the increasing demand and profit in producing copper considered, the Boston and Texas Copper Company possesses unequalled advantages and affords the best kind of an investment.

Calumet and Hecla ore averages 4 1-2 per cent. copper. It has paid $62,850,000 dividends
Tamarack ore averages 3 per cent. It has paid $5,910,000 in dividends.
Atlantic ore averages 85-100 of 1 per cent. It has paid $780,000 in dividends.
Boston and Montana ore runs 7 per cent. It has paid $10,775,000 in dividends.
Franklin ore averages 1 37-100 per cent. It has paid $1,290,000 in dividends.
The Quincy ore averages 1 8-10 per cent. It has paid $11,070,000.

THE AVERAGE OF BOSTON & TEXAS ORE IS OVER 50 PER CENT., and of copper marls and clays from 5 to 10 per cent. Both the ore, marl and clay are within a few feet of the surface of the ground, so that the expense of mining and hoisting is minimized. A party of New England capitalists who have just returned from an examination of the mines in conjunction with one of the ablest mining engineers in the country, report the property to be one of the largest and best in America, and to contain inexhaustible quantities of rich copper deposits.

It is estimated that the plant now being arranged for will produce $3,000 to $5,000 per day, NET.

Prospectus, engineers' reports, assays and full information will be furnished on application. Remit by check, P. O. order, draft or registered letter to Treasurer.

For coughs, colds, bronchitis and all lung and throat troubles, there is no preparation r medicine can compare with Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which causes difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relief to that depressing tightness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and huskiness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous. If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety, trouble and expense, let them procure a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the Syrup according to directions.

At Death s Door—Dyspepsia Conquered. A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. Totally Deaf.—Mr. S. E. Crandell, Port Perry, writes—"I contracted a severe cold last winter, which resulted in my becoming totally deaf in one ear and partially so in the other. After trying various remedies, and consulting several doctors, without obtaining any relief, I was advised to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

As a safe family medicine Parmelee's Vegetable Pills can be given in all cases requiring a cathartic.

British Nation Finds Consolation in Our Contingent Token.

London Times Printed a Verbatim Report of the Send-Off—Hon. Edward Blake Applauded for Courage—Little News From the Front—Some of the Missing From Ladysmith Return—More Losses.

London, Nov. 1.—The London Times prints a stirring leading article to-day on the military spectacle which was witnessed at Quebec on Monday, on the occasion of the embarking and sailing of the Canadian contingent for the Transvaal. The Times declares that the whole British nation will find in this a measure of consolation for the reverse at Ladysmith.

Applause for Mr. Blake.

The Radical Tory press to-day warmly applauds Hon. Edward Blake's courage for the action he has taken in dissociating himself from the Irish Nationalists and Radicals who openly express their sympathy in favor of the Queen's enemies.

The Westminster Gazette to-night quotes a speech in which Hon. Mr. Blake eulogized the desperate valor and martial vigor of the Irish soldiers at the Cape. He said he had no feeling but disgust for the suggestion that one man amongst them could have been base enough to take any other course in the battle. The Westminster Gazette adds that what the speaker has said has been well said, and that they firmly believe that the mass of the Nationalist Irishmen do not lag behind the Englishmen in their pride for the gallantry of their countrymen in South Africa.

People's Feelings Stirred.

The Times' verbatim report of Monday's send-off at Quebec has deeply stirred the feelings of the people here.

The Pall Mall Gazette devotes its chief editorial to the subject, and says: "Quebec has given a crushing answer to those who wrote themselves down Little Englanders for good by asking, What have the colonies to do with South Africa?"

Out of Wolfe's Victory.

The St. James' Gazette says: "It is a good omen for the future that out of Wolfe's great victory has grown a united nation, which can now pay a tribute of such striking loyalty to the Empire."

Little News From the Front.

London, Nov. 2.—The breakdown of the Delagoa cable route, combined with the monopolization of the available telegraph lines by the Government and the State officers, is responsible for the fact that nothing further has arrived from South Africa. The Government has received despatches rectifying the casualty lists. These will be published to-day.

Has Buller Gone to Ladysmith?

SOME OF THEM RETURN.

Some Gloucesters and Part of Mountain Battery Back.

London, Nov. 2.—A special despatch from Pietermaritzburg, dated Tuesday morning, says: "Stragglers from the Gloucestershire regiment are arriving at Ladysmith. A number of mules, with a portion of the mountain battery, are also coming in.

A Wild Rumor.

London, Nov. 1.—In connection with the rumor of the loss of a British troopship, the name of the Peninsular and Oriental steamer Nubia has been mentioned, but the company has no knowledge of any disaster, and they say that they do not know whence the rumor originated. The Nubia sailed from Southampton Oct. 21 for the Cape of Good Hope via St. Vincent, Cape Verde Islands, which place she left on Monday. The rumor seems to have originated in Berlin Monday, but nothing is known of the matter here.

HEAVY BRITISH LOSSES.

Yule's Force Suffered Considerably From the Battle of Glencoe.

London, Nov. 1.—The War Office to-day issued the following additional list of 58 casualties sustained by Gen. Yule's force from the time of the battle of Glencoe until it joined the force of Sir George White:

King's Rifles—Four killed, 13 wounded.

Leicestershire Regiment—One wounded, 9 missing.

Artillery—One killed, 1 wounded, 2 missing.

Mounted Infantry—Twenty-seven missing.

The last mentioned were attached to the squadron of the 18th Hussars, who were entrapped by the Boers after the battle of Glencoe. They were undoubtedly captured with the Hussars.

A careful calculation of the British losses in all the engagements since the outbreak of hostilities—excluding the casualties among the non-commissioned officers and men in Monday's disaster at Ladysmith, which are thus far unknown here—gives a total of 916, to which probably 1200 will need to be added when details regarding the Ladysmith reverse are received. This total is made up as follows:

Officers, 133; being 19 killed 61 wounded and 53 captured.

British Cabinet Met.

London, Nov. 1.—The Cabinet meeting to-day was exceptionally brief, but afterwards the Defence Committee of the Cabinet, consisting of the Duke of Devonshire, Mr. A. J. Balfour, the Marquis of Lansdowne and Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, met at the Foreign Office and held a long conference with the commander-in-chief of the forces, Field Marshal Lord Wolseley.

THEY FOUGHT LIKE BRITONS.

Gen. White Tells the Story of the Captured Battalions.

After the Last Shot Was Gone, the Fusiliers and Gloucestershire Regiments Fixed Bayonets and Took the Hill—They Held the Position From Dawn Until 3 p.m. —Reverse Caused by Stampede.

London, Nov. 2.—The British War Office yesterday made public a despatch received from General White, describing the operations of Monday. It was as follows:

"Ladysmith, Oct. 31.—7.50 p.m.—I took out from Ladysmith a brigade of mounted troops, two brigade divisions of the Royal Artillery, the Natal Field Battery, and two brigades of infantry, to reconnoitre and force the enemy's main position to the north, and, if opportunity should offer, to capture the hill behind Farquhar's farm, which had, on the previous day, been held in strength by the enemy.

"In connection with this advance, a column, consisting of the Tenth Mountain Artillery, four half companies of the Gloucesters and six companies of the Royal Irish Fusiliers, the whole under Lieut.-Col. Carlton and Major Adye, Deputy Assistant Adjutant-General, was despatched at 11 p.m. on the 29th, to march by night up Bell's Spruit and seize Nicholson's Nek, or some position near Nicholson's Nek, thus turning the enemy's right flank.

A Successful Movement.

"The main advance was successfully carried out, the objective of the attack being found evacuated, and an artillery duel between our field batteries and the enemy's guns of the position and Maxims is understood to have caused heavy loss to the enemy.

"The reconnaissance forced the enemy to fully disclose his position, and after a strong counter attack on our right, the infantry brigade and cavalry had been repulsed, the troops were slowly withdrawn to camp, pickets being left on observation.

"Late in the engagement the naval contingent, under Captain Lambton of H.M.S. Powerful, came into action and silenced, with their extremely accurate fire, the enemy's guns of position.

Stampede of the Mules.

"The circumstances which attended the movements of Lieut.-Col. Carlton's column are not yet fully known but from reports received, the column appears to have carried out the night march unmolested, until within two miles of Nicholson's Nek. At this point two boulders rolled from the hill, and a few rifle shots stampeded the infantry ammunition mules. The stampede spread to the battery mules, which broke loose from their leaders and got away with practically the whole of the gun equipment and the greater portion of the regimental small ammunition. The reserve was similarly lost.

A Stubborn Fight.

"The infantry battalions, however, fixed bayonets, and, accompanied by the personnel of the artillery, seized a hill on the left of the roads, two miles from the Nek, with but little opposition. There they remained, unmolested, till dawn, the time being occupied in organizing a defence of the hill and constructing stone sangars and walls as cover from fire. At dawn a skirmishing attack on our position was commenced by the enemy, but made no way until 9.30 a. m., when strong reinforcements enabled them to rush to the attack with great energy. Their fire became very searching, and two companies of the Gloucesters, in an advance position, were ordered to fall back.

"The enemy then pressed to short range, the losses on our side becoming very numerous. At 3 p.m. our ammunition was practically exhausted, the position was captured, and the survivors of the column fell into the enemy's hands.

In the Hands of the Enemy.

"The enemy treated our wounded with humanity, General Joubert at once despatching a letter to me, offering a safe conduct to doctors and ambulances to remove the wounded. A medical officer and parties to render first aid to the wounded were despatched to the scene of action from Ladysmith last night, and the ambulance at dawn this morning.

"The want of success of the column was due to the misfortune of the mules stampeding and the consequent loss of the guns and small arm ammunition and the reserve.

"The official list of casualties and prisoners will be reported shortly. The latter are understood to have been sent by rail to Pretoria.

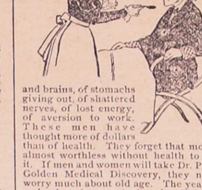

"The security of Ladysmith is in no way effected."

Philadelphia Congress Over.

Philadelphia, Nov. 2.—The International Commercial Congress, which has been in session here since Oct. 12, yesterday finally adjourned. The last day's proceedings were devoted almost entirely to the exchange of courtesies and leavetakings.

PREMATURELY OLD.

A man ought not to feel old, or to be old until well up towards the nineties, but now-a-days you don't see many such men. Instead, you hear people no older than 40 or 45 who begin to complain of tired backs and brains, of stomachs giving out, of shattered nerves, of lost energy, of aversion to work. These men have thought more of dollars than of health. They forget that money is almost worthless without health to enjoy it. If men and women will take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, they needn't worry much about old age. The years will go by, but they won't show it. This medicine makes digestion perfect, and changes a disordered stomach into a healthy one that works as Nature intended. It regulates the liver, enriches the blood and tones the nerves. It prevents consumption by curing bronchitis, lingering coughs and bleeding lungs. The "Discovery" contains no alcohol; no false or uncertain stimulus; the power it gives is the power of Nature: deep, genuine and lasting. It does not create a craving for stimulants. In serious cases of sickness, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., will give free advice and counsel to those who write him.

"The reason I delayed writing was because I wanted to wait one year after I had taken the medicine before giving my statement, and now I can send a good, conscientious testimonial," writes Chas. H. Sergeant, of Plain City, Madison Co., Ohio. "During the summer and fall of 1896 I became all 'run-down,' nerves and stomach were out of order. I wrote to Dr. Pierce for advice. He said I had general debility, and advised Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and I used six bottles. Since I stopped taking it about one year ago, I have not taken any medicine of any kind, and have been able to work every day. My appetite is good, I can eat three square meals a day, and I do not feel that miserable burning in the stomach after eating."

75th Field Battery	6

The Enemy.

There is no accurate idea of the forces that are engaging Sir George White's attention, but, roughly speaking, there must be 14,000 to 15,000 Transvaal and fully 12,000 Orange Free State Boers, or possibly 30,000 men, if the estimate given out by Dr. Leyds, the Transvaal agent at The Hague, is near the truth.

BRITISH AID TO DR. LEYDS.

Transvaal Agent Permitted to Send a Message to Pretoria.

Brussels, Nov. 2.—Dr. Leyds, the diplomatic agent of the Transvaal, has received the consent of the British Secretary of State for War, the Marquis of Lansdowne, to allow a telegram to be sent to Pretoria to ask the number of killed and wounded on the side of the Boers.

Germans Ask Mediation.

Berlin, Nov. 2.—The Tageblatt says Count Bothmer, president of the German Peace Societies, has telegraphed to Queen Victoria, praying her to accept the mediation of the United States in the war with the Transvaal.

Another Army Division.

London, Nov. 2.—It was reported at Aldershot yesterday that another complete army division will forthwith be formed for service in South Africa. The division consists of 10,000 men and 54 guns. This is possibly a preliminary step towards the calling out of a second army corps.

Big Guns Still in Action.

It was announced yesterday in a special despatch from Ladysmith that the Boers again closed around that place on Monday night, sending shells into the British camp. The two guns landed from the British cruiser Powerful opened fire on the Boers at dawn Tuesday. The Boers brought up more guns, but some of them were silenced. It is added that the Boers' loss must have been heavy. The garrison of Ladysmith is described as being in good spirits and confident, and the troops are said to be full of fight. The artillery duel was still in progress Tuesday night.

Knocked Out a 40-Pounder.

Cape Town, Oct. 31.—(Evening—Delayed in transmission.)—Guns of the British naval brigade have knocked the Boer 40-pounder clean off its platform, and have silenced the Boer guns on Herpworth Hill, overlooking Ladysmith. The Boers abandoned their positions.

Only One Yankee Officer.

Washington, Nov. 2.—The recent orders assigning Col. Samuel G. Sumner, Sixth Cavalry, military attache to the United States Embassy at London, to duty with the British army in the Transvaal, has been revoked. Captain S. L. Slocum, Eighth Cavalry, military attache at Vienna, has started for the Transvaal, and probably will be the only United States military representative at the seat of war.

IT IS ALL UNDERSTOOD.

Britain, With Portugal's Consent, Will Seize Delagoa Bay.

London, Nov. 2.—The Portuguese Government, according to a despatch from Oporto to The Daily Mail, has decided to send no troops to Delagoa Bay before the end of December, unless the frontier of Portuguese East Africa should be threatened.

Britain May Seize Delagoa Bay.

Berlin, Nov. 2.—The Vossische Zeitung declares it has official information that Great Britain, with the consent of Portugal, is about to seize Delagoa Bay.

See This Thing Through.

Edinburgh, Nov. 1.—Lord Rosebery, toasting "The Army and Navy" at a banquet given this evening by the Lord Provost of Edinburgh to the officers of the Gordon Highlanders and the Scots Greys, referred to the reverse in Natal, saying: "It is much to be regretted, but in a considerable campaign we must look out for such incidents. It is not in the nature of Britons to take much notice of them. We have had a good many of the same kind, and have generally got out right in the end. But, whatever happens, we must see this thing through, even if it should cost still more battalions and still more millions.

"Some day there will be an inquisition as to the preparations for this war, but the time for that is not now. Our duty now is to support those who have the direction of affairs."

Germany Is With Britain.

Berlin, Nov. 1.—The Neueste Nachrichten, in the course of an article evidently inspired, says: "Germany has no intention of playing into the hands of France, by intervening in the Transvaal. She intends to pursue a course of absolute neutrality."

Replying to the anti-Semitic pan-German outcry against the Emperor's expected visit to England, The Neueste Nachrichten remarks: "Although Germans individually may disapprove of England's policy, the actions of the Emperor must be dictated by Germany's interests, which do not allow her unnecessarily to arouse bad feeling in England. It would be a great mistake to prejudice German interests in South Africa by a one-sided attitude in view of the future reorganization of the political status there. Moreover, the great sea power and the great land power have every reason to co-operate in union and harmony."

DE WITTE'S REMARKABLE CLAIM.

Says Russia Is Better Financially Than Britain or France.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 1.—The Novosti says: M. DeWitt, the Minister of Finance, has recently addressed the directors of a number of private credit institutions, and assured them that the Russian financial condition exceeded that of France and Great Britain. The dearth of money, he added, was the result of the world's general financial position, and did not afford ground for uneasiness.

"NOT GUILTY" HIS ANSWER.

Young Anderson on Trial For Molsons Bank Robbery.

A True Bill Was Brought in Against Him by the Grand Jury — The Case for the Crown Opened by H. M. Howell, Q.C.—The Government Wanted Only Justice Done in the Case—The Evidence.

Winnipeg, Nov. 2.—Interest in the charge against John W. Anderson for the theft of $62,000 from the vaults of the Molsons Bank, Winnipeg, in October, 1898, was evidenced by quite a large crowd at the Court House yesterday morning. The bench was occupied by Judge Bain. The grand jury filed in about 10.30 and presented a true bill against Anderson. Anderson was then brought in.

Plea of Not Guilty.

In a few minutes after he came in the clerk read the indictment charging him with the theft of $62,000 from the Molsons Bank on or about Oct. 1, 1898. In a clear voice, to the question, "What say you, guilty or not guilty?" Anderson said, "Not guilty!" His counsel said they were ready to proceed. The work of securing a panel of jurors was then proceeded with, and finished in about half an hour.

Crown's Case Opened.

H. M. Howell, Q.C., opened the case for the Crown. He spoke of the rare nature of this case, because of the large amount involved, and the fact that it was such a safe depository as a bank that was robbed. He pointed out that the jury would have to put up with considerable inconvenience, but as good citizens, desirous of supporting the institutions of their country, they must do this. He did not ask them to act in a revengeful spirit, or to convict the prisoner in any case. What the Government asked was simply justice.

Evidence.

In the afternoon Mr. Phepoe, ex-Manager of Molsons Bank here, gave evidence as to the safe combination, the amount of money in the vaults, etc., a few days before the robbery. Nothing new was revealed in Mr. Phepoe's evidence.

Mr. Nelles, accountant of the bank, gave similgr testimony to that of Mr. Phepoe regarding the keeping of the combination numbers, etc. Witness had known Andersen for two years, and he would have given him a good character. The accused was very intelligent.

The jury and judge visited the bank and examined the safe at the conclusion of this witness' evidence.

Government Steps Which Will Be Detrimental to Commerce.

Pekin, Nov. 2.—The Government has decided to farm out the collection of the likin (transit duty) of the Province Kwang-Lung (Eastern Province) for a yearly payment of four million taels. Foreigners regard the placing of the taxation of the trade in private hands with considerable misgiving, and as calculated to impose still heavier burdens on foreign trade with the interior.

A STRONG CONTRAST.

LOYAL AND DISLOYAL

TARTEISM—TRANSVAAL CONTINGENT.

Now, Tarte is attempting to justify the position he and his chief have taken by declaring that in sending the Canadian contingent to Africa no precedent has been set, that that which has been done has been at the instance of the Colonial Secretary. If this position be correct, then the Government of Canada deserve no credit for what has been done. His explanation appears in his own Drummond County $30,000 organ, La Patrie, and is as follows:

The Government had to decide between two policies: The official sending of a contingent at the country's expense, or the payment of the passage and the clothing of those who have manifested the desire to go and fight in the Transvaal. The absence of the Prime Minister prevented the Cabinet from coming to a decision before last evening. The sending of a contingent was put, aside, but it could not refuse to pay the expenses of passage and equipment of volunteers anxious to enrol beneath the colours of the British army. The decision reached by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues does not in any manner pledge the country to any action in the future. I have reason to know that this point was settled in a manner so as to leave no doubt in the public mind. The great objection of those who believed it to be their duty to oppose sending a Canadian contingent was that, in so grave a matter, the Canadian people and their representatives in Parliament had the absolute right to be previously consulted. The payment of the expenses of the voyage and the equipment of those who will leave for the Transvaal does not necessitate the calling together of Parliament, especially since the attitude of the Government has been made so clear by the official announcement.

Our opponents hoped to crush, by their clamours, the French-Canadian Prime Minister, whose name is Sir Wilfrid Laurier; the action of the Ministry, while it does not compromise the future, shuts the mouths of all those French haters who had exhibited their hate during the last few days in the columns of the Tory newspapers. The volunteers will be transported to the Transvaal at the expense of the Canadian Government and arms once on shore they will be incorporated into the ranks of the Imperial troops, and paid, clothed and fed by Great Britain.

La Patrie has, from the first, indicated the line of conduct which I am happy to say has been followed by the Government.

If more of this spirit of disloyalty were required, it is to be found in the columns of the Government organ in Ottawa. Le Temps, a paper under the direct control of Mr. Tarte, concludes a leading editorial of a few days ago with these words:

"This anti-Canadian inhuman work (fighting Britain's battles abroad) the Government of Sir Wilfrid Laurier did not wish to undertake. If it is Mr. Tarte who is responsible for the detachment from taking that deplorable step towards the dread unknown, from this day we shall owe him an immense debt of gratitude. But already we congratulate the cabinet on its having committed the good name of Canada to this reprehensible course.

Contrast these disloyal vaporings of the controller in the Cabinet, and his supporters, with the utterances of other and more loyal men than either Tarte or Laurier, and it will not be difficult to decide which men all lovers of Canada, and of British institutions should ally themselves.

At a banquet given lately at St. John, in the Province of Quebec, Mr. J. G. BERGERON, M. P. for Beauharnois, and a leading Conservative, spoke as follows:

"Tarte, with all his authority, lacked discreteness, and he has just said something that touched the heart of every Canadian. Loyal Quebec was ashamed of the mistrust of the Administration at this juncture. This man, who at the last election prompted the canvass in Quebec that he could not have carried, permitted the power would be to send their sons with rifles to fight abroad, has just gone to Laurier and told him he must not send a Canadian contingent to the Transvaal. But, continued Mr. Bergeron, these men do not voice the sentiments of my compatriots. Quebec is as loyal to the British flag as any province in Canada. I know it. History proves it. (Prolonged cheers.) In 1812 who defended the flag in Canada? The French-Canadians. In 1865, when the Fenians threatened the Dominion's border, French-Canadians were first in the field. So it was in the Riel rebellion. If volunteers were called for now 10,000 Frenchmen would spring to arms. It was Girouard of Quebec who built Kitchener's railway up the Nile. (Cheers.)

How Japanese Catarrh Cure Cures Nasal Catarrh.

Japanese Catarrh Cure is a penetrating, soothing and healing pomade, which is inserted up the nostrils by a small camel's hair pencil. The heat of the body melts the pomade and the patient breathes the soothing medication through the nostrils, and the nasal channels open up. The stuffed-up feeling in the head leaves, and the person can breathe naturally through the nose. The dull pains across the head cease. Continual use for a short time soothes the mucous membrane until the soreness and inflammation are all gone. The bad odor of the breath passes away, and the lost senses of smell and hearing return. The dropping in the throat is permanently checked, and the nose does not stop up towards night. The discharge from the nose grows less and less, and finally stops altogether. It does not drive the disease into the throat or lungs or into the ears, as so often is done by washes, douches and the temporary relief catarrh powders and snuffs which contain poisonous and other fatal alkalids, which relieve at the time, but give rise to a false security. Japanese Catarrh Cure is a thorough antiseptic, is cleansing and healing in its action, and soothes the smarting pain in the head at once. It is guaranteed to cure any case of nasal catarrh or money will be refunded. A free sample will be sent to any person suffering from this most dangerous disease. Enclose 5 cent stamp. Sold by all druggists, 75 cents. Six for $2.50, or by mail. Address the Griffiths & Macpherson Co., 121 Church st., Toronto. Sold by D. M. Waters, cor. Front and Bridge sts.

is preferred by mothers because it is perfectly harmless to the most delicate infant. Not a grain of injurious drugs in a gallon of it. It checks baby through the entire period of teething in comparative comfort. Cures colic in ten minutes; prevents indigestion; cures sour stomach; and is widely recommended for cholera infantum. Used exclusively in the children's Hospitals of London, Berlin, Paris and other centres of Europe.

When trouble came to this fair land of ours, or the Empire was in peril, the French of Quebec would stand side by side with their English-speaking brethren in defence of the British flag. (Prolonged cheers.)

This language did not please the great Israel Tarte, who, for the utterance of which, denounces Mr. Bergeron as an "Orangeman" and a "follower of Tupper." If to be loyal and true to one's country is the characteristic of an "Orangeman" and a "follower of Tupper" the vast majority of the Canadian people will not be offended at being so designated.

PROPHETS OF EVIL.

Some people are wasting a good deal of wind in talking about the "disaster" which occurred at Ladysmith, because two battalions of infantry and a mountain battery, after losing their ammunition, had to succumb to superior numbers. You would think, to hear them talk, that British power in Africa had received its death blow. There is really no necessity for talking so dolefully. Of course, no one likes to hear of even one Briton getting whacked, let alone 900 of them, but any sensible man, who looks closely into the circumstances, can see that this is merely an illustration of the fortune of war. But please don't begin to weep and prophecy evil already. The Boers are making the most of their opportunity—that's all. The loss was serious, but it was not appalling. Why, bless your heart, the army that is expected to conquer the Boers hasn't got there yet. Don't begin to pine away just yet. Wait for a month or so, and you'll get some news to warm you—it's all right.

In this connection the following extract from the London Leader will be found very apropos:

"The military expert is abroad just now in Fleet st. and in the purlieus thereof—you may almost hear the gnashing of his teeth. His talk is of strategies and tactics, of front and flank, of troops deploying and of the tented field. He ponders over strange maps, and can tell you not only where our men are, but where they ought to be. Each morning he adjusts his little flags, each evening he sums up all the potentialities of the military situation.

He is impassioned also, and ever ready for debate or argument. He smites the table and asks his trembling listener, "Can you tell me what has become of the Onety-oneth Regiment? Eh? Just tell me that? Take it from me, sir, they've chawed up, and the War Office is concealing the disagreeable news." To soothe him you murmur, "It will all be found out one day; someone will miss the big drum, questions will be asked in Parliament, and you will be justified." But he refuses to be comforted, and over and anon, with the melancholy cadence of the minute gun at sea, he may be heard to say, "Where's that Onety-oneth? That's what I want to know."

Or in a rash, unguarded moment you tell him of some rival expert who has other plans for the campaign. "What's that?" he yells, suddenly projecting his head over the table till his face is within an inch of your own. "They would be outflanked in echelon and mowed down by the richocet fire of the position guns in the commandeered lager—every man of them. Why, just tell me this—how was it Napoleon lost at Waterloo?" And then, if you are near the door, you mention the name of Bill Adams, and escape.

GHOULISH GLEE.

As was to be expected, a portion of the French press and certain Irish Nationalist organs have begun to howl gleefully about the disaster at Ladysmith. The Dublin Evening Telegraph, the organ of that blatant windbag, Mr. John Dillon, a man who for nearly a generation has been living on the subscriptions of Irish servant girls in America, has the following characteristic comment:

Part of the force which, after fighting with desperate bravery, had to succumb to superior numbers, were countrymen of the one who penned the above extract; the gallant soldier who gave the order for the movement which ended, through no fault of his, in disaster, generally is an Irishman. One would have thought that, in common decency, the Nationalist Jackals might have kept silence while the nation was mourning for her gallant sons. Evidently the late Mr. Parnell formed a true estimate of the men who were associated with him when he held the balance of power.

SNAP SHOTS AT TIMELY TOPICS.

—It is gathered from the operations in Natal that the British find it easy to repulse the Boers, but mighty dangerous to pursue them.

—Judging from news from the front, it may be that Oom Paul and Piet Joubert heard that those Canadian troopers had started and wanted to make a place for them in the British ranks.

—On Sunday, immediately after a Chicago clergyman had urged his congregation to warm up to their Christian work, the building was discovered to be on fire. It is not often that a preacher has such a ready response to his appeals.

—If it was our duty to equip a contingent for South Africa on the outbreak of the war, it is doubly our duty to day to raise another when temporary disaster has overtaken the Empire. The present is a critical moment in the progress of the war in South Africa.—Toronto World.

LIEUT. MACINNES' MINE.

Method Used at Mafeking Was Learned at Kingston.

The feat accomplished by Lieut. Macinnes in exploding a mine under the attacking Boer forces at Mafeking is one which requires much engineering skill to successfully carry out, but which, if successful, is terribly destructive in its effects. A great pit is dug, fifty or sixty feet square, and say twelve feet deep. On the bottom are laid the heavy charges of powder in boxes, connected with fuse with the battery for explosive purposes. About these are laid tons of stones, weighing as much as a hundred pounds each, and so arranged that when projected from their hiding place they will shoot in various directions, which may be calculated by foreknowledge of the constructing engineer. On these stones is placed a few feet of earth, and then the whole mine brought to its former level with the surrounding soil, all traces being obliterated.

When the enemy advances to the spot the mine is sprung, and its ravages may be readily estimated. In addition to blowing up those above it, the great masses of stones are thrown in every direction, to the destruction of the forces near at hand. The result fully fulfilled the war anticipated, going high in the air and coming down in thick showers, spreading terror as well as death on every hand. Such a mine is termed a "fougasse," and it was a trap of this nature that was laid by Lieut. Macinnes for the Boers in front of Mafeking.

It is interesting to know that when Lieut. Macinnes was cadet at the Royal Military College in Kingston, he and his fellow-cadets constructed a fougasse of this nature, which was exploded by the class with great success. The lesson thus learned in Canada has been put to practical use in South Africa.

ENTERTAINING OLD FRIENDS.

Troubles of a Young Couple Who Lived In a Flat.

"Mary," said a young business man, "my old friend is in town with his wife. We must positively have them to dinner and ask some people to meet them."

"Now, George," exclaimed his better half, "you know we cannot entertain in a small flat, with two servants; we agreed about that when we married. Ask them to go to the play and to supper somewhere afterward, but we really cannot give a dinner party as we are situated."

After much discussion, however, the dinner was decided upon, and the question was whom to invite.

"We must ask the A.'s if we ask anyone," she decided.

"The B.'s must of course be invited," declared her husband.

"The C.'s are more important than any one," she exclaimed.

"But not more so than the D.'s," was the rejoinder, and so on. When the list was made out of the people who positively had to be asked, it numbered about 20.

"There's not a single one of these people I can leave out," declared Mrs. Z., with conviction, "and I really ought to ask more."

"Why not give a small party instead?" hazarded Mr. Z. "That would include every one."

"But that involves more," sighed his more prudent partner. "However, as you say, it simplifies matters, and, as every one has been so kind to us, it is only proper that we should make some return. But what shall we have? A dance, of course, but of the question. We must call it a musical, and have some professionals to perform."

"But they cost like everything," exclaimed the young husband. "Hang it all, Mary, I do believe the best way, after all, would be to have a dance at Delmonico's or Sherry's. We would ask all our birds with one stone and have something really creditable."

"Yes, I suppose, on the whole, that would be best," acquiesced his wife. "We'll economize afterward somehow and make it up."

So now the were made, the invitations sent out, and the ball (for a ball it finally became) was given.

"Those Z.'s are going the pace," commented the unasked Mrs. Grundy, who with her daughters, had attended the dance. "I predict a smash up for them before long. Only, Bella," this to her eldest, who was making out a list for a series of dinners, "I do not think I would put them down. They are just the sort of people who has to be careful about. We will ask them to some big reception. That will do. We will have to give one or two functions of that sort for the crowd before we begin to give smaller and more exclusive things."

With the X.'s the result was equally unsatisfactory. "I do not call it a compliment," she declared, "to be asked to a dance where we know no one and nobody takes any trouble to introduce us. I must say, Harry, your friend Z. does not put himself out to entertain you!"

As to the Z.'s, they were in despair. "It was all perfectly horrid from beginning to end!" exclaimed Mrs. Z. "We will have to economize for months to make up for the outlay, and it did not do a bit of good. People liked us better before we made the effort to entertain them. It was all a mistake from beginning to end!"

Moslem Architecture.

The moslem architecture at Agra and Delhi, not only yet so well preserved, is so distinctive of a dynasty and so alien to the country as to be chiefly significant of the influence of the race on the east and stands alike in its permanence and in its feeling or ideality in remarkable contrast to all that was before it, is around it and has come after it. It is indeed curious how young India is in art and how old in her literature, her customs and her social framework.

There is no social institution surviving in Greece or Italy that can in respect of race or of influence vie with the Hindoo caste, and there are no buildings or monuments in India that can boast an antiquity nearly so great as that can be found in the Latin and even in the Teutonic countries of Europe. Only a few of the ruder and smaller rock temples go behind the Christian era, the greater and more elaborate belonging to a more recent date, and it is but what the later history would lead us to expect when we find as regards some recently recovered Buddhist sculptures that a sense of form begins to appear just as Greek influences become active in India, though the imitations stand at an immense distance from the originals.—Contemporary Review.

An Interesting Bell.

It is interesting to know that the bell in St. Mark's Protestant Episcopal church, Chicago, is made of silver and copper coins contributed by Union soldiers and Confederate prisoners who were at Camp Douglas during the civil war. The coins were melted down and molded into a bell at Springfield, Mass., in 1864. St. Mark's church itself is the successor of the little chapel built for the garrison. The chaplain of the camp was the Rev. Edward R. Tuttle, who was much loved by both the Union and Confederate soldiers, and it was upon his suggestion that the coins were contributed for a bell. When the war closed, and the camp buildings were sold, the chaplain made an effort to get the chapel, but was unsuccessful. The bell, however, was given to his congregation by the government.

No Risk.

"Attention!" roared the colonel, and in a flash the long line of men was as if petrified.

"Magnificent!" exclaimed the actor, turning to a friend in the little group of spectators. "But can't they move at all?"

"Well, I should think not."

"Can't even lift a hand?"

"Not even a finger."

"Can they yell or do anything like that?"

"Nope. Not allowed to open their mouths."

"Ye gods!" murmured the actor, "what a chance to play Hamlet!"—Kansas City Independent.

A Result of Their Quarrel.

She—I had to dismiss the waitress today.

He—What for?

She—Impertinence. What do you think she said when I told her not to make so much noise in the pantry when we were at meals?

He—Don't know, I'm sure.

She—She said if you and I would talk more we wouldn't notice it.—Brooklyn Life.

A good full step ahead of the other clothing stores in quality and fresh new goods, yet never ahead in prices. Comparison proves it.

Speaking in general and for everybody

There's a profound pleasure in writing these trade invitations for this store, from the fact that we can do so much better for you with the goods themselves than we can in telling about them—the reality here is better than your expectations.

Here we are in October—the month of brown leaves and frosty weather—with every department fairly running over with new goods—right up to the mark in fashion—equal in every way to the good stores of the largest cities.

Afternoon Despatches.

Situation is Very Gloomy

Despatch via Berlin Says Ladysmith Has Fallen.

Not Believed in England, Though All Admit Gen. White's Case is a Desperate One—Reinforcements for Kimbouri Forming at DeAar Junction—Cecil Rhodes Said to be Captured.

(OTHER DESPATCHES ON INSIDE PAGES.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 3, via Berlin. — A report is current here that Ladysmith has fallen, and that the greater part of Gen. White's army has been slain and the rest taken prisoners by the Boers.

It is also reported that Kimbouri has capitulated, and that Cecil Rhodes has been taken prisoner.

The bubonic plague, it is said, has broken out around Delagoa Bay.

LONDON, Nov. 3, via New York. — Despite the strict censorship concerning the movements of the troops in Africa, it is evident that a strong column is forming at De Aar Junction for the relief of Kimbouri. The 1st Munster Fusiliers, the 2nd Berkshires and half of the 2nd Yorkshire Light Infantry are known to be there, numbering nearly 3,000 in all. The Munsters have been converted into mounted infantry.

It was originally intended to send an entire army corps this way, but the critical position of the British in Natal necessitates diverting the reinforcements as soon as they arrive at the Cape.

The Government hoped that White would be able to hold the Boers in check in Natal long enough for the army corps to arrive and make a dashing invasion of the Orange Free State and thence into the Transvaal, but all of these plans are upset now.

Until the conditions in Natal can be bettered some of the troops must be spared to help Kimbouri.

Every effort will be made to help the two beleaguered towns as soon as possible.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—War Office people last night refused to believe that Ladysmith was completely invested or Colenso captured.

This morning it was asserted that the railroad is still open, though traffic has been conducted with the greatest caution. What, however, was only a rumor yesterday evening, may, it is claimed, be a reality at any moment, as Gen Joubert, with a large and wonderfully mobile force, is expected to detach several thousand troops and to make a dash at the railroad.

Rumors of all kinds are springing up here. It is even reported that Gen White has been compelled to fall back on Pietermaritzburg, leaving his wounded behind.

It is asserted the British guns now seem more than equal to the artillery of the Boers, thus enhancing the difficulty of any assault on the British lines.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING

That the time has nearly arrived when voters get the cheery smile and the glad hand once more.

That the Hon. David Mills is not simple enough to resign his seat in the Senate and run for Bothwell, the one being sure and the other doubtful.

That, as was to be expected, another of the Jersey Lily's husbands has taken to the woods. The Lily must be something of a Xantippe.

That General White's remarks, after he first heard of those runaway mules, would make the fortune of any man who had 'em on the cylinder of a phonograph.

That it would be unreasonable to expect Tarte to hoist the Union Jack on the public buildings in Ottawa when the volunteers left that city, he being a Krugerite.

That the practice which some of our rising generation indulge in—writing, with chalk, would-be funny and obscene remarks on fences and the sides of houses—should be stopped.

That this may not be Mr. Joe Murphy's last appearance in Belleville, but it can't be very long before he gives up youthful parts on the stage. A whole-souled fellow and a fine actor, he is known and liked in every part of the English-speaking world.

That the outcry of the Grit Tarites against the Conservative press for keeping the public informed of the anti-British utterances of the Quebec Krugerites is only what might be expected. Kruger's policy was to keep his people in ignorance, and his Canadian confreres would like to do the same.

That the public should look out for a counterfeit two dollar bill of July 2, 1897, series, bearing the vignette of Prince of Wales and a fishing scene on the reverse side. The bill has a greasy appearance, and the words Dominion of Canada do not show up as clearly as on the genuine. The ink is purplish and the words Dominion Bank Note Co., Ottawa, are poorly engraved and irregular.

That it is not a graceful act for Grit newspapers to attempt to throw mud at the unknown gentleman who, through Sir Charles Tupper, has insured the lives of the officers and men of the Canadian Contingent. He didn't announce it with a flourish of trumpets, like the Laurier Government, and then back out. But then, you know, it's characteristic of the present Government to go back on their promises.

THE WAR SUMMARY.

Further details of the terrible fight at Ladysmith. Sixty British were killed and 340 wounded.

Colenso reported captured after another terrible battle, and communication between Durban and Durban cut off.

General Kock, second in command of the Boer forces, died on Monday night.

Sensational reports have been received at Berlin, stating that Gen. White's force has been defeated by the Boers, but they lack confirmation.

A report comes from Berlin to-day that Ladysmith has fallen and that the greater part of Gen. Whites army has been slain or taken prisoners.

Another sensational despatch is published in Paris, which, it was said, came through Brussels, to the effect that the Free St'ters, under Gen. Meyer, have seized Colenzo, cutting off the retreat of Gen. White, who is wounded.

From the same source the news comes that Mafeking is closely besieged, and that its surrender is expected.

The London newspapers doubt the above rumors, thinking that they are more likely intended for propagation at the Cape and to influence the Afrikanders.

Feeling of the Government--No Action Without the Fullest Canvass of Public Sentiment--To Shelve Tarte.

Ottawa, Nov. 2.—The Government organ in this city, the Free Press, says to-night:—"In regard to the reports as to the offer of a new Canadian contingent for South Africa, it may be said that the proposition has not received as yet any serious thought at headquarters here. The idea meets with some support, but the Government will take no action without the fullest canvass of public sentiment."

It is the general impression around town that there is more involved in the Free Press paragraph than appears on its face. The Government made such a mess over the offer of the first contingent that it cannot afford to be behind any of the other colonies in furnishing a second.

It is generally believed that Parliament will be called together at a very early date for the purpose of getting rid of the objection which Sir Wilfrid himself pointed out in the Globe interview of October 16th, by securing the necessary Parliamentary authority to furnish men and arms.

Of course, Mr. Tarte will have to be reckoned with, and considering how public opinion is running in the country, it is considered not unlikely that the Minister of Public Works may be shelved.

G. T. R. NOTES.

The passenger and freight traffic over the line of the G.T.R. at present is very brisk.

On Wednesday over 1,000 live hogs were shipped from here by local dealers. They were destined for Ottawa and Montreal. In this connection it may be stated that a new tariff rate went into effect yesterday on the line. The company reduced freight rates on pork and beef by two cents per hundred weight, from all points in Ontario to Newfoundland.

For a few days, owing to accidents, a number of passenger trains were delayed, but everything appears to be running smoothly at present.

Mr. Joseph Robb, locomotive foreman at Brockville, was not dismissed, but resigned, after 42 years of service. His successor is Mr. Marshall, of London, Ont. Mr. Robb is the father of Mr. W. D. Robb, formerly locomotive superintendent here, now of Toronto.

Mrs. Burke had for many years been a resident of the Limestone City, and was universally esteemed. She had been in failing health for some time. In addition to her husband she leaves a family of four sons and two daughters. The remains will be brought to Belleville to-morrow for interment.

The Members of Mr. C. P. Holton's Bible Class Entertain their Friends.

The young ladies of Mr. C. P. Holton's Bible Class, in connection with Bridge street Methodist Church, last evening held their annual tea, and as is usual with them, it was a very pleasant function. The spread provided was all that could have been desired. After the company had partaken of refreshments a meeting was held, presided over by the pastor, Rev. C. E. McIntyre. An interesting programme, consisting of vocal and instrumental music and short addresses, was given. The singing of Miss de Guerre was much appreciated. Those who gave addresses, were the chairman, Sir Mackenzie Bowell, Mr. C. P. Holton and Mr. Layton, of the High School. The proceedings were brought to a close at a seasonable hour and all appeared to have spent a very pleasant and profitable evening.

Every little girl in Belleville is interested. There are Vici Kid Slippers here to-day for her doll. Let her bring the doll (big or little), and we will give her the slippers or have them made to order for her, if the dolls feet are so big or odd that we cannot fit them out of stock. A parent must come with her.

and we want to give away so many that every girl hereabout will know what a perfect shoe leather this Vici Kid is—how soft to the touch and yet how firm and durable. We want her to see, too, what a perfect polish it takes. We want her to see the horse-shoe trade-mark that stamps all of the Vici products.

These little girls will soon be the grown up women and the shoe buyers, and it is to prove to them how Vici Kid is the best of all kid that goes into shoes, that we give away these handsome slippers. Remember, Mr. Robert H. Foerderer alone makes Vici Kid. No one else knows how to make it. They try and try, but Vici stands to-day as when it first appeared; unequalled, almost unapproached.

To-day, as every day this week, we have a ladies' maid at our store teaching shoe care and the merits of Vici Dressing, Polish, etc.; preparations made by Robert H. Foerderer, who says no matter how good a leather or shoe may be, if neglected in wear half its wearing qualities is lost. The lesson we teach is worth learning.

COL. DOMVILLE'S MISTAKE.

Lord Wolseley Cabled Him That His Offer of Cavalry Should Have Come Through Governor.

Ottawa, Nov. 3.—Lieut.-Col. Domville, who is here, recently sent an offer of a cavalry regiment for service in the Transvaal to Field Marshall the Commander-in-Chief. Yesterday morning he received a cablegram from Lord Wolseley briefly thanking him, and reminding him that his offer should have come through the Governor-General.

Col. Domville to Lord Minto.

In this connection the following letter is self-explanatory:

Rideau Club, Ottawa, Nov. 2.

To His Excellency the Governor-General of Canada, Government House.—My Lord, I have the honor to enclose you the following cablegram just received from the Commander-in-Chief in London:

Kind offer should come through Governor. Fear difficulties. Writing. (Signed) Wolseley.

I have the honor to state that I cabled the night before last to Lord Wolseley offering a volunteer regiment cavalry of full strength. I have now to renew it through your Excellency. I recognize now that I should have sent it in the first instance to you, but it was sent from here late at night when you were in Quebec, so I must plead urgency for the mistake. If my offer is accepted the corps will go as mounted infantry, and I propose to equip it, if necessary, from private subscriptions. (Signed) Jas. Domville.

Congratulations to the General.

Major Young, acting District Commanding Officer, has sent out the following despatch, which he has received from General Hutton:

Convey to your district that His Excellency has been pleased to express his cordial satisfaction at the soldierly appearance and discipline at embarkation of our comrades and representatives of the second special service battalion of the R.C.R.I. Express my congratulations to all concerned upon the auspicious event in Canadian military history.

Lord Minto to Otter.

The following militia general orders were issued yesterday afternoon:

The following telegram was sent by the major-general commanding, in accordance with the commands of His Excellency the Governor-General, to Lieut.-Col. Otter, commanding 2nd Batt., Royal Canadian Regiment: "Am desired by His Excellency the Governor-General to convey to your command and yourself his highest congratulations upon your very soldierly embarkation this day. His Excellency desires to wish all ranks bon voyage and upon arrival honor and renown during campaign."

The following telegram from the major-general commanding to Lieut.-Col. Otter, commanding the 2nd Batt., Royal Canadian Regiment, is published for the information of the militia generally: "Your comrades of the Canadian militia and myself wish our representative regiment and yourself godspeed and return full of honors and renown for Canada and for the Empire."

Another Loyal Britisher.

Kingston, Nov. 3.—H. S. Munsie, 1476 Lexington avenue, New York, formerly sergeant of the 5th Field Battery, Kingston, hearing that there was a chance of another contingent going out to the Transvaal, has volunteered for the front. He has written to Captain Corbett, offering his services.

THE FEAR OF HUMBUG

Stomach troubles are so common and in most cases so obstinate to cure that people are apt to look with suspicion on any remedy claiming to be a radical, permanent cure for dyspepsia and indigestion. Many such pride themselves on their acuteness in never being humbugged, especially in medicines.

This fear of being humbugged can be carried too far, so far, in fact, that many people suffer for years with weak digestion rather than risk a little time and money in faithfully testing the claims made of a preparation so reliable and universally used as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Now Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are vastly different in one important respect from ordinary proprietary medicines for the reason that they are not a secret patent medicine, no secret is made of their ingredients, but analysis shows them to contain the natural digestive ferments, pure aseptic pepsin, the digestive acids, Golden Seal, bismuth, hydrastis and nux. They are not cathartic, neither do they act powerfully on any organ, but they cure indigestion on the common sense plan of digesting the food eaten thoroughly before it has time to ferment, sour and cause the mischief. This is the only secret of their success.

Cathartic pills never have and never can cure indigestion and stomach troubles because they act entirely on the bowels, whereas the whole trouble is really in the stomach.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets taken after meals digest the food. That is all there is to it. Food not digested or half digested is poison as it creates gas, acidity, headaches, palpitation or the heart, loss of flesh and appetite and many other troubles which are often called by some other name.

They are sold by druggists everywhere at 50 cents per package. Address F. A.

CAN GEN. WHITE HOLD OUT?

That Seems to Be the Big Question of the Transvaal War.

Boers Are Trying to Cut Off the Railway Between Ladysmith and Pietermaritzburg — Shells Still Being Sent From the Hills by the Boers — How Col. Carlton's Column Suffered.

London, Nov. 2.—(10.15 p.m.)—The War Office has just informed the Associated Press that a despatch has been received from the Governor of Natal, Sir Walter Francis Hely-Hutchinson, announcing that communication with Ladysmith has been interrupted since half past 2 o'clock this afternoon. This is not regarded by the War Office, however, as in any wise confirming the rumors of a complete investment of Ladysmith or of the capture of Colenso.

BOMBARDMENT GOING ON.

Boers in Their Old Positions and Have Remounted Big Guns.

London, Nov. 3.—Special despatches from Ladysmith dated Tuesday give further details regarding the renewal of the bombardment. The Boers, having re-occupied their old positions, re-mounted big guns. Their firing was accurate, but almost harmless. Some of the troops were slightly injured by splinters.

Lieut. F. G. Egerton and his men from the Powerful did splendid work and quickly silenced the Boer guns. The Boers acknowledge having suffered heavy losses in men and horses in the previous battle.

Gen. Kock is Dead.

General Jan H. M. Kock, who was second in command in the Transvaal forces, and who was wounded in the battle of Elandslaagte, died in the hospital at Ladysmith on Monday night.

Little Light on the Situation.

Little light is thrown on the actual situation by the news at hand to-day. The magnitude of Monday's fight, however, is more than ever evident. Virtually three actions were raging simultaneously, but it is obvious that the intention to roll back the Orange Free State troops was not achieved.

It is a Serious War.

Lord Frederick Roberts of Candahar, commander of the forces in Ireland, while reviewing the troops at Kilkenny, said: "It is useless to disguise the fact that we are engaged in a very serious war, a war which will put our resources and courage to a severe test."

Captured by the Boers.

London, Nov. 2.—Another list of casualties at Dundee was issued by the War Office this morning. It gives 82 non-commissioned officers and men of the Dublin Fusiliers missing, indicating that the Boers captured as many Fusiliers as they did Hussars.

Boers in Zululand.

Pietermaritzburg, Nov. 2.—It is reported that the Boers are occupying parts of Zululand, and that they have taken Pomeroy, 50 miles from Greytown.

Boers Used the Doctor Well.

London, Nov. 3.—The correspondent of The Daily News at Ladysmith, telegraphing Tuesday, says: "Dr. Hornabrook, while searching for the body of Lieut. Clappham, on Umbulwena Hill, which was in possession of the enemy, met many Boers. On stating the object of his quest, he was kindly received. The consensus of opinion among the Boers, he thinks, is that they are sick of fighting and would like to throw up the sponge. They said their loss yesterday was heavy and due chiefly to our artillery fire."

60 KILLED, 240 WOUNDED.

What Gen. White's Plan Cost Great Britain at Ladysmith.

London, Nov. 3.—Gen. Sir Stewart White has cabled the War Office that in the engagement on Farquhar's farm, near Ladysmith, on Oct. 30, when Lieut.-Col. Carleton's column was compelled to surrender, six officers were killed and nine wounded. Among the non-commissioned officers and men the casualties were 54 in killed and 231 in wounded. Gen. White promises a list of the missing later.

At 12.40 a.m. the War Office issued the 9 Oct the despatch which is dated Ladysmith, Nov. 2, 10 a.m., giving the list of casualties among the officers which is as follows:

ROYAL ARTILLERY.

KING'S ROYAL RIFLES.

KILLED—Major W. T. Myers, Lieut. H. S. Marsden and Lieut. T. L. Forster. WOUNDED—Major Henry E. Buchanan-Riddell and Lieut. H. C. Johnson, both severely.

ROYAL IRISH FUSILIERS.

WOUNDED—Captain G. B. H. Rice and Captain W. B. Silver, both severely.

GLOUCESTERSHIRE.

WOUNDED—Capt. S. Wilcock, Capt. B. O. Fyffe and Capt. E. S. Stayner, all severely.

NATAL MOUNTED RIFLES.

KILLED—Lieut. William Chapman.

MEDICAL CORPS.

KILLED—Major Edward Gray.

The list of the names of the non commissioned officers and men killed and wounded is promised to-morrow.

870 British Prisoners.

London, Nov. 2.—A special despatch from Ladysmith says 20 British dead and 100 wounded have been counted on the scene of Monday's disaster, while 870 prisoners were sent to Pretoria.

Lieut. Egerton Wounded.

London, Nov. 2.—The War Office this afternoon issued the following despatch: "Chief of Staff, Ladysmith, to War Secretary: Ladysmith, Nov. 2.—Lieut. Egerton, H. M. S. Powerful, dangerously wounded this morning by a shell, left knee and right foot. Life not in danger at present."

It was inferred from this despatch that the artillery duel between the Boers and British continues, as Lieut. Egerton was a gunnery lieutenant, with the big naval guns.

Blue Jackets Were Late.

London, Nov. 3.—A despatch to The Daily Telegraph from Ladysmith, filed Monday night, giving a description of the battle, says: "A similar mule stampede occurred to Lieut.-Col. Grimwood's column on the Bulwan side. The ammunition was lost, but our infantry quite held their own. It was a serious misfortune that the Powerful's blue jackets were not summoned sooner, as the result of the engagement would have been different."

FIRST INDEPENDENT STORY

Of the Cutting Off of Carlton's Column by the Boers.

London, Nov. 3.—The Daily News has a despatch this morning from Ladysmith, dated Tuesday, 10.30 a.m., which gives the first independent account of the cutting off of Lieut.-Col. Carlton's column in the engagement at Farquhar's farm. The correspondent says: "The column was sent out on Sunday night, made a wide detour, and reached the spurs of the Drakensberg before dawn. Col. Carlton stormed the heights with the bayonet, and maintained his position against great odds until his ammunition was exhausted and surrender had become inevitable. Nearly 200 had then been killed and wounded.

A Second Army Corps.

London, Nov. 3.—Again it is asserted at Aldershot that the mobilization of a second army corps will begin on Nov. 10, and that the whole reserves of the transport branch of the army corps will be called out. A composite detachment of Royal Marines will be formed at Portsmouth, consisting of experienced men for inland service in South Africa.

OVER 6,000 SOLDIERS KILLED.

Uncle Sam's Death List Between May, 1898, and June 30, 1899.

Washington, Nov. 2.—A recapitulation of the casualties in actions and deaths in the regular and volunteer armies between May, 1898, and June 30, 1899, contained in the annual report of the adjutant-general of the army, shows a grand total of 10,076 men. The casualty list alone aggregates 3,454, of whom 35 officers and 458 enlisted men were killed, and 197 officers and 2,764 enlisted men wounded. The death list, numbering 6,619, was made up of 224 officers and 6,395 enlisted men. Of this total but 38 officers and 458 enlisted men were killed, the remainder of the deaths resulting from various causes.

What of the Bribers?

Toronto, Nov. 3.—On account of the uncertainty of the law relating to the trial of election bribers, Mr. Justice Osler has declined to issue summonses against the bribers reported in South Ontario until the entire judiciary has made the procedure clear. A meeting of the High Court judges will likely be held next ... issue

TO INVADE THE TRANSVAAL.

Will General White Be Able to Hold Out for Ten Days?

London, Nov. 3.—All was quiet at Buluwayo in Rhodesia, according to despatches received this morning up to Oct. 27. There has been some skirmishing on the border.

Buller's Army.

Apparently extensive preparations are in progress at De Aar, Cape Colony, for the concentration of Lieut.-Gen. Buller's army. Thousands of mules are corralled in that neighborhood, and transport material is being hurried up from the south.

Four More Guns Mounted.

According to another despatch the naval brigade at Ladysmith has mounted four more guns from Durban.

The Invading Army.

The report comes from Rome that Portugal will permit the landing of British troops at Lorenzo Marquez. This coincides with the view strongly prevalent in some quarters here that the British invasion of the Transvaal will be made from that point.

Still Speculating.

The morning papers are divided in opinion as to whether Sir George Stewart White's latest list of casualties includes the losses of Lieut.-Col. Carlton's column before the surrender. The preponderance of opinion inclines that they are not included, since, if they were, Gen. White would probably have mentioned the fact.

British Warship Fires.

Lisbon, Nov. 2.—News has reached here that a British warship in Delagoa Bay has fired on a sailing ship which was entering the harbor without having displayed a flag. The vessel proved to be British, but there is some question here as to the right of Great Britain to do police duty in a Portuguese port.

The Fleet at Gibraltar.

Gibraltar, Nov. 2.—The British channel fleet, comprising eight line-of-battle ships and two cruisers, arrived in Gibraltar Bay to-day and is awaiting orders.

The cruisers Arrogant and Furious have been detailed to cruise in the Atlantic Ocean.

A Critical Time Now.

London, Nov. 3.—A report that a Boer force with guns, from Koomati Poort, is making its way through Zululand, is held to indicate an intention to seize the railway between Colenso and Pietermaritzburg, if it has not already been seized. This, however, will soon be known, as armored trains are patrolling the line. The real question now for the British public is, Can Gen. White hold out another ten days or two weeks, until the army corps arrives? Less anxiety would be felt on his account were it not that every day seems to bring a fresh list of casualties.

At the best the coming week must prove a critical and anxious time.

ACTIVITY AT ESQUIMALT.

Special Instructions Received From the Imperial Government.

Vancouver, B.C., Nov. 2.—(G.N.W. despatch.)—Great Britain is displaying the same activity at her North Pacific station in getting ready for possible foreign interference that she is doing elsewhere. Special instructions are said to have reached the officials at Esquimalt.

It is stated that H.M.S. Arethusa, which was to have relieved the Amphion on the North Pacific station, has been ordered into reserve, and the Amphion, which was on her way home, has been intercepted and ordered back to Esquimalt.

All the rest of the fleet are under emergency orders, and are taking their turn at the dry dock for a cleaning.

DAVIS TELLS HIS STORY.

The Anderson Bank Robbery Trial at Winnipeg — Prisoner's Counsel, Mr. Hagel, Rakes Davis.

Winnipeg, Nov. 3.—The sensation of the Molsons Bank robbery case was sprung yesterday afternoon, when Davis, the young man who played detective on the accused, Anderson, was placed in the box. Davis swore to the same story as he told at the preliminary examination and which was printed at the time. He said Anderson said he could show him where the money was hid, that he did, and that he confessed that he had stolen it from the bank. The $62,000 was returned to Molsons Bank. $2,000 of the stolen money was not found.

Hagel Rakes Davis.

Mr. Hagel, counsel for the prisoner, took the witness in hand. Chairs were provided for a number of strangers, who made their appearance from an ante-room. They were a squad of Chicago witnesses. Davis, it is claimed by Anderson's friends, wilted when he saw them. Witness recognized one of the Chicago men, Mr. Perrin, as the latter came forward. They had roomed together. Hagel produced a letter alleged to be from the "detective's" brother, indicating that the witness had come by Perrin's diamond improperly. Davis stoutly denied that he had stolen the diamond. Davis could not say just where he went from Chicago in October, 1898, as he was following the detective whom Lawyer Hagel sent after him to look up his record. (Laughter.) Witness was arrested twice in Chicago in 1897, once for stealing a book worth 25c, and then on the Perrin matter. He was never incarcerated.

Hagel began reading court papers to the effect that Davis had been charged with stealing a memorandum case worth 25c and two notes for $40 each and a diamond worth $80. The grand jury returned a true bill against him.

When the case came up he said he was discharged. Did not remember the judge's name and made no plea. (Sensation).

Davis' Memory Was Poor.

His Lordship here said Davis could surely remember the occurrence more clearly. Davis claimed he loaned Perrin some money and took the diamond from Perrin's dresser as security.

Nothing that the judge or Hagel could say could bring to Davis' recollection any remembrance about an information in the Chicago court. Davis' nerve never left him, and he hit back at Lawyer Hagel without turning a hair.

As to a Shooting Affair.

As to a shooting affair in Chicago, Hagel called George Newton and Frank Perrin of Chicago to stand up, but they failed to refresh Davis' memory that he had been in some trouble. Finally, on hearing their names, he said Perrin was a gambler of the first water, not any better than many in Chicago behind the bars. Davis had nothing to say against Mrs. Craig and Mrs. Hopkins of Chicago, boarding house women, then in court. He also knew Mr. Hartly, who stood up, a clerk in the Chicago post-office. He saw Hartly at Mrs. Craig's four weeks, but did not talk about the case.

At 5.30 the court adjourned.

In the morning George S. Laing, C. G. Mair, W. S. Stevens, Macbeth and Phepoe of the Molsons Bank staff were examined as to bank combinations, etc.

Indignity to Sir Louis Davies.

Washington, Nov. 3.—The action of the New York Customs officials in failing to observe instructions to extend the usual courtesies and facilities to Sir Louis Davies, member of the Canadian Cabinet, on his recent arrival at New York, has been taken cognizance of by the authorities here. There is sincere regret that any indignity should have been shown the Canadian official, and besides giving assurance of this, it is probable that the officer responsible for the discourtesy will be made aware of the Government's disapproval.

LORD LANSDOWNE SPEAKS.

Fake News From Natal—Extraordinary Despatch From Cape Town, via Brussels, Which Has No Semblance of Truth in It—Officially It Was Characterized as an Utterly Baseless Statement.

London, Nov. 2.—The Marquis of Lansdowne, Secretary of State for War, was the chief speaker at the cutlers' feast in Sheffield this evening, the function being attended by the usual distinguished assemblage. Replying to the toast to Her Majesty's Ministers, he went over the usual ground in explaining the cause of the war, and defended the Government against the charge that the military preparations were not abreast of the negotiations. He said: "The diplomatic messages went by wire, the reinforcements by ship. Moreover, in order to keep abreast, the army and navy would have had to commit most provocative and threatening acts. The Boer ultimatum followed British mobilization, and if Great Britain had mobilized earlier the ultimatum would have been earlier."

Enemy Had the Advantage.

Lord Lansdowne explained the promptness of the mobilization, which had enabled five cavalry regiments, ten batteries and thirty battalions to get far away on the sea. During the earlier operations the enemy, he went on to say, had great superiority of numbers, and the advantage of a choice of ground. This phase of the situation, he hoped, was approaching its conclusion, for in less than a week, the first instalments of Sir Redvers Buller's forces would arrive at Cape Town, to be followed at a steady rate by the remainder.

No Anxiety as to Result.

"I do not think," continued the Secretary of State for War, "that there need be any anxiety regarding the result. There has been nothing in history to compare with the patriotism of our colonies, who will take no denial. Their attitude will impress on the civilized world two great truths:

"First—That Great Britain is not an empty phrase; and second—That such a large measure of voluntary support would not have been accorded unless we were fighting in a just cause."

In conclusion, Lord Lansdowne expressed, on behalf of the Government, "profound admiration for the heroism of our troops, who have rehabilitated the reputation of the British soldier in South Africa—a great gain, which, to my mind, outweighs the heavy losses we have sustained and outweighs even the sad disaster which was due to an accidental cause."

Lord Charles Beresford.

Rear Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, replying to the toast to "The Imperial Forces," praised the transport arrangements. Referring to the surrender of the Irish Fusiliers and the Gloucestershire Regiment after their ammunition was exhausted, he said it was an honorable surrender. He expressed the opinion that the Government was not sending men enough to South Africa in view of the probability that the Cape Dutch would join the Boers. Discussing the general question of military armament, he observed that there were only two really patriotic nations in the world, the British and the Americans, because they alone had volunteer armies.

FAKE NEWS FROM NATAL.

Extraordinary Despatch From Cape Town Which Has No Semblance of Truth in It.

Paris, Nov. 2.—The Havas agency this evening publishes the following extraordinary despatch, which, the agency says, came through its correspondent at Brussels:

Cape Town, Nov. 2.—The news of the Boers' two victories around Ladysmith has created considerable excitement among the Afrikanders, who do not conceal their joy. Sir Alfred Milner (the British High Commissioner) is much perturbed at their attitude.

Gen. White, in these two engagements, lost about 350 men killed, wounded and prisoners. The second victory was won by the Free Staters, commanded by Lucas Myer, who seized Colenso, thus cutting off the retreat of Gen. White, who is wounded.

The investment of Ladysmith is complete, and the Boers are masters of Pietermaritzburg and the Durban Railway.

News has reached Gen. White that Mafeking is closely besieged and that the Boers have successfully repulsed the sorties. The surrender of Mafeking is expected.

It also confirmed that the Free Staters have seized Colensburg.

Utterly Baseless Statements.

London, Nov. 2.—The Secretary of the War Office, who was shown the Cape Town despatch of the Havas Agency, said the statements made were utterly baseless. Brussels, where the Havas despatch originated, is the headquarters of Dr. Leyds, the diplomatic agent of the Transvaal, and it is thought the Cape Town despatch may be an exaggerated Boer version on the recent fighting.

What The Times Suggests.

London, Nov. 3.—The Times, commenting editorially upon the fact that the news appears to arrive in Belgium from South Africa from some channel uncontrolled by British censorship, reminds the Government that information valuable to the enemy can similarly leak from Europe to the Transvaal. It suggests that the Government should fully exercise their right under existing conditions, if any such channel has for special reasons been left open, and it appears to think there may be some truth in yesterday's Berlin and Paris stories.

The Daily News suggests that these rumors are more likely intended for propagation at the Cape, and to influence the Afrikanders.

Fool Story About the Crescent.

Halifax, Nov. 2.—A story published in New York to-day, stating that an attempt was made last night to blow up Admiral Sir J. Bedford's flagship Crescent of the British North American squadron, is absolutely without foundation.

Where Germany Must Stay.

Berlin, Nov. 2.—The Vossische Zeitung publishes an appeal signed by the commander of the German corps in the Transvaal, calling upon Germans to contribute to the support of the families of "Those German volunteers who have taken up arms in a just cause."

The Hamburgische correspondent in the course of a semi-official article, which cautions those who desire to embroil Germany in a conflict with Great Britain, says: "Germany is not going to pluck chestnuts for other people out of Great Britain's fire. Such a policy would drive Germany so closely into the arms of Russia that she would hardly be able to breathe."

A Fenian View of It.

London, Nov. 2.—The Dublin Freeman's Journal, in yesterday's issue, says the wild whoops of the English press regarding the support given by Canada to the British arms will probably prove to have been premature. No judicious reader, it says, can reflect on the messages from the Dominion and fail to note the unwillingness of Sir Wilfrid Laurier to encourage the jingo movement. The thousand Canadian volunteers now on their way to South Africa have not behind them the good-will of the Canadian nation.

Russian Papers Hostile.

Moscow, Russia, Nov. 2.—The tone of Russian press comment on the Transvaal war is increasingly hostile to England. The papers whose sympathies are most strongly on the side of the Boers are even insulting in their references to Great Britain.

Yet Another Tragedy.

Eganville, Ont., Nov. 3.—William Yaster, the man who killed his wife and daughter Tuesday night, died early yesterday morning from the effects of paris green poisoning.

Italian Chased and Captured.

Folkstone, Eng., Nov. 3.—The Italian barque Bersagliere, Capt. Costa, bound from Hamburg for Pensacola, was captured off here yesterday, after an exciting chase, by a tug, on board of which were customs officers and a magistrate. The captain of the Bersagliere was charged with having sunk a Lowestoft trawler, in a collision, and with having left the crew of the latter vessel to their fate.

St. Catharines, Nov. 3.—The Liberal Conservative Association of Lincoln County met in convention here yesterday. The attendance of outside delegates was good. A. W. Wright, organizer for Ontario, was present, and gave a stirring speech. There was a long list of names handed in, but all declined the nomination except E. A. C. Lancaster, barrister of St. Catharines. Mr. Lancaster's acceptance of the nomination is a popular one.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

Toronto, Nov. 3.—Receipts of live stock were light yesterday, 33 carloads only, containing 549 cattle, 1,002 hogs, 342 sheep and a few calves. Feeders and stockers were the main feature of to-day's cattle market, fully two-thirds being of that class. Prices for these were firmer and more of the better grades would have found ready sale.

The Costliest Cough Cure is Change of Climate, and it's a cure that's not often possible and not always sure. There's a better idea about coughs and cures: Why not fit the lungs to the climate instead of fitting the climate to the lungs? It is the power to do this that makes

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral

THE BEST COUGH CURE

in the land. It is a sure cure for colds and coughs; a specific for Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, Whooping Cough; it prevents Pneumonia, cures La Grippe; and it so strengthens the lungs and heals the torn tissues that many cases of disease marked by all the signs of Incipient Consumption have been absolutely cured by its use.

"We tried almost everything for asthma without success. At last we used your Cherry Pectoral and the relief was immediate." S. A. ELLIS, Keene, N. H.

"When I had almost despaired of ever finding a cure for chronic bronchitis, I derived most excellent results from Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I can testify as to its efficacy." R. G. PROCTOR, M. D., Oakland City, Ind.

"There were sixteen children in my father's family and there are seven in my own. We have never, since I can remember, been without Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and have never had a case of cold or cough that this remedy did not cure." HON. WM. E. MASON, Chicago, Ill.

"My wife was sick in bed for ten months and was attended by ... different doctors. All of them said that she had consumption, and some of them said she could not live a month. I bought one bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It seemed to help her, so I secured one dozen bottles. Before these were all used, she was completely cured and to-day is strong and well." J. W. ... Camden Point, Mo.

"For more than a year my wife suffered with lung trouble. She had a severe cough, great soreness of the chest, and experienced difficulty in breathing. A three months' treatment with Ayer's Cherry Pectoral effected a complete cure. We regarded it as remarkable, as the other remedies she had tried had failed to even give relief." C. H. BUR..., Marine Mills, Minn.

Address, Medical Dept., J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

For coughs, colds, bronchitis and all lung and throat troubles, there is no preparation or medicine can compare with Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which causes difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relief to that depressing tightness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and huskiness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous. If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety, trouble and expense, let them procure a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the Syrup according to directions.

At Death s Door—Dyspepsia Conquered. A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. Totally Deaf.—Mr. S. E. Crandell, Port Perry, writes—"I contracted a severe cold last winter, which resulted in my becoming totally deaf in one ear and partially so in the other. After trying various remedies, and consulting several doctors, without obtaining any relief, I was advised to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

Banquet to Our Cousins.

Quebec, Nov. 3.—A banquet was tendered at the Garrison Club last night, by the Quebec Board of Trade, to the Australasian delegates, Dr. Cockburn and Sir P. W. Reeves. It was attended by over 50 members of the Board and by Hon. R. R. Dobell, Mr. Marchand, Prime Minister, Felix Carbray, M.P.P., and was presided over by the president of the Board of Trade, Mr. Montefiore Joseph.

There is no argument so good as an absolute, plain, truthful statement of fact. There is nothing so interesting as fact.

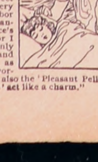

In the true happenings in the everyday life of every-day people are materials for most thrilling novels. There are every day stories of heroism, suffering and the final triumph of good over evil—of happiness finally crowning endeavor. Here is a case in point:

In the county of Escambia in Alabama is the little town of Flomaton and there lives Mrs. Mollie Grimes. She was a good wife and mother but several years ago she found her health slipping away from her. She realized that this meant the inevitable nervousness and irritability that would surely lose for her the affection of her children and husband, and that as her health declined discord and misery would appear in her home. She was filled with the loving motherly instinct, but two miscarriages in succession almost broke her heart. She had almost lost hope when the clouds rolled away and the light of health and happiness returned.

She tells her story in these words:

"I was almost heart-broken to think I could not raise any more children and had to suffer as I did. I had lost two children by miscarriages and I fully expected to lose another when, in August 1897, I learned of and began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and took it until after baby was born in November. With my other children I had suffered everything that flesh could suffer but this time I was in perfect health and had a very easy time. I was in labor only a short time. I cannot praise Dr. Pierce's medicines enough for I believe they certainly saved my baby's life and maybe my own life as well. I took the 'Favorite Prescription' and also the 'Pleasant Pellets.' The 'Pleasant Pellets' act like a charm."

ANGEL GUARDIANS.

CONTROLLERS OF THE DESTINY OF THE HUMAN RACE.

REV. DR. TALMAGE'S FIRM FAITH.

Evils Warded off by the Timely Warning of These Celestial Visitants—Angelology the Theme of the Great Washington Preacher—Two Nations of Angels Known to Move and Have Their Being.

Washington, Oct. 29.—The brilliant beings supposed by some to be imaginary are by Dr. Talmage in his sermon shown to be real and to have much to do with our everyday life. The text is Judges xiii, 19, "And the angel did wondrously."

Fire built on a rock. Manoah and his wife had there kindled the flames for sacrifice in praise of God and in honor of a guest whom they supposed to be a man. But as the flame rose higher and higher their stranger guest stepped into the flame and by one red leap ascended into the skies. Then they knew that was an angel of the Lord. "The angel did wondrously."

Two hundred and forty-eight times does the Bible refer to the angels, yet I never heard or read a sermon on angelology. The whole subject is relegated to the realm mythical, weird, spectral and unknown. Such adjournment is un-Scriptural and wicked. Of their life, their character, their habits, their actions, their velocities, the Bible gives us full length portraits, and why this prolonged and absolute silence concerning them? Angelology is my theme.

There are two nations of angels, and they are hostile to each other—the nation of good angels and the nation of bad angels. Of the former I chiefly speak to-day. Their capital, their headquarters, their grand rendezvous, is heaven, but their empire is the universe. They are a distinct race of creatures. No human being can ever join their confraternity. The little child who in the Sabbath school sings, "I want to be an angel," will never have her wish gratified. They are superhuman, but they are of different grades and ranks, not all on the same level or the same height. They have their superiors and inferiors and equals. I propose no guessing on this subject, but take the Bible for my own authority. Plato, the philosopher, guessed and divided angels into supercelestial, celestial and subcelestial. Dionysius, the Areopagite, guessed and divided them into three classes, the supreme, the middle and the last, and each of these into three other classes, making nine in all. Philo said that angels were related to God, as the rays to the sun. Fulgentius said that they were composed of body and spirit. Clement said they were incorporeal. Augustine said that they had been in danger of falling, but now are beyond being tempted. But the only authority on this subject that I respect says they are divided into cherubim, seraphim, thrones, dominations, principalities, powers. Their commander-in-chief is Michael. Daniel called him Michael. St. John called him Michael. These supernal beings are more thoroughly organized than any army that ever marched. They are swifter than any cyclone that ever swept the sea. They are more radiant than any morning that ever came down the sky. They have more to do with your destiny and mine than any being in the universe except God. May the Angel of the New Covenant, who is the Lord Jesus, open our eyes and touch our tongue and rouse our soul while we speak of their deathlessness, their intelligence, their numbers, their strength, their achievements.

Yes, deathless. They had a cradle, but will never have a grave. The Lord remembers when they were born, but no one shall ever see their eye extinguished or their momentum slow up or their existence terminate. The oldest of them has not a wrinkle or a decrepitude or a hindrance, as young after 6,000 years as at the close of their first hour. Christ said to the good in heaven, "Neither can they die any more, for they are equal unto the angels." Yes, deathless are these wonderful creatures of whom I speak. They will see world after world go out, but there shall be no fading of their own brilliance. Yea, after the last world has taken its last flight, they will be ready for the widest circuit through immensity, taking a quadrillion of miles in one sweep as easy as a pigeon circles a dovecot. They are never sick. They are never exhausted. They need no sleep, for they are never tired. At God's command they smote with death in one night 185,000 of Sennacherib's host, but no fatality can smite them, awake, agile, omnipotent, deathless, immortal!

There is only one thing that puts them to their wits' end, and the Bible says they have to study that. They have been studying it all through the ages, and yet I warrant they have not fully grasped it—the wonders of redemption. These wonders are so high, so deep, so grand, so stupendous, so magnificent, that even the intelligence of angelhood is confounded before it. The apostle says, "Which things the angels desire to look into." That is a subject that excites inquisitiveness on their part. That is a theme that strains their faculties to the utmost. That is higher than they can climb, deeper than they can dive. They have a desire for something too big for their comprehension. "Which things the angels desire to look into." But that does not discredit their intelligence. No one but God himself can fully understand the wonders of redemption. If all heaven should study it for 50 centuries, they would get no further than the A B C of that inexhaustible subject. But nearly all other realms of knowledge they have ransacked and explored and compassed. No one but God can tell them anything they do not know. They have read to the last word of the last line of the last page of the last volume of investigation, and what delights me most is that all their intelligence is to be at our disposal, and, coming into their presence, they will tell us in five minutes more than we can learn by 100 years of earthly surmising.

A further characteristic of these immortals is their velocity. This the Bible puts sometimes under the figure of a flowing garment, sometimes under the figure of naked feet. As these superhumans are without bodies, these expressions are of course figurative and mean swiftness. The Bible tells us that Daniel was praying and Gabriel flew from heaven and touched him before he got up from his knees. How far, then, did the angel Gabriel have to fly in those moments of Daniel's prayer? Heaven is thought to be the center of the universe. Our sun and its planets only the rim of the wheel of worlds. In a moment the angel Gabriel flew from that center to this periphery. Jesus told Peter he could instantly have 60,000 angels present if he called for them. What foot of antelope or wing of albatross could equal that velocity? Law of gravitation, which grips all things else, has no influence upon angelic momentum. Immensities before them open and shut like a fan. That they are here is no reason why they should not be quintillion of miles hence the next minute. Our bodies hinder us, but our minds can circle the earth in a minute. Angelic beings are bodiless and have no limitation. God may with his finger point down to some world in trouble on the outmost limits of creation, and instantly an angelic cohort is there to help it, or some celestial may be standing at the farthermost outpost of immensity, and God may say "Come!" and instantly it is in his bosom.

Another remark I have to make concerning these illustrious immortals is that they are multitudinous. Their census has never been taken and no one but God knows how many they are, but all the Bible accounts suggest their immense numbers—companies of them, regiments of them, armies of them, mountain tops haloed by them, skies populous with them. John speaks of angels and other beings round the throne as ten thousand times ten thousand. Now, according to my calculation, ten thousand times ten thousand are 100,000,000. But these are only the angels in one place. David counted 20,000 of them rolling down the sky in chariots. When God came away from the riven rocks of Mount Sinai, the Bible says he had the companionship of 10,000 angels. I think they are in every battle, in every exigency, at every birth, at every pillow, at every hour, at every moment, the earth full of them. They outnumber the human race in this world. They outnumber ransomed spirits in glory. When Abraham had his knife uplifted to slay Isaac, it was an angel who arrested the stroke, crying, "Abraham, Abraham!" It was a stairway of angels that Jacob saw while pillowed in the wilderness. We are told an angel led the hosts of Israelites out of Egyptian serfdom. It was an angel that showed Hagar the fountain where she filled the bottle for the lad. It was an angel that took Lot out of doomed Sodom. It was an angel that shut up the mouth of the hungry monsters when Daniel was thrown into the caverns. It was an angel that fed Elijah under the juniper tree. It was an angel that announced to Mary the approaching nativity. They were angels that chanted when Christ was born. It was an angel that strengthened our Saviour in his agony. It was an angel that encouraged Paul in the Mediterranean shipwreck. It was an angel that burst open the prison, gate after gate, until Peter was liberated. It was an angel that stirred the pool of Siloam, where the sick were healed. It was an angel that John saw flying through the midst of heaven, and an angel with foot planted on the sea, and an angel that opened the book, and an angel that sounded the trumpet, and an angel that thrust in the sickle, and an angel that poured out the vials, and an angel standing in the sun. It will be an angel with uplifted hand swearing that time shall be no longer. In the great final harvest of the world the reapers are the angels. Yea, the Lord shall be revealed from heaven with mighty angels. Oh, the numbers and the might and the glory of these supernals — fleets of them, squadrons of them, host beyond host, rank above rank, millions on millions, and all on our side if we will have them!

This leads me to speak of the offices of these supernals. To defend, to cheer, to rescue, to escort, to give victory to the right and overthrow the wrong—that is their business—just as alert to-day and efficient as when in Bible times they spread wing or unsheathed sword or rocked down penitentiaries or filled the mountains with horses of fire and driven by reinsmen of fire. They have turned your steps a hundred times, and you knew it not. You were on the way to do some wrong thing, and they changed your course. They brought some thought of Christian parentage or of loyalty to your own home, and that arrested you. They arranged that some one should meet you at that crisis and propose something honorable and elevating, or they took from your pocket some ticket to evil amusement, a ticket that you never found. It was an angel of God, and perhaps the very one that guided you to this service and that now awaits to report some holy impression to be made upon your soul, tarrying with one foot upon the doorstep of your immortal spirit and the other foot lifted for ascent into the skies. By some prayer detain him until he can tell of a repentant and ransomed soul! Or you were some time borne down with trouble, bereavement, persecution, bankruptcy, sickness and all manner of troubles beating their discords in your heart and life. You gave up. You said: "I cannot stand it any longer. I believe I will take my life. Where is the rail train or the deep wave or the precipice that will end this torment of earthly existence?" But suddenly your mind brightened. Courage came surging into your heart like oceanic tides. You said, "God is on my side, and all these adversities he can make turn out for my good." Suddenly you felt a peace, a deep peace, the peace of God that passeth all understanding. What made the change? A sweet and mighty and comforting angel of the Lord met you. That was all.

Men and women of all circumstances, only partly appreciated or not appreciated at all, never feel lonely again or unregarded again! Angels all around; angels to approve, angels to help, angels to remember. Yea, while all the good angels are friends of the good, there is one special angel your bodyguard. This idea until this present study of angelogy I supposed to be fanciful, but I find it clearly stated in the Bible. When the disciples were praying for Peter's deliverance from prison and he appeared at the door of the prayer meeting, they could not believe it was Peter. They said, "It is an angel." So these disciples, in special nearness to Christ, evidently believed that every worthy soul has an angel. Jesus said of his followers, "Their angels behold the face of my Father." Elsewhere it is said, "He shall give his angels charge over thee, to keep thee in all thy ways." Angel shielded, angel protected, angel guarded, angel canopied, art thou! No wonder that Charles Wesley hymned these words:

Which of the petty kings of earth
Can boast a guard like ours,
Encircled from our second birth
With all the heavenly powers?

Valerius and Rufinus were put to death for Christ's sake in the year 287, and after the day when their bodies had been whipped and pounded into a jelly, in the night in prison and before the next day when they were to be executed, they both thought they saw angels standing with two glittering crowns, saying "Be of good cheer, valiant soldiers of Jesus Christ! A little more of battle, and then these crowns are yours." And I am glad to know that before many of those who have passed through great sufferings in this life some angel of God has held a blazing coronet of eternal reward. Yea, we are to have such a guardian angel to take us upward when our work is done. You know, we are told an angel conducted Lazarus to Abraham's bosom. That shows that none shall be so poor in dying he cannot afford angelic escort. It would be a long way to go alone, and up paths we have never trod, and amid blazing worlds swinging in unimaginable momentum, out and on through such distances and across such infinitudes of space we should shudder at the thought of going alone.

But the angelic escort will come to your languishing pillow or the place of your fatal accident and say: "Hail, immortal one! All is well. God hath sent me to take you home." And without a tremor or slightest sense of peril you will away and upward, farther on and farther on, until after awhile heaven heaves in sight and the rumble of chariot wheels and the roll of mighty harmonies are heard in the distance, and nearer you come, and nearer still, until the brightness is like many mornings suffused into one, and you are inside the amethystine walls and on the banks of the jasper sea, forever safe, forever free, forever well, forever rested, forever united, forever happy. Mothers, do not think your little children go alone when they quit this world. Out of your arms into angelic arms, out of sickness into health, out of the cradle into a Saviour's bosom! Not an instant will the darlings be alone between the two kisses—the last kiss of earth and the first kiss of heaven. "Now, angels, do your work!" cried an expiring Christian.

Yes, a guardian angel for each one of you. Put yourself now in accord with him. When he suggests the right, follow it. When he warns you against the wrong, shun it. Sent forth from God to help you in this great battle against sin and death, accept his deliverance. When tempted to a feeling of loneliness and disheartenment, appropriate the promise, "The angel of the Lord encampeth around about them that fear him and delivereth them."

Paul had it right when he said, "We wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places." In that awful fight may God send us mighty angelic re-enforcement! We want all their wings on our side, all their swords on our side, all their chariots on our side.

Thank God that those who are for us are mightier than those who are against us! And that thought makes me jubilant as to the final triumph. Belgium, you know, was the battleground of England and France. Yea, Belgium more than once was the battleground of opposing nations. It so happens that this world is the Belgium or battleground between the chael, the commander-in-chief, on one egael, the commander-in-chief, on one side; Lucifer, as Byron calls him, or Mephistopheles, as Goethe calls him, or Satan, as the Bible calls him, the commander-in-chief on the other side. All pure angelhood under the one leadership and all abandoned angelhood under the other leadership. Many a skirmish have the two armies had, but the great and decisive battle is yet to be fought. Meanwhile the battle is being set in array, and the forces celestial and demoniacal are confronting each other. Hear the boom of the great cannonade already opened! Cherubim, seraphim, thrones, dominations, principalities and powers are beginning to ride down their foes, and, until the work is completed, "Sun, stand thou still upon Gibeon, and thou, moon, in the valley of Ajalon!"

Daily Intelligencer.

A SECOND CONTINGENT.

The unfortunate reverse at Ladysmith, which the British troops sustained, hrs aroused a feeling of patriotism among Canadians more intense, if such were possible, than ever existed before. The Governor-General, in his Halloween speech at Montreal, but echoed Canadian sentiment when he said, amidst thundering applause:

If an emergency should arise in the near future demanding the despatch to South Africa of another detachment of troops from Canada, I am sure I am but voicing the sentiments of everyone here when I say that Canada will willingly supply it.

This sentiment is confirmed by the telegraphic items which appear daily in the press. Here is a sound of the bugle from Toronto on the 1st inst.:

In view of the possibility of a second Canadian contingent going to South Africa, Lieut.-Col. Bruce to-day announced that to maintain the Royal Grenadiers at their full strength 100 men will be enrolled at once, the regiment to pay for the clothing and equipment.

The enthusiasm is most keen.

A despatch from Ottawa says:

Lieut.-Colonel Domville, M.P., late of 8th Hussars, sent, on the 30th Oct., the following cablegram to Lord Wolseley and Hon. Joseph Chamberlain:

"Will give you volunteer cavalry regiment for South Africa forthwith if desirable.

"(Signed) COL. DOMVILLE."

To which the Telegram adds: As soon as the news of Col. Domville's plan became known at the Rideau Club, a number of enthusiastic loyalists got up a subscription list and within a few minutes secured promises to pay over $4,000 towards shipping the regiment. One gentleman puts his name down for $3,000.

Col. Domville did not so far as we know consult General Hutton regarding his plan. What will be the result? It will be remembered that Lieut.-Col. Hughes came in for a wigging at General Hutton's hands on account of having taken somewhat similar action. In time of war, too much red tapism won't do in Canada.

What the Government should do and do at once, is, order the enrolment of another 1,000 men, allotting the men to different sections of the Dominion, and put them under drill and military discipline, having them ready to march at a moment's warning, and pay them out of the Canadian treasury.

Let's not have the same blunder in the selection of officers as we have lately experienced.

Take a lesson from the past, when the 100th Regt. was enrolled in Canada, officers were taken from the localities in which the men were enlisted, each having his quota to raise. This would not only ensure success, but create a feeling of confidence and respect in each individual company, not otherwise obtainable.

Will the Government act? Not so long as the Tarte anti British feeling predominates in the Cabinet.

ACCIDENT AT LADNER'S LANDING.

I was badly crippled with a sprained shoulder, and the doctors told me I would not be able to raise my arm for a week. I procured a bottle of Griffiths' Menthol Liniment, and after three rubbings I was back at work the day after the accident. I have used many different liniments, but Griffiths' Menthol Liniment is the best. Its Liniment and my quick recovery are the talk of the town.

Mining News.

(Marmora Herald.)

The arsenic plant at Deloro is running successfully and the alterations and improvements, necessary to fixing up the plant, are about completed. Everything will be in shape shortly for shipping the refined arsenic.

Mr. Millar, who has charge of the sinking being done on the Nobes property, lot 24, con. 5, Marmora, has left at our office a fine sample of molybdite. The company in New York, under whose direction the work is being done, are expected here this week.

Mr. R. B. Prouty went to Peterboro last Thursday to purchase a new latest improved ten-stamp for the Gatling five acres. The foundation of the new mill is built and the building going forward rapidly.

Mr. John Cook, director of the Boerth Mining Company, informs us that the mill at Ardoch is running steadily and turning out gold in good quantities. The ore runs an average of $17 per ton, with considerable gold in the concentrates which will be treated later on. More men are at work, and the mining placed under the direction of a capable expert.

The Gatling Five Acres at Deloro is a place of considerable activity, there being from thirty to forty men busy at work. Two shafts are being sunk, in one of which compressed air drills in the other steam drills are being used. The frame of the new mill will be raised next week. The bromo-cyanide process—the same as is used in the Canadian Gold Fields plant—will be used for the concentrates. The company operating this mine are a strong financial concern and will no doubt make a success of mining on the property.

SHELTERED FROM LIFE'S CARES

The Residents of the New Home for the Friendless Can End Their Days in Peaceful Rest -- Description of a Worthy Institution.

As announced in THE INTELLIGENCER a few days ago, the work of transforming the large stone residence of the late Mr. Wm. Leonard, on the corner of Moira and Ponton streets, into a home for the unfortunate aged who have no home, is about completed. Yesterday afternoon a representative of this paper visited the premises and, under the direction of Mrs. Geo. Denmark, was shown through. The ladies who have this work at heart are certainly to be congratulated upon the commodious and comfortable residence they now possess. Many improvements have been made, and it is now in every way provided with the necessary requisities for making the inmates as comfortable and happy as possible. In addition to hot air being supplied, a number of the rooms have coal stoves, so that the inmates will be kept warm during the winter's cold blasts.

The male department is situated on the ground floor, and at present three aged men are being looked after. Their rooms are neat and airy and in conversation with them, all expressed themselves as being pleased with the change. There were many unpleasant features in their old quarters, such as noise—and they gratefully welcome the new home.

In two large and well furnished rooms upstairs were four women, and they were also much pleased at the change. Their very countenances expressed it. Off from their sleeping apartments is a bath room, which has been fitted up with a bath and other requirements, with an abundant supply of hot and cold water. Rooms are also provided for the housekeeper, Mrs. Hampton, and the caretaker, Miss Minnie Connor, the latter of whom has for some time been in this position, and is a general favorite with the inmates.

The reception room in the centre of the ground floor has been neatly furnished, and an organ, the gift of Mr. Thos. Stewart, is much appreciated. In this room services are also held, conducted by the various resident ministers.

In the rear of the home is the kitchen, woodshed and a large barn, the whole being virtually under one roof, making everything very handy. About the premises is a fine yard and garden.

The ladies feel grateful that they have at last been supplied with a home independent from the hospital, and are doing all in their power, with the assistance of all citizens to make it as pleasant as possible for those who, through force of circumstances, are compelled to be their wards.

Remarkable Cures.

Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure is performing wonders. Reports are coming in from all parts regarding its efficacy in all cases of rheumatism. It is taken internally. Mrs. William Gillespie, Light House Keeper, Wolf Island, was afflicted with Muscular Rheumatism for two weeks. Two doses of Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure cured him. 50 cents a bottle, containing ten days' treatment. For sale at all drug stores.

THE BOER WAR

Its Causes, and Its Interests to Canadians.

All who are interested in the war now going on in the Transvaal should read the pamphlet issued under the title which forms the heading of this article. It is written by one who spent five years in South Africa, and is at this moment thoroughly in touch with affairs in that portion of the Dark Continent. A plain and unvarnished history of the case is given, together with a glossary of all the Cape Dutch and Kaffir terms at present so much in use. We believe the pamphlet will serve a good purpose, inasmuch as it will give to any intelligent man who reads it a clear insight into the wretched state of affairs which existed in South Africa. It is published by Biggar, Samuel & Co., Toronto and Montreal. Price 10 cents.

—One would think there would be enough foreign news just now without the starting of another theory as to how Crown Prince Rudolf died.

—The preacher of one of the Newark (N. J.) churches has announced that he has selected the three prettiest girls of his congregation to act as ushers and thus to lure young men to church. It is doubtful if the saving of any number of boys will offset the loss of Christian spirit the girls of the church will suffer who are not among the "three prettiest."

—An Eastborn doctor has been the victim of his own medicine. He made up a draught for a patient, putting in by mistake strychnine instead of chloroform, and when she complained that it made her sick got angry, and to prove that the medicine was all right swallowed half the contents of the bottle himself. He immediately recognized the symptoms of strychnine poisoning, used a stomach pump and other means to destroy the effects, but died soon after.

—Kingston Times: A Kingstonian who witnessed the departure of the Canadian contingent was strongly impressed with the bitter animosity of the French-speaking people towards anything British. Very few of them enlisted and those who had the courage of their convictions were hooted and jeered by their habitant brethren. Their manifestations of ill feeling, however, seem to arise rather from ignorant prejudice than from any substantial ideas of what is right and what is wrong. When the band played "God Save the Queen" and the lines of the Sardinian were thrown off, the Englishmen raised their hats respectfully, while the French anti-patriots tugged their hats down over their ears and hissed the National Anthem.

GREAT COPPER PROPERTY.

From the Boston Herald.

The Boston & Texas Copper Company, a home enterprise, which has recently acquired by purchase a vast section of mineral lands in northern Texas, seems to have as great a future before it as any mining proposition now before the investing public. As its name indicates, its financial interests are centered in and about Boston, and its board of directors includes a substantial a list of business men as can be found upon the directory of any company having its home office in Boston.

Its great properties, which embrace 13,000 acres of land, with good railroad facilities, offer every favorable condition for developing a large copper mining business, having, in addition to ore deposits, ideal conditions for town sites and for general development, being well watered and adaptable to agriculture and stock raising purposes. This valuable tract is owned absolutely by this company.

The ore contained upon this property is not of quartz formation, necessitating large excavations and expensive developments, but what is known as "Parmian" deposits. The copper is found in vast blankets of clay and marl and in nuggets, the clay containing as high as 25 per cent. copper, and the nuggets very rich, some yielding as high as 60 per cent. There are no evidences of volcanic upheavals on this tract, thus ensuring the continuity of the blankets. It is found comparatively near the surface, ranging from one to fifty feet in depth below, and eminent geologists and mining engineers who have examined the property pronounce the supply of ore practically exhaustless, mines in Germany having the same formation, with the deposits much less in thickness, having been worked for 200 years.

The ore found in the clay body can be treated by the sulphuric acid process, which is simple and inexpensive, and the nugget treated by the smelting method, and the company is about to erect a smelter for that purpose. Copper has been taken from this property for years, the Confederates having worked it as long a s as the Civil War to obtain copper for cartridge shells, but not till recently, when the above company came into possession of it, was an attempt made to work it on a large scale.

The men behind this enterprise are all gentlemen of wealth, standing and ability, and include the Hon. Emery M. Low as president, Mr. Low is Mayor of Brockton, Mass., and a large manufacturer, employing hundreds of people. The first vice-president is Mr. George W. Russell of the Russell Paper Company, and is the largest paper manufacturer in the country. The second vice-president, Maj. F. M. Spaulding, who was for years connected with the late William A. Russell in the paper business, is a veteran of the Civil War, with a fine record. Col. E. B. Robins, the treasurer, is a member of the Governor's staff, a position of much honor, and the secretary, Col. James M. Wheatley, has been connected for 30 years with the largest manufacturing interests in the country; while Messrs. Stillman Clough, E. A. Smith, C. T. Crosby and Charles O. Knight-man, directors, are all gentlemen of large means, the first two requiring seven figures to represent their possessions.

The treasury stock of the company is selling at $5 per share, par value $10, and every dollar will be used for treasury purposes. Subscriptions for the stock are received at the company's officers' rooms, 411 and 412 Tremont Building, Boston.

HAYDN'S UNHAPPY WIFE.

The Composer Married Her Merely to Oblige Her Father.

Haydn married not the girl he was in love with, but her sister. "Haydn, you should take my oldest daughter," said Father Keller, the barber, and, as Keller had done a good deal for Haydn, the composer felt that he must sacrifice his affection on the altar of duty and oblige the old man. At the time of the marriage, in 1760, Haydn was 29, while his Anna Maria was 32. There does not appear to have been much love on either side to start with, but Haydn declared that he had really begun to "like" his wife and would have come to entertain a stronger feeling for her if she had behaved in a reasonable way. Unfortunately, Anna Maria had neither rhyme nor reason in her composition. We are fortunately Marville says that the majority of ladies married to men of genius are no vain of the abilities of their husbands that they are frequently insufferable. But Frau Haydn was not a lady of that kind. The world had emphatically proclaimed her husband a genius, but to Maria it was quite immaterial whether he were a cobbler or an artist. Nay, she even committed the incredible crime of using the composer's manuscript scores for curling paper, as underlays for pastry and similar things! She was gay enough with it all too.

When Haydn went from home, she would send him the most cheerful little notes. "Should you die today or tomorrow," ran one of these missives, "there is not enough money left in the house to bury you." At another time, when Haydn was in London, he received a letter in which Maria wrote that she had just seen a neat little house which she liked very much and that he might do himself the pleasure to send her 2,000 gulden with which to buy it, so as to have in future a "widow's home." Pleasant reading this for the genial composer! In the first case he wrote without a trace of anger: "Should this be so take my manuscripts to the music publisher. I guarantee you that they will be worth money enough to defray my funeral expenses." In the matter of the "widow's home" he thought it would be best to arrange things himself. Ultimately he bought the house, and in spite of Maria's frequent suggestions of his coming dissolution he lived in it for nine years after she had been dead. Haydn's self-control for 70 years, but some time before that the pair had agreed to live apart as the best way of ending a union which had proved utterly unbearable to the composer.

THE AIM

Of our continual optical advertising is to awaken this community to the fact that it possesses eyes, and that they may require glasses if such be not already used; or that, if they be already used, they may not be the best ones for the eyes. We want members of the public to come to us to find out about these points, and when they come they are satisfied that we know our business.

No Corroboration of the Berlin Report That Ladysmith Has Fallen.

Despatches Say that Gen. White Was All Right Up to Yesterday Morning—British Troopship Damaged in a Storm.

(OTHER DESPATCHES ON INSIDE PAGES.)

London, Nov. 4.—War office has received nothing to corroborate the reiterated reports from Berlin that Gen. White has surrendered.

A despatch from Pietermaritzburg says Ladysmith was perfectly quiet yesterday morning.

Numbers of women and children left there last night on a passenger train, escorted by an armored train.

A despatch from Capetown says the Boers have entered Cape Colony at Norval's Point, destroying several bridges.

The British troopship Papidue, which left Liverpool for Capetown on Nov. 1, has been damaged by storm and had to return. She will refit at Liverpool.

A Natal doctor, who has been at the front attending to the wounded, says many Boers are sick of the war and want to quit. They said their losses have been very heavy.

The War Office to-day issued the following official announcement: "No news has been received from Ladysmith up to 2 o'clock this afternoon. We, therefore, presume that the wire is still interrupted. In spite of silence the officials of the War Office do not credit the various rumors as to the position of the garrison, and no grave anxiety at present is felt regarding the ability of Gen. White to hold his own."

THE WAR SUMMARY.

The War Office received a cable message yesterday announcing that telegraphic communication with Ladysmith, which was interrupted on Tuesday, had been restored.

An army order was issued yesterday for the mobilization of thirty-five battalions of the British militia force; the battalions to mobilize at their respective headquarters on the 20th inst.

The Boers are reported to be concentrating in strong force at Bethulie bridge, on the northern frontier of Cape Colony.

It is reported that a strong column will be despatched as quickly as possible to the relief of Kimberley and Mafeking.

Commandant General Joubert protests against the use of Lyddite shells by the British artillery.

War Office announces that nothing has been received to corroborate the reports from Berlin that General White has surrendered.

The British troopship Papidae had to return to Liverpool, having been damaged in a storm.

A Natal doctor, who has been at the front, says the Boers are sick of the war, and admit they have sustained heavy losses.

A despatch from Pietermaritzburg says Ladysmith was quiet yesterday morning.

Boers are said to have entered Cape Colony, destroying several bridges.

There are many things in Quick & Robertson's big stock of boy's clothing that will appeal strongly to the mothers of this vicinity. The prices are extremely moderate

AMUSEMENTS.

THE KERRY COW.

A fair-sized audience greeted Joe Murphy and his Company in the above play last night. The cast was a good one and an excellent performance was given. To be sure, there was a difference in Mr. Murphy last night and when people first saw him in the same play, but, taken altogether, the show pleased the people who saw it, even if Mr. Murphy didn't sing and dance like he used to twenty years ago.

Men's Reefers.

Our men's reefers are made with high ulster collars and are designed in every way for cold, stormy weather. If your work requires you to be out of doors this cold weather, you will want one of these coats. Prices run $3, $4, $5, $6, $7, and all colors and all kinds of cloth.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING

That things are looking black for White.

That the weather would be a good deal nicer if it was cooked a little.

That the "splendid isolation" of Ladysmith can't come to an end too quick.

That just at present good crossings on Belleville streets are like angels' visits—few and far between.

That the weather just now may fairly be said to match the situation in the Transvaal—it's rather gloomy.

That when you say some men have more money than brains, you don't necessarily imply that they are millionaires.

That the great majority of sensible people believe in the faith cure. When you are ill employ a good doctor and then have faith in him.

That there was a case of lockjaw in town last night. A man was lecturing on the war and got his jaw out of joint on one of the hard words.

That, judging by the extraordinary facility with which they manufacture "news," some of the war correspondents might have served an apprenticeship on Grit newspapers in Belleville.

That the evening train from the east, arriving here about 9 p.m., should not stop at the semaphore for an hour and a half, as it sometimes does, keeping its passengers that length of time kicking up their heels in a cold car.

That the new standard rules which the Grand Trunk Railway have had in force for the last three weeks have caused no end of late trains and dissatisfaction. Better get back to the old rules and give the public a decent train service.

CONTINENT NOTES.

At the regular meeting of Benjamin L.O.L., No. 274, held last night, it was unanimously resolved that should it become necessary for another Canadian Contingent to go to the Transvaal, any members of Benjamin Lodge who went should, until their return, have their dues paid by the lodge, and that their dues in the Orange Mutual Insurance Co. should be paid out of the general funds of the lodge.

The Emergency fund has been increased to the extent of £4, the City Council last night presenting that sum, which had been returned by Col. Ponton, to the fund.

The officers of the XV. have arranged a cipher with Lieut. Hulme, in order that they may receive cable messages from the Belleville contingent and still do it at the least expense possible. The cable rate from Cape Town to Belleville is $1.35 per word.

The proceedings of the Belleville lodge, A. F. and A. M., on Thursday night last were given up almost entirely to an account by W. Bros. Ponton and Morden of their trip to Quebec to see the Fifteenth's contingent off.

The Regimental Orders re the Transvaal contingent have been received, but space will not permit their publication to-day.

It is stated that of the thousand men in the Canadian regiment 600 are Anglicans, 300 Presbyterians, 50 Roman Catholics and the other 50 are divided among all denominations.

Game Warden Smith, of Belleville, was in town lately on his way to North Hastings via Bancroft. The party secured four deer, and when Mr. Smith gets through with them they will have paid dearly for the venison.—Lindsay Post.

A SHORT SESSION.

Routine Business Had the Call Last Night.

Tenders to be Asked For the Fire Alarm System—City Contributes £4 to the Emergency Fund—No Money to Repair Crossings With.

The business transacted by the various Civic Committees last evening was not of much importance and was concluded at a seasonable hour.

Those in attendance were: Aldermen Hanley, Robinson, Jones, Panter, Bogart, Taylor and Starling.

FIRE, WATER AND LIGHT.

Ald. Jones, Chairman, presided over this committee. A few waterworks accounts for coal, duty on same and necessary sundries were passed, amounting to $150. The Trenton electric light account, amounting to $319 was also passed.

The Chairman and City Clerk were authorized to prepare the tenders in reference to the electric fire alarm system, as to boxes, where located, the gongs, wire, etc., used in its construction.

MARKET AND CITY PROPERTY.

Ald. Panter, Chairman, presided. An account of $12.50 for telephone service was ordered to be paid, and two insurance policies due, amounting to $18.50, were also passed.

The Chairman spoke of the chairs for the City Hall, the full number of which had not been received.

The City Clerk was authorized to communicate with the City Solicitor in reference to the matter of costs in the appeal of City vs. Cole, re elevator. The appeal has been dropped and Mr. Cole has to pay the costs.

PUBLIC WORKS.

The Chairman, Ald. Hanley, presided. The following accounts were passed:

Pay Sheet No. 22	$75 89
Mac Machine Co.	4 40
C. Donovan	3 33

Ald. Taylor said there was a bad crossing on Bleecker Avenue which should be attended to. The street car track near the station was also in a bad condition.

A number of the Aldermen spoke in reference to bad walks, but no action was taken, as the appropriation for this department has all been exceeded.

Mr. N. Lazier asked permission to draw a quantity of broken stone at his own expense and place it on Burton street.

The Street Surveyor said if this request was allowed there was no telling where it would end.

No action was taken in the matter.

EXECUTIVE.

In the absence of Ald. Doyle, Ald. Bogart presided over this Committee. The accounts recommended to be paid by the various other Committee were endorsed.

A letter was read from Col. Ponton, of the XV. Battalion, stating that he had four sovereign left, which had been donated by the Council to the volunteers, as one of the members composing the contingent, although a member of his Battalion, did not come from Belleville direct and had been given a grant by another city. The Colonel suggested that the money be donated to the general fund, which was being subscribed for assistance to the boys if they needed it, through injuries or anything that might befall them.

The suggestion met with the approval of the Committee, and the Colonel will be requested to retain the money for that purpose.

The City Treasurer spoke of the matter of heating the office of the Water Works Department, as the one stove in his office would not do it. He suggested that a hot water heater, at a cost of about $40, be secured, and this would heat both offices, and be a saving on fuel.

After a short discussion Ald. Jones moved that the Committee recommend the change.—Carried.

The accounts passed were:

T. S. Carman	$191 95
Insurance Policies	22 50
Insurance re ambulance	3 00

An account of $9, presented by Mr. M. Cummins for wall paper secured from Ald. Robinson, and used in making repairs to the late Assay office on Campbell street, was brought forward.

Ald. Panter thought this account should not come up in this wise. It had been brought up before and laid over. The Committee who had been looking after the work should attend to it.

Ald. Jones—There was only one on the Committee, that was Ald. Robinson.

Ald. Robinson said the paper and bordering had been got by Mr. Cummins, and that was his bill.

On motion the account was ordered to be paid.

Mr. J. P. Thompson, City Treasurer, stated that he had received a cheque from the G.T.R. for $462 for water service up to date, but had not accepted it as a payment in full. He had billed them for $228.45 extra, but had received no answer yet.

Mr. M. M. Thomson, Manager of the Water Works, said that no definite arrangement had yet been made with the G.T.R. in reference to water supply, but he thought it would soon be settled satisfactorily. The Company use about 200,000 gallons daily, or about ⅛ of our whole water supply. The committee appointed to wait on the G.T.R. officials in reference to the matter had met the officials and the company desired to pay $2000 per annum, while the committee thought the City should be paid $2500. After some discussion between them the sum of $2300 was submitted and the representative of the company stated that he would consult other officials in reference to the matter and notify the City. No word has yet been received.

The Committees then adjourned.

Every little girl in Belleville is interested. There are Vici Kid Slippers here to-day for her doll. Let her bring the doll (big or little), and we will give her the slippers. We have them made to order for her, if the dolls feet are so big or odd that we cannot fit them out of stock. A parent must come with her.

and we want to give away so many that every girl hereabout will know what a perfect shoe leather this Vici Kid is—how soft to the touch and yet how firm and durable. We want her to see, too, what a perfect polish it takes. We want her to see the horse-shoe trade mark that stamps all of the Vici products.

These little girls will soon be the grown up women and the shoe buyers, and it is to prove to them how Vici Kid is the best of all kid that goes into shoes, that we give away these handsome slippers. Remember, Mr. Robert H. Foerderer alone makes Vici Kid. No one else knows how to make it. They try and try, but Vici stands today as when it first appeared; unequalled, almost unapproached.

To-day, as every day this week, we have a ladies' maid at our store teaching shoe care and the merits of Vici Dressing, Polish, etc.; preparations made by Robert H. Foerderer, who says no matter how good a leather or shoe may be, if neglected in wear half its wearing qualities is lost. The lesson we teach is worth learning.

A Panacea For

COLDS

A panacea, a cure for all Colds is the only word that nearly describes "SEVENTY-SEVEN" for Grip and Colds—you don't have to distinguish between a Cough and Bronchitis—between a Sore Throat and Diphtheria—between Influenza and Catarrh—between Hoarseness and Laryngitis or Clergyman's Sore Throat—between Pleurisy and Pneumonia, because "77" cures all Colds. As soon as you realize that you have taken Cold, and everyone knows that, take "77" at once; it restores the checked circulation (known by a chill or goose flesh); starts the blood coursing through the veins and "breaks up" the Cold.

LIFE-SAVERS KEPT BUSY.

The Big Storm on the Lakes Has Been Very Severe.

Chicago, Nov. 4.— The northeast gale which has been raging for over 48 hours and brought the first snow of the season to this locality, still sticks. Life savers at various lake points have been kept busy watching for and aiding vessels in distress. The following vessels were reported as being in trouble at various points:

Schooner William H. Dunham, two-master, ashore near St. Joseph, Mich.; steamer, name unknown, ashore on Tin Shoals, near Bois Blanc Island; schooner Kate Lyons, from Cheboygan, Mich., to Chicago, laden with lumber, stranded near Gull Head; schooner Elgin, bound for Chicago, puts in at Milwaukee leaking badly.

An Unusually Large List.

The fleet of sheltered vessels in Chicago harbor last night were reported as greatly increased. Over two hundred and forty boats have been reported in shelter during the last two days, which makes an unusually large list.

The schooner-rigged yacht Chicuita, with a dead man, supposed to be D. S. Way, the owner and captain, lashed to the rigging, went ashore in the gale, three miles east of Miller Station, Ind. It is believed that all the crew and passengers have perished. Garments found in the cabin indicated that at least one woman was among the unfortunate party on the yacht.

MEN CURED FREE.

A most successful remedy has been found for sexual weakness such as varicocele, nervous debility, lost manhood, and all other results of youthful folly or excesses. It cures any case of the difficulty, never fails to restore the full natural strength and vigor. The Doctor who made this wonderful discovery wants to let every man know about it. He will therefore send the receipt giving the various ingredients to be used so that all men at a trifling expense can cure themselves. He sends the receipt free, and all the reader need do is to send his name and address to L. W. Knapp, M.D., 176a Hall Bldg., Detroit, Mich., requesting the free receipt as reported in this paper. It is a generous offer, and all men ought to be glad to have such an opportunity. 6.16 wks-tf

JEFFRIES AFTER 25 ROUNDS.

The Margin Was So Small That Many Thought It Was a Draw—Jeffries Used His Enormous Avoirdupois on the Sailor, Who Always Kept Boring in—An Enormous Crowd in Attendance.

New York, Nov. 4.—James J. Jeffries retains the championship of the world, Referee George Siler giving him the decision at the end of the 25th round over Sailor Tom Sharkey at the Coney Island Sporting Club last night. It was one of the most marvelous battles that has ever taken place, and the greatest crowd that ever gathered in the Coney Island club house to witness the desperate struggle for supremacy.

In five rounds Jeffries had the better of the fight. During the other twenty Sharkey forced the issue and, like a terrier bull, was at his man with both hands unceasingly. In the twenty rounds Jeffries' great weight and brawn helped him to hold off the sailor, and in the twenty-second round he swung in a couple of right uppercuts that made Sharkey groggy. Tom came back again in the twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth, but he was weakened greatly by Jeffries' vicious blows. One minute before the gong sounded to end the fight, Jeffries left glove came off and practically the contest was over. The referee mentioned Jeffries to his corner, a flag was flung around the champion's shoulders, the crowd on that side and end of the arena cheered wildly, while the crowd on the opposite side and end, in Sharkey's corner, yelled for Sharkey, and the men were led back to their dressing rooms.

The thousands of spectators were banked 40 feet high around the building; the place was packed from ringside to rafters; the aisle around the ring were lined. The tremendous crowd sweated under the glare of 400 arc lights, 15 feet from the canvas of the squared circle. The heat was intense. The fighters were almost exhausted, and the spectators shrieked themselves hoarse. It seemed at first as though it would be a short fight, for in the second round Jeffries put the sailor to the ropes with a left on the jaw, and the referee began to call off the seconds, as Sharkey kneeled on the floor. But from the third round on Sharkey, with his vicious swings to the ribs and jaw kept the crowd on its feet, waiting for a knockout. Jeff stood the terrific punishment, and, with his eye, nose and ear split, came back just as viciously in the last three, and almost retrieved himself.

Then came the unfortunate and unsatisfactory ending, Jeffries' glove flying off, bringing the fight to an end. Although the crowd urged Sharkey to rush in and end it. This he tried to do, but Jeff fought him back and Referee Siler rushed to the rescue. It was noticeable that Jeff used his weight to its best advantage, throwing himself all over the sailor, but the latter did his share of the hugging, too, and both were warned repeatedly.

Ten thousand spectators gathered around the ringside. Although Coney Island was swept by a gale, the cars came down crowded to the guards in a swiftly moving line, and the sports waded knee-deep to the narrow entrance leading to the arena.

Jeffries weighed 212 pounds and Sharkey 25 pounds less, but the latter looked to be in better shape, the Californian being sallow and with staring eyes, and other evidences of not the best condition. The betting at the start was 100 to 70 on Jeff.

The majority of those at the ringside hardly thought Sharkey would get worse than a draw, for the sailor fought viciously, always after his man, with good judgment and outpointed the champion. On the other hand, Jeffries, while he had the better by long odds of the last three rounds, did very little leading in the other 22, and when he led he was either too high or too low, getting in but few good punches. The decision was not announced from the ring, or if it was, few heard it, and a great mob surged around for several minutes, yelling and shouting for victor and vanquished.

FREIGHT MEN MEET MR. HAYS.

Montreal, Nov. 4.—It is reported that a somewhat serious difficulty has arisen between the Grand Trunk Railway Company and their freight conductors and brakemen on account of a new order, which has been issued, changing the scale of the remuneration of this section of their train hands. A very large and representative delegation is in town and staying at the Grand Union Hotel for the purpose of conferring with the management on the subject. The freightmen of the eastern, western and middle divisions are represented on this delegation, of which Mr. Morrison is chairman, and Mr. Johnston is secretary. They had a long conference with the general manager and principal executive officers at Point St. Charles yesterday morning. But on their return they were exceedingly reticent as to the subject of their deliberations.

Fought and Ran Away.

Manila, Nov. 4.—The insurgents attempted to ambush Captain Batson's scouts between Santiago and Saragossa. Batson charged them and drove them out from their position, killing and wounding several of them. One American officer was killed and a private was wounded. The captures at the Taloucra arsenal include 13 small brass Howitzers and 800 one-pound projectiles. Major Bell's regiment made another descent upon Porac, pursuing the Filipinos thence into the mountains and capturing their horses and baggage. The American loss was one killed and two wounded.

A Very Hot Fire.

Hamilton, Nov. 4.— The hottest fire the Hamilton department has had for many years was in progress last midnight, and it will probably burn all night. The barrelling station of the Sun Oil Company, just east of Wentworth street, on the G. T. R., is the place. Hundreds of thousands of gallons of oil went up in smoke, and the sky in the east end of the city was illuminated from 9.30 o'clock till now. Two large tanks exploded, sending burning oil in all directions. Hundreds of persons in close proximity had close calls. There was a stampede of cattle on Strachan's lynes, close by, the bovines bellowing in an alarming manner. It is impossible to ascertain the loss, but it will not be over $6,000.

SOUVENIR

The great financier pays his cook $10,000 a year to have his stomach treated fairly. The "thousand and one" delicacies that this king of the kitchen prepares for his master, if not cooked in a good stove, would count for naught. Cooking, whether by a Vanderbilt cook or a Mrs. Rorer, depends finally on the stove—THE OVEN OF THAT STOVE.

Here's where the Souvenir kitchen range excels. It is the only stove with an aerated oven, which insures, by its peculiar methods of construction, perfect cooking.

Mrs. W. Marriott, writes: "Bread bakes a lovely nut-brown all over, and it never has to be touched from the time it is put in until it is taken out." Again: "The convenience of the aerated oven is the great saving of time, patience and nerve to the cook, for she can have as hot a fire as she needs in preparing the dinner, and the bread, meat and pudding (all of which may be in the oven at the same time), never burn or dry up, as they do in ordinary ovens."

The Company owns over twelve thousand acres of rich copper land in Texas, opened, tested, developed and NOW BEING OPERATED. Millions of tons of copper bearing clay and marl running from five to ten per cent., and large quantities of ore carrying from fifty to seventy per cent. copper in sight. Cheaply mined and treated, favorable climate, cheap fuel, and ample water. Stated by geologists, chemists, experts and engineers to be one of the greatest and best in the world. Amount of land, quantity and quality of ore, cheapness of mining and treatment, the increasing demand and profit in producing copper considered, the Boston and Texas Copper Company possesses unequalled advantages and affords the best kind of an investment.

Calumet and Hecla ore averages 4 1-2 per cent. copper. It has paid $62,850,000 dividends
Tamarack ore averages 3 per cent. It has paid $5,910,000 in dividends.
Atlantic ore averages 85-100 of 1 per cent. It has paid $780,000 in dividends.
Boston and Montana ore runs 7 per cent. It has paid $10,775,000 in dividends.
Franklin ore averages 1 37-100 per cent. It has paid $1,290,000 in dividends.
The Quincy ore averages 1 8-10 per cent. It has paid $11,070,000.

THE AVERAGE OF BOSTON & TEXAS ORE IS OVER 50 PER CENT., and of copper marls and clays from 5 to 10 per cent. Both the ore, marl and clay are within a few feet of the surface of the ground, so that the expense of mining and hoisting is minimized. A party of New England capitalists who have just returned from an examination of the mines in conjunction with one of the ablest mining engineers in the country, report the property to be one of the largest and best in America, and to contain inexhaustible quantities of rich copper deposits.

It is estimated that the plant now being arranged for will produce $3,000 to $5,000 per day, NET.

Prospectus, engineers' reports, assays and full information will be furnished on application. Remit by check, P. O. order, draft or registered letter to Treasurer.

For coughs, colds, bronchitis and all lung and throat troubles, there is no preparation or medicine can compare with Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which causes difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relief to that depressing tightness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and huskiness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous. If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety, trouble and expense, let them procure a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the Syrup according to directions.

At Death's Door—Dyspepsia Conquered. A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight decreased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

SIR CHARLES AT WINNIPEG.

Thinks the Government Will Yet Insure Canadian Contingent.

Winnipeg, Nov. 4.—Sir Charles Tupper arrived from the east yesterday. He was welcomed at the depot by a number of prominent local politicians, including Hon. Hugh J. Macdonald, Messrs. Stewart Tupper, W. J. Tupper, Mayor Andrews, Robert Rogers, R. P. Roblin, M.P.P., and others.

The Government Failure.

When questioned as to matters at Ottawa, Sir Charles showed the reporter a telegram he had received from the Capital, which read: "Government have failed to effect insurance on lives of Canadian contingent."

Speaking in regard to this, Sir Charles said: "Notwithstanding this statement and reports which have appeared in newspapers to the same effect, I cannot believe that the Government have receded from the pledge they made to insure the lives of members of the Canadian contingent. It seems too utterly incredible. These men have gone away with the conviction that the Government has insured their lives, in addition to the accident insurance arranged for them independent of the Government, and the Ministers would surely never take such a retrograde step. I think you will soon find the report contradicted."

The General Elections.

"What is your opinion as to the date of the general elections?" asked the reporter.

"The Government had fixed a date for the elections in January, but whether they will find any reason for postponing them I cannot say."

An Outrage on Winnipeg.

"It is an outrage," continued Sir Charles, "that Winnipeg should be so long without representation. There is no excuse for it."

SECOND CANADIAN CONTINGENT.

Matter Has Been Referred to War Office—Militia Orders.

Ottawa, Nov. 4.—The only reply received to the offer of a second Canadian contingent received so far is a cablegram from Mr. Chamberlain intimating that the matter has been referred to the War Office.

Hon. J. I. Tarte only remained in Council for a few moments yesterday morning. He then left and went to his house, where he had a lengthy interview with Mr. Henri Bourassa, ex-M.P.

Want to Go to the War.

Up to one o'clock yesterday, the Militia Department had received more than one hundred telegraphic applications from men who saw the announcement in yesterday's papers.

The following militia orders were promulgated yesterday afternoon:

It is noted for general information that letters, etc., for officers and men serving with, or attached to, the 2nd Battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment, should be legibly addressed as follows:

To be forwarded.
(NAME)
2nd Battalion Royal Canadian Regiment, Field Force, South Africa.

Letters so addressed will be forwarded by first post to England, and thence to South Africa. The rate of postage is two cents per half-ounce.

During the absence from Canada of Lieut.-Col. L. Buchan, the command of the Royal Canadian Regiment of Infantry devolves upon Major D. D. Young, commanding No. 2 Regimental Depot.

Lieut. J. N. S. Leslie, Royal Canadian Artillery, will perform the duties of senior A.D.C. to the Major-General commanding during the absence of Captain A. C. Bell with the 2nd Battalion Royal Canadian Regiment.

TRIAL OF YOUNG ANDERSON.

Detective Davis' Cross-Examination Concluded.

Winnipeg, Nov. 4.—The Anderson trial for the Molsons Bank robbery was continued yesterday. The court room was crowded to suffocation, and almost the whole day was occupied with Mr. Hagel's cross-examination of the principal Crown witness, Detective Davis, which was very searching and resulted in the weakening of his evidence on minor points. His main statements regarding Anderson's confession, search for money, etc., were not shaken. He said he had not received all the reward, only $850.

Dr. Blanchard deposed that he treated young Galt, a former clerk in Molsons Bank here, for mental trouble in 1897, and again in October, 1898, when Galt became violently insane. He believed Galt was now in England. The effect of excitement, such as the bank robbery, upon a mind like Galt's, would likely bring on an attack.

Harry Whitla, barrister, gave evidence as to his legal relations with Davis. The stolen money was produced in court as an exhibit.

HAS MR. TARTE RESIGNED?

An Unconfirmed Report Circulated in Montreal to That Effect.

Montreal, Nov. 4. — The report gained currency here last night that Mr. Tarte has resigned from the Dominion Government as a protest against its Transvaal policy, but the report lacks confirmation, as Mr. Tarte is still in Ottawa.

SITUATION IS MORE HOPEFUL

Communication Not Yet Re-Established With Ladysmith.

All Quiet There on Wednesday, According to Belated Despatches—People Continue Leaving the Town—Buller Still at Cape Town—Kimberley Safe on Nov. 1—The Bombardment of Mafeking a Tame Affair—Casualties at Farquhar's Farm.

London, Nov. 4.—(4.05 a.m.)—There is very little refreshing intelligence, but it is believed that the Delagoa Bay route, if not already restored, speedily will be, thus giving quicker communication with the Cape. The situation is still hopeful. The accounts that continue to arrive regarding the fighting on Farquhar's farm only confirm its seriousness, and the narrow escape Gen. White had.

Could Not Signal Adye.

It now appears as if it were only the arrival of the naval contingent from the Powerful which prevented a worse disaster. It seems that when it was seen that retirement was imperative, two Natal cavalrymen volunteered to convey a despatch across the Boer lines to Major Adye, ordering him to retire, but the risk was considered too great, and flag signalling was employed instead. The distance was too great and rough for cavalry to go to his assistance.

Situation at Ladysmith.

According to despatches filed on Tuesday, defensive works were being constructed on the hills around Ladysmith, and it was expected that the big naval guns would be mounted the following day.

The Boers were threatening to attack the town in force on Wednesday and Thursday, and the women and children and other non-combatants were being sent by train to the south.

Ladysmith is provisioned for two months.

A despatch from Colesberg, dated Nov. 1, announces that six police, who were stationed at Colesberg bridge, were surrounded and captured. This is probably the origin of the story that the Boers had occupied Colesberg.

PEOPLE LEAVING LADYSMITH.

Quiet on Wednesday, But Boers Are Mounting More Big Guns.

London, Nov. 4.—The Daily Mail publishes the following despatch from Ladysmith, dated Wednesday morning: "Matters to-day are quiet. Boers are apparently mounting more heavy guns to the north and northeast, which are likely to give us trouble. A Boer contingent, 1500 strong and clearly visible from the camp, is streaming away to the south. The inhabitants of Ladysmith continue to leave that town."

AT BETHULIE BRIDGE.

Four Thousand Boers Have Now Congregated There.

Lorenzo Marquez, Nov. 2.—(Delayed in transmission.)—Five bodies of Boers, totalling 4000 men, with field guns, are concentrated at Bethulie Bridge. They have collected much food.

The Bethulie bridge crosses the Orange River. It is 1486 feet in length and is on the main line of railway from Cape Colony to the Orange Free State.

MILITIA BATTALIONS ORDERED.

Thirty-Five of Them to Be Mobilized on Various Dates.

London, Nov. 3.—An army order issued this evening instructs the proper authorities to mobilize thirty-five battalions of militia at their respective headquarters on various dates after Nov. 20.

Buller Still at Cape Town.

Cape Town, Oct. 31.—(Delayed.)—Lieut.-General Sir Redvers Buller is still here, and it is not likely that he will leave for a few days.

It is rumored that martial law will shortly be proclaimed in Cape Town.

Kimberley Still Safe.

Orange River, Cape Colony, Nov. 1.—(Delayed.)—Kimberley is still safe and the wounded are doing well.

BOMBARDMENT OF MAFEKING.

Was a Very Tame Affair—Even the Ladies Laughed at It.

Cape Town, Nov. 1.—(Delayed.)—The Cape Times says it has reliable information that there have been no casualties among the British at Mafeking since Oct. 13. After the heavy bombardment, Gen. Cronje asked the town to surrender. Col. Baden-Powell was asleep when the messenger came, but on being awakened, received him hospitably and politely replied: "I will let you know when we have had enough."

Even the Ladies Laughed.

London, Nov. 4.—The special correspondent of The Daily Mail at Mafeking, under date of Oct. 22, says: "Gen. Cronje's bombardment of Mafeking was monotonous. The Boers fired 62 shells, but did no harm, the whole town, even the ladies, laughing at the affair. He threatens to bring a 40-pounder from Pretoria. Cronje says he is sorry, for the women's sake, that he shelled the town, but that it was not playing the game to send dynamite trucks among his men. Fifteen hundred of his command have since departed to the southward. Small parties of our garrison issue forth nightly, and harass the Boer outposts. I hear that The Daily Mail's correspondent at Lobatsi is a prisoner in the hands of the Boers."

57 KILLED, 227 WOUNDED.

London, Nov. 3.—The following is a detailed revised report of the total casualties among the rank and file at Farquhar's farm:

ARTILLERY—Four killed, 29 wounded, 85 missing.

CAVALRY—Two killed, 9 wounded, none missing.

FIRST KING'S RIFLES—One killed, 32 wounded, 21 missing.

SECOND KING'S RIFLES—Eight killed, 29 wounded, 16 missing.

LEICESTER REGIMENT—Two killed, 18 wounded, 4 missing.

DUBLIN FUSILIERS—None killed, 3 wounded, 16 missing.

MANCHESTER REGIMENT—None killed, 6 wounded, 1 missing.

GLOUCESTER REGIMENT—Thirty killed, 83 wounded, 336 missing.

ENGINEERS AND NAVAL AND COLONIAL FORCES—None killed, 7 wounded, none missing.

REVISED TOTAL — Fifty-seven killed, 227 wounded, 473 missing; the last mentioned not including the Irish Fusiliers.

A significant fact, indicating the hasty character of Gen. White's retreat upon Ladysmith, is the number of men captured, apart from the members of the Gloucesters and Irish Fusiliers taken prisoners.

NOW FORMING AT DE AAR.

London, Nov. 3.—Despite the strict censorship concerning the movements of the troops in Africa, it is evident that a strong column is forming at De Aar Junction for the relief of Kimberley. The 1st Munster Fusiliers, the 2nd Berkshires and half of the 2nd Yorkshire Light Infantry are known to be there, numbering nearly 2000 in all. The Munsters have been converted into mounted infantry. It was originally intended to send an entire army corps this way, but the critical position of the British in Natal necessitates diverting the reinforcements as soon as they arrive at the Cape. The Government hoped that General White would be able to hold the Boers in check in Natal long enough for the army corps to arrive and make a dashing invasion of the Orange Free State, and thence into the Transvaal, but all of these plans are upset now.

Lord Salisbury Anxious.

Until the conditions in Natal can be bettered, some of the troops must be spared to help Kimberley. Lord Salisbury is anxious, too, about his son in Mafeking, and every effort will be made to help the two beleaguered towns as soon as possible.

When It Paid.

It was at the village sewing circle, and the unprofitable question of the failure or success of marriage was under discussion. Beulah Blank, a war widow, thrifty to the last degree of New England thriftiness, kept silent until some one said:

"What do you think about it, Beulah?"

"Well, I must say that it depends," said Beulah. "Now when a woman gits married, an her husband gits drafted into the army, and he gits killed, and she gits a pension of $12 a month as long as she lives, it pays to git married. That's what I think."

Among all the mocking horrors of chronic indigestion and liver complaint, none is more unbearable than that dreadful sensation of giddiness in which the whole world, indoors or out, seems to swim around before the sight in the most sickening and nauseating manner until one's entire being becomes faint and wretched with indescribable misery.

"I was suffering with what the doctors called chronic indigestion, torpid liver, and vertigo," writes Mrs. Martha E. Barham, of Newville, Prince George Co., Va. "The doctor did me no good. My symptoms were giddiness in the head, pains in the chest and an uneasy feeling all over. I also suffered with female weakness.

"I was all run-down and could not do any work at all without suffering from nervous attacks. I wrote to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., for advice. He advised to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Favorite Prescription.' I did so, and used five bottles of each, and I cannot express the benefit I have received from these medicines. I gained in health and strength. When I commenced to use the medicines I weighed only 112 pounds, now I weigh 140 pounds. I thank God and Dr. Pierce for my recovery. My husband and friends all thought I would die but to-day I am a well woman."

The wonderful effects of this great "Discovery" are genuine and permanent; they are not due to any false or alcoholic stimulus for it contains no alcohol. Real substantial healthy muscular strength is built up; the stomach and liver are toned; the blood is purified and vitalized; the nerves are steadied; the entire constitution is rejuvenated and renewed.

In case of constipation, there is nothing quite so effective as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They act comfortably though surely; they do not gripe; you do not become a slave to their use. Their effect is lasting. There are countless substitutes but nothing else is like them.

TO STOP BOER SUPPLIES.

Channel Squadron Going to the Cape to Do Police Duty.

London, Nov. 4.—At Plymouth it is rumored that the Channel squadron will be ordered to the Cape, where a great naval force is to be collected with a view of establishing a cordon from the mouth of the Orange River to Delagoa Bay to prevent the landing of supplies for the enemy and with a view, also, of landing guns to assist the British forces.

MORE FAKE RUMORS.

Supplied Pro-Boer Journals in Europe at So Much Per Line.

London, Nov. 4.—Paris and Berlin continue to supply statements of British reverses, the latest being that Mafeking has fallen. The Paris correspondent of The Daily News asserts that since the war began the Boer secret service fund has increased to £10,000 monthly, and that pro-Boer journalists are bribed wholesale. None of these rumors is yet confirmed, and little attention is paid to them.

DIDN'T GET ALL THEIR GUNS.

London, Nov. 4.—The Paris correspondent of The Daily Mail says: "I learn that the Transvaal and Free State Governments before the war placed large orders with the gunmakers at Le Creusot, but that not all the weapons could be delivered owing to the suddenness with which hostilities began. The guns the Boers are actually using are Creusota 75-millimetre quick-firers and 155-millimetre siege and garrison guns, all mounted on light carriages and adapted in every possible way for use over muddy roads. They had two months' firing practice under competent Creusota agents. If they could have had another month's practice no European artillery could have withstood them."

LEYDS AT WORK AGAIN.

Transvaal Agent Tells His Government of the British Plans.

London, Nov. 4.—The Standard publishes a despatch from Lukembourg, which says: "Until within a few days ago Dr. Leyds has been in telegraphic communication with Pretoria, through an indirect diplomatic channel, by means of which he has been able to inform the Transvaal of the supposed British plan to advance through the Orange Free State. With a view of anticipating this movement, the Boers will endeavor to capture or isolate Ladysmith, and then press on to Durban, where they would be able to prevent a British debarkation, while the main Boer army would hastily retrace its steps to defend the line of the Orange River."

10,000 MEN, IF NECESSARY,

Will Be Sent From Australia to South Africa.

Sydney, N.S.W., Nov. 3.—Tremendous enthusiasm was displayed to-day on the occasion of the embarkation of the second detachment furnished by the Colony of New South Wales for service in South Africa. The Colonial Government is seriously considering doubling the contingent. The Premier, Mr. Lyne, has communicated to the other Australian premiers a suggestion that the colonies should despatch to South Africa another body of troops, to be called the Australian contingent. He says that if necessary 10,000 men could be sent.

WHERE BERESFORD WILL SHINE.

Plymouth, Eng., Nov. 3.—Rear Admiral Lord Charles Beresford has accepted the post of second in command of the British Mediterranean squadron, in succession to Rear Admiral Sir Gerard Henry Noel, whose time expires in January next. Lord Beresford has already selected his staff.

Was It Premature?

London, Nov. 3.—The Press Association, which was responsible for the announcement of Lord Beresford's appointment, said, later in the day, that the admiral, in an interview at Sheffield, has denied having been appointed second in command of the Mediterranean squadron. This is thought, however, only to indicate that the admiral regards the publication as premature, for as announced by the Associated Press, when the admiral returned to England from the United States, it is believed in well-informed quarters that his appointment to the post mentioned is imminent, if it is not already an official fact.

Wheels Passed Over Him.

St. Thomas, Ont., Nov. 4.—Charles Teetzel, a farmer, aged about sixty years, who resides in Fingal, was perhaps fatally injured Thursday evening. He was engaged in moving Fulton's mill from Orwell to Fingal. He was driving a wagon loaded with heavy timber, and while descending the Blackwood Hill he fell off the wagon. The wheels passed over his abdomen, injuring him internally. His shoulder was also badly cut.

"Probably no single drug is employed in nervous diseases with effects so markedly beneficial as those of cod-liver oil."

These are the words of an eminent medical teacher.

Another says: "The hypophosphites are generally acknowledged as valuable nerve tonics."

Both these remedies are combined in Scott's Emulsion. Therefore, take it for nervousness, neuralgia, sciatica, insomnia and brain exhaustion.

EUROPE CAN GET THE NEWS

Because Cipher Messages Pass Between European Powers and Agents.

London, Nov. 3.—While the wires to Ladysmith are cut, the optimism of the War Office officials yesterday evening in refusing to believe that Ladysmith was completely invested or Colenso captured appears to be justified, as this morning it was asserted that the railroad is still open, though traffic has been conducted with the greatest caution. What, however, was only a rumor yesterday evening may, it is claimed, be reality at any moment, as General Joubert, with a large and wonderfully mobile force, is expected to detach several thousand and make a dash at the railroad.

How Europe Gets the News.

While there is a habit here to assume that news of Boer victories emanating from the Continent cannot be true, because of the censorship, the fact is forgotten that foreign governments are fully privileged to send and receive cipher messages to and from their representatives in South Africa. As a matter of fact, the rumors of the capture of the Hussars, the occupation of Dundee and the disaster of Monday came first from Berlin, from which city also came the first news of the Jameson raid. So, tidings of any British reverses are as likely to come from there as from anywhere, and that such news is possible is fully recognized, as General White's position is acknowledged to be so precarious that the landing of a big naval brigade to go to his assistance is being advocated.

German Criticism of Lansdowne.

Berlin, Nov. 3.—The statement of the British Secretary of State for War, the Marquis of Lansdowne, at the Cutlers' feast in Sheffield yesterday that the military preparations in the difficulty with the Transvaal could not be kept abreast of the diplomatic negotiations, has evoked severe comment on the part of the German press.

The Neueste Nachrichten says: "This assertion will amaze the world, and especially Germany, for it implies either that the army and diplomacy of Great Britain are unequally balanced or that both are inefficient. For the purpose of comparison, we need but recall Germany's preparedness in 1870 and the fact that Count Von Moltke, on the first day of the mobilization was found reading a novel. Lord Lansdowne's statement only confirms the opinion of numerous critics that the British army is no longer an efficient tool for politics on a vast scale. Perhaps England's experiences in South Africa will suffice to bring home to the national instinct of Britons the necessity for a radical reorganization of the British military system."

Why Europe Must Remain Neutral.

London, Nov. 3.—The rumors of a continental anti-British coalition continue to occupy the French papers.

A Horrible Disaster.

Antwerp, Nov. 4. — The landing stage of the Waesland Railroad ferry boat, on the left bank of the Scheldt, broke in two yesterday on the arrival of the first train, which was crowded. Many persons fell into the water and fifteen or twenty of them were drowned. Ten bodies have been recovered.

Negotiations Proceeding Favorably

London, Nov. 4.—The Berlin correspondent of The Times says he hears on reliable authority that the negotiations regarding Samoa are proceeding favorably and may be concluded at any day.

THE SALVATION ARMY.

The Life of These Self-Sacrificing Workers Often One of Hardship.

While on Duty Capt. Ben. Bryan Was Stricken With a Supposed Incurable Disease and Forced to Relinquish the Work—He Has Now Recovered His Health.

From the News, Alexandria, Ont.

The life of a Salvation Army worker is very far from being a sinecure. Their duties are not only arduous, but they are called upon by the regulations of the Army to conduct out-of-door meetings at all seasons and in all kinds of weather. This being the case, it is little wonder that the health of these self-sacrificing workers frequently gives way. Capt. Ben. Bryan, whose home is at Maxville, Ont., is well known through his former connection with the Army, having been stationed at such important points as Montreal, Toronto, Kingston, Guelph and Brockville, in Canada, and at Schenectady, Troy and other points in the United States. While on duty he was attacked by a so-called incurable disease, but having been restored to health through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a representative of the Alexandria News thought it worth while to procure from his own lips a statement of his illness and recovery. He found Mr. Bryan at work, a healthy, robust man, his appearance giving no indications of his recent sufferings.

The story of his illness and subsequent cure by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills reads like a miracle, and is given in his own words as follows:—"While stationed at Deseronto, in July, 1897, I was attacked with what the doctors called "Chronic Spinal Meningitis." The symptoms were somewhat similar to those preceding a pleuratic attack, but were accompanied by spasms which, when the pain became too severe, rendered me unconscious. The length of these unconscious spells increased as the disease advanced. After spending four months in the Kingston General Hospital, and on the Salvation farm, Toronto, I regained some of my former strength and returned to my work. The second attack occurred when I was stationed at Schenectady, N.Y., in October, 1898, and was more severe than the first. The symptoms of the second attack were very similar to those which preceded the first, the only apparent difference being that they were more severe and the after effects were of longer duration. Owing to the precarious state of my health, I was compelled to resign my position after the second attack and return to my home at Maxville. While there a friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I began using them in March, 1899. I have used only a dozen boxes and am once more enjoying perfect health. I feel that I am perfectly well and can cheerfully say that I attribute my present state of health to the effects produced by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Mrs. Bryan has also used the pills and has benefitted very much thereby."

HOT SHOT FOR TARTE.

Last Saturday (21st Oct. '99) a Liberal meeting was held at Smith's Falls, at which Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. Mr. Fielding spoke and Mr. Tarte was announced to speak, but did not appear. An excursion train of five coaches was run from Kemptville. "Now," said Mr. Bergeron, "in all those five coaches there were only three persons, and one of those was an undertaker (laughter), who was, no doubt, attracted by the statement that Mr. Tarte would be at Smith's Falls, and hoped for the job of burying the party, which Mr. Tarte was sure to kill. (Laughter.) But Mr. Tarte was not present. He was flourishing an order-in-council at St. Vincent de Paul, and my only wonder is that Mr. Tarte should trust himself as near St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary." (Great laughter and applause.)

IMPORTANT, IF TRUE.

La Verite, of Quebec, makes the assertion that when the question of sending a Canadian contingent to the Transvaal was before the Cabinet, His Excellency the Governor-General declared that if the cabinet of Sir Wilfrid Laurier did not accede to the popular demand from the English-speaking provinces, he (the Governor) would dismiss them and call in someone else who would permit British subjects in a British colony to go to the defence of the British Empire.

We can scarcely credit the above statement, but, if he did do that, the Governor-General is a brick. One thing is sure—Sir Wilfrid did not intend to take any action in the matter, as witness his interview in the Globe.

What made him change his mind?

A DYSPEPSIA CURE

Ever Reliable and Welcomed by the Most Delicate Stomach is Dr. Von Stan's Pineapple Tablets.

Let the worst dyspeptic eat a pineapple a day for six months, and, so greatly would his health improve, he would look and feel like a new person. The reason is plain. The pineapple holds a generous supply of vegetable pepsin, which, next to the juices of the stomach, is the greatest digestive known. Very few people can obtain the daily pineapple but everyone can get Dr. Von Stan's Pineapple Tablets which are mainly composed of this precious fruit juice. They are eaten as candy, are as harmless as ripe fruit, and always give satisfaction. They cure all digestive troubles. Box of 60 Tablets, 35 cts. Sold by J. S. McKeown.

A Large Sum of Money.

Mr. R. C. Hulme, City Surveyor, has received a letter from his son, Stanley, who is teller of the Bank of Montreal at Quebec, in which he states that he placed on board the str. Sardinia 4500 sovereigns and half sovereigns, amounting to $21,900, also $2000 of Canadian and English silver and 3100 coppers.

WONDERFUL ASTHMA RECOVERIES.

Clarke's Kola Compound Officially Tested by the British Columbia Government, at the Home for Incurables, Kamloops, B.C., the Medical Superintendent Pronounced Long-Standing Cases Cured.

Many temporary relief asthma remedies have during the past few years been placed before the public, but until the introduction to the medical profession of Clarke's Kola Compound, nothing has been found to have any effect on preventing future attacks. The Medical Superintendent for the Home for Incurables in Kamloops, B.C., has had probably the best chance in Canada to thoroughly test this wonderful remedy for asthma. He reports that on the three cases of asthma where Clarke's Kola Compound has been tried, in not a single instance did it fail to cure, and on one particular case a lady had been confined to her bed most of the time for nearly a year previous to taking this remedy, and less than three bottles have completely cured her. Over a year has now passed, and there has not been the slightest indication of asthma returning. Three bottles of Clarke's Kola Compound are guaranteed to cure asthma. Over 500 cases have already been cured in Canada alone by this remedy. Sold by all druggists. Free sample bottle sent to any person. Mention this paper. Address The Griffiths & Macpherson Co., 121 Church st., Toronto.

SNAP SHOTS AT TIMELY TOPICS.

—There must be a fine state of discipline in the New York Police Department when Tammany policemen interrupt speakers at Republican meetings.

—England's ultimate victory is certain, predicts the Secretary of State for India. But it begins to look as if there would be truth, too, in Kruger's predictions that the price would stagger civilization.

—The Boers outnumber the British in Natal just now two to one, but in the background the proposition is 160 Britons to one Boer.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

"Mr. Ross is a very nice little man," remarked Mr. Whitney at a public meeting in Prescott the other day, but he had not made a good Minister of Education, and he will not make a good Premier of the province during the short time he will occupy that office."

—The number of passengers carried by the Montreal Street Railway in 1892 was 11,631,000 and in 1898 40,186,000. The present year shows an increase of 4,833,000 over that of 1898. Is it any wonder that street railway stock in Montreal sells for some 200 per cent. above par? Why, this beats Belleville!

The subject to-day is Overcoats.

Naturally, with so many handsome lines, we are anxious to introduce you to our elegant garments—anxious to again demonstrate the superiority of the "Quick & Robertson quality"—anxious to show you that selections from our fashionable, new Overcoats are not priced higher than garments of unknowable age and uncertain quality are marked elsewhere.

Overcoats for Gentlemen, $4 to $14.

At $10 we show a beautiful All-wool English Beaver Overcoat with Silk Velvet Collar and stitched with silk throughout, best of linings and interlinings, and that graceful fit for which our garments are so well known.

Overcoats are cut a trifle longer this year, with plump fullness of body, roomy sleeves, shapely shoulders, and velvet collars not quite as wide as last year.

For Young Gentlemen, 16 to 19 years—An equally large assortment of ultra fashionable Overcoats, with prices $5, $6, $8 to $12 50.

For the "Little Gentlemen," 7 to 15 years—Are the nobbiest Overcoats ever shown in Belleville, prices $2.50 to $7.50.

These are in Coverts, Cheviots, Friezes and Beavers. Made after the fashionable mold of the Men's Overcoats, and with a little extra effort in finish.

Reefers for the Boys, 3 to 17 years, $1.25 to $5

Made from Serges, pure All-wool Chinchillas and Friezes—with those big warm storm collars—button over the little breast and close up to the chin. Ideals of comfort and fashion, with never a doubt of satisfactory wear.

Men's Heavy Ulsters for $5.

For $5 we are showing an extra heavy All-wool Frieze Ulster, tweed lined, in brown and claret shades. This is without doubt the best coat shown to-day at that price. See it.

Come with confidence—there's no loophole for disappointment to follow your buying here.

THE AIM

Of our continual optical advertising is to awaken this community to the fact that it possesses eyes, and that they may require glasses if such be not already used; or that, if they be already used, they may not be the best ones for the eyes. We want members of the public to come to us to find out about these points, and when they come they are satisfied that we know our business.

Afternoon Despatches.

Good News From Ladysmith.

Despatches from the Continent Have All Been Lies.

Far from Being Conquered, Gen. White Has been Able to Make Sorties and More Than Hold His Own.

(OTHER DESPATCHES ON INSIDE PAGES.)

London, Nov. 6.—An immense weight was lifted from the public mind by the brief official despatch published this morning, by which the Continental stories of disaster at Ladysmith were proved to be false.

Although the despatch itself revived the anxiety of the more timid in another direction, as indicated that Gen. White, instead of sitting tight and acting wholly on the defensive, as it is held in many quarters he ought to do, persisted in sortieing and risking another Nicholson Nek disaster.

Generally, however, the cheery tone of the despatch, showing that there is no anxiety at Ladysmith as regards the ability of the beleaguered garrison to hold its own, has an excellent effect on the country.

From the fact that Gen. White is able to take the offensive and to shell a Boer camp, it seems that Ladysmith is not so closely besieged as was supposed.

Capetown, Nov. 6.—Free State Burghers occupied Colesburg without resistance. Colesburg has 2,000 inhabitants, all Dutch.

The British troops are concentrating at De Aar Junction. A large number of the British wounded from Ladysmith arrived at Capetown to-day.

The impression here is that the removal of the British camp at Stormyberg Junction may result in a large number of Colonial Boers joining the enemy, and the English section is utterly upset at the withdrawal of the British troops and serious news from Natal.

The tension between the Dutch and the English has been increasing here during the last day or two.

The news of the disaster to Col. Carleton's column has had anything but a good effect on the Dutch in the districts 30 miles from Capetown, and they make no attempt to conceal their feelings of satisfaction at the British reverse.

London, Nov. 6, via New York.—Reports of Boer victories, coupled with the evacuation of Colenzo, indicate that a battle has been fought south of Ladysmith, which the Government is keeping secret, which lea s to belief of rumors of another victory for Joubert's column.

Advices from Mafeking says the Boers stationed a big Pretorian gun, with a range of seven miles, and fired sixteen shots, one hitting the town and burning Wait's store.

THE WAR SUMMARY.

General Sir Redvers Buller cabled from Cape Town to the War Office yesterday a despatch which he received by carrier pigeon from General White.

General White reported that on Friday last his cavalry and artillery fought a long battle with Joubert's commandos. The British loss was small, and the Boer laager was most effectively shelled.

Later despatches say that the Boers were completely taken by surprise, their camp at Bester's Hill captured and heavy losses inflicted upon them.

General White reported the death of Gunnery-Lieutenant Egerton of H. M. S. Powerful, who had been badly injured by a Boer shell. A previous London despatch announced that Egerton had been promoted to be commander.

An official despatch states that the British have evacuated Colenso, on the main railway line, south of Colenso.

Major Kincaid and nine wounded men of the Royal Irish Fusiliers, who were captured at Farquhar's farm, have been exchanged for some Boer prisoners.

The Boers have occupied Colesburg, northern Cape Colony.

A cablegram from London, via New York, says that a battle has been fought south of Ladysmith, which is supposed, on account of the Government's secrecy, to be a victory for Gen. Joubert.

Latest despatches from London show that the War Office has received from Gen White the information that he is all right and more than holding his own.

Those Nobby Overcoats.

By the way Oak Hall are selling overcoats this fall one would think there was no other Clothing House within 50 miles. In spite of the rain, last Saturday was a splendid overcoat day with us. We have had three repeat orders on our $10 beaver coats, and we telegraphed for more Saturday afternoon.

A Wedding Present.

There is no denying the fact that of all wedding presents a piano gives the most pleasure. But it must be a good piano, and that means a Newcombe piano, for they are good and only good. These fine pianos can be seen and heard at W. FLINT JONES' warerooms. d&wlt.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING

That we are bound to have fighting news of some kind. If we can't get it from Ladysmith it comes from Coney Island.

That, with fifty of Canada's crack football players in their ranks, the Canadian contingent should hold their own if it comes to a scrimmage.

That we are due to have an epidemic of grip before long. If you get a sudden chill and a sensation like a frog crawling up your back you may know what's coming.

That for idiotic attempts at practical joking some of the younger members of Belleville's population take the cake. There is a particularly dark spot on Holloway st., and last night some cheerful idiots stretched a wire across the sidewalk at that place. A gentleman going home from church took a header over the wire. His language was forcible but unfit for publication. The wire was cut and removed before anybody else was hurt. A little detective work to find the guilty parties and a few days in jail for them afterwards would be a good thing. The walks are quite bad enough without any artificial aids.

DIED.

O'HORO.—At Belleville, Sunday, November 5th, PATRICK JUDGE O'HORO, aged 70 years.

The funeral will take place to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock from his late residence, Grove street, to St. Michael's Church, and thence to the R. C. Cemetery.

A RATEPAYER'S KICK.

The Subject Not a New One by Any Means.

To the Editor of THE INTELLIGENCER.

SIR,—I wish through your columns to direct the attention of the City Fathers to the disgraceful state of Bridge st. West and its sidewalks, which have existed for some considerable time. I am informed by one of the City Fathers that a sum was allotted to repair this street, but Street Inspector Hulme took his men to Queen street instead, in defiance of the City Fathers and Mayor. Where does the responsibility for the lack of justice or official mismanagement lie? The ratepayers of Murney Ward have the remedy in their own hands and they are now taking steps to enforce it at the next election, when they will cast their votes to men only who will more than pledge themselves to secure for the taxpayers a more efficient Street Inspector and Aldermen who will not be so one-sided in their views. The condition of the street named and its walks is simply disgraceful.

COMMON SENSE.

Millions of Cups of Tea.

Judging by the large piles of chests and hf. chests in front of Stroud's, the Tea Dealers' store these days, there must be some little tea drinking done by the good people of Belleville and surrounding county. To-day they are receiving their 2nd fall shipment, over 3 tons, 12 packages in all. The Messrs. Stroud report this year's crop of tea of exceptionally fine quality and they have bought heavily before prices began to advance. They have another big shipment to arrive on Saturday. d&wlt

Wedded This Morning.

At an early hour this morning a wedding took place at St. Michael's church, the ceremony being performed by Mgr. Farrelly. The groom was Mr. Nelson A. Patterson, a G.T.R. fireman, and the bride Miss Kate Acton, daughter of Mr. Phil. Acton, a G.T.R. engineer. The groom was assisted by Mr. David Couch and the bride's maid was Miss Ethel O'Brien. The young couple, after partaking of a wedding breakfast, left for the west. Upon their return they will take up their residence in the City.

Deceased was born in Scotland 50 years ago and came to Belleville some 28 years ago, where he has since resided. For some years he was an engineer on the G.T.R., which position he held until ill health compelled him to relinquish it. Of late years, he, with the assistance of his wife, conducted a business and the branch post office at the station. He was married some years ago to Miss Agnes Stewart, daughter of Mr. Walter Stewart, tailor, of this City. He leaves no family. Deceased was a member of Belleville lodge, I.O.OF., under whose auspices he will be buried to-morrow.

MRS. JACOB NICHOLSON.

BY FRED WHISHAW.

COPYRIGHT 1899 BY THE AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION.

or out, since Easter," said the station master.

"Could be have gone home any other way?" I asked presently. "It is too far to drive in a village cart or to ride on pony back; my father likes to travel comfortably. There's no post station about here, is there?"

"Not nearer than Balota," said the station master, "and thence he would have to drive all the way round by Riabova, over a terrible road. The count would scarcely have done that."

My friend, as chief officer upon the railway, a new institution, and very proud of its importance, exercised an envious scorn for the old fashioned method of traveling by post road.

"Still," I said, "if he was in a great hurry he might have chosen that way in spite of the slowness and discomfort of the journey."

"Perhaps," said the station master and relapsing into a scornful silence as a protest doubtless against the very suggestion of any person of light and leading using the post road under any circumstances, now that the railway was laid. He showed no further inclination to converse. I wired Percy at our home in St. Petersburg that I had found a slight clew and begged him to come up and help me work it as soon as possible after his arrival, after which I set myself to make inquiries among the peasants in the village, hoping that I might find one among them who had seen my father on the fatal Wednesday and perhaps even driven him to Balota, to the post station there.

I interviewed half a dozen of the villagers, each one more crassly stupid than the last. They did not know the gentlemen who hired the shooting, even by sight, they declared. They knew the keepers. But what had they, the peasants, to do with the sportsmen? There was nothing to be got out of them, for they came to shoot, and shot and went away again, being in a hurry all the while, and therefore it was useless to cultivate their acquaintance.

Even the offer of a "nachalok," or tip, though it awakened the interest of the sleepy rascals, did not seem to stimulate their memories or even their inventive talents. The Russian moujik is the finest and most accomplished liar in the world if you give him time, but you must not hurry him. He is not intellectual enough to conjure up a plausible tale at a moment's notice. However, these men declared that they had seen neither count nor any one else on the Wednesday, and each one asked for a tip on the plea that to cast back one's memory so far was a serious exertion. One man explained that a tip was due to him for his truthfulness. "You can see I'm an honest man," he said, "for if I had lied and said I drove this barin to Balota you would have believed me and given me twice as much as I now ask."

But a short while after I had returned to the lodge, dispirited and bewildered and uncertain what next to do, a little peasant man came mysteriously into the room in which I sat. He bowed and crossed himself in front of the ikon in the corner and then oilily approached my chair and with finger to lip whispered "Sh-h!" Then he glanced melodramatically over his shoulder and back again at me and whispered, "May I speak to you, barin?"

I could scarcely help laughing at the comical little creature. I remembered him perfectly as one of those I had interviewed up at the village a few hours ago. He had sworn that he had never heard of or seen any gentleman answering to my description of my father.

"Speak on by all means," I said. "But no lies, mind!"

"Lord have mercy, barin, would I lie to you?"

"It strikes me you have done so once already, my friend," I said—"that is, if you have anything to tell me now."

"Sh-h!" he said, glancing round again. "Not so loud, barin; that was necessary, because others were present who might not hear, but all the while I said to myself, 'When it is safe, and I can see this good barin alone, I will go and tell him all the truth,' and so I promised myself, so I have performed. Here I am!"

"Very well," I said, "5 rubles if your tale sounds satisfactory, and another 5 if on inquiry it proves to have been true."

The fellow's eyes sparkled. "Glory to the highest!" he said. "Then I am sure of my money."

Then the little rascal spun a most circumstantial tale of how one day, a very short while since—

"Last week?" I interposed.

"Yes, last week, certainly, last week," he said, he had been driving his cart from the fields near the village, when three men in the road called to him to stop. One seemed ill, and the other two supported him. They asked whether he could drive them to Balota, to the post station, and he replied that for a certain sum he would do so, but the sum he mentioned was a large one, because his horse was tired.

"Drive us there in an hour," they said, "and you shall have double that! Then, glad at heart—for money is scarce in these parts—he drove them quickly to Balota. At the post station they carried the sick man in. Then one came out and gave him the money, four times as much as he had asked, and said—this much was paid him because there were reasons why he should not breathe a word to living man or woman about having driven this party of three to Balota. On the other hand, they would be sure to know if his tongue should wag, and, if it did, it was sure and terrible, death would be his reward—a sudden and violent death—when he least expected it! My little informant at this point looked very pale and so obviously alarmed at his own temerity in telling me the story that I could not help being impressed by it. Either he spoke the truth or he was a most consummate actor as well as liar.

"Look here, my man," I said, wishing to test him further. "You are very rash. Supposing that I should prove to be the friend of these persons who employed you, sent by them purposely to try the good faith of the man they had trusted by offering a bribe as though from the other side. Why, you would be as good as a dead man and"—

The wretched fellow was on his knees in a moment; tears rushed to his eyes, he groaned and wailed and moaned, crossing himself vehemently and uttering inarticulate words—probably prayers—as unmistakable a picture of abject terror as the eye could see. Real or assumed, his fear took me in at once, and I believed his tale.

RICCOCHET SHOTS

Several small detachments of English cavalry and yeomanry are going out, independent of the War Office, to the seat of war, on the chance of joining the Imperial Light Horse. Lord Lonsdale and Lord Harris, both yeomanry officers, are aiding this movement.

The heavy losses among the British officers in Natal have led The Military Journal to suggest that the sword be abolished, not only on account of its uselessness but also because its glitter attracts the aim of an enemy and indicates the officer.

Colenso, which was evacuated by the British on Saturday, is the point where the railway from Ladysmith crosses the Tugela River, which is now in flood. It is a small village 123 miles from Durban, where a bridge crosses the Tugela River.

On Tuesday the British prisoners of the Boers at Pretoria were engaged playing football when Col. Moeller of the Hussars was being interviewed.

Commandant-General Joubert sent word to Ladysmith that Gen. Symons was buried with the fullest honors.

The most optimistic in London believe that a fortnight is the minimum in which reinforcements of any potentiality can be pushed to Ladysmith, and then it may be too late.

Military men optimistically predict that Gen. Joubert will withdraw from Natal immediately Gen. Sir Redvers Buller's force enters the Orange Free State, but the latter cannot be far on his way for at least three or four weeks.

It has been officially announced that the British have evacuated Colenso, south of Ladysmith. This was another bitter pill for the British public.

Gunnery Lieut. Egerton of the British cruiser Powerful, who was wounded by the explosion of a shell at the bombardment of Ladysmith, has been promoted to the rank of commander for services in the field. His legs have been amputated as a result of his wounds. His death was announced on Sunday.

The British troopship Papidan, which sailed for South Africa Nov. 1, from Liverpool, is returning, in a damaged condition, having encountered Friday's storm. She signalled that her fittings were out of order, that several horses have been drowned and that three of her boats were stove in. She is going to Liverpool to be refitted.

The Cape Times says the Boer loss at Reitfontein was 70 killed and 200 in wounded. Three hundred horses were captured.

There have been a few skirmishes with the Boers near Fort Tuli, Rhodesia, whose main body has retired southward.

Shots were exchanged on Oct. 26 between Col. Plumer's column and the Boers at Pont Drift. The British had one man wounded. The enemy's loss was unknown. A British patrol reconnoitering Pont Drift, Oct. 27, captured five Boers.

The body of Gen. Kock, the Boer commander, who was wounded at the battle of Glencoe, captured and taken to Ladysmith, where he died, has been taken to Pretoria.

The Boers are still in force in the vicinity of Kimberley. On Saturday evening our patrol was fired on in the neighborhood of the Wesselton mine, the enemy expending a quantity of ammunition, ineffectually, however, owing to the long range.

A Free State gunmaker, with a pass from the enemy, has brought 200 oxen into Kimberley. The enemy is reported to have three siege guns in position at Oliphantfontein, four miles from Wesselton.

The Outlook announces that Lady Randolph Churchill is going to the Cape to attend the wounded.

Gen. Sir Redvers Buller was in full communication with Gen. Sir George Stewart White until Thursday afternoon, and has now accurate knowledge of the situation.

The Company owns over twelve thousand acres of rich copper land in Texas, opened, tested, developed and NOW BEING OPERATED. Millions of tons of copper bearing clay and marl running from five to ten per cent., and large quantities of ore carrying from fifty to seventy per cent. copper in sight. Cheaply mined and treated, favorable climate, cheap fuel, and ample water. Stated by geologists, chemists, experts and engineers to be one of the greatest and best in the world. Amount of land, quantity and quality of ore, cheapness of mining and treatment, the increasing demand and profit in producing copper considered, the Boston and Texas Copper Company possesses unequalled advantages and affords the best kind of an investment.

Calumet and Hecla ore averages 4 1-2 per cent. copper. It has paid $62,850,000 dividends
Tamarack ore averages 3 per cent. It has paid $5,910,000 in dividends.
Atlantic ore averages 85-100 of 1 per cent. It has paid $780,000 in dividends.
Boston and Montana ore runs 7 per cent. It has paid $10,775,000 in dividends.
Franklin ore averages 1 37-100 per cent. It has paid $1,290,000 in dividends.
The Quincy ore averages 1 8-10 per cent. It has paid $11,070,000.

THE AVERAGE OF BOSTON & TEXAS ORE IS OVER 50 PER CENT., and of copper marls and clays from 5 to 10 per cent. Both the ore, marl and clay are within a few feet of the surface of the ground, so that the expense of mining and hoisting is minimized. A party of New England capitalists who have just returned from an examination of the mines in conjunction with one of the ablest mining engineers in the country, report the property to be one of the largest and best in America, and to contain inexhaustible quantities of rich copper deposits.

It is estimated that the plant now being arranged for will produce $3,000 to $5,000 per day, NET.

Prospectus, engineers' reports, assays and full information will be furnished on application. Remit by check, P. O. order, draft or registered letter to Treasurer.

For coughs, colds, bronchitis and all lung and throat troubles, there is no preparation or medicine can compare with Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which causes difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relief to that depressing tightness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and huskiness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous. If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety, trouble and expense, let them procure a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the Syrup according to directions.

At Death s Door—Dyspepsia Conquered. A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. (Signed) Jean Valcourt, General Merchant, Wotton, P. Q.

I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

THE "OPEN DOOR" IN CHINA.

The United States Makes an Important New Departure.

London, Nov. 6. — A special despatch from Washington asserts that the American State Department recently asked France, Germany and Russia to give written assurances regarding the preservation of the "Open Door" in China, being dissatisfied with mere oral assurances, and rejecting a proposal that the United States should seize a port and establish a sphere of influence in China.

"If these assurances are declined," says the despatch, "the United States will insist upon China observing the strict letter of the treaty giving the United States equal right with other powers in China."

The Daily Chronicle, commenting editorially on "This new departure in American policy, which will be fully approved in England," dilates on the "immense importance," and suggests that it may affect the international politics of Europe in a very remarkable degree."

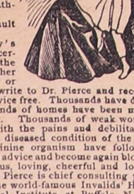

Was the Man Poisoned?

Hamilton, Nov. 6. — William Cliff died last evening, and it is supposed he was poisoned. Shortly after having eaten canned fish—kippered herring—he became violently ill. Notwithstanding the attendance of Drs. Cockburn and Anderson the man died in agony. It is likely a coroner's inquest will be held, but in any event there will be a post mortem examination to determine the cause of death. Deceased was about 40 years of age and leaves a widow and small family.

Cars Took His Arm Off.

Lindsay, Ont., Nov. 6.—About 4.30 p.m. on Saturday, while the G.T.R. yard engine was passing over Lindsay street with a string of cars, young Wesley Montgomery undertook to catch on between the cars, but missed his hold and fell on the rail, losing his right arm above the elbow. Dr. White and Dr. McAlpine amputated the limb, and the child is apparently doing well.

When a mother thinks she is going to die and rather wishes she could, what happens to the child? Where else shall the child get the love, kindness and care that is to ripen it into useful, happy maturity?

Where is the husband to turn for the comfort of home—the sympathy of wifely affection—the support that only a strong, cheerful, healthy help-mate can give? Who is to be pitied most? Mother—father—child? Whose fault is it? Nobody's maybe — certainly not the child's. Either the mother or father can write to Dr. Pierce and receive medical advice free. Thousands have done it. Thousands of homes have been made happy by it. Thousands of weak women suffering with the pains and debilitating drains of a diseased condition of the distinctly feminine organism have followed Dr. Pierce's advice and become again blooming, vigorous, loving, cheerful and loved.

Dr. R. V. Pierce is chief consulting physician at the world-famous Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y., and during his thirty years' practice here developed his great family medicines—Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Mrs. Claus Nelson, of Pico Heights, Los Angeles, Cal., Box 31, writes: "I send you my picture taken with my little boy. I do not look so sad now as I do in the picture; I was sick then and I thought my days would not be long, but your kindness and medicine would not let me die. You have my heart-felt thanks for your kindly advice to me in my sickness; also for your book which I received two years ago, and which I could not do without. It is all the Doctor I have had since I got it. I had female trouble, and Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, together with the advice given in his book, cured me of five years' sickness."

ANOTHER SUCCESS FOR WHITE

Bester's Hill, Well Fortified and With Good Guns, Captured.

Ladysmith, However, is Beleaguered, But General Sir Redvers Buller Received News From It by Pigeon Post—Buller is Now in Active Command, and This Increases Public Confidence.

London, Nov. 6.—A special despatch from Ladysmith, describing Thursday's fighting, says: "The artillery duel at dawn, in which the Boer guns were silenced, was intended to occupy the Boers and to enable Sir George Stewart White to achieve his purpose, the capture of the Boer camp behind Bester's Hill. For this purpose the Lancers, Hussars, Natal Carbineers and Natal Border Rifles started under Gen. French at sunrise and got within striking distance before the enemy was aware of their presence. A field battery was also sent, and it secured a good position, commanding the enemy's camp, which was a large one, laagered with army wagons and other vehicles.

Captured the Whole Camp.

Bester's Hill was well fortified and provided with good guns. At 9 o'clock the British opened fire, the Boers replying with spirit, but bad aim. The British quickly sent a 42-pound shell into the camp, inflicting terrible loss and spreading panic among the enemy. Our cavalry then stormed the position, the Boers fleeing precipitately, leaving many dead and wounded, as well as the whole camp and equipment, in the hands of the British. This success will upset the plans of the Orange Free State commanders and possibly will prevent them giving the British further trouble from the west.

The Town Cut Off.

The correspondent of The Times at Ladysmith, under date of Nov. 2, confirms the report of artillery exchanges. He says: "The investment of the town is now pretty complete. Last night the enemy tapped the wires in our rear. He can, therefore, cut our communication whenever he pleases. It is suggested, however, that the Boers believe that Ladysmith is in their power, and that they are, therefore, anxious to have us get up all our military stores before they attack us. A reconnaissance by Lancers and a field battery to-day found a Free State laager, which the British shelled heavily, driving the Boers out."

It Was a Sanguinary Battle.

The Times publishes a despatch from Pietermaritzburg, Natal, dated Nov. 3, which says: "The Dutch residents here have received news of a sanguinary battle fought yesterday, probably between Ladysmith and Colenso. A large number of the Boers were killed, many being relatives of Natal Dutch residing in this place. The English residents have no knowledge of any engagement."

TERRIBLE ARTILLERY DUEL.

The British Guns Fire Three Shots to the Boers' One.

London, Nov. 6. — A special despatch from Ladysmith, dated Nov. 2, (morning), says: "During the night the Boers moved closer to the British positions and mounted guns in fresh places. Meanwhile the naval guns have been moved to more favorable positions near the town, and commanding some of the Boer batteries. At 6 o'clock this morning Gen. White ordered the bombardment of the enemy, and the blue jackets opened the ball. The Boers replied vigorously. They fired straight, and some of the British were hit. A terrible artillery duel has been proceeding for over three hours. So far the naval guns are the only ones that have engaged the enemy."

BULLER'S FIRST MESSAGE.

London, Nov. 6.—The War Office issued the following at 11.40 last night: "Buller, to the Secretary of State for War:

"Cape Town, Nov. 5.—(8.40 p.m.)—The commandant at Durban sends the following, received from Ladysmith by pigeon post dated Nov. 3:

"Yesterday Gen. French went out with cavalry and field artillery and effectively shelled the Boer laager without loss on our side.

"Lieut. Egerton of the Powerful is dead.

"Gen. Joubert sent in Major Kincaid of the Royal Irish Fusiliers and nine wounded prisoners. Eight Boers were sent out in exchange, no others being fit to travel.

"Col. Brocklehurst with cavalry, field artillery, the Imperial Light Horse and the Natal Mounted Volunteers was engaged to-day with the enemy to the southwest of Ladysmith. The fighting lasted several hours. Our loss was very small.

"The bombardment of Ladysmith continued yesterday and to-day, many Boer shells being pitched into the town.

"Our troops are in good health and spirits and the wounded are doing well."

BULLER GIVES ORDERS.

Now in Command of All the South African Forces.

London, Nov. 6.—The general belief in London is that the Boers are now waiting for more guns from Pretoria before attacking Ladysmith. The fact that Sir Redvers Buller appears to have ordered a retirement from Stormberg and perhaps from other places, relieves to some extent the public mind, which, otherwise would have been further alarmed. Confidence is felt in any measures that General Buller may deem desirable. The knowledge that the pigeon post is working has also come as a relief to the great anxiety previously felt.

The third-class cruiser Pelorus has been ordered from Gibraltar to Durban, and the third-class cruiser Fearless from Port Said to the same point.

Despatches from Cape Town and other centres in Cape Colony indicate that the Cape Dutch are becoming very restless in consequence of the continued Boer successes.

All Wounded Doing Well.

Sir Redvers Buller has wired the War Office from Cape Town, under date of Sunday, that Col. Kekewich, in command at Kimberley, reports, under date of Oct. 31, that all the wounded were doing well.

Rumors That Ladysmith Has Fallen

Brussels, Nov. 6. — The Belgian newspapers continue to publish telegrams from Amsterdam and Berlin reporting the capture of Ladysmith, but no such information has been received at the official residence of Dr. Leyds.

Lisbon, Nov. 6.—Persistent reports are in circulation here that General Sir George Stewart White, British commander in Natal, has capitulated to the Boers.

NEWS FROM BOER SOURCES.

Alleged to Have Been Wired From Pretoria to New York.

Pretoria, Nov. 3.—Five thousand Boers have crossed Llip River, south of Ladysmith, thus cutting off White from Colenso. Ladysmith will be vigorously attacked to-morrow, Saturday, at dawn from all sides. The Boers hope to reduce Ladysmith within the next few days. Heavy guns have been sent from Pretoria to Joubert's aid.

John Robertson is now in Pretoria jail on a charge of enlisting men in the Light Horse to serve against the Transvaal. He will be treated as a prisoner of war and not tried for treason.

All is quiet at Johannesburg. Colenso will not be attacked unless Ladysmith falls, and if the Boers are forced to retire in the near future from Natal, it will become necessary to destroy Newcastle, Dundee and Charlestown. The general belief is that White will sally out and make a dash for the south.

An unusually large proportion of wounded English prisoners have died in Pretoria jail.

Kruger is in excellent health.

MOBILIZATION.

No Reply About Second Contingent —8,000 Men From London—Newfoundland Acts Also.

Ottawa, Nov. 6.—No reply has yet been received from the War Office as to the second contingent.

8,000 Men From London.

London, Nov. 6.—The order for the mobilization of the militia calls out 8,000 men in London alone. Among these are several members of Parliament.

NEWFOUNDLAND ACTS ALSO.

Will Equip a Company for Second Canadian Contingent.

St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 6. — The Newfoundland Government is considering a proposal to form half the Colonial Police into a company for service in the Transvaal. The Canadian Government will be requested, it is understood, to incorporate this company with the second Canadian regiment, Newfoundland paying proportionate share of the expenses. The Colonial Police, being like the Royal Irish Constabulary, a semi-military body, armed, well drilled, and fully equipped, could take the field at once. The scheme meets with general popular approval.

Lyddite Shells on the Way.

London, Nov. 6.—Transports have just been secured for the Woolwich Howitzer Brigade, which will be hurried to the Cape. The brigade has 10,000 rounds of five-inch lyddite shells awaiting it. According to the estimates a single shell, falling into a compact body, will kill 300 men. It was demonstrated in the battle of Omdurman, which destroyed the army of Khalifa Abdullah, that large numbers of Dervishes were killed by suffocation, while hundreds of vultures fell upon the battlefield from the same cause.

New South Wales Lancers There.

Cape Town, Nov. 6.—(Delayed in transmission.)—The British transport Ninevah arrived to-day from England, bringing the New South Wales Lancers from Aldershot. The Lancers on landing were enthusiastically welcomed by the municipal authorities and the populace.

3,000 Were on Board.

London, Nov. 6.—The sailing of transports for South Africa, loaded with troops and supplies, continues. The departure Saturday evening of the Killonan Castle, from Southampton, excited special notice, as she is the largest troopship in the world, and has more than 3,000 souls on board, with their kits and weapons, balloons, bridge pontoons, machine guns, ammunition, wagons and hundreds of tons of other military necessaries. The transport takes a mascot goat, presented to the 1st Welsh Regiment by Her Majesty the Queen.

A Regiment From Cuba.

Havana, Nov. 5.—A regiment is in process of formation here, the services of which, when its organization is completed, will be offered to Great Britain against the Boers. About 250 Americans are already enrolled on its lists, and many more are expected to join. A former officer of the Chilian army is receiving applications for membership and subscriptions for the equipment of the regiment.

More Trains Stop Running.

Cape Town, Nov. 6.—A despatch from Stormberg, Cape Colony, south of Burghersdorp, says that trains have ceased running between that point and Aliwal North on the Cape Colony side of Orange River.

Spaniards Chaff Chamberlain.

Madrid, Nov. 6.—A despatch from Bilboa says that a number of influential Spaniards who were attending a banquet there yesterday on hearing the report that Ladysmith had fallen, sent a cable to the British Secretary os State for the Colonies, Joseph Chamberlain, saying: "On the occasion of the latest war news, the dead nations salute you," the allusion being to the speech of the Marquis of Salisbury during the Spanish-American conflict, in which he referred to "dying nations."

It Failed to Work.

"Oh, Patrick, Patrick," wailed Mrs. McDennis, "you've bin foightin agin!"

"Oi've not," answered Patrick as he looked at his eye with the aid of a small looking glass. "Oi've bin experimintin with drames."

"Is it out of your head that ye are?" gasped Mrs. McDennis.

"Oi'm not. Oi had a drame last night that Oi had a foight with McDuffy, an McDuffy picked up a brick an heaved it at me, an as it wuz about to hit me in the oi Oi woke up. Wil', this mornin I got to quarrelin with McDuffy, an the fir-rst thing that he did wuz to pick up a brick. 'Bedad,' says Oi, 'it's the drame over agin.' McDuffy threw the brick, an Oi saw it comin strraight for my oi. Said Oi to meself, said Oi, 'Oi'll wait until it gits here, an thin Oi'll wake up an have the laugh on McDuffy.'"

"Is it crazy that ye are?" cried Mrs. McDennis.

"Oi must have bin dr-drunk," admited Patrick, "for instead of wakin up when the brick arrived I wint to slape! Oi'll niver belave in drames agin!"—Detroit Free Press.

Pure Air.

In the course of a day a person breathes about 2,600 gallons of air, weighing 34 pounds, about six times the average amount of food and drink consumed. It therefore seems rather foolish to be constantly on guard against adulterated food and impure water and to allow your neighbor to pollute the atmosphere because it is cheaper for him in his business.

BANK ROBBERY SENSATION

Sprung on Winnipeg Court by a Man Who Could Keep a Secret.

The Other $2,000 in Molsons Bank Bills Was Dug Up by Assessment Commissioner Harris and Exhibited in Court—It Was Found Where Davis Indicated at the Foot of a Tree.

Winnipeg, Nov. 5.—(Special.)—Saturday afternoon the first work of the court in the Molsons Bank robbery case was the examination of Stableman Bridgeman, who swore he hired out the rig on the Sunday when the Molsons Bank money was buried, supposedly, to the accused, Anderson.

There was a positive sensation in court when J. W. Harris, city surveyor and assessment commissioner, was placed in the witness box. After describing the place where the money was hid in detail, he sprang a surprise on the court by stating that on Aug. 29, after reading the accounts in the police court, he drove out to the place with Mrs. Harris and his nephew, and, looking over the ground, found a tree like the one described by Davis. At the foot of this tree he found the missing $2000.

Created a Sensation.

This announcement and the production of the money, all stuck together and blackened, created a sensation in court. This was one of the most startling single announcements and the four packages of 100 each of $5 Molson Bank bills were eagerly scanned and handled by those who had the chance. It was all stuck together, but the four packages could be clearly discerned. It was forced into a wedge-shape, as if pressed under a sod that had been lifted by a spade to press the money in. The money was not more than a foot at most under the surface. He found it after digging five minutes. A few days after this Mr. Harris and Whitla had the trees cut down and the ground plowed over. Mrs. Harris and his nephew, Mr. Lewis, knew of this find, as also a lawyer whom he told next day, but it had never leaked out.

Complimented by Hagel.

Mr. Hagel, counsel for the defence, complimented Mr. Harris upon keeping the secret so well.

Chief Elliott testified to getting the old hat and coat, said to have been worn by the prisoner when searching for the money. He also produced a valise key which he found on the prisoner when arrested, which fitted the valise dug up with the money in it.

Mr. A. Schmidt, locksmith, first showed by an example how a combination lock is opened by turning to different numbers.

By the permission of the court the lock was taken off the valise and Mr. Schmidt showed that the key was made for that lock, or for a lock of a similar kind.

This closed the case for the Crown and the court adjourned.

The jury visited the place where the money was buried and went to church today.

WAVE OF MORAL REFORM.

Vancouver, B.C., Touched—A Self-Confessed Murderer Arrested.

Vancouver, Nov. 5.—Mrs. McFarland left yesterday on an east-bound express. Mrs. McFarland's brother, Robert H. McInnes, accidently shot himself dead last Monday and she is accompanying the remains east to Kingston, Ont., deceased's former home.

Wave of Moral Reform.

The wave of moral reform which recently swept over the city council has already resulted in the closing down of the semi-public gambling places, and yesterday a policeman made a round of all the saloons and tobacco stores in the city, telling the proprietors to take out all nickel-in-the-slot machines within three days. The vendors of the fragrant weed object to a restriction being placed on them, and are raising funds to make a test case.

A Confessed Murderer.

John Sarga, who by his own confession, killed Lewis Ballos in the Klondike on July 2 last, was brought over from Seattle on Friday morning and lodged in the Victoria lock-up. Extradition papers were not necessary, as he consented to come without the formalities being observed.

SIXTY FILIPINOS KILLED.

Manila, Nov. 6.—Two columns of General McArthur's division yesterday took Magalang, about six miles northeast of Angeles. Col. Smith, with two battalions of the 17th Infantry, two guns of the 1st Artillery and a body of engineers, advanced from Angeles. Major O'Brien, with a battalion of the 17th Infantry and two troops of the 4th Cavalry, moved from Calulut. Col. Smith killed 11 insurgents, wounded 128 and captured 50, as well as taking a lot of insurgent transportation. Major O'Brien killed 49 insurgents, wounded many and took 28 prisoners. The Americans had 11 men wounded.

The company will be called "The Canada Foundry Company," and will have a capital of $1,000,000. All kinds of cast-iron work, including every branch of architectural work, will be turned out.

Five Illicit Whiskey Stills.

Quebec, Nov. 6.—Mr. Alain, advocate of this city, has returned from Tadousac, where he was sent by the Federal Government to proceed against certain manufacturers of contraband spirits in the county of Saguenay. Five stills, each in a different parish, were seized by Revenue Officer Bouliane, and their owners severally condemned to pay a fine of $100 and costs and one month's imprisonment.

Alleged Mail Robbers.

Halifax, N.S., Nov. 6.—Two youths named West and Pender, who are accused of robbing through mail bags left over night at a passenger station of the Intercolonial Railway, are under arrest. It is alleged they have for some time been plundering bags containing parcel post matter.

A TALE OF DUTY DONE

To Stand Shoulder to Shoulder with Regular Soldiers in Defence of Their Empire and Queen--Incidents at the Ancient Capital and the Departure of the Sardinian Vividly Described in Glowing Words by MAYOR JOHNSON.

One of the most notable events in the history of Canada, an event that marks an epoch in the relations existing between Great Britain and her great colonies, occurred on Monday, the 30th of October, 1899, at the famous city of Quebec. On that day the Dominion assumed its share of the responsibilities of maintaining the power and prestige of the Empire, and the rights of all who claim the protection of its flag. British subjects in the Transvaal had been denied the privileges of citizenship and the protection of the courts. Their condition was more abject than that of the slaves held by the Boers until they were compelled to set them free by British arms half a century ago. All that a great power could do by patient diplomacy and expostulation had been done to induce the Transvaal Government to do justice to its British born residents, but without avail. Stubborn, narrow-minded and intolerant, the oligarchy of the Transvaal continued their refusal to remove the burden of the Outlanders whose enterprise and capital supplied the wealth in which the oligarchists revelled. Courteous requests for justice were treated with scorn and, finally, with contempt. What other course was open to British statesmen but to enforce by arms the rights thus refused? The people of Canada realized their duty in the crisis. They felt that as a partner in the Empire they should bear Imperial responsibilities as well as share in Imperial honors and protection, and from the centre to the circumference of the Dominion, from all parts of every province, from sea to sea, came an unmistakable demand that Canada's share should be undertaken promptly, fully and effectually. The assembling in Quebec of a Canadian regiment of a thousand men, well equipped and fully armed, formed of volunteers from every section of the Dominion, of all creeds and of every class, within three weeks after war was declared, and their departure on a Canadian steamship to take their place in the fighting line with Her Majesty's regular troops in Africa, gave evidence of Canadian patriotism, and proved that the Imperial unity, the solidarity of the Empire, which has been in men's minds during the last decade of the dying century, was accomplished.

The city of Belleville, in keeping with its traditions, and its battalion, true to its record, are represented in the "Royal Canadians" now en route to South Africa more largely in proportion to the population of the city and the membership of the battalion than any other place or regiment in the Dominion. It was fitting that the patriotism of our boys should be substantially recognized by the City Council and by individual citizens. It was fitting, too, that among the plaudits of the multitudes of people assembled in the old historic city of Quebec to bid the service regiment good bye, the Belleville boys should hear Bay of Quinte cheers as they passed before the representative of the Queen in Canada, and on through the streets to the place of embarkation.

It was a glorious autumn day when, from the Levis shore, we sighted the citadel across the river as the train steamed into the station in the early morning. Crossing by ferry boat the attention of the passengers was quickly attracted to a steamship lying at the Allan Line dock. As we approached the Quebec side, we realized that there lay quietly at her dock what no living man had seen on the St. Lawrence before, and which the great Canadian river had not carried on its bosom for nigh on to a century and a half—a troopship, the "Sardinian," with steam up, ready to receive and convey on their long voyage of 7,000 miles the brave boys who were buckling on their belts and preparing for the journey on behalf of Queen, and flag, and fellow subjects, in the Citadel 300 feet above. But even before we reached Quebec, on the train and on the ferry boat, we had the opportunity for serious thought, for admiration, and for sympathy. Among our fellow-passengers was that fine type of Canadian manhood, that splendid representative of Canada's permanent force, Lt.-Col. Drury, of the Kingston Battery of Artillery, in service uniform, with the ribbon of his North-West medal on his breast, equipped with sword and pistol, water bottle and field glass, ready for any duty that may be assigned to him in Africa, and with him his charming wife, comporting herself as becomes the mate of a good soldier and a brave man. Not far from Col. Drury and his wife stood another group, the family of Lt.-Col. Sam Hughes, his wife, his two daughters and his son, a fine stalwart lad, wearing the uniform of a cadet of the Royal Military College of Canada. They were coming to bid farewell to a husband and a father who has been the foremost Canadian in voicing in Parliament and in the press the duty of Canada as a member of the great British family, and whose ardent patriotism helped very largely to compel men in authority to realize their duty and perform it.

The Belleville visitors were met at the dock by our former townsman, Lieut.-Col. A. A. Farley, who imparted the latest information respecting the contingent and posted us as to the day's doings. We found the Chateau Frontenac filled to overflowing with soldiers and civilians from all parts of Canada, who, like ourselves, had come to say good-bye to the "Royal Canadians." It was even more crowded than the Russell House at Ottawa is at the opening of Parliament. There were fair women, as well as brave men, in those crowded rooms and corridors, and magnificent types many of them were, of that product of our northern land which the men of Canada believe is not only not surpassed, but is unequalled in the world. Our first duty was to see the Belleville boys.

SERMON TO ORANGEMEN

Rev. W. J. Gilliland Tells the Brethren of Benjamin Lodge

What the Orange Order is Pledged to do in the Interests of Christianity—A Thoughtful and Helpful Sermon.

Yesterday being November 5th, the anniversary of the discovery of the Gunpowder Plot, the brethren of Benjamin L. O. L. No. 224, in conformity with their usual custom, attended church in a body. The annual sermon was preached to them this year by Rev. Bro. W. J. Gilliland, of Emmanuel R. E. Church, who took occasion to point out to them the fact that though, in our times, Orangemen were not compelled to contend with physical force for the defence of their faith, they had to combat a more insidious foe, namely, a spirit of tolerance and general falling off from the strict letter of the law in regard to things which vitally concerned the Protestant religion. The Rev. gentleman's discourse was listened to with deep attention by the congregation. The text was taken from the 2nd Epistle to Timothy, second chapter, 3rd verse:

Thou, therefore, endure hardness, as a good soldier of Jesus Christ.

St. Paul had just, in the words of the text, told Timothy what he, as a Christian, might expect from the world at large. Timothy had been instructed in divine things from infancy, but when Paul spoke he was about to go forth into the world to receive what the apostle himself had felt—the hatred of a united people. He was to endure all the world laid upon him—always with one object in view—the furthering of the Master's cause—and he was to endure it like a good soldier of Jesus Christ. Timothy was a type of the Orange order he was to be a minister of the Saviour, he was to preserve the truth, as Christ had given it to the world, without encroachment; he was to prevent any evils from creeping in. He was appointed receiver of the truth, and the Orange order stood for the same thing. They were organized to perpetuate the teachings of the apostles. They had placed in their hands a great trust—one that demands not passing sentiment, not an emotion, but a love of truth. Timothy lived in stirring times, when men were opposed to the teaching of the word; we lived in just such stirring times. It was not in the days of the greatest personal dangers that most was to be done. Of late a spirit of tolerance had been spreading over the whole universe. Their forefathers had fought and died for the things which to-day many men saw being passed over and slighted, and they did not even raise their voices in defence of them. By allowing these usages to creep in they were taking away the bulwarks of the Protestant religion. The teachings of Romanism tended to undermine the bulwarks of Christianity, and it was the duty of every member of the Order to see that the line was drawn sharply, and they must not allow slothfulness and inaction to overcome the truth. They must keep clear trenches. The greatest danger did not lie in storming the trenches which were in open view—it was the things which they did not see which were the most dangerous. And to-day many members of the order have lost the clear cut knowledge of the very principles which, by their obligation, they were protecting. A good soldier must be one who is heart and soul in his movement, who understands every manœuvre of the enemy as well as he does his own. When they were told to stand as good soldiers of Jesus Christ it meant that they had accepted the Saviour as their captain. The greatest danger to Orangemen were the things that come from outside. Their ancestors had fought, not from emotion, but from conviction and a sense of the wrong doing of the opposing parties. To be good soldiers of Jesus Christ cost many of them their lives. To day the gospel cost them nothing. Thank God we belonged to an Empire where there was an open Bible. Men did not have to fight for their religion nowadays, but there had been no lessening in the aggressiveness of the old church. Orangemen had grown more tolerant, but the other side had not. Orangemen had given many things, but their foes had given nothing. This fight was not to be fought according to our own ideas. If we became soldiers of the Redeemer we must fight under His direction. He demands that we shall live as near to the Gospel lines as we can. Not by words but by actions we were to set forth the bulwarks of Christ in a clear view. In taking up with this spirit of tolerance they had taken an awful responsibility. Timothy was to be a soldier well versed and equipped in the art of war as the enemy fought it. If they would send down to the world the Gospel free from heresy and schism they must practice its teachings in their own homes. The good soldier must start where Jesus Christ told him to start—at Jerusalem. They must show their children that the word of the Gospel was not an empty word. If the world saw they were indifferent it would have no respect for them or their teachings. They must defend and proclaim the truth in clear and ringing tones. They could not do it unless they themselves lived up to the standard set by their Captain, Jesus Christ. Their work did not require physical strength; their power must be supplied by God Himself. He was against those who professed one thing and lived another. They must not be turned aside by earthly considerations. Glorifying the deeds of the men of old would not prevent evil deeds being done these days—we must take the places of the martyrs ourselves. The great mission of Orangemen was to break down false barriers and to build up barriers which should exist between truth and error. In conclusion the preacher implored them to live so that the world might see that they were good soldiers of Jesus Christ. "May God make you faithful soldiers," he said. "Put not your order first, but let vitality come from the right source—from God. May God make you faithful; may He make each of you a guide to your home and your organization a light to the world."

The turnout, while not large, was a representative one, the following officials of the Order being in the procession:

Sir Mackenzie Bowell, Past Grand Master of British North America.
Bro. Wm. Johnson, Past Grand Master Ontario East.
Bro. F. M. Clarke, Grand Secretary Ontario East.
Bro. D. T. Rutledge, County Master.
Bro. W. C. Reid, Past District Master.
Bro. R. Duffin, County Secretary.

Literary Notes.

For variety of reading the November number of the Self Culture Magazine is remarkable. The engravings, some thirty-five in number, maintain the extraordinary perfection to which the Self Culture Magazine has attained in the art of illustration, a perfection which stands out the clearer when contrasted with the crude unfinished products of even the higher priced magazines.

BRAIN FOOD

Is of Little Benefit Unless it is Digested.

Nearly everyone will admit that as a nation we eat too much meat and too little of vegetables and the grains.

For business men, office men and clerks, and in fact everyone engaged in sedentary or indoor occupations, grains, milk and vegetables are much more healthful.

Only men engaged in a severe out door manual labor can live on a heavy meat diet and continue in health.

As a general rule, meat once a day is sufficient for all classes of men, women and children, and grains, fruit and vegetables should constitute the bulk of food eaten.

But many of the most nutritious foods are difficult of digestion and it is of no use to advise brain workers to eat largely of grains and vegetables where the digestion is too weak too assimilate them properly.

It is always best to get the best results from our food that some simple and harmless digestive should be taken after meals to assist the relaxed digestive organs, and several years, experience have proven Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets to be a very safe, pleasant and effective digestive and a remedy which may be taken daily with the best results.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets can hardly be called a patent medicine, as they do not act on the bowels nor any particular organ but only on the food eaten. They supply what weak stomachs, lack pepsin diastase, and by stimulating the gastric glands increase the natural secretion of hydrochloric acid.

People who make a daily practice of taking one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal are sure to have perfect digestion, which means perfect health.

There is no danger of forming an injurious habit, as the tablets contain absolutely nothing but natural digestives; cocaine, morphine and similar drugs have no place in a stomach medicine and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are certainly the best known and most popular of all stomach remedies.

Ask your druggist for a fifty cent package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and after a week's use note the improvement in health, appetite and nervous energy.

RACING FOR A WIRE.

An Exciting Experience In Which the Woman Correspondent Won.

"Some of my most vivid remembrances are connected with races for the possession of the wire in a country telegraph office, where the operator can send about ten words a minute and rival reporters are filing 20,000 words or so," began the fourth member of the little group. "You know the telegraph law is that the reporter who first files a page of 'copy' has possession of the wire until his last page is filed, provided he furnishes copy fast enough to keep the operator busy.

"The first important murder trial I ever attended took place in a little country town in Delaware. Representatives of leading Philadelphia and New York papers were there, as the unusual circumstances of the trial made it of wide public interest. The interest grew as the trial reached the climax of a verdict. The jury came in at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and those of us who represented afternoon papers prepared for a lively scramble for the wire in the station about a mile away. I knew quite well that I need not expect any favors on account of my sex, and indeed I wanted none.

"That noon I went to a livery stable and hired the best horse they had, with the understanding that the same should be kept waiting at the courthouse door. They sent me a fine, spirited horse, but only a boy to drive him. The instant the verdict was given there was a rush. The prisoner fell fainting in the dock, and the excitement delayed my rivals a little. I scampered down the long corridor of the courthouse and sprang into the buggy. Snatching the reins from the boy's hands, I gave the spirited horse a sharp cut of the whip that made him jump nearly out of the harness and lifted the front wheels off the ground. Naturally, the horse ran away, but he ran toward the railroad. I kept him in the country road and let him run. Looking back I saw a New York reporter in a farmer's two horse wagon tearing down the street after me. The farmer's wife, a fat woman in a red shawl, sat on the back seat, squealing every time the wheels hit a raised crossing. The road turned and ran parallel with the track, and behind me I heard the rumble and roar of an approaching train. The horse grew wild with fright. I tried to pull him in, for we were approaching the station. I could do nothing with him, and it looked as if we should go by the telegraph office on the dead run.

"'Nope,' he said bravely.

"'When I give you the reins, take them quick and hold on,' I said.

"'This horse is going to smash things,' he observed.

"'Let him smash,' said I.

"I had seen a pile of sand beside the station platforms, and I thought that would be a good place to light. 'Now, then!' I cried, and he seized the reins. With the horse still running, I gathered up my skirts and jumped. I lit all in a heap on the sand pile, and the boy and horse disappeared down the road. I was on my feet in an instant and threw a pile of copy in the window to the surprised operator.

"When the New York man dashed up, my story had the wire, and I sat in the corner putting up my hair and fanning myself.

"'Warm day, isn't it?' said I sweetly.

"'Yes, it is,' he snapped."—Lippincott's Magazine.

Many lawyers are accustomed to relieve the practice of their profession with merry jests. There was one famous lawyer of Philadelphia, Judge Peters, who began his career with a joke and is said to have ended it in the same way, although most of his jests were of a mild and gentle sort and not at all uproarious, and they were often at his own expense.

A Philadelphia paper relates that immediately after his admission to the bar and while still very young Mr. Peters "hung out his shingle" in the shape of a sign in which these words were inscribed: "Richard Peters, attorney at law. Business done here at half price. (N. B.—Half done.) He averred that his sign drew him so much business at the very start that he was soon able to charge full rates and guarantee thorough attention to business. His friends, however, declare that he never did anything otherwise than thoroughly.—Youth's Companion.

NEW YORK MILLIONAIRES.

Only a few people reading advertisements of bankers and brokers, saying that money could be made through speculation, realize that the richest men in America have commenced life in a humble way and have made their fortune through stock-exchange speculations.

Men like Jay Gould, who worked as a dry goods clerk in a small town at $10.00 a week up to his twentieth year, and commenced to operate with his small saving of $200.00 in Wall Street, left at his death 70 millions of dollars; Russell Sage, who worked as a grocery boy at $4.00 per week, and whose present wealth is estimated at 100 millions of dollars, is still operating the market, although 89 years of age, and so are thousands of others, who are enjoying all the luxuries life can offer, which is due to their success in speculation.

To the shrewd speculator the same opportunities are open to-day as to others in the past. The smallest lot which can be bought and sold is ten shares on 3% margin, making 30 dollars.

If you are troubled with Catarrh and want to be cured, use Catarrhozone, which is a guaranteed cure for this distressing disease. There is no mystery about Catarrhozone, though its effect is magical. Ointments and snuffs cannot reach the diseased parts and have thus proved useless, but Catarrhozone is carried by the air you breathe directly to the diseased parts, where it volatilizes, killing the germ life and healing the sore spots. It cures by inhalation. No danger, no risk, sold by all druggists or by mail, price $1.00. For trial outfit send 10c in stamps to N. C. POLSON & CO., Box 507, Kingston, Ont.

Afternoon Despatches.

To Embarrass Great Britain

Mr. Tarte's "Beloved France" was One of the Powers which Aimed to do It

The Movement was Spoiled Because Germany Would Not Enter the Combination—Boers Fired the Veldt and Exploded a Magazine—Another British Victory.

(OTHER DESPATCHES ON INSIDE PAGES.)

St. Petersburg, Nov. 7.—The numerous rumors that certain continental powers have been meditating for some sort of a combined move to the detriment of British interests are not without foundation. It was learned from a high Russian source, and the information can be relied upon, that a definite attempt has been made to bring about a combination between Russia, France, Germany and Spain with the object of embarrassing Great Britain in the settlement of the Transvaal question. Not merely have unofficial suggestions been made by one power to another but the proposal has been formally discussed by the various governments concerned.

Russia, France and Spain, as Count Muravioff found in the course of his recent journeys, were agreed as to the desirability of intervention, but the success of the movements was wrecked by the refusal of Germany, the only one of the four powers directly interested in South Africa, to take part in the proposal. The adhesion of Spain to the combination appears to have been desired for the purpose of isolating and considerably weakening the British position at Gibraltar.

London, November 7.—On Saturday morning the Boers fired the veldt near Dronfield, seven miles from Kimberly, and this afternoon the flames set on fire the smaller of the two magazines, exploding the dynamite with a terrible report. Fortunately no one was injured. The veldt was burning that night, and it was feared that the larger magazine, where there were 1,200 cases of dynamite, would be ignited.

ANOTHER BRITISH VICTORY.

London, Nov. 7.—It is announced in a special despatch from Cape Town dated Sunday, Nov. 5 (morning), that the British have been victorious in an engagement at Ladysmith, and that the Boer loss was very heavy, including 2,000 prisoners.

THE REPORT CONFIRMED.

London, Nov. 7.—Advices were received to-day confirming the reports that the British were engaged twice successfully on Thursday and Friday. The cavalry scored heavily and the infantry did great execution. The Gordon Highlanders carried the Boers' position at the point of the bayonet. The Boers lost heavily and some surrendered.

THE WAR SUMMARY.

The War Office has received no further news from Ladysmith, which now seems to be completely isolated, so far as railway and telegraphic communication is concerned.

In evacuating Colenso, south of Ladysmith, the British force there managed to take away with them all their stores and kit.

A half battalion of the Berkshi e Regiment has retired, under General Buller's orders, from Stormberg Junction, northern Cape Colony, to Naauw Poort, where there there is a force of about 4,000 infantry.

Naauw Poort is menaced by a strong force of Boers now at Colesburg, who are said to be advancing on the former place.

The rifle corps and other volunteer bodies have been enrolled at Pietermaritzburg for the defence of the town.

Strong British reinforcements are due at Cape Town to-day.

Information comes from St. Petersburg that it was sought to form a combination, composed of Russia, France, Germany and Spain, to embarrass Great Britain in the settlement of the Transvaal question. Germany refused to join, and the combination was broken.

British victory reported at Ladysmith on Thursday and Friday last. Report confirmed.

ELECTED BY ACCLAMATION

Peterboro, Ont., Nov. 7.—The nomination of candidates to contest the riding of West Peterboro, rendered necessary by Hon. J. R. Stratton's call to the Cabinet, took place here to-day.

Mr. Stratton was nominated, and there being no other nominations he was declared elected.

At the close of the necessary formalities Hon. Mr. Stratton made an address thanking the electors for their confidence and outlining the policy he would follow in the future.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING

That George st. will be opened—some day.

That some theatrical posters are in very bad taste.

That we are all pretty well interested in the war news now, but wait for a month or so, when our boys get to the front. We'll be missing meals and losing sleep to get hold of the news then.

That the war cloud slipped away from Ladysmith and for a few seconds hovered over the Council Chamber last night. As the military experts would say, "the situation was grave" for a little while.

That there are many complaints of pilferers down at the docks. People complain that it is not safe to leave anything except it is under lock and key. The police should have an eye to these parties who covet other people's goods.

That we don't need to suppose, because trains don't run very regularly between Ladysmith and Capetown, that the Boers have captured the country. For the last few weeks trains have not run very regularly on the Grand Trunk either. Perhaps the South African railway people have troubles of their own in the way of labor-saving regulations, etc., like their brother railroaders in Canada.

That it is a pity more ministers do not speak their mind, like Rev. Mr. Lancely, of Kingston. By the way, many people in Belleville have listened with delight to his sermons. On Sunday last he delivered a patriotic sermon, in the course of which he said: The patriotic utterances and actions of our leading statesmen indicated their loyalty of heart and oneness of purpose. Sir Charles Tupper has shown the people of Canada that his heart throbbed sympathetically with all the interests of the empire. The speaker stated the utterances of Sir Wilfrid Laurier in bidding good-bye to the Canadian contingent at Quebec, "and," added he, "as for J. Israel Tarte, well, I think it is about time Mr. Tarte was called down. (Applause.)"

Boys' Pea Jackets.

These short overcoats are going to be the proper thing for this winter. The Oak Hall have made calculations on a big trade in these coats and have all the new and nobby things. Of course we only carry the good ones. The cheap shoddy beaver and rag goods we do not handle. Good clothing at fair prices is what our trade demands.

THE JUSTICE MILL.

The Mayor Presided Over Some of the Grinding This Morning.

Mayor Johnson presided at the police court this morning, and tried a case in which Police Magistrate Flint was the plaintiff. It appears that seven boys named Frank Flagler, Samuel Thompson, Robert Thompson, Vincent Hogan, Wm. Hogan, Frederick Newery, and Wm. Hannah, stole a quantity of iron grating from the ruins of the box factory on Moira street, and sold them for old iron. The boys all pleaded guilty to the charge. Owing to the lads being of tender years, His Worship did not impose a sentence, but directed the parents to have the grates restored and pay the costs, in which decision the Magistrate coincided.

A TALE OF DUTY DONE

To Stand Shoulder to Shoulder with Regular Soldiers in Defence of Their Empire and Queen—Incidents at the Ancient Capital and the Departure of the Sardinian Vividly Described in Glowing Words by MAYOR JOHNSON.

There could be no lingering just now, either to view the magnificent panorama of the St. Lawrence from Dufferin Terrace, on which the Chateau stands, or to admire the charms of the fair ladies. The gallant Colonel of the XVth refused to eat until he found his lads. He carried out his determination, but it cost him both breakfast and dinner. Up to the time I parted with him, about 6 p.m., when he was leaving Quebec to take the train for Montreal, he had been nearly 24 hours without solid refreshment of any kind, and as he will not partake of liquid regalement, such as the ordinary soldier and, at such a time, the ordinary citizen, will resort to, his condition must have been on a par with the soldier depending on the reserves for his strength. Having alighted from our caleche on the parade ground of the Citadel we inquired for "D" Co., and had just turned to go as directed, when, at the southeast end of the stern grey wall, we saw a company in full battle array, coming, as it were, out of the earth. It was "D" Co. It halted close to where we stood. In uniforms (dark green in color) and helmets all the men looked alike. We glanced carefully down both ranks but failed to recognize our boys. In the mean time we were "sizing up" the Captain, and all agreed that he looked "fit." Captain Rogers, of Ottawa, is the company commander. He has a good record, is a considerate man, and, from all we could learn, is worthy of his position. On request for access to our boys he called the Belleville portion of his command to attention, marched them two paces to the front and permitted them to stand at ease. Their place is in the centre of the company. The faces of the lads fairly beamed with pleasure and delight when they saw us. Any one of us would travel a much longer distance than from Belleville to Quebec to see such joy as the boys felt and gave expression to. When the four yellow sovereigns sent by the City Council were poured into each man's hand, the Queen's regulations were not in it for a long enough to enable the boys to ease off their feelings. The stern old Citadel never reverberated in all its history, I am sure, with heartier or louder cheers than those Bay of Quinte lads, true soldiers of the Queen, gave for the City and the citizens who had shown their appreciation of their gallant conduct. As was here we got the last handshake, but not where the last word was heard, nor the final tear of the visitors was shed. The Belleville boys resumed their position in the company line, and we started to secure places on the Esplanade to see the review. Just as we passed out of the Citadel gate we were overtaken by Captain Dixon, an old Belleville boy, a graduate of the Royal Military College, who was on his way to the "Sardinian" with his luggage. He is one of the general service officers chosen to accompany the contingent.

Through the courtesy of the Mayor of Quebec we occupied excellent places for seeing the review from the platform erected in the centre of the Esplanade. At eleven o'clock thousands of people had ranged themselves outside of the ropes which extended the entire length of the reviewing ground; thousands more were occupying the terraces stretching off toward the Parliament Buildings, and the windows of the houses in the vicinity. Every coign of vantage was utilized, even to the highest branches of the trees. We had not long to wait. The martial airs of Britain sounded in the distance, and almost as quickly as the gentle autumn breeze wafted to our ears the strains of "The British Grenadiers," and we were able to distinguish them, the head of the column appeared in sight. Company after company descended the hill from the Citadel and took their places in the line, facing south upon the esplanade. There they are, the "ROYAL CANADIANS," as Colonel Otter addressed them when giving his words of command, who, in the course of an hour or two go forth to war, the first troops that Canada ever sent abroad. We had for the past two or three weeks been reading in the papers of their enlistment in all the Provinces; of their eagerness and fitness for their arduous and dangerous duty. What did you think of them? you ask. I will let an American, whom I heard, answer. He is Captain Howard, who accompanied the Canadian troops at the time of the Northwest Rebellion and worked the Gatling gun. The Captain is not always strictly parliamentary in his language, and, if any thing, he was perhaps a trifle more emphatic than usual upon this occasion. "I tell you," he said, (leaving out his frequent emphasis) "that regiment of Canadians is composed of better material than can be found in any regiment, not only in the regular British service, but in the service of any other country in Europe." The men of the contingent are superior in physical conditions and vastly more intelligent and resourceful than ordinary soldiers. There are scores of officers and non-commissioned officers in the ranks. They could not secure appointments as officers, so they enlisted as privates. A member of the late Government of Canada, Hon. Charles Wallace, has a son in the ranks, and right in front of his father, Lt.-Col. Cotton, D. O. C., stood Private Cotton in the Montreal company. Captain Howard's estimate agrees with my own and with that of every man who spoke in my hearing. Col. Otter, the commandant, Col. Buchan, the senior major, and Major McDougall, the adjutant, have records that any soldier might be proud of. One felt, when watching them that they could be trusted to do their duty for Queen and country.

THE MYSTERY OF COUNT LANDRINOF.

BY FRED WHISHAW.

COPYRIGHT 1899, BY THE AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION.

"Don't be afraid, you poor fool," said. "I am no spy. It is my interest to learn the truth of these matters, and I believe your story. Are you satisfied? I shall tell no one who informed me or indeed that I know of all this that you have told me. I am not aware of your name, and you need not reveal it; you are safe, so far as I am concerned, and you were justified in reporting the facts to me, though somewhat rash."

I gave the fellow 10 rubles, which greatly comforted him, and he departed with many blessings upon my head and entreaties that I should protect him in case of emergency.

Here was a real clew indeed unless, of course, the little rascal had invented the whole story, which, though improbable under the circumstances, was quite possible, he being a Russian peasant and as such a chronic perverter of the truth.

However, I could drive over tomorrow to Balota and verify his story there—indeed Percy and I might from this point take up a hot scent, if destiny were only kind.

CHAPTER V.

FOLLOWING THE TRAIL.

Percy arrived just 24 hours after me—good old Percy! He had not tarried one unnecessary minute in London, knowing that I needed him. I told him all I had seen and done, and he was [illegible]

"Well done, old man!" he said. "You haven't let the grass grow under your feet. It may be a good clew, and it may not. These chaps are such frightful liars, but we'll test it at Balota. It doesn't seem quite a likely story, does it? Why should two fellows have pounced upon your father and carried him off to the post station? You see, you yourself put a lot of the tale into the fellow's head by inquiring whether any one had driven the count to Balota, and he could easily invent the rest. It seems to me that they would have robbed him, more likely, and left him."

"Heaven only knows!" I said sagely. "Let's get ready at once and drive over to the post road. We may hit the trail. I fancy it rather myself for want of a better clew."

So we drove at once to Balota and asked to see the postmaster. A surly peasant came out and said his horses were all out. If we wanted to travel, we must pay double prices.

I explained that we should do so presently with pleasure on condition that he first answered a few questions. The man looked suspicious, but he bade me enter the house and sit down.

"Now," I said, "had you a traveler or two or three travelers journeying together from Erinofka last week?"

"Stop a minute," he said. "Have you been speaking to that fool of fools Ivan Arbuzoff?"

I could honestly reply that I did not know whom he referred to by that name.

"Why do you inquire about three men from Erinofka, then?" he said.

"Well, it may be one man or two or three," I explained. "It is only one that I care to know about. This gentleman drove over, as I believe, intending to take post horses for St. Petersburg. We wish to know the date, and are prepared to pay for information."

The fellow reflected a short while. He glanced furtively at me once or twice from under his black, bushy eyebrows. I did not like the look of the man.

"It is against rules to give such information," he said, "or at least against my practice. You may be spies upon the track of some unfortunate who is innocent of offense."

"We are no spies," I said, "and this is a 10 ruble note."

"I will look in my book," he growled. "Give me the money!"

The fellow brought a greasy, filthy account book and turned over page after page. "Here is an entry of three barins from Erinofka," he said presently. My heart beat with excitement.

"Yes; that will be it!" I exclaimed. "Go on."

"Who engaged a three horse carriage to Riabova," he continued.

"Good!" I cried, jumping up. Percy was equally excited, though he only understood half that was said. "You have earned your money, my man. Get us a carriage and horses to the same place quickly, and you shall be paid treble fare."

The savage looking rascal beamed and departed without loss of a moment. He was not sorry, I thought afterward, to discontinue the conversation.

It appeared that he had horses in the stable, after all, for he certainly never left the yard, and yet, five minutes later, there stood a "troika," or three horsed vehicle, ready for us. We jumped in.

"To Riabova quickly!" I cried to the driver, who was busy listening to his chief's instructions. Rather complicated ones, it appeared, for the fellow wore an expression as of one who is being taught a difficult lesson.

The postmaster whispered his last word, and we were off.

"I hope they're not hatching any devilry between them," said Percy. "I don't like that postmaster Johnny [illegible]. Do you?"

I was bound to admit that I did not. "But we can take care of ourselves, I expect," I added, and in this proposition Percy laughingly concurred.

"We must try and get in a talk with the fellow at Riabova before this little rascal on the box has an opportunity to square him or warn him," he continued.

"Ten to one the postmaster at Balota has sent him down instructions to lie as freely as his tongue will turn the redhot falsehoods out. We must certainly have the first look in."

But at Riabova things did not turn out precisely as we had intended, for our little driver contrived, in spite of our intentions, to deliver his message, whatever it may have been, before we could obtain a word with the postmaster. This he did by throwing his reins to the moujik who met us at the yard gate and running quickly within the house, leaving us wondering where the chief man was to be found.

Percy thought the matter very suspicious.

"These fellows are playing some deep game with us," he said. "I don't like it."

But I was less inclined to suspect evil—that is anything more evil than designs against our money bags.

"It's a absurd to suppose that all these chaps are in the secret of father's disappearance," I said. "They have a game on, but it is only to obtain three or four times their due for the horses, and so on. The other fellow merely sent a message to this fellow that we were [illegible] greenhorns who could be fleeced at will.

"May be!" said Percy.

This postmaster was a very different looking personage. He was suave and

BARGE SMASHED SCHOONER.

An Accident Which Caused the Loss of One Man's Life.

Cornwall, Nov. 7.—A serious collision, by which one man was killed and a vessel was badly damaged, occurred at Summerstown, near Stanley Island, yesterday morning. The tug St. George, west bound, having in tow the barge A. D., met the tug Nellie Reid and barge Laura, east bound. The tugs were to exchange tows at this point, and in doing so barge A. D. ran into the Laura, striking her in the bow above the waterline. Capt. St. Denis' son happened to be coming up the forward forecastle hatch at the time, and the force of the collision drove the hatch together with such force that the young man was instantly killed, the body being almost cut in two. The boat, which is badly damaged, was beached, and now lies aground near the scene of the accident.

The Company owns over twelve thousand acres of rich copper land in Texas, opened, tested, developed and NOW BEING OPERATED. Millions of tons of copper bearing clay and marl running from five to ten per cent., and large quantities of ore carrying from fifty to seventy per cent. copper in sight. Cheaply mined and treated, favorable climate, cheap fuel, and ample water. Stated by geologists, chemists, experts and engineers to be one of the greatest and best in the world. Amount of land, quantity and quality of ore, cheapness of mining and treatment, the increasing demand and profit in producing copper considered, the Boston and Texas Copper Company possesses unequalled advantages and affords the best kind of an investment.

Calumet and Hecla ore averages 4 1-2 per cent. copper. It has paid $62,850,000 dividends
Tamarack ore averages 3 per cent. It has paid $5,910,000 in dividends.
Atlantic ore averages 85-100 of 1 per cent. It has paid $780,000 in dividends.
Boston and Montana ore runs 7 per cent. It has paid $10,775,000 in dividends.
Franklin ore averages 1 37-100 per cent. It has paid $1,290,000 in dividends.
The Quincy ore averages 1 8-10 per cent. It has paid $11,070,000.

THE AVERAGE OF BOSTON & TEXAS ORE IS OVER 50 PER CENT., and of copper marls and clays from 5 to 10 per cent. Both the ore, marl and clay are within a few feet of the surface of the ground, so that the expense of mining and hoisting is minimized. A party of New England capitalists who have just returned from an examination of the mines in conjunction with one of the ablest mining engineers in the country, report the property to be one of the largest and best in America, and to contain inexhaustible quantities of rich copper deposits.

It is estimated that the plant now being arranged for will produce $3,000 to $5,000 per day, NET.

Prospectus, engineers' reports, assays and full information will be furnished on application. Remit by check, P. O. order, draft or registered letter to Treasurer.

At Death s Door—Dyspepsia Conquered. A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 210 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. Totally Deaf.—Mr. S. E. Crandell, Port Perry, writes—"I contracted a severe cold last winter, which resulted in my becoming totally deaf in one ear and partially so in the other. After trying various remedies, and consulting several doctors, without obtaining any relief, I was advised to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

TIMBER CASE IN COURT.

Beginning of the Tilt Between Ontario Government and the Lumbermen of Michigan.

Toronto, Nov. 7.—Before Mr. Justice Street yesterday, at Osgoode Hall, the case of the Michigan lumbermen against the Ontario Government was begun. The "manufacturing clause" of the act, whereby it was provided that timber licenses after April 30, 1898, must manufacture logs in Ontario, was what the lumbermen objected to. S. H. Blake, Q.C., and J. R. Cartwright, appeared for the Ontario Government; H. J. Scott, Q.C., and Christopher Robinson, Q.C., for the petitioners.

H. J. Scott, Q.C., in his argument, gave a chronological resume of lumber legislation in Canada and the United States.

Aubrey White, Commissioner of Crown Lands, was being examined when the court arose.

NOT A BRIGHT DAY FOR DAVIS

Bank Robbery Case in Winnipeg Developed More Sensations.

Some Chicago Witnesses Swore in the Court at Winnipeg That They Would Not Believe Him on Oath —Very Strong Insinuations Made —Anderson Swore That He Knew Nothing of the Robbery.

Winnipeg, Nov. 7.—At the Molsons Bank robbery trial yesterday Harry Carr, bank clerk, Pembina, North Dakota, was called. He said that in nose, color of eyes, height and voice, a man who came into his bank on Dec. 31, 1898, resembled Detective Davis. The only difference was that the man present had a heavier mustache than the young man who came into the bank. This man came into the bank on Dec. 31, 1898, and stood at the customers' counter on the opposite side of the room from the teller's window. Later this young man came up to the window and said he wanted to get a draft. Going into details, the young man said he wanted a draft for $1,700 on Kansas City for Perry Cook. His own name the customer said was Fred W. Baker. He got the draft made out and the young man threw down some currency, and, among other things, a $1,000 Dominion of Canada bill. This staggered the witness and he demurred to take the money. He asked the man where he lived and he said in New York, and that he was going to Chicago. He examined the bill closely and finally declined to give the draft.

To Mr. Howell: If Davis was in Mitchell, Ont., on Dec. 31, 1898, of course he could not have been in the bank.

Would Not Believe Davis.

Several Chicago witnesses who knew Davis swore they would not believe him under oath. Two were women, who called themselves "widows," but swore their husbands were alive.

Francis W. Scott, foreman of a gang on the C.P.R., was positive that Davis lifted the valise by the handle, and it was not correct when Davis stated that he pulled out the valise by the end from the place where it was buried. Whitla was not there when Davis pulled up the valise. Whitla was on the other side of the railway crossing, some distance away, and came running up when Davis shouted.

The valise was here produced, and witness said that it had been considerably changed since he saw it. The handle was not broken when the valise was pulled up. The ground about the valise was soft and the sod over it was broken. The valise had not been buried there, he should think, more than two months. All the valises of the Chicago party in court being produced, a key which Chief Elliott stated he found on Anderson opened two of them, and also proved a perfect fit for Lawyer Perdue's black brief bag.

Herdsman Saw Davis.

In the afternoon a herdsman testified to seeing Detective Davis in the district when money was found in June.

John Walls stated that no man could come out of the house on the morning Davis said he and Anderson came back from digging.

J. W. Driscoll, manager for McClay's, where Anderson worked; John A. Davidson, principal of Norwood, Ont., High School, and others testified to Anderson's good character.

Ford Scott, a newspaper man, said Davis told him that the missing $2,000 would never be found, as Anderson had "blown" it.

Key That Opened Many Valises.

About 25 valises were brought into court and 16 were opened by the key found on Anderson.

The prisoner then entered the witness box and declared he knew nothing about the robbery and described Davis as a liar. He went over Davis' evidence, denying it. He said the key found on him was that of a valise destroyed. This was corroborated by a boarding house keeper.

Anderson was very nervous in cross examination. Once, when he said counsel was trying to pin him down to an hour he was not certain of some in the audience applauded, and the judge cleared that part of the court.

Counsel will address the jury early this morning.

THE ROYAL BOX.

King Humbert's mother was an archduchess of Austria, while his wife, Queen Margherita, was the granddaughter of King John of Saxony.

Emperor William has sent to the Crown Prince of Greece his portrait, inscribed with the well known sentence from Homer, "Only one shall be ruler, only one king."

The Grand Duke Michael, the Russian heir apparent, has been appointed colonel in chief of the Ninety-third (Irkutsk) regiment of infantry, a command which was held by his late brother.

The sultan of Turkey is most inquisitive as to what is said and written about him abroad. Every day translations are laid before him from the newspapers of the world, and these are closely perused.

GEN. WHITE'S FORCES FOUGHT

800 Boers Killed, Wounded and Captured on Tatham's Farm.

This Loss to the Enemy Occurred in the Skirmish of Thursday Last—Some Mounted Boers Were Captured—Large British Camp at Stormberg Junction Has Been Broken Up by Orders of Buller.

London, Nov. 7.—(4.30 a.m.)—This morning's news carries public knowledge with respect to hostilities in South Africa very little farther than the evacuation of Colenso and Stormberg.

These movements, taken together with the Admiralty announcement, that the public must not be disappointed should the transports not reach their destination on the dates indicated in the published lists, may indicate some change of plan necessitated by the bad position of affairs in Natal. It was expected that the army corps would land near Cape Town for an invasion of the Transvaal through the Orange Free State, but the landing may now be diverted to Durban, Natal, whither it is fully expected Gen. Sir Redvers Buller will go within a week or two to investigate the situation for himself.

May Go via Delagoa Bay.

There is also a probability of a movement through Delagoa Bay, and the Admiralty note regarding the transports simply means in all likelihood that news of their movements is to be suppressed.

Stores at Queenstown.

Stormberg was understood to be the depot where stores, tents, guns, ammunition and all the commissariat details of the Third Division—that under Sir William Gatacre—were in process of accumulation. The stores have been removed to Queenstown, and an obvious explanation of their removal arises out of the Boer advance from Bethulie and Allwal North.

It's Simply Speculation.

In view of the near approach of British reinforcements, a Boer invasion of Cape Colony could hardly be regarded very seriously. There may be, therefore, no reason for the withdrawal and the stores destined by repute for Queenstown may be intended for East London or Durban. It may be Gen. Buller's intention to send on Col. Lord Paul Methuen's division, composed of Guards and British brigades to the immediate assistance of Natal.

Will Relieve White.

Reports that Rosmead and Naauwpoort are also to be evacuated seem to corroborate the idea that Gen. Buller's first business will be to relieve Sir George Stewart White.

Kimberley in Danger.

It is believed that the Orange Free State commandoes now have 11,000 men concentrated against Kimberley and on the Free State southern frontier. Opposed to them are only 7000 British troops. The towns which lie open to their attack are Allwal North, Burghersdorp, Stormberg, Barkly and Molteno.

Invested at Ladysmith.

A despatch from Pietermaritzberg, dated Friday, reports that railway communication with Ladysmith is severed, the Boers having effected a lodgment at Nelthorpe, south of Ladysmith about seven miles. Among those invested at Ladysmith are Col. Rhodes, brother of Cecil Rhodes, Sir John Willoughby, and it is believed Dr. Jameson, as well as most of the press correspondents and probably the Earl of Ava, son of the Marquis of Dufferin and Ava.

Railways All Military.

All of the Cape Railways are now in the hands of the military authorities. Five hundred tons of food stuffs were seized on board the steamship Maria at Durban, consigned to Delagoa Bay for the Transvaal.

Boers' Big Gun No Good.

It is reported from Boer sources that the big gun with which Gen. Cronje had hoped to demolish Mafeking is not a success. It is believed to be a Schne-der-Canet gun, weighing, with the carriage, about 10 tons. The recoil is so tremendous as to throw the gun out of gear every time it is fired. After using the weapon two days the Boers gave it up.

Basutos Won't Rise.

The Morning Post hears from Maceru, Basutoland, that the Boer attempts to incite the Basutos against the British have failed.

Has There Been Another Fight?

There are renewed rumors of another engagement at Elandslaagte, with severe Boer losses.

Watched by a Cruiser.

It is reported from Cairo that the German steamer Zanzibar, bound for Zanzibar, arrived at Port Said without passengers, and that having embarked 33, she sailed, followed and watched by the British cruiser Fearless.

To Move to Stormberg.

London, Nov. 7.—The Daily Mail has received the following despatch from Stormberg, dated last Friday evening: "An Orange Free State force, 2000 strong, is now at Pewen's Farm, half way between the Orange River and Burghersdorp. The Boers are waiting there for the arrival of 3000 reinforcements from Rouxville and Bloemfontein before moving on Stormberg. There is a third Free State force at Colesburg. The signalling in the Boer camp was plainly visible from here last night."

IT WAS A FIERCE BATTLE.

800 Boers Killed and Wounded by Gen. White's Forces.

Estcourt, Natal, Saturday, Nov. 4.—It is reported that the Boers lost 800 in killed, wounded and captured in Thursday's battle on Tatham's Farm, near Ladysmith.

A Hot Battle.

Noon.—A reliable messenger has just arrived from Ladysmith, passing the Boer lines during the night, who reports that heavy fighting occurred on Thursday around Ladysmith.

The hottest engagement was at George Tatham's farm on the Orange Free State side of Bester's. The British drove the Boers back to their camp. The enemy suffered great loss and thirty mounted Boers were captured.

Fighting Resumed on Friday.

The fighting was resumed Friday, the Boers firing from Nosdwathshana Hill, near Pepworth's farm. Again they were driven back with loss on their camp.

Tore Up the Rails.

A large Boer force, with artillery, under John Wessels, has taken up a position on the left of Beacon, locating on the Woodhouse, Piecloues and Langvaracht farms, facing Bester's, and a small commando is now encamped on the south side of Pieter's Station, commanding the railway. The Boers have torn up the culverts of the railway near Pieter's Station and have burned the wooden portions.

No Damage at Colenso.

No damage has been yet done at Colenso. The houses, stores, and iron bridges remain intact.

The messenger says he heard that the Boers would be in Colenso to-day (Saturday) and that the volunteers were leaving.

No Need for Alarm.

Much regret is felt at the unnecessary alarm created at Pietermaritzburg when there is no need for it.

The Natal naval corps with guns will return to Martberg to-day to reassure the inhabitants.

EVACUATION OF COLENSO.

Position Untenable Owing to Long Range of Boers Guns.

Estcourt, Natal, Friday, Nov. 3.—Colenso is now in the hands of the Boers. Before the evacuation was decided upon, the enemy tried to cut off our outposts. The Durban Light Infantry, under Lieut. Molyneux, and a force of Dublin Fusiliers were sent to the relief of the outposts and a brisk fight ensued. The Boers were repulsed, leaving 12 dead. Twenty Boer horses were killed and the others stampeded.

The chief motive for the withdrawal, however, was that the long range guns of the Boers had made the position untenable. No orders were received for retirement. While retirement was in progress the Natal Volunteers at Fort Wylie had great difficulty in getting away their nine-pounder in the dark. They were advised to spike the gun, but were exceedingly unwilling to do this, resolving to make a determined effort to take it with them. While they were running the gun on its carriage down a hill, the ropes broke and gun and carriage rushed on, the latter being smashed at the bottom of the incline.

They Saved the Gun.

Nothing daunted, the plucky fellows undertook to carry the weapon itself, which had not been damaged, and they got here safely. The Boers shelled Colenso camp at dawn to-day, being apparently unaware of the evacuation. They looted the stores, but did not harm the bridges, saying that they would want the railway themselves. The women and children here are crowding the trains bound for Pietermaritzburg and Durban.

A Scrap Near Kimberley.

Kimberley, Oct. 31.—(Delayed in Transmission.)—A strong reconnaissance made by Col. Scott-Turner discovered the enemy posted on a kopje. The Boers fired thirteen shells, none of which took effect, and the reconnoitering party returned to Kim-

British Stores Saved.

Durban, Natal, Nov. 3.—(Evening.)—(Delayed in Transmission.)—It is said that the Colenso garrison saved all the stores, kits, tents, etc. The Boers numbered about 5000 men, comprising a fresh corps of Orange Free Staters. The armored train did splendid service, taking a detachment of the Dublin Fusiliers to relieve an outlying fort garrisoned by volunteers.

Reassuring reports have been received regarding the position at Pietermaritzburg.

Royalty Contributes.

London, Nov. 6.—The Queen has contributed £1000 and the Prince of Wales £262 to the Transvaal war fund.

RUSSIA BEGINS TO MOVE.

Rumors From St. Petersburg Regarding Designs on the Ameer's Domain.

London, Nov. 7.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Times telegraphs that various rumors are afloat there regarding Russian designs upon Afghanistan.

Franco-Russian Game Blocked.

Berlin, Nov. 6.—A telegram from Constantinople to The Tageblatt states that it is expected the visit of the French naval squadron will not take place.

It had been secretly arranged that the French admiral, Fournier, and the Russian admiral, Schereinetieff, each with two ships should arrive at the same time to pay their respects to the Sultan. As soon as Sir Nicholas O'Connor learned this he declared to the Sultan that if the visit took place he would be forced to telegraph for an English squadron.

The Sultan accordingly begged M. Constance to delay the arrival of Admiral Fournier and the Russian admiral. It was then made only a private visit, while the French squadron proceeded to Beyrout.

THE WAR PARTY TRIUMPHED.

Exeter Bye-Election Resulted in Increased Unionist Majority.

London, Nov. 7.—A Parliamentary bye-election was held in Exeter yesterday to fill the vacancy created by the recent appointment of Sir Henry Stafford Northcote as steward and bailiff of the Chiltern Hundreds, as a preliminary to his appointment as Governor of Bombay. The result was the return of the Conservative and Unionist candidate, Sir Edgar Vincent, by a majority of 659 votes over his Liberal and Radical opponent, Allan Bright of Liverpool. The polling was as follows: Sir Edgar Vincent, 4,030; Allan Bright, 3,371; Conservative majority, 659. The Conservative majority at the last general election, when Sir Henry Stafford Northcote was returned, was 494, so that Sir Edgar Vincent's victory means a substantial increase in the Ministerial majority at Exeter.

SAMOAN QUESTION SETTLED.

London, Nov. 7.—Although the exact terms of the agreement are still carefully guarded, the Associated Press is able to say that the Samoan question is practically settled and that the finalities will take place within a few days, unless some most unexpected hitch occurs. But it can be said that American control of Tutuilla Island is confirmed and agreed to, while the United States, it is understood, signified its approval of the projected arrangements between Germany and Great Britain.

Mute as to Details.

Regarding the details of the latter, the British Foreign Office remains mute, except to authorize the statement that none of the recent surmises of the German press have correctly outlined the plan, which now seems sure of acceptance. It is also emphatically denied that the United States has been in any way neglected in the negotiations. It is pointed out that the United States having secured Tutuilla Island, obtained all she expected or desired, but though thoroughly satisfied, she was kept conversant with and always consulted about the negotiations which proceeded between Germany and Great Britain.

Matters Took a Turn.

Last week it was believed that an impasse had been reached, and the diplomats were inclined to fear that no settlement was attainable in the near future. The sudden turn in the negotiations, and the overcoming of the apparently insurmountable obstacles, created almost as much surprise as gratification. Of course, it is still within the limits of possibility that another and entirely unexpected contingency may arise during the interim of the drawing up of the papers and signing of them. But there is every reason to believe that an official statement will be given out this week announcing the terms of the settlement of this long standing international difficulty.

This is Another Story.

The Berlin correspondent of The Standard says: The Samoan negotiations have reached a dead-lock. Germany does not consider that the Gilbert and Solomon Islands would adequately compensate her for waiving the German claims. An agreement, however, would easily be arranged if Great Britain would cede in addition portions of New Guinea.

Submarine Torpedo Boat a Success.

New York, Nov. 7.—The submarine torpedo boat Holland yesterday received an official trial before a United States Government board. The trial was pronounced a successful one in every way.

THE MINERS' APPEAL.

They Want the Alien Labor Law Enforced in the Slocan.

Vancouver, Nov. 7.—The following is a copy of a telegram sent by the Sandon Miners' Union to Sir Wilfrid Laurier:

"One thousand Canadian miners of the Slocan, with their wives and families, are being driven out of Canada by the importation of foreign labor from the United States. The mine owners of the Slocan are importing men to take our places. Our wives and families, and all others dependent on our labor, as well as we ourselves, appeal to you to assist us in securing the enforcement of the alien labor law. As British subjects, we naturally resent the circumstances which are driving us from our native land. Will you, as First Minister of the Crown, secure for us the protection which the alien labor law provides? Please assure us by an immediate reply that we will have your co-operation."

FIFTEEN OR MORE INJURED.

Terrific Explosion in the Dominion Carbide Works.

The Works Took Fire, and a Flood of Cold Water Dropping Into a Red-Hot Crucible of the Carbide Caused the Explosion—Some of the Injured May Be Blinded for Life.

Ottawa, Nov. 7.—A terrific explosion in the Dominion Carbide Works at the Chaudiere yesterday afternoon wrecked the building and badly injured about fifteen men.

Mr. J. W. McRae, one of the proprietors of the factory, was also slightly injured.

The list of those who suffered is as follows: J. W. McRae, Elgin street, president Ottawa Electric Co.; J. Paquet, St. Andrew street, lineman, burned about the head; Ed. Larouche, McKay's stables, face burned; George Faulkner, Gilchrist street, Hintonburgh, hurt about the eyes; J. H. Tucker, Hintonburgh, hurt about the eyes; A. Prevost, Hull, driver, badly hurt; William Baldwin, Lloyd street, badly hurt; Fred Couvrette, 127 Murray street; Joseph Duquette, face, hands and head badly burned; Ed. McGinnis, New Edinburgh, Baldwin Iron Works, face and eyes burned; Charles K. Ritchie, Osgoode street, eyes burned; Albert Ingram, Head street, face cut. Paquet was so badly hurt that he was almost unrecognizable, and is not likely to recover. Chief Prevost, teeth knocked out; James Baldwin, Lloyd street, badly hurt; William Burlingage, Hull, badly hurt; William Gillespie of Hintonburgh, cut.

Motor Burned Out.

A motor burned out in the upper flat of the building and set fire to the cupola in the building. The fire brigade were soon on the spot and water was being poured into the upper flat, where the flames were doing serious damage. The water, poured by hundreds of gallons into the upper flats, began to drip through the flood long before much of the carbide could be removed. Then came the explosion. Everyone in the lower storey was more or less injured. It is feared five men will lose their eyesight. Fully fifteen men are injured, perhaps more. At the time of writing it is hard to get all the particulars. At first it was thought the carbide exploded. Later news shows that the explosion was caused by the water dropping into a redhot crucible of the carbide.

The Furnace Was Wrecked.

The explosion blew out the large iron doors of the furnace and the flying iron struck several men. The furnace itself was completely wrecked. It was blown clear across the building. The news soon spread and a large staff of doctors arrived on the scene. Those there at the time of writing were Drs. Kennedy, Scott, Kidd, McCarthy and Fontaine of Hull. All the city ambulances were summoned. The wounded were mostly taken to the city hospitals. When the explosion occurred the shock was felt all over the Chaudiere, and workmen in the big mills and factories at once ran out of doors to see where the noise came from. The carbide factory was soon surrounded and the awful effects of the explosion were observed.

MYSTERIOUS AFFAIR, THIS.

George Gouin Was Shot and His Partner is Under Arrest.

Calgary, N.W.T., Nov. 7.—Late on Saturday afternoon George Gouin was probably fatally wounded with a revolver, besides receiving a severe blow on the temple. It is not known who fired the shot, but a warrant was issued for the arrest of Mr. Harris, Mr. Gouin's partner. Mrs. Harris was bound to appear before a magistrate. The latter came here a bride a few months ago. All concerned are well known and highly respected. Harris returned on Sunday and gave himself up to the police.

Postal Deficit in the U. S.

Washington, Nov. 7.—According to the report of the Auditor for the Postoffice Department, the postal revenues for the year are shown to be $95,021,384, and the expenditures $101,435,269, leaving a deficit of $6,413,885. During the past year the revenues increased $6,C08,765, and the expenditures $3,778,752.

RETURNING YOUTH.

"I am seventy years young," said Oliver Wendel Holmes when they asked his age. True enough. He was young because his heart was young; his step was firm; his eye was bright; his laugh was clear and merry; his appetite was good, and above all—so was his digestion.

No man should be old before his time because of a weak stomach, sluggish liver, shaky nerves and flabby muscles. There is no need of it. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures these things. It brings back youth to the feeble because it brings back keen appetite and good digestion. It tones up the liver, puts oxygen and life into the blood, and solid strength into the flesh and muscles. It contains no alcohol to inebriate or create a morbid appetite or craving for stimulants.

"I have never felt better in my life than I do now," says Charles Hunwick, of Lenox, Macomb Co., Mich., in a remarkable letter to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. "I have taken Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery right along. I can now walk quite well with a cane and hope to throw even that away before long, and as I have had to use crutches for nearly two years, I think I am doing fine. I do not cough now and I can eat and sleep like a school boy. I think I will have to change my mind about 'Patent Medicines,' as I never had much faith in them; but you must know that I have been treated in two hospitals and by three doctors besides, and received no benefit; so I think your medicine is the only medicine for me."

There is nothing in the world for constipation like Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They should be taken in conjunction with the "Discovery," whenever any disease is complicated with that dangerous condition. Nothing else that may be offered in their place will accomplish what they will. And their relief is permanent. Write to Dr. Pierce for free advice.

NEW YORK MILLIONAIRES

Only a few people reading advertisements of bankers and brokers, saying that money could be made through speculation, realize that the richest men in America have commenced life in a humble way and have made their fortune through stock-exchange speculations.

Men like Jay Gould, who worked as a dry goods clerk in a small town at $10 a week up to his twentieth year, and commenced to operate with his small saving of $200.00 in Wall Street. He at his death 70 millions of dollars; Russell Sage, who worked as a grocery boy at $1.00 per week, and whose present wealth is estimated at 100 millions of dollars, is still operating the market, although 80 years of age, and so are thousands of others, who are enjoying all the luxuries life can offer, which is due to their success in speculation.

To the shrewd speculator the same opportunities are open to-day as to others in the past. The smallest lot which can be bought and sold in ten shares on 3% margin, making 30 dollars.

Anybody interested as to how speculations are conducted can get information and market letter free of charge upon application by letter to,

SNAP SHOTS AT TIMELY TOPICS.

—People who are not in society imagine that it is all play and no work for those who are, but that is because they do not know anything about it. The average society woman gets through an amount of work in a season that would astonish some of those who think she has nothing to do. She has a hundred and one duties to perform of which other women know nothing. Her social calls are work. They have none of the pleasant features of the ordinary visit. They are made because they have to be made as a social duty, and probably not one in twenty of them is a real pleasure.

—That was a brilliant idea, attributed to the Hon. Clifford Sifton, of offering Hugh John Macdonald a captaincy in the Canadian Contingent for the Transvaal. Hugh John has become a dangerous man—that is as Mr. Sifton looks at it—out in Manitoba, and if he would only go to the Transvaal, or anywhere, and get himself shot, or at any rate taken prisoner until after the provincial elections, he would make his opponents happy. Hugh John was not to be caught, however, and respectfully declined the offer. He is commanding an army at the present time, and, as he looks at it, fighting in as glorious a cause as he would be were he to go to South Africa to fight the Boers. He may be accused of disloyalty for refusing such a golden opportunity of showing his devotion to the Empire, but no one can accuse him of being fool enough to fall into such a trap.—Events.

His Life Was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with Typhoid Fever that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvellous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all Throat and Lung Trouble. Regular sizes 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free at J. S. McKeown's Drug store; every bottle guaranteed.

ORANGEMEN CELEBRATE.

The Brethren of Benjamin L. O. L. Held Their Annual Oyster Supper Last Night.

It is the custom of the brethren of Benjamin L. O. L. No. 274 to celebrate Guy Fawkes day by an oyster supper, so last night the members of about forty, they gathered at Duffin's restaurant and enjoyed together, in refreshment, speeches and song, a few social hours.

Mr. D. T. Rutledge, County Master, occupied the chair, and seated at the festive board were many gentlemen whose names are well-known in the records of Orangeism in this vicinity, among them being Mr. William Johnson, Past Grand Master of Ontario East; Mr. F. M. Clarke, Grand Secretary of Ontario East; Mr. Thomas Wills, Past County Master and many others.

The various patriotic toasts were enthusiastically drunk and eloquently responded to, the principal speakers of the evening in that line being Messrs Wills and Clarke.

"The Day we Celebrate" called forth a rattling speech from Mr. William Johnson, whose impassioned words found a hearty echo in the hearts of his hearers.

All the speakers referred to the present war, and gave expression to their sentiments in no uncertain tones. The speeches were interspersed by pleasing instrumental selections by Miss Maggie Duffin and graphophone selections by Mr. Asselstine.

After a pleasant evening had been passed, the toast of "The Host and Hostess" was drunk, and "God Save the Queen" brought the proceedings to a close.

HEART STAGGERS.

Here's Confession of Intense Heart Suffering and Weakness That Made Life One Long Dreadful Nightmare--Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart was the Saving Agent.

Mr. Thomas Cooke, 209 Johnston St., Kingston, writes this of himself and how Dr. Agnew's Cure for the heart helped him: "I have used in all six bottles of this great heart remedy and it has completely cured me of heart weakness, from which I suffered severely for years. Prior to using it the slightest exertion or excitement would produce severe palpitation and oppression. To-day I am as strong as ever, Sold by J. S. McKeown.

A NAPANEE BOY

Who Was Well Thought of in Johannesburg--Has Relatives Here.

The Transvaal Leader, published at Johannesburg, in its issue of Sept. 19th, says: "Mr. J. F. Walsh, the battery manager of the Crown Deep and Crown Reef Company, has resigned his position and is about to leave for Capetown, where he will join Mrs. Walsh. Mr. and Mrs. Walsh are leaving for England and America. It is doubtful if Mr. Walsh will return to South Africa. Mr. Walsh was presented by the officials of the Crown Reef Company with handsome presents, including a beautiful brooch of diamond and pearls for Mrs. Walsh."

Mr. and Mrs. Walsh are known to many in this City, having been on a visit here. Mr. Walsh is a native of Napanee, and Mrs. Walsh is a sister of Mrs. Joseph Foltz, of this City.

A Hamilton Man's Bad Sprain.

Mr. Jos. A. Sutton, marble polisher for Furness & Sons, Hamilton, writes: About a year ago I fell on a piece of ice, causing a very painful injury to my shoulder. The pain troubled me with the least exertion until a few months ago, when I was advised to try Griffiths' Menthol Liniment. It has completely taken out all the pain and soreness, and during the past three months since using this remedy the pain has not returned. I think its merits should be known by all. It is a wonderful remedy. Sold by druggists, 25 cents. Sold by D. M. Waters, cor. Front and Bridge sts.

GEORGE STREET EXTENSION.

The Solicitor presented a communication re George st. extension, stating that Mr. Sills wanted $450 for his property and also wanted the Council to build a high board fence. The other parties interested also wanted a fence built, which would cost a considerable sum.

Ald. Hanley said the building of fences was a new matter, and we were not aware of what they would cost. The cost of grading the street, etc., would also be considerable.

Ald. Bogart said he was always in favor of opening up George st., but in his opinion the price for the right of way was too much and the Council could not afford to pay $750 for the land and fences.

Ald. Pantor was in favor of opening up the street and giving a fair price for the land, but he considered the price too high.

The Mayor considered the price asked too high. All we should contemplate was the placing of a walk down through that property. There was a good street near by—John street. He thought it would be utterly wrong to expend such an amount in opening that street when there are so many other streets and sidewalks which need repairing.

Ald. Hanley moved that the matter be laid over for this season.—Carried.

On motion the Committee rose and reported. The report was received and adopted.

The City Surveyor asked permission from the Council to say a few words in answer to a communication which appeared in the evening papers, re Bridge street west being repaired. He had never been ordered to repair that thoroughfare. The statement in the letter was a deliberate and malicious falsehood.

The Mayor said the Surveyor had a perfect right to speak of this matter, as an accusation had been made against him. He (the Mayor), however, did not pay much attention to persons who wrote in the press and did not sign their names.

COMMUNICATIONS, ETC.

The following communications were presented to the Council:

From Rev. Dr. Galbraith, calling the attention of the Council to a drain on Bridge street east, which was blocked, and asking that some be needed, as the water was flowing its way into the cellar of his residence.

From the City Solicitor, stating that in Council all votes must be taken openly, in accordance with an amendment to the Municipal Act.

From Mr. H. Corby, M. P., re ferry slip, asking if his offer of $250 for the purchase of some land at the old ferry slip near his elevator, be accepted. The right of way to the rolling mills, would be taken.

From Mr. F. A. Mitchell, of the Rolling Mills Co., stating that a drain on Maria street was blocked up, and in consequence water was running into the well on their premises.

From Mr. Roblin, secretary of the Underwriters' Association, detailing what was necessary to be done in order to place Belleville in class A in insurance.

NOTICE OF MOTION.

Ald. Doyle gave notice of a motion re again advertising the Waterworks and Rolling Mills debentures.

Under the head of enquiries Ald. Jones asked if any more granolithic walks would be built this year.

Ald. Hanley said he was not in a position to answer the question.

Those present at this meeting were: Mayor Johnson, Aldermen Jones, Doyle, Robinson, Taylor, Panter, Bogart, Hanley and LaRoche.

THE AIM

Of our continual optical advertising is to awaken this community to the fact that it possesses eyes, and that they may require glasses if such be not already used; or that, if they be already used, they may not be the best ones for the eyes. We want members of the public to come to us to find out about these points, and when they come they are satisfied that we know our business.

Afternoon Despatches.

Fighting in Shirt-Sleeves

Things Must be Getting Warm Around Ladysmith.

Twenty-One Thousand British Troops Have Arrived at Cape Town.—Boers' Loss Has Been Heavy.

(OTHER DESPATCHES ON INSIDE PAGES.)

Capetown, Nov. 8.—The first transports bearing the British Army Corps have been sighted. Over 21,000 men should be landed before the end of the week.

It is rumored the Boers have blown up the railroad bridge at Stormberg, which has just been evacuated by the British. Stormberg is an important point on the railroad running between Aluvail North, on the Orange River, and East London on the coast.

The armored train, with a detachment of the Dublin Fusiliers and a railroad engineering staff, which left here for Colenso to repair the line yesterday evening, has returned here. The commanding officer reports that he proceeded beyond Colenso and found the dwellings there untouched.

It is reported that the Boers are not within 20 miles of here. The bullet holes in the uniforms of the Durban volunteers show the narrowness of their escape.

Gen. French managed to leave Ladysmith by the last train from there. Four miles from Colenso the Boers fired on the train, but no one was hurt.

The General is going to Capetown in order to take command of the cavalry.

The Border Regiment arrived here on Friday.

Sub-Inspector Petley, of the Natal Police, says that his men alone, forming one of several burial parties, interred 64 Boers who were killed at the battle of Talana Hill.

The Colonial forces are already fighting in their shirt sleeves, and it is expected that this will spread to all the forces before long.

ASHORE IN THE FOG.

The Varuna Goes Aground on Zwick's Island This Morning.

Owing to the dense fog on the bay this morning an accident befel the steamer Varuna. She was proceeding to the city from Trenton and got out of her course and ran hard aground south-west of Zwick's Island. The three passengers which were aboard, including one lady, were safely landed on the Island and by this way reached the city. The boat was subsequently released and taken to Picton to be placed on the dry dock, it being feared that she has sustained considerable injuries.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING

That the brighter news from Gen. White's army in Africa will not Boer you.

That pork will be higher soon. When? Why, when the Boers begin to fly.

That the Continental reports of Boer victories have been running short lately.

That those repeated accidents on the line of the G. T. R. are not pleasant things to dwell upon.

That George st. may not be opened, but people living on "Alderman Row" are happy in the thought that it has been "paved."

That the repudiation by an Aldermen of responsibility for selling goods to the City because the account was "made out by his daughter" is a petty subterfuge.

That Street Surveyor Hulme has been heard to remark: "Let a nail stick up in the sidewalk and THE INTELLIGENCER will find it." No, the people who stub their toes find it.

That the latest unwelcome news does not come from the seat of war. It is from the mine owners, and intimates that the price of coal will be advanced. Dear! dear! Coal will be dear.

That the Mayor's action in re Alderman Robinson's wall paper account was right and that it is time such Alderman were taught that putting City money into their own pockets is not only illegal, but morally wrong.

That Alderman Robinson forgot when he threatened to go over and "see the Mayor," if he repeated the statement he had made, that His Worship is an Irishman and would have punched him in "rale ould style," if he had got within reach.

That the ladies' headgear these days is coming in for some hard knocks. Here is what a rude Kingston man says: The fall hat for ladies is a sort of alcoholic creation. It looks like a plug hat that some rude and boisterous person had sat upon.

THE WAR SUMMARY.

General Buller yesterday received a despatch confirming the report of British victories around Ladysmith and Colenso on Thursday and Friday.

The British loss was eight killed, including two officers, and twenty men wounded. The Boer losses are said to have been large.

The action of Friday near Colenso appears to have been a stern fight, in which the British infantry stormed the Boer position, and the cavalry played havoc with the retreating enemy.

Newspaper despatches say that 2,000 prisoners were captured. These figures are not credited in official circles, although believing that many prisoners were taken.

An official despatch was also received showing that up to a late hour on Monday night Ladysmith was still holding out.

The situation at Kimberly causes anxiety. The Boers having resorted to desperate measures in order to capture the town.

There is still some doubt as to the exact situation of Glencoe.

No news have been received as to landing of reinforcements, and it is now thought that all such news will be suppressed.

Later despatches show that the British victory near Colenso was of greater importance than the first despatches indicated, the Boer forces being almost annihilated.

The British force returned to Ladysmith unmolested.

It is now possible that communication with Colenso will be restored, armored trains with engineers sent to repair the railway line having met with no opposition.

Morrison's Faust.

Of the many plays now before the public none is more pure in thought, truer in its teachings of humanity, greater in charm and more welcome with each re-occurring visit than Lewis Morrison's "Faust," which is now making its farewell tour through the country. Rear End Collision on the G. T. R This Morning.

Nobody Killed, but Some of the Train Hands Were Badly Bruised--Story of How the Disaster Occurred.

About 8 o'clock this morning it became noised about that a collision had occurred on the Grand Trunk Railway, a short distance west of the city limits, and that a number were killed and others injured.

Upon investigation it was learned that an accident had occurred, but fortunately no lives were sacrificed. The particulars of the accident, as gleamed from one who was in the wreck, are given below:

At 6.55 this morning a way freight, bound westward, left the station here. Mr. Patrick Garry, of York, was the conductor in charge, and the train was hauled by engine No. 831, the engineer being Mr. Jesse Barlow, of Brockville. Some time later a ballast train left the station and, in charge of Conductor R. Smith, of Brockville, hauled by engine No. 841, engineer H. Acton, of this City, and fireman D. Couch, also of this City, proceed westward. When about a mile and a half east of Sidney station a rear-end collision occurred. The ballast train was going along at a fair rate of speed, but owing to a dense fog which prevailed it was impossible to see any great distance ahead. Engineer Acton and his fireman, Couch, were within a short distance of the way freight before they could discern it, and the train, although going only a fair speed, could not be brought to a standstill before a collision occurred. Acton and Couch, seeing the threatened danger did all in their power to avert a collision, but in vain. The latter jumped, but Acton reversed his engine and applied the brakes, thus slackening perceptibly the momentum of the train. As it was, the engine of the ballast train struck the caboose of the way freight with considerable force, derailing it and two other cars.

At first it was thought that some one had been killed, but this fortunately did not happen, although one of the train hands, Mr. Alfred Dunn, a brakesman, of York, had a rather miraculous escape. At the time of the collision he was in the cupola of the van on the way freight, and was thrown violently from his position and alighted upon a stove. He sustained the most serious injuries. Conductor Patrick Garry was near by, and fortunately escaped with a badly bruised hand and slight bruises about the body.

Engineer Acton, although not seriously injured, was badly bruised about the body. His escape from serious injuries was somewhat remarkable.

In the meantime word had been sent to the City and the auxiliary was despatched to the scene. An engine and coach was also brought into requisition, and Dr. Gibson, of this City, and some of the G. T. R. officials were taken to the scene.

The injured were temporarily assisted and placed in the coach and brought to the station, where the ambulance was in waiting to receive them. Conductor Garry and Brakesman Dunn were removed to the hospital, Acton being taken to his home. Garry's only serious injury was in the hand, which was badly cut and bruised. He also had some slight bruises about the body.

At first it was feared that Dunn was fatally injured, but upon examination it was found that no bones were broken, but he sustained some very serious bruises in various parts of the body. He was also badly injured about the face, his nose, cheek and forehead being cut. He will be compelled to remain quiet for some time. He is a married man, residing at York, and is a brother-in-law of Mrs. J. J. McCallum, of this city.

The damage done to the rolling stock is considerable. The caboose was destroyed by fire. Some three loaded cars were thrown off the track and the engine was derailed. The track was blocked for some time.

The way freight was at a stand still at the time, owing to some other train being stationary a short distance ahead of it. Had the atmosphere been clear no doubt the accident would not have occurred.

NOTES.

The accident did not delay the east bound trains, but freight traffic was delayed for some time.

His Life Was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. He tells us of it he says: "I was taken with Typhoid Fever that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I could not even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvellous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all Throat and Lung Troubles. Regular sizes 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free at J. S. McKeown's Drug store; every bottle guaranteed.

REV. J. C. ASH
LOSES HIS CASE

Action Against the Methodist Church Dismissed at Cobourg.

The Non-jury Assizes opened in Cobourg on the 7th inst., before Judge Meredith.

There was an action brought against the Methodist Church by Rev. J. C. Ash, for reinstatement and compensation for loss of salary, etc., consequent upon his being located by resolution of the Bay of Quinte Conference, thus giving him a standing similar to a local preacher in that church. The counsel for the plaintiff were Messrs. E. Guss Porter, Belleville, and J. J. C. Abbott, Trenton, and for the defence, Dr. Maclaren, Toronto, and Mr. McLaughlin, Lindsay.

A number of prominent ministers were summoned as witnesses, but were not called.

After hearing the arguments of the counsel, his Lordship dismissed the case with costs.

BY FRED WHISHAW.

COPYRIGHT 1899 BY THE AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION.

silly, and he came out to speak to us, a bending thing of bows and wreathed smiles. He had no more original lie to tell us, however, than that his horses were all out.

"That doesn't matter, my friend," I said, "for maybe we shall not require any," at which his countenance fell. This looked as though my theory of coercion—namely, that the police if plot there were, was a monetary one.

"The fact is," I continued, "I wish to ask a few questions rather than to travel. I shall pay you well if you answer satisfactorily. Firstly, do you remember three gentlemen traveling from here to town a short while since; one was a sick person and the police assistance in getting into the carriage?"

The man smiled obsequiously and said he remembered such a party perfectly.

"Did they travel to St. Petersburg from here?" I asked.

The man assented.

"This seems all right, Percy," I whispered.

"Ask him if he remembers the house they drove to in St. Petersburg," suggested Percy.

I did so. The fellow put on an air of deep thought. Then he shook his head.

We drove rapidly toward St. Petersburg.

He did not think he had ever heard the address mentioned, he said. Perhaps the man who drove the party would remember. The man was in; he would send him. The driver came out, and we put the question to him. He scratched his head, he expectorated with great freedom, then he made a gesture which clearly conveyed to us that it was "no go." His memory failed him.

"Would a 3 ruble note help you to remember?" I asked. The fellow said that for this sum he would, at any rate, invoke numerous hearty blessings upon our heads.

"Possibly Grishka" (the driver's name) "might remember the way to the house and the very house itself if he were to drive your merciful highness into town, though the name of the street has escaped his memory. I might hire horses for your highnesses at—at a certain rate!"

"Hire them, hire them, little father," I cried, "at any price you please, and Grishka here shall drive us to the very house! Gad, Percy," I added in English, "we're on the scent now with a vengeance. This fellow will take us to the very house the rascals carried father to. It's splendid!"

"It does seem rather rosy!" said Percy.

Within five minutes the horses were harnessed and ready. We jumped into the trap and drove rapidly toward St. Petersburg. Three hours later the city lights danced before us, and we knew that in a quarter of an hour the secret of dear old dad's whereabouts, or at all events a strong clew, would be in our hands.

"Sherlock Holmes is not in it," had been the burden of our conversation during the exciting drive. We had done this thing well and were in full swing for success—the reward of patience and good management.

Now we were driving through the streets. Over the Tuchkof bridge we dashed, and through Vassili Ostrof and across the Nicholas bridge; then to the left by the English quay to the Winter palace and straight on to the Palace quay—the most fashionable of all quarters of the town. "Grishka, you fool!" I shouted. "Where are you taking us to? It could not have been here the party came!"

"Good heavens, Boris!" said Percy. "Do you know what? He's taking us to your own house. He must have brought the count and the others here on some former occasion."

It was too sickeningly true. Straight as an arrow he drove us to our own door—147 Palace quay—and drew up there!

"There!" said Grishka. "The very house. I remember it by the big stone balcony."

I climbed sadly out—dejected and disappointed. Percy was scarcely merrier.

"Grishka," I said, "do you tell me you brought those gentlemen here last week?"

"Last week? Have mercy, barin, no; not last week—many weeks, months ago."

I paid the fellow and sent him away. We had been done—whether intentionally or not, I had not the heart as yet to think out. We had, I firmly believe, struck a true trail, but had lost it almost in the finding.

CHAPTER VI.

DETECTIVE IN THE CASE.

After this failure, which had promised at one moment to be a grand success, Percy and I felt so humbled that we actually consulted with mother as to whether the police should be invited to take over the matter, or at least asked to assist us in our further inquiries.

My dear mother was, however, very much adverse to such a step. She had always felt horror of the Russian detective force, that "terrible third section," the ununiformed, secret, mysterious, spying creatures who swarm, or swarmed at that time, in the capital city of the czar. "For the love of heaven," she entreated us, with tears in her eyes, "let us keep our sorrow out of their knowledge. I would not have those hateful people to know of our grief or handy with your dear father's name as a stalking horse for their arrestings and spyings. We will leave them out as long as we can."

Mother was convinced that Percy and I had, as I have said, struck the trail of the mystery at Erinofka, and this opinion received a kind of terrible confirmation a few days later when, walking in the Nefsky with Percy, I met Hulbert, the Englishman, who, with father and another, rented the shooting of that splendid moor.

Hulbert was decorously sympathetic about our family trouble, for of course he knew of it, though we carefully preserved it from becoming a matter of general knowledge and tittle tattle. Then he told me that he had just been to Erinofka, and that an extraordinary and horrible murder had been committed in the village. No stranger had been seen about the place, it was said, yet one of the villagers had been stabbed dead in his hut—heaven only knew why or by whom, for he hadn't an enemy in

GRAND TRUNK AND EMPLOYEES

Montreal, Nov. 8.—The conference between the delegation of Grand Trunk freight conductors and trainmen and Mr. McGuigan, general superintendent, was continued at the head office of the company at Point St. Charles yesterday morning.

The chief bone of contention is said to be due to a suggested change in the present system of wages, which is now calculated according to the trip. For instance, from Montreal to Brockville, which is an average run of from six to eight hours, a day and a quarter is allowed the men. The change suggested by the general superintendent is that the wages be based according to the numbers of miles run, regardless of the amount of time it occupies to run to a terminal point. This if put into force would be the means of cutting down the wages considerably, unless the management saw fit to grant a rate per mile sufficient to cover the loss by the change.

Bert Kilner Shot by Accident.

Toronto, Nov. 8.—Bert Kilner and C. A. Krauss rose early yesterday morning and went out shooting on the bay. They were near the island, when both barrels of Kilner's gun, the hammers being at full cock, accidentally were discharged simultaneously. One charge shot off his right knee cap and the other mutilated a finger of his left hand. The injured man was brought over to the Electric Light Company's wharf and removed in the ambulance to the Emergency Hospital, where his wounds were treated.

Pitch-in on the M. C. R.

St. Thomas, Nov. 8.—A pitch-in occurred on the M.C.R. at Fargo at 5.45 o'clock yesterday morning. Conductor Peter Lowry's extra west bound freight was pulling the siding when Conductor W. Phoenix's west bound freight crashed into the rear of it. The caboose and three coal cars were derailed and badly demolished. Two other cars were also badly damaged. No person was hurt. The accident was due to the heavy fog. No. 15 express was delayed one hour and forty minutes in consequence of the accident.

Insurgents Take the Offensive.

Manila, Nov. 8.—A force of 300 insurgents attacked the 4th Cavalry last night, making three futile charges, and losing three men. The Americans lost none.

The first raft across the ferry at Cabanatuan was carried away by the swift current. It had 16 men of the 3rd Cavalry on board with their horses, but only one of them was drowned.

They All Signed It.

Washington, Nov. 8.—Assistant-Secretary Hill for the United States, Mr. Tower, for Great Britain, and Mr. Von Schwarzenstein, on the part of Germany, yesterday, at the State Department, signed a convention providing for the adjustment by arbitration of claims of inhabitants of Samoa, for damages resulting from the naval and military operations there last spring.

Peterboro, Nov. 8.—Nominations were held here yesterday for the selection of a candidate to contest the riding of West Peterboro, rendered necessary by Hon. J. R. Stratton's call to the Cabinet. Mr. R. Hamilton nominated Mr. Stratton, which was seconded by Mr. P. Crough. No other nominations were received, and Hon. Mr. Stratton was declared duly elected.

SAID IT WAS ULTRA VIRES.

The Second Day's Argument in the Ontario Lumber Case.

Toronto, Nov. 8.—Argument in the case of the Michigan lumbermen against the Ontario Government was continued yesterday at Osgoode Hall before Mr. Justice Street.

Mr. Christopher Robinson contended that the manufacturing clause applied only to future new sales of timber berths, and that it was not retrospective. He declared the statute enacted by the Provincial Legislature was beyond the powers of that body. He cited the case of Parsons v. the Citizen's Insurance Company.

Mr. Scott followed, arguing in favor of the existence of a contract with the Government.

Mr. Blake in reply said the question was whether the lumber business of Ontario was to be run according to the views of persons on the other side of the line or not. He contended that the principle governing licenses was adopted in 1849, when it was determined that a license should not issue for a longer period than one year. The petitioners wanted to turn a year's contract into a perpetual privilege, and Mr. Blake was still speaking when the court arose.

Got a Cheque for $1,439,000.

Montreal, Nov. 8.—There are three happy men here to-day, and the balance of the joyous trio are J. N. Greenshields, William Mitchell and William Farewell. These gentlemen were the owners of the Drummondville extension which the Laurier Government purchased, and which was yesterday paid for by a cheque from the Department of Railways and Canals. The purchase price was $1,600,000, but the cheque was for $1,439,000, the difference being made up in $136,000 lease money and $25,000 which the department held back owing to some defects in titles.

Ridgetown to St. Thomas.

Ottawa, Nov. 8.—Application of Lake Erie and Detroit River Railway for extending its road from Ridgetown to St. Thomas, was heard before the Railway Committee of the Privy Council yesterday afternoon and judgment was reserved. Mr. Lash, Q.C., appeared for the Lake Erie and Detroit River Road, and Mr. Kingsmill, Q.C., for the Canada Southern.

The Webster Hotel Fire.

Montreal, Nov. 7.—At the instance of Coroner MacMahon, warrants were sworn out to-day for the arrest of Mrs. Malu, the owner of the Webster Hotel, and Mr. Perkins, the lessee, who were declared by the coroner's jury to be responsible for the loss of life by the Webster Hotel fire. The warrants have been given to the police to execute.

Germany and the Open Door.

Berlin, Nov. 7.—The Foreign Office authorized the Associated Press to say regarding the United States representations relative to maintaining the open door in China, that Germany has shown it, by opening a free port at Kiao-Chou, and by Count Von Bulow's binding declarations, that she favors a live and let live policy in China.

The Company owns over twelve thousand acres of rich copper land in Texas, opened, tested, developed and NOW BEING OPERATED. Millions of tons of copper bearing clay and marl running from five to ten per cent., and large quantities of ore carrying from fifty to seventy per cent. copper in sight. Cheaply mined and treated, favorable climate, cheap fuel, and ample water. Stated by geologists, chemists, experts and engineers to be one of the greatest and best in the world. Amount of land, quantity and quality of ore, cheapness of mining and treatment, the increasing demand and profit in producing copper considered, the Boston and Texas Copper Company possesses unequalled advantages and affords the best kind of an investment.

Calumet and Hecla ore averages 4 1-2 per cent. copper. It has paid $62,850,000 dividends

Tamarack ore averages 3 per cent. It has paid $5,910,000 in dividends.

Atlantic ore averages 85-100 of 1 per cent. It has paid $780,000 in dividends.

Boston and Montana ore runs 7 per cent. It has paid $10,775,000 in dividends.

Franklin ore averages 1 37-100 per cent. It has paid $1,230,000 in dividends.

The Quincy ore averages 1 8-10 per cent. It has paid $11,070,000.

THE AVERAGE OF BOSTON & TEXAS ORE IS OVER 50 PER CENT., and of copper marls and clays from 5 to 10 per cent. Both the ore, marl and clay are within a few feet of the surface of the ground, so that the expense of mining and hoisting is minimized. A party of New England capitalists who have just returned from an examination of the mines in conjunction with one of the ablest mining engineers in the country, report the property to be one of the largest and best in America, and to contain inexhaustible quantities of rich copper deposits.

It is estimated that the plant now being arranged for will produce $3,000 to $5,000 per day, NET.

Prospectus, engineers' reports, assays and full information will be furnished on application. Remit by check, P. O. order, draft or registered letter to Treasurer.

Limited amount of stock only at $5 per share, full paid and non-assessable, by immediate application.

For coughs, colds, bronchitis and all lung and throat troubles, there is no preparation or medicine can compare with Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which causes difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relief to that depressing tightness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and huskiness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous. If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety, trouble and expense, let them procure a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the Syrup according to directions

At Death s Door—Dyspepsia Conquered. A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. (Signed) Jean Valcourt, General Merchant, Wotton, P. Q.

Totally Deaf.—Mr. S. E. Crandell, Port Perry, writes:—"I contracted a severe cold last winter, which resulted in my becoming totally deaf in one ear and partially so in the other. After trying various remedies, and consulting several doctors, without obtaining any relief, I was advised to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

UNITED STATES ELECTIONS.

Twelve States Had Contests, But Results Cannot Be Given.

Elections took place yesterday in the States of New York, Ohio, Kentucky, Maryland, Massachusetts, Iowa, Mississippi, Pennsylvania, Virginia, New Jersey, Nebraska and South Dakota. Only in New York, Ohio and Kentucky were there any big offices at stake, the contests elsewhere being over minor positions.

Republicans Carry the State.

New York, Nov. 7.—Generally speaking the election in New York State is a Republican victory. The principal fight was on the assembly, and the Republican majority of 24 in that body has been increased to 34. New York City holds its own as a Democratic stronghold and all of the candidates endorsed by Tammany have been successful.

Ohio Is Republican.

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 7.—The returns at midnight indicate the election of Judge Nash, Republican, for Governor by from 30,000 to 40,000 plurality over John R. McLean, Democrat, and Mayor Jones of Toledo, non-partisan. Jones polled a surprisingly large vote and undoubtedly drew largely from the Democratic candidate. Both branches of the legislature are Republican.

Kentucky Republican.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 7.—By the combined efforts of the Republicans and Anti-Goebelites, Attorney-General W. S. Taylor, Republican, has been elected Governor of Kentucky by a majority variously estimated from seven to fifteen thousand over Goebel, Democrat. Returns received up to midnight also indicate the election of the entire Republican ticket, while the complexion of the legislature is in doubt.

THE TURANIAN ASHORE.

London, Nov. 7.—Tidings have reached here that the Allan Line steamship Turanian is ashore on the Blissoh Reef, off the County Mayo coast, West of Ireland. She had jettisoned some of her cargo of live stock, but was bumping heavily and making water in all her holds. The crew and cattlemen, it is reported, are all safe. She did not carry any passengers.

THE WINNIPEG ROBBERY CASE

Mr. Hagel Made a Powerful Defence of the Prisoner.

He Was Followed by Mr. Howell in a Plain Statement of the Case—The Jury at 5.10 p.m. Yesterday Agreed to an Adjournment, and Will Hear Judge Bain's Charge This Morning.

Winnipeg, Nov. 8. — Yesterday Judge Bain took his seat promptly at 10 o'clock and the case was proceeded with. At the conclusion of the evidence of a few witnesses for the defence and the close of the case on the prisoner's side, the prosecution called in rebuttal Jerry Robinson, who said that he had employed Davis on March 1 last. He had arranged to have Davis come to work in his store in January. Davis had called upon Mr. Robinson in his office at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon and said that he could place the robbers. Mr. Robinson advised the consulting of Mr. Haggart, Q.C., who was called.

Miss Fowler Knew Davis.

Miss Fowler knew the Davis family in Mitchell, Ont. She knew Percy Davis. She had lived in Mitchell last Christmas time and on New Year's eve had met Davis in Mitchell at that time. There could be no doubt on this point.

Davis, on being recalled, said that he did not know where Pembina, N. D., was. He had never been there in his life. This was in contradiction of evidence of one of the witnesses for the defence. On Dec. 31, 1898, he was at Mitchell, Ont. He had not been over the Louise Bridge in a buggy.

To Mr. Hagel, he said he had not missed a day in Robinson's store in the month of June. During Christmas week he had not been all the time in Mitchell, but had been away on short trips.

Mr. Hagel's Address.

Mr. Hagel then began his address to the jury, attacking Davis' record vigorously, and really indicating that the line of defence was that Davis himself might have been mixed up in the robbery. He made a pathetic appeal in closing on behalf of the prisoner, also for the relatives of the latter, and, in the interests of justice, asked that he be acquitted.

Loud applause followed, a large number of women in the court room joining in.

Mr. Howell's Reply.

Mr. Howell, for the Crown, made a plain appeal to the jury, asking them simply to consider the evidence, which, he contended, pointed directly to the prisoner, and the prisoner alone. He pointed to the number of times Anderson told Davis he had been in the bank vault, how easy it was for him to get therein, the finding of the $2,000 wrapped in the identical brown paper described by Anderson to Davis, and to the utter impossibility that Davis could have had a hand in the robbery.

Mr. Howell was also applauded by the jammed court room.

Goes Over Till To-Day.

On the suggestion of Judge Bain, it being 5.10 o'clock, the jury agreed to wait until this morning for the judge's charge. Justice Bain remarked that it would be more in the interests of the administration of justice to have the charge made then. The jury readily acquiesced.

So confident were Anderson's friends yesterday that he would be acquitted had the case gone to the jury, that it is said they had prepared a reception for him last night.

Mr. Latchford Has to Fight.

Renfrew, Ont., Nov. 8. — South Renfrew nominations were held here yesterday. Hon. Frank R. Latchford, Q.C., of Ottawa, was nominated by John Tierney of Arnprior, and seconded by John Forrest of Burnstown, as well as by a numerously signed nomination paper. Thomas A. McGarry was nominated by Henry Moss of Renfrew, seconded by James J. Maloney of Mount St. Patrick.

Miss Cargill Married.

Cargill, Nov. 8.—A fashionable wedding was celebrated here yesterday, when Miss Henrietta Cargill, daughter of Mr. Henry Cargill, M.P., was married to Mr. Wilson Southam, manager of The Ottawa Citizen.

MEN CURED FREE.

A most successful remedy has been found for sexual weakness such as varicocele, nervous debility, lost manhood, and all other results of youthful folly or excesses. It cures any case of the difficulty, never fails to restore the full natural strength and vigor. The Doctor who made this wonderful discovery wants to let every man know about it. He will therefore send the receipt giving the various ingredients to be used so that all men at a trifling expense can cure themselves. He sends the receipt free, and all the reader need do is to send his name and address to L. W. Knapp, M.D., 1782 Hull Bldg., Detroit, Mich., requesting the free receipt as reported in this paper. It is a generous offer, and all men ought to be glad to have such an opportunity. 8-16-w&s-1y

WHITE'S BRILLIANT WORK.

He Scores a Big Victory Over the Free State Boers

Heard They Were Attacking Colenso and Stormed Them in the Rear—When Charged, the Boers Were Cut Off Almost to a Man—Communication With Ladysmith May Be Restored as the Result.

London, Nov. 8.—Last night's welcome despatches from the front have rent the veil of gloom enveloping Ladysmith, showing the British garrison not merely standing on the dogged defensive, but executing a series of brilliant sorties. Accounts from different sources agree that the laconic official description of Thursday's engagement as "an effective shelling of the Boer laager," was unduly modest.

Boers Were Cut to Pieces.

It appears that Sir George Stewart White sent a strong force of cavalry and infantry to attack the Boers at Tatham's farm, about 10 miles to the northwest, near Bester's, and apparently achieved a surprise, the Boers being caught on the open veldt and cut to pieces and their camp captured. Encouraged by this success, General White decided to risk an even more important engagement on the following day, which was again justified by success.

White Again After the Boers.

Ladysmith had been isolated, and a Boer force had intercepted the railway between Ladysmith and Colenso. This force on Friday had descended upon Colenso, and, as shown by the despatches from Estcourt, had compelled a hurried abandonment of Colenso and a retirement of the British to Estcourt.

But He Was Mistaken.

General White had ascertained that the Boers were attacking Colenso, but he was not aware of the British retirement. He had determined, therefore, to attack the Boers in the rear, thus hoping to achieve the doubtful object of drawing off an attack upon the garrison of Colenso, and possibly of re-opening communication southward. The Boers had advanced southward until they had occupied the hills north of Tugela River and dominating Colenso, on the other side of the stream. The hills stop to a plain that reaches to the banks of the Tugela.

Stormed the Boers.

General White caught the Boers in the rear, and, after the hills had been shelled, the British infantry stormed the position. Meanwhile the British cavalry swept round the hills, and, as the retreating enemy descended into the plains with British bayonets behind them and the river in front of them, they were charged by the cavalry, and seem to have perished almost to a man.

Communication May Be Restored.

The British then returned to Ladysmith without coming into touch with the Colenso garrison, which had retired to Estcourt. Sunday's despatch from Estcourt, however, showed that an armored train had been sent back to Colenso to repair the line, and the next news may possibly be of the restoration of communication with Ladysmith.

Ladysmith All Right.

While the British troops are thus engaged in successful endeavors to wipe out the Nicholson's Nek disaster, the situation inside Ladysmith, as shown by an official despatch from the general at Estcourt, was most satisfactory, encouraging a hope that Sir George White may yet completely retrieve his reputation, and that his force may emerge triumphant from the ordeal through which it is now passing.

Boers Are Treacherous.

Durban, Natal, Nov. 5.—(Sunday, 5.55 p.m.)—A native eyewitness of Thursday's battle near Ladysmith says the Boers were caught on the open ground and raised several white flags. The British then advanced without firing to accept the surrender of the Boers, but were received with a volley at close range. Enraged at this treachery, the Lancers, Hussars and Dragoons, followed by the infantry with fixed bayonets, charged through and through the enemy and did great execution. A lot of prisoners and loot were captured. Another battle on Friday with the Boers was proceeding, according to the native, in the south, with a similar result.

To Relieve Colenso.

Estcourt, Natal, Sunday, Nov. 5.—(10.50 p.m.)—A reliable native has brought confirmatory evidence of the Friday fight south of Ladysmith. A reconnaissance was forced by the British division, the object being to relieve the Colenso column, which had been attacked by the Boers. The British infantry charged the Boers, who were strongly posted on Globberskoof Hill, and drove them down on the plain towards Tugela River, while the British cavalry, executing a fine flank movement, charged the Boers, almost annihilating them. The plain was strewn with slain Boers.

An armored train has left for Colenso with a company of the Dublin Fusiliers and a railroad engineering staff to repair the line. No fight is supposed to have occurred Saturday, as no firing was heard.

Cavalry Did Great Execution.

Cape Town, Saturday, Nov. 4.—(Afternoon.)—A despatch from Ladysmith says that on Thursday afternoon the British cavalry charged the Boers while the latter were manoeuvring south of the town, and cut their way through them. A Long Tom posted on Bulwin Hill shelled the town, but little damage was done. The naval gunners put the big gun situated on Hepworth's Hill out of action.

The enemy at Grobler's Kloof engaged a company of the Royal Irish Fusiliers, and brisk firing occurred on both sides. An armored train, with 0 infantrymen on board, drew the enemy's fire, enabling the volunteers to make headquarters safely. The military are eulogized for their timely help to the volunteers.

Boer Forces Underestimated.

London, Nov. 8.—Mail news from South Africa shows that a fair estimate of the Boer forces is as follows: Around Ladysmith, 25,000; traversing Zululand, 4,000; advancing on Burghersdorp, 8,000; Colesburg, 3,000; Kimberley, 7,000; Mafeking, 4,000; and on the northern Transvaal border, 2,000.

Exact information about the Boer artillery is lacking, but it is known that General Joubert's detachment, before it was reinforced, consisted of 16 Krupp field pieces of the latest pattern, and two heavy Creuzot siege guns, which but for the opportune arrival of the British naval brigade, might have rendered Ladysmith untenable.

Boers Destroyed a Bridge.

Cape Town, Nov. 5.—(Sunday, 3.15 p.m.)—Advices from the Orange River say it is reported that the Boers have destroyed one of the piers of Modder River Bridge and there are rumors, emanating from Hopetown, that an attack will be made on the Orange River camp.

2,000 Boer Prisoners.

London, Nov. 8.—It is announced in a special despatch from Cape Town dated Sunday, Nov. 5 (morning), that the British have been victorious in an engagement at Ladysmith and that the Boer loss was very heavy, including 2,000 prisoners.

Ingwavuma Looted by Boers.

Durban, Natal, Sunday Evening, Nov. 5.—The Boers have invaded Ingwavuma, Zululand, and looted and burned the public buildings and stores. The magistrate, police and other inhabitants fled towards Eshowe.

The work of a farmer's wife is never ended. But it is wholesome, enjoyable, productive work that is pleasurable if the farmer's wife is a well woman.

The work becomes weary drudgery when the woman is sick. The work drags and the woman's pride is hurt. Her ambition is to do as much and better work than her neighbors. It is a distinct triumph if her butter is generally regarded as the finest in the county. But fine butter and bad health don't go together.

Mrs. W. J. Kidder, of Hill Dale Farm, Enosburg, Vt., writes to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.: "During the past year I found that I was to become a mother and that I was in rapidly failing health. I suffered dreadfully from bloating, and urinary difficulty. I was growing perceptibly weaker each day and suffered much sharp pain at times. I had to give up my work and I felt that something must be done. I sought your advice and received a prompt reply. I followed your directions and took twelve bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and also followed your hygenic instructions. I began to improve immediately, my health became excellent, and I could do all my work (we live on a good sized farm). I walked and rode all I could, and enjoyed it. I had a short, easy confinement and have a healthy baby boy."

The one medicine that gives prompt and sure relief is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a tonic and purifier that works on one special set of organs and puts them in a perfectly vigorous, healthy condition. It quickly soothes inflammation and stops debilitating drains on the system. Taken regularly during the period of gestation it greatly lessens the pain and danger of childbirth.

Although sweet to the taste it contains no sugar which often disagrees with weak stomachs; nor does it contain any alcohol, or opium in any form, and therefore does not induce a craving for stimulants Keeps perfectly in any climate.

BOERS FIRED THE VELDT.

Small Dynamite Magazine Exploded With Terrific Force.

London, Nov. 8.—The Daily Mail publishes the following despatch from Kimberley, dated Wednesday, by way of Hopetown, Saturday, Nov. 4: "This morning the Boers fired the veldt near Ironfield, seven miles from Kimberley, and this afternoon the flames set on fire the smaller of the two magazines, exploding the dynamite with a terrific report. Fortunately no one was injured. The veldt is still burning, and it is feared that the larger magazine, where there are 1,200 cases of dynamite, will be ignited."

Explosion Was Terrible.

Hope Town, Cape Colony, Nov. 4.—A despatch which has been received here from Kimberley, dated Nov. 1, says: "Apparently the Boer reinforcements from Mafeking have arrived, as the burghers are more numerous, and closer all around Kimberley. About 1,200 of them made a demonstration three miles eastward, at Premier Mine to-day, and opened fire on the De Beers carts, but no damage was done. The explosion of the dynamite magazine caused by the Boers firing the plain, was terrific. The huts contained 35 tons of dynamite, valued at £3,500.

"All the wounded are progressing satisfactorily.

"A committee to regulate the supply and price of food is being formed."

TRIED TO RUSH MAFEKING.

Boers Were Stampeded by Terrific Rifle and Maxim Fire.

London, Nov. 8.—News has just arrived from Mafeking showing that up to October 25, the Boers continued the bombardment, firing as many as 300 shells in 36 hours, though causing but little damage and wounding only four men. That day they closed in all round the town and made a determined attempt to rush it. The garrison turned out to a man and delivered a terrific rifle and maxim fire, which speedily stampeded the Boers who were driven over mines which exploded and scattered them in all directions. It is believed at Mafeking that the enemy suffered heavily and is not likely to make another attempt to storm the town.

Col. Plumer to the Relief.

Cape Town, Nov. 8.—Natives report that Col. Plumer's forces from Fort Tuli, is working its way from Rhodesia, to relieve Mafeking.

To Mobilize the Whole Army.

London, Nov. 8.—It is now virtually decided to send another division of 10,000 men to South Africa as speedily as possible. For this purpose a second and third army corps will be mobilized. The second will consist of 40,000 men, of which 10,000 will go to Africa, the rest being concentrated at Aldershot, in readiness for emergencies. The third corps a nominal affair, will number 25,000 men, who will be used for garrison purposes at home. Thus the entire British army will virtually be mobilized, which will be an unprecedented occurrence.

Charged With Murder.

Queenstown, Nov. 8.—Clinger, the seaman of the British barque Pegasus, from Portland, Oregon, June 28, for this port, who was handed over to the police on the arrival of the vessel here, charged with having fatally stabbed a fellow sailor named Hutton during the voyage, was yesterday committed for trial on the charge of murder.

Britain Ready to Meet Any Possible Combination of Powers.

Marines for Esquimalt, Whose Sailing Was Not Announced, Will Arrive at Halifax To-Day—Heavy Ordnance on the Way, Which Will Make Esquimalt the Strongest Naval Station on the Pacific—Canadian News.

Montreal, Nov. 7.—(Special.)—A despatch from Halifax to-day says that England does not intend to be taken unawares in any move that may be made in the Pacific as a result of a possible combination of two or more hostile powers against her interests in that quarter of the globe. It is learned that a strong detachment of marines, whose sailing from England was not announced, will arrive at Halifax to-morrow, or the day after, en route to Esquimalt, B.C., the strongest British stronghold and naval base on the Pacific Ocean. The fortifications at Esquimalt are also undergoing considerable strengthening and enlargement, and a large amount of heavy ordnance has recently been shipped across the continent to be mounted at that fortress.

Recruit Classes Forming in Ottawa.

Ottawa, Nov. 7.—Lieut.-Col. Hodgins writes as follows: "In view of the fact that an additional call may yet be made on the Canadian militia in connection with the war in the Transvaal, the officers of the Guards have decided to make an effort to further recruit the ranks of the regiment, and they trust that their efforts in this direction may be successful.

"Every patriotic Canadian resident in this city must recognize that the present is an occasion when the necessities of the Empire and the duties of Canadians alike should induce and stimulate recruiting, in order that when called upon the Canadian regiments may be filled with men trained and drilled.

"With this object in view the officers of the Guards have instituted recruit classes, which meet every Tuesday and Friday evenings at 8 o'clock.

"The regimental instructors will be in attendance. These classes will be open not only to former militiamen who may desire to brush up their military knowledge but to all who desire to obtain instruction in drill, no matter whether they are members of any militia corps or not; so that all are welcome to the advantages which these classes present."

To Give the Boys a Chance.

Ottawa, Nov. 7.—It is said that the appointment of Major Drummond as chief military adviser to Col. Otter was made with the object of giving the Canadian contingent a forward place in the war. Col. Otter will arrive in South Africa a stranger to the staff of the field force, and without influence at his back might be sidetracked with his men. Major Drummond will be able to obviate such a contingency. He is personally acquainted with Gen. Buller and the chiefs under him, and will be able to secure access to the highest military authority and equal treatment for the Canadians with the other troops.

Is Samuel Hague Alive?

Ottawa, Nov. 7.—Archdeacon Bogert states that a cablegram has been received from London by the relatives of Samuel Hague, who is a lance-corporal in the Gloucestershire Regiment, captured by the Boers, stating Hague's name is not among the dead, but the missing. At the worst, therefore, he is likely only a prisoner of the Boers.

SIR CHARLES IN WINNIPEG.

Veteran Conservative Leader Spoke There for Three Hours.

Winnipeg, Nov. 7.—(Special.)—Sir Charles Tupper was greeted in Selkirk Hall to-night by an immense audience. People were literally banked up the sides of the hall, stood in the aisles and crowded up the steps outside in a vain effort to gain admission. Hundreds were turned away.

Shortly after 8 o'clock a band was heard outside playing "Rule Britannia," and "The Maple Leaf," and there soon appeared Hon. Hugh John Macdonald, chairman of the meeting, and the veteran Conservative leader, Sir Charles Tupper. The audience rose and received them with ringing cheers in their march up the aisle, and again when they reached the platform.

Sir Charles Spoke Three Hours.

Sir Charles was presented with a bouquet and kissed the little girl presenting it. He spoke for three hours and there was much enthusiasm to the end. He answered Ministers Paterson and Sifton, and remarked that the former would have to find another seat, as North Grey was done with him. Mr. Sifton came in for a scorching. Sir Charles said if ever a man was stamped with incapacity in administration, that man was Mr. Sifton. His administration of the Yukon was deplorable and scandalous. In the presence of ladies he dared not particularize, but the fair name of Canada had been degraded.

Body Found Under a Bridge.

Chatham, Ont., Nov. 7.—Supt. Jones of the Waterworks Department, shortly after 3 o'clock this afternoon, found a body, believed to be that of W. H. Tighe, the well-known grain buyer, who has been missing since last summer. The remains were under the E. & H. bridge, near the east bank, where the missing man was last seen. They were very much decomposed, and the features were unrecognizable, but there is little doubt the body is that of Mr. Tighe. The stature is about the same and the clothing is of the color he wore when he disappeared.

Hugo Knell is Dead.

Berlin, Ont., Nov. 7.—A sad accident occurred here this forenoon at the C. H. Doerr & Co.'s biscuit and confectionary establishment, whereby a young man of 21 years, by the name of Hugo Knell, son of F. Knell, ex-councillor North Ward, sustained injuries from which he has since died. It appears the young man was coming down the elevator, when something went wrong, the cable broke and all went down to the bottom with a crash, bounding Knell upwards, and his head struck a beam, fracturing and crushing his skull in a frightful manner. Medical aid was summoned, but he never regained consciousness, dying this afternoon.

Cramps Buying Canadian Lumber.

Vancouver, B.C., Nov. 7.—Vancouver has a new market for lumber and will supply shipbuilding material for no less a corporation than the Cramps of Philadelphia, who are building several ships of war for the United States Government. This is the first shipment that has ever been taken direct to the Philadelphia yards of the great shipbuilding firm, and, if it is successful, should be one of the many that will go the same way during the next year or two. The shipment from Vancouver will be nearly 1,000,000 feet of lumber.

Over Fifty Lives Lost.

San Francisco, Nov. 7.—Hong Kong papers of Oct. 5, received by The Doric, give details of a great fire in Canton at midnight, on Oct. 2, by which over 50 persons lost their lives. It seems a mat shed theatre had been built by the riverside, and around it about 100 boats had been anchored. While the theatrical performance was going on fire broke out on one of the boats. It spread rapidly to the inflammable material of the theatre. There was a wild rush among the audience and many boats were capsized. Over 50 people were burned or drowned.

SNAP SHOTS AT TIMELY TOPICS.

—Our American cousins are beginning to wake up to the fact that there is need of a revision in their divorce laws if marriage as an institution is not to be utterly ruined amongst them. In Canada we know little of the great evil divorce has grown to be across the line, where some states made a regular business of granting decrees as a means of attracting a floating population, and lawyers advertised for clients, laying stress on their "plans" and the secrecy of their process, very much on the same lines that an insurance company advertises its plans of insuaance. At length the churches have become aroused to the danger of the thing which threatens the wreck of American society, and they are putting forward every effort to check its growth.—Events.

—In a letter to the Stratford (Ont.) Beacon, bristling with details, Mr. James Pringle of the Classic City points out some outrageous discriminations against Canadian shippers practised by Canadian railways. Wheat is carried from Chicago to the seaboard at the rate of 8 cents per 100 pounds, while from this district the rate is 12½ cents to Montreal and 15½ cents to Portland. The result claimed is that wheat is six to eight cents higher in Chicago than it is in Canada and the Ontario farmer who wishes to export to the European market is at a great disadvantage. Mr. Pringle's charges are specific, and are based on his own experience.

—Those Boer guns which the contingent from H.M.S. Powerful knock out of service each day threaten to become the Porac of the South Africa war.

—Manila papers refer to the insurgents as "Hellions." On the theory that war is Hell, that may be a more vigorous way of calling them warriors.

—That pigeon post from Ladysmith appears to be a highly satisfactory form of wireless telegraphy.

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION.

Rev. W. J. Gilliland and Bride the Recipients of Handsome Presents and Warm Congratulations Last Night.

A very pleasant event came off last night at the residence of Mr. Hampton, Foster Ave., when the Young People's Society and Choir of Emmanuel R. E. Church presented to their pastor, Rev. W. J. Gilliland, an address expressive of their esteem for him, at the same time congratulating him upon the fact that he had recently added to his blessings by taking unto himself a wife. Accompanying the address, which was read by Miss Lizzie Worrell, was a handsome clock and biscuit jar.

Rev. Mr. Gilliland made a feeling reply, thanking them, not only for their present expressions of good will and beautiful presents, but for the help and encouragement they had given him, as their pastor, since he had held that position.

The members of the congregation had turned out in force to do honor to their popular minister, and the house was crowded. The evening was one of much enjoyment to all present, refreshments being served and songs and recitations contributed by members of the Choir and Young People's Society.

RINGWORM ON BABY'S FACE

Mother Ashamed to Take Him Out. Everything Failed to Cure. CUTICURA Cured in 3 Days.

I have had my baby sick with his face full of ringworm, and tried everything and failed. I was ashamed to take him out, for every one would look at him. I was told to get CUTICURA. I got it on Wednesday, and by Saturday his face was all dried up. Now I can take him everywhere. I cannot say enough about CUTICURA. If people only knew about how his face looked a week ago, and see it to-day they would never be without it. The people in the house can tell you how his face was, and how it is to-day.

CRAZY WITH ITCHING

Eczema on Head. Got into the Eyes. Doctor & Institutes Could Not Cure. Cured in 2 Months by CUTICURA.

I have been troubled over two years with eczema on the top of my head. It first started to itch, something fierce. My doctor said it was eczema, and treated me for six months, with failure, so I tried more doctors, but they did the same, I tried a New York institute, which treated me for six months, but could not reach any further than the rest. I had it worse than from the start, as it commenced to get in my eyes, and nearly got me crazy with itching. I noticed your advertisement in the N. Y. World, and thought I would try CUTICURA remedies. In two months' time I did not know that I had any trouble at all, and I feel like a new man now. ALFRED MEISEL,
Oct. 12, 1898. 625 W. 48th St., N. Y. City.

A TALE OF DUTY DONE

To Stand Shoulder to Shoulder with Regular Soldiers in Defence of Their Empire and Queen--Incidents at the Ancient Capital and the Departure of the Sardinian Vividly Described in Glowing Words by MAYOR JOHNSON.

The reviews, one by Major-General Hutton, who has done more for the Canadian force since he took command than had been done by all the commanders who preceded him since Confederation, and the other by His Excellency Lord Minto, the Governor-General, himself a soldier bearing many medals on his breast, did not occupy much time. Following the reviews speeches were made by His Excellency the Governor-General, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Prime Minister, and General Hutton, the commander of the forces. It was at this point that the feelings of the onlookers became intensified and found expression. Col. Otter had just responded to the speeches in a few brief and modest words for himself and his officers and men, when, with characteristic promptness, he turned toward his regiment and the words rang out "Royal Canadians, form fours, right, quick march," and all present, from the Govenor-General down to the humblest citizen, realized as the troops moved off in response to the command, that Canada's sons, the flower of her youth, had started for the war, and would soon bid farewell to their dear north land. The spectacle had now reached its height; the troops were moving, company by company, with steady and measured tread, with arms at the shoulder, past the grand stand and saluting the Queen's representative; the bands were playing "The Maple Leaf for Ever" and the bag pipes, "The Cock of the North;" on the tower of the Parliament building, high up on the hill leading to the Citadel, floated the meteor flag of the Empire, the emblem of toleration, of liberty and of equal rights; the crowds were cheering, and shouting good-by to the contingent as a whole and to individual companies as they came past; it was a pageant to be remembered and treasured for a lifetime. Men who are not easily stirred experienced emotions that the strongest and most self contained could not control.

Among the ladies on the platform I was greatly interested in one of the four nurses chosen to accompany the regiment, Miss Russell, of Hamilton, who served with the American forces in Cuba and in the Philippines. She was in her service uniform of khaki, with red necktie, white linen collar, straw sailor hat with a red rifle plume. I predict that the boys will pronounce her "a daisy."

There had been some doubt expressed in the morning about the "Sardinian" getting off on Monday, but it became known early in the afternoon that she was to sail at four o'clock. In the meantime we had accepted the kind invitation of Mayor Parent to go out on the steamer "Lord Stanley" to accompany the troop ship for a few miles down the river. The interval was spent with Sir Adolphe Caron and several of his friends in going through the streets of the city, which were beautifully decorated in many parts with flags and streamers. Two of the mottoes on the streamers are worth recording, as indicating the feelings of our French fellow Canadians, whose attitude towards the African contingent has been misrepresented, and whose loyalty to the Empire has been impugned without cause. The mottoes were:

"You are our pride, and you will be our glory."

"God bless our beloved Queen, and bring back our dear boys home."

At 4:20 in the afternoon a signal gun roared out from the Citadel, and simultaneously with its flash the "Sardinian" left her dock. The scene now baffles description. No language can portray it adequately. The "Lord Stanley" joined the flotilla of excursion steamers, tug boats and nondescript vessels, both steam and sail, that proceeded to surround the "Sardinian" and act as a convoy. From the Citadel the big guns, right under the Union Jack, floating gracefully in the breeze, were belching forth a royal salute of flame and smoke; tens of thousands of people, lined along the docks, from end to end of the City, on Dufferin Terrace, in the windows of the houses, on the rocks of the natural fortress upon which the Citadel stands, and wherever else a foothold could be secured or attempted, were cheering as they never cheered before; while the boats of the convoy were whistling with their loudest screams, their passengers acclaiming as heartily and noisily as the people on shore. While this magnificent manifestation of pride in the men of the contingent and of loyalty to the Empire was proceeding, the "Sardinian" was throwing up rockets in response to the salute from the guns and whistling in response to the steamers of the convoy. The "Royal Canadians" literally covered the ship. From bow to stern on deck, in the rigging, on all the ratlins, in the shrouds, on the cross trees, on the top masts and hanging on the davits there were soldiers cheering, waving Union Jacks and making use of every means by which men give expression to gratitude and pride in public on great occasions.

The opportunity to say the very last farewell had come. Twice had the band on our boat played "God Save the Queen," twice had she sheered off for home, and as many times had she returned to the side of the "Sardinian," lingering, as it were, lovingly, caressingly at her side, unwilling to depart. The lads from Belleville were well forward on the ship's deck standing together. They were able to catch our final greetings. We could hear the response only occasionally, but could always see it, for they had secured the largest Union Jack on board, and each in turn waved it wildly toward us. The final music played by our band was Auld Lang Syne; the passengers on our boat, as well as those on the other convoys near at hand sang the words of the song; they were caught by the "Royal Canadians," who grandly swelled the chorus. Over the rippling waters of the mighty river, and echoing along its shores, amid the glories of an autumn sunset that touched the roofs and domes in the city and the Citadel as with golden flame, were carried the tender and pathetic words of the grand old ballad of the great Scotchman, Bobby Burns.

The "Sardinian" had faded from our vision; we looked at one another; each, unknown to the other, had been shedding the last tear. The brave boys were gone.

THE ROCK BAND CONCERT CO.

There was a good audience present last night to hear the above company, and a pleasing performance was given. The Till family are accomplished musicians, and their unique instruments made the performance one to be long remembered. The ringing rocks, played in the same manner as a xylophone, gave forth sweet music, some of the bass notes in particular being very melodious. The vocal selections and elocutionary numbers were good. The Till family are talented people, and the Tabernacle ladies are to be congratulated on the success of their entertainment.

WILBERT KINGSTON DEAD

A Popular Young Resident of West Huntingdon Died Suddenly of Pneumonia.

Wilbert Kingston, eldest son of John Kingston, died at his home in West Huntingdon on Thursday of last week after only a few days' illness. The young man was in his twenty-ninth year and lived at home with his parents. The funeral, which was held on Saturday, Oct. 28, was, notwithstanding the disagreeable day, one of the largest ever seen in that locality. Rev. W. V. Sexsmith conducted the service in West Huntingdon Methodist Church, and performed the last rites for the dead at West Huntingdon cemetery.

Mr. Geo. A Kingston, B A., a graduate in Arts of Toronto University, and only brother of the deceased, was in attendance at the Normal College at Hamilton at the time of his brother's demise. For the present year, at least, he will be compelled to discontinue his course and remain at home.

The late Mr. Kingston was a young gentleman of straightforward, unassuming character and deservedly popular with a wide circle of friends and acquaintances. For several years he had been a member of the Methodist Church and was a faithful attendant at all devotional services. All the sorrowing friends have our deepest sympathy in their sad bereavement.

The funerals of Mrs. Amanda Hall, Plainfield; Miss Naomi Vancott, Rossmore, and Allan B. Hall, of Thurlow, took place to-day.

MEDICAL SCIENCE ADVANCES.

Positive Cure for Asthma Discovered.

It has long been recognized by medical scientists throughout the world that nature has supplied all creation with some remedy in the vegetable or mineral kingdom wherewith all forms of ailments can be cured, but it was not until the discovery by Stanley of the wonderful Kola plant along the Congo River in Africa that asthma was permanently curable. In fact, it was not until the investigations made by Dr. Clarke some years later that this disease was found curable; he found that by combining the extract of Kola Nut with other vegetable extracts that the compound obtained would permanently cure asthma. Clarke's Kola Compound was then tried on over 100 cases in different hospitals, with the marvelous result that over 95 per cent. were permanently cured in less than 60 days' treatment. Clarke's Kola Compound is now recognized to be the only permanent cure for this dreaded disease. Sold by all druggists. Free sample bottle sent to any person. Mention this paper. Address The Griffiths & Macpherson Co., 121 Church st., Toronto, or Vancouver, B.C., sole Canadian agents. Sold by D. M. Waters, cor. Front and Bridge sts.

NEW YORK MILLIONAIRES

Only a few people reading advertisements of bankers and brokers, saying that money could be made through speculation, realize that the richest men in America have commenced life in a humble way and have made their fortune through stock-exchange speculations.

Men like Jay Gould, who worked as a dry goods clerk in a small town at $10.00 a week up to his twentieth year, and commenced to operate with his small saving of $200.00 in Wall Street, left at his death 70 millions of dollars; Russell Sage, who worked as a grocery boy at $4.00 per week, and whose present wealth is estimated at 100 millions of dollars, is still operating the market, although 80 years of age, and so are thousands of others, who are enjoying all the luxuries life can offer, which is due to their success in speculation.

To the shrewd speculator the same opportunities are open to-day as to others in the past. The smallest lot which can be bought and sold is ten shares on 3% margin, making 30 dollars.

Anybody interested as to how speculations are conducted can get information and market letter free of charge upon application by letter to,

MURDEROUS BURGLARS.

Shot a Toronto Grocer This Morning—Two Men Charged with the Crime.

(Special to the INTELLIGENCER.)

Toronto, Ont., Nov. 9.—John E. Varcoe, whose grocery store at 182 Queen st., east, was entered by burglars between 1 and 2 o'clock this morning, and who was shot twice by one of the men, one bullet taking effect in the groin and the other just below the heart, died at the General Hospital at 7 o'clock this morning.

The two men under arrest, Thos. M. Intosh and Henry Williams, will now have to face a charge of murder.

His Life Was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with Typhoid Fever that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvellous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all Throat and Lung Trouble. Regular sizes 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free at J. S. McKeown's Drug store; every bottle guaranteed.

"His Cordial Satisfaction."

The following telegram has been received from the Major General Commanding, and is now issued to all concerned:

"Convey to your Districts that His Excellency has been pleased to express his cordial satisfaction at soldierly appearance and disciplined embarkation of our comrades and representatives of the 2nd special service Battalion Royal Canadian Regiment.

Express my congratulations to all concerned upon this auspicious event in Canadian military history.

Afternoon Despatches.

THE INTELLIGENCER'S afternoon despatches are twelve hours in advance of the Toronto morning papers.

All Well at Kimberley.

General Buller Sends a Despatch to That Effect.

Wounded Removed to a Place of Safety—Bombardment of Ladysmith Still Going on—Czar and Kaiser Will Discuss the War.

(OTHER DESPATCHES ON INSIDE PAGES.)

London, Nov. 9.—The War Office received the following despatch from Gen. Buller this morning, dated Capetown, Wednesday, Nov. 8, 11:50 p.m. Col. Kekewich telegraphs from Kimberly, Nov. 5, that all is well there and that there has been no serious attack yet.

A slight bombardment did no damage. Information from Mafeking shows that place was safe on Oct. 27.

Gen. White reports by pigeon post that the wounded and some civilians from Ladysmith have been removed four miles down the railroad, by an arrangement with Gen. Joubert, to a neutral place, to save them from the bombardment. Ninety-nine wounded from Dundee have been sent in under a flag of truce. They are all doing well, including the following officers: Col. C. E. Beckitt, Maj. F. Hammersly, Capt. F. Ladam, Lieut. McLachlan, Maj. Boultebee, Capt. Dibley, Lieut. C. N. Pereau, Lieut. C. A. Wortham, Maj. W. Davidson and Lieut. D. E. Welldon.

The bombardment was discontinued Nov. 4 and 5, but it is expected to recommence Nov. 6.

Berlin, Nov. 9.—The Cologne Gazette says the main point to be discussed at the Conference between the Czar and Kaiser at Potsdam will be the means of preventing the war between England and the Boers from spreading beyond the boundaries of South Africa and causing a general European conflagration.

ACCIDENT TO A TROOP SHIP.

St. Vincent, Cape Verde Islands, Nov. 9.—The British transport Persia, with a squadron of the Enniskillen Dragoons, a hospital detachment and munitions of war on board, has been towed here with her thrust shaft broken and other damage done.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING

That the farmers are getting plenty of time to do their fall ploughing.

That if war breaks out between Japan and Russia it won't be hard to guess on which side Canadian sympathy will go.

That, whatever hard things we may say about the clerk of the weather, we can't say he's in league with the coal dealer.

That probably some of the Canadian Contingent got seasick, but it isn't likely that any of the officers threw up their commissions.

That we haven't got many prodigal sons in Belleville, but to hear some people talk you'd think we had a lot of prodigal fathers down at the City Hall sometimes.

That the Hon. David Mills will decline the nomination which he has received from the Grits of Bothwell. Whoever supposed he would give up a certainty for an uncertainty?

That just at present General White seems to be successfully engaged in proving that the "experts" who were so eager to criticise him might better have observed a golden silence.

That, whatever other things Gen. White has had to contend with, he has'nt been troubled much with ennui. His friends the enemy have kept time from hanging heavily on his hands.

That the sending of Cartwright's Toronto speech through the whole country at the Government's expense is an abuse of the "franking privilege." The Government could find a cheaper plan than that to furnish people material to light fires with.

That the offer of another contingent for service in South Africa, made by Laurier, unless accompanied by a promise to pay the expenses, looks as if the Laurier-ites were willing to give the lives of her sons in defence of the Empire providing it did not touch their pockets.

That there is no doubt of the truth of the remark which a prominent Grit politician has just made. He says: "The Ontario Ministers are tired of Tarte, and want to get rid of him." Of course they do. But they don't dare to say their souls are their own in his presence.

That there was quite a bit of excitement in the City last night when it became known that Buller had been besieged all day yesterday. However, people breathed easier when they found it was not the famous general who was in that predicament, but a cousin of his—Dr. Buller, of Montreal, who was at Hotel Quinte. There were no casualties, but like the Boers, the besiegers will have to pay the costs of the campaign.

That the party who wrote the letter signed "Common Sense," which appeared in the city papers on Monday night, should be sure of his facts before he again rushes into print. He said he was informed by one of the City Fathers that a sum was allotted to repair West Bridge st. Whoever the City Father was, he loaded "Common Sense" up with nonsense. It now appears that no sum was ever allotted and no order was ever issued to repair the street in question. People are wondering who the City Father is that is so lamentably ignorant in respect to the affairs of his own city.

That if people can tear their thoughts away from the war news, it is about time they were beginning to exercise themselves a little as to the personnel of the Council which is to spend the City's money next year. There has been growling and grumbling enough this year, goodness knows. Now, some of you gentlemen who have been doing it, come to the centre and, if you don't run for office yourselves, see to it that the best men do run. A little energy and public interest is in order just now.

THE WAR SUMMARY.

No further official despatches regarding last week's fighting around Ladysmith have been received.

The British victory at Colenso, however, is amply confirmed, though newspaper despatches of thousands of prisoners being taken lacks confirmation.

Honest Clothing.

Sensible men ought not to be fooled by trade yarns. "Anything to sell goods" is the maxim of some merchants. The Oak Hall has been with you long enough for you to know that their trade has thrived by selling honest genuine value. No guess work about Oak Hall clothing.

ANOTHER SMASH-UP.

Rear End Collision on the G. T. R. This Morning.

Another accident occurred on the line of the G. T. R. this morning, but from information received no person was seriously injured. It took place near Darlington, a light engine crashing into the caboose of a freight train. In consequence, the line at that place was blocked for some time. The dense fog prevailing is the cause given for the collision.

High Praise for Mr. Tripp.

The Toronto papers all refer to Mr. Tripp's playing in Association Hall on Thursday evening last in terms of the highest praise. The World says: "All his numbers were played in that fine musicianly style which has won for Mr. Tripp so enviable a reputation as a pianist of the first order." A beautiful grand piano has been sent from Toronto especially for the concert on Friday night. Do not miss hearing these talented Canadian artists for the benefit of the Hospital and Home.

News From Canadian Contingent.

The Montreal Star has the grand distinction of having with the contingent a special war correspondent thoroughly accredited, who accompanies the Canadian troops by permission of the Minister of Militia, Dr. Borden, and who goes with instructions cabled from the War Office by the Secretary of War. The Star had the choice of empowering a man in the ranks to send it an occasional letter and dubbing him its war correspondent, or engaging a special expert equipped with photographic apparatus and accompanied by a mounted orderly. The difference in cost was a matter of five thousand dollars. As might have been expected the Star chose the expensive plan.

BY FRED WHISHAW.

COPYRIGHT 1899 BY THE AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION.

the world.

My heart almost stopped beating when I heard this. I glanced at Percy and caught his eye. His face had suddenly gone quite pale; so, he said afterward, had mine.

"What is it?" said Hulbert. "Are you one who can't bear to hear of blood shed? I'm sorry I told you."

"I don't like horrors," I said, "but do go on; what was the poor fellow like? Did you go and see him?"

"I did, as it happens. A small fellow with a bald head, rather; little eyes and a longish beard."

It was our mysterious informant to the life.

Then his tale had been true, and the unfortunate fellow had actually met his doom for breaking faith with his terrible employers. How did the rascals know that he had broken faith? Was it our fault? God forbid! I had tried my best to shelter him. It was his own fault. He ran the risk with his eyes open. Probably the poor wretch did not really believe the threats of those fearful people whom he had driven to Balota.

And these were the very persons into whose hands father must have fallen. If it were indeed so, then God help him!

We decided to tell mother nothing of this last development, for it could only frighten and shock her and would do no good.

But we persuaded her to allow us to engage the services of a private detective, one who should be entirely unconnected with the police. If we could find a suitable person, we explained, he could go to Erinofka and take up the trail where we had lost it. We who knowen there now and would be taken in at every turn by those, or their agents, whose interest it was to keep the truth from us. A professional detective would be far more likely to manage successfully this delicate matter of clew hunting than we should. Somewhat regretfully, my mother agreed to allow us to employ such a man, and by dint of many inquiries we hit upon a young fellow, by name Borofsky, who suited us very well.

Borofsky was not very much older than I. He may have been 25, at most, while my age was just 19 and Percy's about the same; not a very aged trio to undertake and conduct so delicate an inquiry as this of ours.

He dined with us on the evening of his engagement, and we talked over the entire subject. Borofsky thought well of the work we had done at Erinofka. We had hit upon the right track, no doubt, he said. But probably the rascals who had drugged and carried father off had long since placed him in safety, and even if we could follow the trail as far as St. Petersburg we should lose it there.

"But what do you suppose they wanted with the count, Mr. Borofsky?" asked Percy. "Money, by way of ransom, or what?"

Then our friend startled us by saying

"By the way, the pristaf of the police department of this district mentioned your father to me today. I was at the office on another matter of business which does not concern this affair. What do you think the pristaf said?"

"I am sorry you spoke to the police about my father," I replied somewhat warmly. "It is the very thing we are trying to avoid."

"I did not believe me. It was the pristaf who mentioned him, spropos of nothing particular, and, mind you, though I am no great lover of the police, I am ready to admit that their system is marvelous, and they generally know where to lay their hands upon any given person. I was not speaking of your father, nor had I mentioned him. But the pristaf said, 'You are to undertake business for Count Landrinof, Borofsky, I conclude, since you have been for two days in communication with the young count.' (They watch us, you see, these fellows.) 'It is odd that the old bird should have gone to prosecute his inquiries in London, whatever they may be, while the young one leave London in order to work out something here.'

"'Is the count in London, then?' I said innocently. 'I did not know it.' And the pristaf said, 'Certainly!' and shar your father had left St. Petersburg on the—I forget the exact date—about a week or ten days ago. Of course we know this is not the case, but it is odd that the pristaf should have said it."

I said nothing. I was too astonished. Could Percy after all have seen the old dad, then? I had persuaded him long since that he had been the victim of an illusion, a chance likeness, and that wherever my poor father should prove to be he could not be in London. But this was surprising, an utterly unexpected and bewildering confirmation of Percy's story.

Percy himself was equally surprised and startled, and Borofsky was not slow to observe our excitement.

"Well, what?" he said, smiling. "You don't attach any importance to what the pristaf told me, do you? I think you need not, for these brigands, or whoever the mysterious rascals should prove to be, would scarcely take their victim so far afield. They would be safe 50 yards over the frontier. Why should they go so far?"

I consented with Percy. Ought we not to tell Borofsky that Percy believed he had seen my father in London?

"It would be a pity to set him upon a false scent if it should have been a case of mistaken identity, as of course it may have been!" said Percy.

"And as I quite believe, even now, that it was," I said, "but I think Borofsky should know. It would not hurt, and it might possibly lead to some development."

We told Borofsky, and I don't know when I have seen any one quite so surprised.

"Why on earth didn't you tell me this?" he said. "It is most important corroboration of the pristaf's words."

I explained that we had believed Percy to be the victim of an optical delusion.

"Well," he said, "without the pristaf's confirmation of it, I, too, should have said Mr.—this gentleman—had made a mistake; also without this gentleman's corroboration I should and did say that the pristaf's love once been clever or not clever enough. But, taking both stories together, I find that each assertion stands stronger upon its legs by reason of the support it derives from the other. In a word, if I must give my opinion, I should now be inclined to declare that this gentleman did see the count in London, though why his abductors should have taken him there is what at present is quite beyond me to explain. Let us sleep on the matter and take counsel in the morning."

And, it being midnight by this time, we departed to our rooms. As for me, I went to bed with a sense that the very end was now by no means put forward by this new development, but rather set back and complicated.

CHAPTER VII.

THE COUNT REPORTED FOUND.

It is impossible, I suppose, to witness the enthusiastic confidence of another in the correctness of his own reading of a mystery without, in some degree, becoming infected. I did not agree with my young detective. I could not persuade myself that my dear father, whom I loved and respected with all my heart, could possibly be in London and enjoying, as was obviously the case, at least a certain degree of liberty, without using that liberty to write or wire to his wife in order to relieve the anxiety from which he must know she would be suffering. It would not be like father. Why should he do it?

"Because," said Borofsky, in effect, "he hasn't. He has written, and the letter has miscarried or has been intercepted."

"Be whom?" I asked.

BRITAIN GIVES UP SAMOA.

Agreement Has Been Reached With Germany.

It Will Be Subject to the Approval of the United States, But That Approval is Expected—Germany in Turn Renounces Claims on Tonga Islands and Other Territory—U. S. Gets Tutuila.

Berlin, Nov. 9.—It was officially announced yesterday that an agreement, subject to the approval of the United States, had been arrived at between Great Britain and Germany, by virtue of which the Samoa Act is repealed, and the islands of Upolu, Savaii and the small adjacent islands fall to Germany as free property, and the Island of Tutuila and the subsidiary islands go to the United States.

Great Britain, it is added, renounces any claim to the Samoan Islands, and Germany, in turn, renounces any claim to the Tonga Island and to Savage Island in favor of Great Britain, and also cedes Choiseul and San Isabel, the two groups, with their insular surroundeasterly islands of the Solomon ings, to Great Britain. The consular representatives of the two powers in Samoa and the Tonga Islands are to be withdrawn for the present, and German subjects are to have the same rights as British subjects in regard to the free and unimpeded enlistment of native laborers in the whole of the Solomon group in the possession of Great Britain, including Choiseul and San Isabel.

At the same time an arrangement has been arrived at between the two powers, by virtue of which the so-called neutral zone in the Hinterland of German Togoland and the British gold coast will be divided in such a manner that the boundary of the German and British territories will be formed by the Falka River up to a point where the latter cuts the ninth degree of latitude, thence north by a line to be fixed by a mixed commission. To this is appended a reservation that the countries of Mampessi and Gambaga shall fall to Great Britain, and the countries of Yeudi and Chakosi to Germany. Finally, according to the decision of the Colonial Council, Germany has promised to renounce her extra-territorial rights in Zanzibar till the expiration of the commercial treaty of 1902, with the proviso that the announciation is only effective when other nations abandon their extra-territorial rights in Zanzibar in favor of Great Britain.

Regarding this agreement it is observed that the United States' assent is regarded as assured.

A further agreement concluded between Germany, Great Britain and the United States is to the effect that the question of compensation for claims for damages during the late trouble is to be submitted to an imperial court of arbitration, which will decide all claims.

What Washington Says.

Washington, Nov. 9.— Whatever plan Great Britain and Germany might agree upon it was stipulated, should be first submitted to the ratification of the United States. This was necessary, as the plan proposed could be only by formal treaty, which would require approval of the Senate.

It is believed that the arrangement proposed now will be satisfactory to the State Department. The United States is not concerned with the amount or character of the compensation that passes between the other nations.

Given Out in London.

London, Nov. 9.—The British Foreign Office yesterday gave out a statement in regard to the Samoan agreement, similar to that issued in Berlin, showing that the United States gets Tutuila and other Samoan islands east of the 171st degree of longitude.

Secret Clause in Samoan Agreement

London, Nov. 9.—The Berlin correspondent of The Daily Mail says he has learned that the Samoan agreement contains a secret clause relating to South Africa, whereby the plans of Cecil Rhodes are advanced a step toward realization.

COALITION OF GRIT AND TORY.

POLITICIANS UNITE ON THE

Souvenir Range

It is not often political parties find common ground on which to meet. Their differences are mostly rich in discord. But we have an exception in the case of the celebrated Souvenir Kitchen Range. Laurier and Tupper, Hardy and Whitney are of one mind on this subject.

"And now Hardy, Tupper, and Laurier too,
Use the Souvenir Range for political stew;
All gases escape through its fine aeration,
And good wholesome food now blesses the nation."

The strong point of the Souvenir stove is its aerated oven which makes cooking a success under any circumstance; and the good nature of the politician—as well as the cook—is soon restored when a Souvenir stove is installed in the kitchen.

A neat booklet entitled, "Kitchen Wisdom," with illustrations by J. W. Bengough and J. S. Gordon, is yours for the asking, and it tells you a great deal about the Aerated Oven.

Like the Police Murder Case.

Quebec, Nov. 9.—The inquest of the deputy coroner, Dr. Garneau, into the causes and circumstances of the death of Thomas Adam Mooney, found dead in the woods in the parish of St. Dunstan, Lake Beauport, on Friday, the 27th of October last, was closed yesterday afternoon, and the jury expressed the opinion in their verdict that the deceased had been killed by the hands of David Dube, and that Mary Ann Charters, widow of the late Thomas Adam Mooney, had been the accomplice of the murderer. David Dube received the verdict without any sign of agitation or emotion. The woman wept a little. Both were immediately put under arrest and brought to the Central Police Station by High Constable Gale. A preliminary investigation before the judge of the Sessions, Hon. A. Chauveau, will be commenced to-day.

The Company owns over twelve thousand acres of rich copper land in Texas, opened, tested, developed and NOW BEING OPERATED. Millions of tons of copper bearing clay and marl running from five to ten per cent., and large quantities of ore carrying from fifty to seventy per cent. copper in sight. Cheaply mined and treated, favorable climate, cheap fuel, and ample water. Stated by geologists, chemists, experts and engineers to be one of the greatest and best in the world. Amount of land, quantity and quality of ore, cheapness of mining and treatment, the increasing demand and profit in producing copper considered, the Boston and Texas Copper Company possesses unequalled advantages and affords the best kind of an investment.

Calumet and Hecla ore averages 4 1-2 per cent. copper. It has paid $62,850,000 dividends
Tamarack ore averages 3 per cent. It has paid $5,910,000 in dividends.
Atlantic ore averages 85-100 of 1 per cent. It has paid $780,000 in dividends.

THE AVERAGE OF BOSTON & TEXAS ORE IS OVER 50 PER CENT., and of copper marls and clays from 5 to 10 per cent. Both the ore, marl and clay are within a few feet of the surface of the ground, so that the expense of mining and hoisting is minimized. A party of New England capitalists who have just returned from an examination of the mines in conjunction with one of the ablest mining engineers in the country, report the property to be one of the largest and best in America, and to contain inexhaustible quantities of rich copper deposits.

It is estimated that the plant now being arranged for will produce $3,000 to $5,000 per day, NET.

Prospectus, engineers' reports, assays and full information will be furnished on application. Remit by check, P. O. order, draft or registered letter to Treasurer.

For coughs, colds, bronchitis and all lung and throat troubles, there is no preparation or medicine can compare with Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which causes difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relief to that depressing tightness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and huskiness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous. If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety, trouble and expense, let them procure a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the Syrup according to directions

At Death s Door—Dyspepsia Conquered. A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. Totally Deaf.—Mr. S. E. Crandell, Port Perry, writes:—"I contracted a severe cold last winter, which resulted in my becoming totally deaf in one ear and partially so in the other. After trying various remedies, and consulting several doctors, without obtaining any relief, I was advised to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

TALKED TO A BUMPER HOUSE

Hon. Geo. E. Foster Delivered a Great Speech at St. Kitts.

In the First of the Series, He Showed How the Liberals Had Been Fooling the Canadian People While in Office—They Have Gone Back on Their Pledges—Dr. Lancaster Endorsed by Lincoln.

St. Catharines, Nov. 9.—(Special.)—The first of Hon. Mr. Foster's present series of [illegible] evening in St. Catharines. It was a bumper house. The audience was not only large and enthusiastic but representative of the intelligent electorate of Lincoln and Niagara. On the platform were representatives and leading Conservatives from all parts of the riding, [illegible] Mr. J. C. Ryker, ex-M.P.; Major Hiscott, ex M.L.A.; Col. Gregory, Mayor Best of Niagara, Mayor Keating of St. Catharines, Dr. Clark, Col. King, Major Merritt, Dr. Armour, Dr. Elliott, Dr. Goodman, J. D. Bennett of Beamsville, Thomas Beatty of Beamsville, Leslie McKenna of Thorold, John W. Coy, John S. McClelland, W. B. Burgoyne, Jas. Prior, James Stevenson, Joseph Shaw, J. M. Ness, Richard Clark, W. S. Wilson (reeve Merritton), W. H. Petit of Grimsby, Fred Goring, J. R. Secord of Grantham, William Hutchinson of Port Dalhousie, Reeve Gardiner of Port Dalhousie, Ald. Beattie, C. J. McDermott, John W. King, Dr. Klatz, Mr. John Marshall, John Southcott, N. A. Lindsay, C. Chapman, C. A. Wilson, E. McKinney, R. H. G. Chapman, Frank Foster, Dr. McCoy, W. H. Brownlee, Dr. Jory and others.

J. H. Ingersoll, president of the Conservative Association, presided.

The first speaker was Dr. Jessop, a popular member of the Ontario Legislature for the county. His remarks were brief and to the point.

Their Positions Contrasted.

He was followed by Mr. William McCleary, M.P. for Welland. His contrast of the Liberal leaders out of office and in was keenly appreciated by the audience, as was also his broad and statesmanlike protest against the attempt of the Liberals to raise a race and religious issue for the purpose of again snatching a verdict from the electorate. He made a telling appeal to the Liberals present to say whether or not the leaders of their party had not disappointed them, and closed by warmly endorsing Mr. Lancaster, the Conservative candidate for the riding.

Dr. Lancaster Came Next.

E. A. Lancaster, M.D., in a short and telling address, declared that he intended to conduct his campaign in a way that at any rate would bring no discredit upon himself as a candidate or upon the county. He would discuss the public questions fairly, and would be quite willing to abide by the verdict of an intelligent electorate. His platform would be support of the National Policy. He would stand for British connection first, last and all the time, and would support all measures calculated to cement the bonds of the Empire and place Canada in her true position as one of the most important parts of that Empire. Leaving national matters, he dealt some telling blows to the present representative, Mr. Gibson, for his neglect of the local interests of the county. He received an ovation, both on rising and taking his seat.

Hon. George E. Foster.

Hon. George E. Foster, the speaker of the evening, was received with round after round of applause. He plunged, after a few introductory remarks expressive of the pleasure his visit to the Garden City gave him, into a discussion of the general political issues of the day. He briefly but with telling effect spoke of recent developments in Provincial politics. He was pleased to be present to witness the initial bow of the Conservative candidate, and was highly delighted with the choice the Conservatives had made; he felt that it was by the choice of such candidates that the tone of public life would be elevated.

No Party Slavery.

Dr. Lancaster would not be a follower of anyone, but one of a united party, working for the benefit of the country. He hoped the Conservative party would never wish for or tolerate slavish service of party leaders. Fresh thought and candid criticism was needed and ought to be welcomed. He was pleased to hear Dr. Lancaster say he was not afraid of discussion; no Conservative need be, and if ever the party feared to have its policy discussed, he hoped it would go out of business. The Laurier party, he would not say the Liberal party, lest he should offend the old Liberals present, whether they liked discussion, must face it. With keen sarcasm he contrasted Liberal professions of the past with their performances of the present. Mr. Foster dealt with Sir Wilfrid's recent speeches. He had been saying some things, not many things. He was reminded of the old maple sugar dash, when it used to take puncheons of sap to make a mouthful of sugar.

Little in Sir Wilfrid's Speeches.

Sir Wilfrid's column of speeches contained but little worthy of the name of thought. Doubtless the Liberals would be glad to have him refrain from allusions to the past, for they had a quarrel with history. They tell us of the present and the potential greatness of British Columbia for example. Well, where would British Columbia be had the Liberals had their own way? History condemned the Liberals. They boast of the great Northwest and of the millions of bushels of grain reaped from its fertile fields. Where would have been the Northwest and the millions of bushels of wheat had not the Conservative party, despite the opposition of the Liberals, brought that great country into the confederation, and established railway communication with it?

History Condemns Liberals.

Again history condemned the Liberals, and therefore they disliked history. The Conservative party in 1878, seeing that it was not possible that the country could be great and prosperous without varied industries, introduced the National Policy. Again the Liberals opposed, and again the verdict of history condemns them, and now they have to practically admit that the policy they opposed was the best policy for the country. Mr. Foster quoted speeches of Sir Wilfrid Laurier before 1893, demonstrating that he promised to destroy protection, and said that it was because such history condemned the Liberal party's present that they did not like history. Sir Wilfrid's claim, made first in England and more recently in Quebec, that he had transformed Canada from a blotch on the map into a nation was ridiculed, and the audience keenly enjoyed Mr. Foster's trenchant reply.

Liberal Extravagance.

Taking up Sir Wilfrid's attempt to prove that his Government was not guilty of extravagance because he had a surplus, Mr. Foster showed that the deficits of the last years of Conservative rule was due entirely to the remission of taxes on sugar, etc., while the present Government had not only not reduced the incidence of taxation, but had added largely to the taxation.

Oldtime Pledges.

Mr. Foster, after reading Sir Wilfrid's claim, made at Kincardine, that all Liberal pledges had been redeemed, asked the audience to follow him while he recited the statements made by Sir Wilfrid in 1896 in St. Catharines. Was it not one of the pledges made then that the taxation would be reduced? Well, is it not true that they had added eight millions to the taxation? Had they not increased it? They promised to reduce the expenditure—was that pledge redeemed? It had been increased from 42 millions in 1896 to 51 millions last year. Had his pledges to eliminate the principle of protection from the tariff been kept? What about their professions to preserve the independence of Parliament? Would it be said that this had been done?

Mulock's Dual Views.

Mr. Mulock had promised to have the salary of the Governor-General reduced, but he did so no longer. This same Mr. Mulock had denounced as iniquitous the appointing members of Parliament to offices. He even introduced a bill to prevent this practice, but though he had been in power three years no such bill had been passed. Worse than that, member after member had been appointed to office in direct violation of Liberal pledges. They condemned the granting of railway subsidies as being a means of parliamentary corruption. Sir Richard Cartwright told the Patrons that on this question the Liberals were at one with the Patrons, yet in two years they had granted $11,000,000 in subsidies. They promised to reduce the number of Cabinet Ministers. They had increased the number instead of reducing it.

The Taxes Increased.

They were to make this a cheap country to live in by reducing the taxes and reducing the cost of goods to the consumer. They have added to the taxes and he would ask were the prices of goods of any kind reduced. Not a pledge had been redeemed and a party that would brazenly violate its pledges was unworthy of confidence or respect. Sir Wilfrid claimed to be a Liberal of the old school, but it was inconceivable that a Gladstone or a Rosebery could so violate their pledges.

They Also Use Private Cars.

They were to have no private cars, but now they are in constant requisition, though now they salved their consciences by calling them "officers on wheels." The example of a country's public men was one which we should be able to hold up for the imitation of their children. Could a Liberal father point to Sir Wilfrid's example as a pledge breaker as one his boy should imitate? We should be able to place confidence in the integrity of our fellows and it is the duty of the electorate to insist upon public men keeping their pledges.

The Transvaal Contingent.

Mr. Foster dealt with the subject of the sending of the contingent to the Transvaal and arraigned the policy, the unimperial policy, of the Government. He repudiated the false cry that the Conservatives were guilty of raising a race issue. If it were conceivable that Mr. Mulock, for example, were the Premier and had his actions been as Sir Wilfrid's, the same condemnation would be meted out to him. The Government had been forced by public opinion to concede one point after another, and they would yet be forced to do all their full duty in the matter of aiding the Empire in its hour of trial.

The meeting closed with ringing cheers for the Queen, Mr. Foster and the candidate.

"NOT GUILTY."

Young Anderson Goes Forth Free on the Verdict of Twelve Good Men and True.

Winnipeg, Nov. 9.—Molsons Bank robbery case came to a close yesterday. Throughout the judge's charge Anderson gave every evidence of the closest attention. The judge's charge was regarded as very impartial. The suspense during the interval of waiting was intense, and at 12.50 p.m., after being out an hour and twenty-five minutes, the jury sent in word that they were ready to come. When the jury filed in, it was seen that Joseph McGregor was the first in the front row, and it was instantly known that he had been chosen for the foreman.

"Not Guilty."

When the clerk asked the usual question, "Gentlemen of the jury, what say you of the prisoner at the bar, is he guilty or not guilty?" it seemed as if the crowd could endure no longer, and when the foreman pronounced "Not guilty!" he was barely allowed to finish the words, for the shouts and cheers that filled the building. Cheer after cheer rent the air, and in an instant the space in front of the prisoner's box was filled with men and women, crying, "Give us your hand, Anderson!" "It's all right, old man!"

The effect upon Anderson's mother and brothers was much the same as upon himself. Their countenances showed that a great strain had been lifted from them.

It is understood that an action for damages will be entered against Percy Davis by Anderson's friends, Davis being worth at least the balance of the reward remaining in the hands of the bank.

It is reported that on Tuesday night the jury stood 10 for acquittal and 2 for conviction, but that the two changed after the judge's charge yesterday morning.

BRUTAL CRIME AT CLINTON.

Masked Robber Beats and Tries to Poison an Invalid Woman.

Clinton, Ont., Nov. 9.—About 7 o'clock Tuesday evening a man entered the back door of Mr. Carline's residence. Mrs. Carline, who is an invalid and confined to bed from a fracture of her thigh bone, called out, "Is that you, Charlie?" when a man opened her room door, saying, "Where does the boss keep his money?" She said he had it with him, and all she had was in a purse in a bureau drawer. The man hunted up the purse, took out the three 25-cent scrips and threw down the purse, making a rush for her, saying he would kill her for telling such a lie. Mrs. Carline had a walking stick by her bedside and attempted to defend herself with it, striking him a blow on the cheek. He wrenched the stick from her and struck her a blow on the right temple. She cried: "Oh be merciful, I've been lying here for eight weeks with a broken leg."

Fiendish Cruelty.

With this the fiend pulled away the bed clothing and belabored her unmercifully on the limbs—the injured one not being spared—holding one hand over her mouth as she was trying to scream and give an alarm.

He said: "I will hammer your brains out or smother you," at the same time taking a bottle from his pocket. Mrs. Carline, thinking it chloroform, put her hands over her nose and mouth. The wretch poured the contents of the bottle over her hands and face. As the fumes of carbolic acid arose he said, "I brought the wrong bottle, but I will kill you anyway." She said, "You may kill my body, but you cannot kill my soul; it belongs to the Lord."

Becoming alarmed, he dropped the stick and ran out the front door, which he had opened before entering her room.

Parties Heard Her Scream.

Parties just passing heard her screaming and went in and sent for a doctor, as she was burned on the hands and face with the acid and was suffering awful agony from bruises as well as the nervous shock. She did not lose consciousness at all. The whole transaction did not perhaps take more than ten minutes. The man had a peak cap pulled over his eyes and a scarf covering the lower part of his face, masking him. Up to last evening there has been discovered no trace of the monster. Mrs. Carline is in a critical condition.

The true source of cheerfulness is benevolence. The soul that perpetually overflows with kindness and sympathy will always be cheerful.—Goodwin.

Suicide at one time was very common among the Brahmans of India, who held the body in contempt, regarding it merely as a covering for the soul.

WHITE'S BRILLIANT SORTIES

Played Havoc With the Boers and Relieved London's Anxiety.

The News From South Africa is More Reassuring — Are British Forces Again Occupying Colenso? — Reinforcements Now at Estcourt En Route to Ladysmith —No Troopships Yet.

London, Nov. 9.—To the eyes of military experts the darkest page of the war is now being written. But even that is illuminated with bright passages, such as Gen. White's victorious sorties. If he can keep the British flag flying over Ladysmith until he is relieved the campaign will turn a fresh page, and with the advance of Sir Redvers Buller's force, the British public is promised more cheerful reading.

The most interesting news is a despatch from Estcourt, announcing the departure of a strong force of mounted troops or artillery for a destination not given in the despatches.

Another message announces the arrival at Estcourt and Pietermaritzburg within the last few days of reinforcements from Durban, and that 3,500 troops are assembled ready for a re-advance to Colenso when the opportune moment arrives. The latter despatch throws light on the former, and the force which left Estcourt Monday last doubtless re-occupied Colenso and possibly is now advancing cautiously up the railroad toward Ladysmith. Gen. White's sortie of Friday almost to the banks of the Tugela River, encouraging its commander in the hope of joining hands with him.

Gen. Joubert, the latest advices indicate, drew in his horns after Friday's engagement, and has since withdrawn the southern Boer contingents, leaving only outposts on the line from Ladysmith to Colenso.

None of the troopships has arrived. The one which it was predicted might reach Cape Town at the earliest on Monday is as yet unannounced, and even when it does arrive there, it will have three days' steaming to reach Durban, Natal.

NO CONNECTION AS YET.

Armored Train, Intended for Ladysmith, Returned to Estcourt.

Estcourt, Natal, Sunday, Nov. 5.—(5.20 p.m.)—Brigadier-General Wolfe Murray has received important despatches from Ladysmith, by a runner, but their contents have not yet been divulged. The armored train, with a detachment of the Dublin Fusiliers and a railroad engineering staff, which left here for Colenso to repair the line, yesterday evening, and which also intended to go through to Ladysmith if possible, has returned here. The commanding officer reports that he proceeded beyond Colenso and found the dwellings there untouched. There had been no looting except in the single case of a store, which was looted by Kaffirs.

French Now in Cape Town.

General French managed to leave Ladysmith by the last train from there. Four miles from Colenso the Boers fired on the train, but no one was hit. The general is going to Cape Town in order to take command of the cavalry. The border regiment arrived here on Friday. Sub-Inspector Petley of the Natal Police, says that his men alone, forming one of the several burial parties, interred 64 Boers, who were killed at the battle of Talana Hill.

The Dublin Fusiliers are being served with new kits, as they lost everything in the retreat from Dundee. The colonial forces are already fighting in their shirt sleeves, and it is expected that this will spread to all the forces before long.

Milner Visits the Wounded.

Cape Town, Sunday, Nov. 5.—Sir Alfred Milner visited the wounded today. They are all doing well. Some of the wounds are of an extraordinary nature. The Mauser bullet makes a clean perforation of bone and muscle. Soldiers shot through both cheek bones have lost the sense of smell and taste, but are otherwise quite well. Most of the wounds are in the hands and arms.

The local volunteers have again expressed a desire of going to the front.

The Dutch of the colony maintain neutrality, though, doubtless, many in Bechuanaland have joined the Boers.

The Moral Effect is Excellent.

Estcourt, Nov. 5.—(Sunday.)—Details in regard to Gen. Brocklehurst's operations Friday, towards Dewdrop, show that the British force consisted of the 18th and 19th Hussars, cavalry, with a battery, mounted infantry, the Fifth Dragoons, Royston's Light Horse and two batteries. At midday Gen. Brocklehurst drove the Boers from all their positions, shelled three of their guns into silence and headed off 1,000 Boers from the Pietermaritzburg road. The Light Horse pressed too far into a gully and were extricated by the Dragoons, all getting safely away. Under a heavy fire, Lieut. Pomeroy of the Fifth Dragoon Guards, pluckily rescued a dismounted trooper from the fire zone. The British casualties were slight. The moral effect is excellent.

DEFENCE OF PIETERMARITZBURG

All the Strong Positions on the Hills Have Been Fortified.

Durban, Natal, Nov. 5.—General Schalkburger, with 13,000 men, has arrived at Vlyheim, on his way to Swaziland. It is believed he is going to Zululand.

News from the lower Tugela reports splendid work upon the part of the Germans below Umvoti. The mounted rifles have no volunteers more assiduous than the Germans.

The preparations for the defence of Pietermaritzburg are in good shape. All the strong positions on the surrounding hills have been fortified.

There has been a great influx of Colenso refugees at Pietermaritzburg, where the public buildings and stores have been given over to them.

The population of Durban has been increased 25,000 by the refugees, among whom there is considerable distress.

Boers Used the White Flag.

Lorenzo Marquez, Nov. 5.—(Delayed in transmission.)—A rumor from Ingnavuma, Zululand, brings news that on Nov. 1, 350 Boers invaded British territory and advanced towards the fort at Ingnavuma with a white flag. When they were 100 yards distant they fired volleys into the fort, which, however, had been evacuated. The Boers burned all the stores on the Lebonbo and thoroughly ransacked Pomersdorp, which they burned to the ground.

Killed by the Men-Women.

London, Nov. 9.—Further reports of the Grobelerskloof affair tend to confirm the statement that the British were successful. A Kaffir declares that fully a hundred Boers were killed on the hill top by the "men-women," which is supposed to indicate that the Gordon Highlanders were there.

Cyclist scouts have since been across the Tugela Bridge. They saw a number of killed lying on the plain.

TO KILL GEN. BULLER.

There Was a Plot to Assassinate the General Commanding on His Arrival at Cape Town.

Chicago, Nov. 9. — Since General Buller's arrival at Cape Town a curious rumor concerning an attempt on his life has been floating around the clubs, especially the United Service Club. Though it did not find its way into the newspapers, the original story was to the effect that General Buller had been shot within a few hours of his arrival. Owing to the obvious absurdity of this story, it, along with all cognate rumors, naturally received slight attention. Only to-day, however, I hear on the authority of a near relative of Lord Salisbury that a plot to assassinate General Buller on his arrival at Cape Town actually was discovered. The strictest reticence is observed by all officials, and the exact truth is known only in Cabinet circles. I am able to say, however, that the receipt of the news so affected Lord Salisbury that he was thrown into a state of nervous irritability extremely unusual in his case. General Buller himself showed more indifference than anyone else, and insisted that no punitive action should be taken.

GEN. BULLER AT WORK.

Has Taken Effective Steps to Prevent Any Further Boer Advance.

London, Nov. 9.—The Daily Mail has the following despatch from Queenstown, Cape Colony, dated Sunday night: "The railway staff is withdrawing from all the border stations between this and De Aar. There is no cause for alarm, however, with reference to the border towns. Gen. Buller has taken effective steps to check the Boer advance. Censorship prevents particularizing, but you may expect good news soon."

Boers Howled for Mercy.

Durban, Natal, Sunday evening, Nov. 5.—Other information confirms the statement of native eye-witnesses respecting the severity of the fighting on both Friday and Saturday at Ladysmith. The natives assert that the Boers were so cut up that they howled for mercy on the field and covered their bodies. Ladysmith is crowded with Boer prisoners and wounded, the latter presenting horrible evidence of the swordsmanship of the cavalry. The Gordon Highlanders suffered severely in the fighting.

WAS KILLED AT DUNDEE.

Kingston, Nov. 9.— Intelligence was received by relatives here yesterday of the death at the charge of Dundee of James O'Rourke, a former resident of Kingston, in the ranks of the Royal Irish Fusiliers. O'Rourke was at one time head waiter on the steamer Spartan. He left here for a trip to his native land, Ireland, some years ago, and while there he joined the Royal Irish Fusiliers, serving seven years, and being placed on the reserve list only last spring. He remained at Cape Town, and when the trouble with the Boers broke out he rejoined his old regiment, and was in the ranks when that gallant corps charged the heights of Dundee, when a Boer bullet ended his career. He was 30 years of age. One brother, Arthur, resides at Kingston.

NO SECOND CONTINGENT.

Britain Says No Further Aid From the Dominion is Necessary.

Ottawa, Nov. 9. — The Imperial Government will not accept another Canadian contingent for service in South Africa. The Governor-General yesterday morning received a cablegram from Mr. Joseph Chamberlain expressing the cordial thanks of Her Majesty's Government for the intimation that the Government of Canada would like to know whether more troops were necessary, and assuring the Canadian Administration that no further aid from the Dominion is considered necessary.

A KIND NEIGHBOR.

The kindest and most neighborly thing one woman can do for another in case of sickness is to tell how she herself was brought out of trouble and distress; and urge her neighbor to seek the same remedy. Hundreds of thousands of mothers have cause to bless just this same kind, neighborly spirit which actuated Mrs. Wm. S. Vollmer, of Concord, Cabarrus Co., North Carolina.

"We moved here to Concord, N. C., over a month ago," she says, in her communication to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. "A little girl here was in dreadful health. We told her folks about Dr. Pierce's medicines. I knew what they had done for us. Her parents bought a bottle of his 'Golden Medical Discovery' and of 'Favorite Prescription' and one of 'Pellets.' The patient has improved wonderfully after taking these medicines. I wish everybody knew the great virtue of Dr. Pierce's medicines. I have been using them in my family for three years and always with success.

"I will be pleased to have my letter published. If persons wishing to know more about the great benefits we have received from using Dr. Pierce's medicines will write, enclosing stamp, I will gladly answer."

Every mother of children ought to possess Dr. Pierce's grand book, the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a magnificent thousand-page illustrated volume. It teaches mothers how to care for their children and themselves. It is the best doctor to have in the house in case of emergency. Over half a million copies were sold at $1.50 each, but one free copy in paper-covers will be sent on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to pay the cost of customs and mailing only; or send 50 stamps if you prefer a heavier, handsome cloth-bound copy. Address the publishers, World's Dispensary Medical Association, No. 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

THAT WALL PAPER ACCOUNT

ALDERMANIC DEALINGS WITH CORPORATIONS.

THE LAW ON THE SUBJECT.

The now justly celebrated wall paper account of Ald. Robinson has been coming in for a good deal of attention of late, and, as certain parties have raised the senseless cry that in taking action in the case the Mayor was over-zealous, and, in fact, exceeded his duty, THE INTELLIGENCER has enquired into the matter, and finds the facts to be as stated below:

When the former Assay Office was vacated the landlord complained that it was not left in a good state of repair, and the Council voted to have the place put in order. Ald. Robinson was appointed a committee, with power to act, he agreeing to oversee any work that might be done. Of course, with the reputation which the worthy gentleman enjoyed as an economist, everybody was quite willing to believe that there would be no grounds for complaint so far as the cost was concerned. It seems that Ald. Robinson's business called him out of town about that time, and he deputed Mr. H. P. Thomas, a partner of the gentleman (Mr. N. B. Falkiner) who owned the building in which the office in question was situated, to attend to the repairs. Among other repairs it was found necessary to paper the office, and Mr. Thomas hired Mr. Michael Cummins to perform the work, and the latter gentleman says he was told by Mr. Thomas to go to Ald. Robinson's store and purchase the wall paper necessary. He went to the store and Miss Robinson, a daughter of the Alderman, took him to the wall paper room and showed him a sample, which she said her father had selected for the papering of the former Assay office, before he left the City. Mr. Cummins took the paper without question and put it on the walls and ceiling of the Assay office. He was paid for his work, and his connection with the matter was at an end. Note—he had nothing to do with buying the paper, but was paid for his work in the same manner as any ordinary mechanic would be. Nothing more was heard about the case till the last meeting of the Committees, on the 3rd inst., when an account was presented for $31 for wall paper purchased by Mr. M. Cummins for the former Assay office. The bill was passed without any demur, but when it came up in Council last Monday night, the Mayor objected to it on the ground that it was illegal for an Alderman to be interested, either directly or indirectly, in any goods which were sold to the City. He quoted clauses 72, 74 and 75 of the Consolidated By-Laws in support of his position, and it would appear to a layman that he made out a strong case. Here are the clauses in question:

72. With the view of preventing members and officers of the Corporation from being interested in Corporation contracts, it is hereby expressly declared that no member of the Council and no officer of the Corporation shall be interested in a private capacity, directly or indirectly, in any contract or agreement for labor, or for any materials, goods, wares or merchandise furnished to the City, wherein the City is a party interested.

74. No account or claim against the City, arising out of or connected with any contract, agreement, purchase or sale made contrary to this By-law shall be certified by any officer of the Corporation, or approved by any committee or the chairman thereof, or paid by the Treasurer.

75. Every contract shall contain a clause declaring that the contract is entered into on the part of the Corporation in full faith that no member of the Council, or officer or servant of the Corporation has any interest therein, and further, all claims thereunder for payment or recompense shall be forfeited absolutely if it be that any such member, officer or servant is interested in the subject matter of the contract or is to receive or has received any reward or remuneration in connection therewith.

80 . . . * * No person having by himself or his partner an interest in any contract with or on behalf of the corporation or having a contract for the supply of goods or materials to a contractor for work for which the corporation pays, or is liable directly or indirectly to pay, or which is subject to the control or supervision of the Council or of an officer thereof on behalf of the Council, or who has an unsatisfied claim for such goods or materials, and no person who either by himself, or with or through another, has any claim, action or proceeding against the municipality, and no person who is counsel or solicitor either by himself, or with or through another on the prosecution of any claim, action or proceeding against a municipality, shall be qualified to be a member of the Council of any municipal corporation.

It would appear that, taking the above facts into consideration, His Worship had a plain, though disagreeable duty to perform, which was to object to the bill. Of course if Mr. Cummins had been told to go where he pleased and purchase the wall paper necessary, and had gone, on his own responsibility, to Ald. Robinson's store and picked out the paper and purchased it on his own account, there could have been no doubt of the soundness of Ald. Robinson's position. But what are the facts? Mr. Cummins was told where to go, and when he got there found that the worthy Alderman had picked out the paper for him. After viewing the above circumstances one must regret Ald. Robinson's lack of memory, when it is known how, on Monday night last, that gentleman, in his place in the Council, stated that he did not know, until he asked his daughter, that the paper had been purchased from his store. Considering that he picked out the paper himself the statement is questionable, as may safely be viewed with suspicion. Yet, in the face of these facts, certain parties have insinuated that the Mayor's action was "a pretty small piece of business," and instanced a case where another former Alderman had broken the law in the same way. The last point is not worth dwelling on. Two wrongs don't make a right. But it would appear to an unprejudiced mind that the "small business" comes in on the part of those who are throwing slurs at the Mayor because he has a full conception of what his duty is and is courageous enough to perform it. The law is clear. Why should a distinction be made in the case of anybody? This is not a question of dollars and cents so much as a question of principle. The Mayor did his duty in objecting to the payment of the bill. It is not the act of a good citizen to discredit the Chief Magistrate of the City because he knows the law and has the courage to see that it is enforced.

While making enquiries about the foregoing matter, THE INTELLIGENCER discovered that about a year and a half half before the Assay office was papered, a tenant of one of the stores in the same block had wall paper hung on a room which is identical in every way with the room Mr. Cummins papered with wall paper from Ald. Robinson's store. A comparison of the two bills will be interesting. In one case the paper was purchased from C. B. Scantlebury. Forty rolls of wall paper and 31 yards of bordering were used, the cost totalling $3.24. In the other instance 56 rolls of wall paper and 34 yards of bordering were used, the cost totalling $9. And the funny part of it is that the room which was papered for the least money, and covered with the least number of rolls, looks the best of the two.

The question involved in this transaction is, as has already been stated, not one of amount, but of principle, which our legislators have thought of sufficient importance to provide against by statute, and every good citizen who desires to see the city properly and honestly governed should teach all aldermen that the taking of advantage of their position to dabble in trade with the corporation will not be tolerated. This "business is business, you know" must be frowned upon, and every one discovered in such violations of the law and common decency should be turned out of the Council on a writ of quo warranto.

Mr. Joseph Little, the well-known mill-owner of Port Essington, B.C., formerly of Vancouver, writes: "Japanese Catarrh Cure has completely cured me of catarrh, which had troubled me for twenty-five years. I have at different times spent over $1,000 and dollars with different specialists in Toronto, Buffalo and San Francisco, besides trying all other remedies, but the result was only temporary relief. Hearing of the remarkable cures throughout the West by Japanese Catarrh Cure, I purchased six boxes while in Vancouver about two years ago and after completing this treatment have not felt the slightest symptoms of my former trouble. I feel that I cannot say too much in its favor; the first application was a great relief. We also keep a supply in the mill for cuts, etc., and find it superior to any other remedy for healing."

If you have tried all other remedies without success, and are at all skeptical as to the merits of Japanese Catarrh Cure, enclose 5 cents in stamps, and we will mail you free a trial quantity of the most nearly two weeks' treatment. Price, 50 cents, or six for $2.50, with guarantee to cure or money refunded. By all druggists or by mail post-paid. Address the Griffiths & Macpherson Co., Church st., Toronto. Sold by D. M. Waters, cor. Front and Bridge streets.

A CRISIS IN GUATEMALA.

How a Civilian Assisted in Saving the Government's Credit.

"A quaint experience I once had in the interior of Guatemala," said a former resident of that republic, "furnishes a tiptop illustration of the way they run governments in Central America. I had occasion to visit a small garrison town in the coffee belt on some business and found the commandant in a state bordering on distraction. We took dinner together, and he told me his tale of woe between courses. His soldiers, it seemed, had been without pay for over three months, and as the government made no effort to provide them with rations they had subsisted on beans, tortillas and coffee furnished on credit by the old women of the village.

"Naturally this credit had worn itself out, and two days before I arrived all the old women went on a strike, since which time the garrison had been practically without food. Needless to say, the soldiers were desperate, and they had determined to desert en bloc and go back to their farms. I advised the commandant to telegraph the facts immediately to the president, and at last he screwed up enough courage to send the message. As soon as it was received the president sent word to a wealthy planter 'requesting' him to dispatch some cash instanter to the commandant. The planter gave a messenger a $100 bill and rushed him off on horseback for the village, which he reached at daybreak next morning. When the poor commandant saw the remittance, he nearly swooned away, for under the circumstances $100 was about as much use to him as 100 brass elephants. Nobody in the whole department could enjoyed the joke so much to keep it, and so we give it to the public-spirited role of good fairy. I happened to have 100 $1 notes in my saddlebags, and I handed over the bundle in return for the bill brought by the courier. The commandant grabbed the package and kissed me violently on both cheeks. Glory hallelujah! The country was saved. Each soldier got a dollar, which he paid on account, and the credit of the government was restored. The garrison howled with joy, and the old women shed happy tears in the coffee which they at once proceeded to boil. It was a touching scene. If I ever go back to that place again, I will be treated like a prince."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

SAGACITY OF ELEPHANTS.

Make Use of Tools and Exhibit a Knowledge of Pneumatics.

Elephants very frequently make use of tools. Sir John Pennant, Romanes, Dampier, and others say that these creatures, when passing through the jungle, break branches from the trees and use them as fans. One day, while observing Jessie, a very intelligent elephant that was on exhibition at the St. Louis fair grounds, I noticed that she was greatly worried and annoyed by the attacks of a swarm of large flies. These insects had settled on her back, where she could not reach them with her proboscis or with her tail. She seemed to study the situation for a few moments. Then, reaching out her trunk, she seized a young beech which stood in the corner of her stall and deliberately brushed off the greedy little bloodsuckers with it.

Mr. G. E. Peal states in Nature that he once saw a young elephant deliberately fashion a surgical instrument. He saw the animal in question go to a bamboo fence and break off one of the pickets. This picket it further fractured with its trunk and one of its fore feet until it obtained a sharp fragment some 10 or 12 inches in length. Then, leaning forward on one of its forelegs, it thrust the fragment, which it grasped with its trunk, into its "armpit" and vigorously moved it to and fro. As a result of this operation a large elephant leech was dislodged, which dropped to the ground and was at once ground to mincemeat beneath the horny toes of the ungainly brute, which grunted its intense satisfaction.

Jessie, the elephant mentioned above, had some knowledge of pneumatics. One day I tossed a peanut, which fell to the ground some eight or ten inches beyond the utmost reach of her trunk. She stretched out that organ to its fullest extent toward the peanut, then blew through it a sudden, quick and powerful blast. The peanut was hurled against the wall, from whence it bounded and then rolled beneath the feet of the intelligent animal, which at once swallowed it. I tried this experiment several times, each time with a like result.—Scientific American.

Near His Journey's End.

A distinguished lawyer and politician was traveling on the train near Winchester when an Irish woman came into the car with her big basket, bundle, etc., and sat down near the accomodating lawyer.

When the conductor came around to collect fare, the woman paid her money, and the conductor passed by the lawyer without collecting anything.

The good woman thereupon said to the lawyer, "An faith an why do ye not the conductor takes the money of a poor Irish woman an don't ask ye, who same to be a rich man, for anything?"

The lawyer, who had a pass, replied, "My dear madam, I'm traveling on my beauty."

The woman looked at him for a moment and then quickly answered: "An is that so? Thin ye must be very near ye journey's end."

The lawyer, who is not noted for his beauty, but who is noted for his brains, enjoyed the joke so much to keep it, and so we give it to the public-spirited

NEW YORK MILLIONAIRES

Only a few people reading advertisements of bankers and brokers, saying that money could be made through speculation, realize that the richest men in America have commenced life in a humble way and have made their fortune through stock-exchange speculations.

Men like Jay Gould, who worked as a dry goods clerk in a small town at $10.00 a week up to his twentieth year, and commenced to operate with his small saving of $200.00 in Wall Street, left at his death 70 millions of dollars; Russell Sage, who worked as a grocery boy at $4.00 per week, and whose present wealth is estimated at 100 millions of dollars, is still operating the market, although 80 years of age, and so are thousands of others, who are enjoying all the luxuries life can offer, which is due to their success in speculation.

To the shrewd speculator the same opportunities are open to-day as to others in the past. The smallest lot which can be bought and sold is ten shares on 3% margin, making 30 dollars.

Any body interested as to how speculations are conducted can get information and market letter free of charge upon application by letter to,

Presented a Good Play.

Kingston Whig:—Another large audience was present at Victoria theatre last night. "Hazel Kirke," a very strong drama, was presented by the Whitcher & Machan company, which, in this play, was seen at its best. The members of the company did most creditable work in their various parts, especially W. H. Langdon and Claude Bellport, who are the strongest players in the company. Petite Gracie Whitcher and J. N. Machan also gave good support. The specialty number by Bell Porter and Claude Bellport was the best yet witnessed in the Victoria theatre.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING

That the youngsters who do so much whistling in the theatre gallery should be muzzled.

That mechanics employed in the G. T. R. repair shops must be working full time these days.

That it is a wonder, considering the number of reading people we have in Belleville, that the Mechanics' Institute does not get better support.

That election talk is growing warmer. It would be a good thing for them if some of the aldermanic candidates could get their municipal lives insured.

That accidents on the Grand Trunk Railway are becoming monotonous in their regularity. It will soon be in order for the management to furnish each passenger with an accident insurance policy when he buys his ticket.

That a salary of $16.66 per month is not much pay to give a man who handles thousands of dollars of other people's money every day. That's what Anderson, the Winnipeg bank clerk, got when he left the bank's employ.

That between whistling youths in the gallery and crying babies downstairs people who attended the opera house last night had good excuses for losing their tempers. The manager of the theatre should see that his patrons are not annoyed in that way any more.

That people who have been reading newspapers attentively will see that the situation is looking brighter in South Africa. General White is holding his own. It is somewhat remarkable that the Boers have not destroyed the bridge at Colenso, and, if they do not blow it up, it will greatly facilitate the relief of Gen. White. Buller's army corps has commenced to arrive, but it will probably be two weeks before he is in a position to advance. The immense military preparations in Great Britain continue. And it is significant of the comprehensive nature of the preparations that a body of Marines has arrived at Halifax unexpectedly on its way to garrison the fortress at Esquimalt. These are stirring times indeed for people over whom floats the Union Jack.

Afternoon Despatches.

Boers Are Treacherous.

Fired on a Ladysmith Party Under a Flag of Truce.

(OTHER DESPATCHES ON INSIDE PAGES)

London, Nov. 10.—(4.30 a.m.)—The scanty and conflicting news from the seat of war and the fact that Gen. White has as yet said a word about the alleged fighting around Ladysmith are again producing a feeling of uneasiness. It may be that Gen. White has sent news and that Gen. Buller has thought best to keep it to himself. Indeed this is the version that it beginning to be believed, as it is not impossible that the news of heavy fighting brought by Kaffirs in such circumstantial detail can be wholly groundless.

It cannot be long, however, before a change occurs. Gen. Buller's forces will soon arrive at Durban, and will probably begin the advance to the relief of Ladysmith about Nov. 15.

What Are the Boers Doing?

The Boers, if they ever entertained the idea of a real invasion of Cape Colony, have probably now abandoned it, and will devote their whole energies to reducing Ladysmith. They have only about a week in which to do this. The fact that they are rather inactive indicates that they are waiting for something which they feel sure will justify their delay. The latest Estcourt despatches seem to hint that the garrison is about to retire further southward.

A Siege Train for Pretoria.

Orders have been received at Woolwich and Devonport for the mobilization of a siege train, which, it is supposed, is intended for the purpose of shelling Pretoria. The force manning it will approximate to the strength of eight batteries, and will consist of 32 officers and 1104 non-commissioned officers and men. Its armament will be thirty Howitzer, fourteen six-inch guns, eight five-inch guns and eight four-inch guns, the whole train weighing over 5000 tons. This will be the first employment of a modernized siege train by any European army, and the progress of the rebuilding of forts by Lyddite shell fire, a preliminary to storming by infantry, will be watched with interest and curiosity by all professional soldiers.

More Transports Chartered.

Three large steamers have just been chartered at Liverpool to convey the 10,000 troops of the division which Lord Wolseley yesterday announced will be mobilized. The transport Avon has been secured by a like arrangement of her electrical plant. The disabled Persian will transfer her troops to the Goth, which will leave Southampton next Tuesday.

A despatch from Durban announces that Prince Victor of Schleswig-Holstein, arrived there on Monday, and immediately proceeded up-country.

MORE NEWS FROM GEN. BULLER.

Pigeon Post From Gen. White at Ladysmith Gives Situation.

London, Nov. 9.—The War Office received the following despatch from General Buller this morning, dated Cape Town, Wednesday, Nov. 8, 11.50 p.m.:

"Col. Kederich telegraphs from Kimberley, Nov. 5, that all is well there and that there has been no serious attack as yet. A slight bombardment did no damage.

"Information from Mafeking shows that place was safe Oct. 27. Col. Plumer had a successful engagement near Fort Tuli, Oct. 26.

News by Pigeon Post.

"General White reports by pigeon post that the wounded and some civilians from Ladysmith have been removed four miles down the railroad by an arrangement with General Joubert, to a neutral place, to save them from the bombardment.

The Dundee Wounded.

"Ninety-nine wounded from Dundee have been sent in under a flag of truce. They are all doing well, including the following officers: Col. C. E. Beckett, Major F. Hunnersley, Capt. F. Ladam, Lieut. McLachlan, Major Boutibee, Capt. Dibley, Lieut. T. Pervis, Lieut. C. A. Worthington, Major W. Davidson and Lieut. D. E. Weldon.

"The bombardment was discontinued Nov. 4 and Nov. 5, but it is expected to re-commence Nov. 6."

ROSLIN CASTLE AT CAPE TOWN

One of the Five Transports That Sailed From England on Oct. 19 Has Reached Port.

London, Nov. 9.—The British transport Roslin Castle, with Gen. Hilyard and the staff of the Yorkshire Regiment on board, has arrived at Cape Town. Four other transports sailed from England on the same day, the 19th.

Leyds Gets Notice to Quit.

London, Nov. 9.—A despatch from The Hague says Dr. J. Leyds, the diplomatic agent of the Transvaal, has received a friendly intimation that his visits to Holland during the war must cease.

Liverpool, Nov. 9.—Enormous crowds in the streets and about the docks here bade farewell this morning to the 1st Battalion of the Gordon Highlanders (Duke of Fife's), in which a son of Gen. White is a lieutenant. The presence of Lady White and her daughter increased the enthusiasm.

All Safe for a Time.

London, Nov. 10.—The correspondent of The Daily Telegraph at Pietermaritzburg, telegraphing Monday, says: "Estcourt, Pietermaritzburg and Ladysmith are all safe for some time to come. Owing to the fact that Ladysmith lies low, and the Boers, unluckily, have been permitted to occupy Mount Bulwan and other surrounding hills, attempts to open up heliographic communication had proved a failure."

Boers at Kimberley.

Orange River, Cape Colony, Monday, Nov. 6.—The Boers investing Kimberley have been reinforced by 2000 men and have succeeded in corralling about 4500 worth of stock belonging to Kimberley merchants, which was intended for the sustenance of the town.

Infamous Boer Charges.

London, Nov. 10.—The Cape Town correspondent of The Standard says: "The ministerial papers here are giving currency to infamous Boer charges of British brutality to prisoners, and the treacherous use of the white flag. It is asserted that the British have bound prisoners to the wheels of Maxim guns and dragged them along."

An Improbable Rumor.

At Constantinople it is rumored that Lord Cromer, British diplomatic agent in Egypt, has received instructions to arrange with the Egyptian Cabinet for the despatch of 5000 Egyptian troops to the Transvaal, but the report is discredited here.

THIS IS PECULIAR.

"Owing to War Conditions" German Warships Are Ordered Home.

Kingston, Jamaica, Nov. 9.—The German Consul here received an intimation that, owing to war conditions, the German cruisers Stein, Stosch and Charlotte, now in these waters, and due here on Saturday, have been ordered to proceed home immediately. The incident has caused considerable speculation.

(By Associated Press To-day.)

London, Nov. 10.—Despatches received by the War Office from Gen. Buller indicate that the following despatch has been received by pigeon post from Gen. White:

Bombardment at long range by heavy guns continues daily.

A few casualties are occurring, but no serious harm is being done.

The Boers sent in to-day a number of refugees from the Transvaal, under a flag of truce. A flag of truce from Ladysmith met them outside the pickets. When the party separated the Boer guns fired on it before it reached our pickets.

The entrenchments are daily growing stronger and the supply of provisions is ample.

Estcourt, Nov. 10.—The Boers are apparently trying to effect strong lodgments around Ladysmith, whence they can shell the town and camps.

Gen. White's batteries have thus far been able to prevent them from closing in too near.

Estcourt and Pietermaritzburg are safe.

Gen. White sent a message on Monday to Gen. Joubert, requesting that the Boers permit the women, children and non-combatants remaining at Ladysmith to leave the town.

Joubert forwarded a reply, in which he invited those who wished to leave town to go under the protection of Umbulawana guns.

The Mayor of Ladysmith convened a mass meeting of the inhabitants to consider whether it would be advisable for the non-combatants to accept Joubert's offer.

After a lengthy discussion the meeting passed a resolution saying they would accept no terms from the enemy.

London, November 10.—It is believed now that Gen. Buller has changed his plans, and that his first move will now be to free Gen. White, instead of advancing through Orange Free State, as it was at first supposed he would.

It has become apparent that the situation at Ladysmith cannot be indefinitely prolonged, and information has reached the Government that the Boers intend soon to deliver a telling stroke.

This has led Gen. Buller to prepare a counter stroke and endeavor to push the Boers back by a direct attack. It is feared that this plan will entail great loss of life.

A rumor from Amsterdam says the Free State Boers kille l 600 British soldiers and captured 300 horses.

THE WAR SUMMARY.

The first of the army corps transports, the Roslin Castle, arrived at Cape Town yesterday and was immediately ordered to Durban.

British military experts infer that this means an immediate advance to raise the investment of Ladysmith.

The Roslin Castle has on board Major-General Hildyard and staff and the Yorkshire Regiment.

The bombardment of Ladysmith was resumed on Tuesday, but no damage was done.

The transport Persia, with a squadron of the Inniskilling Dragoons and munitions of war, reached St. Vincent, Cape Verde Islands, yesterday in a disabled condition.

Kimberley and Mafeking are still holding out. It is reported that both garrisons are hard pressed. The Rhodesian force at Port Tuli has again defeated a Boer detachment.

In a brilliant action around Colenso on Sunday last two companies of the Dublin Fusiliers beat off the enemy, entered the town and succeeded in seizing and taking to Ladysmith four waggon loads of ammunition and provisions.

Lord Wolseley, speaking at the Lord Mayor's banquet last night, announced that an order had been issued for the mobilization of an army division 10,000 strong, to proceed to South Africa.

Lord Salisbury, in his speech at the same banquet, ridiculed the idea of European intervention, adding that Britain would not tolerate it.

VERY NARROW ESCAPE.

Two Belleville Engineers Close to Death Yesterday Afternoon.

One Severely Scalded and the Other Suffering From Painful Bruises.

A rear end collision between two light engines occurred on the line of the G. T. R. at Marysville station yesterday afternoon, and as a result two engineers, residing in this City, were injured.

It appears that engine No 746, in charge of Engineer R. Snell and fireman L. Thomas, was proceeding westward towards the City. At Marysville the semaphore was against Snell and he stopped at the station for orders, which were to the effect that about two miles west of Marysville, a cow had been killed and he was to remove it. Whilst Engineer Snell was engaged in getting the orders another light engine was approaching from the east, but, owing to a curve near there, the front engine could not be seen. Snell heard the engine coming and so informed his driver and directed the latter to turn the board against the approaching engine. Thomas endeavored to do so but before he could reach the semaphore the engine had passed it. Snell, seeing a collision would take place, ran and jumped upon his engine and pulled open the throttle with the expectation of getting out of the way, but could not do so. The rear engine crashed into the tender of the front engine with considerable force.

When the collision occurred the steam gauge of Snell's engine burst and some other pipes broke, enveloping the unfortunate engineer in steam. As a result he was severely scalded about the hands, arms and face.

Adamson, the engineer of the rear engine, was also in a perilous condition and at first it was thought that he was killed. He was completely covered with coal and some minutes elapsed before he could be extricated. His injuries consist of bad bruises about the chest and other portions of the body. His fireman, A. Bowen, jumped and escaped injuries.

As soon as possible a physician was summoned to the scene and the unfortunate men attended to. Although badly scalded, Snell's injuries are not considered fatal. He was brought to the city and conveyed to his home on Russell st. Inquiry at the house this morning elicited the information that he was doing as well as could be expected.

Adamson was also doing nicely.

The damage to both engines was considerable and they have been taken to the workshop for repairs.

AMUSEMENTS.

A GOOD PRODUCTION.

It is really wonderful what a hold "Faust" seems to have on the public mind and pocket. One of the largest audiences of the season assembled last night to witness what was advertised to be Lewis Morrison's "Faust." Mr. Morrison's name did not appear in the cast, but many people are of the opinion that the production did not suffer much on that account. Mr. Eroll Dunbar played the part of "Mephisto," and played it exceedingly well. His gestures and facial expression were good. He was supported by an excellent company, all the mechanical effects and scenic accessories were first class, the result being a fine performance. The Brocken scene, as usual, was full of grim suggestiveness, and the stage thunder and lightning and shower of fire and brimstone gave the ladies delightful little fits of shuddering, and made them sit a little closer to their escorts. The vocalists with the company deserve more than a passing word of praise. The chants, choruses and part songs were very well done, indeed.

Manager Adams informs us that he has secured a great treat for Belleville theatregoers. Mr. Lewis Morrison's Company will present "Frederick the Great" here at an early date.

Died After a Long Illness.

After an illness extending over a period of some 8 years, Dottie the 10 year-old daughter of Capt. J. H. Smith, died last evening at the family residence, South John st. The deceased was a lovable girl and a general favorite, not only with her playmates, but with all that knew her. Her demise is sincerely regretted and the parents and other members of the family will receive much sympathy in the affliction which has overtaken them. Dottie was a member of the primary class of Bridge st. Sunday School.

Arrivals.

These goods for our holiday trade were purchased six months ago, some earlier, and orders could not be countermanded, thus there will be added to our already famous stock $10,000 worth of the choicest goods of the year.

All these will be subject to sale prices, and new lines are being daily placed in stock, so that frequent visitors to our store will be able to see all lines before they are picked up.

We wish, if at all possible, to have sold this business by or before January 1st, as we are particularly anxious to commence the development of the Wall Paper trade for 1900 on January 1st, commencing a new century with the one line, WALL PAPER.

PAUNCEFOTE FELT RELIEVED

When Informed on Arrival That Ladysmith Had Not Fallen.

New York, Nov. 10.—Lord Pauncefote, British Ambassador to the United States, arrived here yesterday on the Oceanic. Lord Pauncefote inquired eagerly after news from the Transvaal, wanting to know particularly if the British troops at Ladysmith had held their own. He said: "I am glad that Ladysmith has not fallen, and I believe that the situation there will soon be relieved. Gen. Buller is coming up to relieve Gen. White, and this will change the situation there." Lord Pauncefote refused to answer a number of questions relative to the Alaskan question and the situation in England, declaring that he would not talk politics.

MANY HAPPY RETURNS.

The Prince of Wales Celebrates His Fifty-Eighth Birthday.

London, Nov. 10.—The birthday of the Prince of Wales (who was born Nov. 9, 1841,) was celebrated yesterday as usual, St. Paul's, Westminster and other chimes were pealed, the public buildings floated the Royal Standard, salutes were fired at Windsor, the Horse Guards paraded at the Tower of London.

May They Ever Be Happy.

Washington, Nov. 10.—Mrs. Hazen and Admiral Dewey were married at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. The ceremony took place at St. Paul's Church, Father Mackin officiating. The ceremony was strictly private, and of the simplest character.

LUMBER BUSINESS BOOMING.

Mills Busy and in Both Canada and Britain Prices Are High.

Ottawa, Nov. 10.—Prices for Canadian lumber, especially for common grades, is higher than it has ever been known before.

This is the statement of a prominent Chaudiere lumberman. The Canadian and British markets are simply boomibg, and a further rise in the British market is expected. The mills here are getting all the export trade they can attend to, and prices are good enough to satisfy any lumberman.

Business around the Chaudiere Mills is being rushed just at present, so that all the sawing will be done before there is any danger of interference by anchor ice.

Davis Has Gone South.

Winnipeg, Nov. 10.—Detective Davis is supposed to have gone south. No action will be taken against him for damages.

BRAIN FOOD

Is of Little Benefit Unless It is Digested.

Nearly everyone will admit that as a nation we eat too much meat and too little of vegetables and the grains.

For business men, office men and clerks, and in fact everyone engaged in sedentary or indoor occupations, grains, milk and vegetables are much more healthful.

Only men engaged in a severe out door manual labor can live on a heavy meat diet and continue in health.

As a general rule, meat once a day is sufficient for all classes of men, women and children, and grains, fruit and vegetables should constitute the bulk of food eaten.

But many of the most nutritious foods are difficult of digestion and it is of no use to advise brain workers to eat largely of grains and vegetables where the digestion is too weak to assimilate them properly.

It is always best to get the best results from our food that some simple and harmless digestive should be taken after meals to assist the relaxed digestive organs, and several years, experience have proven Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets to be a very safe, pleasant and effective digestive and a remedy which may be taken daily with the best results.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets can hardly be called a patent medicine, as they do not act on the bowels nor any particular organ but only on the food eaten. They supply what weak stomachs, lack pepsin diastase, and by stimulating the gastric glands increase the natural secretion of hydrochloric acid.

People who make a daily practice of taking one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal are sure to have perfect digestion, which means perfect health.

There is no danger of forming an injurious habit, as the tablets contain absolutely nothing but natural digestives; cocaine, morphine and similar drugs have no place in a stomach medicine and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are certainly the best known and most popular of all stomach remedies.

Ask your druggist for a fifty cent package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and after a week's use note the improvement in health, appetite and nervous energy.

GREAT BRITAIN'S "SPLENDID ISOLATION"

Breaks Before Universal Anglo-Saxon Sympathy and Cordial German Relations.

In This Time of War Britain's Premier Tells the British Public Just Where and How They Stand With Other Nations—German Figure Now--There Will Be No Interference by Other Nations.

London, Nov. 10.—The Lord Mayor's show, which marks the induction of Mr. A. J. Newton into office, was honored yesterday by exceptionally fine weather. The antiquated ducts failed to satisfy the London crowds, who poured out in enormous numbers to vent their martial enthusiasm. The streets were lavishly decorated with flags, but the absence of a detachment of the household cavalry and the small attention of a number of schoolboy brigades testified to the presence of the veteran regiments at the front. The police representing Great Britain surrounded by her sons, the Canadian and Australian volunteers, could hardly applause, as did the boys of the Duke of York's Royal Military School. The crowds, however, wanted their full forms, and refused to be reconciled with the Lord Mayor's coach and other emblems of purely civic powers.

LORD SALISBURY'S SPEECH.

There Will Be No Interference With Britain in This War.

London, Nov. 10.—At the Guild Hall banquet last night the Marquis of Salisbury, Lord Wolseley, Mr. Ritchie, Lord George Hamilton, Lord Halsbury, the Lord Chief Justice, the Duke of Marlborough and a few minor diplomats were present. Mr. Chamberlain was absent. Lord Salisbury and Lord Wolseley were warmly cheered as they passed from the reception in the library into the banqueting hall. The Lord Mayor proposed "The Ministers."

Lord Wolseley's Speech.

Replying to the toast to "The Army," proposed in warm terms by Ald. Treloar, Lord Wolseley said: "Every day applications are received from volunteers in all parts of the Empire, who wish to be sent to the front. I am proud of the sailors, soldiers and volunteers, who are all on guard. We have hard work before us, for our foe is brave and it is no mimic warfare in which we are engaged. When one reads of the work which our local forces in Natal have done in the past few weeks, one must deem them worthy of standing side by side with the best regulars. We at present have only mobilized one army corps, consisting of 53,000 men, of whom 44,000 are already on the way to the Cape. To-day orders have been sent to mobilize another division, and if called upon by the Ministers to mobilize another army corps, we are quite prepared to do so."

Lord Salisbury's Speech.

Lord Salisbury, rising at a quarter past 9 o'clock, was greeted with intense enthusiasm, prolonged cheering and again waving handkerchiefs. The Premier said: "I have to answer for many years of similar receptions in this hall, but never before under conditions that justified me in appealing so confidently to your support as in the present grave state of public affairs. Before turning to this serious point, it is my duty to inform you that our situation in South Africa is the only part of our relations with other nations to which any term of apprehension or doubt can be applied.

"For several years our relation with and cordial feeling toward our kinsmen on the other side of the Atlantic have been constantly growing, and, though we neither interfere in the affairs of their continent nor they interfere in the affairs of ours, we feel we can now always look for sympathy and a fair hearing among those who share with us so vast a mission for the advancement of mankind.

No Hostility in Europe to Fear.

"But, perhaps you think I am sanguine in saying that on the continent of Europe we have no hostility to fear. There is undoubtedly a certain acerbity of tone among the writers for the foreign press, but I do not believe that the trend of this opinion affects the peoples of foreign nations. I am quite certain it does not affect their governments; and I will say that I have noted, as one of the cheering symptoms of the present time, the happy relations existing between the United States and ourselves—(cheers)—and the sympathy with which we watch their approach toward the same great problems that we ourselves have had to solve.

Spain's War a Blessing.

"That is not to say that I do not feel the greatest sympathy with the late antagonist, the Kingdom of Spain. We entertain the highest hope that out of that war a blessing in disguise will grow—and be an abundant growth—civilization and culture in that ancient and most interesting monarchy.

Relations With Germany.

"This morning you had intelligence of an agreement between ourselves and one of the great continental states with which, for many years, we have entertained relations of sympathy and friendship beyond others. Samoa is not in itself a very important matter, but it was important because it constituted a subject of difference between ourselves and a nation whose good will we prize very highly. I do not know entirely the reason why the German people and Government attach so much importance upon Upolu but they do, and we are very glad to find the means whereby, without in the least diminishing the rights and advantages of England, we are able to gratify their views and sentiments.

The Samoan Agreement.

"The agreement is somewhat complicated, but roughly, it may be said that the Germans have great interest in this island, because they have invested large amounts in its cultivation, and because they have constructed a great commerce, of which they are proud. The islands therefore are of value to them. To us, on the other hand, islands are generally only valuable when they furnish good harbors. Upolu furnishes a very bad harbor. You will remember the great hurricane, when a British man-of-war escaped, and when German and American men-of-war were driven ashore. Well, in these circumstances, we were glad to accept a renunciation of the treaty claims and rights of Germany over another island, Tonga, where there is an admirable and inimitable harbor. We took the harbor and Germany took the territory in which for many reasons the Germans are interested.

Britain's Relations With Germany.

"I believe we have arrived at a very remarkable phenomenon and agreement, which is agreeably pleasant and advantageous to both powers, but this is interesting, particularly because it indicates that, at the present moment our relations with the German people are all we could desire.

The War With the Boers.

"The greatest subject that interests all of us, undoubtedly is this war, adorned with so many splendid acts of heroism and skill, but saddened by so many losses. I have great difficulty in dealing with the war; and, if I attempted to deal with it fully I should be undertaking a task in prophecy from which the hardiest would shrink. If, I speak at all, it may rather be to deprecate criticisms and statements which I think unfounded, than to attempt to pass judgment on what still depends upon the future for its full determination.

Elements of Distance Vital.

"Respecting the feeling expressed twice or thrice that the want of troops is due to a want of action on the part of the home Government, I would point out that these have been two or three voices. Two or three months ago we were told by the most authoritative voice outside the government that there was no occasion for military preparations. But neither of these criticisms is at all relevant to the events which have been taking place. It has been often said, especially abroad, that we are a strong nation attacking a weak one; but so long as the principal part of our forces is separated by an interval of five or six weeks from the field of action, it would rather be true to say that we are a weak nation fighting a strong nation. Elements of distance are vital and essential in this matter.

Britain and Kruger's Ultimatum.

"It would have been nothing to the purpose to issue proclamations for reserves some weeks earlier. For, what was the cause of the war, and what was the cause of the ultimatum? It was not because of any demand we had made. It so happens that at the moment the ultimatum was issued we had withdrawn our demands and there was no demand before the Transvaal Government. It was because we had taken measures to increase the amount of our forces in South Africa. But, if that had been done a few months sooner, exactly the same result would have taken place. The moment you had shown signs of raising your force to an equality with the force opposed it, the moment the ultimatum would have begun. (Cheers).

Fault Was With Gladstone.

"It is not, therefore, right to say that there was not adequate military preparation. The evil dates further back. It dates to those unfortunate arrangements in 1881 and 1884 by which we deliberately permitted a community, obviously hostile, to enjoy the unbounded, unlimited right of accumulating munitions of war against us. Year after year an accumulation of munitions was made which could only be directed against us.

Impossible to Avoid It.

"Hampered by these arrangements, it was impossible that we should avoid the interval of trial and danger necessarily to intervene between the moment when war was declared and the moment when our forces could accept contest and appear upon the field.

But It is Nearly Over.

"That interval has nearly passed. Our troops are beginning to arrive. Foreign nations have complimented us upon the calmness with which we have received the intelligence of occasional checks. Whatever strategy there might be, we are well aware that the beginning of our conflict with the Boers must be marked by a retirement of our troops from positions they are not strong enough to occupy. It is necessary that they should wait for sufficient reinforcements. I do not attempt to forecast the future. I only say that my faith in the British soldier is unbounded, and I am deeply gratified to feel that he is in the vigorous and sagacious hands of Gen. Buller.

Regarding the Future.

"Regarding the future, I will only deprecate some very strange assertions that I see occasionally in the Continental press. Only the other day I saw it asserted, not by a chance writer, but by a man who has been a member of a French Government, that this war had for its objects the gratification of the lusts of greedy lords who desired a partition among themselves of the gold and diamonds of the Transvaal.

"Now, I beg to assure this gentleman that Her Majesty's Government have not had a farthing from the Transvaal or from any other gold fields. There is the Yukon, about which there is no contest. If there had been any chance of our gaining advantages these Yukon gold fields should have yielded something; but I appeal to my friend Lord Hamilton, to know if the Cabinet ever had a farthing from them. (Laughter).

No Benefit But Good Administration

"I go further. England, as a whole, would have had no advantage from the possession of gold mines except as her Government conferred the blessings of good administration upon those engaged in the industry. All successful industry breeds commerce, and all commerce has grounded for the advantage of England; and all industries and commerce flourish better under her good government than under any other regime in the world. But that is the limit of our interest.

"What we desire is equal rights for all men of all races, and security for our fellow subjects and our Empire. The hour for asking by what means these results can be obtained is not yet come; but these are the objects, and the only objects we seek. We do not allow any other consideration to cross our path.

No Foreign Dictation.

"I have seen it suggested—and it seems to me a mild suggestion—that the other powers will interfere with this country and in some form or other dictate to those who are concerned in it as to what its upshot should be. Don't let any man think it is in that fashion the conflict will be concluded. We shall have to carry it through ourselves, and the interference of anybody else will have no effect upon it. (Cheers.) In the first place, because we would not accept that interference, and, in the second place, because we are convinced that there is no such idea in the minds of any Government in the world.

No Third Party Will Come in.

"Within my recollection, there have been some five great wars, involving in their close great territorial modifications, but except as provided for by treaties and except in the case of treaties, in none of these wars has a third party ventured to interfere between the combatants. In none of these wars has any nation claimed a right to determine what the issue of the contest or its terms should be. They have disclaimed that right, because they cannot. It is not in accordance with international law that they should possess it. Therefore, such dreams should be set aside.

When Victory Comes.

"Whenever we are victorious we shall consult the vast interests committed to our care. Vast duties lie upon us to perform, and, taking counsel of the uniform interests of our colonial government and of moderation and equal justice to all races of men, which has been our uniform practice to observe, I do not doubt we shall so arrange that the issue of this conflict will confer good government upon the area where it rages and give the security solely needed against the recurrence of any such dangers and the necessity of any such future exertion, and for the restoration of peace and civilization to that portion of the world."

Lord Salisbury resumed his seat amid a tremendous ovation.

WILL BOMBARD PORTO CABELLO.

A General Who Violated a Flag of Truce to Hang.

Caracas, Venezuela, Nov. 10.—Gen. Castro yesterday asked Mr. F. B. Loomis, dean of the diplomatic corps, to inform the Ministers and Consuls here and elsewhere that he will attack Porto Cabello—which has not surrendered, as reported—by land and sea to-day. This is a notification for the non-combatants and foreigners to leave the town, which will be shelled from two forts, while the defending forts will be fired upon by Castro's battery. His armed vessels will also take part in the engagement.

Gen. Paredos, who violated a flag of truce by arresting Gen. Bolivar, alias Ruiz, Castro's envoy, yesterday, will, it is said, be hanged if captured.

Electric Road to Guelph.

Hamilton, Nov. 10.—The Cataract Power Syndicate propose to build an electric line to Guelph, Galt, Preston, Doon and Berlin. It will be a properly constructed, properly graded road, with double track, not running on side roads. Hon. J. M. Gibson told the Finance Committee of the Council yesterday that the right of way through the city would cost at least $100,000, and then laid these three proposals before the committee: First, the granting of a bonus; second, the city to secure the right of way and give the route to the Cataract Company; third, the city to make an abatement of the annual percentage and mileage charges on the street railway receipts, equivalent to a bonus. A special meeting will consider the question.

The Pill That Will Is the Pill You Want.

Pills are necessary but not nice. Cathartics are not confections. The fewer pills that you take the better. It's aggravating to take pills that don't and pills that won't. It's soothing to know that when you take a pill it's the pill that will do the work for which it's taken.

Ayer's Pills

have gained a reputation for their sure results. The pill that will is Ayer's. For all liver troubles, diseases of the stomach and bowels, sick headache, biliousness and heartburn, Dr. Ayer's Pills have proven a specific, and they as they have cured thousands of others whose testimony is a matter of record. Ayer's Cure Book is sent free by Dr. J. C. Ayer, Lowell, Mass. Send for it if you want to know more of the power of these pills than is proven in the following testimonials.

"I suffered nearly all my life with bowel compaints, enduring much pain, and I tried almost all the cathartic remedies advertised in the newspapers, without obtaining permanent relief until I used Ayer's Cathartic Pills. The result obtained from the use of these pills was wonderful. They not only gave immediate relief but effected a permanent cure."
R. C. STODDARD, Delhi, Ont.

"I was ill for some time with liver trouble. My back ached and my skin turned as yellow as saffron; I became unable to do any work, and at last was confined to my bed too weak to move without assistance. I commenced the use of Ayer's Pills and less than half a box cured me. I owe my present good health to their use, and I am never without them."
WM. OAKLEY, Lobelville, Tenn.

"I have used Ayer's Pills with excellent results for constipation. I find that they do not gripe nor purge, but do give relief." CHARLES R. WHITE, Pittsgrove, N. J.

"I have used Ayer's Pills since 1845, and consider them superior to all other pills on the market. I always keep them in the house in case of emergency, and at one time they cured my wife of dyspepsia. I have found them good for all diseases caused by the Southern climate."
A. L. JONES, Elizabeth City, N. C.

For coughs, colds, bronchitis and all lung and throat troubles, there is no preparation or medicine can compare with Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which causes difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relie to that depressing tightness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and huskiness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous. If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety, trouble and expense, let them procure a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the Syrup according to directions.

It is easer to be good than great—there is less opposition.

At Death s Door—Dyspepsia Conquered. A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. (Signed) Jean Valcourt, General Merchant, Wotton, P. Q.

The sun shines for all, but the sleeping car porter does it for a quarter.

Totally Deaf.—Mr. S. E. Crandell, Port Perry, writes—"I contracted a severe cold last winter, which resulted in my becoming totally deaf in one ear and partially so in the other. After trying various remedies, and consulting several doctors, without obtaining any relief, I was advised to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

How to Cure Headache.—Some people suffer untold misery day after day with headache. There is rest neither day or night until the nerves are all unstrung. As a safe family medicine Parmelee's Vegetable Pills can be given in all cases requiring a cathartic.

TRAIN WRECKERS AT WORK.

Three Persons Fatally and Ten Severely Injured.

The Fiendish Deed Occurred on the Michigan Central Road—The Fish Plates Were Unscrewed and the Rails Spread—The Cars Piled Up in the Ditch Near Alexis, Mich.—Train Wreckers Did It.

Toledo, Ohio, Nov. 9.—Michigan Central train No. 310, from Toledo to Detroit, was ditched by the spreading of rails between Alexis and Vienna, Mich., about 8 o'clock to-night. Three persons were fatally and ten seriously injured. The former are: Jno. McKay, Indianapolis; John O'Neill, Detroit, and Wm. Hamilton, engineer.

Those severely injured are: Chas. Calvert, Detroit; Maxine Fanueff, Walbridge, Ohio; Charles Kress, Detroit; Jacob Rosensall, Detroit; Devore M. Ashton, Detroit; Mrs. Sarah Whipple, Monroe; Dean Ashmore, Detroit; S. A. Freshney, Fort Wayne, Ind.; Ralph Spar, New York, Conductor Martin and fifteen or twenty other passengers were bruised and shaken up.

Train Wreckers Did It.

The accident was undoubtedly the work of train wreckers. Where the rails were spread it was found that the bolts that hold the fish plates had been unscrewed. A couple of big wrenches, such as section hands use, were found lying beside the track.

The early reports of the wreck were alarming, and the railroad company summoned every available physician from Toledo and elsewhere. A special hospital train was ordered from Detroit, and the injured will be taken there.

THE POTSDAM INTERVIEW.

Berlin Correspondent Says There Were Important Decisions.

Paris, Nov. 9.—The Berlin correspondent of The Gaulois says the interview at Potsdam yesterday between Emperor William and the Czar resulted in decisions of the highest importance, which will shortly have considerable consequence in modifying the policy of the two powers.

The Eclaire to-day expresses the belief that the Anglo-German agreement regarding Samoa is important, and says: "If a part of the price of the concessions made by England is the benevolent neutrality of Germany in the Transvaal, after the present war England will be forced to attack Abyssinia."

France Sees Something.

Paris, Nov. 9.—The Journal des Debats which finds the Samoan agreement "very significant from the viewpoint of Anglo German-American relations," says: "Discussion as to whether our diplomacy might not have been able to prevent this situation avails us nothing. We can only take note of the material fact of the existence of a new and important factor in international policy."

London Evening Papers Satisfied.

London, Nov. 9.—The afternoon papers here express satisfaction at the Samoan settlement. They are especially gratified at the evidence of the continued good understanding between the three nations. The acquisition of Tutuila is regarded as setting the seal on the expansionist policy of the United States, and a great development of the American navy is anticipated and welcomed.

THE TORONTO MURDER.

Toronto, Nov. 10.—John E. Varcoe died at 8 o'clock yesterday morning at the General Hospital as a result of two bullet wounds received in an encounter with burglars a few minutes before 2 o'clock at his home, above his grocery store, 182 Queen-street east.

James McIntosh, one of the murderers, is now lying at the point of death in another ward at the General Hospital, with an ugly bullet wound caused by a shot fired from the revolver of P. C. Dickson (199), who arrested him.

Henry Williams, the other murderer, is in jail, suffering from terrible cuts and bruises about the head and body, which he received by jumping through the first-storey window of the house to the pavement, while endeavoring to escape arrest.

Deliberate Murder.

The shooting was deliberate and with murderous intent, because Varcoe endeavored to stop the thieves after they had rifled his pockets. There were six people in the house besides the murdered man when the tragedy took place, his 4-year-old daughter who was sleeping with him; a Miss Armstrong and Mrs. Armstrong, occupying rooms on the same flat; Alfred Varcoe, a brother, and Frank Armstrong and Noel Thomas, two clerks, who occupied rooms on the flat below. The burglars were caught red-handed by P. C. Dickson, who was on the beat; Patrol-Sergeant Willis and a civilian, whose name is at present unknown. Williams was up in the Police Court yesterday morning, charged with murder, and he and McIntosh were verbally remanded till Thursday next.

OUR FATHER'S HOUSE

THE HOME OF GOD'S CHILDREN.

Washington, Nov. 5.—In a unique way the heavenly world is discoursed upon by Dr. Talmage in this sermon under the figure of a home; text, John xiv, 2, "In my Father's house are many rooms."

Here is a bottle of medicine that is a cure all. The disciples were sad, and Christ offered heaven as an alternative, a stimulant and a tonic. He shows them that their sorrows are only a dark background of a bright picture of coming felicity. He lets them know that, though now they live on the lowlands, they shall yet have a house on the uplands. Nearly all the Bible descriptions of heaven may be figurative. I am not positive that in all heaven there is a literal crown or harp or pearly gate or throne or chariot. They may be only used to illustrate the glories of the place, but how well they do it! The favorite symbol by which the Bible presents celestial happiness is a house. Paul, who never owned a house, although he hired one for two years in Italy, speaks of heaven as a "house not made with hands," and Christ in our text, the translation of which is a little changed, so as to give the more accurate meaning, says, "In my Father's house are many rooms."

This divinely authorized comparison of heaven to a great homestead of large accommodations I propose to carry out. In some healthy neighborhood a man builds a very commodious habitation. He must have room for all his children. The rooms come to be called after the different members of the family. That is mother's room, that is George's room, that is Henry's room, that is Flora's room, that is Mary's room, and the house is all occupied. But time goes by, and the sons go out into the world and build their own homes, and the daughters are married or have talents enough singly to go out and do a good work in the world. And after awhile the father and mother are almost alone in the big house, and, seated by the evening stand, they say, "Well, our family is no larger now than when we started together 40 years ago." But time goes still farther by, and some of the children are unfortunate and return to the old homestead to live, and the grandchildren come with them and perhaps great-grandchildren, and again the house is full.

Millennia ago God built on the hills of heaven a great homestead for a family innumerable, yet to be. At first he lived alone in that great house, but after awhile it was occupied by a very large family, cherubic, seraphic, angelic. The eternities passed on, and many of the habitants passed on, and many of the inhabitants became wayward and left, never to return, and many of the apartments were vacated. I refer to the seraphic, angelic. The eternities are filling up again. There are arrivals at the old homestead of God's children every day, and the day will come when there will be no unoccupied room in all the house.

As you and I expect to enter it and make there eternal residence, I thought you would like to get some more particulars about the many roomed homestead. "In my Father's house are many rooms." You see, the place is to be apportioned off into apartments. We shall love all who are in heaven, but there are some very good people whom we would not want to live with in the same room. They may be better than we are, but they are of a divergent temperament. We would like to meet with them on the golden streets and worship with them in the temple and walk with them on the river banks, but I am glad to say that we shall live in different apartments. "In my Father's house are many rooms." You see, heaven will be so large that if one wants an entire room to himself or herself it can be afforded.

An ingenious statistician, taking the statement made in Revelation, twenty-first chapter, that the heavenly Jerusalem was measured and found to be 12,000 furlongs and that the length and height and breadth of it are equal, says that would make heaven in size 948 sextillion 988 quintillion cubic feet, and then, reserving a certain portion for the court of heaven and the streets and estimating that the world may last a hundred thousand years, he ciphers out that there are over 5,000,000,000,000 rooms, each room 17 feet long, 16 feet wide, 15 feet high. But I have no faith in the accuracy of that calculation. He makes the rooms too small. From all I can read, the rooms will be palatial, and those who have not had enough room in this world will have plenty of room at the last.

Carrying out still further the symbolism of the text, let us join hands and go up to this majestic homestead and see for ourselves. As we ascend the golden steps an invisible guardsman swings open the front door, and we are ushered to the right into the reception room of the old homestead. That is the place where we first meet the welcome of heaven. There must be a place where the departed spirit enters and a place in which it confronts the inhabitants celestial. The reception room of the newly arrived from this world—what scenes it must have witnessed since the first guest arrived, the victim of the first fratricide, pious Abel! In that room Christ lovingly greets all new-comers. He redeemed them, and he has the right to the first embrace on arrival. What a minute when the ascended spirit first sees the Lord! Better than all we ever read about him or talked about him or sang about him in all the churches and through all our earthly lifetime will it be, just for one second to see him. The most rapturous idea we ever had of him on sacramental days or at the height of some great revival or under the uplifted baton of an oratorio is a bankruptcy of thought compared with the first flash of his appearance in that reception room. At that moment when you confront each other, Christ looking upon you and you looking upon Christ, there will be an ecstatic thrill and surging of emotion that beggar all description. Look! They need no introduction. Long ago Christ chose that repentant sinner, and that repentant sinner chose Christ. Mightiest moment of an immortal history—the first kiss of heaven! Jesus and the soul! The soul and Jesus!

But now into that reception room pour the glorified kinsfolk, enough of earthly retention to let you know them, but without their wounds or their sicknesses or their troubles—see what heaven has done for them—so radiant, so gleeful, so transportingly lovely! They call you by name. They greet you with an ardor proportioned to the anguish of your parting and the length of your separation. Father! Mother! There is your child. Sisters! Brothers! Friends! I wish you joy. For years apart, together again in the reception room of the old homestead. You see, they will know you are coming. There are so many immortals filling all the spaces between here and heaven that news like that flies like lightning. They will be there in an instant. Though they were in some other world on errand from God, a signal would be thrown that would fetch them. Though you might at first feel dazed and overawed at their supernal splendor, all that feeling will be gone at their first touch of heavenly salutation, and we will say: "Oh, my lost boy!" "Oh, my lost companion!" "Oh, my lost friend! Are we here together?" What scenes in that reception room of the old homestead have been witnessed! There met Joseph and Jacob, finding it a brighter room than anything they saw in Pharoah's palace; David and the little child for whom he once fasted and wept; Mary and Lazarus after the heartbreak of Bethany; Timothy and grandmother Lois; Isabella Graham and her sailor son; Alfred and George Cookman, the mystery of the sea at last made manifest; Luther and Magdalene, the daughter he bemoaned; John Howard and the prisoners whom he gospelized, and multitudes without number who, once so weary and so sad, parted on earth, but gloriously met in heaven. Among all the rooms of that house there is no one that more enraptures my soul than that reception room. "In my Father's house are many rooms."

Another room in our Father's house is the throne-room. We belong to the royal family. The blood of King Jesus flows in our veins, so we have a right to enter the throne-room. It is no easy thing on earth to get through even the outside door of a king's residence. During the Franco-German war, one eventide in the summer of 1870, I stood studying the exquisite sculpturing of the gate of the Tuileries, Paris. Lost in admiration of the wonderful art of that gate, I knew not that I was exciting suspicion. Lowering my eyes to the crowds of people, I found myself being closely inspected by the government officials, who, from my complexion, judged me to be a German and that for some belligerent purpose I might be examining the gates of the palace. My explanation in very poor French did not satisfy them, and they followed me long distances until I reached my hotel and were not satisfied until from my landlord they found that I was only an inoffensive American. The gates of earthly palaces are carefully guarded, and, if so, how much more the throne-room! A dazzling palace is it for mirrors and all costly art. No one who has ever saw the throne-room of the first and only Napoleon will ever forget the letter N embroidered in purple and gold on the upholstery of chair and window, the letter N gilded on the wall, the letter N chased on the chalices, the letter N flaming from the ceiling. What a conflagration of brilliance the throne-room of Charles Immanuel of Sardinia, of Ferdinand of Spain, of Elizabeth of England, of Boniface of Italy! But the throne-room of our Father's house hath a glory eclipsing all the throne-rooms that ever saw scepter wave or crown glitter or foreign embassador bow, for our Father's throne is a throne of grace, a throne of mercy, a throne of holiness, a throne of justice, a throne of universal dominion. We need not stand shivering and cowering before it, for our Father says we may yet one day come up and sit on it beside him. "To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me in my throne."

The crowns of the royal family of this world are tossed about from generation to generation, and from family to family. There are men comparatively young in Berlin who have seen the crown on three emperors. But wherever the coronets of this world rise or fall they are destined to meet in one place. And I look and see them coming from north and south and east and west, the Spanish crown, the Italian crown, the English crown, the Turkish crown, the Russian crown, the Persian crown—aye, all the crowns from under the great archivolt of heaven—and while I watch and wonder they are all flung in rain of diamonds around the pierced feet.

Jesus shall reign where'er the sun
Does his successive journeys run,
His kingdom stretch from shore to shore
Till sun shall rise and set no more.

Another room in our Father's house is the music room. St. John and other Bible writers talk so much about the music of heaven that there must be music there, perhaps not such as on earth was thrummed from trembling string or evoked by touch of ivory key, but if not that, then something better. There are so many Christian harpists and Christian composers and Christian organists and Christian choristers and Christian hymnologists that have gone up from earth, there must be some place of especial delectation. Shall we have music in this world of discords and no music in the land of complete harmony? I cannot give you the notes of the first bar of the new song that is sung in heaven. I cannot imagine either the solo or the doxology. But heaven means music, and can mean nothing else. Occasionally that music has escaped the gate. Dr. Fuller, dying at Beaufort, S.C., said, "Do you not hear?" "Hear what?" exclaimed the bystanders. "The music! Lift me up! Open the windows!"

Another room in our Father's house will be the family room. It may correspond somewhat with the family room on earth. At morning and evening, you know, that is the place we now meet. Though every member of the household have a separate room, in the family room they all gather, and joys and sorrows and experiences of all styles are there rehearsed. Sacred rooms in all our dwellings, whether it be luxurious with ottomans and divans and books in Russian lids standing in mahogany case or there be only a few plain chairs and a cradle. So the family room on high will be the place where the kinsfolk assemble and talk over the family experiences of earth, the weddings, the births, the burials, the festal days of Christmas and Thanksgiving reunion. Will the children departed remain children there? Will the aged remain aged there? Oh, no! Everything is perfect there. The child will go ahead to glorified maturity, and the aged will go back to glorified maturity. However much we love our children on earth, we would consider it a domestic disaster if they stayed children, and so we rejoice at their growth here. And when we meet in the family room of our Father's house we will be glad that they have grandly and gloriously matured, while our parents, who were aged and infirm here, we shall be glad to find restored to the most agile and vigorous immortality there. If 40 or 45 or 50 years be the apex of physical and mental life on earth, then the heavenly childhood will advance to that, and the heavenly old age retreat to that. When we join them in the family room, we shall have much to tell them. We shall want to know of them, right away, such things as these: Did you see us in this or that or the other struggle? Did you know when we lost our property and sympathize with us? Were you pleased when we started for heaven? Did you celebrate the hour of our conversion? And then, whether they know it or not, we will tell them all. But they will have more to tell us than we to tell them.

Ten years on earth may be very eventful, but what must be the biography of ten years in heaven? They will have to tell us the story of coronations, story of news from all immensity, story of conquerors and hierarchs, story of wrecked or ransomed planets, story of angelic victory aver diabolic revolts, of extinguished suns, of obliterated constellations, of new galaxies kindled and swung, of stranded comets, of worlds of fire, and story of Jehovah's reign. If in that family room of our Father's house we have so much to tell them of what we have passed through since we parted, how much more thrilling and arousing that which they have to tell us of what they have passed through since we parted! Surely that family room will be one of the most favored rooms in all our Father's house. What long lingering there, for we shall never again be in a hurry! "Let me open a window," said a humble Christian servant to Lady Raffles, who, because of the death of her child, had shut herself up in a dark room and refused to see any one. "You have been many days in this dark room. Are you not ashamed to grieve in this manner when you ought to be thanking God for having given you the most beautiful child that ever was seen, and, instead of leaving him in this world till he should be worn with trouble, has not God taken him to heaven in all his beauty? Leave off weeping and let me open a window."

How would it do for any person to leave you in that family room to-day? I am sure there is no room in which you would rather stay than in the enraptured circle of your ascended and glorified kinsfolk. We might visit other rooms in our Father's house. There may be picture galleries penciled not with earthly art, but by some process unknown in this world, preserving for the next world the brightest and most stupendous scenes of human history, and there may be lines and forms of earthly beauty preserved whiter and chaster and richer than Venetian sculpture ever wrought—rooms beside rooms, rooms over rooms, large rooms, majestic rooms, opalescent rooms, amethystine rooms. "In my Father's house are many rooms."

I hope none of us will be disappointed about getting there. There is a room for us if we will go and take it, but in order to reach it it is absolutely necessary that we take the right way, and Christ is the way, and we must enter at the right door, and Christ is the door, and we must start in time, and the only hour you are sure of is the hour the clock now strikes, and the only second the one your watch is now ticking. I hold in my hand a roll of letters inviting you all to make that your home forever. The New Testament is only a roll of letters inviting you, as the spirit of them practically says: "My dying yet immortal child in earthly neighborhood, I have built for you a great residence. It is full of rooms. I have furnished them as no palace was ever furnished. Pearls are nothing, emeralds are nothing, chrysoprasus is nothing, illumined panels of sunrise and sunset nothing, the aurora of northern heavens nothing, compared with the splendour with which I have garnitured them. But you must be clean before you can enter there, and so I have opened a fountain where you may wash all our sins away. Come now! Put your weary but cleansed feet on the upward pathway. Do you not see amid the thick foliage on the heavenly hilltops the old family homestead?" "In my father's house are many rooms."

Their Dissatisfaction.

A young clerk in an office on Fifth avenue lately, became very much dissatisfied with his position and as a consequence his employer became dissatisfied with him.

So it happened that each inserted an advertisement in a daily paper and each wrote in response to each other's expressed want. It happened also that they sat near each other in the office and received their answers simultaneously.

This is what the employer read:

"Sir: I am competent, faithful and a hustler. I desire to change because my present employer is unreasonable and unappreciative."

This is what the young man read:

"Sir: I want a young man with some brains and 'get up' to him. Call at once if you desire to work. No more nonentities wanted."

Then the explosion occurred.—Chicago News.

A Double Ender.

Carl Hauser, the German humorist, says that he met a friend one day who looked very prosperous, although a few months before he had been quite shabby.

"You are doing well now?" asked Hauser.

"Making money," was the response, "selling the only genuine indelible ink in the market."

"How's your brother?"

"Doing finely with an ink eradicator which takes out my ink instantaneously."

are invited to consult Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., by letter, without fee or charge of any kind. Dr. Pierce is a specialist in the diseases of women. He has treated over half-a-million women for diseases of the womanly organs and ninety-eight out of every hundred women he has treated have been absolutely and perfectly cured. Every letter received by Dr. Pierce, is treated as a purely personal and private communication and its contents guarded as a sacred confidence. All answers to these letters are sent in sealed envelopes bearing upon them no printing or advertising whatever.

Write to the doctor. It is no use for sick women to write to a man unless he is a doctor. It is no use to "write to a woman" unless the woman is a doctor. Write to a woman about cookery or any branch of housekeeping, because she is a woman and knows. But it is of no use to write to a woman about disease unless she has a doctor's training and diploma. A woman who isn't a doctor is just as dangerous as a man who isn't a doctor, when she undertakes to treat disease.

There is no qualified woman physician so far as is known connected with any proprietary medicine put up for women. Even the "bearded woman," the man who advertises "write to a woman" is not a qualified physician and stands too much in fear of the law to claim that he is.

There is no other physician, male or female, who, like Dr. Pierce has a record of over thirty years, as chief consulting physician of a well known institution, making a specialty of the private treatment of women's diseases.

Write to the doctor—Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Women realize Dr. Pierce's ability when they read his great work the Common Sense Medical Adviser, 1008-pages; sent free on receipt of stamps to defray cost of customs and mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for paper-bound edition, or 50 stamps for cloth. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

Toronto, Nov. 10.—The run of live stock at the Cattle Market yesterday was large for Thursday, 63 loads, consisting of 1,007 cattle, 1,317 hogs, 1,277 sheep and lambs, with 4 calves. There was not much improvement in the quality of fat cattle, being with a few exceptions only medium. Trade fair for best qualities, while common stuff was slow of sale, especially for old beef cows, which sold at low prices. The run of lambs being large, prices again went lower. Quotations for feeders and stockers were unchanged from those of Tuesday. Fully one-half of the cattle offered were of these classes.

NEW YORK MILLIONAIRES

Only a few people reading advertisements of bankers and brokers, saying that money could be made through speculation, realize that the richest men in America have commenced life in a humble way and have made their fortune through stock-exchange speculations.

Men like Jay Gould, who worked as a dry goods clerk in a small town at $10 00 a week up to his twentieth year, and commenced to operate with his small saving of $200.00 in Wall Street, left at his death 70 millions of dollars; Russell Sage, who worked as a grocery boy at $1.00 per week, and whose present wealth is estimated at 100 millions of dollars, is still operating the market, although 80 years of age, and so are thousands of others, who are enjoying all the luxuries life can offer, which is due to their success in speculation.

To the shrewd speculator the same opportunities are open to-day as to others in the past. The smallest lot which can be bought and sold is ten shares on 3% margin, making 30 dollars.

Anybody interested as to how speculations are conducted can get information and market letter free of charge upon application by letter to,

CITY ALDERMEN'S PECULATIONS.

An investigation into civic matters and aldermanic dealings with civic funds is now in progress in Montreal.

Startling revelations are being made, which, though of greater magnitude than a $9 wall paper spec. show the result of aldermen taking advantage of their positions to benefit themselves and friends.

Here is a specimen, which is clipped from the Montreal Star's report of the evidence given before an investigation committee on Montreal civic affairs:

"Among other things elicited by the examination it will be seen that there is a pretty queer system generally practised as to paying for coachmen for the heads of the various departments.

Ald. Clearihue—"What is the exact amount of salaries paid by the treasurer for employees who worked privately for Mr. Laforest?"

Witness—"$913 30."

Ald. Clearihue—Does the amount of $913 include the wages of the coachmen, Morlier and Dupuis, who worked for Mr. Laforest?"

Mr. Dufresne—"The salary paid to Mr. Laforest's coachmen is not included."

Ald. Clearihue—"Can you tell me the amount they received?"

Mr. Dufresne—"I will tell you next meeting."

"Were these coachmen's wages put in the pay lists then, and to what appropriation were they charged?"

"The wages of these men were put in the pay lists and charged to various appropriations."

Ald. Jacques—"Is it not possible that other pay lists in other departments might be irregular without your knowing it?"

Ald. Jacques said that he was aware that there were other heads of departments who had done what Mr. Laforest had done.

Mr. Dufresne—"I have stated in my report of December 10, 1898, that I had been informed that it had been the custom of the superintendents of other departments, and other heads of departments, to put their coachmen on the pay lists of the department and to have them paid by the city without any resolution by the council to that effect."

The chairman—"Do you mean to say that those who did so in other departments had their coachmen put on the pay lists and paid out of the appropriations for other purposes?"

Mr. Dufresne—"I have not ascertained the fact myself, but as I said in my report, I was so informed. When there is no appropriation for that purpose the payment of such wages was necessarily made from appropriations intended for other purposes."

We are not aware that any of our aldermen keep a coachman, and therefore cannot charge his salary to "various accounts," as done in Montreal, but some of them keep "wall paper."

THE SENATE'S ACTION JUSTIFIED —$20,000 DAMAGES.

It will be remembered that a bill was introduced into the Senate, during the session of the last Parliament, by the Minister of Justice, giving the Government power to deal with a citizen's property in a most arbitrary and un-British manner. The Senate threw out the bill, leaving the question of dealing with private property to the courts; the result of which is given in the following telegraphic synopsis of one case which the Minister attempted to legislate out of court and thereby cheat (it was nothing less) a private subject of Her Majesty out of his rights:

The Government has come off second best in its suit against Mr. Archie Stewart over the cancellation of his contract for lock No. 1 on the Soulanges canal, and the expropriation of his quarry at Rockland. Mr Stewart was the original contractor for this work. There were serious differences of opinion between the contractor and the resident engineer, who rejected the stone which was being used from a quarry at Rockland, owned by Mr. Stewart. After the work had been greatly delayed on account of these differences the contract was taken from Mr. Stewart and re-let. The Government offered something like $6,000 for the quarry, which Mr. Stewart refused, and subsequently entered suit against the Government in the Exchequer Court for $200,000 for the value of the quarry and damages for being unjustly deprived of his contract. Then the Government wanted Mr. Stewart to take back what was left of his quarry, and on his declining to do so, introduced last session a bill amending the Expropriation Act so as to compel Mr. Stewart to take back his quarry or such portions of it as the Government did not want. This bill was thrown out by the Senate. The case came up for trial in the Exchequer Court and was so strongly in favor of Stewart and evidently going against the Government, as far as the quarry was concerned, that it was with consent suspended in order that the parties might come to an agreement, if possible. The lawyers trying for some time to come to an understanding, yesterday, the 4th Nov., an offer was made and accepted that Mr. Stewart be paid $20,000 for two years' use of the quarry, which is restored to him, the Government paying costs. The suit for damages for breach of contract will be continued in the Exchequer Court.

People may well ask how it was that $6,000 was offered for a quarry, the stone from which the canal engineer declared unfit for use, and upon which ground the contract was taken from Mr. Stewart? There is but one answer, and that is that Stewart is a Conservative, and a friend wanted the job. He got it and the tax-payers are being mulcted in the way of paying damages.

$20,000 for two years' use of a quarry, the stone from which the engineer declared to be unfit for use, shows there is something rotten in the transaction.

A TWEED SENSATION.

The People Alarmed by a Peculiar Rumbling Vibration.

Tweed, Nov. 9.—For some days the whole town of Tweed has been in a constant state of vibration, which converts every residence and building into the semblance of a factory, with the doors and windows rattling in their frames. On Saturday night last, when it was first observed, many people thought burglars were about, and not a few primed their shot-guns and sat around until morning, only to discover that their neighbors had been doing the same thing. In some instances flower pots have been jolted off window sills, crockery rattling on the shelves, and clock-gongs moaning dolefully all the time. Dr. Tuttle, in trying to solve the mystery of so rare a phenomenon, has developed the theory that it is all due to the freshet in the river pouring over the new dam, which in some places so reacted upon by the current that it imitates a motion which is thence communicated to the limestone beds that underly the town site. In the meantime children are in terror, women refuse to be left alone, while the superstitious have donned their sackcloth and look hourly for the end of the world.

[ED NOTE.—Very few people know much about natural phenomena, but nearly everybody will admit that the above explanation is as clear as mud.]

His Life Was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with Typhoid Fever that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvellous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all Throat and Lung Trouble. Regular sizes 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free at J. S. McKeown's Drug store; every bottle guaranteed.

AN ABLE-BODIED FRAUD.

That is the Description Which Fits a Colored Gentleman Who Imposed on a Few Belleville People.

There is at present in the city Rev. R Hatchett, whose credentials show him to be General Agent of the North British African Methodist Church, and his address is 227 Robert st., Hamilton. Mr. Hatchett's mission in Belleville is a double one. He is engaged in soliciting subscriptions in aid of the above church and at the same time exposing a former colored gentleman who visited the city on the 22nd of last September. The latter person, Mr. Hatchett says, was a fraud, and had neither license to preach nor solicit subscriptions. He was a man of bad character, among other crimes of which he is suspected being that of bigamy. Frauds of this kind do much harm, as when a deserving person does make his appearance he is often viewed with suspicion by those who have been taken in on a former occasion.

DEER ARE PLENTIFUL.

So Say Some Hunters Who Have Returned From the North Country.

Mr. Daniel Davis, his son and another party, who reside on the high shore in Prince Edward County, arrived in the City yesterday afternoon from the north country, where they have been deer hunting. They brought with them five deer, one being an exceptionally fine specimen. They report deer quite plentiful and hunters equally as numerous. On Saturday last a heavy snow storm visited the northern country, but it was nearly all gone when they left the woods on Monday.

Nineteenth Century Folly.

The greatest piece of folly of the nineteenth century is to suffer the tortures of rheumatism when a permanent cure can be obtained by using Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure. Mr. C. W. Trotter, Cushendall, Ont., suffered with Muscular Rheumatism for three years. One bottle of Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure completely cured him. He has not had a pain or ache since. This preparation is used internally. One bottle contains ten days' treatment, price 50 cents For sale at all drug stores.

Wedding Bells.

Last Wednesday evening, at the home of Mr. W. J. Bell, near Belleville, a very pretty wedding took place, when his sister, Miss Esther Bell, was united in the bonds of wedlock to Mr. Frederick Barlow, of Shannonville. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. W.G. Bell, and assisted by Miss White, of Percy, while the groom was supported by Mr. C. Bell, of Shannonville. After the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. G. E. Ross, of Shannonville, the guests were invited to the dining room and there partook of a most sumptuous repast, beautifully served. The happy couple left the following day on their wedding tour. We wish them long life and much happiness.

GREAT REJOICING.

Hastings, Nov. 9.—When the news from Winnipeg reached Hastings yesterday afternoon that John W. Anderson was acquitted on the charge of robbing the Molsons Bank at Winnipeg, there was great joy in his native village. Several congratulatory telegrams were flashed over the wires to Jack. In the evening, at a concert in the town hall, one of the performers made mention of the acquittal and the audience rose in a body and gave three lusty cheers and a tiger for Jack Anderson. Afterwards Detective Davis was burned in effigy on the street corner before an immense crowd of spectators, who again cheered for Jack.

Arrangements are being made to give Anderson a warm reception on his return, which is hoped by everyone to be in the near future.

Have You Catarrh ?

If you are troubled with Catarrh and want to be cured, use Catarrhozone, which is a guaranteed cure for this distressing disease. There is no mystery about Catarrhozone, though its effect is magical. Ointments and snuffs cannot reach the diseased parts and have thus proved useless, but Catarrhozone is carried by the air you breathe directly to the diseased parts, where it volatilizes, killing the germ life and healing the sore spots. It cures by inhalation. No danger, no risk, sold by all druggists or by mail, price $1.00. For trial outfit send 10c in stamps to N. C. POLSON & CO., Box 507, Kingston, Ont.

Mining News from Deloro.

Madoc Review:—The Five Acres is a lively place now, under the direction of Mr. Hungerford. The foundation is completed for the new mill and nearly all the machinery is on the ground. Several new buildings are completed, and the boarding-house will soon be ready for the men to go in.

A young man, while tarring the skip rope the other day at the hock eye shaft, let the skip run away and narrowly escaped killing two men who were running an air drill in the sink. The young man lost his position on account of it.

No man can say he wants work if he will work at all for none of the mines turn a man away without giving him a trial.

Several new houses are being put up in and around Marmora and Deloro.

No Right To Ugliness.

The woman who is lovely in face, form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and all run down, she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. Electric Bittters is the best medicine in the world to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvety skin, rich complexion. It will make a good looking charming woman of a run down invalid. Only 50 cents at J. S. McKeown's Drug Store.

Peas In Demand.

The Hastings Star says:—Messrs. H. M Fowlds & Son last week shipped two car loads of soup peas direct to Liverpool. These are in great demand on account of the present war as the soup extract after being mixed with other articles of food are made into a wafer which is used by the British army. Messrs. Fowlds & Son are the largest dealers in peas in this district, and among their many shipments this fall were several cars to Newfoundland.

Couldn't Take a Joke.

There was a very exciting time one night last week at a charivari of a newly married couple in the vicinity of Roslin. The groom, however, made it a little more exciting than the boys anticipated. He appeared on the scene with a revolver and fired several shots, one of which landed in the heel of a boot on one of the boys, but fortunately did no damage. This unlooked for action on the part of the groom somewhat dampened the ardor of the boys and they soon dispersed.

SNAP SHOTS AT TIMELY TOPICS.

—Probably Cecil Rhodes is laying out that new Siege Avenue at Kimberley with a border of pepper trees to be a constant reminder hereafter of the hot time the Boers gave him.

—After days of bombarding the Boers killed a dog in Mafeking and after other days of bombarding they killed a Kaffir in Ladysmith. What better evidence could be asked to substantiate the assertion of Oom Paul's people that a Kaffir is no better than a dog, anyway?

—London papers are talking of the prospect of a conflict between Japan and Russia. A correspondent of the Outlook says Japan is moving troops, disguised as coolies, into Corea by the thousand. The Westminster Gazette and the Daily Mail refer to the situation as full of possebilities of war, either now or during the spring months.

ORCHARD AND GARDEN.

The ground should be thoroughly prepared before a new orchard is set out.

Many orchards have their vitality injured by late and deep culture. Give the new wood time to mature.

Pears are best when ripened off the tree in the fruithouse. Pull them as soon as matured and ripen well before offering them for sale.

Under no condition should fallen fruit be allowed to remain under the trees and decay. It breeds too many insect pests and diseases. Gather it up and feed it to the stock.

When an apple or pear is matured, it readily parts from the tree when lifted to a horizontal position. The stem of the fruit will break away from the twig to which it is attached, leaving a clean, well defined scar.

She Knew

Parent (left in charge)—No, you cannot have any more cake. (Very seriously.) Do you know what I shall have to do if you go on making that dreadful noise?

Little Girl (sobbing)—Yes.

Parent—Well, what is that?

Little Girl—Give me some more cake.

And she was quite right.—Punch.

A Patriotic Irishman.

Sir William MacCormac, whose patriotic offer of his services as surgeon to the forces in South Africa has been so promptly accepted by the Government, is one of the most distinguished of living surgeons. Sir William's presence will be an excellent guarantee that the treatment of the wounded will be scientific, systematic, and humane. Of Sir William MacCormac's self-sacrificing patriotism it is impossible to speak too highly. He is no longer young—he is 64 years of age—his practice is lucrative, and as president of the College of Surgeons of England he stands at the head of his profession. He is not merely a great authority on surgery and antiseptic medicine He had also had special experience of war, for he served on the medical staff of the French army at Metz and Sedan, and went through the Turko-Servian War in 1876. He is an Irishman, and a native of Belfast, where he received his early education. He subsequently proceeded to Dublin and Paris. He became Bachelor and Master of Arts, and Master in Surgery, and Doctor of Science, honoris causa of the Queen's University, and received its gold medal. After he had joined the Senate of the University he became surgeon, and subsequently consulting surgeon, to the Royal Hospital at Belfast.

SIMPLY WONDERFUL

No one need now endure the fortunes of indigestion and dyspepsia. Within reach of all is an unfailing remedy which enables a person to get the full benefit of the food eaten. The pineapple liberally yields a component known as vegetable pepsin, a product second only to the human digestive secretions in its power of digesting food. Introduced into the human system it is simply incomparable as a natural digestive digestive apparatus. Dr. Von Stan's Pineapple Tablets are mainly composed of this grand fruit juice. They cure indigestion and dyspepsia positively. They are eaten as candy and give instant relief. Box of 60 Tablets, 35 cents. Sold by J. S. McKeown.

Afternoon Despatches.

THE INTELLIGENCER'S afternoon despatches are twelve hours in advance of the Toronto morning papers.

Censorship Is Strict.

Press and Public are Clamoring For More News.

Reconnoitring Force on the Orange River Meets the Enemy—A Colonel Killed and Three Officers Wounded—Famine Threatened at Kimberley.

(OTHER DESPATCHES ON INSIDE PAGES)

London, Nov. 11.—The War Office has received a despatch from Gen. Buller to the effect that a reconnoitering force from the Orange River had a skirmish with the enemy to-day about four miles east of Belmont. Casualties in Northumberland Fusiliers, Col. C. E. Keith-Falconer, killed. Lieut. F. Bevan and H. C. Hall wounded.

In the North Lancashire regiment Lieut. C. C. Wood and two privates were wounded.

On Thursday Ladysmith was being bombarded, and that is practically the only news the censorship allowed to pass for a whole week.

The public are clamoring for more news.

PROBABLY A LIE.

Paris, Nov. 11.—Rumors are in circulation here that a British transport has foundered off the island of Usbant, on the coast of Brittany.

FAMINE AT KIMBOURI.

Capetown, Nov. 11.—Famine is threatened at Kimbouri. The inhabitants are limited to eight ounces of food per day.

Cecil Rhodes labors indefatigably to keep up the spirits of the inhabitants.

He goes daily to the defences to encourage the men.

Pretoria, Tuesday, Nov. 7.—The bombardment and attack on Kimbourl started this morning.

SAILORS FOR THE FRONT.

Durban, Natal, Wednesday, Nov. 8.—A large force of men and guns from the British first-class cruiser Terrible has started for the front.

ANOTHER TOWN ABANDONED.

London, Nov. 11.—The British have abandoned Aliwal North, an important town on the Orange Free State border, and the Boers are now occupying the place.

The Basutos have expressed their sympathy for the British by quitting work on the Boers' farms, and as a result the latter's crops are rotting.

THE WAR SUMMARY.

But little fresh news from the seat of war.

A small British convoy was captured by the Boers. Six men are missing.

Dr. Leyds has been notified by the British Government that Belgium is a neutral country, and he must either leave or quit talking.

Offer from the Northwest of 1,000 men for service in the Transvaal if British Government wants them.

In London the people are beginning to protest against the strict censorship which exists.

University Extension Lectures

The Graduates of the City have arranged a course of six lectures to be delivered during the winter by University Professors. These will be on general subjects suited to the popular taste. The first lecture of the course will be given by Prof. Alexander, of Toronto University, on the subject "Novels: their Origin and Use," on Friday, Nov. 17th, in Alberta Hall. Tickets for the course are $1.00, and may be secured at Riggs' Music Store or from any of the members of the Club.

Bought a Piano

Bridge Street Methodist Sunday School has just purchased a beautiful piano from Mr. W. Flint Jones. It is a Newcombe and possesses a rich, full and powerful tone. It is of Burl birch of a most handsome design and will add not a little to the attractiveness of the fine school rooms. The committee unanimously decided in favor of this piano, and the school is to be congratulated on having secured a superb instrument. d&wlt

WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING

That the boys are getting their skates and hockey sticks in order.

That too many people use the word "England" when they mean "Britain." The day has gone by for petty jealousies and rivalries. It is only the enemies of the Empire who make distinctions nowadays.

That the vibrations which are worrying the good people of Tweed may strike Belleville next. Some people say there will be a landslide here next January. Perhaps if some of the present City Council put their ears to the ground they will be able to hear it coming.

That to know the value of newspaper advertising and where to find the greatest circulation one must apparently be in the newspaper business themselves. In another column will be found a House To-Let advertisement—Apply at the Ontario. The Ontario knows the paper to use.

That astronomers are predicting an unusual number of falling stars in the celestial regions this month. There have been several falls among terrestrial stars in this vicinity lately, and they weren't all caused by the bad sidewalks either. One bright economic star fell through stumbling over a few rolls of wall paper.

That people who go to concerts should remember and take their good manners with them. One doesn't get a chance to hear a musician like Mr. Tripp every day, and it was excessively annoying to hear people whispering and crumpling programmes last night while he was playing. Some of the people who did it were quite old enough to know better.

Prof. Hunt is entitled to two votes of thanks to-day—one from the good ladies who oversee the affairs of the Hospital and Home, and the other from the ladies and gentlemen who, through his efforts, were last night given an opportunity to hear such gifted artists as Miss de Guerre and Mr. J. D. A. Tripp and at the same time be able to lay the flattering unction to their souls that they were aiding a good cause. The stereotyped expression "the audience was a large and fashionable one" is very fitting in the present instance. Nearly everybody who is known as a lover of music was present, and from all sides one heard nothing but expressions of delight and gratification. It was a feast of melody rich and rare. Everybody, or nearly everybody, in Belleville knew how Miss de Guerre sang sacred melodies, and considerable curiosity was felt as to how she would acquit herself in secular fields. Everybody is satisfied now. In every one of her numbers last night, and her selections ranged from the sublime compositions of Verdi, fairly bristling with technical difficulties, down to the sweet simplicity of the perennial "Annie Lawrie," Miss de Guerre gave evidence of her artistic temperament. Her technique and method was wellnigh faultless, and the range, flexibility and pure qualities of her voice proved quite equal to the severe strains put upon them. Perhaps the most pleasing feature of Miss de Guerre's singing is her entire freedom from mannerisms, which sometimes mar many a good vocalist. If Miss de Guerre's voice had more volume—but there, we must remember that, if she combined that with her other gifts, we could har lly hope to keep her long in a little place like Belleville.

Perhaps, now, if everybody were to tell the exact truth, the prevailing sentiment among the audience last night, when Mr. Tripp had played half his numbers, was one of most agreeable surprise. Of course we know him by reputation, and we expected to hear a cultivated musician play, but very few expected the rich feast that came. Mr. Tripp has studied under some of Europe's greatest teachers. That he has made excellent use of his time and training all who heard him last night will swear to on a stack of bibles. His technique—well, we needn't waste our time talking about his technique. It was quite equal to any demands made on it last night and a glance at the programme will show that in his numbers the greatest masters were represented. Mr. Tripp has a brilliant touch and has a good deal of that indefinable something which men call magnetism concealed about his person. In some of his interpretations he showed genius; we venture to prophesy that the time will come when men will call him a great artist. In his first number he hardly seemed to enter into the spirit of the composition, perhaps he had not yet warmed up, but he reached his true form in the Beethoven selection. The sweetly quaint refrain was wonderfully captivating. In some respects Mr. Tripp was at his best in this number. With each successive appearance he seemed to gain in power and confidence. In the Paderewski number he displayed his thoroughly artistic temperament, though undoubtedly his interpretation of the intermezzo from his former master, Leschteizki, was the most finished of any of his efforts. He was encored and the audience would not be denied, and Mr. Tripp played a dainty little gem which cannot be better described than as a song without words. It spoke of bright sunshine, rippling brooks and merry laughter, and held the rapt and almost breathless attention which the audience gave to it showed how it affected them. But it was in his last number that Mr. Tripp rose to the full height of his triumph. It was a fitting climax to a programme made up of grand and splendid themes. It was a vivid musical picture, entrancing from first to last, but in the crescendo runs the gifted artist showed a power and brilliance which was positively electrifying.

Prof. Hunt was the accompanist, and his well known skill was never shown to better advantage. Following was the programme:

FIRE AND LOSS OF LIFE.

Adam Bison Crushed Beneath a Mass of Brick at Renfrew.

Renfrew, Ont., Nov. 11.—A. A. Wright & Co.'s large business block was gutted by fire yesterday morning about 3 o'clock. Loss on building and stock estimated at between $40,000 and $50,000; insurance of from $15,000 to $20,000. At ten o'clock the lifeless body of Adam Bison, 'bus driver of the Dominion Hotel, was found beneath the mass of brick which had fallen from the top of the northern wall.

Other Violent Deaths.

John Charlton was killed on Thursday evening by a Metropolitan Railway car. The accident happened at Palmer's Hotel at Bedford Park, Newmarket. Mr. Charlton drove in front of the brilliantly lighted car, although the gong was sounding at the time. An inquest will be held.

RHODES' ROAD TO RHODESIA.

Germany Has Signed an Agreement to Keep Out of the Way.

Berlin, Nov. 11.—The agreement signed in behalf of Germany and the British South Africa Company, binding the company not to continue its railroad to the west coast from Rhodesia, south of the 14th degree, except from a point on the Anglo-German frontier, has been approved. Germany also will not construct a railroad north of the 14th degree to the west coast, until the railroad is constructed south of that degree, through German Southwest Africa.

Telegraph Him He May Go On.

Afterwards Germany signed an agreement permitting Mr. Rhodes' Cape-to-Cairo telegraph line to be carried through German East Africa, in accordance with provisions recited in the Reichstag in March. The above agreement means that Germany intends that any westwardly extensions of the Rhodesian lines shall connect with the proposed lines in German East Africa, probably starting from Swakop, near Walfisch Bay, which will be a much nearer route from England to Rhodesia than via Cape Town.

JAMAICA SUFFERED MUCH.

Hurrican Destroyed Banana Plantations and Damaged Towns.

Kingston, Jamaica, Nov. 11.—Communication with the eastern part of the island, particularly the section beyond the line from Morant to Port Antonio inclusive, has been interrupted since Thursday. Last evening, however, it was being partially re-established, and advices from various points show that on Wednesday the heavy weather culminated in a tremendous hurricane, which during the night completely razed the banana and other cultivated parishes. Portland, St. Thomas and Morant Bay are reported severely damaged. Details are anxiously awaited.

Yukon Timber Reserved.

Winnipeg, Nov. 11.—E. F. Stephenson, Dominion Land and Crown Timber Agent here, has returned from Yukon, where he went to inspect the Crown timber offices, which are located at Dawson, Stewart River, Fort Selkirk. Mr. Stephenson says that the Government is pursuing the policy of reserving all timber upon goldbearing streams or upon streams tributary to these, solely for the use of miners in getting out the precious metal. The only timber that can be cut up into timber used for fuel for Dawson is found upon the Yukon River. The timber is all spruce, and they run from 12 to 24 inches in diameter—as good spruce in fact as found in Ontario or Manitoba.

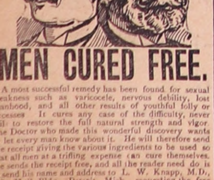

Mystery.

"Got a job?" asked one urchin.

"Yes," answered the other, with a superiority. "I'm workin fur a lawyer."

"I s'pose he'll be takin you into the firm next?"

"Not me. The whole thing is a mystery to me. I don't do a thing but sit on a chair by the door all day and try to figure out where he gets the $4 a week he pays me."

MEN CURED FREE.

A most successful remedy has been found for sexual weakness such as varicocele, nervous debility, lost manhood, and all other results of youthful folly or excesses. It cures any case of the difficulty, never fails to restore the full natural strength and vigor. The Doctor who made this wonderful discovery wants to let every man know about it. He will therefore send the receipt giving the various ingredients to be used so that all men at a trifling expense can cure themselves. He sends the receipt free, and all the reader need do is to send his name and address to L. W. Knapp, M.D., 1783 Hull Bldg., Detroit, Mich., requesting the free receipt as reported in this paper. It is a generous offer, and all men ought to be glad to have such an opportunity. 8-16-w&s-1y

MISERABLE WOMEN.

How Women Lose Interest in Their Households.

The Ills to Which Women Are Heir Cause Much Suffering—The Experience of a Lady Who Has Found a Speedy Cure.

Mrs. Isaie T. Comeau, who resides at 83½ Arago street, St. Roch, Quebec, is a teacher of French, English and music. For many years Mrs. Comeau has suffered greatly from internal troubles, peculiar to her sex, and also from continuous weakness, the result of headaches, neuralgia and nervous prostration. Her trouble became so bad that she was forced to give up teaching and go to an hospital, but the treatment there did not materially benefit her and ultimately she left the hospital still a great sufferer. Meantime, her husband having heard of the great value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, purchased a few boxes and prevailed upon his wife to try them. When interviewed as to the merits of the pills Mrs. Comeau gave her story to the reporter about as follows:

"My trouble came on after the birth of my child, and up to the time I began to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I could find nothing to cure me. I suffered much agony, was very weak, had frequent severe headaches, and little or no appetite. It was not long after I began the use of the pills that I found they were helping me very much and after taking them for a couple of months I was as well as ever I had been. My appetite improved, the pains left me, and I gained considerably in flesh and am again able to attend to the lessons of my pupils and superintend my household work. Since using the pills myself I have recommended them to others and have heard nothing but praise in their favor wherever used."

No discovery of modern times has proved such a boon to women as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Acting directly on the blood and nerves, invigorating the body, regulating the functions, they restore health and strength to exhausted women, and make them feel that life is again worth living.

Sold by all dealers in medicine or sent post paid at 50c. a box or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. Refuse all substitutes.

Cured of Asthma After Eight Years of Almost Constant Suffering—She says the Absolute Freedom From the Disease Seems Like a Dream—Clarke's Kola Compound Cures.

Mrs. J. Wise, Mt. Pleasant, Vancouver, B.C., writes: "I have been a great sufferer from bronchial asthma for the past eight years, many times having to sit up nearly all night. Through the advice of a friend who had been cured by Clarke's Kola Compound I resolved as a last resort to try it. The first bottle did not relieve me much, but before I had finished the third bottle the attacks ceased altogether, and during the past six months of damp and cold weather have not had a single attack. It seems something like a dream to be free from this worst of all diseases after so many years of suffering. I have since my recovery recommended this remedy to others suffering as I was, and know many others in this city whom it has cured. I consider it a marvellous remedy, and would urge any person suffering from this disease to try it."

Three bottles are guaranteed to cure. A free sample bottle of Clarke's Kola Compound will be sent to any person who has asthma, mentioning this paper. Address the Griffiths & Macpherson Co., sole Canadian agents, 121 Church-street, Toronto, Ont.

Clarke's Kola Compound should not be confounded with the other Kola preparations on the market, as this is altogether a different preparation, designed especially for the cure of asthma. All druggists. Price $1.00 per bottle. Sold by D. M. Waters, cor. Front and Bridge streets.

OBITUARY.

MRS. MARY A. SAGER.

Mrs. Mary A. Sager, widow of the late Joseph Sager, died at the family homestead, con. II., Ameliasburgh, on Tuesday, November 7th. She had been ailing some six months, and her sickness, which was at times very painful, was borne with true Christian fortitude. She had reached the age of 70 years and 7 months. The funeral, which was exceptionally large, was held at Albury Church on Thursday, and the services were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Buckler, of Murray. She leaves behind her two sons, George and Jacob, and one daughter, Alma. She left behind her a life worthy of example, and the family in their bereavement have the sincere sympathy of a large host of friends.

His Good Eye.

It is a curious fact that the loss of any one of the five senses is atoned for to a considerable extent by a pronounced increase in the efficiency of the other senses. The result is sometimes astonishing.

A man who had lost the sight of both eyes trained his hearing until he could tell by the sound of his footsteps on the sidewalks, as he made his way about town, whether he was in the middle of the walk or at one side, whether he was walking past a brick or a frame house, or a fence, or open ground.

He knew in what part of the town he was, not only by his memory or sense of general direction, but by the difference in the "tones" of his footsteps, and he walked about freely, seldom running into anything or anybody.

"Which eye do you think I can see with?" he asked the skeptic.

"The left one, of course," was the reply. "I can see that the right one is blind."

In reply, the blind man merely opened his penknife and tapped the left eye with the little blade.

It was a glass eye.—Youth's Companion.

HON. MR. FOSTER AT OSHAWA

Electors of South Ontario Were Out in Numbers To Hear Him.

Mr. W. F. Maclean, M.P., Points Out the Fact That South Ontario Should Be the First to Speak at the Polls Against the "Threshing Machine"—Mr. Foster on False Liberal Claims.

Oshawa, Nov. 10.—(Special.)—Hon. George E. Foster addressed the electors of South Ontario at the Music Hall to-night, and had a large audience. Mr. W. F. Cowan was in the chair. Among those on the platform were: William Smith, ex-M.P.; W. Coulthard, Warden of the County of Ontario; Mr. Reed, M.L.A.; Dr. Hillier, C. Calder, Dr. Kaiser, Dr. McGillivray, J. Ball Dow, E. Carswell, T. Rowse, Capt. Dillon, J. L. Smith, John Burns, W. H. Thomas, John Lee, George Brown, C. Crystiale, Dr. Moore, Robert Hodson, Fred Ellis, Robert Miller, C. A. Jones, Stewart, Bruce, Wheeler, Pardy, Hinds, W. Graham, John Bright, Thornton, Scott, Balls, Burns, Nesbitt, James Cowan and others.

South Ontario Must Speak.

The first speaker was W. F. Maclean, M. P., who at the outset referred to the politics of the province in view of the fact that a bye-election is about to be held in South Ontario. He declared that the courts had shown that an organized system of corruption had been at work in the province and that it worked for the interest of the Liberal party. This being the case it rested on the public of South Ontario, irrespective of party alliance, to put down this corruption, and the only way they could do it was to vote against Mr. Dryden, who was a member of the Government which had profited by the machine. If the people of South Ontario neglected to do this things would go from bad to worse, and men who were working toward improving the public life of this country would be discouraged. He said the eyes of all Canada were turned toward South Ontario at this juncture. Mr. Maclean then went into Dominion politics, and the hypocrisy of the Liberals in regard to protection, the Senate and other subjects.

Ex-Minister Foster.

Hon. George E. Foster took up the cause of our prosperity to-day, and the pretence of the Liberals that it was due to them. He showed the improved condition of things was due to other causes, to the development of our mines, to the increased foreign demand for our products, to increased demand on our railways to carry these products of the country. What had the Liberals done in the way of legislation to aid this? Who could name a single thing? Sir Wilfrid Laurier had claimed to have increased the purchase of our products by England. The reverse was the fact, and the United States were selling more to England than ever.

How Liberals Changed.

Mr. Foster next went into the policy—the declared policy—of the Liberals when out of office, that they would discriminate against England in order to get us the sixty million market in the United States. Now they were saying the United States market did not amount to much, and that the British market was everything. The Liberals had declared against the increase of the public debt, and in office they had increased it. They had got into power by deliberate lying to the people. Sir Wilfrid had declared he was an English Liberal. The fact was that no English Liberal could remain in public life a day after getting into power and then repudiating all their pledges.

Have Fallen Below Par.

Since the Crow's Nest Pass deal of the Liberal party The Globe had fallen 50 per cent. or more in the estimation of the people of Canada. There were round-table meetings of Globe directors, men who were owners of the Crow's Nest coal lands, and there was a connection between the big subsidies given the Crow's Nest Pass Railway and the coal lands that had fallen into the hands of Globe directors. Mr. Foster went fully into the South Africa contingent and the conduct of Mr. Tarte, who had tried to shelter himself behind the French-Canadians. He aroused the patriotic feelings of the meeting. In closing he hoped to see his old friend, Mr. William Smith, once more in Parliament as the representative of South Ontario.

THREE BULLETS EXTRACTED.

One 32-Calibre and Two 38-Calibre Found in Varcoe's Body.

Toronto, Nov. 11.—No new facts of any importance were brought to light yesterday in the Varcoe tragedy. Drs. Caven, Cotton and Nevitt conducted a post mortem examination on the body, and they will submit their report at the adjourned inquest next Tuesday night. It is known that the physicians extracted three bullets from the remains, one 32 calibre and two 38 calibre. Williams' revolver is 38 calibre and McIntosh's fire arm 32 calibre. This part of the report, the physicians say, will show conclusively that both men had a hand in the shooting.

The doctors in attendance on the prisoner, McIntosh, held a consultation at the General Hospital, and decided that the only means of prolonging his life till after a trial was to perform an operation. McIntosh was very delirious and would not under any condition give his consent. The prisoner was very low at an early hour this morning.

The Aerated Oven FOUND ONLY IN Souvenirs

What's all this talk about the aerated oven of the Souvenir Stove? Is it so different from other ovens as to call for a special place in the world of stovedom? These are questions asked daily in the showrooms of SOUVENIR, found in all leading towns and cities of the Dominion.

The one emphatic answer is "Yes."

Pure air is the essential of health wherever life is valued. Without pure air in our bedrooms, sickness must follow. Without pure air wherever foods are prepared, and above all else in the oven, unwholesome victuals must be the product.

If you have installed in your kitchen a Souvenir Range with Aerated Oven you can be sure that your foods will be cooked to perfection. Yes, and that you are using the most perfectly constructed and convenient stove of the 19th century.

Winnipeg, Nov. 11.—A Carman despatch says: John Moody, aged 17, was taking a shotgun out of the house to shoot some chickens, when it caught something and went off, the charge lodging in his jaw. There is little chance for his recovery.

C. P. R. Engineer Killed.

A Medicine Hat despatch says: Engineer Davis was found dead in the yard last night, shortly after he left his engine to go to the station. It is supposed he was struck by No. 1, which was coming in. Davis was a new man from the east and was highly respected.

Farm Laborer Killed.

Kingston, Ont., Nov. 11.—A sad fatality occurred yesterday at the farm of Jesse Barker, near Cataraqui, three miles from the city, when John Knight, a farm laborer, met death in a sudden manner. Knight was assisting in the binding of a load of hay in Barker's barn, when the binding pole broke, precipitating him to the floor. He alighted upon his head, fracturing his skull and injuring his brain. Death was almost instantaneous. Deceased was a bachelor, aged about 55 years. He was without relatives in this country, his friends residing in England. He left a bank account of about $2,000.

Rifle Bullet Through the Head.

Barrie, Ont., Nov. 11.—Word has been received here of a sad shooting accident near Lake Couchiching. Ebenezer Martin and two other farmers were driving towards the deer hunting grounds with their loaded rifles in the rig with them. While the rifles were being shifted a little one of them was discharged, the ball passing through Martin's head, boring a large hole in his temple. He fell from the buggy and died two hours afterwards, never having regained consciousness.

SMITH DROWNED HIMSELF.

Peterboro Agent, Excelsior Life Insurance Co., Committed Suicide.

Peterboro, Nov. 11.—George Smith, local agent for the Excelsior Life Insurance Company, committed suicide by drowning himself in the Otonabee River, south of the town, yesterday morning. Smith was an Englishman and has been a resident of Peterboro for about three years, having come here from Toronto to take charge of the local agency of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. In July last he took charge of the local agency of the Excelsior Life Insurance Company. Of late he had been drinking and was on Thursday morning at the Police Court fined for being drunk and disorderly. This, with family troubles, is supposed to have preyed considerably on his mind. He was 43 years of age.

The Company owns over twelve thousand acres of rich copper land in Texas, opened, tested, developed and NOW BEING OPERATED. Millions of tons of copper bearing clay and marl running from five to ten per cent., and large quantities of ore carrying from fifty to seventy per cent. copper in sight. Cheaply mined and treated, favorable climate, cheap fuel, and ample water. Stated by geologists, chemists, experts and engineers to be one of the greatest and best in the world. Amount of land, quantity and quality of ore, cheapness of mining and treatment, the increasing demand and profit in producing copper considered, the Boston and Texas Copper Company possesses unequalled advantages and affords the best kind of an investment.

Calumet and Hecla ore averages 4 1-2 per cent. copper. It has paid $62,850,000 dividends
Tamarack ore averages 3 per cent. It has paid $5,910,000 in dividends.
Atlantic ore averages 85-100 of 1 per cent. It has paid $780,000 in dividends.
Boston and Montana ore runs 7 per cent. It has paid $10,775,000 in dividends.
Franklin ore averages 1 37-100 per cent. It has paid $1,290,000 in dividends.
The Quincy ore averages 1 8-10 per cent. It has paid $11,070,000.

THE AVERAGE OF BOSTON & TEXAS ORE IS OVER 50 PER CENT., and of copper marls and clays from 5 to 10 per cent. Both the ore, marl and clay are within a few feet of the surface of the ground, so that the expense of mining and hoisting is minimized. A party of New England capitalists who have just returned from an examination of the mines in conjunction with one of the ablest mining engineers in the country, report the property to be one of the largest and best in America, and to contain inexhaustible quantities of rich copper deposits.

It is estimated that the plant now being arranged for will produce $3,000 to $5,000 per day, NET.

Prospectus, engineers' reports, assays and full information will be furnished on application. Remit by check, P. O. order, draft or registered letter to Treasurer.

Limited amount of stock only at $5 per share, full paid and non-assessable, by immediate application.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

Toronto, Nov. 11.—Receipts of live stock were fair yesterday, 68 carloads, which with 63 loads on Thursday, many of which were kept over, made a large market. The deliveries consisted of 903 cattle, 1,581 hogs, 2,089 sheep and lambs and 24 calves. There was no noticeable improvement in the quality of fat cattle offered, and, with a few exceptions, they were of medium quality only. Trade fair for all good export and butchers' cattle, but those of poorer quality were slow of sale, and inferior rough cows and bulls were almost unsaleable. The deliveries of sheep and lambs were very large, especially the latter, there being over 2,000, which came in yesterday, besides many of Thursday's deliveries which were left over. Prices were low, and some of the drovers refused to sell at prices affered, preferring to take chances on the Buffalo market.

THE STANDARD OIL OCTOPUS.

Gave One Owner $65,000 For a Plant Worth About $10,000.

By Which Means It Closed Canadian Refineries and Enabled It to Increase Prices Five Cents Per Gallon—Mr. Andrew Galt Says the Standard Oil Company Now Controls Canadian Railways.

Washington, Nov. 11.—The industrial commission at the afternoon session to-day listened to the testimony of Mr. Andrew B. Galt, of Montreal, Canada, dealer in petroleum products. Mr. Galt's statements dealt almost entirely with the operations of the Standard Oil Company in Canada. He reported that the company has a monopoly of the oil refining business in the Dominion, and that it is impossible to purchase from the company unless the purchaser agrees to buy all his goods from the Standard refiners. He complained especially of the freight rates, which, he said, are extremely discriminative against American oils. He gave instances in which 12c a hundred was charged on Canadian oil from Montreal to St. John's, whereas 24c was charged on the American product; also, the through rate on oil from American points had been almost doubled in the past year, the entire increase being on the Canadian end of the roads. He also said the present duty on American oil imported into Canada was 5c per gallon, or 10 per cent. He was hopeful, however, that this duty would be lowered.

Standard Runs Our Roads.

Mr. Galt also said that the Standard people were in the habit of sending men into the yards of opposition companies and taking out samples.

"Then the Standard Oil Company practically runs your country — its railroads and its Government," suggested Mr. Livingston.

"It certainly controls our roads," responded the witness, "but I would not say so much concerning the Government."

He was satisfied that the policy of the railroads and the freight rates was not the result of a policy of retaliation on the part of the Canadian Government against the United States.

All Canadian Refineries Closed.

He said that there were nine refineries in Canada before the combination was effected, but that most of them had been since demolished. One owner of a refinery had told him that he had received $65,000 for a plant that was not worth to exceed $10,000. This consolidation has been effected in 1898 and since then the price of oil had advanced from 12½c to 17c per gallon. He was satisfied that the Standard Company received rebates from the railroad companies, but he did not have the proof that such was the case. He thought the company had made immense profits in Canada within the past three months, and said the Standard people preferred handling the Canadian product there, because it was more profitable than the American.

IT WAS A BRILLIANT DASH.

American Forces Rushed the Position at San Fabian.

Manila, Nov. 11.—The landing of the American troops at San Fabian Tuesday was the most spectacular affair of the kind since General Shafter's disembarkation at Daiquiri. The co-operation of the troops and the navy was complete. The gunboats maintained a terrific bombardment for an hour, while the troops rushed waist deep through the surf, under a heavy but badly aimed rifle fire from the insurgent trenches, and charged right and left, pouring volley after volley at the fleeing rebels. Forty Filipinos were captured, mostly non-commissioned officers. Several insurgent dead and five wounded were found in a building which had suffered considerably from the bombardment. The town was well fortified. The sand dunes were riveted with bamboo, 20 feet thick, which afforded a fine cover.

Aguinaldo Prepared to Skip.

The troops camped in the rain during the night, and in the morning General Wheaton established his headquarters in a church, quartered his men in the houses and sent the captured Filipinos beyond the outposts, with orders not to return.

The inhabitants describe all the roads as practically impassable and say they believe Aguinaldo has secreted a yacht in the River Lengapo, near Subig, for use in his flight when he finds his capture is inevitable.

THE ATLANTIC IN A RAGE.

Montreal, Nova Scotia and Quebec Ocean Steamers in Distress.

Antwerp, Nov. 11.—The British steamer Assyrian, Captain Trant, which has arrived here from Montreal, reports having experienced terrible weather on the passage; had cabin flooded, and lost part of her deck load.

The barkentine Avola, Captain Martin, of Windsor, N.S., from Newport, Eng., for Para, has stranded at Carmarthen Bay and broken up. The beach is strewn with her cargo and wreckage. The fate of the crew was not mentioned in the despatch.

Quebec Steamer in Distress.

London, Nov. 11.—The British steamer Benwick, Captain Warsdale, from Karat, Oct. 17, for Sharpness, has arrived at Long Hope, Orkney Islands, and reported that she had left the British steamer Coquet, Captain Garrod, from Quebec, Oct. 3, for Sunderland, in distress 100 miles north of Uist Island, in the Shetlands, on Nov. 7, with her propellor gone and out of provisions. The Benwick has towed the Coquet till her coal had become exhausted and the warps gave out.

The Coquet has been out so long without being heard of that notices have been published in marine journals and otherwise asking for information.

Big Fire at St. John.

St. John, N.B., Nov. 11.—At 10.30 o'clock last night fire broke out in an old barn off Union street, and before the apparatus arrived, had spread to the big tannery of C. H. Peters' Sons. This was entirely destroyed with its contents, as well as the Peters' homestead, occupied by John Peters, and another building adjoining, occupied by John Moriarity, all of which were of wood. The tannery contained a large stock of valuable leathers. Total loss, about $70,000; little insurance.

Davis and That Reward.

Winnipeg, Nov. 11.—Barrister Haggart, who asked yesterday morning whether the $5,000 reward had been paid to Davis or not, replied that "Davis had good solicitors working for him and that they would see to it that the money was paid over all right. Haggart further said that, if Davis was wanted in the city, he could be had here by notifying his solicitors, and they would have him here on very short notice.

Why is it that nearly all aged persons are thin?

And yet, when you think of it, what could you expect?

Three score years of wear and tear are enough to make the digestion weak. Yet the body must be fed.

In Scott's Emulsion, the work is all done; that is, the oil in it is digested, all ready to be taken into the blood. The body rests, while the oil feeds and nourishes, and the hypophosphites makes the nerves steady and strong.

Property and Management of the Boston and Texas Copper Company.

From the Lowell, Mass., Courier.

The Boston & Texas Copper Company have twelve (12,000) thousand acres of land in North Texas near the Wichita Valley Railroad. It is rolling prairie, well watered, fertile and highly adapted to agriculture and stock raising. Copper was found on the property many years ago and large quantities of the richest ore in the world was marketed. Openings were made from time to time and copper found to extend over the entire property. Examinations were made by eminent geologists, chemists and engineers, including Prof. W. F. Cummins, Prof. William DeRyee, state chemist of Texas, Prof. Jacob Boll, of the Philadelphia Academy of Natural Sciences, Prof. Gustave Westman, of the Stockholm School of Mines, Thos. B. Everett, Esq., mining engineer of Colorado, and others, who confirmed the state reports and practical tests of the extent and value of the deposits.

The Boston & Texas Copper Company secured the property this year and at once began active work, increasing the number of men from time to time, until it now has a large number employed opening the property and taking out the ore, with the result that the farther operations extend and the more the ground is opened, the greater the deposits of copper prove to be. A section of two and a half miles long by one and a half wide has already been tested and a blanket of copper marl running from five to twenty-five per cent in copper was found to extend over the entire area and large amounts of nuggets uncovered, ranging from forty to eighty per cent pure copper. In fact, it is fast becoming demonstrated that this is one of the largest and most valuable properties in the world. Arrangements are now being made to lay out a town and build a railroad to the property. The people of Texas are taking a great interest in the enterprise and are giving it their cordial support.

The management of the Boston & Texas Copper Company is in excellent hands and the interests of the stockholders are well conserved, the board of directors being one of the strongest. It comprises some of the leading and best business men in New England. Hon. Emery M. Low, President of the company, is a gentleman of large means and of the highest commercial standing. He operates two large factories employing several hundred hands. He has held important positions and is at present Mayor of Brockton, Mass.

Geo. W. Russell, Esq, Vice-President of the Company, is one of the leading paper manufacturers in America, and a gentleman of large wealth and great business ability.

Col. Edward B. Robins, treasurer, is a member of the staff of the Governor of Massachusetts, a position of honor and distinction. He was formerly in the wholesale dry goods business in Boston, and occupies an enviable posion in the social and business affairs of New England.

Col. James M. Wheaton, Secretary, is in the paper trade, and has been associated with Mr. Russell, and they have been the foremost manufacturers in the country for upwards of 30 years, and is a first class business man.

Major F. M. Spaulding, General Manager of the Company, has been identified with many large business enterprises and connected with the paper trade for many years. He is a man of the highest personal standing and a superior executive officer. He is a practical business man of large experience and great ability, and is making a large success of the company by his untiring energy, capacity and intelligence.

Hon. J. W. Bennett, one of the Directors, is one of the leading business men of Lowell, Mass. He has been mayor of the city and was formerly President of the Erie Telephone Company, one of the largest in the country.

Mr. Charles T. Crosby, another of the Directors, is a member of the firm of Marshall & Crosby, manufacturers, of Lowell, and one of the city's foremost men. He enjoys the confidence and respect of the entire community. He was selected by the people as one of the committee to visit and examine the property, on which he made a most favorable report.

Mr. Preston R. Mansfield and others of the directors, is a retired cotton goods manufacturer, and one of the leading citizens of Dedham, Mass., where he holds the position of Treasurer of the J. V. Abbott Company. He is also a director and Treasurer in several other large companies and is a gentleman of the highest social and business standing.

Mr. Charles O. Brightman, of New Bedford, Mass., one of the directors, is a large contractor and builder, and one of the leading business men not only of that city but of the state. He is connected with several successful enterprises, and is an exceptionally strong man.

GEN. BULLER KEEPS SILENCE

Delay of Two Days in the Transmission of War News.

The Big Guns Are Still Hammering Ladysmith, But Without Serious Harm—The Question Now Is, Has White Ammunition Supply to Hold the Fort Till Reinforcements Come?

London, Nov. 11.—(4.30 a.m.)—Complete silence has again fallen upon affairs in South Africa. The British public must, perforce, be content with the brief stereotyped report which censor allows to filter through from Cape Town. That this condition of things is no longer due to pressure of work or defective cables has been amply proved. The Eastern Telegraph Company reckons that the real delay in transmission is about two days. It is evident, therefore, that the censorship is responsible for the other two days of delay, which seems to befall all the despatches.

The Campaign Delayed.

It is said that Gen. Buller never expected to commence the campaign before Christmas, and it now looks as though this will be the case. Certainly no artillery can reach Durban before Nov. 14, and without additional guns an advance from Estcourt would be impossible.

More Boer Guns Near Ladysmith.

Among the few items that have arrived from the Cape to-day is one saying that the Boers are planting more guns in the hills surrounding Ladysmith.

Kimberley on Nov. 2.

The latest advices from Kimberley, dated Nov. 2, say that all was well there then. An explosion had been heard, and the supposition was that the Boers had blown up the railroad culvert south of Dronfield.

Dr. Leyds Warned.

The Belgian Government, it is said, has warned Dr. Leyds, whose headquarters is at Brussels, that Belgium is a neutral country.

Troopship Bavarian Sails.

The troopship Bavarian sailed from Queenstown last evening for the Cape, carrying the Connaught Rangers, the 1st battalion of the Royal Dublin Fusiliers, and a contingent of miscellaneous troops, altogether over 2,000 men and a large quantity of stores. Crowds witnessed and cheered the departure of the vessel.

Mobilization Orders Issued.

Orders for the mobilization of the necessary division announced on Thursday by Lord Wolseley were issued last evening. The men will join between Nov. 13 and 20.

BOMBARDMENT.

Heavy Boer Guns Continue to Drop Shells Into Ladysmith at Long Range—Few Casualties.

London, Nov. 11.—The British War Office has received from General Buller the following despatch:

"Cape Town, Thursday evening, Nov. 9.—Have received by pigeon post from General White to-day the following:

"'The bombardment at long range by heavy guns continue daily. A few casualties are occurring, but no serious harm is being done.

"'The Boers sent in to-day a number of refugees from the Transvaal under a flag of truce. A flag of truce from Ladysmith met them outside the pickets. When the party separated the Boers' guns fired on it before it reached our pickets.

"'Major Gale of the Royal Engineers was wounded to-day while sending a message.

"'The entrenchments are daily growing stronger and the supply of provisions is ample.'"

A BRITISH CONVOY LOST.

Attacked by Boers While Under Escort—Six Are Missing.

London, Nov. 11.—The War Office last evening issued the following:

From Buller, Cape Town, 12.40 p. m., by message from Buluwayo, dated Nov. 3.—A small convoy and escort under Speckley, of Plumer's force was attacked by Boers November 2. Six men missing and lost convoy.

The Geneva Flag.

The War Office has also issued the following:

"A report having appeared in the South African papers that our artillery fired on the Geneva flag, General Buller telegraphs the following account of the incident given to The Standard and Diggers News by the Rev. Mr. Martens, a Dutch clergyman with the Boers:

"Directly after the first cannon shot the English thought our men were at the railway station, and fired there. They were not, but one of the shots went through an ambulance. As soon as they found their mistake they ceased firing."

"The ambulance, in accordance with the usages, should have been three miles from the field of battle, so the ambulance cannot claim the English broke the usages of civilized warfare; but I do not think the English would have fired on them had they known this. It was unintentional."

The War Fund Gobbled Up.

London, Nov. 11.—Tenders for £3,000,000 in Treasury bills, the first instalment of the war fund, were opened yesterday. The total of the applications amounted to £10,721,000. The issue was allotted as follows: £2,000,000 at six months and £1,000,000 at 12 months. The average rates per cent. were £3 18s 3d for the six months' bills and £3 5s 6d for the 12 months' bills.

THE RELIEF OF GEN. WHITE.

Is Now Believed to Be the First Move to Be Made by Gen. Buller.

London, Nov. 11.—With the arrival at Cape Town of the British transports Roslyn Castle and Moor, to be followed by a continuous succession of troop-laden ships, the real campaign in South Africa may be said to have commenced, and the fact that the former was ordered to proceed to Durban, Natal, forthwith, is said to indicate either an entire change, or, at least, a modification in the plan of advance.

Buller's First Move.

It seems that General Buller's first move will be to free General White, thus somewhat departing from the earlier plans credited to him of advancing through the level country of the Orange Free State and Southwestern Transvaal. It has been apparent for some days that the situation at Ladysmith could not be indefinitely prolonged, and, it is understood, information has reached the Government to the effect that the quiescence of the Boers will shortly be changed by the arrival of the siege train from Pretoria into a determined attempt to deliver a telling stroke. This, it is added, led General Buller to prepare a counterstroke and endeavor to push the Boers back by a direct attack. Such an operation, if attempted, will necessarily entail great expenditure of life, as, during the month, the Boers have occupied Northern Natal they have fortified most of the passes and other positions suitable to their style of fighting.

The Household Cavalry.

London, Nov. 11.—The Prince of Wales, the Duke of Cambridge and Lord Wolseley reviewed three squadrons of the Household Cavalry at the Albany barracks yesterday afternoon, previous to their departure for South Africa. The Prince of Wales and his party were greeted with a royal salute. After the parade the Prince congratulated the troops. He said he was proud to be their honorary colonel, was convinced that they would give a good account of themselves, and, he added, his heart would be with them across the sea. His Royal Highness also wished the soldiers a safe return.

The Moor at Cape Town.

Cape Town, Nov. 11.—The British transport Moor, having on board the officers of the staff of three divisions of the British army corps on its way to South Africa, arrived here at 9.30 o'clock yesterday morning.

No Boers at Colenso.

Estcourt, Natal, Tuesday, Nov. 7. —(Night.)—An armored train which has returned within half a mile of Colenso saw no sign of the Boers.

Bavarian Premier is Honorable.

Munich, Nov. 11.—In the Chamber of Representatives yesterday, the Premier Baron Von Crailsheim, severely reprobated the strong language employed by certain Deputies concerning British action in the Transvaal. He declared that such attacks on a friendly State were an inadmissible violation of parliamentary usage.

WHERE NEXT WAR WILL BE.

Why Britain is Getting Army and Navy Ready.

Berlin, Nov. 11.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Lokal Anzeiger repeats the report that the Russians are marching towards the Afghan frontier.

Japan is Bearding Russia.

London, Nov. 11.—The Shanghai correspondent of The Times says: "There is every indication of increased friction between Russia and Japan, owing to the latter's activity in Corea and the northeastern provinces of China.

THE ANSWER.

In Refusing Second Canadian Contingent Imperial Government Expresses Appreciation.

Ottawa, Nov. 11.—The following is the text of the answer received by His Excellency from Her Majesty's Government in reply to the offer of a second contingent, sent by the Canadian Government on Nov. 1st:

London, Nov. 7, 1899.—Your Ministers' generous offer to send without delay a second contingent for service in South Africa has received the attentive consideration of the Secretary of State for War and his military advisors, but they regret that under existing circumstances they are unable to accept it. The offer will, however, certainly be borne in mind, and Her Majesty's Government will have no hesitation in availing themselves of it, should future events make it desirable to do so. Her Majesty's Government attach great importance to this fresh proof of Canadian sympathy and good will, and desire to express their grateful appreciation of it.

(Signed) Chamberlain.

Frank Oliver Can Get Men.

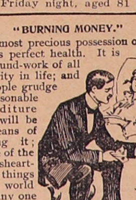

Edmonton, N.W.T., Nov. 11. — Frank Oliver, M.P., has notified the Minister of Militia at Ottawa that the Northwest will send 1,000 men to the Transvaal if the British Government should require them. They would be composed of ex-members from the Mounted Police and others who are all experienced and expert horsemen.

Good Country for Finns.

Ottawa, Nov. 11.—The Finns who want to leave Finland will receive a favorable report of Canada as a field for emigration. Mr. E. Winckelmann, a vice-consul of Alcaborg, Finland, has spent the past few months in Canada, examining its possibilities. This gentleman arrived in Ottawa yesterday on the way back to his home. Mr. Winckelmann will strongly recommend that Finns who leave go in future to Canada. They are a hard-working, mechanical and agricultural people, and would make good settlers. Last year 12,000 Finns left home for other countries.

"BURNING MONEY."

The most precious possession on earth is perfect health. It is the ground-work of all prosperity in life; and few people grudge any reasonable expenditure which will be the means of restoring it; but one of the most disheartening things in the world is for any one who works hard for his money to keep paying it out for doctors and medicines that do no earthly good. It is like throwing it into the fire.

"We had spent lots of money for doctor bills and I had almost given up in despair," says Mrs. Ella Schall, of Moosehead, Luzerne Co., Pa., in a sincere letter to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. "Then I told my husband I was going to write to you. I am very glad I did so. You remember my case was abscess of the breast. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cured me in one month, sound and well."

"Your kindness to me I can never forget," writes Mrs. Josie E. Clark, of Enterprise, Shelby Co., Mo. "I cannot express half my feelings of gratefulness to you. I had despaired of ever getting well. I had been in bad health for twelve years. Had aches all through me, numb hands, cold feet, and everything I ate distressed me; my bowels were constipated. I was very nervous, depressed and despondent. When I first wrote to you I thought I could never be cured. I have taken six bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and my health is now good. You have my honest recommendation to all sufferers. I think there is no medicine in the world as good as Dr. Pierce's."

It's an insult to your intelligence for a dealer to attempt to palm off upon you a substitute for this world-famed medicine. You know what you want. It's his business to meet that want. When he urges some substitute he's thinking of the larger profit he'll make — not of your welfare. Shun all such dishonest dealers.

Every sick person in this land should possess Dr. Pierce's grand 1000-page Common Sense Medical Adviser, which will be sent free for the bare cost of customs and mailing, 31 one-cent stamps.

Don't Trifle.

Do you drink? Do you get the worse of liquor? Are you a drunkard? If you want to be cured permanently take our treatment. It's not an experiment. Established over 7 years and hundreds of cures. Prices reasonable. Write

NEW YORK MILLIONAIRES

Only a few people reading advertisements of bankers and brokers, saying that money could be made through speculation, realize that the richest men in America have commenced life in a humble way and have made their fortune through stock-exchange speculations.

Men like Jay Gould, who worked as a dry goods clerk in a small town at $10 00 a week up to his twentieth year, and commenced to operate with his small saving of $200.00 in Wall Street, left at his death 70 millions of dollars; Russell Sage, who worked as a grocery boy at $1.00 per week, and whose present wealth is estimated at 100 millions of dollars, is still operating the market, although 80 years of age, and so are thousands of others, who are enjoying all the luxuries life can offer, which is due to their success in speculation.

To the shrewd speculator the same opportunities are open to-day as to others in the past. The smallest lot which can be bought and sold is ten shares on 3% margin, making 30 dollars.

Anybody interested as to how speculations are conducted can get information and market letter free of charge upon application by letter to,

LIES!

The statements and insinuations in last night's Ontario that Mayor Johnson either wrote or dictated the article which appeared in Thursday's INTELLIGENCER, or that business transactions with the Ontario Business College in any way influenced THE INTELLIGENCER in the course it pursued in the petty quibbling of Alderman Robinson in connection with the wall paper dicker, are simply lies, the product of the diseased, money-grabbing, morbid mind of the creature who suggested them. THE INTELLIGENCER has no desire to enter upon a personal controversy, but the insolent, lying habits of that journal must stop, or some people's memory will be refreshed of transactions not yet forgotten.

The record of THE INTELLIGENCER is sufficient to prove the falsity of the statement that it is influenced by business transactions. It has, when the slandering sheet referred to dare not have an opinion, opposed successfully some scheme which Mayor Johnson earnestly supported. Such insinuations are worthy the source from which they emanate.

The personal attacks upon the Mayor are too contemptible to notice. The probabilities are the Mayor may bring, not the writer, but the proprietor, to his senses, as he did about ten years ago. Attempts at bribery and claims against bankrupt estates might be interesting reading. More, probably, of this anon.

A MANLY ATTITUDE.

In connection with the charge which appeared in a local paper last night, that Ald. La Roche had violated his obligation in acting as agent for an insurance company which does business with the City, that gentleman has requested the City Solicitor to give his opinion in the matter, and announces that he is prepared, if the opinion is adverse to him, to at once resign his position as a member of the City Council. This is the act of an honorable man, who does not seek by petty subterfuge to defend a position, if untenable.

May check a Cold too quick

GRIP

A carpenter of Morristown, a great, strong, hearty fellow, says: "77" breaks up my Cold in two doses—I don't follow the directions on the bottle—when I take Cold I at once take half the contents of a 25c. bottle, then I wait awhile, and take the balance; my Cold is gone the same day." While this may be all very well for a strong man, it is not always best to check a Cold too quickly and possibly drive it to some weak spot—It is better to follow the directions of six pellets every hour, it then restores the checked circulation (known by a chill or shiver), starts the blood coursing through the veins makes a steady cure of a Cold or Grip.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

A Good Deal of Business Transacted Last Night.

Form IV. of the High School Will Not be Abolished for the Present--A Lady Teacher Resigns.

Those in attendance at the meeting of the Board of Education last night were: Rev. Canon Burke, chairman; Messrs. J. L. Biggar, C. J. Bowell, J. A. Davis, J. Diamond, W. P. Hudson, Wm. Tennent, H. Walker, S. J. Wedden, T. Wills, W. C. Reid, J. F. Wills, Rev. Mr. W. Maclean and G. A. Bennett.

After the reading and confirming of the minutes of last meeting, the following communications were read:

From Miss Bertha Richards, tendering her resignation as a teacher, to take effect on December 31st.

Applications for the position of teacher were received from Misses Ethel McKay, Sadie Morton, Minnie Johnson and Helen Rous.

From R. H. C. Brown, of Brockville, in reference to placing in a good condition the black boards in the various schools. He offered to do the work for 5c per square foot and a guarantee for three years' continual service. His preparation was a slating of Japanese corundum.

These communications were referred to their various committees.

REPORTS.

The Finance Committee recommended the payment of the following accounts:

INTELLIGENCER	$ 9 00
Insurance	3 05
J. Biggs	13 05
McGinnis Bros	5 15
T. Stewart	4 50
"	1 64
Marsh & Henthorne	44 00
R. Tuite	3 85

The School Management Committee reported that they had considered the petition for the re-opening of the Station School and recommended that it be ascertained the number of scholars who would attend and also ascertain where the scholars who formerly went to that school are now attending.

The same Committee recommended that, as Miss Alice McRae's engagement as a teacher expired in December, she be re-engaged until August next.

The Queen Victoria and High School Committee reported in reference to Wm Moxam's request for an increase of salary as caretaker, and recommended that it be not entertained, also that a meeting of the Committee be held later to consider the question of appointing a caretaker.

The Head Master's report for October showed that the number of scholars enrolled for that month was 202, and the average daily attendance 154. There was an improvement in punctuality; the order and conduct were good.

On motion the Board went into Committee of the Whole on reports, Mr. C. J. Bowell in the chair.

The various reports were considered and passed without much discussion and without any amendments.

The account of Mr. R. Tuite for $3 85, for replacing broken windows, caused some of the members to speak of a resolution upon the minutes of the Board in reference to teachers being responsible for windows that were broken during school hours.

Mr. Bennett stated that in this case most of the windows were broken during holidays or after school hours.

The account passed.

On motion the Committee rose and reported. The report was received and adopted.

MOTIONS.

Moved by Mr. T. Wills, seconded by Mr. Bennett, that whereas there is but one scholar at present being taught in Form IV., which takes up much of the time of the teachers, the Board memorialize the Government to have this form abolished unless more pupils are to be taught.

Mr. Thos. Wills said in looking over the statutes he found out that we need not teach higher than matriculation into the university. There was but one scholar in Form IV. and it took up as much time to teach as if there were a number of scholars, and he did not think it was fair to the Board to have to pay a large sum to teach one. He thought we had no legal right to teach this form.

In answer to a question as to whether the Board could do away with this form without petitioning the Minister of Education, it was ascertained that the Board had the right.

Mr. Biggar stated that by teaching this form the time of the teachers was taken up, which would not be the case if this form was abolished. The time could be distributed to other classes.

Mr. J. F. Wills thought the teachers could rearrange their classes, and in this wise their time would be better taken up. The move he thought was a good one. We were paying at the rate of $1,000 a year for the education of one pupil, or about 1-5 of the teachers' time.

Mr. I. Diamond said this matter had to be looked at from different standpoints, for if we did away with this form, we would have to change our curriculum. This class did not interfere in any way with the success of the other classes.

Prof. Milburn, Principal of the School, was heard in reference to this matter. He said the abolition of the fourth form would tend to lower the status of the school. The reputation of the members of the staff would also be at stake, and it would probably be said or inferred that the teachers could not teach this form. He thought the present arrangements were about perfect.

Mr. C. J. Bowell asked the Principal if this would not be an admission that our teachers were not prepared to teach this form.

Mr. Milburn—It would have the tendency to cause outsiders to say that the staff were incompetent.

On motion the matter was laid over until next meeting of the Board.

Moved by Mr. C. J. Bowell, seconded by Mr Thos Wills, that as a number of lights of glass are being broken and when replaced have to be paid for by the Board, attention be called to a resolution already passed: "That the teachers and caretaker be held responsible for these broken lights when broken within school hours or find out who the pupil is who does the damage and make them responsible for it.—Carried.

Mr. J. F. Wills moved, seconded by Mr. G. A. Bennett, that the wood not used at the Station School be removed to the Grier st. School.

Mr. J. F. Wills moved, seconded Mr. G. A. Bennett, that the Secretary-Treasurer furnish a statement as to the amount of insurance on the schools, the companies in which they was insured and the rate of insurance.—Carried.

The Board adjourned.

LAUGHING GAS.

The Hysterical Speculator.

She had five hundred dollars to invest in hats and frocks,
But a sudden inspiration made her speculate in stocks;
She studied o'er the market for the ones that she'd prefer,
And when she had invested there was no more peace for her.
She walked the floor at midnight, she walked the floor by day,
She promenaded Wall street in a most amazing way;
She'd stand beside the "ticker" full of pains or stunned with fright,
Till her friends became suspicious and declared she wasn't right,
But she saw five dollars profit, so she sold out like a flash,
And in joyous frenzy she's exhibiting the cash.
If she'd "held" just two hours longer, she'd have cleared a hundred flat,
But she's given to hysterics, so they dare not tell her that.

The Dewey Business.

"Yes," said the collector, "this Dewey business is bad business for me. Here are copies of signs that confronted me on certain office doors this morning:

"'Gone to the Dewey reception. Back in ten days—if I don't have to walk.'

"'Closed on account of Dewey. Back as soon as I can make the trip.'

"'Dewey is a hero. I have gone to see him.'

"'I have gone to welcome Dewey. He is my aunt's cousin.'"

"And where are you off to now?" some one asked the collector.

"Oh, I am going in the Dewey business too. Goodby!"

Oh, the spinnakers are up,
And the jibs are all in place,
They are sailing for the cup,

See, she's spilling wind, alack!
Now she's bending sails, b'gosh!

Head to wind, abaft the lee,
Heave and luff! Avast—hooroo!
It's all worse than Greek to me,
As I'll bet it is to you!

The subject to-day is Overcoats.

Naturally, with so many handsome lines, we are anxious to introduce you to our elegant garments—anxious to again demonstrate the superiority of the "Quick & Robertson quality"—anxious to show you that selections from our fashionable, new Overcoats are not priced higher than garments of unknowable age and uncertain quality are marked elsewhere.

Overcoats for Gentlemen, $4 to $14.

Covering a wider range of fabrics than we've ever shown before, beginning with the staple lines at $4, passing up the finer goods to $14, through full lines of Kerseys, Irish Frieze, Meltons, Cheviots, Beavers, Vicunas and the new Llama Wool. Colors of Oxford Grey, Iron Grey, Soft Dark Grey, Black, Blue and Brown.

At $10 we show a beautiful All-wool English Beaver Overcoat with Silk Velvet Collar and stitched with silk throughout, best of linings and interlinings, and that graceful fit for which our garments are so well known.

Overcoats are cut a trifle longer this year, with plump fullness of body, roomy sleeves, shapely shoulders, and velvet collars not quite as wide as last year.

For Young Gentlemen, 16 to 19 years--An equally large assortment of ultra fashionable Overcoats, with prices $5, $6, $8 to $12 50.

For the "Little Gentlemen," 7 to 15 years-- Are the nobbiest Overcoats ever shown in Belleville, prices $2.50 to $7.50.

These are in Coverts, Cheviots, Friezes and Beavers. Made after the fashionable mold of the Men's Overcoats, and with a little extra effort in finish.

Reefers for the Boys, 3 to 17 years, $1.25 to $5

Made from Serges, pure All-wool Chinchillas and Friezes—with those big warm storm collars—button over the little breast and close up to the chin. Ideals of comfort and fashion, with never a doubt of satisfactory wear.

Men's Heavy Ulsters for $5.

For $5 we are showing an extra heavy All-wool Frieze Ulster, tweed lined, in brown and claret shades. This is without doubt the best coat shown to-day at that price. See it.

Come with confidence – there's no loophole for disappointment to follow your buying here.

Can White Hold Out?

Despatches Say that in Seven Days Help Will Reach Him.

A Hot Time at Kimberley—Boers Have Got the Range and are Doing Great Damage—Severe Defeat of the Boers at Ladysmith Last Thursday Morning.

(OTHER DESPATCHES ON INSIDE PAGES.)

LONDON, Nov. 13.—On Thursday, according to despatches from Estcourt, the enemy began a general bombardment of Ladysmith.

Huge 40 pounders were hurling shells into Ladysmith, and from a distance nothing could be seen of the place save a dense cloud of smoke. What the result of this attack has been can only be conjectured.

No news has come from General White since the bombardment began.

If Ladysmith is still safe and can hold out seven days longer, perhaps ten, at the most, relief will be at hand. Then the tide is bound to turn. In that case we may expect desperate deeds of warfare before another Sunday.

Despite the Boer cordon, news continues to come through from Kimberly but is necessarily belated and some reports are obviously exaggerated.

It is certain, however, that the besieging force has been reinforced.

The enemy are daily becoming more active and enterprising, but they are still reluctant to come to close quarters and have only once attempted to assault the town and that effort was only half-hearted.

The Boers have received additional artillery and are using their guns daily with the object, it is said, of destroying the property of the De Beers Co., with which they personally associate their arch-enemy, Cecil Rhodes.

They have succeeded in making the exact range of the mines, and are constantly throwing shells at the dynamite huts. Several of these have been blown up and already the damage to the mines amounts to thousands of pounds. The Boers have also raided the country for miles around and have carried off all cattle in sight.

It will probably be necessary to proclaim martial law throughout the whole of Cape Colony before long, as the Dutch are becoming very ugly.

The War Office has received a despatch from Mafeking, which says that on October 31st the enemy made a brilliant attack, notwithstanding a hot shell fire. They were repulsed with heavy loss. British lost five killed and five wounded.

London, Nov. 13.—A special despatch from Durban, Natal, dated Thursday, November 9, evening, says:—"Native runners who have just arrived here from the Drakensberg district, report that the Boers suffered a severe defeat at Ladysmith this morning. The Boer guns were silenced after four hours fighting, during which the Boer losses were heavy. No details have been received.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING

That we all knew what Jack afloat could do, but Jack ashore is making a new record for himself.

That many a pair of eyes will search the map to-night to find out where St. Vincent is. The Sardinian has reached that point, her first stopping place, in safety.

That Grit papers are talking a good deal about the "reformed tariff." It would appear to most people just now that it is the Government, not the tariff, which needs reforming.

That it is not always in good taste to quote proverbs, but just at present there are a couple which are particularly apropos: "People who live in glass houses shouldn't throw stones," and "Birds of a feather flock together."

That it is about time the Government was given notice that it is not necessary to send any more copies of Sir Richard Cartwright's Toronto speech to Belleville. The birds in this vicinity are too old to be caught with such chaff as that. One family last week received four copies through the Post Office.

That the curfew bell seems to fill a long-felt want in other places. We don't know that any of our juvenile population need to be looked after in that way, but, judging from the artless simplicity with which he seeks to excuse a certain wall paper transaction, one of our City Aldermen is altogether too innocent to be out alone after the sun has gone down.

That the Senior Grit Sheet is living up to its reputation. A former graduate of that institution went to Ottawa and became known throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion as "the Ottawa liar." After a man has served an apprenticeship on that paper, he is qualified to enter the lists with Munchausen, Tom Pepper and any of the old romancers.

That Grit newspapers are having a hard time of it these days. Half the time they are telling their readers that Mr. Tarte is to be praised because he has the courage of his convictions, and the other half they are saying that he didn't mean what he said. If Mr. Tarte said in public that he loved France better than Great Britain and then called another eminent Frenchman, who disagreed with him, an Orangeman, why, of course, that proves Mr. Tarte to be a patriotic Canadian. The thing's as clear as mud.

ANOTHER SMASH-UP

This Time it was at Trenton, and Nobody was Hurt.

Another smash-up occurred on the line of the G.T.R. on Sunday morning at the town of Trenton, but fortunately no person was injured. It appears that a freight train was doing some shunting on one of the sidings when it crashed into some empty flat cars standing thereon. The force of the collision was such that some five or six of the flat cars were not only derailed, but badly broken up, and finally destroyed by fire. The accident was immediately reported to the authorities at Belleville and the wrecking crew were sent to the scene. The wreck was of such a nature as to block traffic for a few hours. In addition to the flat cars being destroyed two laden flat cars were partly demolished.

BY FRED WHISHAW.

COPYRIGHT 1899 BY THE AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION.

Borofsky shrugged his shoulders.

"If we knew that," he said, "there would no longer be any mystery. It may have simply miscarried. The chap—to put it quite plainly—that he took for a downright bounder, which my dear father could never possibly do!"

"Disguises do wonders!" said Borofsky, shrugging his shoulders.

"But why should he be disguised?" I persisted.

"Why has he gone away? Why has all this happened, and how? Tell me that, and I'll tell you the rest!" laughed Borofsky. "Enough that we have a good scent here, and, besides, another old trail that may ens day be taken up again at Erinofka."

All this certainly deeply interested if it did not actually convince me that the man Percy met in Oxford street was my father and no other. Then it occurred to Borofsky that it would be well if one, at least, of our little hunting party of three were to take up his post in London in the hope of meeting with this mysterious personage, whether father or some one else.

"You are the right one to go," said Borofsky, wagging his head at me. "For you would be less likely to be the victim of mistaken identity. It would be useless for me to go because, unfortunately, the count is a stranger to me, and I should not know him if I saw him. And as for this gentleman"—Percy—"he might, of course, be deceived, not being a son of the count."

"I don't think I should, all the same," said Percy.

"I can't possibly leave my mother," I put in, "for some little while at all events. I am sure Percy knows my father well enough not to mistake him for any one else if he gets a real good look at him, and perhaps a talk as well. Would you mind undertaking the job, Percy?"

"Of course not," Percy scoffed. "If you think I'll do," he added. "What do you think, Mr. Borofsky?"

"You'll do well enough," said Borofsky, "if our friend here cannot see his way to going. Are you anything of a photographer?" he added unexpectedly.

"Only with a little snap shot machine," laughed Percy. "Why? Am I to photograph all the suspicious people I see?"

"Not quite that; but if you should meet the count or this individual you consider so marvelously like him and could get a snap shot at him you might send me over a copy and the countess or Count Boris could easily identify or repudiate the gentleman as per portrait. That would save a great deal of trouble, for though you might make a mistake they could scarcely do so. Then when your print arrived we should be able to say at once: 'This is the count. We have found him.' Or, 'This is some one else and Mr. Percy may return to help us look elsewhere for the count.'"

Percy laughd.

"Well," he said, "I'll take my hand camera anyway. It's only a tiny thing at best, though; so don't expect much result. And if I'm arrested by the city police for taking snap shots at innocent persons I shall expect you to come and bail me out!" Which favor we promised Percy should not be denied him in case of need.

Then we dispatched Percy by train, bidding him wire to us immediately in case he should meet with any kind of success, and warning him above all, if ever he caught sight of the man—father or another—whom he had seen on a former occasion, to make sure of his address by following him, and if possible to watch or have the place watched until we should have had an opportunity of seeing the portrait and, perhaps, even of running over to London to see the original himself.

I don't think Percy was very sanguine as to his mission and the chances of seeing his former friend again. It would be the merest fluke if he did, he said. One might as well search for a grain of wheat in the proverbial sackful of chaff.

Before we left the station the idea occurred to Borofsky that it would be interesting to see the young fellow at the ticket office whether Count Landrinof had traveled to London lately. The count was so well known in St. Petersburg that the clerk would probably have recognized him, and might tell us the very day he started, and whether alone or accompanied. This would at least show us whether Percy's mission was a mere fool's errand or whether the count, having really departed from London, might still be found there.

"But the clerk will think me such a fool not to know whether my own father has gone to London or not!" I protested. "Can't you say you require the date of his departure for some case you're working up?"

"Good idea," said Borofsky, and forthwith he evolved a fine cock and bull story about some domestic robbery in our household, supposed to have been committed by one of the servants, and how certain evidence rested upon the exact date of the count's departure, which date we had forgotten.

The ticket clerk, on hearing an inn, scratched his head and assumed an air of the deepest thought. He had been paring his nails when we disturbed him, and he kindly laid aside this fascinating occupation in order to attend to us.

"I remember the count taking his ticket," he said presently. "It was—let me see—about a fortnight ago, was it not? Stop a minute. I do not issue so very many tickets for London direct—here we are. August—no, it was July. This must be it, I think, 17-29 July, seventeenth old style, twenty-ninth new. I believe that must be the day. You may take it as pretty certain."

"That is the certainty been among the articles stolen. Had the count a tall hat now or a soft Tyrolese?"

"A tall hat," said the clerk promptly, "and a rock coat, such as I have generally seen his excellence wear. I happened to notice it because some one made the remark that Count Landrinof always looked far more of an Englishman than a Russian."

I gave the clerk a cigar. He deserved it.

Borofsky was jubilant as we left the station.

"You see," he said, "your father did go to London and just at the date of his disappearance too. Moreover, he was dressed as usual, and he went alone, for apparently only one London ticket was issued."

"That makes the mystery all the worse," said, "for why should my dear father, who was always as happy in his own house as any man can be—why should he suddenly depart for London, alone and without notice, unless carried away by force or cunning, the victim of some motive and of some persons as to whose identity we can only guess?"

"As to going alone," said Borofsky, "others may easily have escorted him to the frontier and handed him over to a second batch of escorters. It is sufficient that this man was the count. Everything points to it. The rest we shall learn when your friend shall have found out for us his whereabouts."

HON. MR. FOSTER AT PICTON

An Address of Welcome Presented to the Ex-Minister.

A Vigorous Speech Reviewing the Record of the Government, Whose Misdeeds Were Shown Up in Caustic Language — Election Promises Compared With Their Doings—Mr. Pruyn for Lennox.

Picton, Ont., Nov. 11.—A large and enthusiastic meeting was held this afternoon at the Bijou Opera House. After the president had called the meeting to order and announced its object he called upon Mr. G. Alcorn, Q.C., and Mr. A. Broder, M.P., Merrisburg, to present the address of welcome.

Mr. Foster, after a few introductory remarks, proceeded to deal with the present Government. History, he said, failed to show a set of men who had so betrayed their trust as the Laurier Administration. Prior to their election to office in 1896 they went the length and breadth of Canada promising that, if elected, they would reduce the cost of government, give free trade, do away with the Senate, and numerous other things.

What the Record Shows.

The records showed that they have not fulfilled one single pledge. Instead of reducing the cost of government they have in three years increased it by about $7,000,000. The Senate as yet remained undisturbed, and had saved the people of Canada millions of dollars during the last three year. The N. P., which had been the life blood of Canada, has remained practically undisturbed, they only reducing the tariff by 71-100 of 1 per cent., which, at this rate, would take sixty-five years to give free trade.

Farmers' Burden Increased.

He showed that the burdens of the farmer had been increased instead of lessened. The duties on coal oil had been lessened by one cent and gone up in price five cents. The duty on barb wire had been taken off and the price greatly advanced. Corn had been placed on the free list, which was a great detriment to the farmer. Several other instances were cited to show how the farmer had been more burdened.

The action of the Patrons of Industry in Parliament came in for severe criticism, and it was impossible to distinguish any difference between them and the Liberals. The Liberals, he said, were claiming credit for the prosperity and advancement of Canada, but the records show that they were always opposed to any scheme toward progress.

The independence of Parliament was another pledge they had failed to carry out. He cited several instances where members had sat in Parliament for two years, with the promise of a good fat position awaiting them. The speaker paid a high tribute of praise to Sir Charles Tupper and closed by asking the electorate to again place them in power.

The meeting closed with cheers for Tupper, Foster and the Queen.

THE VARCOE TRAGEDY.

Toronto, Nov. 13.—Those whose duty it is to frequent the wards in the General Hospital will long remember the scene enacted in that institution in the 40 hours after the burglary and murder committed at the home of J. E. Varcoe, 182 East Queen street, at 2 o'clock on Thursday morning last. In that very short period John Edward Varcoe, the victim of the tragedy, and one of his assailants, Joseph McIntosh, both died from the effects of their bullet wounds. Widely different were the last hours spent on earth by the two men, Varcoe asking forgiveness for his assailants and McIntosh all the time uttering curses against those whom he had wronged.

During the whole of Friday and up to nearly 4 o'clock on Saturday morning, when he died, the prisoner McIntosh, remained delirious. The let produced peritonitis, which eventually resulted in death. No antemortem statement was taken, because the Crown Attorney will not institute any proceedings against the constable, who effected the capture of the two men.

The other prisoner, Harry Williams, on Saturday gave his counsel a written order to have the remains of his pal kept till friends are heard from, or given a proper burial.

It is said he refused to allow an operation to remove the bullet to be performed and that the name McIntosh is an alias.

Queen and Lady Symons.

London, Nov. 13.—It is announced that the Queen will offer Lady Symons, widow of General Symons, the first vacant suite of rooms in Hampton Court, where, under similar circumstances, now live Lady Napier and other widows of British heroes.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

Toronto, Nov. 13.—The prices for hogs have been changed, and for the present prices are as follows: All choice select bacon hogs, over 160 pounds in weight, $4, and for all under 160 pounds (lights), $3.75 per cwt. will be paid. This means that all heavy, fat hogs, for the present, will not be rejected, but will be taken as selects and paid for at the same price. It will be seen that the price for selects has declined 12½c per cwt., and that heavy fats have been increased the same amount, thus equalizing the two classes that have been in the past.

A FEARFUL RAILWAY WRECK.

Engine Smashed Into Cars Loaded With Men—20 Injured.

Denison, Iowa, Nov. 13.—Twenty-six men were injured in a wreck of the Fort Dodge & Omaha Railroad nine miles north of Denison Saturday afternoon. A gravel train and a work train containing 180 men came together around a sharp curve at a deep cut in the road. The men were crowded into box cars, with no chance for escape, when the two trains collided, without any warning whatever.

The engine of the gravel train crashed through the box cars filled with their human freight, tearing the cars into splinters. The steam from the wrecked engine scalded the men as they endeavored to escape from the splintered ruins. The injured were brought to Denison on a special train.

A Move in the Right Direction.

Middletown, N.Y., Nov. 13.—Supt. McGuire of the Eastern Division of the Erie Railway issued an order on Saturday providing that no engineer or foreman shall be called within eight hours after making a trip and limiting a month's work to 35 days. This has been done to insure the men sufficient rest.

The Company owns over twelve thousand acres of rich copper land in Texas, opened, tested, developed and NOW BEING OPERATED. Millions of tons of copper bearing clay and marl running from five to ten per cent., and large quantities of ore carrying from fifty to seventy per cent. copper in sight. Cheaply mined and treated, favorable climate, cheap fuel, and ample water. Stated by geologists, chemists, experts and engineers to be one of the greatest and best in the world. Amount of land, quantity and quality of ore, cheapness of mining and treatment, the increasing demand and profit in producing copper considered, the Boston and Texas Copper Company possesses unequalled advantages and affords the best kind of an investment.

Calumet and Hecla ore averages 4 1-2 per cent. copper. It has paid $62,850,000 dividends
Tamarack ore averages 3 per cent. It has paid $5,910,000 in dividends.
Atlantic ore averages 85-100 of 1 per cent. It has paid $780,000 in dividends.
Boston and Montana ore runs 7 per cent. It has paid $10,775,000 in dividends.
Franklin ore averages 1 37-100 per cent. It has paid $1,290,000 in dividends.
The Quincy ore averages 1 8-10 per cent. It has paid $11,070,000.

THE AVERAGE OF BOSTON & TEXAS ORE IS OVER 50 PER CENT., and of copper marls and clays from 5 to 10 per cent. Both the ore, marl and clay are within a few feet of the surface of the ground, so that the expense of mining and hoisting is minimized. A party of New England capitalists who have just returned from an examination of the mines in conjunction with one of the ablest mining engineers in the country, report the property to be one of the largest and best in America, and to contain inexhaustible quantities of rich copper deposits.

It is estimated that the plant now being arranged for will produce $3,000 to $5,000 per day, NET.

Prospectus, engineers' reports, assays and full information will be furnished on application. Remit by check, P. O. order, draft or registered letter to Treasurer.

At Death s Door—Dyspepsia Conquered. A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser an.. others told me I ould not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. After trying various remedies, and consulting several doctors, without obtain any relief, I was advised to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

EVIDENTLY A MURDER.

Well-Dressed Man Found With His Face Slashed From Mouth to Ear—A Struggle.

Forest, Ont., Nov. 13.—Yesterday morning the body of an unknown man was found beside the G.T.R. track, half a mile east of Forest. The left side of his face had been cut open from the mouth to the ear, and the man had apparently bled to death. In the woods nearby a party of tramps had camped the night before, and near that spot were indications that a struggle had taken place, two open knives and a razor case being found there, and a large clot of fresh blood in the grass.

The dead man was well dressed, in navy blue coat and vest, blue duck pants and good under clothes. He was blind in the left eye from cataract, right forearm tattooed with clasped hands, over which were the initials, M.M. The right hand was badly scarred, evidently having been lacerated recently by a saw; brown hair, fair complexion, medium height, about 33 years old. The man had supper here Saturday night, and said he was on his way to Windsor, and had a brother there. The body was brought to Forest, and Coroner Scott empannelled a jury, who, after viewing the body, adjourned till to-day, when an inquest will be held. The Attorney-General has been asked to instruct the County Crown Attorney to take charge of the matter.

Four tramps were seen here together Saturday night, one of whom has since been caught, and is now in the lock-up here. The other three are being pursued. One of the men wanted was seen near Wyoming at noon Sunday, heading for Sarnia. It is feared that they have crossed to Michigan. One of the men wanted is about 5 feet 8 inches, red hair, clean shaven, wore blue suit, walks with limp, perhaps assumed. The other man is shorter, dark hair, a week's growth of beard, wore dark clothes. One of them has a sore neck, and both are hard-looking characters.

Dead at Johannesburg.

Napanee, Ont., Nov. 13.—News has just reached here of the accidental shooting of Charlie Trimble at Johannesburg South Africa, on the 5th of last month. He was fatally wounded by his revolver falling from his belt and exploding. He left here about seven years ago and was connected with one of the largest mines of Johannesburg. He was about 26 years of age. Mr. Richard Trimble of Toronto is his eldest brother.

FATAL HUNTING MISHAP.

Orillia, Nov. 13.—John McCleary, aged 32 of Toronto, met with a fatal accident on Friday at Moon River. He had been out with a hunting party and while handling a loaded rifle in a boat, accidentally discharged it, the bullet passing through the abdomen. Dr. Thompson of Waubaushene, who was in the immediate neighborhood, reached the unfortunate man in 20 minutes, and did everything possible to save his life, but without avail. Coroner Beaton of Orillia decided that an inquest was unnecessary. The remains were sent to Toronto on Saturday. John McCleary had been manager of the cash department of the T. Eaton Co. for the past seven years, and was also a shareholder. He had been in the woods since the commencement of the deer season, and was expected to return home to-day.

Japan and Russia Soon to Be in a Struggle After Corea.

Russia Is Entrenched There and Could Watch Every Line of Japanese Communication and Cut Off Her Markets—If Japan Got Control Would Have Harbors Better Than Port Arthur Is for Russia.

London, Nov. 12.—Amid much wild talk concerning the relations of Russia and Japan, The Times' Seoul correspondent writes in a suggestive fashion, which is worthy of consideration. He argues that there is going to be a great struggle in the far East, chiefly between Japan and Russia, on account of the trade of that territory. Practically Japan's only market is the United States, and this trade is destined to drop as prices begin to rise in Japan and the country becomes more industrial.

This being so, the correspondent argues, Corea is the key to the question. If Russia is thoroughly entrenched there she will be able to watch every line of Japanese communication with the Continent, cut off her markets on the mainland and even menace Japanese autonomy. But if Japan has control of the peninsula she will have a more advantageous position in the Yellow Sea than Port Arthur gives to Russia, on account of the unrivalled harbors of West Corea. The port of Masampo, for example, is one of the finest harbors in the world.

Where the Danger Lies.

Thus Japan, while vitally interested in China, must desire a disposition of Corea before there can be any settlement. If the Chinese matter is forced to the front, Japan will be compelled to hurry a decision as regards Corea. Herein lies the danger, as it is not likely that Russia will care to share her domination of the Yellow Sea with an inimical country which bids fair to become a great naval power, while nothing will compensate Japan for the loss of the peninsula, which is indispensable to her both for commercial and strategic reasons.

Hurry Order for a Battleship.

London, Nov. 12.—Hurry orders have been received by the builders of the Japanese battleship, now in process of construction at Clydebank, to complete the vessel as speedily as possible. The new ship, which will be one of the largest afloat, is to be finished by Jan. 1, 1900. It is believed that these instructions are the result of the increasing tension between Japan and Russia.

Uneasy Feeling at Shanghai.

London, Nov. 13.—The Shanghai correspondent of The Daily Mail says: "An uneasy feeling regarding the relations of Russia and Japan is spreading here. There is no doubt that Japan is practically allied with China, despite the degradation which the Empress Dowager inflicted upon the Chinese envoys to Japan on their recent return. This was merely a tactical move with a view of appeasing Russia.

A large Russian fleet intends wintering in Nagasaki Harbor, and some remonstrance by Japan is probable. Prince Henry of Prussia, the commander of the German squadron in the North Pacific, is watching the progress of events. He recently declared in the course of a conversation that the Japanese army was in splendid condition, from the European point of view."

The Daily Mail says: "We understand there is considerable censorship on cablegrams from Japan."

THE CZAR WAS AFTER MONEY.

Visited Berlin to Raise Loan to Complete Siberian Railway.

Berlin, Nov. 12.—The Associated Press is informed on the highest authority that Dr. Von Miquel, Prussian Minister of Finance, had a long conference to-day with Emperor William. It appears that one of the chief subjects discussed during the visit of Emperor Nicholas last week was the raising of another Russian loan in Germany, Russia having failed to effect one anywhere else in Europe. This explains why Dr. Von Miquel was present Wednesday evening, along with Count Von Buelow and Count Muravieff, the German and Russian Foreign Ministers, at the interview between the Czar and the Kaiser. Emperor William, it is definitely asserted, made no promise to the Czar in the matter, leaving it understood that, whether the German Government would favor another Russian loan here or not depended largely upon Dr. Von Miquel's answer to-day, prepared at Emperor William's request. In the meantime Dr. Von Miquel consulted with the leading German financiers, nearly all of whom discouraged the proposal, as they have been reliably informed that the trans-Siberian Railroad is likely to prove far more expensive than is generally surmised. Moreover, a Russian financial crash is expected soon. To-day Dr. Von Miquel reported to this effect to the Kaiser, and it may be considered certain that the proposed loan here has failed.

ROBBED AT MONTREAL.

Montreal, Nov. 13.—Mr. Louis Coste, C.E., formerly chief engineer of the Department of Public Works at Ottawa, was the victim on Friday night of a bold robbery. He started from Ottawa by the Canada Atlantic during that afternoon, bringing a dress suit case with him, which, besides some clothes and some valuable jewelry, contained documents and papers representing the amount of $12,000. At Bonaventure station he passed his checks to a driver, so as to fetch his valises and parcels. The individual, of whom Mr. Coste can give a very poor description, started with the checks to go to the baggage-room, took the parcels and valises, and made his way through the crowd, and, finally, Mr. Coste lost sight of him. Mr. Coste immediately gave the alarm to the Canadian Secret Service, but there seems to be very little hope of the discovery of the author of the robbery. It is stated that the valuable papers contained in Mr. Coste's valise were principally mining shares.

White Still Holds Out at Ladysmith—Further Details of the Skirmish Near Belmont on Friday—Boers Fighting at Kimberley — Mafeking Was Bombarded Without Casualties—Arrival of Troopships.

London, Nov. 13.—(4.30 a.m.)—This morning's news from the seat of war in South Africa continues fairly satisfactory. The official cables are not very detailed with regard to the Belmont incident, which, except for the loss of Col. Keith-Falconer and Lieut. Wood, was not a very serious affair.

British Holding Out Ably.

There are signs of greatly increased Boer activity in Natal, and along the western frontier. All the despatches tend to show that the British are holding out ably.

Boers Preparing for Retreat.

It is believed that the Boer retreat will be made over the Drakensberg range into the Zoutpansberg district, where every preparation for provisioning and maintaining the Boers is said to have been made for the last stand, and where it will be difficult to dislodge them. Already it is rumored that they are in straits for food around Ladysmith and may therefore be obliged to abandon the siege.

KIMBERLEY BOMBARDED.

Boers Started in to Attack the Town on Nov. 7, But No Great Damage Was Done.

Barkly West, Nov. 6.—A despatch received from Kimberley says Gen. Cronje sent a message to Colonel Kekewich, calling on him to surrender before six in the morning, to-day, otherwise the town would be shelled, the women and children remaining at Kekewich's risk. The Boers, it was added, surrounded Kimberley in great force, with heavy artillery.

The Bombardment Begun.

Pretoria, Nov. 7.—The bombardment and attack on Kimberley started this morning.

One Britisher and Six Boers Killed.

Cape Town, Nov. 8.—(Night.)—Despatches from Kimberley show that the town was vigorously attacked at two different points. It is reported that one of the British force and six Boers were killed. It is believed here that the Boers surround the town in force.

BULLETINS FROM BULLER.

Col. C. E. Keith-Falconer and Lieut. C. C. Wood Were Killed.

London, Nov. 13.—The War Office has received from Gen. Buller the following despatches:

"Cape Town, Friday Night, Nov. 10.—A reconnoitering force from the Orange River had a skirmish with the enemy to-day about four miles east of Belmont. Casualities: In the Northumberland Fusiliers, Colonel G. E. Keith-Falconer killed; Lieut. F. Bevan and H. C. Hall wounded; in the North Lancashire Regiment, Lt. C. C. Wood and two privates wounded. This is the only report to hand."

Col. Kekewich's Message.

"Cape Town, Friday, Nov. 10.—(10.20 p.m.)—The following message has been received from Colonel Kekewich: 'Kimberley, Monday, Nov. 6.—The wounded are progressing satisfactorily. Two unmarried natives have been shot by the Boers at Alexandersfontein. The conservancy post to the south of the Kimberley reservoirs has been missing since Nov. 4. It is supposed to have been captured by the Boers. Browne of Beaconsfield, having ridden beyond the barriers yesterday, is missing. It is supposed he was captured. The situation is otherwise unchanged.'"

No Damage at Kimberley.

11.15 a. m., Saturday—Col. Kekewich reported Nov. 8 that the bombardment of Kimberley, Nov. 7, did no damage, and there were no casualties.

Wynberg Sick Doing Well.

How It Occurred.

Afternoon, Saturday—With reference to my telegram of the 10th, Col. Gough, with two squadrons of the 10th Hussars, a battery of field artillery and one and one-half companies of mounted infantry, found about 700 of the enemy with one gun in position about nine miles west of Belmont. He engaged the enemy with his artillery and sent the mounted infantry to the enemy's left flank to discover their laager. The losses reported yesterday occurred during this operation. Col. Gough engaged the enemy for about three hours and then returned to camp. The death of Lieut. Wood has just been reported.

VAN HORNE ON HIS DIGNITY.

He Is Not Now Running After the Minister of Railways.

Montreal, Nov. 12.—(Special.)—There have been great doings here in Government and railway circles. For months past the relations between the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Canadian Government, especially the Department of Railways and Canals, have been strained to the breaking point, and keen politicians like Hon. Mr. Tarte have felt that if Mr. Blair did not get on his good behavior pretty soon there would be open warfare all along the line. It appears that Sir William Van Horne and Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Minister of Railways and Canals fell out a few months after the Liberal Government came to power and the "scrap" has been kept up ever since. Mr. Blair came up from New Brunswick resolved to sit down hard upon the big railway, and, although he has worked out the campaign on these lines he has got some terrible hard knocks in return.

Sir William Silently Contemptuous

Sir William Van Horne treated Mr. Blair with silent contempt, but President Shaughnessy, it appears, has adopted different tactics and a little bird says that more than once the Government has been made to feel the power of the big railway corporation. Things had come to such a pass that Mr. Tarte attempted to bring about a reconciliation. The Minister of Public Works had a two hours' interview with Mr. Shaughnessy, who, it appears, told Mr. Tarte quite plainly what he thought of his colleague, the Minister of Railways, and all the rest of the ministerial shooting match, Sir Wilfrid Laurier included. The story goes that Mr. Tarte strove to get the president of the Canadian Pacific and the Minister of Railways together, but to no avail, and Sir Wilfrid and Mr. Blair remained at the Windsor, while the interview was proceeding a little way down the street.

If all young women could have the right sort of motherly advice much of the unhappiness of the world would be avoided.

There are two troubles in the way. The girls hesitate to consult the mothers and the mothers really know only a little more than the girls. Counsel of the best sort is at the command of every woman and if she will promptly avail herself of it she will soon be relieved of her troubles. Thousands of women, every year, write to Dr. R. V. Pierce telling their symptoms and asking his advice, which is freely given without cost.

For over thirty years Dr. Pierce has been and is to-day chief consulting physician of the great Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. He is a specialist in the diseases of women and his "Favorite Prescription" has had the greatest sale of all medicines ever devised for the cure of the troubles peculiarly feminine.

Every letter addressed to Dr. Pierce is held sacredly confidential and has the most careful attention.

No testimonial letter is ever published until the written consent of its author has been given.

Mrs. Mary E. Lewis, of Tanner, Gilmer Co., W. Va., writes: "For fifteen years I suffered untold misery. I had given up all hope of ever getting well. I could not lie down to sleep, and everything I ate would almost cramp me to death. Was very nervous and could hardly walk across the room. I only weighed ninety pounds when I commenced taking these medicines; I now weigh one hundred and forty pounds and am having better health than ever before. I have taken the 'Favorite Prescription,' the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and the 'Pellets.' I take great pleasure in recommending your medicines to the sick for I know that if it had not been for them I would not have been living to-day. I am very thankful to God, who put the great power in your medicines that cured me."

LIEUT. WOOD A CANADIAN.

First Graduate of Royal Military College Killed in Battle.

Halifax, Nov. 13.—Lieut. C. C. Wood of the North Lancashire Regiment, who is dead from wounds received in a sortie from Kimberley, South Africa, is a native of this city, and a graduate of the Royal Canadian Military College, Kingston, Ont. His father, Capt. J. Taylor Wood, was commander of the Confederate cruiser Tallehasse, a vessel that performed many daring exploits during the American civil war. Before receiving the command of the Tallahasse, he was a lieutenant in the world's first ironclad warship, a wooden ship sheathed with iron plates. Shortly after the Monitor was introduced to meet this class of vessel. Lieut. Wood was a grandson of the late Jefferson Davis, and a great-grandson of President Zachary Taylor of the United States. Capt. J. Taylor Wood has resided in this city since the close of the civil war, and is chairman of the Pilot Commission of this port. Wood is the first graduate of the Canadian Military College to lose his life in battle. Every year the War Office gives commissions in the British army to two graduates of this institution.

London, Nov. 11.—It is officially announced that the troopships Yorkshire, Lismore Castle and Aurania have arrived at Cape Town with 3,676 troops. The first two steamers immediately proceeded to Durban. It is supposed the Aurania's troops will be landed at Cape Town.

Did a Troopship Founder?

Brest, France, Nov. 11.—Rumors are in circulation here that a British transport has foundered off the island of Ushant, on the coast of Brittany.

Nothing in the Rumor.

London, Nov. 11.—There is nothing corroborative of the rumor from Brest of a disaster to a British troopship. The Admiralty has no knowledge of any such occurrence.

Two More Troopships Chartered.

The Government has chartered the steamers Victorian and Maplemore for use as troopships.

Hawarden Castle Arrives.

It is officially announced that the troopship Hawarden Castle has arrived at Cape Town with 1,010 troops.

For the Defence of Durban.

Durban, Natal, Nov. 8.—The warships have landed a naval brigade of 20 guns for the defence of the town.

FIGHTING AT MAFEKING.

Boer Attack Lasted Several Days, and Fifty Were Killed—Col. Baden-Powell's Report.

Cape Town, Nov. 8.—News received from Mafeking, undated, says that Monday the Boers shelled the town. One Boer gun, it is said, was knocked out of action, and the Boers retired, were reinforced, attacked again and were repulsed. Tuesday they shelled the Cangan kopje, with little damage. Wednesday there was a general attack under the cover of artillery, but it was repulsed by the Maxim and Hotchkiss guns. The Boer loss was 50 killed. The British loss was slight. Thursday, shelling by a heavy gun was renewed, and the Boers massed with the intention of making an attack, but this was prevented by a thunderstorm. Friday there was desultory rifle firing, and an occasional shell, but there was little loss of life, due to the excellence of the shelter in the trenches. The health and spirits of the troops are good.

Col. Baden-Powell's Report.

London, Nov. 12.—The following despatch from Col. Baden-Powell, the British commandet at Mafeking, dated Oct. 25, and forwarded by General Buller, was posted last evening by the War Office:

"All is well here. After two day's shelling and a heavy bombardment a body of the enemy made a general attack on three sides of the town, which was repulsed by our Maxim fire. The enemy is now drawing off. Our casualties were slight. Lieut. Llewellyn, with several armored trains, drove off the enemy at Crocodilepool on Wednesday, killing eight."

MORE FIRING AT LADYSMITH.

British Naval Guns Were Again in Action on Thursday.

Estcourt, Natal, Thursday, Nov. 9—(Morning.)—Heavy firing is now proceeding in the direction of Ladysmith. It began at daybreak. Some reports are so much heavier than any previously heard as to lead to a general belief that the British heavy naval guns are again active.

The safe arrival at Ladysmith of Lieut. Hooper of the 5th Lancers shows that communication with the garrison is possible. He was anxious to rejoin his regiment, and started hence, accompanied by a Natal policeman. They succeeded in traversing the Boer lines.

Estcourt, Thursday afternoon, Nov. 9.—A party which rode out several miles about noon to observe the bombardment of Ladysmith, could see a Long Tom, a 40-pounder, posted on the railway side of the Bulwara, firing at intervals of six to eight minutes. Another gun was observed in operation a little distance away. Puffs of smoke were discernible on the opposite side, showing that Ladysmith was withstanding a big bombardment. The locality of the town was nothing but a huge cauldron of smoke.

Brother of Dr. Leyds Dead.

Brussels, Nov. 12.—Herr Leyds, brother of Dr. Leyds, and himself an agent of the Transvaal Government, died of apoplexy yesterday while on a visit to his brother.

Don't Want Women Doctors.

London, Nov. 12.—The Marquis of Lansdowne, Secretary of State of War, has written a letter to Miss Ward, M.D., who volunteered to go to South Africa as a physician, in which he says that, while he appreciates her offer, he is not prepared at present to allow women doctors to join the forces in the field.

Foreign Consuls at Pretoria.

Cape Town, Nov. 8.—A despatch from Pretoria dated yesterday says that the foreign consuls hold weekly meetings at the residence of the Italian diplomatic agent to discuss matters of international interest. According to the same correspondent, the Rose Deep and Fereira Deep, with ten other mines, are working. White and black labor is plentiful and the mint is busy coining gold.

To Quiet the Inhabitants.

Orange River, Nov. 8.—A squadron of the 9th Lancers, with a company of mounted infantry, reconnoitered to-day in a southeasterly direction, returning by way of Pecasville, without incident. The excursion had the effect of quieting the inhabitants of the district.

COL. KEKEWICH'S REPORT.

Sent to the War Office by Buller, of Details of Further Skirmishing at Kimberley.

London, Nov. 12.—The War Office issued the following despatch this evening from General Sir Redvers Buller, dated Cape Town, Nov. 11, 10.40 p.m.:

Col. Kekewich (British commander at Kimberley), reports that the enemy were active on Nov. 4, principally with the object of driving off cattle. The Orange Free State troops retired rapidly before Col. Turner without firing.

At 12.30 p.m. the Transvaal troops advanced on Kenilworth. Major Peakman, with a squadron of the Kimberley Light Horse, was hiding in the bush, and gave the enemy a warm reception. The Boers retired firing. Col. Turner reinforced Major Peakman, and at 12.40 p.m. the enemy opened fire with one piece of artillery at nearly 400 yards range.

Battery Did Not Get Into Action.

Two guns of the Diamond Field Artillery were sent in support of Col. Turner, but the enemy's guns had ceased firing after the fifth round. Consequently our guns did not come into action. The enemy's artillery fire was not damaging, and his shooting was bad.

Our casualties in the Kenilworth engagement was limited to Major Ayleff of the Cape police, who was wounded in the neck. He is expected to recover.

Boer Loss Heavy.

Later in the day, our pickets say, the Boers carried off six dead from one spot, probably killed by our Maxim. The total Boer loss was probably heavy, but had not been estimated by Col. Kekewich.

Turner at It Again.

About 5.30 p.m. Col. Turner was again in contact with a new body of the enemy on Schenst Drift-road. From the conning tower a large number could be plainly seen about two miles to the north of the Kimberley reservoir, and others held a walled enclosure on their own right flank. Col. Turner opened with a Maxim and two guns of the Diamond Field Artillery sent in support. He came into action at 5.47 p.m. and continued firing until dusk.

Several British Casualties.

Our further casualties there were: Pte. Lubbe of the Cape police, who was shot through the head, and who died on arriving at the hospital, and Sergt. Waterman of the Kimberley division of the Cape police, who was wounded, but is doing well. Col. Kekewich is unable to state the enemy's losses, but believes they must have been severe, judging from the precipitate retreat of the Boers.

Enemy Stuck to It.

At 6.10 p.m. the enemy opened fire with one piece of artillery from Kamposdam, on Otto's Kopje, the latter being held by the Cape police. The enemy inflicted no damage.

FURTHER DETAILS FROM GOUGH.

Boers Were at Their Old Tactics—Hills Full of Sharpshooters.

London, Nov. 12.—The War Office this morning issued the following official despatch from Cape Town, dated Sunday, Nov. 12, noon:

Col. Gough, at Orange River, reports that during the reconnaissance of 15 miles, to a point nine miles west of Belmont, on Nov. 10, the officers of the patrol first came on a Boer position, then upon a great semi-circular ridge, standing out into a plateau. They endeavored to make the Boers develop their strength by demonstrating with two squadrons of the 9th Lancers and a field battery on the left wing, with one and one-half companies of mounted infantry on the right wing, and with artillery in the middle of the plateau with infantry fire. The enemy began by firing at our cavalry from a gun at the north end.

Hills Full of Sharpshooters.

"As the cavalry, in open order, began to circle around them, the hills seemed full of sharpshooters. The mounted infantry endeavored to outflank the enemy's left, in order to discover the laager, coming under a heavy and unexpected fire from a few skirmishers.

The Enemy Withdrew.

"Our guns fired several apparently effective shots, but the enemy did not respond, having withdrawn with the wounded. The enemy did not fire on an ambulance. Col. Gough withdrew his force after a demonstration lasting three hours, and returned to camp the same afternoon, near Orange River.

Wounded at Orange River.

"The guns and a few horses were brought in by rail. The wounded were sent to Orange River immediately after the action. The enemy's strength appeared considerable, apparently 700, with one gun, under David Libbe and P. Van der Merwe."

Daily Intelligencer.

THE REASON FOR THE ANIMUS SHOWN.

The literary Chesterfield who writes the personal abuse, inaccurate information and gross indecencies which fill the columns of the senior Grit sheet is evidently carrying out his instructions to the best of his ability and to the satisfaction of his "boss." THE INTELLIGENCER is coming in for a good deal of abuse lately, but that is only to be expected when the senior Grit sheet is beaten in an argument; when they haven't a leg left to stand upon they fall back upon the old senseless cry that because Mayor Johnson gets his printing done in this office he owns the publisher and employees of the paper, body and soul.

Now, THE INTELLIGENCER is loth to enter upon a mud-slinging contest, but there is a limit to everybody's forbearance, and so we ask the indulgence of our readers for just a little while, that we may show to them the true character of the paper called the Ontario, and its proprietor.

The Ontario has had a good deal to say of late about honest civic government. It is characteristic of it that it should advocate honesty in one column and defend dishonesty in another. But people whose memories carry them back ten years will wonder if this individual who is now uttering such beautiful sentiments about honesty and civic reform is the same party who went to Mr. E. Guss Porter (then Alderman for Murney Ward) and offered him $25 if he would use his influence to have the lease renewed for a certain barn which the proprietor of The Ontario rented to the City for use as a fire station. Mr. J. W. Johnson was then Chairman of Public Works, and it was through his efforts that the present fire station on Front st. (near Victoria Park) was built. That was the act which secured for him the undying enmity of the proprietor of The Ontario.

If this should meet the eye of any dyed-in-the-wool Grits who read the Senior Grit sheet they will find a little food for thought in the following paragraph:

A short time ago the Ontario was rancorously abusing two civic employees, whose cause, in the interests of justice and fair play, THE INTELLIGENCER took up. While the shower of journalistic mud-throwing was at its height, the proprietor of the Ontario met one of the parties in question on Bridge st., and the following conversation ensued:

"Hello, Mat; I'm glad to see you. Come in and take something?"

They went in and "took something," whatever that may mean.

Then the civic employee said: "Come out here in the yard, Tom, and I'll show you that lumber you said Lew and I stole from you."

"Tom's" face got as red as an autumn sunset, and he said, confidentially: "Oh, that's all right, Mat; I haven't got any thing against you, but there are a lot of b——y old Grits come to the Ontario office and talk and I have to put those articles in to satisfy them. Don't take any notice of them."

Our readers are not "b——y old Grits," but we think that, after reading the above facts, they will be willing to take the advice of the proprietor of the Ontario, and, should any more personal and spiteful attacks appear in its columns, "Take no notice of them."

ORANGEISM IN MONTREAL.

What a change has come over the people of the Province of Quebec during the past few years. A short time ago such a scene as the following could not have taken place without riot and bloodshed. The good sense and moderation of leading members of the Orange Institution have proved to those ignorant of the principles of the Order that its object is the maintenance of equal rights rather than the destroying of them.

Let us hope the days of the Hacket riots are over. The annual church parade under the auspices of Lorne Loyal Orange Lodge No. 1373 took place Sunday afternoon, Nov. 5th, from St. Charles Club rooms, Wellington street, Point St. Charles, Montreal, to Grace Episcopal Church. All the lodges of the City of Montreal were well represented. Over 500 Orangemen left the hall at 3:30 p.m. in full regalia, headed by the Britannia Band and a standard bearer, carrying the Union Jack.

EXPLANATION WANTED—WHO IS RESPONSIBLE.

The Mail and Empire says:—

"The reason why the Government did not insure the Canadian troops is the circumstance that it did not pay the premium.

"It made all arrangements; it announced that it had completed the bargain; it allowed the men to go under the belief that the insurance had been effected.

"Then it backed out and issued a declaration that there was no truth in the report that action was contemplated.

"The malign influence had stepped in to prevent the carrying out of a good intention."

NEVER READ TRASHY BOOKS

Wholesome Advice Given by Rev. Mr. Stunden

In His Sermon at Christ Church Last Evening—The Bible is the Greatest Book—It Before All Others Should be Studied.

At Christ Church last evening Rev. A. Stunden, M.A., Curate, preached a practical and earnest discourse, touching upon the vast number of books which are issued at the present day, and the trashy reading which a large portion contain. The text was a portion of the 12th verse of chapter XII. of Ecclesiastes:

"Of making books there is no end."

What would Solomon say if he were to see the number of books in the world in these modern times. The Parliamentary Library at Ottawa contains 250,000 volumes, the Royal Library at Munich and the Imperial Library at France each 900,000 volumes and the British Museum 1,500,000 volumes. All these books have been written in comparatively recent times. As late as the year 1300 the library of the University of Oxford was locked up in a small box. In the year 1494 the Bishop of Manchester had parts of 17 books in his library. When he borrowed a Bible from the Cathedral he gave a heavy bond that he would return it safe. In those days one could easily have read all the books written, but now it would take a lifetime to even look over the books written in a single year. The question arises, what are we to do with them. We cannot read every book that is issued. We must read as many as we can of the best and let the bad and unprofitable alone. It is not in muddy streams we fish for choice fish, but in pure streams. So we ought to give our time to reading good books. Never read trashy books. It may be amusing to read them, but it is dangerous. It weakens the mind, inflames the imaginations, deadens the conscience and makes the reader look at all the world with jaundiced eyes. It debases the ideal of manhood and womanhood and sneers at the high morality of life. Read pure books and your mind will be as pure as you would have men believe it is. We cannot expect minds to be gifted with health and beauty which feed only on the most wretched mental garbage. Whenever an evil book comes in your path throw it away from you, trample it beneath your feet. Imagine that it is Satan himself endeavoring to blaspheme you with his cunning, seducing words. Never look into an unclean or an infidel production. You cannot take a snake into your bosom and not be bitten; you cannot play with fire and not be burned. You cannot open your ears to the devil's message of filth and evil, and not be haunted afterwards by his words. Scientific work can be read with profit, there is really no conflict between religion and science. The conclusions of science and the teachings of religion, may be held without the slightest inconsistency; their truths co-exist without contradiction. There is, however, but one book, the Bible. The greatest mistake a young man or woman makes is to to neglect to read the Bible. Even as a literary production, there is no such book. It is the book in which the prophets and apostles and psalmists and martyrs have hidden their hearts. It is the book in which for thousands of years the spirit of man has found light and nourishment and a sympathizing repose that is deepest in his nature, and if you would live a noble and useful life, read the Bible honestly, faithfully and affectionately, as a message from your Father in Heaven. It will make you better, stronger, happier and braver. It will be your dearest and most intimate friend. It will be the right food in your life, and the best preparation for eternity.

SEASONABLE HINTS.

Guard Your Health in Fall and Early Winter.

A change from warm to cold is always attended with more danger than from a cold to a warm temperature, hence the greater mortality from lung and throat diseases at this season of the year as compared with spring.

The best protection against colds is not so much in extra clothing as in good digestion.

If the digestion and circulation are good, colds will be unknown.

Poor digestion causes poor circulation of the blood and when in this condition severe colds are contracted on the slightest provocation.

People who make a regular practice of taking Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after meals are free from colds, simply because their digestion is perfect, the heart strong and regular, and the whole system fortified against disease.

It requires little argument to convince anyone that the best safeguard against colds, pneumonia and changes of temperature is a good stomach.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets taken after meals are dissolved and mingling with the food cause it to be promptly digested and assimilated; they do this because they contain nothing but harmless digestive elements, which digest meat, eggs and other food even when the stomach itself is weak and flaccid.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets make people well and keep them well, and the best habit you can acquire is to make the daily use of them at meals to keep the digestive organs strong and vigorous.

SNAP SHOTS AT TIMELY TOPICS.

—From the interest created by The Ontario's article last night we may expect to find the old favorite epithets, "puppy," "boy," "Ananias," "low down Grit sheet," etc., once more in the columns of our esteemed contemporary, the Senior Tory organ.—Ontario, Nov. 11. The Ontario knows well what adjectives describe its character.

—The moment it was known that Mrs. Brown-Potter had succeeded in securing the patronage of the Prince of Wales for the Cafe Chantant, which American performers are to give Nov. 18 for the benefit of the hospital ship Maine, which American women are equipping for service in South African waters, the success of that entertainment was assured.

—The visitation that descended upon the land of Pharaoh is still of yearly occurrence in the Transvaal. When a swarm of locusts, consisting of many millions, settles on a farm, it covers the ground so thickly that crops are destroyed and cattle die from want of food.

—Two burglars entered the flat of a woman in New York. The woman surprised them at work. One of them tried to brain her with a jimmy. His pal prevented him. The bad burglar was captured by the police. The good burglar escaped with $400 worth of jewelry. Thus virtue is proved again to be its own reward.

How Japanese Catarrh Cure Cures Nasal Catarrh.

Japanese Catarrh Cure is a penetrating, soothing and healing pomade, which is inserted up the nostrils by a small camel's hair pencil. The heat of the body melts this pomade and the patient breathes the soothing medication through the nostrils, and the nasal channels open up. The stuffed-up feeling in the head leaves, and the person can breathe naturally through the nose. The dull pains across the head cease. Continual use for a short time soothes the mucous membrane until the soreness and inflammation are all gone. The bad odor of the breath passes away, and the lost sense of smell and hearing return. The dropping in the throat is permanently checked, and the nose does not stop up towards night. The discharge from the nose grows less and less, and finally stops altogether. It does not drive the disease into the throat or lungs or into the ears, as so often is done by washes, douches and the temporary relief catarrh powders and snuffs which contain cocaine and other fatal alkaloids, which relieve at the time, but give rise to a false security. Japanese Catarrh Cure is a thorough antiseptic, is cleansing and healing in its action, and soothes the minute applied. Six boxes are absolutely guaranteed to cure any case of nasal catarrh or money will be refunded. A free sample will be sent to any person suffering from this most dangerous disease. Enclose 5 cent stamp. Sold by all druggists, 50 cents. Six for $2.50, or by mail. Address the Griffiths & Macpherson Co., 121 Church st., Toronto. Sold by D. M. Waters, cor. Front and Bridge sts.

Whene'er contending princes fight
For private pique or public right,
Armies are raised, the fleets are manned;
They combat both by sea and land.

When, after many battles past,
Both, tired of blows, make peace at last,
What is it, after all, the people get?
Why taxes, widows, wooden-legs and debt.

THE CROCODILE.

How He Differs From His Cousin, the Alligator—More Flexibly Built, More Pugnacious and Ferocious.

At least ten species of the crocodile are known to science, one species being indigenous to Florida. The difference between the crocodile and the alligator is very marked; the head of the crocodile is longer and narrower, the teeth fewer and whiter, the two lower front tusks fitting into holes in the upper jaw—a feature absent in the alligator. The crocodile is also more flexibly built, is more ferocious and far more pugnacious. It is also more crafty and cunning and keener eyed in the pursuit of its prey. Florida waters abounding in food, the crocodile has the ferocity of its nature excited by hunger, but when alarmed it plunges into the river or bay and hastens seaward at full speed until out of all danger of a possible foe. Its great speed in the water is owing to its powerful tail, which propels it after the manner of a man sculling a boat. It prefers flight to fight, yet if compelled to defend itself becomes a foeman worthy of the boldest hunter. The feet are webbed and it can also paddle gently along with them. The teeth are not made for masticating, for when possible it swallows its prey entire. They are hollow at the base ... the crowns of new ... ones, so as the saurian increases in size he continues to drop the old teeth and new ones take their places.

The ugly and ferocious crocodile is provided with a throat valve which effectually prevents the water from running down it, and also enables it to secure and drown its prey under water. The nostrils, placed at the extremity of its long nose, permit it to breathe at its ease, while the unfortunate animal captured drowns beneath the surface of the water. Moreover, it can exist a considerable length of time without breathing. In this way the reptile is able to conceal itself when it suspects danger.

The nest of the crocodile differs from that of his cousin, the alligator, and shows a great similarity to the turtle's. The eggs are laid in a hole and then smoothly covered with sand, the precaution making them difficult to find. A year ago a crocodile nest was discovered by a hunter and the eggs presented to the Smithsonian Institution and the Philadelphia Academy of Natural Science. A few of the eggs were boxed in sand by the hunter, with the result of hatching one baby "Crocodilus Americanus." The little wriggler is very valuable, as it is said to be one of three captive specimens anywhere.

To the "Conchs," or wreckers, who live on the coral keys, the sight of the crocodile excites but little interest, for, ugly and dangerous as he looks, he has been taught by them that man is to be feared. These natives claim that they have seen crocodiles eighteen feet long in the lower end of the Biscayne Bay.

The crocodile, being an expert swimmer, lives largely on fish in Florida waters, but the testimony of old hunters proves that its cunning nature is the same, whether it be the Americanus or the much dreaded reptile of the Nile. It does not attack openly, neither will it go ashore for its prey, but will watch for hours for animals or birds to come to the water to drink; then, diving rapidly, it appears under its victim and drags it beneath the surface. Should the intended prey be too far from the water to be reached by the huge mouth it strikes a blow with the tail and knocks it into the water.

Many herons and other water birds of Florida meet a sudden death from this crafty reptile, whose manoeuvers would do credit to the cunning fox.—Detroit Journal.

THE METRIC SYSTEM.

What Sir Henri Joly de Lotbiniere Says of It.

The metric system is at present used by all civilized nations, with the exception of Great Britain, the United States and Russia. Indications point to its early adoption in the United States and Great Britain, partly because of its superiority and partly out of necessity for the preservation of their foreign trade, which is handicapped in competition with foreign manufacturers, who derive considerable advantage by the use of weights and measures with which their customers are familiar and under which they run no special risk of mistake.

We must gradually prepare for the adoption of the metric system in Canada. If we compare the two we shall soon find out how much the metric system of weights and measures is preferable to our present confused and irrational system, just as we found some years ago how much easier it was to calculate in dollars and cents than in pounds, shillings and pence. The whole metric system is based on a single unit, the metre, a measure of length one ten-millionth part of the distance between the equator and the pole. True a slight error has been discovered in that measurement, which prevents it from being theoretically perfect.

However much this may be regretted it does not interfere with the special advantages of the system over all others which consists in its being built and entirely based upon that one single unit of length, the metre, so that not only length, breadth and depth, but weight and capacity for both liquids and solids are all deducted from the metre and fractions thereof, with the additional improvement that all calculations are on the decimal principle, both for fractions and multiples.

A long step ahead in quality
—yet never ahead in price.

The subject to-day is Overcoats.

Naturally, with so many handsome lines, we are anxious to introduce you to our elegant garments—anxious to again demonstrate the superiority of the "Quick & Robertson quality"—anxious to show you that selections from our fashionable, new Overcoats are not priced higher than garments of unknowable age and uncertain quality are marked elsewhere.

Overcoats for Gentlemen, $4 to $14.

Colors of Oxford Grey, Iron Grey, Soft Dark Grey, Black, Blue and Brown.

At $10 we show a beautiful All-wool English Beaver Overcoat with Silk Velvet Collar and stitched with silk throughout, best of linings and interlinings, and that graceful fit for which our garments are so well known.

Overcoats are cut a trifle longer this year, with plump fullness of body, roomy sleeves, shapely shoulders, and velvet collars not quite as wide as last year.

Fall Top Coats—full lines—$5 to $10.

TRUST THRUSTS.

The beef trust feels that it has a right to bull prices.

It will be noticed by observing reformers that the bicycle trust makes no bones whatever of proclaiming that it is going into the business to curtail competition and tilt prices. The bicycle trust is cheerful and breezy.

In spite of the pressure brought to bear against the trust movement, it is probable that it will not cease until every industry worth "combining" has passed through that process. It must be that that point has been almost reached. —Minneapolis Times.

An almond trust has been formed, and the toothsome nut of tropic clime will cost a lot of money the coming winter. This circumstance should be the golden opportunity for that glorious and thoroughly representative American product, the peanut, to seize the field and become "the real thing" in the daintiest confections.

THE NURSERY.

Scalds and burns are more fatal in children than in adults. The blisters arising from them should never be cut.

Do not startle a child. Many nervous diseases can be traced to a sudden noise or alarming object frightening and startling the infant.

Every part of a child's body should be warmly clad except the head. To keep the head too warm increases the tendency to brain disease, so very common among children nowadays.

E. D. GOUGH IN POLICE COURT.

Formerly a Well-Known Merchant, Now Accused of Vagraucy and Assault

Toronto Star:—The spectacle of a man who at one time conducted the biggest clothing business in the middle counties appearing in a police court dock on a charge of vagrancy was witnessed in Magistrate Denison's court to-day. The accused was E. D. Gough, or "Gough, the cheap man," as he is known around Belleville and Lindsay. The first information charged him with assaulting his wife, but as this defendant, a charge of vagrancy was laid and he was remanded until Thursday.

Liquor, it is alleged, has been Gough's bane. He appeared this morning, minus collar and tie, but wearing a fashionable light overcoat.

Their Business Booming.

Probably no one thing has caused such a general revival of trade at J. S. McKeown's Drug store as their giving away to their many customers of so many free trial bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Their trade is simply enormous in this very valuable remedy, from the fact that it always cures and never disappoints. Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup and all throat and lung troubles are quickly cured. You can test it before buying by getting a trial bottle free. Large size 50c. and $1.00. Every bottle warranted.

THE LOTTERY OF THE YUKON.

A Matter of Chance and Luck to Secure Paying Claims—Mr. Wills in Toronto.

Toronto Star:—Mr. H. T. Wills, manager of the Dawson branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, arrived in Toronto to-day and is at the Queen's. He left Orangeville little more than a year ago and has been in the gold metropolis until September 26.

Mr. Wills is satisfied with the out-put of the gold region and has no anxiety about its future. The gold output for the year was $15,000,000.

"The gold yield is varied," said Mr. Wills, when I interviewed him to-day. "One claim will be very rich and can easily afford to pay the 10 per cent. royalty, while the very next claim will be without value at all. It is very much of a lottery."

Mr. Wills says that Dawson is thriving and the inhabitants are happy. There are about 5,000 people in the place.

Mr. Wills will remain in Ontario during the winter and return to Dawson in March.

[The Mr. Wills above referred to is a son of Mr. Thos. Wills, County Treasurer.]

The War Office has received several despatches from Col. Baden-Powell giving particulars of desperate fighting around Mafeking on Oct. 24, 25, 30 and 31.

Several Boer attacks were repulsed with heavy loss to the enemy. The British loss was eleven killed, including two officers, and fourteen wounded.

Four troopships arrived at Cape Town yesterday with strong detachments of the army corps, and two of them were ordered to Durban.

A reported attack upon Ladysmith resulting in a repulse for the Boers is not confirmed.

Chaplain Matthews of Col. Carleton's captured column has reached Lorenzo Marquez and tells a remarkable story of the disaster.

KILLED AT DESERONTO

Sad Fate of a Section Man on the B. of Q. Railway Yesterday.

(Special to the INTELLIGENCER.)

Deseronto, Nov. 13.—Shortly before noon to-day a man named John Kane was killed at Deseronto Junction. He was a section man on the Bay of Quinte Railway and was standing on the track near an engine and tender that was shunting cars. It is supposed that he was watching a Grand Trunk train pass and did not notice the B. of Q. engine which was backing towards him. He was struck by the tender and thrown across the rails and the wheels of the tender and engine passed over him severing his body through the chest. He has only been working here for a few days and is a stranger. He was past middle age. The remains were taken to the vault of the Deseronto cemetery.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING

That Oom Taste is going to make a sortie into Ontario before long.

That the Veterans are wondering if Santa Claus is going to bring those medals.

That a good many of the despatches which come by way of Amsterdam are Amsterdam nonsense.

That the frost will give the farmers a rest and merchants will soon see the color of their money.

That complaints are made of coal thieves in some localities. Put a padlock on the woodshed door.

That there is some doubt as to what Britain will do with the Transvaal after she has conquered it, but it is a sad fact that large portions of the country will be used to bury brave men in.

That the Kingston Royal Military College has had its baptism of blood. The first of its graduates to fall in battle was Lieut. C. C. Wood, of the North Lancashire. There are still 115 of the College's graduates in the British army. Not a bad showing, by any means.

That we have a juvenile terror in our midst who is a letter writer. We have been handed one of his epistles. Here it is:

DEAR WILLIE,—I rite to let you no how things are going on in the butiful City of the Bay. The sites have been cold laitly, and the mud has all froze up, but people seem to find a good deal to throw at your old friends T. & B. Jiggers and A. Wallpaper. We are havin grate fun here now bilding bonfires with Sir Richard Cartyites speech. Nearly every house in the city has got a dozzen of 'em. We have got speeches to burn. Ha! ha! as the fellow in Fowst said. The steem roller has bin laid up for the winter. There is sum talk of gittin up steem and runnin the roller around the town to try and make things smooth for the man that runs against Johnson, but most people think it will take more than a steem roller to do that. They say they are goin to change the name of Queen street to Queen street, because the roadway is so smooth and nice there. Ever Yure old frend Georgy. P.S.—More anon.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL

Toronto News:—Thomas Roberts, a student in Charles Miller's law office, who kept $110 of his employer's money, which should have been paid out for renewals and other such purposes, was Monday committed for trial by Magistrate Denison on a charge of theft. A RUFFIANLY ACT

Incendiarism and Vandalism Near Madoc Village.

Moira Lake (or Hog Lake, as it is more familiarly known) is a beautiful sheet of water near the village of Madoc. The scenery adjoining is also picturesque and in consequence it is a delightful summer resort. A large number of the residents of the village have built summer residences about the shores, and during the heated term, in company with their families, enjoy the breeze and pleasures of such a spot. Amongst those who have cottages there are Messrs. A. F. Wood, ex-M. P. P., A. B. Ross, Fred Seymour, W. H. O'Flynn, P. Sinclair, D. W. Wright, M. Maybee, A. Coe and J. Mouncey.

On Saturday night last some evil disposed persons visited these cottages and ransacked them all, taking everything of value and even damaging the building. Bedding, dishes, cooking utensils, etc., were purloined. Not content with this vandalism, whether from carelessness or with malicious intent, three of the buildings were burnt down. They were the property of Messrs. A. F. Wood, A.B. Ross and F. Seymour. Whether the contents were all removed before the fire started is not known, as the buildings were all reduced to ashes. The loss on the three buildings is estimated at about $2,000.

At present there is no clue to the perpetrators of this ruffianly act, but if they should be found out their punishment will be severe.

A SAD ACCIDENT

Befel Mr. Philip O. Roblin Yesterday Afternoon—Is in a Critical Condition.

At about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon an accident befel Mr. Philip O. Roblin, who resides on Foster avenue, the outcome of which at present it is difficult to foretell.

The unfortunate man, in company with Mr. P. Blakely, was removing some articles from Mr. Geo. Flower's residence on Pine street. They had completed loading a waggon, on top of which were some boards and a boiler weighing nearly 100 pounds. Mr. Blakely a rted to drive whilst Mr. Roblin stood on the load holding the boiler. The rig had proceeded but a short distance when one of the boards moved and Mr. Roblin was precipitated to the ground and some of the boards and the boiler fell upon him. It was at once seen that he was seriously injured and as soon as possible the ambulance was summoned and the injured man conveyed to the hospital, where a physician was waiting to attend him. He was unconscious and remained in this condition for some hours. His injuries consisted of scalp wounds, hurt about the chest and spine injured. On sadering his age, 72 years, his case, to say the least, is critical. The family of the unfortunate man reside on Foster ave.

Enquiry at the hospital to-day elicited the information that he was in a serious condition.

BY FRED WHISHAW.

As a matter of fact Percy had scarcely been a week away when one evening, to our intense excitement, we received a telegram laconically worded as follows:

I think I've got him. Will wire again presently. Percy.

CHAPTER VIII.

IDENTIFIED BY PHOTOGRAPH.

It was but a few hours after the receipt of Percy's first telegram that a second message arrived. Percy now wired that he had succeeded in discovering "Robinson's address," which we were not slow to understand was intended to intimate that he had tracked father or his double—whichever it was—to some house in which he lived. Percy's telegram finished up with the words "starting back tonight." So that in three days we should know all that he had to tell us.

These three days were passed—by me at least—in a condition of suspense and anxiety difficult to be borne. I could settle down to nothing; neither did our little detective display any marked degree of dignified calm. He was greatly excited, and we spent the time together in playing billiards at home and discussing at great length and with much vain repetition the chances for and against the success of Percy's efforts. Borofsky was, though much excited, quite sanguine and almost confident that for some inexplicable reason my poor father had fled to London without warning mother of his departure and that Percy had accidentally found him there. He would not discuss the question as to why father should have done this. There would be plenty of time for explanations, he said, afterward. The main point now was to make sure that the count was safe and well and to know where to find him at any moment. It might not even be necessary to bring him back at once should he have good reason to desire to remain away. There might be financial troubles or a quarrel with the authorities.

"Both utterly impossible, Borofsky!" I said. "My father is a rich man, and the authorities from the lowest chinovnik to the czar respect and esteem him."

"My dear young sir," said Borofsky, "neither you nor I can see in the dark. Rather than grope about and knock his shins against the furniture the wise man will wait for light, and so will we!"

We had not mentioned to mother the object of Percy's trip to London. She had naturally concluded that he had business of his own to attend to, and was pleased and grateful when he promised her, at parting, that he would not be absent long and would return to help me in my discouraging task of finding father so soon as ever he could get away. We met Percy on the afternoon of the third day, and as Borofsky and I tramped the platform of the Warnsw station, awaiting the arrival of his train, I, for one, was in such a state of excitement and expectation that I had not a word to say to my companion by reason of the quaking of my jaws and the rapid beating of my heart, and I fancy Borofsky, though he had so much less at stake on the result of Percy's trip, was not much less agitated than I to hear what he should have to tell us.

Slowly and laboriously the train dragged itself into the station, as Russian trains do. There is none of that fine rushing in at full speed and pulling up short at the very platform in the admirable manner of our English engine drivers. The poor old Russian engine, a lumbering, wood burning thing, has had an immense distance to go, you see, and is no doubt so tired that it can scarcely drag itself and its heavy load of carriages into the haven where it would be. However, Percy's train crawled slowly and mournfully in at last, and out jumped Percy.

I could see at once by his radiant face and the pleased smile with which he greeted us that the dear old fellow had been successful, or believed himself to have succeeded, in his enterprise. I sprang to him and seized his hand.

"Well, old man," I murmured, scarcely able for excitement to articulate the words, "what luck?"

"The very best, as I sincerely believe!" said Percy, pressing my hand very hard. "I found the man, as I telegraphed, and I know where he lives and"—

"Oh, is it father?" I blurted, a sort of black mist seeming to form before my eyes for very intensity of excitement.

"Dear old Boris, I firmly believe it is," said Percy. "I cannot say for certain, but there could hardly be another so like him that I could be mistaken about. He has no twin brother, has he?"

"Oh, no!" I murmured. "I think it must be he. But why, why"— I did not finish my sentence. I believe I burst into tears and was hurried into the carriage by Percy and Borofsky. There were not very many people about, the train having been nearly empty. I hope there were few witnesses to my weakness.

Borofsky took up the conversation in the carriage. "So you think it is really the count?" he began. "Tell me, did you get a snap shot?"

"I got three," said Percy with pride, "and was not caught at it. Twice, I know, he did not even see or notice me. The third time he looked straight at me and suspected me, I suppose, for he asked what I was doing.

"'This is a hand camera,' I said, 'and I've just taken a snap shot of Marylebone church, with your kind permission.' He only grunted and passed on." Percy paused and chuckled.

"How did he talk English?" I asked.

"Rather brokenly—but that was all he said, so that I cannot judge very well."

"My father speaks perfectly, as you know," I said.

"It is nothing!" exclaimed Borofsky. "He would assume a foreign accent, supposing that he does not wish to be recognized as the count. Are the portraits successful?"

"The photos are not developed yet," replied Percy. "We'll do them together after dinner, or before, if there's time."

The developing of those three plates was an exciting operation. The printing from the negatives next morning was even more so. The prints represented a man whose dress and general appearance were plebeian altogether unlike my dear patrician looking old father, but the face—so far as I could judge of it from a portrait, and that a very small and not overclearly printed one—was my father's face. There was little or no doubt of it.

"Well!" said Borofsky, when I had made a prolonged and silent inspection of each of the three photos. "In a word, is it the count or is it not?"

"Heaven only knows," I murmured. "The clothes and the hat are things that father would never think of wearing."

[TO BE CONTINUED.]

KILLED IN G. T. R. YARD.

"Dad" Fee, Hamilton's Best Known Hackman, is Dead.

Hamilton, Ont., Nov. 14.—Thomas Fee, the best known hackman in Hamilton, was killed in the Stuart street yard of the G.T.R. last evening. He jumped on the west bound train to give a trav'ler two baggage checks, and while he was aboard, the train moved out. It is supposed he fell under the train when he jumped off, for a yard engine which followed the train, passed over his body, cutting off a leg and an arm. He was dead when the engineer of the yard engine reached him. Mr. Fee was known as "Dad," and has driven a hack here for over 45 years—since he was 12 or 14 years of age. He leaves a widow and six children.

A BUSINESS MAN SUICIDES.

Manager of Provincial Trust Co. at Toronto Shoots Himself.

Toronto, Nov. 14.—Andrew Rutherford, manager of the Provincial Trust Company, and a highly respected citizen, was found dead in his room at the family residence, 21 Prince Arthur avenue, yesterday morning, by his wife. Mr. Rutherford had been suffering from ill health for nearly a year, and for some time past had given away to melancholia, worrying over imaginary troubles. Physicians found that he had shot himself in the back of the head, the bullet going in at the back of the brain and out through the top of the head, death being instantaneous.

Drunken Tailor Shot Himself.

Drunken sailor shot himself.

Hamilton, Nov. 14. — William Roach, a tailor, while on a drunken spree late last night, fired a shot at a woman on Wood street. The bullet went wide, not striking the woman. Roach then placed the revolver at his own head and fired. The bullet entered above the left ear, and Roach fell to the sidewalk. P.C. Knox was soon on the spot, and had the wounded man conveyed to the General Hospital in the ambulance. The doctors removed the lead after considerable probing. Roach was in a critical condition at midnight, and it is not likely he will recover.

Germans Chastised Cannibals.

Liverpool, Nov. 14.—The British steamer Volta, from the German Cameroons, West Africa, which arrived here yesterday, reports that a German punitive expedition in the Cameroons recently chastised a tribe of rebellious cannibals, who had besieged several trading stations at and near Kribi. The Germans chased the natives into the bush, killing 200. It was reported, according to the captain of the Volta, that numbers of the slain were decapitated, their heads being stuck on poles in the interior towns to strike terror to the inhabitants.

A Friendless Man Killed.

Kingston, Ont., Nov. 14. — John Kane, aged 60 years, unmarried and an Imperial army pensioner, was instantly killed at Desoronto Junction at noon yesterday. Deceased belonged to Kingston and went up to Desoronto Saturday to work on the Grand Trunk track as a section hand. He stepped from the track to allow a train to pass and was struck by a train on the other track. The body was cut in two and horribly mangled. He did not have any friends.

James Gunn Gone to Cairo.

Kingston, Ont., Nov. 14. — James Gunn, son of Postmaster Alexander Gunn, left yesterday for Cairo, Egypt, where he has secured a position on the railroad owned by the British Government. Mr. Gunn will be under the direction of Major Girouard, a graduate of the Royal Military College.

The Dube Murder Case.

Montreal, Nov. 14. — A rumor which the authorities will neither deny nor confirm, is printed by The Soleil that the prisoner, David Dube, of Lake Beauport, accused of the murder of the nun Mooney, has confessed his guilt and implicated the wife of the deceased. Mr. Simons, the seigneur of the parish, and other residents, declare that the murder did not much surprise them.

Identified.

Toronto, Nov. 14. — Warden Gilmour of the Central Prison yesterday identified from a photograph the murderer of J. E. Varco as Joseph W. Curtis, who was convicted at Kingston in June, 1897, on a charge of attempting to shoot. He served a term of 23 months in the institution and was employed in the kitchen.

"This is a hand camera," I said, "and I've just taken a snap shot."

DIED IN HIS OFFICE.

E. Jones Parke, Q.C., Police Magistrate of London, Suddenly Called.

London, Ont., Nov. 14.—E. Jones Parke, Q.C., Police Magistrate, died suddenly in his private office at 2.50 yesterday afternoon. He had not been feeling very well during the early part of the day and had a conversation with his partner, Mr. Purdom, and also his son, in regard to his health in general, leaving them to consult his physician, Dr. Woodruff, who informed him that he had heart trouble, from which old people often suffered. He then returned to his office and conversed upon several matters of business. An hour later he was dead.

Ephraim Jones Parke was born Nov. 3, 1823, and was the oldest son of the late Thomas Parke, who was Surveyor-General in the Baldwin-Lafontaine Administration. He was educated at the London Grammar School and at Toronto. He studied law with the late Judge John Wilson and with Sir John A. Macdonald in Kingston. He was called to the bar in 1846 and was appointed Q.C. in 1888 by the Dominion Government. He was appointed police magistrate about 20 years ago.

ON CASQUET ROCKS AGAIN.

Belgian Steamer Foundered and 18 Out of a Crew of 26 Were Drowned.

London, Nov. 14.—On Friday night the Belgian steamer Belgique, Antwerp for Alexandria, foundered off the Casquet rocks, near the Island of Alderney, the scene of the tragic disaster which last March befell the London and Southwestern Railway Company's passenger steamer Stella. The night was stormy. A boat was launched with sixteen men, but five of these died of exhaustion and three others were drowned in the endeavor of the ship Saint Kilda to rescue them. Eighteen persons, including the captain, out of a total crew of 26, are believed to have been drowned.

MAKING TRAILS ON THE YUKON.

Dawson City Can Now Be Reached Without Encountering Rapids.

Vancouver, B.C., Nov. 13.—J. McArthur, the Dominion Surveyor who has been in charge of a large party in the Yukon country for the past three months, returned to the city last night and took train for Ottawa to-day. The object of his season's work was to make trails along the Yukon River, so as to enable travel to reach Dawson during the winter without the danger and trouble that have hitherto been the case. With this end in view, the party cut some what over 100 miles of trails, the Yukon River, so as to enable travelers to building some 50 miles of trails. The result is that the Rink Rapids, White Horse, Fifty Mile, and Five Fingers can now be avoided in winter journeying to Dawson, and in the coming winter this advantage

GRAND TRUNK CONFERENCE.

Superintendent and Employees Expect to Reach Settlement.

Montreal, Nov. 14.—The conference between the committee of the Grand Trunk freight conductors and Mr. McGuigan, the general superintendent of the road, was resumed in Mr. McGuigan's office yesterday. It is probable that the meetings will continue daily during the present week, at the end of which time it is expected that all the matters in discussion will have been settled. Both Mr. McGuigan and the committee deny the statements published in Toronto papers to the effect that serious dissatisfaction exists among the employes at the reception of the committee by the head officials here. It is denied that there is any probability of a strike, or even of serious difference arising between the men and the management.

Russian Advance Toward Herat.

London, Nov. 14.—The Times publishes a communication this morning from its St. Petersburg correspondent, who discusses the recent rumors of a Russian advance toward Herat. The correspondent thinks that, although these rumors are without foundation, there can be no doubt that the Russian military authorities are preparing for an advance to Herat in certain eventualities, such as the death or abdication of the Ameer of Afghanistan, which would lead to disturbances.

The Company owns over twelve thousand acres of rich copper land in Texas, opened, tested, developed and NOW BEING OPERATED. Millions of tons of copper bearing clay and marl running from five to ten per cent., and large quantities of ore carrying from fifty to seventy per cent. copper in sight. Cheaply mined and treated, favorable climate, cheap fuel, and ample water. Stated by geologists, chemists, experts and engineers to be one of the greatest and best in the world. Amount of land, quantity and quality of ore, cheapness of mining and treatment, the increasing demand and profit in producing copper considered, the Boston and Texas Copper Company possesses unequalled advantages and affords the best kind of an investment.

This Company can produce copper as cheaply as any in the world.

COPPER MINING IS THE SAFEST AND MOST PROFITABLE OF ALL INDUSTRIES.

Calumet and Hecla ore averages 4 1-2 per cent. copper. It has paid $62,850,000 dividends
Tamarack ore averages 3 per cent. It has paid $5,910,000 in dividends.
Atlantic ore averages 85-100 of 1 per cent. It has paid $780,000 in dividends.
Boston and Montana ore runs 7 per cent. It has paid $10,775,000 in dividends.
Franklin ore averages 1 37-100 per cent. It has paid $1,290,000 in dividends.
The Quincy ore averages 1 8-10 per cent. It has paid $11,070,000.

THE AVERAGE OF BOSTON & TEXAS ORE IS OVER 50 PER CENT., and of copper marls and clays from 5 to 10 per cent. Both the ore, marl and clay are within a few feet of the surface of the ground, so that the expense of mining and hoisting is minimized. A party of New England capitalists who have just returned from an examination of the mines in conjunction with one of the ablest mining engineers in the country, report the property to be one of the largest and best in America, and to contain inexhaustible quantities of rich copper deposits.

It is estimated that the plant now being arranged for will produce $3,000 to $5,000 per day, NET.

Prospectus, engineers' reports, assays and full information will be furnished on application. Remit by check, P. O. order, draft or registered letter to Treasurer.

For coughs, colds, bronchitis and all lung and throat troubles, there is no preparation or medicine can compare with Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which causes difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relief to that depressing tightness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and huskiness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous. If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety, trouble and expense, let them procure a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the Syrup according to directions.

At Death's Door—Dyspepsia Conquered. A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. Totally Deaf.—Mr. S. E. Crandell, Port Perry, writes—"I contracted a severe cold last winter, which resulted in my becoming totally deaf in one ear and partially so in the other. After trying various remedies, and consulting several doctors, without obtaining any relief, I was advised to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

How to Cure Headache.—Some people suffer untold misery day after day with headache. There is rest neither day or night until the nerves are all unstrung. As a safe family medicine Parmelee's Vegetable Pills can be given in all cases requiring a cathartic.

MR. TARTE GOING TO PARIS.

He Asks: "What is the Use of Killing Myself Here?"

Port Hope Conservatives—Rattling Speech by Mr. W. F. Maclean, M.P.—Mr. Whitney Makes a Great Speech at Arnprior—Sir Charles Tupper and Hon. Hugh John Macdonald at Portage La Prairie.

Montreal, Nov. 13.—(Special.)—There is something in the wind, and it concerns Hon. Mr. Tarte. Either the Minister of Public Works has resigned, or he is to have a long holiday in Paris, still retaining his portfolio in the Ottawa Cabinet. There can be no doubt that Mr. Tarte's face is already turned Parisward. Mme. Tarte and her daughters have already engaged passage, and will leave for Europe before the end of the present week. On Saturday Mr. Tarte was heard to say: "What is the use of killing myself here?" So there can be little doubt that the Minister has decided to leave the country for a while, Sir Wilfrid Laurier thinking, perhaps, that the storm will have passed ere long.

No Election Just Now.

It may also be said that there will be no election just now, and that it is not probable that Mr. Tarte will be in his place at the next session of Parliament.

Mr. Maclean at Port Hope.

Port Hope, Nov. 13.—(Special.)—The Conservatives of this town met to-night for the election of officers. Those chosen were: President, James McLean; first president, Samuel Purser; treasurer, Arthur Lang; secretary, Johnston Beatty; assistant-secretary, C. A. Merrifield.

Forty-five delegates to the annual meeting of the constituency were also elected. A motion of confidence in the Conservative leader, Sir Charles Tupper, was moved by T. D. Craig, M.P., and Mr. Harry Ward, in short speeches. A motion favorable to Mr. J. P. Whitney and the Opposition in the Legislature was also carried. It was moved by Dr. Might and Mr. T. B. Chalk.

A motion favorable to Canada aiding Britain in the war in South Africa was unanimously carried and emphasized by the singing of the National Anthem.

W. F. Maclean, M.P., who was in town, made a short and rattling speech before the meeting closed.

Mr. Whitney at Arnprior.

Arnprior, Ont., Nov. 13.—The Conservatives held their first and only public meeting in the present campaign here this evening. The commodious Town Hall was packed to the doors by an audience which displayed much enthusiasm. Dr. Armstrong, president of the Liberal Conservative Association, was chairman. The speakers were Mr. J. P. Whitney, leader of the Opposition; the candidate, Mr. T.W. McGarry; Hon. Peter White, and William S. J. Dempsey, the defeated Conservative candidate at the last Provincial election. Mr. Whitney's address was a powerful arraignment of the Government, most of the time being taken up with an exposure of the South Ontario scandals and the course of the Government in connection therewith. The election takes place to-morrow, and both parties appear confident. A close contest is expected.

Sir Charles at Portage la Prairie.

Winnipeg, Nov. 13.—(Special.)—Sir Charles Tupper had a great reception to-night at Portage la Prairie. His tour along the line of the M. & N. W. Railway was a series of ovations. When he arrived at Minnedosa a large crowd of people had assembled at the station, with a brass band, which played patriotic airs. A procession was formed and marched through the principal streets of the town, which had been decorated for the occasion. One noticeable feature was an arch surmounted by the motto, "Welcome, Sir Charles."

At the hotel a reception was held. A crowded mass meeting was held in the evening. The hall was decorated with bunting, portraits of the leaders and mottoes such as "Welcome to the Old Cumberland War Horse," "The G. O. M. of Canada," "Sir Charles for the Dominion," "Hugh John for Manitoba," "Well Done, Sir Charles, $1,000,000 for the Boys for the Transvaal."

Dr. Roche, M.P., first addressed the meeting, criticizing the Government on their policy, and claiming that the Conservatives had been true tariff reformers.

Sir Charles in his speech dealt principally with the address recently delivered by Hon. William Paterson, Minister of Customs.

AGUINALDO'S SECRETARY TAKEN.

Also Said That the Chief Himself is Surrounded.

Manila, Nov. 13.—Gen. Young is supposed to have reached San Nicolas, about 30 miles east of Dagupan, but his wagons are far behind.

Col. Hayes has captured Aguinaldo's secretary, and Major Coleman is in Carranglan, with an escort of 175 Bolomen, on his way to the Province of Neuva Vizaya.

The son of Gen. Llaneras and his family are prisoners. The general barely escaped.

Aguinaldo Surrounded.

The correspondent of the Associated Press with Gen. Young telegraphs from San Jose that Aguinaldo did not escape to the northeast. He and his army, the correspondent adds, are surrounded. His last orders to the Filipino commander at San Jose were to hold San Jose and Carranglan at all costs.

LADYSMITH STILL HOLDS OUT

Preparations For the Relief of Gen. Sir Geo. Stewart White.

Transports Carrying 12,800 Men Have Arrived at Cape Town, of Which 6,000 Troops Are Now on Their Way to Durban to Relieve White — British Casualties at Mafeking.

London, Nov. 14.—(4.50 a.m.)—The paucity of news from the front still leaves the chief interest centred in the arrival of the reinforcements. Estcourt despatches say that heliograph communication has been established with Ladysmith, but so far no news has been received, the latest date being Nov. 6th, which shows that the occupants of Ladysmith had had no news of the outside world since Gen. French reached Pietermaritzburg, and that they were puzzled at the inactivity of the Boers. Everyone was confident and cheerful, but all were suffering the inconveniences of the siege, bread selling at three shillings per loaf.

Col. Baden-Powell's dashing stories at Mafeking encouraged the hope that the British garrison along the western border are all able to hold out.

At Kimberley.

Mr. Cecil Rhodes is employing thousands, white and black, at Kimberley, in road making, as a remedy for destitution.

According to a despatch from De Aar the Boers at Kimberley have got the exact range of the mines and are constantly throwing shells at the dynamite huts. Several of the latter have been blown up and the damage done to the mines already amounts to many thousand pounds.

Among the stories from Brussels, is one that Gen. Joubert and Sir George White have been endeavoring to negotiate for the capitulation of Ladysmith, but have failed to come to terms.

Lord Salisbury and Lord Wolseley were guests of the Queen at Windsor Castle last night.

Mr. Rudyard Kipling has donated £20 and some books to the fund for fitting out the hospital ship Maine.

Father Matthew's Story.

The story of Father Matthews, cabled from Lorenzo Marquez, regarding the surrender at Nicholson's Nek, is too vague to be very convincing; but in military circles it is considered unpleasant reading, and it will be impossible to learn the facts until the officer concerned has been court-martialled.

A Point of Law.

The report that the British cruiser Magicienne had fired on the French steamer Cordoba raises the doubtful point whether Great Britain has yet actually declared war. It is believed, however, that European nations have been made acquainted with the severance of diplomatic relations between Great Britain and the two republics.

REINFORCEMENTS FOR BULLER.

Already 12,802 Have Arrived—11,000 Men Are Expected To-Day.

London, Nov. 14.—A despatch from Cape Town to the War Office announces the arrival yesterday of the troopship Armenian with three batteries of artillery and an ammunition column, and the troopship Nubia with the Scots Guards and half a battalion of the Northamptonshire Regiment. This brings the total number of reinforcements to 12,802, of which about 6,000 are already on the way to Durban. Nine troopships, carrying 11,000 men, are due at Cape Town on Tuesday. It is officially announced that the troopship Armenian left Cape Town yesterday (Monday afternoon) for Durban, and that the troopship Orient has arrived at Cape Town with 47 officers and 1,187 men.

Oriental at Cape Town.

Later advices yesterday announce that the British troopship Oriental, with 75 officers and 1,218 men on board, has arrived at Cape Town.

Sent to Durban.

The British transport Hawarden Castle has sailed from Cape Town bound for Durban.

Who Hoisted the Flag?

Lorenzo Marquez, Delagoa Bay, Nov. 9.—Father Matthews, who has arrived here from Pretoria, says with reference to the surrender of the Irish Fusiliers and the Gloucestershire troops at Nicholson's Nek, that after the mules stampeded, the force got hard pressed by the enemy. They would have held out, however, but some subordinate, without instructions, hoisted a flag of truce on his own responsibility. Nothing then remained but to surrender.

Chief Joel With the Boers.

Maseru, Basutoland, Wednesday, Nov. 8.—The indications are that Chief Joul of the Basutos will join the Boers, who are likely to annex a strip of the northern territory of Basutoland. The other chiefs, however, are staunch, and there is no cause for alarm.

Boers Leave Rhodesian Border.

Tuli, Rhodesia, Oct. 31. — The Boers, with the exception of a contingent at Pont Drift, have left the northern border. The railway is now open south of Gaberons for 100 miles toward Mafeking.

Buller Works Secretly.

London, Nov. 14.—It is understood that the Admiralty, on General Buller's advice, has arranged that cruisers at the Cape should go out and intercept all arriving transports and inform them of the latest orders respecting their destination, which are to be kept secret.

Inspector of Mounted Police.

Kingston, Ont., Nov. 14.—Major Fitz-Morgan of Picton has been appointed inspector of the Northwest Mounted Police.

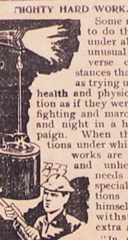

What is Scott's Emulsion? It is the best cod-liver oil, partly digested, and combined with the hypophosphites and glycerine. What will it do? It will make the poor blood of the anæmic rich and red.

It will give nervous energy to the overworked brain and nerves. It will add flesh to the thin form of a child, wasted from fat-starvation.

It is everywhere acknowledged as The Standard of the World.

MIGHTY HARD WORK.

Some men have to do their work under all sorts of unusual and adverse circumstances that are just as trying upon their health and physical condition as if they were soldiers fighting and marching day and night in a hard campaign. When the conditions under which a man works are abnormal and unhealthy he needs to take special precautions to build himself up to withstand the extra strain.

"In 1894, I was working at night and I broke out in lumps all over and when these left the skin peeled off," says Mr. John A. Calloway, of 218 26th St., Columbus, Georgia, in a recent letter to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. "I had catarrh for four years and also liver and kidney trouble; when it would commence troubling me I would have a slight aching a little below the chest. I used many kinds of medicine but received no benefit. My eyes were sunken and my face was pale; I had pimples on my face and there was brown spots on my face. Now these are all gone. I took six bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and two of Dr. Pierce's Pellets. They are the best medicines I ever used in my life, and I do believe that I am entirely well. I have a good appetite but before I commenced treatment I had no appetite at all. Now I am like a child—ready to eat at any time of day or night. Last year I weighed one hundred and thirty-four pounds and now I weigh one hundred and forty-five. Please accept my thanks. I am so glad I found the right kind of medicine."

"Golden Medical Discovery" is free from alcohol; it is pure medicine and nothing else. Unlike the so-called "tonics" and "extracts" which tend to create an appetite for stimulants, the "Discovery" creates only a healthy natural temperance appetite for good food which nourishes and strengthens. The medicine dealer who says he has something "just as good" knows that he falsifies. If he urges an inferior substitute it is to gain a few pennies greater profit. No matter how discouraged you may be, write to Dr. Pierce for advice which he will send you free and which if followed, is bound to do you good.

Defeat at Ladysmith Thursday.

A special despatch from Durban, Natal, dated Thursday, Nov. 9, evening, says: "Native runners, who have just arrived here from the Drakenbery district, report that the Boers suffered defeat at Ladysmith this morning. The Boer guns were silenced after four hours' fighting, during which the Boer losses were heavy. No details have been received.

Aliwal North is Loyal.

Queenstown, Cape Colony, Nov. 8, Wednesday.—The Boer commander and several burghers, unarmed, visited Burghersdorp yesterday. There is no sign of the Boers at Dordrecht. At a meeting of the Dutch residents of Aliwal North yesterday protests were sent to Premier Schreiner against the abandonment of the town. The Dutch police there have deserted the Boers.

French Boat Fired on.

Lorenzo Marquez, Delagoa Bay, Nov. 9.—The French steamer Cordoba has arrived here. When several miles out she was signalled by the British third-class cruiser Magicienne, and as the Cordoba did not obey a blank shot was fired across her bows. After her manifest had been examined she was allowed to proceed.

To Have Self-Government.

London, Nov. 14.—Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, Chancellor of the Exchequer, speaking last evening at Bristol, said: "The war in South Africa has destroyed both conventions with the Transvaal. We must establish there a pure and honest government on the basis of equal rights, and on something more enduring than paper safeguards. Subject to this, we should give whatever self-government may be possible in South Africa. No one desires that great country to be governed permanently from Downing street."

MURDER TRIALS AT BRANDON.

Both Prisoners Are Women, and One Has Confessed.

Brandon, Man., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—Brandon Assizes open on Tuesday. There are two murder cases, and both the accused are women. Hilda Blake will answer to the charge of shooting Mrs. John Lane, and Agnes Glendinning is charged with the murder of her own infant, by leaving it out over night on the open prairie, first having undressed it.

Hilda Blake will, in all probability, plead guilty, since she has already made a full confession. She hopes to escape the death penalty. She spends her time reading, and, strange to say, prefers Scott, Dickens and other high-class novels.

A Dead Body Found.

London, Nov. 14.—The body of a man believed to be that of James Rowe was found in a creek near Sadlier's Hotel on Adelaide street, about 6 o'clock last night. Whether Rowe died as a result of an accident or foul play is not known. An inquest will be held.

A Terrible Nitro-Glycerine Explosion—The Shock Felt Forty Miles Away—The Affair Happened Near Gibsonburg, Ohio, Where All the Windows Were Broken—Made a Deep Hole in the Solid Rock.

Tiffin, Ohio, Nov. 14.—A magazine used by the Bradford nitro-glycerine factory to store the explosive, located two and a half miles east of Gibsonburg, exploded yesterday afternoon. The shock was heard at towns within a radius of 40 miles, and the effect of the explosion in the immediate neighborhood was terrific. The magazine is located in the woods a quarter of a mile from any dwelling, otherwise there must have been terrible loss of life. Benjamin Card, driver of a stock wagon, had brought a load of 720 quarts of nitro-glycerine from the factory at Bradford, and was unloading it when the explosion took place. Just how it happened will never be learned. Card and the two horses driven by him received the full effect of the explosion. He was blown almost to atoms, only a few shreds of his body being found. It is supposed that Card had a companion, but this is not positively known. The explosion made a hole several feet deep in the solid rock, and trees in the vicinity were torn into splinters. People within a mile of the place were knocked flat, pictures were torn from the walls, dishes thrown out of cupboards, windows shattered and houses moved from their foundations. All the windows in Gibsonburg were broken. There were about 1,500 quarts of nitro-glycerine on the wagon and in the magazine.

SUFFOCATED BY GAS.

Sad Accident to an Entire Family in London, Ont.

London, Ont., Nov. 14.—Samuel W. Milliken, his wife, and their two little boys, aged 8 and 10 years, respectively, were asphyxiated Sunday night, at their home, 16 Maryboro place, South London. The younger of the boys is dead, and since 10 o'clock yesterday the doctors have been fighting for the lives of the other members of the family. At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Milliken was still unconscious, and in a very critical condition. Mr. Milliken and Robert each showed signs of reviving. The gas escaped from a coal stove, and is supposed to be due to a defective connection between the pipe and the stove. Mr. Milliken is head shipper in the tin department of the McClary Manufacturing Company.

CASTRO IS ON TOP.

Revolutionists Hold Every Port in Venezuela of Importance.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Both the State and Navy Departments have received reports concerning the surrender of Parades at Puerto Cabello, Venezuela, on Saturfay. The State Despatch is from Minister Loomis at Caracas, and is as follows: "After eight hours' fighting Castro's army took Puerto Cabello this morning. Killed and wounded aggregate 300. Surgeons and hospital corps from foreign cruisers attending wounded. Local facilities inadequate. Castro holds every port and place of consequence in Venezuela."

Rutherford, London, Ont.; vice-president, Mrs. Charles Archibald, Halifax, N.S.; corresponding secretary, Mrs. E. R. Atkinson, Moncton, N.B.; recording secretary, Mrs. E. W. McLachlan, Quebec. Canadian Cattle in Belgium.

Ottawa, Nov. 14.—Although the Belgian Government has passed a decree permitting Canadian cattle to be imported, it is also provided that they must be slaughtered three days after their arrival.

To Marry Her Chinese Cook.

Hongkong, Nov. 14.—Missionary circles in Canton are in a high state of agitation and indignation over the approaching marriage of Susan L. Haverson to an illiterate, unattractive Chinaman, formerly her cook.

Miss Haverson until a year ago was connected with the American mission of the United Brethren in Christ. She was dismissed from the Canton mission on account of her persisting in receiving the attentions of this Chinaman. The marrige will be according to Chinese custom, the missionaries refusing to countenance it.

Daily Intelligencer.

THE ONTARIO'S OPINION OF MAYOR JOHNSON.

The City Council
The city officials
The Park
The street department
Every other department
And THE INTELLIGENCER.
But his worship does not run the entire city.—Ontario, Nov. 11th, 1899.

We have always had a high opinion of the Mayor's ability, not only in municipal affairs, but in every business in which he has been engaged. The above business character, given him by his bitterest and most vindictive opponent, must be gratifying, and if the citizens of Belleville accept the above estimate of the Mayor's business abilities they should be proud of having such a ruler over them, he being, if capable of "running" all the departments of the City Council, in advance of ordinary mortals.

The writer of the above eulogy might have added: And a partner in the management of one of the most successful Business Colleges in the Dominion; and author of valuable Commercial School Books which are sought after and used in Business Colleges in all parts of the continent.

Mr. Johnson should feel flattered by such commendations, coming as they do from one who never loses an opportunity of attacking and abusing him.

That his ability is great, we freely admit, but it has not been tested in the management or control of THE INTELLIGENCER. Nor, we are pleased to know, has he ever polluted his hands or tarnished his reputation by having anything to do with the Ontario, or those connected with it. That is a depth of degradation to which he has never descended, and, unless he loses his reason, certainly never will.

A WORD IN SEASON.

The time has arrived when our citizens should, calmly and dispassionately, begin to examine into the records of the gentlemen who composed the City Council in 1899, and ask themselves what would be their answer if asked to vote once more for the same Council to represent them in 1900.

We understand that some of the present Aldermen will not again be candidates, but some undoubtedly will, and some are deserving of the votes of the electors when polling day comes round again. And, just as surely, some are not.

The great majority of the intelligent electors of Belleville have been carefully following the doings of our City Fathers during the past year. If words, like straw, show which way the wind is blowing, some of the present Council, if they offer themselves for re-election, will be numbered among the slain.

It should be the object of the municipal electors of Belleville this fall, when asked to vote for any man, to make no positive answer at the time, but tell the candidate that he will "think it over." Then, in the privacy of his own home, let him ponder on the public character and municipal record of the candidate.

If that candidate has an axe to grind, if he seeks the office for no other purpose than to further some of his own ends or the ends of his friends, don't mark your ballot for him next New Year's day.

Let it be the aim of every voter in Belleville to try to secure, in our next Council, a body of men who are above petty exigencies, who will strive might and main, not for their own interests, but for the interests of the City as a whole, and before the snow flies next winter a better day will have dawned for Belleville.

THE INTELLIGENCER will be glad to give expression to the views of our fellow-citizens who may wish to make their ideas known in this connection.

Then let us not forget that our Water Commissioners as to be elected next January. They should be gentlemen of known and tried worth and business experience; to them will be entrusted great interests and responsibilities. It is the duty of every elector who has the interests of the city at heart to at once take an active interest in the above matters, and to use both his abilities and influence to further the public good.

The Claim is a False One.

Crude Materials Can Never Produce Perfect Work.

The claim is made by the manufacturers of crudely prepared package dyes and dyes composed of soap grease mixed with a small amount of coloring matter that these dyes will color cotton and wool goods with the same dye. Such a claim is false and deceptive.

Animal and vegetable fibres, such as wool and cotton, must each have a special coloring agent. In order to meet this difficulty the manufacturers of Diamond Dyes have prepared special dyes for all wool goods and special dyes for all cotton and cotton and wool or mixed materials. Each of these Diamond Dyes gives handsome and artistic colors suitable for the various seasons.

Diamond Dyes are the only dyes in the world that fully meet the demands of home dyeing. They color all kinds of materials and give colors and shades equal to those produced by European professional dyers, and in the majority of cases the Diamond Dyes are faster and more lasting. Chemical experts who have made repeated tests are of opinion that one package of Diamond Dyes will equal in coloring power three of any other make.

Avoid imitation package dyes and soap grease mixtures; they ruin good materials and are dangerous to handle.

THE BUDGET FOR OCTOBER

Assayer Wells Was a Busy Man During Last Month.

Samples of All the Working Mines in Ontario Sent to the Paris Exposition—Facts and Figures of Interest to Mining Men.

The statement of laboratory work done at the Ontario Government Assay Office, which is conducted by the Bureau of Mines as an aid to the discovery and development of the mineral resources of the northern portion of Ontario, shows a total receipt of 160 samples of ore sent in for examination during the month of October.

The determinations on samples sent in for assay analysis aggregated 156, consisting of 98 for gold, 18 for gold and silver, 5 nickel, 16 copper, 1 zinc, 1 arsenic and 1 platinum. Seven iron ores, mostly magnetites from Eastern Ontario, were sent in for partial or complete analysis as to smelting quality.

The fees collected on 149 determinations done for the public amounted to $152 75, being about one-half the customary rates. The Bureau of Mines required 7 assays from the laboratory.

The samples sent in for identification or report as to probable commercial value numbered 15 for the month, on which nominal fees amounting to $5 were collected.

During the past summer the Bureau of Mines has forwarded representative samples of ore from all the working mines in Ontario to the Geological Survey Department at Ottawa for shipment to the Paris Exposition to be held in 1900. The samples consist of free-milling gold ores from the various mines and developed prospects in the Rat Portage, Seine River, Shoal Lake, Wabigoon and Manitou districts; also from the Michipicoten, Wahnipetae and North Hastings districts. Iron ores, magnetites and hematites from the Mattawin and Atikokan ranges, which will shortly be tapped by the Ontario and Rainy River Railway under construction, together with the hematite ores from the extensive deposits being opened up in the Michipicoten district by the Algoma Central Railway, will form a collection of great interest to iron masters and foundry-men. Eastern Ontario also sends a few first grade hematites and magnetites. The Sudbury district is represented by samples of nickel copper bearing pyrrhotites from the extensive deposits which have been worked for several years by the Canadian Copper Co., the Vivian Co., of Swansea, and other metallurgical concerns.

Probably the most attractive samples in the collection are the peacock copper ores from the Parry Sound district, which are rich in copper, running as high as 65 per cent. copper and carrying small gold values. The Parry Sound district has hitherto been known only for its lumbering industry, but it may yet become a copper producer, judging from the recent developments in the prospects so far exploited.

Eastern Ontario is represented by samples from the following working mines or prospects so far opened up as to be called mines: Arsenical gold ores, partially free-milling, from the Deloro mine, Gatling five acres, the Diamond mine, the James property in North Hastings, free milling gold ores from the Belmont mine in Peterboro county, the Boerth mine and Little Doris in Frontenac county, the Craig, Crescent, Landenberger and other properties in North Hastings. Hematite iron ores from the Wallbridge, Welsh, Cook and St. Charles mines in North Hastings, also from the large deposits at Calabogie and Wilbur in Frontenac county; magnetic iron ores from the Dufferin, Coe Hill and Irondale deposits in North Hastings, also from the Bedford and Robertsville mines in Frontenac. The collection also includes zinc blende from the Hogan mine at Millbridge, galena from the Hollindia, and tetrahedrite copper ore from the Chisholm mine near Cloyne, upon which extensive exploratory work is being done by New York capitalists.

The non-metalliferous minerals of commercial value are also represented by rough and thumb dressed amber mica from Frontenac county, where seven deposits are being worked at present, the product being used in electrical works. Other economic minerals, such as phosphate, felspar, barite, graphite are included.

The corundum deposits in North Hastings are represented by a series of specimens prepared by W. G. Miller, professor of geology, Queen's University, Kingston, who conducted the exploratory survey for the Ontario Government and, starting from the known deposit in Carlow township, has discovered and mapped out the belt of corundum bearing rocks in Renfrew, Peterborough, Frontenac and North Hastings counties. These samples range from almost pure corundum as found in Carlow to the low grade running about 12 per cent. corundum.

With the specimens of crude ore there is a series of concentration products of various grades, being the results of the treatment of 18 tons of ore in the milling laboratory of the Kingston School of Mines.

The deposits in Carlow are being opened up by the Canada Corundum Company, of Toronto, who propose to utilize the product in making emery wheels, paper, etc.

Building stones in Eastern Ontario are represented by the Crookston and Point Ann quarries near Belleville. The sample from the latter quarry being an excellent square-dressed stone presented by Mr. Robert Boyd, superintendent of the quarry.

The collection, consisting of over 200 samples of ore of commercial value, will serve as a practical illustration to the metallurgists and manufacturers of the old world in search of raw material as to the extent and variety of the mineral resources of Ontario.

A carefully compiled descriptive catalogue, with full information and photographs, accompanies the specimens.

The collection also illustrates how far capital has been employed in Ontario, hitherto known only as an agricultural and lumbering country, in utilizing the wealth of the mine.

In 1890, when the Royal Commission was appointed to report on the mineral resources of Ontario, there were nine working mines, mostly for iron ore, silver and mica. In 1891 the Bureau of Mines was organized, with Mr. Archibald Blue as director, and the annual report of the Bureau shows a steady increase in production from $4,705,673 in 1891 to 7 235,877 in 1898, the greatest increase being in value of metallic products from $388,715 in 1891 to $1,689,020 in 1898.

A PREACHER'S NERVE

Will Break Under the Strain of Indigestion—Here's the Testimony of the Preacher and His Wife—Backsliders From Good Health Reclaimed by the Power of the Great South American Nervine.

Rev. W. S. Barker, of Peterboro' says: "I was greatly afflicted with indigestion and nervous prostration, and my wife was all run down and suffering much from general debility, and we heartily join hands in giving testimony to the great relief and curative powers of South American Nervine. Splendid results followed the taking of the first bottle, and a few bottles have cured us both and we cheerfully recommend it to our fellow-sufferers." Sold by J. S. McKeown.

We name them thus

Because we believe they are King of all shoes. We don't believe there is a woman's shoe sold for $3 in this whole world which is as good as our King Quality. That is a broad statement, but try the shoe and you will agree that we have reason for boasting.

KING QUALITY

It is simply perfection.

It has all that a shoe ought to have—ease, durability, style—and it costs but $3 while it looks like a $5 shoe.

Try and judge for yourself.

A PARALYTIC STROKE.

Former Belleville Man at Death's Door Through the Above Cause.

Mr. Richard Brook, an aged and well-known resident of Madoc village, and a former citizen of Belleville, was on Saturday evening seized with a stroke of paralysis, and his condition is such that his life is despaired of. It appears that the unfortunate gentleman went to the barn to perform some work, and being absent an unnecessary length of time Mrs Brooks went to the barn and found her husband lying upon the floor apparently dead. He was taken up and a physician summoned, but could render but little assistance. Yesterday the unfortunate man was still unconscious and apparently sinking.

A Dreaded Disease in November.

Thousands are Suffering.

Paine's Celery Compound

Gives Prompt Relief and Cures Permanently.

Thousands of people die in November of rheumatism. In the vast majority of cases carelessness, ignorance and a lack of medical skill send the sufferers to the grave.

It can be honestly and fearlessly asserted that in ninety-nine cases out of every hundred Paine's Celery Compound would have banished the disease and saved life.

The original cause of rheumatism, as of so many other diseases, is a lack of nerve force. With this weakness of the nervous system there is a derangement of the digestive organs; the food stays too long in the stomach, it turns sour, and the resulting acid enters the blood. The victim then takes cold, and the acid cannot be expelled from the system by ordinary means. Soon the joints swell, and then there is inflammation and great suffering.

Paine's Celery Compound used promptly and regularly quickly expels all the deadly acids from the body; the pains are banished, muscles and joints that have become contracted and stiffened soon become limber and regain their power, and the patient walks with comfort and ease.

No other medicine can do such marvellous work for those afflicted with rheumatism and sciatica. Paine's Celery Compound is truly your friend and life-renewer; it is the medicine recommended by the ablest physicians for the banishment and cure of a disease that has such fatal results in the variable autumn months.

SNAP SHOTS AT TIMELY TOPICS.

—Owing to the censorship, South African war news is of two kinds—guesses at what is going to happen and guesses at what has happened.

—A life insurance company in New York charges an employee with stealing $10,000 worth of revenue stamps. At least, he can claim that he was patriotically doing his best to help support the Government.

—Since the discovery of America over $10,000,000,000 worth of gold has been mined in the world. Of this more than one-half has been taken out since 1860 and more than one-fourth since 1885.—Dallas News.

To Cure Catarrh and Stay Cured

You must use the most up-to-date and most approved method of treatment. This can only be had in Catarrhozone, which cures by inhalation and is sure to reach the right spot. Treatments requiring the use of sprays, douches, snuffs, ointments, are a thing of the past, and the medicated air treatment supersedes them all. There is no danger or risk in using Catarrhozone. It is both pleasant and effective to employ in any case of Irritable Throat, Fetid Breath, Bronchitis, Catarrh, and Asthma. For sale at all druggists or by mail, price $1.00. For trial outfit send 10c in stamps to N. C. POLSON & CO., Box 507, Kingston, Ont.

—The announcement that the British Government has ordered ten carloads of mules' shoes would seem to indicate that they are to be used as ammunition in the South African war. A shoe, lightly fastened to a mule's hoof, could be thrown a great distance, and with telling effect, if the mule was properly tickled.

TAKING THE REINS

William Dagler, Jr., Rushville, Ind., won 27 premiums in the light harness ring at the Richmond (Ind.) fair.

Pie Lijero, by May King, now racing in the east, was named by a stable boy. The name is Spanish for Fleetfoot.

A bay gelding named Captain Dreyfus was a starter in the three minute trot and pace at the Tilton (N. H.) races.

At the Putnam (Conn.) fair Red Bird set a new track record of 2:15½, and Quick Turn made the same time the following day.

Jean K, who won the 2:35 trot at the Elyria (O.) meeting, getting a record of 2:29¼, is the seventh 2:30 performer of the year for Elyria, 2:25½.

During the Rochester (N. H.) races Belle Coliey broke the track record of 2:13½, made by Peter Turney two years ago, going a mile in 2:13¼.

At the Glenville track, Cleveland, Sept. 16, Sunland Belle tackled her record to wagon and, driven by Harry Devereux, lowered it to 2:07 from 2:08½.

During the first seven months of the present year Missouri sent 28,904 head of horses and mules to the St. Louis market, while last year the number for the same period was 42,916 head.

A most remarkable feature of the McKees Rocks (Pa.) meeting occurred in the fifth, and supposed to be deciding, heat of the 2:28 trot. Six of the starters finished in a dead heat, their names being Burwin, Neva Simmons, Arthur C, George Alex, Viola and Lillian H.—Horseman.

WORKER AND DRONE.

The objection to clipping queens is the danger of losing them.

Guard against robbing by leaving no combs or sweets exposed.

In normal conditions a bee is 16 days old before it gathers honey.

The supply of drones depends entirely upon the quantity of drone comb furnished.

Care must be taken as the end of the honey season approaches not to put in too many empty sections, as they will remain unfinished.

When there is an abundance of nectar and heavy loads can be gathered quickly, the worker bee lives only three or four weeks after it begins doing field work.

Avoid melting wax over too many times. Every melting makes it darker in color. Make the cakes medium sized, and do not pour it into molds until cooled, so it will adjust itself nicely.

While in some respects thick separators are better than thin, the latter have the advantage of being so cheap that they can be thrown away when once used, saving the trouble of cleaning.

Wired frames will hold foundation without any fastenings around the edge, but to make sure that the foundation is in the middle at every point, it will be a good plan to fasten it on all sides.—St. Louis Republic.

The subject to-day is Overcoats.

Naturally, with so many handsome lines, we are anxious to introduce you to our elegant garments—anxious to again demonstrate the superiority of the "Quick & Robertson quality"—anxious to show you that selections from our fashionable, new Overcoats are not priced higher than garments of unknowable age and uncertain quality are marked elsewhere.

Overcoats for Gentlemen, $4 to $14.

Covering a wider range of fabrics than we've ever shown before, beginning with the staple lines at $4, passing up the finer goods to $14, through full lines of Kerseys, Irish Frieze, Meltons, Cheviots, Beavers, Vicunas and the new Llama Wool. Colors of Oxford Grey, Iron Grey, Soft Dark Grey, Black, Blue and Brown.

At $10 we show a beautiful All-wool English Beaver Overcoat with Silk Velvet Collar and stitched with silk throughout, best of linings and interlinings, and that graceful fit for which our garments are so well known.

Reefers for the Boys, 3 to 17 years, $1.25 to $5

Made from Serges, pure All-wool Chinchillas and Friezes—with those big warm storm collars—button over the little breast and close up to the chin. Ideals of comfort and fashion, with never a doubt of satisfactory wear.

Men's Heavy Ulsters for $5.

For $5 we are showing an extra heavy All-wool Frieze Ulster, tweed lined, in brown and claret shades. This is without doubt the best coat shown to-day at that price. See it.

Come with confidence—there's no loophole for disappointment to follow your buying here.

ONE-PRICE CLOTHIERS.

Exporting Horses.

There has hardly been as large an export trade this year as usual if one may judge by appearances without any figures to guide the opinion. And this falling off seems to be because of a dearth of suitable export animals. The export of horses from Canada and the United States grew in five years from 3,000 animals to 30,000 and from a value of $700,000 to $4,800,000. The continent of Europe took of the 30,000 less than 7,000 of which rather over half went to Belgium and the lesser half to France, Germany and Holland. France took a class of "cabbers." The bulk of all the others were draft horses, in fact of those going to Great Britain 90 per cent. were draft animals, 7 per cent. were high class coachers, and 3 per cent. were roadsters and trotters. Those rated draft, are animals weighing 1,500 lbs. or over. It costs from $30 to $40 per head to send a horse from Chicago, Toronto or Buffalo, to the market in Europe and another $10 or so to put him in shape there for sale, as it takes some time for the horse to recover from the effects of the sea voyage.

The charge for a cheap horse is just as great as for a first class animal so that it pays to buy and export the best class. From this it will be readily seen how important the Draft Stallion is to the export trade in horses. And the value of a draft horse increases largely with size. Horses weighing 1,700 lbs. are much more valuable than those weighing 1,500 lbs. Over the former weight a good quality of horse flesh is valuable; it has been estimated that over 1,700 lbs. it is worth 50c per pound. Good, well made draft stallions are more needed now than ever before if we are to keep and increase our export trade in horses.

Canada's Paris Exhibits.

The Canadian Commissioners for the Paris exhibition have decided to recommend that the exhibits be sent by regular steamer instead of by one of the government vessels as was first proposed. The only vessels available from the government fleet were the Newfield and Stanley. Both are comparatively slow boats, but the greatest drawback was the fact that their carrying capacity was very small. Hence it has been decided to acquire space on the steamship line running to Antwerp and send the exhibits on from Antwerp to Paris by railway. A large collection of mineral exhibits for Paris has reached Ottawa.

The Holy Stairs.

The Santa Scala, or Holy Stairs, at Rome, were brought from Jerusalem along with the true cross by the Empress Helen, and were taken from the house which, according to popular tradition, was inhabited by Pontius Pilate. They are said to be the steps which Jesus ascended and descended when brought into the presence of the Roman Governor. They are held in the greatest veneration at Rome. It is sacrilegious to walk upon them. The knees of the faithful must alone touch them in ascending or descending, and that only after the pilgrims have reverently kissed them.

Afternoon Despatches.

THE INTELLIGENCER'S afternoon despatches are twelve hours in advance of the Toronto morning papers.

French Tale Of Disaster

Report from Paris That Ladysmith Has Fallen.

London Newspapers and Public Chafing at the Strict Censorship—Believed That Important Movements Are Under Way.

(OTHER DESPATCHES ON INSIDE PAGES.)

Paris, Nov. 15.—The Matin asserts that Ladysmith has fallen, and that the British forces in Natal are demoralized.

The Gaulois says that Prince Louis Bonaparte, who is an officer in the Russian army, has asked permission to join the Boers, but that the Czar has refused to allow him to do so.

London, Nov. 15.—No news has reached London during the past 24 hours from South Africa.

One despatch, dated Estcourt, Nov. 10, says: "The bombardment of Ladysmith was continued to-day."

The Censors have practically stopped everything, and this leads to the belief that important movements are under way.

London newspapers are beginning to grumble at the censorship and the public is getting anxious.

Capetown, Friday, Nov. 10.—A despatch received here from Pretoria, Nov. 9th, says that reports received there from Ladysmith said heavy cannonading started at daybreak, that some of the Boer forces were within 1500 yards of the British when the cannonading ceased and rifle fire commenced.

A Pretoria despatch also announced that all was quiet at Mafeking and Kimberly.

THE WAR SUMMARY.

The relieving column concentrating at Durban is assuming large proportions.

Lt.-Gen. Warren has been appointed to command the 5th Infantry Division ordered to the front.

A French paper asserts that Ladysmith has fallen.

People of London are grumbling at the street censorship, and it is believed that important events are under way.

It is asserted that the Transvaal authorities have threatened to shoot six British officers unless a Boer spy arrested at Ladysmith is given up.

The troopships Britannic and Carisbrook Castle reached Cape Town yesterday. The Lismore Castle and Yorkshire have reached Durban.

The bombardment of Kimberley is now continued daily. The Boer guns are doing very little damage, and the garrison is cheerful.

There is no official news regarding the position at Ladysmith, but the British force is still holding out.

For Seekers After Comfort.

A special purchase lately made enables us to place on sale a great lot of double-breasted suits, sizes 36 to 44, heavy weights, from $4 00 to $7 00, in browns, blues, greys and black; for quality you must see the goods. They are exceptionally well tailored, lined with fine Italian cloths. We start the selling price of these lines where other merchants begin to buy. There'll never be a better chance than now; watch our south window for prices.—QUICK & ROBERTSON.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING

That this seems to be the growing time for burglaries.

That Father Matthews' story about Nicholson's Nek doesn't make very pleasant reading.

That the Canadian Contingent may be half seas over, but let's hope they won't get half shot.

That things must be getting serious between Japan and Russia when they find it necessary to have a censor over the despatches.

That the bombardment of Mafeking may be a joke to Baden-Powell, but most of us wouldn't feel very hilarious if we were in his place.

That when Hon. Mr. Tarte sails for Paree most of the people in Canada will sing "We Don't Care if You Never Come Back."

That, from the way things are shaping themselves just now, Canada's Contingent may yet get a chance to come back with a few little trinkets in the shape of Victoria Crosses, etc.

That it must have come as a sudden shock to the Hon. Geo. Washington Ross when he saw how the Liberal majority in South Renfrew was reduced yesterday. In a bye-election, with a Cabinet Minister running, to have the majority reduced from 1441 to 238 is next door to a defeat. If the Hon. Plagiarist's popularity is to be judged by the above incident he may as well make arrangements to retire into private life after the next general election.

A reader of "What People Are Saying" suggests that further appeals should be made for the fund which was started to secure comforts for any of the Belleville boys who might get wounded or become sick in South Africa. The fund is not growing quite as fast as the national debt, but perhaps when people realize that the boys will have work to do, and not a summer holiday, we may hear of further contributions.

That Mr. Dooley's estimate of the Democratic party in the United States fits the Canadian Liberal party like the paper on the wall. "No," says Mr. Dooley to his friend Hinnissey, "the Dimmycratic party is not doomed to victory. 'Tis a good critic but a bad actor. 'Tis gr-eat to stand in the pit and heave eggs at Macduff in the play in McBeth's Flirtation, but when the pa-arty gets on the stage itself it thrips over its sword, and forgits what it intinded to say, and finlly ends by peggin' the stage manager into the bass dhrum. It niver gits an encore."

WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY

Complete Apparatus, Consigned to Boers, Seized at Capetown.

London, Nov. 15.—A despatch to the Daily Mail from Capetown, dated Nov. 9, says that a complete wireless telegraphic apparatus has been seized on a vessel there. The vessel was bound for Delagoa Bay, and the apparatus was obviously intended for the use of the Transvaal Government. Suspicion in regard to the package was aroused by the anxiety exhibited by a Boer sympathizer as to its immediate transmission. But for his official connection with a certain European Government, this individual would have been arrested.

Their Business Booming.

KILLED AT KINGSTON

John James, With a Bullet Through His Heart, Found in a Field at Early Dawn.

(Special to the INTELLIGENCER.)

KINGSTON, Nov. 15.—John James, with a bullet through his heart, was found in the early dawn in a field near the Cataraqui driving park.

He had been shot by Charles Fralick, proprietor of the hotel at the park.

The story told is that Fralick was awakened by men prowling outside. He looked out, found his hen coop invaded and fired a revolver.

The men fled. Fralick made an inspection, found many hens slain by the thieves, and, in following the runaways, found James' body in an adjacent field. He was dead.

Fralick at once gave himself up and is now awaiting disclosures of the inquest, which may be more serious than are now announced.

James was about 30, a violinist and the son of a respectable citizen. He was married.

The man said to have been with James is known. The inquest will be opened at 4 p. m. At present Fralick will say nothing.

DIED UNDER THE SCIENTISTS.

Inquest at Rome, N.Y., on the Remains of Mrs. Moses M. Davis.

Rome, N.Y., Nov. 14.—Coroner Nock, of this city, is holding an inquest into the cause of the death of Mrs. Moses M. Davis, who died here under the care of Christian Scientists. Miss Lizzie Moore, Christian Science healer and first reader in the Rome church, and Horace W. Davison, second reader, testified that they would give only Christian Science treatment to a person who was bleeding to death. Miss Moore said that Mrs. Davis was not sick, but suffering under a delusion. No physician was summoned or medicine given. Dr. W. R. Reid, who made a post-mortem on the body, testified that the immediate cause of death was paralysis of the heart, induced by the extra work put on that organ to force the blood through the body when the system was full of foreign fluids. This condition could have been relieved by proper medical treatment, and the life of the patient prolonged for a number of years.

The inquest was adjourned until Nov. 28.

Brave Men Fall

Victims to stomach, liver and kidney troubles as well as women, and feel the results in loss of appetite, poisons in the blood, backache, nervousness, headache and tired, listless, run-down feeling. But there's no need to feel like that. Listen to J. W. Gardner, Idaville, Ind. He says: "Electric Bitters are just the thing for a man when he is all run down, and don't care whether he lives or dies. It did more to give me new strength and good appetite than anything I could take. I can now eat anything and have a new lease on life." Only 50 cents at J. S. McKeown's Drug store. Every bottle guaranteed.

BURGLARY AT KINGSTON.

A Member of the Tramping Fraternity the Alleged Offender.

There appears to be an epidemic of burglary all over the country just at present, but Belleville seems to escape it. Chief Newton this afternoon received a telegram from Kingston stating that a burglary was committed in that city during last night and considerable of value was taken. A member of the tramping fraternity is supposed to have committed the offence and a description of the alleged offender was obtained. He is about 5 ft. 8 in. in height, full face, sandy moustache, weighs about 175 lbs., wore a checked pair of pants and vest, and a striped shirt. He is supposed to have boarded a freight and came westward.

THE MYSTERY OF COUNT LANDRINOF.

BY FRED WHISHAW.

COPYRIGHT 1899, BY THE AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION.

"Do remember," said Borofsky, somewhat impatiently, "that if this is your father, he is—for reasons of his own which have nothing to do with us at this point of the investigation—disguised. The main question is not as to the clothes, but the man inside them. Is it your father or is it not? Go by the face. Is this the face of the count or another's?"

"If I must judge by the face alone," I said, "I should say this is a portrait of my father."

"Good!" exclaimed Borofsky. "And very good! I now propose that we show the portrait to the countess and obtain her confirmation of your opinion. When we have that, I shall know what next to do. Mr. Morris, you have done wonders and are to be congratulated. Speaking personally, you have no doubt that this man whose portrait you have taken so cleverly is the very Count Landrinof himself?"

"Personally I never felt any doubt about it until Count Boris pointed out that his father would never dress himself in this way, which is perfectly true."

"Ah, the clothes again!" said Borofsky. "You will not see that the count might desire to disguise himself."

"It is so unlike him to do so!" said Percy and I almost in one breath.

"Very likely. But is he any more accustomed to disappear suddenly without warning?" continued Borofsky pertinently. "A man who has done the one thing may do the other, both actions being, as you say, unlike him ordinarily."

There was no answer to this argument so far as my poor dazed brain could discern.

CHAPTER IX.

THE COUNT'S CRIMINAL BROTHER.

There was a great surprise for me at least, in my mother's reception of the news, which it fell to Percy and myself to convey to her, that Percy, while in London, had seen one whom he believed to be my father, and had even photographed him and found out the house in which he was living. She fell on her knees and thanked God aloud for his mercies.

"I knew, I knew that my beloved was alive and that God would return him to us in his good time!" she sobbed. "You have seen him alive, dear Percy, and that is enough—the rest will all be clear one day, when my dear husband is restored to himself again—and to me. He has been poorly of late, Boris, but I never suspected that the malady was of this type, until—until that terrible day of his disappearance. I have feared that in some horrid spasm of temporary irresponsibility he might have—but God is merciful—he has been seen alive, all will be well."

My poor dear mother laughed and cried, and cried and laughed again. She looked at the little photos and kissed them and said, "Oh, yes, there can be little doubt—but oh! poor dear, what a terrible suit of clothes and hat! Do you know what I think, Boris? the new tariffs have made a great difference of late in the profits of his iron works. He has been haunted by the idea that one day we shall be ruined, and this specter has driven him, for a little while, out of his senses, so that he has run away, poor dear soul, and dressed himself meanly in order to disguise himself from some imaginary creditors! Did he recognize and speak to you, Percy?"

"No, he did not, countess," said Percy dejectedly.

"There, it is all of a piece!" cried the mother. "He desires to remain disguised and unrecognized. I see it all, oh, how plainly!"

Dear, sanguine mother, raised from misery to great happiness upon so rickety a basis! How could she guess that she was settling down, in fancied security and comfort, in the Spanish castle of the sanguine and credulous, commonly called the paradise of fools?

Did I, too, take up my abode in this fools' paradise? I fear I must confess that I did. My mother's confidence infected me, and I felt as sure of father's identity with the man of the portrait as she did.

Borofsky was radiant.

"It only remains, then, to travel to London and bring him back, whether he will or no," he said.

But mother demurred.

"I do not think that," she said. "I should not like him interfered with. He will soon outlive this temporary attack of delusion and return of his own free will. I am sure of it. The count is not mad. His intellect is as sound and healthy as any. But he is ill. To startle him in his present condition would do him no good. He would think himself pursued, and this would give color to the delusion from which he is suffering. Let him be watched if you like, but by no means allow him to be startled or his liberty interfered with."

Accordingly it was settled that Borofsky—who was unknown to my father—should be the one to undertake the duty of watching him. He must settle himself close—opposite if possible—to father's lodgings, which were in a small street off Fitzroy square, and keep an eye upon the count's movements, using his discretion as to making his acquaintance or not, according to circumstances.

"I shall do so if I can," said Borofsky, "for, if not, I don't see how the matter is to proceed any further. You may expect to see us return peacefully together after a short while."

"God grant it!" said mother. "But above all things remember not to alarm my poor husband, for that would be the worst policy of all."

"I shall be most careful, madame," said our little Sherlock Holmes, and with this assurance he departed, well provided with introductions to friends in London in case he should need assistance of any kind in his dealings with Englishmen, whose language he knew little of. He was well supplied with cash, too, and carried instructions to keep us well informed as to his movements, and especially as to my poor father's mental condition and all that concerned him.

For a few days after Borofsky's departure my mother was sanguine and excited, expecting I know not what good news from London, for naturally no news whatever could be reasonably awaited for some little while. Borofsky would and could do nothing immediately after his arrival there. His task, in the nature of it and in accordance with his instructions, necessitated the greatest caution and deliberation—nothing was to be done in a hurry for fear of causing suspicion and inspiring alarm.

I flew to her side.

A week passed, and there was no news from our little detective; a second went by and still he had not written, excepting a short note to report his arrival in London, written two or three days after reaching English shores.

Then mother began to grow despondent. There must be a hitch somewhere, she said. Poor dear father had flitted from the lodgings to which Percy had traced him, and Borofsky had lost the scent.

"Never fear, mother, dearest," I assured her. "Borofsky is on his mettle. His reputation is at stake; he will take good care to strike the scene somewhere and somehow!"

SEASONABLE HINTS.

Guard Your Health in Fall and Early Winter.

A change from warm to cold is always attended with more danger than from a cold to a warm temperature, hence the greater mortality from lung and throat diseases at this season of the year as compared with spring.

The best protection against colds is not so much in extra clothing as in good digestion.

If the digestion and circulation are good, colds will be unknown.

Poor digestion causes poor circulation of the blood and when in this condition severe colds are contracted on the slightest provocation.

People who make a regular practice of taking Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after meals are free from colds, simply because their digestion is perfect, the heart strong and regular, and the whole system fortified against disease.

It requires little argument to convince anyone that the best safeguard against colds, pneumonia and changes of temperature is a good stomach.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets taken after meals are dissolved and mingling with the food cause it to be promptly digested and assimilated; they do this because they contain nothing but harmless digestive elements, which digest meat, eggs and other food even when the stomach itself is weak and flaccid.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets make people well and keep them well, and the best habit you can acquire is to make daily use of them at meals to keep the digestive organs strong and vigorous.

VARCOE MURDER INQUEST.

Frank Armstrong Tells a Thrilling Story of the Night.

Harry Williams, the Prisoner, Almost Recovered From His Injuries—Allan Varcoe Put Up a Fight Which Ended in Williams Being Knocked Out of the Window With a Chair—Adjourned Till Friday.

Toronto, Nov. 15.—Six witnesses, including three physicians, were examined last night at the adjourned inquiry into the death of the late John Edward Varcoe, and at 11 o'clock Coroner Johnson arranged with the jurors to meet again at Police Headquarters on Friday night to hear further evidence.

The prisoner, Harry Williams, was brought up into the dock by P. C. Mackie. He has almost completely recovered from the injuries received in falling out of the window to the pavement on the night of the tragedy. His right eye is still covered by a bandage.

The court room was crowded when the hearing of evidence was commenced. H. H. Dewart, Q.C., and R. W. Eyre appeared for the Crown, and T. C. Robinette represented the prisoner Williams.

Dr. John Caven read the report of the post-mortem examination made by himself, Dr. Nevitt and Dr. J. M. Cotton. The physician testified that death had resulted from two 38-calibre bullet wounds, a third, inflicted by a 32-calibre weapon, being entirely superficial.

A Thrilling Tale.

The most important testimony was given by Frank Armstrong, who was at the Varcoe home on the night of the tragedy. He said there were sleeping in the rooms above the store besides himself, Allan Varcoe, Noah Thomas, Mrs. Armstrong, Annie Armstrong, Nellie Armstrong, Miss Loake, three small brothers of witness, John Edward Varcoe (the deceased) and his little daughter. The witness deposed that the deceased closed up the store after he (the witness) had given $15.45 (the day's receipts) to Varcoe, Armstrong retired about a quarter-past 10, and Allan Varcoe and Thomas came in later. Witness afterwards heard the deceased go upstairs to his room on the second flat. Allan Varcoe, Thomas and Armstrong slept in one room on the first floor. Witness was aroused by Allan Varcoe. Armstrong saw a light in the hall. Two figures seemed to come around the corner of the door. A man whom the witness afterwards identified as McIntosh rushed in the door, and, pointing a revolver at Armstrong, uttered an oath and told him to lie down. McIntosh then told Armstrong and the others to pull the clothes over their heads, which they did quickly. Then witness heard another voice, and the two men ransacked the bureau drawers and the pockets of three pairs of trousers.

The thieves afterwards talked of going upstairs, and one of the men, who left the room, told the other to guard those in the bed and shoot anyone who moved. Some little time elapsed before anything more occurred. Armstrong then heard footsteps in the rooms above them, and in a few moments two shots were fired, quickly followed by the cries of a child.

Allan Varcoe jumped out of bed, and, exclaiming that he could stand it no longer, rushed into the next room, raised the window and called aloud for police. The two men rushed downstairs and into the room. The man in front raised the window and, as the second man came along, Allan Varcoe hit him over the head with a chair. The man reeled around, and Thomas hit him again with another chair. The force of the second blow knocked him out of the window, and he fell to the pavement. Witness said he saw the man who fell lying on the sidewalk. The other was hanging from an awning attached to the second store east, with a revolver in his hand pointed at P.C. Dickson. Armstrong then saw the policeman chasing McIntosh, and heard one shot fired. The witness said he afterwards went upstairs and found Varcoe sitting on the floor of the room. He claimed he was shot, and told witness to go for a doctor. Armstrong, before stepping down, identified several articles found on the prisoner.

JAPAN AND RUSSIA AT PEACE.

No International Question Now Exists Between Them After All.

London, Nov. 14.—The correspondent of The Times at Tokio says: "The rumor of friction between Japan and Russia is without foundation. No international question now exists between them. The recent excitement connected with Japanese purchases of land over Russia's head at Mazampo grew out of purely private transactions, and in no way concerned the Japanese Government. At present the atmosphere is clear."

Miss Worrell Has Disappeared.

St. Catharines, Ont., Nov. 15.—Merritton has a mystery, Miss Agnes Worrell, daughter of the late Joseph Worrell has disappeared. She left home on Monday evening to go to the store for some bread, but never reached home. Yesterday morning her cloak and the bread were found beneath a tree in the yard at her home, and it is feared that the young woman has got into the canal. In going home she had to cross the race way of the Lincoln Mills at lock seven, and her friends, among whom she was very popular, are most anxious about her safety.

POULTRY POINTERS.

Oyster shells pounded fine or ground are good for hens.

Crowding induces disease and lowers the vitality of the fowls.

Generally the smaller breeds are the more industrious foragers.

Cleanliness and vigilance are two of the best preventives of disease.

Feed growing chickens well—a little at a time and often. Do not let them stop growing.

If the hens are too dark let the cock be somewhat lighter, and if the hens are too heavy in body use a medium sized cock.

The chief object, no matter what breed is used, should be vigor and activity. An overgrown, excessively fat fowl is a nuisance and should not be tolerated, especially among the breeders.

Do not undertake to winter too many hens. Twenty-five hens, given dry, comfortable quarters, well fed and well cared for, will give a much better profit than a larger number more or less neglected.

It is an old maxim that if any defects appear in the bird they will appear when the new feathers come out after moulting. It is usual for some breeds to moult lighter each year, so that sometimes what are taken for defects are not.—St. Louis Republic.

MEN CURED FREE.

A most successful remedy has been found for sexual weakness such as varicocele, nervous debility, lost manhood, and all other results of youthful folly or excesses. It cures any case of the difficulty, never fails to restore the full natural strength and vigor. The Doctor who made this wonderful discovery wants to let every man know about it. He will therefore send the receipt giving the various ingredients to be used so that all men at a trifling expense can cure themselves. He sends the receipt free, and all the reader need do is to send his name and address to L. W. Knapp, M.D., 1782 Hull Bldg., Detroit, Mich., requesting the free receipt as reported in this paper. It is a generous offer, and all men ought to be glad to have such an opportunity. 8-16-w&s-1y

For coughs, colds, bronchitis and all lung and throat troubles, there is no preparation or medicine can compare with Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which causes difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relief to that depressing tightness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and huskiness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous. If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety, trouble and expense, let them procure a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the Syrup according to directions.

At Death s Door—Dyspepsia Conquered. A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 219 to 110 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. (Signed) Jean Valcourt, General Merchant, Wotton, P. Q.

Totally Deaf.—Mr. S. E. Crandell, Port Perry, writes:—"I contracted a severe cold last winter, which resulted in my becoming totally deaf in one ear and partially so in the other. After trying various remedies, and consulting several doctors, without obtaining any relief, I was advised to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 14.—The ministerial party has been defeated in the bye-elections in the divisions of St. John's and Fortune Bay, the Liberals carrying the former by a majority of 435 and the latter by a majority of 117. The Government has thus lost three elections this year.

"Open Door" Requests.

Washington, Nov. 15.—The replies of the European nations interested in China, to the request of the State Department for a formal undertaking to preserve the "open door" in the east, are not expected for several weeks, inasmuch as the exchanges are not taking place in Washington, but at the various European capitals.

Serious Fire in Liverpool.

Liverpool, Nov. 15.—A fire yesterday, in the timber yard of H. Y. Quayle & Sons, this city, spread to the yards of the Creosoing Company and G. R. Symons. Both were destroyed. A quantity of fittings for troopships were also burned. The damage done is estimated to be £100,000.

Filled His Foot With Shot.

Kingston, Ont., Nov. 15.—Fred Ostler, while hunting on Trout Lake, drew a gun towards him. The trigger caught, the weapon discharged and 100 pellets of shot filled his ankle and foot. He bled severely, but is now in the hospital and the foot may be saved.

Brooms Will Be Dearer.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—The Broom Manufacturers' Association met to-day to take steps for protecting themselves against the increased prices for broom corn. It is said an advance on brooms of from $1 to $1.25 per dozen will be ordered.

German Parliament Opened.

Berlin, Nov. 15.—The Reichstag reassembled yesterday. The President, Count von Ballestren, welcomed the members. The proceedings were formal.

AGUINALDO HAS VANISHED.

Army and Government Outside Range of U. S. Observation.

The Filipino Chief Has Transferred His Capital—Supposed Now to Be at Bongabong—Maj. Logan Killed—More Fighting, in Which Filipinos Took an Unexpectedly Strong Stand, but Were Finally Worsted.

Manila, Nov. 15.—The whereabouts of Aguinaldo and his army and Cabinet is a perfect enigma. Gen. Otis has learned that Aguinaldo recently issued a proclamation transferring the capital to Bongabong, giving as a reason for the step the unsanitary condition of Tarlac.

Major Logan Killed.

Washington, Nov. 15.—A cable despatch received at the War Department announces that Major John A. Logan, 33rd Volunteer Infantry, has been killed in a fight in Luzon. He was leading his battalion in action. He is a son of the late General John A. Logan of Illinois.

The following despatch received from Gen. Otis, under date of Manila, yesterday, confirms the report of the death of Major Logan:

"Wheaton reports Nov. 12 there was an engagement near San Jacinto between the 33rd Volunteers and 1,200 entrenched insurgents. Our loss: Major Logan by gallantly leading the battalion, and six enlisted men, killed. Captain Green and 11 men were wounded, mostly slightly. The enemy was routed, leaving 81 dead in the trenches. His loss is believed to be 300. Lawton reports from San Jose that in the vicinity of San Nicholas, north of Taynig, Wessels captured 13 carts with the insurgent War Department records, the printing press complete of the insurgent newspaper, and a large quantity of rice was also captured. The cavalry is still actively engaged and the infantry is pressing on from San Jose and Araga. The roads are impracticable for any wheel trabsportation, and the horses are foraged on rice and growing rice straw. (Signed) Otis."

Another Bloody Fight.

London, Nov. 15.—Special despatches from Manila say that seven Americans were killed and fifteen wounded in General Wheaton's day-break attack yesterday morning on the town of Salinda, which was stubbornly defended. After a heavy fire the Americans charged and stormed the works. Seventy-seven dead Filipinos were counted in the trenches.

The Wrecked Charleston.

Manila, Nov. 15.—The United States cruiser Charleston ran aground near Vigan on a hidden reef. She has 35 fathoms of water on both sides. She worked her machinery for two days and nights in trying to get afloat, but a typhoon arising, the crew were compelled to take to their boats and seek refuge on a small island five miles away. The natives are friendly. Lieut. McDonald and a number of sailors put off in a small boat and reached the Calloa, which brought them to Manila. The gunboat Helena has been despatched to bring away the crew. Lieut. McDonald describes the Charleston when he last saw her as hard and fast aground, with her bottom badly stove, and well out of the water.

Gilmore Seen, All Well.

Escaped Spanish prisoners at San Fabian report seeing Gilmore in Tarlac Nov. 6, with five men, all well. He crossed the mountain from Baler in May with 13 men. The location of the other eight is unknown.

The 33rd Infantry, in one of the sharpest two-hour engagements of the war, with an equal force of insurgents, lost one officer and six men killed, and had one officer and 12 men wounded. The Americans captured 29 Filipinos and 100 rifles, and found 81 insurgents dead lying in the trenches and rice fields.

Unexpectedly Stubborn.

The Filipinos made an unexpectedly good stand, many of them remaining behind cover until the Americans were within 20 feet of them. Major Marsh flanked a small trench full of insurgents, surprising them and slaughtering nearly all of them before entering the town. The gatling gun killed five of the force holding the bridges and swept the country beyond the town, driving about 150 Filipinos into the hills. The insurgents are supposed to have retreated toward Dagupan. It was impossible to pursue them, as the American troops were exhausted and their supply of ammunition was low. The outposts killed five Filipinos during the night. The body of the Filipino lieutenant-colonel commanding was found among the killed.

A proclamation of the Filipino Secretary of War was found in all the villages, giving glowing accounts of alleged Filipino victories, and saying that 7,500 Americans had been killed, and 15,000 wounded during the war. The dead and wounded were brought to Manila yesterday.

Aguinaldo's Whereabouts.

Prisoners say it is reported that Aguinaldo, with an army they estimated at 20,000 men—probably a great exaggeration—is retiring towards Dagupan, intending to leave by railroad for the northwest.

NEWS FROM SOUTH AFRICA.

Boer Guns Still Playing on Ladysmith But Without Effect.

More Troops at Durban—British Plan of Campaign the Hurried Relief of Gen. White—No More Cipher Messages to Go—Foreign Governments, Also, Are Cut Off—News From Kimberley and Mafeking.

London, Nov. 15.—(4.30 a.m.)—There is no additional news regarding the proceeding of hostilities in South Africa this morning, except a despatch from Mafeking, forwarded by a runner, dated Oct. 31, which says that during the afternoon Gen. Cronje, the Boer commander, sent an envoy to Col. Baden-Powell, under a flag of truce, to declare that he did not consider the Geneva Convention authorized the flag of the Red Cross Society to fly from several buildings at once in town, and that in his opinion the employment of natives against whites and the use of dynamite mines were both opposed to the rules of war.

Col. Baden-Powell replied that the Geneva Convention did not stipulate as to the number of Red Cross stations permissible, and that the Boers were only required to respect the convent, the hospital and the women's laager, all of which were beyond the town limits. The British commander also pointed out that mines were recognized adjuncts of civilized warfare, and that the defences of Pretoria were extensively mined. Moreover, he reminded Gen. Cronje that the Boers had fired upon natives, burned their kraals and raided their cattle, and that the natives only defended their lives and property.

Still They Shelled the Women.

Despite these warnings from Col. Baden-Powell, the Boers continued deliberately to shell the hospital and the women's laager. The sending of the Boer envoy was regarded, the despatch says, as a mere pretext from penetrating the British line at Mafeking. According to the latest reports the town is confident of its ability to hold out until the end of the campaign.

Weddings at Kimberley.

So far as Kimberley is concerned, the mental condition of the British there may be judged from the fact that three weddings have taken place since the siege began, the last having been celebrated on Nov. 8.

Lord Salisbury's Letter.

In the absence of fresh news, the morning papers are driven to discuss Lord Salisbury's letter regarding misinterpretations of his utterances at the Lord Mayor's banquet. Lord Salisbury declares that he does not wish to discuss arrangements which, under conditions that are yet in the future, the Government may think desirable. The letter refers to the phrase, "We do not seek gold fields or territory."

Kruger's Threat.

President Kruger's threat to execute British officers now in his hands, unless Nathan Marks, a supposed Boer spy, is released, is also extensively commented upon.

The Premier's deliverance meets with universal approval, although the explanation was in no way necessary, as, outside The Daily Chronicle, no one had supposed his words would bear the meaning which Boer sympathizers had been endeavoring to read into them.

President Kruger's threat has excited widespread indignation. The Daily News demands that his friends should promptly inform him that his own neck, and that of Mr. Reitz, the Transvaal State Secretary, will be held responsible for any such violation of the elementary rules of civilized warfare.

Blaming the Censor.

For once the censorship is blamed on account of laxity. It is asserted that the censor ought to have suppressed the story of Father Mathews regarding the surrender at Nicholson's Nek, which, while too vague to be considered evidence, must cause uneasiness. The feeling is that until the facts can be ascertained it would have been wiser not to circulate mere gossip.

Apprehension Over Ladysmith.

The great delay on South African cables, now amounting practically to five days, and the lack of any definite news from Ladysmith give rise to some apprehension, which is only relieved by the fact that no adverse tidings have come from either British or Boer sources.

Gen. Buller a Secret.

H.M.S. Powerful has arrived at Simon's Bay from Durban and begun to coal. The cruiser will return to Durban immediately with more guns.

Lord George Hamilton, Secretary of State for India, announced in a speech last evening that a relief force would immediately be sent to Ladysmith; but beyond that nothing is known of the British plan of campaign, and equal secrecy shrouds the movements of the Boers.

The Morning Post, which complains that it was unwise tactics on the part of the British officers to leave the railway intact in their retirement to Ladysmith, says: "It is another illustration of British contempt for the Boers that they treated the retirement as though it were an advance, and preserved the enemy's line of communication as carefully as if it had been our own."

Dr. Jameson, the hero of the raid, left Cape Town for England last Thursday.

The Cape authorities have seized a wireless telegraph plant found on board a vessel destined for Delagoa Bay.

Head of 5th Infantry Division.

London, Nov. 14.—General Sir Charles Warren has been appointed chief of the Fifth Infantry Division, ordered to Cape Colony. He has seen considerable service in South Africa.

Reitz's Threat.

London, Nov. 14.—A special despatch from Cape Town, dated Friday, Nov. 10, says that Secretary Reitz has demanded that General White immediately release the supposed spy, Nathan Marks, who is confined to Ladysmith, coupling his demand with a threat to execute six British officers.

General Buller replied, according to the special despatch, that he was entitled to retain the man until he should render a satisfactory account of himself.

To Choke Off the News.

London, Nov. 14.—Later in the day the Eastern Telegraph Company formally announced that, in accordance with the instructions of the Postmaster-General of Cape Colony, no foreign government despatches either in secret code or cipher can be transmitted via the Cape, except messages between Portugal and the Governor-General of Lorenzo Marquez.

TROOPS TO RELIEVE WHITE.

Transport Arrivals at Durban and Cape Town.

London, Nov. 14.—It was officially announced this afternoon that the troopship Britannic has arrived at Cape Town and that the troopships Lismore Castle and Yorkshire have arrived at Durban.

Others at Cape Town.

London, Nov. 14.—It was also officially announced that the troopship Oriental, which left London Oct. 20, had sailed from Cape Town for Durban and that the Donald Currie Line steamer Carisbrook Castle, which sailed from London, Oct. 27, with the cavalry brigade staff and reinforcements on board, had arrived at Cape Town.

Why All This Delay?

New York, Nov. 14.—A special cable to The Herald from London says: Some army and navy scandals of a serious character are brewing. The admiralty will have something to answer for in regard to transportation. The commissariat will be called upon some day to answer for stores for man and beast which have been found unfit for use just before loading.

While all parties have united to support the Government in the crisis, severe criticism is coming as to how the earlier stages of the war are being conducted.

One great outcry is, why were the troops not mobilized earlier than is being done? Thousands of troops are now being hurried to the front, but the question is asked in many quarters, why were they not transported more quickly? Though many splendid ships have been hired as transports, there are some which are reckoned below the standard for such purposes. Much indignation is expressed over putting the soldiers on old, slow boats.

The Majestic Chartered.

London, Nov. 14.—The admiralty has chartered the White Star Line steamer Majestic to convey troops to South Africa immediately after she returns from her present trip to New York. The Majestic sailed from Liverpool Nov. 8 and Queenstown Nov. 9, and is due to arrive in New York to-morrow.

STILL FIRING ON KIMBERLEY.

Shells Are Poor and the Marksmen Are Boer Amateurs.

Hopetown, Friday afternoon, Nov. 10.—An undated despatch received from Kimberley says:

"The Boers ceased shelling Nov. 7, about 7 p.m., having fired at intervals all day long some 70 shells, a majority of them falling in debris heaps and open spaces. The average range was 8100 yards. One cooking pot was injured. There was a brisk market for fragments, choice specimens fetching £2. The Boers, apparently, were shelling at the extreme range of their guns. Yesterday's attempt was regarded [illegible] The weather is splendid.

No ingenuity of barbarism—no devilish invention of the masters of torture during the time of the Spanish inquisition ever devised an agony so intense, so persistent, so long enduring, so nerve-harrowing as that which is suffered day after day by the women whose distinctly feminine organism is deranged or diseased. There are three most trying times in every woman's life; 1st—when girlhood blossoms into womanhood; 2d—when motherhood is achieved; 3d—when the capacity for motherhood ceases (the change of life.)

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was devised to make these three periods safe and painless by restoring to vigorous health the organs involved. It soothes, heals, nourishes. It gives Nature just the help it needs. It is the only preparation of its kind devised by a regularly graduated physician and skilled specialist in the diseases of women.

Me-too-medicines are preparations without standing or success. They are the substitutes sold as "just as good." Having no record of their own, when Dr. Pierce's cures are referred to they cry me-too, me-too, like the cuckoo in a Swiss clock. Don't accept me-too medicines for "Favorite Prescription."

Mrs. M. Barnes, of Balls Ferry, Shasta Co., Cal., writes: "My physician said I was suffering from the effects of 'change of life.' I had heart disease, and female trouble and rheumatism. My head was so dizzy I could hardly stand up. When I began Dr. Pierce's medicines I improved right along. I took seven or eight bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription,' a teaspoonful three times a day, and the 'Pleasant Pellets' at night. I feel as well as I ever did. I take great pleasure in recommending Dr. Pierce's medicines to suffering women. I think that they are the best medicines in the world."

The bombardment was continued briskly all the morning of Nov. 8. One shell narrowly missed the Dutch church. There were no casualties. The shells are of a very inferior quality and seemingly fired by amateurs. One, almost intact, was picked up. It weighs 8¼ pounds. The Boers have been firing from three positions. So far the Boer activity causes little alarm.

Fine Weather for Shelling.

Kimberley, Tuesday, Nov. 7.—(Morning.)—(Via Hopetown, Friday, Nov. 10.)—The Boers are now throwing shells at the reservoir and waterworks. The weather is fine.

Lord Salisbury's Speech.

London, Nov. 14.—Lord Salisbury has written to the newspapers, protesting against Lord Edmund Fitzmaurice's misquotation from his recent speech at the Guild Hall banquet, and again declaring that he does not wish to discuss "arrangements, under conditions that are yet in the future, the Government may think desirable." The letter refers to the phrase "We do not seek gold fields nor territory," and is intended as a disavowal of The Daily Chronicle's interpretation that the Government does not intend to annex the Transvaal.

POLITICAL POT IS BOILING.

Sir John and Hon. Hugh John at Portage la Prairie.

Portage la Prairie, Man., Nov. 14.—(Special.)—One of the largest and most enthusiastic gatherings of the year was held in the opera house to-night, when Sir Charles Tupper and Hon. Hugh John Macdonald addressed the electors on the issues of the day. Sir Charles Tupper, on rising to speak, was given an ovation, and the building rang with cheers and applause for several minutes. The old leader seems to have lost none of his force, and his speech was in his usual vigorous and forceful style of oratory. He charged the Government with three things, incapacity, maladministration and fraud, and proceeded in his own way to prove his charges.

The Provincial Elections.

Hon. J. D. Cameron was seen to-day by a reporter. In reply to the question which is being asked so often, "When are the provincial elections coming off?" Mr. Cameron said: "You can state that it would hardly be the right thing to interfere with the Christmas holidays and with the hurry and bustle before that date, with such a thing as elections."

"Then that means that the elections will not come off before Christmas?"

"Well," said Mr. Cameron, "I should think that is what it would mean; and then to bring the elections on in midwinter would not be the right thing to do."

DRYDEN FOR THE EIGHTH TIME.

Premier Ross at the Nomination at Whitby on Tuesday.

Whitby, Ont., Nov. 14.—The Liberals of S. Ontario, at a mass meeting in the Music Hall here this afternoon, unanimously nominated Hon. John Dryden for their candidate in the bye-election to the Legislature. Mr. Dryden accepted the nomination, which he said was the eighth he had received at the hands of the Liberals of South Ontario.

The new Premier, Hon. G. W. Ross, was present, and, in replying to a complimentary address, spoke an hour and a half, outlining the policy of the Administration.

Referring to the commission of financial experts he had appointed to enquire into the finances of the province, if the report shows that the revenues will warrant, he proposes to utilize these for the development of, first, the newer portions, and, secondly, the older parts of Ontario. The Premier clearly intimated the intention of his Government to encourage industries that will utilize the resources of the province.

FABRE IS NOT LIKE TARTE.

Canadian Commissioner in Paris on The Transvaal War.

London, Nov. 14.—An article in Paris-Canada by M. Hector Fabre, Commissioner in Paris, attracts much notice here. The Daily News says: "The clear vision of the Canadian colonists on the South African question puts to shame the discrimination of some of our politicians at home." It applauds M. Fabre's declaration that had Canada not seen any disposition to grant racial equality on the part of the Transvaal, Canadians would have taken it upon themselves to offer mediation. They offer instead military assistance to the Empire, which they know by experience does not threaten the independence of bi-racial communities, but promotes their liberties.

The Daily News adds: "To have a French-Canadian holding out for the English in the French capital is a happy result of the statesmanlike policy that settled the Dominion so many years ago."

The St. James' Gazette takes the article as the true voice of French-Canadians.

HON. F. R. LATCHFORD ELECTED.

His Majority is 238, With Four Places to Hear From.

Renfrew, Ont., Nov. 14.—The election necessitated by the appointment of Hon. F. R. Latchford to the Ontario Cabinet took place in South Renfrew to-day, and the result was the return of the new Minister by a majority of 238, with Griffith, Combermere, Brougham and Hagarty to hear from. The total vote as far as returns were received gives Latchford 1313 and McGarry 1075. In Arnprior Village Mr. McGarry had a majority of 54, but in all the townships Mr. Latchford was ahead.

At the last general election Mr. R. A. Campbell, in a three-cornered fight, polled 2455 votes, against 1092 for his two opponents combined. It will thus be noticed that not only was the vote yesterday a light one, but the normal Liberal majority was greatly reduced. Mr. Campbell retired in order to place the safe constituency at the disposal of the Government.

Picquart Wants an Inquiry Now.

Paris, Nov. 15.—Col. Picquart has written a letter to the Premier, M. Waldeck-Rousseau, asking for a judicial enquiry into the proceedings of Gen. Gonze and M. Gribelin, of the Archives Bureau, in connection with the Dreyfus case.

A Pretty Stiff Advance.

Montreal, Nov. 15.—At the conclusion of the railway freight agents' meeting yesterday it was given out that an increase of from 20 to 25 per cent. would be made on commodity rates.

Cattle and Horse Burned.

Toronto, Nov. 15.—Two cows and a horse were burned to death early yesterday morning during a fire in a stable owned by George Cobb, Danforth-avenue.

GUILTY OF WILFUL MURDER.

Two Suspects in the Forest Case Before Magistrate Bartlett

Forest, Ont., Nov. 15.—At the inquest held yesterday on the body of the man found dead on the G.T.R track on Sunday about half a mile west of Forest, the following verdict was rendered: "That a certain man whose name is to this jury unknown, on or about the 11th day of November, 1899, in the Township of Plympton, in the County of Lambton, unlawfully and with malice aforethought, did kill and murder a certain other man, whose name is also to this jury unknown, contrary to the Criminal Code 1892, section 23."

Suspects in Court.

Windsor, Ont., Nov. 15.—Walter Fairburn and James White, the two men arrested by Chief Griffith of Walkerville on suspicion of being the murderers of the unknown man who was beaten to death at Forest, were remanded at Sandwich jail for a week by Magistrate Bartlett yesterday. Neither of the two suspects tallies very closely with the descriptions sent out by the Forest police. White says that his father is a brewer in Brantford, while Fairburn claims London as his home.

EAST ELGIN VACANT.

Decision of the Court of Appeal Against Mr. Brower.

Toronto, Nov. 15.—Yesterday was judgment day with the Court of Appeal. The first case disposed of by the court was that involving the election of C. A. Brower, in the constituency of East Elgin. The legality of the election was petitioned against by Charles Easton, and the trial judges, Mr. Justice Osler and Mr. Justice MacMahon, held that while corrupt practices had been proven, the matter of agency on the part of those guilty had not been established.

Mr. Brower was the Conservative candidate at the Provincial election, March 1, 1898, when he was returned by a narrow majority, which, on a recount, was increased to 29. The trial judges confirmed him in his seat, and the appeal decided yesterday was against the decision of the trial judges.

The appeal was based on the question of agency, and a majority of the Court of Appeal held that the agency had been established, and the election of Mr. C. A. Brower will, therefore, be voided.

FOR TRADE WITH CANADA.

Manchester Liners, Limited, Opens a Subscription List.

London, Nov. 15.—A subscription list was opened yesterday by the Manchester Liners, Limited, capital £1,000,000, and of which £300,000 in 4½ per cent. mortgage debentures are now issued. The company is formed to take over the services between Manchester, Quebec, Montreal and St. John. When the steamers now building are delivered, the company will own nine, with a total cargo capacity of nearly 106,000 tons. Six of the steamers will be provided with refrigerators. The only criticism based upon the issue is that seeing that the company has only existed two years and paid no dividend on the original shares, it is rather early to mortgage its property.

Suicide at Lambton Mills.

Toronto Junction, Nov. 15.—The little village of Lambton Mills was thrown into a state of excitement yesterday, when Thomas Graham, who had just driven up from the mill, reported having found the body of Mrs. Mary Waterhouse in the mill dam north of the woollen mill. Her husband, the late Martin Waterhouse, died last week, and she grieved so that she committed suicide by jumping into the mill dam, which contained about four feet of water. She leaves six children.

Italian Parliament Opened.

Rome, Nov. 15.—Parliament was opened yesterday morning by King Humbert in the hall of the Senate, Halzzo Madama. His Majesty was accompanied by the Queen and all the royal family except the Duke of Abruzzi, and by the Cabinet members and the principal court officials and dignitaries. In the speech from the throne, His Majesty said Italy's relations with the powers were excellent, and that nothing menaced the country in any direction.

Smallpox Traced to Detroit.

Toronto, Nov. 15.—The Provincial Board of Health is annoyed at the threats of Health Officer Gibbs of Detroit, who is wanting to quarantine Canada on account of the smallpox in Essex County. The authorities have traced this outbreak to Detroit, bur there Dr. Gibbs calls it Detroit, but there Dr. Gibbs calls it chicken-pox. Effective measures have been taken by the Provincial Board for controlling the present outbreak.

$10,000 Damages Claimed.

St. Thomas, Nov. 15.—On May 27 last John Johnson of Aldborough, and his son were killed by an M.C.R. train while driving over the crossing at West Lorne. Another son, Peter Johnson, was badly injured. D. J. Donahue, solicitor for Mrs. Johnson, has issued a writ against the M.C.R. claiming $10,000 damages for the loss of her husband and son and for injuries sustained to Peter.

Peter Ryan's Big Deal.

Halifax, Nov. 15.—The biggest lumber deal ever made in Nova Scotia has just been consummated, B. F. and D. P. Young having sold for $300,000 their property at St. Margaret's Bay, consisting of 80,000 acres of land, to Peter Ryan, the Toronto contractor, who it is understood is acting for Michigan and Chicago capitalists.

Lots of Work in Lumber Camps.

Ottawa, Nov. 15.—Between 3,000 and 4,000 men have already been sent to the different lumbering centres this season from the Ottawa and Hull employment agencies, and there is seemingly no cessation in the demand.

French Chamber Convened.

Paris, Nov. 15.—The French Chamber of Deputies opened yesterday, and, after some warm talk, adjourned till Thursday. The army party look upon the pardon of Dreyfus as a slap in the face, and Paul de Cassagnac made a strong protest.

Daily Intelligencer.

AS USUAL.

It is an old and stale trick of the Grit press to give currency to false and improbable rumors, and then after they've done their work, attribute their origin to the Conservative press. For instance, the Hamilton Times says:

Did the Montreal Star start the story that Lord Minto had compelled the Government to send the contingent, because the Star was anxious to help Mr. Tarte out of an unpleasant predicament? The idea that Lord Minto had taken the matter into his own hands certainly originated with the Tory Star.

Surely the Times knew that the story originated with Le Soleil, edited by Laurier's confidential friend and supporter, Pacaud, who received money from Count Mercier to run the Laurier elections in Quebec.

Instead of arranging the story, the Star and other Conservative journals, THE INTELLIGENCER among them, expressed the opinion that the story was absurd and that there was no truth in it. Try again, Times.

ASTHMA PERMANENTLY CURED.

A Well-known Canadian Notary Public Suffered for 35 Years--Permanently Cured by Clarke's Kola Compound.

R D. Pitt, Esq, Kamloops, writes: "I had suffered for at least 35 years from the great oppressiveness of asthma and shortness of breath. I had during these years consulted many physicians and tried all the remedies until the doctor told me I might get temporary relief, but I would be always troubled. I tried Dr. Clarke's Kola Compound, and after taking the first bottle I became greatly relieved, and three bottles have completely cured me. I can now breathe as naturally as ever, and asthma does not trouble me in the least. I feel it my duty to bear testimony to the marvellous effect this remedy has had in my case, and would urge all suffering from this disease to try Clarke's Kola Compound, as only those who have suffered all these years as I have can appreciate what a blessing this remedy must prove to sufferers from asthma." Three bottles of Clarke's Kola Compound are guaranteed to cure. A free sample will be sent to any person troubled with asthma. Address The Griffiths & Macpherson Co., 121 Church st., Toronto, and Vancouver, B C., sole Canadian agents. Sold by all druggists. When writing for sample mention this paper. Sold by D. M. Waters, cor. Front and Bridge sts.

Institution Locals.

(Canadian Mute.)

Mr. Keith is keeping the boys busy clearing up the fallen leaves and making the surroundings tidy for winter.

Our shoe shop sent off a case of men's long boots and women's shoes to the Kingston Asylum last week. The order took up nearly the surplus stock made last term over the requirements of the Institution.

Our young lady teachers were so enthusiastic over hockey playing last winter that they talk of forming a club this season and if the boys will play their sticks left handed, the ladies will issue a challenge for a game. Of course the boys will get beaten; they know that a lady has the right of way on all occasions.

Since the South African war opened our boys are eager for the daily war news, and they will be still more so when our Canadian boys arrive at the front. As far as time permits the teacher on duty gives a brief resume of the day's news, much to the gratification of the boys.

MONTEAGLE.

Threshing will soon be done. Oats and wheat are a full average. Peas were damaged by a small green fly, and in many cases entirely destroyed....The Messrs. Harryall have purchased a large quantity of spring calves. They have now taken away the balance of cattle bought in May. The Hybla cheese factory, though crippled by several of its members sending their milk to the creamery, will pay a good dividend, and the parties who left will be the losers....Mr. Arthur Bartlet has been seriously ill, but is out of danger.... A number of our men and teams are working on the railroad. We shall soon have sufficient railway facilities, and with the corundum mine in operation we will soon be to the front....An appeal case from Mr. Cleek's decision for cruelty to animals will be tried in Belleville in December. ......Mr. Sylvanus Heyman has got in his new shingle mill at the valley......Mr. R. REVOLVER SHOOTING.

SOME ADVICE WHICH MAY HELP YOU TO MASTER THE ART.

How to Practice With and Handle Your Weapon In Order to Become an Accurate Shot—The Various Calibers and Their Uses.

Americans are generally supposed to be the best shots in the world with a revolver. As a nation they probably are, and more individuals among them are doubtless better acquainted with the possibilities of the weapon than among other races. But it remains true, nevertheless, that the ordinary man who buys a revolver knows nothing of the art of shooting with one.

The cardinal principle in handling revolvers is never to point the weapon in the direction of any one, whether the revolver is loaded or unloaded—not even when it is being cleaned.

The next thing in order, if you wish to become a first class shot with a revolver, is to get a good one. The cheap ones are liable to get rusty and out of order, clog up, refuse to revolve, fail to explode the cartridge and in various ways prove uncertain and unavailable.

If mere accuracy in target shooting is sought for, the heavy framed revolver of 22 caliber is easiest to become expert with. The recoil is slight, and the tendency to overshoot is greatly lessened. But target shooting with these heavy, long barreled, small caliber weapons is mere gallery practice. It is not of practical use and must remain simply as an exhibition of indoor skill in a particular branch of revolver shooting. Target shooting with the 44 caliber revolver, when practiced in the open and at distances up to 50 yards, requires great skill. All such shooting is done offhand by the experts. These large weapons cannot, of course, be carried except in a belt. A soldier, expert in their use, would be doubly effective against an enemy at close quarters, for the shooting rules, giving comparatively brief space between shots, tend to produce quickness as well as accuracy in the marksmen. The men who are skilled in this kind of shooting can plant 44 caliber bullets into a space the size of a man's body at 40 or 50 yards in rapid succession with rarely a miss.

The long barreled revolvers, 6 inch, 6½ inch, 7 inch and 7½ inch, give greater accuracy than the short barreled weapons. Being heavier, they do not "throw up" so much and are capable of being held steadier. But the difference between shooting with them and with the short pistols is so marked that excellence with either is a separate and distinct art. To shoot well with a 2½ inch, 3 or 3½ inch barrel off hand and at ranges from 20 to 50 yards distance is a very uncommon accomplishment. By shooting well I mean shooting quickly and with a fair degree of accuracy for nine shots out of ten. There is nothing very difficult in taking one of the short barreled revolvers in both hands and making good scores at targets. This can be learned by practice.

But the ability to shoot off hand with the short barreled "guns," holding the weapon in one hand, is a science. It is not to be mastered by simply thrusting out the revolver, aiming and firing. Most revolvers of this kind, and even the long barreled ones, are built with a rib above the barrel and a high, coarse sight above the rib, to make up for the tendency of the weapon to raise or "throw up." In deliberate target shooting by the novice so much time is generally taken to get aim that the hand of the shooter "wabbles," and his shots go wide and high. The first thing to do after getting a good revolver is to clamp it in a vise between two pieces of wood and find out if it is absolutely accurate. If its five or six bullets all go about in the same spot when the revolver is fired, the "gun" is all right. Next go to a first class gunsmith and have him reduce the trigger "pull." Nearly all revolvers pull too hard on the trigger.

A hair trigger balance is of course to be avoided, but a moderately easy pull is highly desirable for the sake of accuracy. The next thing to do is to apply the principles of "snap shooting" with the shotgun or archery practice to your shooting with the revolver. Shoot with both eyes open. Don't try to drive tacks with a bullet, but do try to get so that you can hit a spot as big as a saucer at 10, 20, 30 or 40 yards. Practice shooting at all angles, up and down, sideways, quartering shots, on the water, straight up in the trees or directly down hill.

Learn your weapon thoroughly. Find out just how much it throws up and instinctively allow for that "raise" as you pull the trigger. Don't use a revolver that shoots to either one side or the other. Shoot by intuitive judgment, not by taking aim, but simply by holding the revolver firmly and getting the angle with both eyes, as a wing shot does with a shotgun or a skilled archer does with a bow. A man should be able in this way to shoot a squirrel out of a tree or even a duck on the water a good, long distance away.

It takes the using up of quite a lot of cartridges to attain even tolerable proficiency as a revolver shot with the short barreled "guns," but, once acquired, it is a useful accomplishment. You may not happen to have occasion for your skill more than once or twice in a lifetime, but when you do need it you are apt to need it bad. To be a good all around shot with a revolver in a practical way is to have a knowledge which necessarily takes a man into the woods and fields and gives him outdoor tramping which will be of lasting benefit to him. The greatest care should be taken while using the revolver in these wanderings not to shoot in the direction of live stock or people. The least settled portion of the country is the best for practicing in. Shooting rapidly with the double action or self cocking revolver is not productive of accuracy, but quite the reverse, and a double acting pistol, even of the best make, will sometimes stick and refuse to revolve, which might make it awkward in some cases. It is better to trust to cocking the weapon each time, even if you have a double acting arm, and fire one shot at a time rather than grind out all of the charges in Gatling gun fashion. One bullet in the object aimed at is better than a grist of them over, around or under.

The carrying of revolvers as a practice by men who are not habitually in peril breeds cowardice and crime. But as a sport, whether at the target or in the open, it can be made as fascinating and as manly an exercise as rifle shooting, and a nation which has generally become proficient in the use of the revolver and the rifle is one which commands respect.
—Ernest McGaffey.

QUEER HAPPENINGS THAT TAKE PLACE IN CEMETERIES.

The Woman Who Takes Delight In Attending Funerals—People Who Pilfer Grave Ornaments—What Becomes of the Floral Designs?

Cemeteries are about the last places in which comical things might be expected to happen, but inquiry among superintendents of different burying grounds has elicited the fact that queer happenings are not infrequent in those places. Then there are always plenty of queer people among the visitors.

First and foremost is the "professional" mourner. This is usually a woman, but occasionally a man fills this role. One of the best known of this species has come to be regarded as a "professional" by the employees of one of the cemeteries because of her regular attendance at all funerals. This particular woman always has a subdued, grief stricken air. She dresses in mourning and usually rides in one of the carriages with the friends of the deceased. Occasionally she fails to insinuate herself among the "friends and relatives" and has to avail herself of the nearest electric car in order to indulge in her favorite pastime. The employees of the place say that she could not possibly be on friendly terms or related even most remotely to all of the people whose funerals she attends, so they have come to regard her simply as a person who is addicted to this form of dissipation.

Another class of people who take their pleasures seriously use the cemeteries as a kind of picnic ground, with the merry go rounds and other refreshing features left out. Not long ago some people went to one of the burying grounds near the city, proceeded to a house in the neighborhood, had some coffee made and carried it out to their lot, where they ate their lunch.

In one of our cemeteries people have been known to carry the floral designs from the lots of strangers to their own. Some people have even gone to the places armed with brushes and pots of paint, with which they have changed the coloring of the metal designs they have "swiped" for their own lots. The painting of iron chairs and other ironwork which ornament the lots to escape detection when the articles have been removed without the consent of the owners is quite common.

"What becomes of the floral designs that are used at funerals?" might be used to ring a change on the familiar "What becomes of the pins?" After some funerals from 10 to 20 designs are left upon the graves. Not long ago, after the funeral of a little child about 6 years old, 16 designs were left on the grave. In a day or two the flowers wither, and nothing remains but the glaring tinfoil covered frame.

In cemeteries in which there are from 40 to 50 funerals every week the number of these designs which are removed every month by the employees of the cemetery amounts up into the hundreds. Every once in awhile a florist calls at one of the cemeteries and buys up a lot of gates ajar, harps, lyres, vacant chairs, pillows and anything else that may come along. The designs are usually lumped together and sold in one lot at from 3 to 4 cents apiece. The cost of the same designs when new would have been from 10 to 75 cents each.

Sometimes, besides finding himself the possessor of the conventional design, the florist may find something unusual in his collection. For instance, in the case of the death of a railroad engineer the friends of the deceased have frequently honored his memory by sending a floral design representing a locomotive and a cab. Some time ago the friends of a deceased "arab" sent as their tribute of affection a horse and wagon made of flowers, with various colored flowers in the inside of the wagon to represent the vegetables sold by the deceased.

The gravediggers in the different burying grounds have their own philosophy of life. One of them, who has been in the business nearly 25 years and who takes an exceedingly cheerful view of life notwithstanding his occupation, said yesterday that when he first went into it he felt "kind of shaky," but that now he would as soon dig a grave as do anything else.

"I've seen some mighty queer things in my time," he said. "I've seen people—mourners, I mean—catch sight of a name on the card tied on to some flower piece, and then they've gone straight to work to tear up the whole thing. I'll tell you another thing I've noticed. When a woman comes along and makes a big fuss at her husband's funeral and says, 'Throw me in, too; I can't live without him!' I know that in a few weeks' time I'll see her out here leaning on some young fellow's arm. It's never failed. It's happened every time. But the people—women and men, too—who don't take on a lot, but just keep still and sometimes don't even shed a tear, that's the kind that grieves. You don't see that kind marrying again so soon."

People who walk out of the cemetery gates with flowers in their hands are usually suspected by the superintendents of having taken what they had no right to take. Lot holders, who have a perfect right to take anything from their own lots, in order to avoid suspicion of having taken what was not theirs, will frequently borrow the methods of the guilty. Sometimes they will do as the guilty do, put the flowers in their umbrellas and walk out of the gate with particularly virtuous expressions upon their faces.

Some time ago a lot holder in one of the cemeteries paid a visit to his lot, where there were a number of particularly fine roses in bloom. He cut a rose from one of the bushes and, not caring to carry it in his hands down to the gate, put it in his hat and put the hat on his head. Then he started for the gate. On the way down he passed a lot in which an interment was being made. He had a little curiosity, and it made him step around the lot until he faced the minister who was conducting the services. When he had secured a good place, he respectfully raised his hat and displayed the beautiful rose resting right in the middle of his bald pate. He had forgotten about the rose by this time and was totally unconscious of his appearance, but it nearly broke up the funeral.

A Mind Reading Trick.

"The mind reading trick of finding concealed articles is absurdly easy," declared a New Orleans newspaper man. "It can be done by almost anybody of ordinary intelligence. The way to go about it is this: Let six or eight people seat themselves about a room, not too close together, and have somebody, selected as an assistant, blindfold you with a handkerchief and lead you to another apartment. While you absent some small article is hidden anywhere they choose.

"On your return take the hand of the person who did the hiding, tell everybody to think about the place of concealment and start in a run around the room. Let yourself be perfectly passive and stop when you feel an impulse to do so. Then stretch out the hand that is being held, grope about, still passive and still obeying impulse only, and three times out of five you'll find the article.

"That sounds strange, but it's true. If you don't believe it, try for yourself. You will improve by practice, by the way, and finally you'll hit it almost every time. It is capital amusement for a little evening party, but I would warn you not to be discouraged by a few failures and not to permit any laughing or giggling. The secret of the thing is undoubtedly unconscious muscle-reading but I have not bothered my head about theories. The facts are as I have stated."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Next after warmth children need freedom—freedom for movement in all limbs. They want to exercise their muscles even more than their brains, and they never will be quiet or staid unless they are ill.

The subject to-day is Overcoats.

Naturally, with so many handsome lines, we are anxious to introduce you to our elegant garments—anxious to again demonstrate the superiority of the "Quick & Robertson quality"—anxious to show you that selections from our fashionable, new Overcoats are not priced higher than garments of unknowable age and uncertain quality are marked elsewhere.

Overcoats for Gentlemen, $4 to $14.

Covering a wider range of fabrics than we've ever shown before, beginning with the staple lines at $4, passing up the finer goods to $14, through full lines of Kerseys, Irish Frieze, Meltons, Cheviots, Beavers, Vicunas and the new Llama Wool. Colors of Oxford Grey, Iron Grey, Soft Dark Grey, Black, Blue and Brown.

At $10 we show a beautiful All-wool English Beaver Overcoat with Silk Velvet Collar and stitched with silk throughout, best of linings and interlinings, and that graceful fit for which our garments are so well known.

Overcoats are cut a trifle longer this year, with plump fullness of body, roomy sleeves, shapely shoulders, and velvet collars not quite as wide as last year.

Fall Top Coats—full lines—$5 to $10.

For Young Gentlemen, 16 to 19 years—An equally large assortment of ultra fashionable Overcoats, with prices $5, $6, $8 to $12 50.

These comprise pleasing selections in the new mixtures popular with exclusive custom tailors. English Cheviots, fine and smooth Kerseys—correct style in every line.

For the "Little Gentlemen," 7 to 15 years—Are the nobbiest Overcoats ever shown in Belleville, prices $2.50 to $7.50.

These are in Coverts, Cheviots, Friezes and Beavers. Made after the fashionable mold of the Men's Overcoats, and with a little extra effort in finish.

Reefers for the Boys, 3 to 17 years, $1.25 to $5

Made from Serges, pure All-wool Chinchillas and Friezes—with those big warm storm collars—button over the little breast and close up to the chin. Ideals of comfort and fashion, with never a doubt of satisfactory wear.

Men's Heavy Ulsters for $5.

For $5 we are showing an extra heavy All-wool Frieze Ulster, tweed lined, in brown and claret shades. This is without doubt the best coat shown to-day at that price. See it.

Come with confidence—there's no loophole for disappointment to follow your buying here.

Professor W. J. Alexander, of Toronto University, in Alberta Hall on Friday evening. Tickets at Riggs' Music Store.

A gentleman picked up a pocket book yesterday containing a small sum of money, and gave it to the Chief, who desires to find the owner.

Remember Prof. Alexander's lecture on "Novels: Their Origin and Use," in Alberta Hall to-morrow evening. Tickets at Riggs'.

In conversation with Mr. Adams last evening, Mr. Magie, owner and manager of The Lion's Heart company, which appears here next Tuesday evening, Nov. 21, stated that he will guarantee his company to be the best in every respect that has ever visited this city, otherwise Mr. Adams need not pay him one cent.

The Citizens' lecture course committee has arranged for three illustrated lectures to be given in the City Hall. The first will be the beautifully illuminated story as told by J. S. McMurray, describing his personal experiences in the Hawaiian Islands, where he resided for two years. A few musical numbers will also be given, and Mr. McMurray will sing two songs and play a euphonium solo.

Success on Its Merits

A drama that does not depend on tanks of water, buzz saws, steam engines, high divers, etc., is a real novelty nowadays. Such, however, is Mr. Carl A. Haswin's production, "A Lion's Heart," which will be the attraction at the Opera House next Tuesday night, Nov. 21. This play depends for its success on its merits as a dramatic work and on the wealth of beautiful scenery that is used in its production. The story told has a new and original plot, one that holds the attention of the audience from start to finish. There is a prologue and ten scenes, for all of which the scenery is carried by the company.

Sporting Notes.

The Rugby football match here to-morrow afternoon between the Queen's, of Kingston, and the local team, will no doubt prove an interesting event.

The clothiers of the City contemplate organizing a hockey team this winter. The lyres will no doubt be prepared to give them a match.

Afternoon Despatches.

THE INTELLIGENCER'S afternoon despatches are twelve hours in advance of the Toronto morning papers.

Gen. Joubert Was Killed.

Commander of the Boer Forces Died on the Field of Battle.

Proclamation Issued by the Government re Protection of Life and Property.

(OTHER DESPATCHES ON INSIDE PAGES.)

Durban, Sunday, Nov. 12.—It was rumored here to-day that Commandant Gen. Joubert of the Boer forces was dead. The Times, of Natal, later published a telegram from Lorenzo Marques saying that Gen. Joubert was killed in action on Thursday.

A proclamation has been issued by the government dealing with the protection of life and property in the territories now occupied by the Transvaal forces. Britishers it says, will not be interfered with. A great amount of looting has occurred in the territories, however, since the proclamation was issued.

London, Nov. 16.—The report of the death of Gen. Piet Joubert, the commander-in-chief of the Boer forces, needs confirmation, but many people believe it to be well founded, as the General's death is said to have occurred on Nov. 9, when the Boer riflemen were understood to be within 1500 yards of Ladysmith.

It is conjectured that Gen. Joubert, always noted for his personal courage and coolness, may have dangerously exposed himself in a personal reconnoissance of the British position.

The driblets of news this morning bring the information that Ladysmith was still undergoing on Sunday bombardment from six 40 pounders.

The British naval guns were silent.

The Boers, therefore, have got more heavy guns into position, while either the British ammunition has given out or the British gunners are reserving their fire.

Estcourt, Nov. 13.—The West Yorkshire Regiment has arrived here.

The bombardment of Ladysmith has been resumed. Heavy firing was heard early this morning.

An armored train was sent out on a reconnoissance towards Colenso.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Whitcher Dramatic Company continue to draw good audiences at the opera house and their performances take very well. Last evening Hazel Kirke was presented to a good crowd, who appeared to appreciate the play. The specialties, including the singing of Babie Rossie, were entertaining.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING

That by reference to the article in another column it will be seen that the now celebrated phrase, "business is business," did not originate with Tarte's friend as supposed.

That some of the bakers in Belleville should have their scales tested. People are complaining that certain bakers sell short weight loaves. One gentleman says he purchased a loaf the other day which only weighed 3¾ pounds. Will some of the bakers kindly take a "word in season?"

That the bad boy has been writing another letter. He says:

Dear Willie,—Once more I take up my pen to let you no how things is goin on in Johnsonville, as the feller down by the market forgot to call this butiful city. We had grate fun the other nite at the tea table. Pa he was larfin and he sed the Ekonomist of the City Council would soon have to get the legs of his pants lengthened and Ma she sed why, and Pa he sed the people down by the market was pullin his leg so much, that was the reason. Pa sed the Ekonomist was goin to run for Mare, and Ma she sed if they was going to have old women in the Mare's chare she might as well run herself. Pa ses he is going to run for Water Commissioner himself, and Ma she ses that Pa is like a good many other men in Belleville, it is menny a long day since he bothered himself much about water, and then Pa he got mad, though I didn't see much to get mad at. We have had some rane lately and the streets are in an orful state, but then, as our old frend T. S. B. Jiggers would say, what do we care for a little mud. Pa ses that when the rollen mills starts the money will fly, because the fellers that works in rollen mills are generally high rollers. Ever your old frend Georgy.

A PATRIOTIC LETTER

Received by Col. Ponton from a Former Member of the XV., Now in Wyoming.

The following are a few extracts from a letter received by Col. Ponton from an old member of the XV., now in Wyoming, U. S. A.:

"If such a contingency as a general war should arise, I believe it is quite apparent that Canada would be called on to do her duty, and, judging from the last offer of troops, and the patriotism displayed, the Mother Country will not have to call twice. If such should happen I am sure the old XV. will be on their way to the front and I want to go with them. Send me the latest books on military tactics, drill, etc., and I will put in all my spare time in making myself thoroughly efficient. Remember if the XV. goes, let me know, and I'll be there at roll call, in any capacity, but I will qualify for promotion. You have no idea of a Canadian boy's feelings from two or three thousand miles away. Canada can well be proud of her sons, and her sons of Canada. You have opened the eyes of the Americans over here; they cannot understand it. I tell you I enjoyed Mayor Johnson's account of the departure of the contingent, and believe me I cheered when you cheered, and, when the boys were gone, I found that my feelings, too, had carried me away."

Boys' Reefers.

If you get the boy a reefer he's happy, for he can romp and play, skate and slide in them without the hindrance of coat tails, and without fear of a cold, for a good warm reefer, such as the Oak Hall sell, is the most comfortable garment ever put on a boy. Materials that are reliable.

A number of Masonic brethren from Picton were in the city yesterday afternoon en route to Stirling, where they last evening visited the lodge in that village.

THE SAME OLD POLICY.

The Same Old Plea, the Same Old Plunder and the Same Old Falsehoods

In the last dying shuffles of the Ontario Administration, when Messrs. Hardy and Harty disappeared, the new Ministers, Stratton and Latchford, took their places and the Crown of Premiership surmounted the poetic laurels on Mr. Ross's brow, we expressed little hope of improvement and less of reformation.

The speeches of Messrs. Ross and Stratton in Renfrew last Friday completely justified our view. The new Minister, by his statesmanlike references to the Colonization Roads Funds proved himself a worthy member of the Patented Combination, while the Premier, in his statements touching the purity of Ontario Elections, most convincingly maintained his reputation for ability and veracity over the other George Washington, for we know that the latter "could not tell a lie."

Mr. Ross proclaimed with great unction and apparent sincerity that there had been 927 elections since Confederation and that no reflection had been cast on any Returning or Deputy Returning Officer up to the West Elgin election, and we can well imagine both the unblushing effrontery with which this impudent assertion was made and the thunders of applause with which it was received by his deluded hearers. He even figured out the number of Deputy Returning Officers in each election so as to show the enormous mass of Reform honesty with which that Party of Purity had been striving for so many years to leaven the political unrighteousness of this country.

It seems a pity to prick so pretty a bubble, but the stern fact remains that the Premier's statement was untrue, and he knew it when he spoke. The political atmosphere of this Province has been charged with such complaints for years and there is not a "doubtful" constituency in which they have not been made. We will for the present content ourselves with one instance, because it occurred in our own county and was brought up in the Local Legislature while Mr. George Washington Ross was a member. An investigation was refused on the most transparently hypocritical grounds, while he, if then filled with a yearning for a pure election and "unswitched" ballots, most studiously and successfully concealed all emotions. It was the general election of 1890, and Messrs. Hudson and Vermilyea were the candidates in East Hastings. D. R. Leavens was the Returning Officer and he appointed James McCready Deputy at Flainfield and himself Deputy on the First concession of Thurlow. The returns from these two polls gave so much smaller returns to Hudson than they had given him in previous elections that the electors declared that their ballots had been tampered with. Those who had voted for Hudson at these polls were asked to make declarations to that effect, which some, at all events, did. Hudson was elected and the Reformers demanded a recount. The Returning Officer thoughtfully deposited the ballot boxes in the office of our esteemed Grit contemporary in this city, and on the recount it was found that the ballots had been so clumsily tampered with, all being marked by the same hand with the same pencil in the same place, that even the Reform candidate admitted the fraud and abandoned the recount. At the following session of the Legislature Mr. Hudson brought up the matter, stating the facts in detail, and he and Mr. Meredith demanded an investigation, producing on the floor of the Assembly declarations from many more voters than votes had been cast for Hudson, saying that they had voted for him. Sir Oliver refused any investigation on the ground that the matter should be left to the Courts. The hypocrisy of the suggestion was pointed out by Mr. Meredith, showing that had Vermilyea been declared elected, a protest would have exposed the proceedings, but, as Hudson had been declared elected, he couldn't protest against himself.

Now we beg in advance to protest against the defence Mr. Ross and his organs will make. They never meet a charge, or place an issue before the people fairly, so in this case they will all declare with one voice that the Returning Officer was innocent of the charges made. That however, will not meet our charge. Mr. Ross says no charges were ever made against any Returning Officer; we have shown that there were. Will he have the honesty to withdraw his boast and the courage to admit that the Government that refused an investigation was wrong?

We wonder, too, if he will expect the people to believe that between the time that "switching" ballots was charged in 1890 and the time it was admitted in 1899 that nothing of the kind was ever done? We wonder, and the electors will wonder, how many of the seats that Mr. Ross boasts of having carried in all these years were won in the same way?

Mr. George Washington Ross's veracity in this matter is about as honest as his claim to the authorship of a certain patriotic poem. His declaration that no charges of improper conduct on the part of Returning Officers in the past had been made was untrue, and he knew it just as well as he knew that he plagiarized the poem of which he claimed to be the author. Marvellous, indeed, is the effrontery of such politicians.

CARPETS.

Crossley's Velvets.

There is no make of carpet that gives a richer effect than a good Velvet Carpet. Like all other pile carpets, the colors blend into each other so beautifully, and they have that softness of tone that harmonize so well with other furnishings in the room.

Crossley's Velvets are made from fine WORSTED yarns, which ensures wear and durability. If you want a carpet rich in appearance and sure to give satisfactory service, and moderate in price, you could not do better than buy one of our Crossley's Velvets.

We are showing some choice styles in these durable carpets at $1.25 per yard. As we are Crossley's sole agents for this district they can be had only from us.

English Tapestrys.

Just now we are showing a particularly choice lot of fine English Tapestry Carpets at 35c, 50c, 65c and 75c a yard. The ones at 65c and 75c have borders to match. These are made by thoroughly reliable English Carpet makers, and will give wonderful service when you consider the price.

Many of these patterns are copies of best Brussels, and it would take an expert to tell the difference between some of them and fine Brussels Carpets.

"I don't know. I have a feeling of depression," said mother. "I do not feel so sanguine as I did that the man Percy found is really and truly my own Vladimir, your dear father. The photograph is very like him, I admit, though when one examines it through a magnifying glass, it appears less so than with the eye alone. It would be so dreadful now that our hopes have been raised, if he should prove to be some one else—some one with a strange, though a very strong and undoubted resemblance to father."

"But, dearest," I said, "if this photo so resembles father that both you and I, the two people on earth who know and love him best, instantly agreed that this must be he and no other, how unlikely it is that any one else can possibly be so like him as to take us both in. It must be father. I did not believe it myself until I saw the photo, because I could not understand why—I mean I could not reconcile father's secret disappearance with his character as I know and love it, but now I am convinced in spite of myself."

"The face looks coarser and more weather beaten and haggard through the magnifying glass," said mother. "See for yourself!"

I looked and at once I understood what mother meant. There were lines of care or hard living, or what not. The temples looked balder than father's and the stubby beard he wore appeared strangely vulgar after father's carefully shaven chin. I said guardedly that this was so.

"But," added, "in spite of all that, mother, darling, I think it must be father. Who else can it be? It is not as though he had a twin brother, or any brother, so like as to be mistaken for him."

To my horror mother's face suddenly grew white, and she sat down quickly in the nearest armchair. She placed her hand to her heart. I flew to her side.

"What is it, mother, what is it?" I cried.

"Oh, Boris, I forgot," she murmured. "I had never thought of it till this moment—I forgot—he bade me forget it, and I did, for it was so great a shame and sorrow to him that he dared not hear it mentioned. Yes, foolish woman that I have been and am, it must be he, and I have believed him thousands of miles away, and so did my Vladimir"—

"Who, mother, who?" I said in desperation. "Of whom are you speaking? What shame and sorrow can there be in connection with my dear father? Tell me all, mother. I am your own son. Do not be afraid to confide in me."

"I am not afraid!" said poor mother. "Your father would have told you himself in good time, maybe, but it is different now, and I will tell you. My dear husband, good and true man as he is, and the soul of all honor, has or had a brother, of whom you have never heard, who is his very opposite, as wrong is of right. This man fell into criminal ways while still almost a youth, and—I will tell you the details another time—was sent to Siberia, a life sentence. He may have escaped. We know nothing of him; as I say, both your father and I have striven to forget his very existence."

"I see," I said, "I see. But did he so resemble father that one might be mistaken for the other?"

"I never saw him," said mother, "but they are said to have been very much alike as boys."

CHAPTER X.

MEETING IN A LONDON RESTAURANT.

"But stop a minute, mother!" I cried, bewildered by the sudden revelation. "Let us consider. What does the existence of this criminal uncle of mine exercise upon the mystery? Do you suggest that this man in London may be father's brother and not father, is that it?"

"That is what struck me; only that it must be remembered the unfortunate man is, or is supposed to be, suffering a life sentence in Siberia."

"He might have escaped!" I reflected. "Let me see, supposing that he has escaped and is at large in London, is, in fact, the man Percy found, how would that affect father's disappearance? It need not affect it at all, need it, excepting that we should have wasted all this time over a false clew? No, mother, I don't think it can be this precious uncle. When one comes to think of it, things point so conclusively to father having left for London at the time of his disappearance—the police declare it, the station officials testify to it—it must have been father himself and not his brother, for, in the first place, how could he have escaped from Siberia? And even if he did is it likely that he would have deliberately come to St. Petersburg, the most dangerous place to appear in that an escaped convict could choose? And then think of the coincidence of the time of his departure with father's disappearance! No, it would be too extraordinary."

"I am thinking," said mother, "that this Andre, the brother, may have come to St. Petersburg on purpose to harass your father and obtain money from him. Poor father may have been so shocked and horrified by his sudden appearance here that the shock temporarily upset his reason, so that he"—

"No, mother, I can't believe it!" I interrupted. "Father is too sane and too manly to collapse in that way at the shock of seeing his rogue of a brother. Only consider. We will not do him the injustice of believing it possible. What was this Andre sent to Siberia for?"

"Political murder. He got into a bad set at the cadet corps as a youth. Heaven knows why he should have inclined to revolutionary ideas, a youth of such position and prospects as he enjoyed. But he did. The commandant expelled him for some foolish speech or action, and he went from bad to worse. Eventually the poor wretch was concerned in a diabolical plot, was arrested, tried with the rest—under his assumed name, thank God—and dispatched to Siberia."

"Where he is still to be found, never fear, mother. Did he actually kill a man?"

"I believe so!" said mother, shuddering.

"Oh, they'll have taken good care of him, don't doubt it. He is still there. This man in London is father and no other. He must be. We must find a better theory for his turning up in England than this. Your original one about delusions and financial worries is better than the other. Borofsky will bring back dear old father to us; never doubt it, mother."

"God grant it prove so, dear, brave Boris," she sighed. "I would not be cruel or unkind, but I do sincerely hope and trust this terrible Andre, whose crime caused your dear father so much shame and bitter sorrow, is, as you say, securely looked after in some Siberian mine. If he were really at large, I should fear I know not what for our beloved."

"How could he injure father, excepting by revealing himself and causing father shame?" I asked. "I am sorry to hear of this shady relation, dear mother. But I really don't see how he can have anything to do with this mystery of ours."

Mother became pacified gradually and thought with me that there were too many chances against the probability of my disreputable uncle having turned up in London to make such a theory worth troubling ourselves about. We therefore dismissed it, leaving Andre the convict to languish in his Siberian mines, so far as our imaginations condescended to recall from time to time the rascal's existence. It was father that Percy had found, not a doubt of it.

WHITNEY REPLIES TO ROSS.

Premier's Dryden Nomination Speech Sharply Criticised.

Mis-statement Corrected—That Financial Enquiry Will Be a Farce—Employee to Sit as a Critic of His Master—Bribe to Hastings—Government's Timber Policy Forced on Them by Conservatives.

Whitby, Nov. 15.—(Special.)—The large music hall in this town was crowded to the doors this evening by an enthusiastic audience to hear Mr. J. P. Whitney expound the policy of the Liberal-Conservative party in regard to provincial politics.

Mr. Calder's Remarks.

Mr. Calder was most heartily received and at once stated that he was not there to make a speech, as the electors would have other opportunities to hear him. He vigorously denounced the "slick work" that had been performed by the friends of his opponent in the late election, and the delay of the Government in bringing on the bye-elections. He told of interviews with Reformers who were "cold" towards their party as a result of the villainies that had been exposed in the late election trials, and before sitting down repudiated Mr. Dryden's denial, that he (Mr. Calder) had been approached by Mr. Dryden's friends to retire before the last election, and allow the Minister of Agriculture to be elected by acclamation. Before closing, Mr. Calder expressed himself as positive of heading the polls on election day.

Mr. Whitney's Speech.

Mr. Whitney expressed his great pleasure at the presence of so many ladies, as theirs was always an influence for good. Before addressing himself to the speech delivered by the Premier here yesterday, Mr. Whitney described the recent election in South Renfrew, where the Government's majority was so greatly reduced, as "the first gun in the last fight." He denied Mr. Ross' statement that this was a new Government simply because one man had gone out and two new men had come in. He reminded the audience that Mr. Hardy had himself, on becoming Premier, after his first Cabinet meeting, announced his Government as the Ross-Hardy Government. This new Government is nothing but the remains of the Hardy Government, and the action of Mr. Ross and such of the Liberal press as the great Christian paper, The Montreal Witness, in trying to cast on the retiring Premier the odium of the late election scandals, was cowardly and mean. The effort of writing up Mr. Ross at the expense of Mr. Hardy reminded the speaker "that a live jackass could always kick at a dead lion."

Mr. Ross' Speech Dissected.

Taking up Mr. Ross' program, Mr. Whitney denied the Premier's assertion that he (Mr. Whitney) had cast a reflection on the integrity of the bench by stating to a newspaper reporter that the proposed commission to inquire into the late bye-elections would be a farce. What he did say was that the commission to inquire into the finances of the province would be a farce, and infinitely worse than a farce. Look at the men whose names were given as constituting the commission: Mr. John Hoskin, Q.C., an official of the Government at a salary payable monthly, and liable to be dismissed at any time, a servant to pronounce judgment on his master. Then another member of this great commission was the head of the bank having enormous deposits of the funds of Ontario. The thing was positively indecent. Then, too, the idea of this Government, who had, in season and out of season, boasted of a large surplus, and after handling the funds of the province for over 25 years, issuing a commission to enquire into the financial condition was rather ludicrous. The surplus Mr. Whitney aptly characterized as "that antiquated relic of fiction." All our assertions regarding the surplus are, said Mr. Whitney, to use a phrase of Mr. Ross', "proved to the hilt." No further proof indeed was necessary than the Government's having recourse to direct taxation, for such would be the result of their bills for the taxation of loan companies and insurance companies, as the borrowers and policyholders of these companies would soon discover.

The Development Plank.

Then, another plank in the program of the Premier was the development of New Ontario, and Mr. Whitney contrasted Mr. Ross' present attitude with his action in 1881, when he voted in the Dominion House in favor of a motion of Sir Wilfred (then Mr.) Laurier, deprecating building a railway from Nipissing to Port Arthur. Truly, the late Sir John Macdonald builded better than he knew, when he insisted on the great Transcontinental Railway.

The Election Scandals.

The Premier thought it unwise to dwell too much on the late election scandals. He said they left a bad taste in the mouth. In this the speaker agreed with him, and he denounced in vigorous terms the remissness of the Government in setting into motion the machinery of justice for the punishment of their employes, who had been guilty of such terrible malfeasance of office as lately disclosed in West Elgin and elsewhere. As far back as 1887 he (Mr. Whitney) had tried to have the House pass his bill making bribery punishable by imprisonment as well as by fine, but in that and the two or three following years the Government had baulked his efforts. In 1887 Mr. Whitney himself prosecuted in his own constituency five men for bribery, and four pleaded guilty, and the other skipped the country. In face of all this Mr. Ross, however, would declare that the Liberals were the first to make any efforts to punish bribery in elections.

Cold Storage and Other Planks.

Other planks of this new platform were cold storage, transportation and the home manufacture of the raw article, in which latter Mr. Whitney say the "cloven foot" of protection, and with these Mr. Ross had no more to do than any other citizen had, except by bringing to bear such influence as he possessed with the Dominion Government in favor of the end he might desire. In vigorous language he denounced the administration of the Education Department, paying particular attention to the Public School system, and showed how the system, as contemplated by the late Mr. Ryerson, its founder, had been changed. The speaker's views on the Public School question were the views of not only such eminent educationists as Professor Goldwin Smith but of the people at large, and this would be plainly seen when the true voice of the electors got expression.

A Contrast.

Before outlining his own general policy Mr. Whitney contrasted the Premier's stated intentions of yesterday of "working for the moral development of the people," as well as their material advancement, and his pious quotation of "righteousness exalteth a nation," with his bold, bare and undisguised attempt to bribe the electorate of North Hastings in his speech at Madoc, when, as reported in a paper edited by his own son-in-law, he had stated that in that constituency they did, no doubt, need bridges, colonization roads and a development of their mineral wealth, and possibly the Government had overlooked their claims. The riding had always been Conservative, but let them elect Mr. Lott, and that gentleman would no doubt be able to impress the Government with their needs. This from the lips of the great purifier—the Premier deodorized. Truly, righteousness exalteth a nation. [Great laughter and cheers.]

The speaker pointed out that manhood suffrage was first proposed by his predecessor, Sir William Meredith.

The Timber Policy.

The timber policy now adopted by the Government was forced on them by himself and his followers in the House.

In a magnificent peroration Mr. Whitney described the present Government as dying of dry rot; promised on behalf of the approaching Conservative Government of the province of Ontario repeal of direct taxation, increased grants to agriculture, and to colonization roads, and the development of the province in so far as our financial position would allow; the wholesome financial policy of keeping our expenditure within the limits of our resources; a proper audit of the public accounts, and the establishment of our Public Schools on the basis of self-centred, independent institutions, and not mere stepping stones to the High Schools and Collegiate institutes, as they are today declared to be by the late Minister of Education and present Premier.

Mr. Whitney took his seat after a speech of an hour and a half's duration, amidst tumultuous cheers, and, after cheers for the Queen, Mr. Whitney and Mr. Calder, the large audience dispersed, greatly impressed and firmly convinced that the day was over in South Ontario for the threshing machine and the gang that worked it.

In the afternoon Mr. Whitney visited the Ontario Ladies' College here, where he was received and heartily welcomed by Dr. Hare, the members of the faculty and the young lady pupils.

HON. MR. FOSTER AT BARRIE.

First Address of Ex-Finance Minister in North Simcoe.

Barrie, Nov. 15.—(Special.)—Hon. George Foster was given an excellent hearing here to-night on the occasion of his first address in this town. His appeal for an uncompromising opponent of the Laurier Government in North Simcoe and other ridings of Ontario was greeted with tremendous applause. The enthusiasm and make-up of the large audience would indicate that the split in the Conservative party in North Simcoe seems to have been healed, and uncompromising hostility to the present Government is unanimous. H. H. Strathy, Q.C., occupied the chair and referred to Mr. Foster as one of the foremost of Canadian statesmen.

Before Mr. Foster was introduced to the audience, Col. Tyrwhitt, M.P., A. B. Thompson, M.L.A., and W. H. Bennett, M.P., gave short addresses.

Aluminum Lined Aerated Ovens

Are proof against the gathering of grease or dirt of any kind. The oven is always bright and clean—not so much as a smutch to be seen anywhere. The aerated oven makes impossible the gathering of foul odors of any kind, because pure, fresh air is ever coursing through it—the impure always crowded out. These are reasons why the most dainty and delicate dish—milky foods of all kinds—can be cooked in an aerated oven without taking on, in any degree, the odors of other dishes.

THE SHOWER OF METEORS.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 16.—One hundred and forty-seven meteors, 58 of them leonides, were observed during yesterday morning at the Harvard College conservatory, by about a dozen persons. At one time the meteors fell at the rate of one a minute, and some of them were bright as stars of the first magnitude. Several photographs were taken, but a cursory examination failed to show meteoric trails on the plates.

No Meteors, but an Earthquake.

Lima, Peru, Nov. 16.—There were no celestial phenomena Tuesday night, but at 12.30 o'clock yesterday morning there was a strong earthquake shock, accompanied by a great rumbling.

The latest news received here in regard to the revolution is that Col. Ore, of the insurgent forces made an attack on Pisco, in the department of Lima, but was utterly defeated, losing many rifles, mules and ammunition.

SEVEN PERSONS DROWNED.

Philadelphia Schooner Capsized Off Newfoundland—All Hands Lost.

Philadelphia, Nov. 16.—Private advices received here yesterday from St. Pierre, Miq., tell of the wreck of the Philadelphia and Baltimore schooners Enda and Emma, and the loss of the captain and his wife, and the crew of five men. The schooner was recently towed into St. Pierre, bottom up. When the ship was righted, in the cabin were the bodies of Captain Richardson and his wife. A water-stained diary, kept by the captain, stated that May 1 the Edna and Emma encountered a fierce northeast storm. One by one the members of the crew were washed overboard, and the captain and his wife sought refuge in the cabin. At this point the story of the diary ends.

REALITY AND DREAM.

I can smell the scented snowflakes
Softly falling at my feet;
Hear the bees that sip the honey
From the cherry blossoms sweet.
I but shut my eyes to see them,
Orchard, meadow, brook and well;
I can hear the cattle coming
Down the lane with tinkling bell.

See the clouds go swiftly sailing,
Summer zephyrs fragrant blow,
Where the sunset and the river
Meet and fade in golden glow.
There are moss incrusted pebbles
Where the robin dips his wings
In the brook whose rippling music
Of my boyhood ever sings.

Happy boy whose careless whistle
Echoes through the vanished years;
Now a dreamer in the gloaming,
Looking through a mist of tears.
That the light and this the shadow,
Days like passing visions seem,
Till I whisper in the twilight
That the real and this the dream.

For coughs, colds, bronchitis and all lung and throat troubles, there is no preparation or medicine can compare with Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which causes difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relief to that depressing tightness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and huskiness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous. If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety, trouble and expense, let them procure a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the Syrup according to directions.

It is easier to be good than great—there is less opposition.

At Death's Door—Dyspepsia Conquered. A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight decreased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonial and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. Totally Deaf.—Mr. S. E. Crandell, Port Perry, writes:—"I contracted a severe cold last winter, which resulted in my becoming totally deaf in one ear and partially so in the other. After trying various remedies, and consulting several doctors, without obtaining any relief, I was advised to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

Gordon Committed for Trial.

Ottawa, Nov. 16.—When Nelson A. Gordon, the man whom the police say is the much-talked-of house-breaker, appeared in the prisoners' box, silent as usual yesterday morning, he seemed to have aged years since his last appearance. His color was sallow, and his hands shook like a man suffering from some disease. After some evidence was taken, Gordon was committed for trial.

Big Blaze at Kingston.

Kingston, Ont., Nov. 15.—Fire, supposed to have been of incendiary origin, along with water used to extinguish the flames, yesterday morning seriously damaged the fruit store and storehouse of Joseph Hiscock. Smoke also damaged the stocks of MacNee & Minnes, wholesalers, and R. McFaul, carpet furnishings. All were well insured.

THE THORN'S DAY.

So green the hedges show, and delicate
With fairy leafage! Nothing can abate
The creeping, vernal tide of happy spring,
Which, as we gaze, submerges everything.
From rain wash'd orchards, o'er the grasses wet,
Shaken with gusts the cherry blossoms fall,
And apple boughs are budding on the wall—
Only the thorn is flowerless yet.

But soon the may will bloom and fail and pass,
Brief as the dawn dew shimmering on the grass!
And then what shyer speedwells will look up,
While pools are drap'd with water buttercup!
And overhead the young oak boughs shall sway
Crushing their golden leaves in tender strife
And murmur through our talk of love and life—
"Only the thorn has had its day."

BULLER HAS ENOUGH TROOPS.

His Plans To Aid White at Ladysmith Are Now Complete.

Boers Are Getting Closer—The Enemy Advanced to Within 1500 Yards of the British Forces in Front of Ladysmith — Warm Work Done at Mafeking—Brilliant British Bayonet Charge at Night.

London, Nov. 15.—The troopship Hawarden Castle, with 2nd Battalion of the Royal Irish Fusiliers, has arrived at Durban, bringing the number of reinforcements that have landed there up to 5227. Five other troopships are now en route from Cape Town to Durban.

The total reinforcements that have arrived in South Africa since Friday are 19,000 men, chiefly infantry, nearly 13,600 horses and mules, three batteries of field artillery and a number of quick-firing Maxim guns.

The fact that the Britannic has proceeded for East London is taken to mean that Gen. Buller is satisfied that the troops which have already landed, or are now on the way to Durban, will be sufficient to carry out his plans for the relief of Ladysmith.

Gone to East London.

London, Nov. 15.—It was officially announced this afternoon that the British transport Goorkha, with the First Brigade staff, the 3rd Battalion of Grenadiers and a detachment of the Royal Engineers; the transport Manila, with the 2nd Devonshire, and the transport Nomadic, with the remounts, have arrived at Cape Town.

The transport Britannic, with the Royal Irish Rifles, has sailed from Cape Town for East London.

HAS JOUBERT MADE HIS ATTACK?

Boer Forces Said to Have Got Within 1500 Yards of the British.

Cape Town, Friday, Nov. 10.—A despatch received here from Pretoria, under date of Thursday, Nov. 9, says the reports received there from Ladysmith said heavy cannonading started at daybreak, that some of the Boer forces were within 1500 yards of the British when the cannonading ceased and rifle fire commenced.

The Pretoria despatch also announced that all was quiet at Mafeking and Kimberley.

How Viewed in London.

London, Nov. 15.—If the news contained in the Pretoria despatches of Thursday, Nov. 9, by way of Cape Town, Friday, Nov. 10, is correct, and there is every reason to believe it is accurate, as the Boer despatches have almost invariably hitherto rendered fairly accurate accounts, it is claimed here that it implies that a general assault on Ladysmith was pending when Gen. Joubert's report was sent off. Attention was called to the fact that the date, Nov. 9, is assumed to be the date of Gen. White's last pigeon post message, announcing a renewal of the bombardment, since which nothing has been received except rumors from Estcourt, that the bombardment was suspended Nov. 10. It is claimed that if the Boers got their forces within 1500 yards of the British position it shows they fully realized the necessity of utilizing the brief interval before the arrival of the British reinforcements to make a determined attempt to storm Gen. White's position.

Boers Attack Chief Khama.

London, Nov. 16.—The Times publishes the following despatch from Buluwayo, dated Thursday, Nov. 9: "The Boers attacked the Bechuana Chief Khama at Selika Kop on our side of Crocodile River yesterday and were repulsed. Khama is confident and is working heartily with us. He is supported by 100 men from here. Chief Linchwe, who was at first loyal, is thought to be wavering."

MORE FIGHTING AT MAFEKING.

Brilliant British Bayonet Charge on Trenches—Bombardment Was Ineffectual.

London, Nov. 16.—A despatch to The Daily Mail from Mafeking, sent by way of Magalapye, because the runners sent southward were unable to traverse the Boer lines, gives an interesting account of the fighting during the last week in October. The correspondent says:

"After the failure to rush the town, Gen. Cronje had recourse to the tactics employed during the siege of Potchefstroom in 1881, making an advance to the town by a succession of trenches. Such a move had been anticipated by us for some time, and for that reason there had been sent out parties to worry the Boers incessantly by night attacks.

Went Out to Worry the Boers.

"These tactics the enemy disliked, but he contented himself with a daily shelling of the city, which exposed him to little personal risk. Then Col. Baden-Powell played his trump card by sending out Fitzclarence's party to worry the occupants of the trenches.

How They Did It.

"The little force stole out silently in the darkness. No shot was fired, and the men, with fixed bayonets, creeping rather than walking along the veldt, gradually approached the chief Boer position near the race course. Then, as they closed in, there was a shrill screech. It was Fitzclarence's whistle, and the signal for onslaught.

Terrific Havoc Wrought.

"A ringing British cheer, which the listeners back in camp caught up, was the only reply as the party dashed into the trenches. There was a fearful struggle, the attacking force catching and bayoneting the Boers under the tarpaulins where they crouched, crying for mercy. At least 50 bayonets got to work, and the havoc they wrought was terrible.

"For just a moment there was no systematic return fire, but then a perfect hailstorm of bullets poured in from the trenches to the rear. Again Fitzclarence's whistle sounded. It was 'Cease fire, and scatter homeward.' The British forces scattered, silently crossing back under the furious fire in the darkness to the appointed rendezvous, where the roll was called.

The Men Were Congratulated.

"Col. Baden-Powell met and congratulated Capt. Fitzclarence and his men upon their splendid work, saying that it was a heavy price to pay, but that the Boers had to be stopped making rifle trenches within range of the town. The members of the party are now the envy and pride of the garrison. Even the Boer commander, Botha, expressed admiration at the attack, and added that he would take Mafeking ere long, for he meant to do one thing or the other quickly.

"Sunday passed quietly, the volunteer band played in the women's laager. All Sunday night the Boers poured a rifle fire into the town. It was set going after dinner Sunday evening, when Baden-Powell hoisted a red lamp on the commanage, which was the signal for Capt. Fitzclarence's night attack. The ruse answered splendidly. The moment the light appeared the Boers opened fire, and their fusillade lasted the whole night through.

Waste of Ammunition.

"There has been a tremendous waste of ammunition. Indeed, it is estimated that 30,000 rounds of ball cartridges were wasted on the occasion of the night attack on the Boer trenches. Double rations have been served out to the men who are under shelter, so as to be on the safe side if the Boers should sweep the town by a long range rifle fire. The garrison is hanging on finely. Col. Baden-Powell has the fullest confidence in everybody, especially in the matter of implicit obedience to the order to hold the fire until the Boers get to close range.

"The shelling continued all Sunday at intervals. About 4 o'clock in the afternoon Gen. Cronje sent in a flag of truce, giving Mafeking a chance to surrender at the eleventh hour.

"While the flag was receiving attention the heavy bombardment continued."

The despatch then describes Gen. Cronje's great attack of Monday, the details of which have already been cabled from Col. Baden-Powell's own despatches.

Enemy Retired Beaten.

"Then end came," says the correspondent, "after five hours' fighting. The enemy retired, being heavily beaten for all time so far as Mafeking is concerned. It was the hottest day of the siege and the firing was terrific, the Boers evidently recognizing that the way into Mafeking, if any, is by a kopje, which was gallantly defended by Col. Walford's men. The garrison is jubilant, while the Boers have been hurled back in disorder on the laager, and will have to content themselves with a long range bombardment, unless they are strongly reinforced.

Boers Lost Heavily.

"The enemy lost heavily. For hours after their fighting line had been rolled back two wagons went slowly along their position, picking up the dead and wounded the kopje resembled a shambles after the fight. All the men were killed by bullets or shells. The lookout tower was shot to pieces, while even the saddles of the horses were fearfully battered. The whole place was simply smashed up by the concentrated fire of seven guns and a thousand rifles.

Could Not Live at Short Range.

"The Boers at first held on their advance pluckily, but they could not live when they came to short range, the men being shot down at 300 yards."

100 Boers Killed.

The Boer loss is estimated at one hundred killed and wounded. The Boer commander informed an officer in charge of a flag of truce that he estimated the attacking squadron at one thousand, and, he added, that he was not aware that the British force at Mafeking was so large. The Boers were observed from Mafeking burying their dead all day long.

Lord Methuen Goes North.

Cape Town, Nov. 10.—Gen. Lord Paul Methuen of the first division, accompanied by his staff, went north this evening by train.

IT NEEDS STEAM.

If there's no steam in a fire-engine it won't do its work. Heavier metal or larger wheels won't help it. It needs steam. It's the same when a man's strength is gone, he wants new life—fresh vitality. It makes no difference how large his frame may be or how big the muscles on his arms and legs; if the inner power and force of life is lacking he can't do his work; he is practically a sick man. You can't make him well by feeding him with oily emulsions. There's no use in flabby fat. His proper weight will come after he gets well. The first thing he needs is strength, force, steam.

"About a year ago," says Mr. John Brooks, of Boylston, Mass., "I was taken with a bad cold which settled on my lungs. The doctors said I was in consumption and could not get well. I took emulsion of cod liver oil and it did me no good. After taking it four months I heard of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and wrote to him for advice. I have taken this medicine and it saved my life. I felt so sick when I wrote to him I thought I would not live the winter through.

"In the morning I would raise an awful lot and spit all the time, with pains in my chest all the time. My bowels would not move more than once or twice a week; my strength was nearly all gone; I could not do a whole day's work. Now my bowels are regular every day, and I feel no more pains in my chest. I feel a great deal stronger. I am working hard every day, driving a team in the woods, and I owe my thanks to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I know it saved my life. I cannot praise it enough. I am proud to tell my friends what cured me."

The way this great remedy acts in bronchial and lung diseases is more fully described in Dr. Pierce's great 1000-page Common Sense Medical Adviser, sent FREE for 31 one-cent stamps to pay the cost of customs and mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y. He is always ready to give free advice by mail.

QUEBEC LEGISLATURE.

Will Meet January 11th, According to a Semi-Official Announcement.

Quebec, Nov. 16.—It is semi-officially announced that the Provincial Legislature will be summoned for the 11th day of January next. The session is not expected to be over five weeks in duration, as the Government have no measures to submit to the House calculated to provoke any prolonged discussion.

Death of Dr. Ennis.

News reached this city yesterday of the death of Dr. Thomas Ennis at Grand River, Gaspe. He was the late Federal Conservative candidate for that district. He was 37 years of age, unmarried and a son of the late Thomas Ennis, secretary of the Department of Public Works, and also secretary of the Board of Dominion Arbitration.

THE PATRIA ON FIRE.

The Steamer's Passengers Were Saved in the Nick of Time by a Russian Steamer.

Big Steamship on Fire.

London, Nov. 16.—The Hamburg-American steamer Patria, Captain Frolich, which left New York Nov. 4, for Hamburg and passed The Lizard on Tuesday, is on fire near Dover. All the passengers were rescued and have arrived at Dover.

A Timely Rescue.

The Russian steamer Ceres sighted the Patria, showing signals of distress and demanding immediate help, about 12 miles north of Hinder lightship. The liner was enveloped in smoke. Putting on full steam, the Ceres soon reached the Patria, and sending a boat, learned that Captain Frolich was in urgent need of assistance.

The boats were got out and with great difficulty all the Patria's passengers, numbering 150, were transferred to the Ceres, which proceeded for Dover, where she arrived just before midnight.

No Time to Dress.

The hurry of the rescue was indicated by the fact that most of them were enveloped in blankets only. They were rapidly distributed among the hotels or sent to the Sailors' Home, and everything possible is being done for their comfort.

There was very great excitement among the women and children, but the example set by the coolness of Captain Frolich and the crew had a calming effect upon the passengers generally.

The boats were promptly got over the side, the crew working as if they were at drill. The safety of the ladies and children was the first consideration.

The crew of the liner consisted of Germans.

OVATION TO THE QUEEN.

Her Majesty Opens Bristol's Convalescent Home.

Bristol, Nov. 16.—The visit of Queen Victoria here yesterday, to open the convalescent home of Clifton, was made the occasion for a great display of patriotism. The town was lavishly decorated, and Her Majesty passed through six miles of Venetian masts, Imperial standards, Heraldic designs and garlands of flowers. Thirty trains brought immense crowds of visitors to Bristol. The Queen, who was accompanied by Princess Christian of Schleswig-Holstein, Princess Henry of Battenberg, and the Duchess of Connaught, was received with a royal salute, and escorted by a detachment of the Household Cavalry, the procession started for Clifton in the midst of a tumultuous popular acclamation.

Mayor of Bristol Knighted.

A force of 7,000 volunteers and regulars lined the route to Clifton. An address by the Mayor and corporation, was presented to Her Majesty in a gold casket. During the ceremony of the inauguration of the home, 27,000 children sang the Jubilee hymn, and an address was presented to the Queen, who expressed the deep personal interest which she took in the charity, and earnestly expressed the hope that the home would contribute in no small degree to the alleviation of human suffering.

The dedication ceremony was brief and impressive. Her Majesty returned to Windsor last evening. The home, which is intended as an adjunct to the Bristol Royal Hospital, cost £100,000, and was privately donated.

An International Contest.

Toronto, Nov. 16.—Joe Goddard of Australia and Jack McCormick of Philadelphia were matched yesterday by the Crescent Athletic Club to box 20 rounds in the Mutual Street Rink here on Saturday night, Nov. 25. This heavyweight contest is the most important ever billed by a club in Canada.

FRALICK KILLED A PROWLER

John James, a Violinist, is the Dead Man at Kingston.

Fralick Gave Himself Up and Coroner's Jury Returned a Verdict of Justifiable Homicide—St. Alexandre, Que., Greatly Agitated Over an Italian with a Hacked Skull—Identity of the Man Murdered at Forest.

Kingston, Ont., Nov. 16.—John James, with a bullet through his heart, was found in the early dawn in a field near the Cataraqui Driving Park. He had been shot by Charles Fralick, proprietor of the hotel at the park. The story told is that Fralick was awakened by men prowling outside. He looked and found his hencoop invaded and fired a revolver. The men fled.

Fralick made an inspection and found many hens slain by the thieves, and in following the runaways found James' body in an adjacent field. He was dead. Fralick at once gave himself up.

James was aged 30, a violinist and the son of a respectable citizen. Deceased was married.

The coroner's inquest was held yesterday afternoon in the Police Court at 4 o'clock. The chief witness was Fralick himself, who gave the whole story of the unfortunate affair.

After 20 minutes' deliberation the jury rendered a verdict of "justifiable homicide." Fralick will appear before the Police Magistrate this morning.

MAN MURDERED AT FOREST.

May Be a Brother of Mrs. William Plunkett of Ottawa.

Ottawa, Nov. 16.—The man who was found murdered beside the G.T.R. track about half a mile from Forest, Ont., on Sunday morning last, is believed to have been an Ottawa man. Last night Mrs. William Plunkett of 55 Christie street, called on Chief of Police Powell and said she thought, from the description of the remains, it might be her brother, George Kirkwood. Mrs. Plunkett furnished the chief with full particulars, and he wired Chief R. Jennings of Forest.

Chief Jennings wired back: "Description sent appears exactly like that of the dead body here." The means of identification were a cataract on the left eye, tattoo mark on forearm and burn on right hand.

Mrs. Plunkett has a brother in Windsor, where the dead man said he was going the night before he was killed, and her other brother, George, was to have gone to Windsor. Inquiries have elicited the information that he has not arrived there. He had arranged to go by way of Forest, and has not been heard of since his departure.

Toronto, Nov. 16.—The Attorney-General's Department has sent a detective to look into the case.

AN ITALIAN'S SKULL HACKED.

His Assailants Supposed to be Countrymen of His Own.

Montreal, Nov. 16.—A despatch from St. Alexandre, Que., says that the villagers are terribly excited about an attempted murder, which in all probability will prove fatal, for the victim is at the present moment dying in the Hotel Pouliot, with his skull almost hacked to pieces. Judging from the man's condition he must have been struck down about 12 o'clock yesterday. He is still alive, though on the brink of dissolution. The victim is an Italian, and from what the people here can judge, a man who had been working on the railroad. There has been a great deal of quarrelling among the Italians employed on the road of late, and it is said that several of them belonged to different Italian societies, and that this fact had caused much bad blood. For this reason some people seem to think that either "The Mafia" or the "Vendetta" may have had something to do with the tragedy, and that the would-be murderers were also Italians.

The Varcoe Tragedy.

Toronto, Nov. 16.—The coroner's jury in the matter of the death of James McIntosh, alias Curtis, have brought in a verdict exonerating Constable Dickson in shooting him, and recommending the latter's conduct to the Police Commissioners.

Yesterday the police made a seizure of dangerous explosives. The haul consisted of 25 pounds of dynamite, 15 pounds of fuse and 6 cases of caps, or 100 in all. The seizure was made at 43 Bond street, the home of Manly Kimball, by four officers late in the day. It is thought Kimball was in league with Mr. Varcoe's murderers, and he is now in custody pending investigation.

Government Candidate Elected.

Rome, Nov. 16.—The Chamber of Deputies yesterday, by a vote of 198 to 179, elected Signor Colombo, formerly Minister of the Treasury and the Government candidate, to the Presidency of the House, against the Opposition candidate, Signor Biancheri, formerly President of the Chamber.

Princess Louise Reported Burned.

Saint John's, Que., Nov. 16.—The steamer Princess Louise, which Captain Naylor has been running between Saint John's and La Celle for some time past as a passenger and freight boat, is reported to have been destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon near La Celle.

French Must Expect a Fight.

Paris, Nov. 16.—The Central Red Cross Society has received from the French Red Cross Society, through its president, the Duke of Auerstadt, the gift of a complete equipment of medical appliances, instruments, etc., sufficient for two field hospitals.

Daily Intelligencer.

INJURED INNOCENCE!

A THREAT.

"Be Jiggers" Go Ahead.

On the 10th of the present month, The Ontario, owned by a man commonly known as "Be Jiggers Tom Carman," made the statement that THE INTELLIGENCER was, in its exposure of the dirty little Wall Paper transaction, actuated by personal obligation to the Mayor. To this we gave an emphatic denial, and told some plain and unpalatable truths, which the same "Be Jiggers" does not appear to relish; among them was a little episode of some ten years ago, with the then Alderman Porter, which appears to have aroused the ire of our genial friend Tom and has led to an exceedingly rash act on his part.

On the return last night from Toronto of the Managing Director of THE INTELLIGENCER, he had placed in his hands a copy of the Ontario of the 14th inst., containing a malicious and vile personal attack, which, like the owner of the sheet that published it, is too contemptible to note further than to say it was couched in malice and false in statement.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Nov. 14th, 1899.

DEAR SIR:—I am instructed by Mr. T. S. Carman of this City, Proprietor of The Ontario, to request you to make a proper apology to him through the columns of your paper for the unwarranted attack upon his character contained in the issue of your paper of the 13th, inst under the heading "The Reason for the Animus Shown," in which, among other things, you state "The Ontario has had a good deal to say of late about honest civic government. It is characteristic of it that it should advocate honesty in one column and defend dishonesty in another. But people whose memories carry them back ten years will wonder if this individual who is now uttering such beautiful sentiments about honesty and civic reform is the same party who went to Mr. E. Guss Porter (then Alderman for Murney Ward) and offered him $25.00 if he would use his influence to have the lease renewed for a certain barn which the proprietor of The Ontario rented to the City for use as a fire station."

Mr. Carman hereby informs you that he never made any such offer to Mr. E. Guss Porter for his influence in this or any other matter relating to the business of the City of Belleville, and that he considers the above statement a libel, and if a retraction is not forthwith published in your paper he will bring an action against you for such damages as he may be advised.

Yours truly,
W. J. McCAMON.

In days gone by the theory was "the greater the truth, the greater the libel." Fortunately that theory in law has been exploded and now truth can be pleaded in justification.

An apology, however, will appease the tender sensibilities of "Be Jiggers Tom." Well, dear friend, here it is, in the proceedings of a Committee of investigation, appointed by the City Council to inquire into a case of attempted bribery. It is copied from THE DAILY INTELLIGENCER of June 5th, 1889, which, we trust, will be considered ample by the advisers of Tom:

"BUSINESS IS BUSINESS."

THE CARMAN BRIBERY CHARGES UNDER INVESTIGATION.

SERIOUS ALLEGATIONS AGAINST THE ACCUSED—THE FACTS TO BE REPORTED TO THE COUNCIL.

The special committee appointed by the City Council on Monday last to investigate the alleged bribe offered to Ald. Porter by Mr. T. S. Carman, met last evening. Those present were the chairman (Ald. J. W. Johnson), L. Johnson, Reeves, Anderson and Forin. Mayor Diamond was also present. The communication from the Mayor was read, calling attention to the alleged offer of a bribe by Mr. T. S. Carman to Ald. Porter, and also the offering by Carman of a bribe to Mr. J. S. Howell in reference to some city printing. Mr. Carman, although notified of the meeting, did not attend. Ald. Porter being called upon to make his statement, gave it as follows:

Mr. Carman came to my office in the latter part of April or the first part of May, and when he came in he closed the door behind him. My clerks, Mr. McRae and Mr. W. P. McMahon, were in the outer office at the time. I was sitting at my desk writing a letter. When Mr. Carman mentioned the subject I took the conversation down verbatim. The conversation was as follows:

Mr. Carman said, "See here, Porter, you are on the Fire Committee ain't you?"

I answered "Yes."

Mr. Carman said, "You know that that lease of mine of the fire hall runs out soon. I would like to get the darned thing renewed."

I answered "Yes."

Mr. Carman said, "You can do something for me in that, and I will tell you what I will do. If you get that lease fixed I will give you $20."

I answered, "Carman what kind of a man do you think you are talking to?"

He answered, "Well, business is business you know. I have spoken to two or three other aldermen and they told me they were willing."

I said in reply, "Now, Carman, don't try to argue such a thing with me. The less you say the better."

I then got up and opened the door and walked out, Mr. Carman following me to the door. No further conversation took place until May 15th, when Mr. Carman came into my office and walked into my private room, where I was writing, and said:

"Say, Porter! what did you want to say anything for about what I offered you in the fire hall matter?"

I said, "I thought it an improper proposal, and I reported it at once to the City Solicitor for my own protection, in case it should at any time be made public."

Mr. Carman answered, "It was only offered in private, and was a personal matter between us."

I answered, "It was an improper proposal, and I felt it was my duty to report it to the City Solicitor, which I did: but I did not think it wise to say anything about it, or make it any more public. If anyone wants an investigation, I will then tell the whole thing as it occurred; but there is no object in my holding you up to ridicule when no one has suffered from what you have said."

Mr. Carman answered, "All right, Porter, I am much obliged."

He (Mr. Carman) then walked out of the private room into the outer office. Mr. Farnham, one of my clerks, was there. When Mr. Carman got near the outside door he turned around and said, "Then, Porter, you won't say anything more about it?"

I answered, "No, unless there is an investigation."

Mr. Carman then said, "I am much obliged to you. Good day."

This was all the conversation he (Mr. Porter) had with Mr. Carman relative to the matter. Immediately after Mr. Carman left his office, after the first conversation, Mr. Porter saw the City Solicitor and reported to him the conversation. Not 5 minutes had elapsed between the time when Mr. Carman had spoken to him and when he informed the City Solicitor what had occurred. He also reported it to the Mayor the first time he saw him after the conversation.

Ald. L. Johnson was of the opinion that it was a matter that did not concern the Council. He considered it nothing more than a private matter.

Ald. J. W. Johnson said the Committee had been appointed by the Council, and it was necessary for them to report to the Council.

In answer to a question from Mayor Diamond as to what his opinion was of Mr. Carman's proposal, Ald. Porter said he would rather that it be left to the committee to answer. He, however, took it to be an attempt to bribe him, and secure his vote on the Fire Committee.

In answer to an enquiry from the Solicitor, Ald Porter said that both conversations were taken down while he was sitting at his desk.

Messrs. McRae and W. P. McMahon corroborated the evidence of Ald. Porter as to the time when Mr. Carman was in his office, but neither heard any of the conversation. Mr. L. H. Henderson, the City Solicitor, and Mayor Diamond testified as to the statements which were made to them by Ald. Porter, as above stated.

If the above proceedings, copied from public records, be not considered an ample apology, lots more is in store, which can be supplied gratis. The locker is not yet empty.

Perhaps injured innocence has forgotten the letter received from Mr. J. W. Johnson, then an alderman, of date 19th July, 1889. If so, it were well for him to refresh his memory by re-reading it. If this has escaped his memory perhaps a little transaction connected with a certain Ira Walker estate may be of interest.

More, if necessary.

Youth.

A Remedy has been Discovered that will Permanently Cure Catarrh.

Japanese Catarrh Cure Cures.

This is not merely the words of the makers of this remedy, but the assertion is backed up by leading physicians and the honorable testimonies of hundreds of cured ones. And more, there is an absolute guarantee to cure in every package, or money will be refunded. We will also send a two weeks' trial quantity free to any person suffering from this dangerous disease. Japanese Catarrh Cure is a new discovery, being a prescription perfected by one of America's most successful specialists in treating this disease. It is a soothing, penetrating and healing pomade, prepared from stainless compounds of Iodine and Essential oils, to be inserted up the nostrils. The heat of the body melts it, and the very act of breathing carries it to the diseased parts. It reaches soothes and heals every part of the mucous membrane, curing invariably all forms of catarrh of the nose and throat, and all forms of catarrhal deafness. Mr. Joseph Little, the well-known mill-owner of Port Essington, B.C., writes: "Japanese Catarrh Cure completely cured me of catarrh, which had troubled me for 25 years, during which time I had spent over $1,000 on remedies and specialists in Toronto and San Francisco. About two years ago I procured six boxes of Japanese Catarrh Cure, and since completing this treatment have not felt the slightest symptoms of my former trouble. I can highly recommend it. Relief came from the first application. We always keep a supply in the mill for cuts and burns and consider it superior to any other remedy for healing."

MISSION WORK IN JAPAN.

Interesting Paper Read on the Above Subject in St. Thomas' Last Night.

The Women's Mission Junior Auxiliary in connection with the Anglican churches of the City, held an interesting meeting last evening at St. Thomas' Hall. Rev. Canon Burke occupied the chair. The meeting was opened by singing, prayer and an address by the Chairman, after which Miss J. Sills gave a paper on mission work in Japan. Mrs. Loucks, of Picton, gave an exhaustive and pleasing paper on the general work of the Auxiliary. Rev. A. L. Geen read a paper on "Our Natives." Miss Sharp, of St. John's church, gave a paper on mission work in the North West, and Miss Alice Adams a paper on mission work in South Africa. Miss Clarke also gave an admirable paper, and short but appropriate addresses were given by Rev. Mr. Gustin and Rev. Rural Dean Bogert. At the conclusion of the programme refreshments were served.

Their Business Booming.

Probably no one thing has caused such a general revival of trade at J. S. McKeown's Drug store as their giving away to their many customers of so many free trial bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Their trade is simply enormous in this very valuable remedy, from the fact that it always cures and never disappoints. Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup and all throat and lung troubles are quickly cured. You can test it before buying by getting a trial bottle free, large size 50c. and $1.00. Every bottle warranted.

Brave Men Fall

Victims to stomach, liver and kidney troubles as well as women, and feel the results in loss of appetite, poisons in the blood, backache, nervousness, headache and tired, listless, run-down feeling. But there's no need to feel like that. Listen to J. W. Gardner, Idaville, Ind. He says: "Electric Bitters are just the thing for a man when he is all run down, and don't care whether he lives or dies. It did more to give me new strength and good appetite than anything I could take. I can now eat anything and have a new lease on life." Only 50 cents at J. S. McKeown's Drug store. A WHITEWASHING JOB.

How a Hardworking Missourian Caused a Lot of Trouble.

"No more intrepid man ever lived on the plains of western Kansas than Bob Wright," says one of our exchanges. But, nevertheless and notwithstanding, there was once a time when Bob Wright showed the white feather, and the story may be worth relating.

Along in the early seventies Mose Waters, who later ran the post sutler's store at Fort Riley, was conducting a saloon at Dodge City, and Bob Wright had a store in the same block. Mose will be remembered by old timers at Hays City, Dodge City and Junction City, as a redheaded Irishman who would fight at the drop of the hat. While in Dodge City Mose became interested in fast horses, and to house his trotters properly he had built on the lot in the rear of his saloon a big barn, the most imposing structure of the town, and this barn was painted the most brilliant red that ever was. This was the situation when one morning a big, two fisted Missourian applied to Bob Wright for a job.

"Can you whitewash?" asked Bob.

"Reckon I kin," replied the Missourian.

"See that big barn over there?" continued Bob. "Well, I want that barn whitewashed. I had it painted red, but somehow I don't appear to like the color now, and I want you to make her white from top to bottom."

The Missourian was duly equipped with a brush and big bucket of whitewash and was starting to his work, when Bob said:

"By the way, there is a crazy fool in this town that has got it into his head that he owns that barn. If he comes around interfering, you just chase him off the premises."

"All right, boss," responded the Missourian. "If that lunatic monkeys around here he'll wish he hadn't."

This was in the early morning, and soon the Missourian was slathering whitewash over that beautiful red barn in a manner most ghastly to behold. About 10 o'clock Mose Waters, who slept in the back end of his saloon, was awakened by his bartender, who pointed out to him the work of devastation proceeding in the back yard.

In his stockings and trousers and with but one suspender over his shoulder Mose bounded into the yard, shouting: "Here, you blankety, blank ——! What are you doing to that barn?"

"Go away, lunatic," calmly responded the Missourian as he stood on his ladder and slapped great gobs of whitewash on the beautiful red cornice. "This is Mr. Bob Wright's barn, and he told me to chase yer off ef yer came pesterin about yere. Don't git gay, er yer mought git hurt."

"Bob Wright's barn, is it, you blankety, blank idiot! Well, I'll just kill you first and then settle with Mr. Bob afterward," shouted Mose as he seized the bottom of the ladder and commenced to twist it away from the building. About the second twist the big Missourian seized his bucket of whitewash and poured the whole contents over Mose's head and shoulders and then slid down the ladder to the ground, where the two mixed in one of the prettiest fights the town had ever seen. But the Missourian was too much for Mose, and pretty soon he had the redheaded Irishman on the ground with two black eyes and a bleeding nose. Then the crowd which had gathered compelled him to let Mose up, and with a howl of rage that much abused man started for his room and his six shooters.

It is needless to recount the subsequent proceedings. Ten minutes later Bob Wright was mounted on a swift horse en route for Fort Dodge, some five miles away, where he was proprietor of the sutler store. From this point of vantage he opened negotiations with Mose. In the course of a week, as the anger of Mose subsided and his eyes began to lose lose their dark rims, the humor of the situation began to dawn upon him, and at last he consented to an armistice which enabled Bob to return to town. —Kansas City Journal.

ROBBING THE ABORIGINES.

How the Indian Women Go Shopping In the Territories.

If you watch Indian women shopping you will see feminine eagerness, caprice and love for fine and pretty things. They cannot shop as other women do, poor things, for, instead of flitting gayly to any shop that pleases, they are in most cases obliged to patronize one, and that is rarely the best. The reason for this goes deep into governmental appointments and Indian agents, and the question is too delicate and reformatory to discuss. Women of the Sarah Barton class cannot speak of it with patience.

When the woman of the reservation goes shopping, she does so only at such times as the government gives its wards their allowance. The Indian trades on credit, the agent pays the store and not the Indian, and the storekeeper sees that the bill of goods bought shall equal the amount of pension money due his customer, even though he is reduced to selling half a yard of velveteen for $2 and common gilt tape at $1 a yard.

And yet the women find shopping infinitely amusing. In some of the larger towns shops reach a cheap imitation of the department store, and the Indian women take varied and feminine delight in sauntering from one counter to another, feeling of dress goods and gazing at unattainable ribbons and passementeries. The shop's interpreter goes with them, like a courier, and lightly directs their somewhat doubtful fancy to unsalable goods. They are timid and gay as children and most unlovely to look upon, for there is an unhappy incongruity about tenement house garb and Minnehaha physiognomy.

They are very shy and show none of the dignified indifference of the men, which is like that of a lion in captivity. In the shop they cling to the interpreter with a faith that would appeal to any ordinary conscience, but the Indian and his money are considered fair game in the territories. After the shop is left the women follow closely on the heels of their lords until bundled into the big box wagon to drive home. I have never seen one alone on the streets of a town, so great is their timidity in the face of that civilization toward which they are inevitably advancing.

Down Among The Iron Men

Past, Present and Future of Belleville's New Industry.

Interesting Particulars as to Output and Value of Plant—Vast Quantities of Material on Hand---Sketch of the Principals.

November 22nd, 1898, was a day pregnant with interest to the people of Belleville; verily, a day to be marked with a white stone. After years of depression and dulness, it looked, when the vote of the citizens had been taken, as though an era of prosperity was once more in store for us, and everybody who has been down on a visit of inspection to the vast buildings now erected on the bay shore will cheerfully admit that, if present appearances go for anything, the time is not far distant when well-paid mechanics will once more be occupying our vacant houses and prosperous days will have dawned for the good old City of the Bay.

The incidents connected with the inauguration of the Rolling Mills and Spike Factory must yet be fresh in the memory of our citizens, but just at present, when one can almost count on his fingers the days which will elapse before the engines begin to throb and the whirr of machinery and the tramp of busy feet commence, if one could collect and publish all the proceedings of the various meetings, and give in full all the arguments advanced pro and con, it would make interesting reading. That is out of the question, but THE INTELLIGENCER purposes to-day to give, in as brief and concise a form as possible, as much of the data and other information as lies in our power.

The first information our citizens had on the subject was when it was announced in the Council that through the efforts and on the recommendation of Mr. T. C. Lazier, formerly of Belleville, but then of Norwich Ct., Mr. Frank A. Mitchell, of the latter City, desired to move his large rolling mills to Canada, and, on the recommendation of Mr. Lazier, had selected Belleville as a likely spot. He requested that a committee should be appointed to go to Norwich and investigate his standing in the mercantile world, and, accordingly, a committee, composed of the following gentlemen, went to Norwich:

Mayor Johnson, Ald. Bogart and Wallace and Mr. John G. Frost, President Board of Trade, and Mr. S. S. Masson, City Solicitor.

They came back fully satisfied as to the various matters entrusted to them to investigate, and the question of a bonus was next in order. Mr. Mitchell demanded a bonus of $50,000 and a free site, and a long newspaper controversy ensued, the upshot being that the first agreement, embodying the terms mentioned above, fell through, and it looked for a time as though the project was a dead issue.

But the public-spirited men of Belleville were not going to give it up so easily, and negotiations were opened with Mr. Mitchell to ascertain whether he would not agree to some modifications in the first arrangement. It must certainly be said that Mr. Mitchell acted with a spirit of fairness, and, after some little correspondence, negotiations assumed a favorable form.

The first really definite action taken in the matter was when, on the evening of Wednesday, October 19, the Joint Rolling Mills Committee met to deliberate on, and take final steps in, the matter.

Those present were:—Ald. Bogart, Chairman; J. Parker Thomas, Secretary; Mayor Johnson, Ald. Laroche, Ald. Doyle, Ald. Hungerford, Ald. Wallace, G. S. Tickell, J. G. Frost, C. F. Smith, C. M. Reid, W. W. Pope, Allan McFee, W. H. Gordon, Henry Pringle, Walter Alford, C. H. Vermilyea, Thos. Hanley, U. E Thompson and D. V. Sinclair. To the above gentlemen the City owes a debt of gratitude, both for the dogged persistency which some of them showed in the face of great discouragement, and the energetic hustling which most of them did both in and out of season.

At the meeting the Mayor announced that Mr. Mitchell had returned from Montreal, having entered into an agreement with the Abbotts for the amalgamation of the Thames Iron Works and the Metropolitan Rolling Mills. He had, he said, reason to feel confident of the good faith of both Mr. Mitchell and the Abbotts. He read a letter from Mr. Mitchell stating that as soon as the by-law and agreement had been passed the combined plants would be moved to Belleville and would be erected and equipped concurrently. These works would include a merchant bar iron mill, a sheet mill, a nail factory, and a spike and horse shoe factory, and they would employ from 100 to 150 men.

After a very full discussion of the matter it was decided to submit the agreement to the Council, following being the chief points of the document in question:

1. Union of the Abbott and Mitchell concerns to be consummated as soon as possible.

2. Company to commence erection of works and plant as soon as site is provided by the City.

3. Plant to be such as is required in a first-class rolling mill and iron works.

4. Company to fully operate works at their own expense.

5. City to provide site.

6. City to pay $15,000 on completion of works.

7. Contractor agrees that Company operate works nine months in the year, so far as practicable, for first ten years.

8. Works to begin within three months after passing of by-law and be in running order within twelve months.

9. City to pay $5,000 each year, if contract is satisfactorily carried, out until $50,000 has been paid.

10. If contract not carried out by works being partly closed, right to further payments to be forfeited, and in case works permanently closed, $15,000 to be refunded before works can be removed.

11. City to submit by-law, authorizing issues of debentures for $50,000, to pay for site and duties on machinery, but not to exceed $5,000, making $55,000 in all, and to exempt plant and works from municipal taxation for ten years.

12. At end of seven years, if works not operated according to contract, contractor to pay $15,000.

13. City to place two hydrants near works.

14. Works to be used for manufacture of iron and steel and other goods, as contemplated by agreement.

15. Contractor to keep works insured during whole ten years in the name of the City and for their benefit.

16. City to pay not more than $3,000 duty on machinery.

On the evening of Monday the Council met, the following gentlemen being present: Mayor Johnson, Aldermen Petty, Lenox, Harris, Naylor, Chisholm, Denmark, Finnegan, Wallace, Panter, Grills, Doyle, Clarke, Falkiner, Bogart, Hungerford, Ashley, Laroche and Lott.

After a great deal of discussion a by-law embodying the above agreement passed its first reading and, on motion of Ald. Bogart, the Mayor was authorized to sign the agreement and affix the corporate seal.

The by-law was submitted to the electors on November 22nd, 1898, and was carried by a vote of 1,001 for and 71 against.

On April 5th, 1899, the first sod was turned, and on April 27th contracts for the erection of the various buildings were awarded to Messrs. Thomas Hanley and Walter Alford.

THE BUILDINGS.

Rolling Mills Proper.

The main building, known as the rolling mills proper, stands on the southern part of what was commonly known as the cricket field. It is an immense structure and, as the contractor stated, is one of the largest buildings of its kind. It is a most substantial structure, the material used in its construction being the best that could be obtained. It is a frame building, and sheeted with corruscated iron, painted red. It is 321 feet in length, and 150 feet in width. Some of the timbers used were from 35 to 45 feet in length and were proportionally thick. From the ground floor to the centre of the roof, the distance is about 50 feet. This building was started in April, and was completed in August, within the time specified in the contract. On the south side of the building, the seven large smoke stacks will arise. These are 3 feet 4 inches in diameter, and are elevated to a height of 55 feet above the boilers upon which they rest.

Nail and Spike Factory.

This is a substantial and imposing brick building erected just north of the rolling mills building. It is 53 feet in width and 266 feet in length. This structure has also been erected not only for stability but convenience. There are two annexes to this building, which will be provided with the necessary machinery as soon as possible after the other portion of the works are in operation.

At the northeast corner of the nail and spike factory are the commodious boiler and engine rooms. Although the machinery is not yet in a position to be driven by the power hereby furnished, fires have been placed under the boilers. The engine for supplying the motive power for the manufacture of nails, spikes, etc., is of the latest design and make. It is equal to about 100 horse power.

In this connection it may be stated that in this engine room will be placed two dynamos for the purpose of supplying the necessary light for the various buildings and grounds. One of the machines will furnish power for 10 powerful arc lights, four of which will be used outside and six inside. The other dynamo will furnish 150 incandescent lights distributed in the various buildings.

The Office.

This building, the erection of which was only commenced yesterday, will be imposing in its character and finished up with the latest office improvements. It is situated at the west end of the grounds a short distance east of Maria st. It will be 25x40, red pressed brick being used in its construction, with white brick for facing. The roof will be a mansard one. The interior will be finished with hard wood, polished. On the ground floor will be the main office, also the superintendent's office. Up stairs will be used for the bookkeeper and other offices. The furnishings will be in keeping with the buildings. As Mr. Mitchell stated, it will be in every particular a first class office and when completed will cost about $2500. Immediately in front of the office the track scales are being placed in position, the beam of which will be in the office. These scales will have a capacity for weighing 80 tons.

Other Buildings.

Two other buildings are upon the ground, both of which are pretentious and of good workmanship. To the east of the rolling mills building has been erected a structure known as the bar iron warehouse. It is of frame and sheeted, being 85x45 feet. In it will be stored the products of the rolling mills.

The other building is a storehouse, situated just north of the nail and spike factory, being 120x55 feet. This is also a frame building and sheeted with iron. In it will be stored the products of the nail and spike factory. These two buildings cost about $5,000.

The erection of the various buildings were under the superintendence of two local contractors, who were fortunate enough to secure the tenders. Ald. Hanley built the rolling mills building, and will erect the office. Mr. Walter Alford had the contract for the erection of the nail and spike factory, the warehouses, and is also putting in the track scales. These gentlemen have given every satisfaction to the company in the manner in which they have carried out to the letter the work entrusted to their charge.

FACTS AND FIGURES.

On the quest for information last night an INTELLIGENCER representative dropped into the Quinte, and with rare good fortune managed to find Messrs. Abbott and Mitchell in conversation with their superintendent, Mr. B. F. Peacock. A request for a little information brought a courteous response in the affirmative, though one of the gentlemen laughingly expressed the hope that we would not present so much inaccurate information as one of our esteemed contemporaries did. In the course of a short conversation THE INTELLIGENCER gathered the following facts:

The company will manufacture merchant iron and steel; horse shoes; cut and wire nails; railway spikes; washers.

The estimated output of the concern will be from 12,000 to 15,000 tons per annum.

As to the date of beginning operations, Mr. Mitchell said that depended altogether on other people. So far as they themselves were concerned operations could begin in a day or two, but just at present they were waiting for other people. Probably the end of this month would see the works at least in partial operation.

The works will employ, when in full operation, from 150 to 175 men.

The machinery and buildings, in their present form, are valued at $185,000, the estimated value of the plant being $150,000.

A query as the possible amount of the payroll brought forth the answer "That is impossible for us to say. Of course it will largely depend on circumstances and the conditions in other places."

The payroll of the company has been a large one during the past summer and at present they have sixty men employed.

The following gentlemen are the officers of the company:

President and Managing Director—Mr. Frank A. Mitchell.

Vice-President and Secretary--Mr. W. Abbott.

Treasurer—Mr. Henry Pringle.

Assistant Treasurer—Mr. T. H. Camp.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING

That the bicycle rough riders should at least give pedestrians the right of way on the sidewalks.

That ladies are complaining of getting their dresses soiled by tobacco spit on street pavements.

That nowadays the stylish woman believes a bird on the bonnet is worth half a dozen in the bush.

That the Kingston verdict, "justifiable homicide," should cause chicken thieves everywhere to do some hard thinking.

That, talking about the Nicholson's Nek affair, most people would rather be one of the mules who ran away than the one who hoisted the white flag.

That the weather prophets have modified their prognostications. Instead of a "long hard winter" please read a "short hard winter." It's all the same, only different.

That toboggan'ng is coming into fashion again in some places. We don't know that any slide has been built in Belleville, but we can call to mind one or two people who have been on the toboggan in this vicinity lately.

That it might be interesting to republish the facts in connection with a certain journalistic turnover which took place in Napanee some few years ago, when Stevenson and Grange contested Lennox for a seat in the Ontario Legislature, and give full particulars as to what led to such "right-about face."

That the time has arrived for the people of our city, who have been wearing out their nerves growling about the condition of some of our streets and other things, to do a little thinking. The municipal campaign is opening, and the candidates will soon be in the field. Now, when a man comes asking for your vote make him pledge himself to something—if it's only to see that a wheelbarrow load of broken stone is put down to fill up a hole on the street. Don't let him "jolly" you and work off old worn-out platitudes on you. If his record is not above suspicion, don't let personal considerations make you vote for him; if his record is a good one, vote for him whether he thinks as you do on theological matters or not. Whatever you do, don't be a back number. There has been too much trusting to luck in municipal affairs in the past. Take an interest in the affairs of your own city, and use your influence towards getting the best men to come out this year.

AGUINALDO IN A STRAIT.

Latest Rumor About the Alleged Fleeing Filipino Chief.

Manila, Nov. 17.—Aguinaldo and his Government are said to be making desperate efforts to escape to Bayombong. All the information here is that he is still in the low country. Lieut. Johnston, with a troop of the 3rd Cavalry, captured yesterday at San Nicholas twelve barrels containing the wardrobe of Aguinaldo's wife, some personal effects, the records of the Secretary of War and much commissary and medical supplies. Senora Aguinaldo probably escaped over the divide, but the Secretary of War is thought to be inside the lines. Thomas W. Hays, a civilian, and Calvin S. Davis of the 16th Infantry, who were held prisoners by the insurgents, have been rescued.

PEARL HART WAS ACQUITTED.

Alleged Female Stage Robber, Formerly of Lindsay, Ont., Free.

Phoenix, Ariz., Nov. 17. — Pearl Hart, the alleged woman bandit, who was charged with holding up a stage near Florence, was acquitted last night. Miss Hart addressed the jury in her own defence and pleaded passionately for freedom that she might return to Lindsay, Ont., to her fast-failing mother. Immediately after her acquittal the woman was re-arrested, charged with interfering with United States mails, and will be tried again.

The Coquet Not Sighted.

London, Nov. 17.—The steamer St. Giles, which was sent out in search of the British steamer Coquet, Captain Garrod, from Quebec for Sunderland, reported by the steamer Benwick to have been left by her on Nov. 7 100 miles north of Uist, one of the Shetland Islands, with propellor gone and out of provisions, has returned to Lerwick, Shetland Islands, without succeeding in finding the Coquet.

The Fire on the Patria.

Dover, Eng., Nov. 17.—The latest accounts of the fire on board the Hamburg-American Line steamer Patria said the flames were being overcome by the crew, and that the captain was confident of taking the steamer into a German port. It was also said the effects of the passengers had been partially saved.

The crew of the Hamburg-American Line steamer Patria, on fire, are on board the company's steamer Athesia, from Philadelphia Nov. 2, which is towing the Patria toward the Elbe.

French Government Sustained.

Paris, Nov. 17.—The Chamber of Deputies yesterday, by a vote of 340 to 215, expressed confidence in the Government.

Sigrid Arnoldson has just signed a contract with the Imperial Opera of St. Petersburg for 30 representations, her remuneration being $1,200 a performance.

They have discovered in Berlin that an otherwise excellent cornet player who stammers in speech and cannot enunciate words beginning with a "b" or a "d" also stammers at the beginning of a musical phrase. As yet the learned have found no cure.

SEASONABLE HINTS.

Guard Your Health in Fall and Early Winter.

A change from warm to cold is always attended with more danger than from a cold to a warm temperature, hence the greater mortality from lung and throat diseases at this season of the year as compared with spring.

The best protection against colds is not so much in extra clothing as in good digestion.

If the digestion and circulation are good, colds will be unknown.

Poor digestion causes poor circulation of the blood and when in this condition severe colds are contracted on the slightest provocation.

People who make a regular practice of taking Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after meals are free from colds, simply because their digestion is perfect, the heart strong and regular, and the whole system fortified against disease.

It requires little argument to convince anyone that the best safeguard against colds, pneumonia and changes of temperature is a good stomach.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets taken after meals are dissolved and mingling with the food cause it to be promptly digested and assimilated; they do this because they contain nothing but harmless digestive elements, which digest meat, eggs and other food even when the stomach itself is weak and flaccid.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets make people well and keep them well, and the best habit you can acquire is to make daily use of them at meals to keep the digestive organs strong and vigorous.

ARMOURED TRAIN DERAILED.

A Hundred Men Are Missing From the British Forces.

Mis-Adventure Occurred While British Were Reconnoitering at Colenso—Attack Was Made by Boers in Ambush—Report That Gen. Joubert Has Been Killed in Action—White Gains Victory and Inflicts Heavy Losses on Enemy.

London, Nov. 17.—(5 a.m.)—Misfortune steadfastly pursues the British in the employment of armored trains, the fascination for which has given the Boers their first and latest victories. On this last occasion the British seemed to have walked into a deliberate trap, with the result that, according to the British accounts, 90 men are either killed, wounded or missing. Of these the Fusiliers claim 50 and the Durban Infantry 40. It is believed that a few escaped and that the others are prisoners in the hands of the Boers. Many of the wounded were brought back on the locomotive and tender of the armored train. Capt. Haldane of the Gordon Highlanders was attached to the Fusiliers, and other officers were with them. The list of casualties is awaited with great anxiety. In time of trouble Lieut. Winston Churchill has proved himself more a soldier than a correspondent, and his gallantry is highly praised on all sides.

Is Joubert Dead?

The rumor of the death of General Joubert is discredited. It is understood that the War Office has news that he is still directing affairs. It is also rumored from Pietermaritzburg that the Boer losses at Ladysmith on Thursday were heavy and included General Lucas Meyer, who was either killed or wounded. The report as to General Joubert probably arose from the fact that his wife has left the Boer camp at Ladysmith for the Free State.

Boer Tricks Won't Go.

According to the Pietermaritzburg correspondent of The London Outlook, rumors are current in the Natal capital that the Boers contemplate a retreat. It is needless, however, to attach importance to such reports, which are spread, in all probability, with a view of luring Gen. White, if possible, to abandon his defensive attitude. Similar rumors are current regarding the Boers at Mafeking and are spread industriously by native spies.

The Boer Plan.

Special despatches from Lorenzo Marquez say that the Transvaal Government is exercising a severe censorship over all war news, and will not allow newspapers to leave the country.

One correspondent says the Boers are hurrying new commandoes to Ladysmith, and are declaring that the place must fall speedily in order to liberate their forces so that these may go to meet Gen. Buller's advance.

Dynamite Probably Used.

The latest despatches from Estcourt regarding the armored train engagement say that the train was capsized by an explosion presumably of dynamite. The engineer returned to Estcourt with two dead Fusiliers and the following wounded hanging on: Capt. Wylie, three non-commissioned officers and nine privates, all belonging to the volunteers.

Are Boer Supplies Short?

According to the latest advices from British sources at Estcourt, the Boers are suffering from lack of supplies, though the large stores the British left when they evacuated Newcastle and Dundee must have been of great assistance to the Boer commissariat. But the task of maintaining a complete investment of Ladysmith is probably proving onerous. Ladysmith seems to be well provisioned and the entrenchments are daily being strengthened. The Boers have renamed Dundee "Meyersdorp," after General Lucas Meyer, whose forces fought those of General Symons there.

200 Wounded at Pretoria.

It is said this morning that 200 wounded of General Meyer's force, arrived at Pretoria the next day. There are signs that a forward movement for the relief of Kimberley may be expected shortly. There is great activity at De Aar, whence the advance appears likely to be made. There is, it is said, no urgent reason for this, unless food at Kimberley is getting low, but the moral effect would be good for the British.

Off for the South.

The greatest enthusiasm was shown this morning at the departure from Newport of a mountain battery of the Royal Artillery, consisting of six guns. Thousands of people lined the streets, cheering and singing, and the battery had difficulty in reaching the train through the dense crowd. This was the last mountain battery remaining in England, eight others being in India, and the tenth having been captured by the Boers at Nicholson's Nek. Nothing is known at the War Office of the reported death of General Joubert.

WHITE'S GREAT VICTORY.

Drew Out the Boers on the Level, Outflanked and Defeated Them.

Estcourt, Nov. 16.—(10 a.m.)—A missionary, a native, but a reliable man, who arrived here yesterday from Ladysmith, reports that a big fight took place there on Friday, Nov. 10. He says that volunteers went out in the early morning and drew the enemy from their positions onto a flat where the regular troops, under Sir George White, outmanoeuvred them by outflanking the Boers, administering a crushing defeat and inflicting great loss. More than 200 Kaffirs, the missionary says, were employed by the Boers to bury their dead, and two trains, each drawn by two engines carried away the wounded.

WAS GEN. JOUBERT KILLED?

A Dispatch From Pietermaritzburg Says That He Is.

London, Nov. 16.—A despatch received here to-day from Pietermaritzburg, dated Nov. 11, says it is rumored there that General Piet Joubert, commander-in-chief of the Boer forces, has been killed in action.

Durban, Sunday, Nov. 12.—It was rumored here to-day that Commandant-General Joubert of the Boer forces is dead. The Times of Natal later published a telegram from Lorenzo Marquez saying that General Joubert was killed in action on Thursday, Nov. 9.

YORKSHIRES AT ESTCOURT.

Regiment Arrives From Durban for the Relief of Gen. White.

Estcourt, Natal, Friday evening, Nov. 10. —The armored train has returned from another trip, on which Colenso was reached. No Boers were seen. On its way back the train picked up at Frere a native runner carrying a number of letters. He said that Ladysmith was bombarded on Thursday, Nov. 9, by six 40-pounders, one shot from which struck Illing's store. The British big naval guns were still silent when he left. Little damage was done by the Boer bombardment, and there were few casualties. The runner further said that the Boers intend to visit Colenso to-morrow.

ARMOURED TRAINS A FARCE.

Train Derailed and Nearly a Hundred Men Are Killed, Wounded or Missing.

Wednesday, Nov. 15.—An armored train having on board a half company of Durban volunteers and a half company of Dublin Fusiliers steamed to Chieveley early this morning. On its return it was shelled by the artillery of the Boers placed in four positions. Two trucks in front of the engine left the rails and toppled over. While the train was thus helpless the Durbans and Dublins faced the Boers in skirmishing order, and the Boers poured shot and shell into the crippled train. The derailed wagons were with great difficulty removed, and the line was cleared. The engine and tender steamed back.

During this juncture Lieut. Winston Churchill of the 4th Hussars, newspaper correspondent of The London Morning Post and New York Herald, displayed much courage, as also did the driver and fireman. It is feared the Dublins and Durbans fared badly. A Red Cross party has gone out.

100 WOUNDED AND MISSING.

Fate of Armored Train Contingent That Went From Estcourt.

London, Nov. 16.—Special despatches from Estcourt estimate the wounded and missing of the armored train contingent at from 100 to 150. The missing include Capt. Haldane. It is hoped that some escaped over the veldt, and will return to Estcourt in a few days.

TRAIN WAS IN A TRAP.

The Boers Were in Ambush and They Lifted the Rails.

Durban, Nov. 16.—Later details show that a heavy rain and mist compelled a cessation of firing. Lieut. Churchill bravely carried the wounded to the tender under fire. While the Boers were destroying the train, their scouts pushed in, and exchanged shots with the British pickets a few miles from Estcourt. It appears that the Boers were in ambush. As soon as the train had passed up, they emerged from cover, and dislodged the sleeper bolts.

THE DOCTOR'S MISTAKE.

The doctor made a mistake in the number and called at the wrong house. No woman calls a doctor after she is once acquainted with the remedial value of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription in all diseases and drains common to the sex. Without humiliating questions or local examinations the cure is accomplished by the use of the "Favorite Prescription" supplemented by free medical advice if needed. This medicine is harmless in any condition of the system and can be taken without the slightest fear of bad consequences. It contains no whisky or alcohol. There is not an iota of anything narcotic in it. The relief it gives is permanent. In this it differs from many preparations which give temporary relief only by deadening the sense of feeling with narcotics, and the dangerous stimulants they contain create an appetite for strong drink. When a dealer offers a substitute for Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, remember these facts.

When their diseases are deep-seated and of long standing, women will find it to their interest to write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., who has had wonderful success in curing diseases of women. He gives advice free, and invites all to write him. Prompt, careful and personal attention is paid to each letter, and the fullest advice is always given.

"After five months of great suffering I write this for the benefit of other sufferers from the same affliction," says Mrs. H. A. Alsbrook, of Austin, Lonoke Co., Ark. "I doctored with our family physician without any good results, so my husband urged me to try Dr. Pierce's medicines—which I did, with wonderful results. I am completely cured. I took four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, four of his 'Golden Medical Discovery' and two vials of his 'Pleasant Pellets'."

WHAT THE BOER PLAN IS.

Enemy's Intention to Keep Back the British Relieving Column.

London, Nov. 16.—The Times publishes the following despatch from Pietermaritzburg, dated Wednesday, Nov. 15: "Estcourt is short of artillery. The garrison may retire to the Mooi River, southward, to-night, in case a strong force of Boers should advance. The enemy's intention is to keep back the British relieving column."

WHITE IN ANOTHER FIGHT.

Cavalry Had Another Engagement with Boers at Bester's Station.

Kaffirs report that a force of 400 to 500 Boers with wagons is going in the direction of Colenso. This is said to be the foraging party previously sighted. The Kaffirs also report that Gen. White's cavalry has had an engagement with the Boers at Bester's Station. The result is not known.

BULLER IS SATISFIED

With Natal's Course Throughout Crisis and Admires Volunteers.

Durban, Natal, Monday, Nov. 13.—General Hildyard has arrived here. He brought a message from General Buller, expressing his high appreciation of Natal's course throughout the crisis, and admiration for the way the volunteers and colonial forces fought.

A correspondent in Zululand reports that many Boers who fought at Dundee are now quietly plowing, and that nothing will induce them to return to the battlefield.

Most of the guns positioned around Durban are being withdrawn and all fear of a Boer attack has disappeared.

There is no confirmation of the report of General Joubert's death.

YANKEES GETTING OUR BUSINESS.

American Boat Plying Between Owen Sound and Fort William.

Chicago, Nov. 16.—The Arthur Orr, a railroad steamer built in Chicago and used as a passenger steamer during the World's Fair, has been engaged to carry freight between Owen Sound and Fort William under a recent order of the Canadian Government removing the restrictions ordinarily preventing American vessels from engaging in Canadian coasting trade. This is the second time in the history of lake marine that an American vessel has been permitted to engage in this trade. The permission, it is understood, resulted from the rapid development of traffic at many Canadian harbors, and the fact that Canadian shipbuilding has not kept pace with it.

BANQUET TO MR. STRATTON.

His Own Town Congratulates Him Over Entering the Cabinet.

Peterboro, Nov. 16.—(Special.)—The complimentary banquet tendered by the citizens of Peterboro to the Hon. James Stratton on the occasion of his elevation to the Cabinet of Ontario, came off here to-night in the Grand Opera House, and was a great success, and must have been a source of just pride to the popular Provincial Secretary. The Mayor of the town, Alfred L. Davis, was in the chair, supported by Peter Hamilton, R. M. Dennistoun, R. R. Hall, D. O'Connell and Robert Fair in the vice-chairs. Over 350 sat down. The hall was decorated with bunting, flags and streamers. The stage and galleries were occupied by ladies. In a box was Mrs. Ross, wife of the Premier; Mrs. Stratton and other lady friends.

Some of Those Present.

Mayor Davis had on his right the guest of the evening, Archdeacon Casey, J. Kendry, M.P.; Thomas Mackie, M.P.; George McHugh, M.P.; Senator William Kerr of Cobourg, and on his left Premier Ross, Hon. Mr. Latchford, W. F. Maclean, M.P.; Sheriff Hall, Robert Jaffray, Toronto.

Among other gentlemen from Toronto were: Messrs. E. Cox, F. Cox and Ramsay of the Canada Life; Mr. Rutter, Mr. Fairweather, Mr. McGill, Mr. Boland, Hugh Blain, T. B. Coffee. Among the clergymen present were: Fathers Conway, Phalen, Fitzpatrick, Rev. Mr. Symonds of Ashburnham, Rev. Mr. Armitage, Rev. Mr. McMillan of Lindsay and Rev. Mr. Bastow. The business men, the professional men and the manufacturers of the town were well represented, with a good sprinkling of prominent men from adjoining towns. Speeches appropriate to the occasion were made by all the speakers.

Murder Charge Over Him.

Ottawa, Nov. 17.—Albert La Tourelle is now lodged in Hull jail, charged with the murder of William Reid, who died at the Protestant Hospital on Tuesday, from injuries received six weeks previous. The prisoner will be arraigned as soon as the verdict of the coroner's jury is made known. It is possible that the charge may be reduced to one of manslaughter. La Tourelle is but 21 years of age and feels his position keenly, and it is feared the confinement and anxiety may cause a complete breakdown of his health, which is rather poor.

Butter and Cheese Convention.

Brantford, Ont., Nov. 17. — A meeting of the executive of the Cheese and Butter Association of Western Ontario was held at Stratford yesterday, at which were present: Harold Eagle, president; Aaron Wenger, Ayton; J. A. James, Nilestown, and R. M. Ballantyne, Stratford. A report was submitted, giving a list of those who had accepted invitations to the annual convention to be held at Stratford on Jan. 16, 17 and 18, and the subjects they would there discuss.

THE MANITOBA ELECTIONS.

Manitoba's Battle Sprung on Three Week's Notice.

The Writs Have Been Issued—Nominations the Last Day of This Month, Polling a Week Later—Greenway's Appeal and Defence—Finds Fault Because Senate Disallowed School Fund Act—The National Schools.

Winnipeg, Nov. 16.—(Special.)—At noon to-day the Lieut.-Governor signed the order-in-council dissolving the Legislature, and the proclamation for a new election. Writs for the Provincial general elections have been issued. Nominations will take place on Thursday, Nov. 30. Polling is fixed for Thursday, Dec. 7th. The Legislature has been called to meet on Dec. 21. Practically all the candidates are in the field, though several formal nominating conventions will be held during the next few days. The time for the contest is short—three weeks from to-day. News of the date was telegraphed to-day to all points in the province, and the battle is now on at every point.

Preparing for the Stump.

Ministerial and Opposition speakers are preparing for the stump, and supplies of election literature have been forwarded to provincial points during the past few days. Hon. N. Clarke Wallace is expected here from the east to give the Conservatives a hand. Both sides seem confident. Committee rooms will be opened in the city to-morrow. The Winnipeg candidates will be formally nominated by the Liberals on Saturday. They are: McMillan, J. D. Cameron and P. C. McIntyre, the sitting members. Mayor Andrews, Hon. Hugh John Macdonald and Dr. Neilson are their opponents.

Greenway to the Electors.

Premier Greenway has issued an address to the electors, in which he says:

"I have the utmost confidence that my appeal to the country will, as on three previous occasions, result in the return of my Government by a sweeping majority. With reference to the great prosperity of the Province during late years, I think I can fairly claim that this in some measure has been due to the legislation and administration of my Government. The development of the Province by construction of railways for competitive and colonization purposes has been the consistent policy on our part throughout my administration. In the last twelve years we have secured the construction of about eleven hundred miles of railroad, with satisfactory results. Our attention has been continuously devoted to the problem of placing our settlers in the position of having a readily convenient market for their products, and of securing the lowest possible freight rates to the seaboard. I think I can with propriety state that our efforts in both directions have been in a great measure sucessful.

As to Freight Rates.

"In regard to the latter question, that of freight rates, I am strongly convinced that still lower rates than now prevail can be ultimately secured. Our intention is to continue our efforts, determined to place our farmers in the best possible position in this respect. I have long maintained that grain can be profitably transported to Lake Superior at a maximum rate of 10 cents per hundred pounds. If such a rate cannot be obtained over existing lines, I am in favor of turning our attention elsewhere for relief.

The School Lands Funds.

"I need scarcely tell you that we have been greatly disappointed at the action of the Senate of Canada in defeating the bill which had passed the House of Commons authorizing the payment to the Provincial Treasury of a portion of the school lands fund, after the Dominion Government had agreed to make the advance requested. I am of the opinion that the province is entitled to this fund, and to have transferred to it the whole of the school lands reservation, to be administered by it for educational purposes. Any opposition to this policy I regard as most unjust to the settlers of the present day."

Jurisdiction in Liquor Traffic.

Since the last provincial general election a judgment has been rendered by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council upon the subject of the jurisdiction of the Dominion Parliament and Provincial Legislature respectively, with reference to the prohibition and restriction of the liquor traffic. That judgment was considered ambiguous in some respects, and we proceeded to procure opinion of eminent counsel thereon. When the question came up for consideration during the last session of the Legislature, I stated it was the intention of the Government at the next session to introduce legislation prohibiting the sale of liquor to the extent of the powers of the province in that regard, and such statement still stands as our declared policy.

The School System.

When I last appealed to you the main subject then presented for your consideration was the attack menaced by the Government of that day upon our national schools system. That attack was supported by those within the province who oppose us to-day, but, despite their efforts we succeeded in preserving the system, which will continue so long as I maintain the confidence of the electors. When returned to power, it is my intention to continue on the same lines of progressive policy as in the past. I shall always hold the interests of the farmers as of paramount importance. I shall always advocate their interests and the interests of the province as my first public duty. I think it needs very little impartial consideration to come to the conclusion that the opposition to my Government is not based upon any regard for the public, but solely to gratify the ambition of men who for the most part have taken positions on important questions diametrically-opposed to the best and highest interests of Manitoba.

ALASKA BOUNDARY.

Negotiations for Permanent Settlement Not Likely Soon to be Resumed—Modus Working Well.

Washington, Nov. 16.—The indications are decidedly against any re-opening in the immediate future of negotiations looking to a permanent adjustment of the Alaskan boundary question. It can be stated positively that there have been absolutely no exchanges on this subject between the two Governments since the return to this country of the British Ambassador, Lord Pauncefote. The modus vivendi which was adopted to define temporarily the respective rights of the two parties is working satisfactorily, and there is said to be no reason just now for pressing forward toward a solution of the permanent boundary issue.

The Federal Administration has about convinced itself that there is little chance of securing the approval of the Senate to any permanent treaty defining the boundary line which at the same time would secure the adhesion of Canada, and it is feared that even a moderate proposition looking toward a compromise could not be framed that would receive the approval of both parties. This, however, is believed to be true only of the present time. The recent extraordinary development of Cape Nome gold fields at the expense of the population of the Klondike may possibly make the question easier of adjustment in the future by diminishing the value of the issues between the two countries. Once the Klondike is relegated to its former condition, and the incentive to reach it from the sea is removed, it is felt that there will be a diminished interest on the part of Canada and its claims to a seaport.

Suit Over Canadian Telegraphs.

New York, Nov. 17.—An order has been granted by Justice Wilmot M. Smith of the Supreme Court, New York, for the service of a summons and complaint upon the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company of Canada and the Montreal Telegraph Company of Canada, an action instituted by a stockholder of the Western Union Telegraph Company, to declare invalid the contract between the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company, the Montreal Telegraph Company and the Western Union Telegraph Company, under which the bulk of the telegraph business of Canada is conducted.

Leinsters Stay at Halifax.

Halifax, N.S., Nov. 17.—The Leinster Regiment will not leave Halifax at present. A despatch from the War Office yesterday notified the commanding officer that the regiment would remain here. The orders fell like a bombshell among the officers. Every arrangement had been made to leave the station. The officers' effects were advertised for sale by auction, but the disposal of the goods will be postponed. The reason for the detention of the Leinsters is that the Worcestershire Regiment has been ordered home from the West Indies. The battalion was to have come here to replace the Leinsters.

Married Her Adopted Son.

New York, Nov. 17.—Rev. Frederick C. Mooney, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Rahway, N.J., and Mrs. Alice Whitney of Hackettstown, whose adopted son he is, were married yesterday. The preacher is 34 and the bride 52. Mooney had lived with the Whitneys for many years prior to Mr. Whitney's death.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral

is not to be confounded with any of the cheap "elixirs" and "cough syrups." Such remedies (so called) simply soothe the sufferer. They are mere palliatives. They never touch the root of the disease or cure a chronic cough. Dr. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is a real remedy; it is the prescription of a practical physician, and not the preparation of an irresponsible medicine maker. It and all colds, coughs, and lung diseases. It's a standard and a staple remedy, and should be kept on hand in every household.

"About a year ago, I had an attack of bronchitis, accompanied by a dry, hacking cough. This soon developed into quick consumption. I had heard of the curative properties of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and commenced using that medicine at once. Before I had taken one third of a bottle I felt better, and in a short time I was entirely cured." W. A. COKER, Allis, Ark.

"I caught a bad cold which resulted in asthma so severe that I was threatened with suffocation whenever I attempted to lie down in bed. A friend, recommending Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, I began to take it and soon obtained relief, and, finally, was completely cured. Since then I have used this medicine in my family with great success for colds, coughs, and croup." S. HUTTER, Editor "Rolink," Steven's Point, Wis.

"I contracted a severe cold which settled on my lungs and did not yield to the various remedies I tried. I had noticed Ayer's Cherry Pectoral extensively advertised where I had traveled and decided to give it a trial. I purchased two bottles and before I had finished the first one, I was almost cured and I am now in perfect health. My work subjects me to very severe weather, but I find that a timely dose of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral acts as a preventive against colds and coughs." CHAS. HULL, Whortley Road, London, Ont.

"Some time since I had a severe cold and could not sleep on account of coughing. A friend at Van Buren, Ark., recommended Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I procured a bottle, and never had anything afford me such quick relief or a more permanent cure." J. E. WRIGHT, Chester, Ark.

At Death s Door—Dyspepsia Conquered. A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I ould not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one o' the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

Toronto, Nov. 17.—The run of live stock was again light, 25 car loads only, consisting of 439 cattle, 429 hogs, 99 sheep and 980 turkeys. Although there was a light run of stock, there seemed to be quite sufficient for the amount of trade that was being done, as there was a noticeable dullness all round. ACCORDING TO LAW.

THE WORLD NOT GOVERNED IN A HAPHAZARD WAY.

REINS HELD BY DIVINE RULE.

Rev. Dr. Talmage Preaches on the Interposition of the Almighty in the Conduct of Human Affairs—Nations, as Well as Individuals, Feel His Controlling Power For Good.

Washington, Nov. 12.—The idea that things in this world are at loose ends and going at haphazard is in this discourse combated by Dr. Talmage. The text is Psalms cxix, 89, "Forever, O Lord, thy word is settled in heaven."

This world has been in process of change ever since it was created—mountains born, mountains dying, and they have both cradle and grave. Once this planet was all fluid, and no being such as you or I have ever seen could have lived on it a minute. Our hemisphere turns its face to the sun and then turns its back. The axis of the earth's revolution has shifted. The earth's center of gravity is changed. Once flowers grew in the arctic and there was snow in the tropic. There has been a redistribution of land and sea, the land crumbling into the sea, the sea swallowing the land. Ice and fire have fought for the possession of this planet. The chemical composition of it is different now from what it once was. Volcanoes once terribly alive are dead, not one throb of fiery pulse, not one breath of vapor—the ocean changing its amount of saline qualities. The internal fires of the earth are gradually eating their way to the surfaces—upheaval and subsidence of vast realms of continent.

Moravians in Greenland have removed their boat poles because the advancing sea submerged them. Linnaeus records that in 87 years a great stone was 100 feet nearer the water than when he wrote. Forests have been buried by the sea, and land that was cultured by farmer's hoe can be touched only by sailor's anchor. Loch Nevis of Scotland and Dingle Bay of Ireland and the fiords of Norway, where pleasure boats now float, were once valleys and glens. Many of the islands of the sea are the tops of sunken mountains. Six thousand miles of the Pacific Ocean are sinking. The diameter of the earth, according to scientific announcement, is 189 miles less than it was. The entire configuration of the earth is altered. Hills are denuded of their forests. The frosts and the waters and the air bombard the earth till it surrenders to the assault. The so-called "everlasting hills" do not last. Many railroad companies cease to build iron bridges because the iron has a life of its own, not a vegetable life or an animal life, but a metallic life, and when that dies the bridge goes down. Oxidation of minerals is only another term for describing their death. Mosses and seaweeds help destroy the rocks they decorate.

The changes of the inanimate earth only symbolize the moral changes. Society ever becomes different for better or worse. Boundary lines between nations are settled until the next war unsettles them. Uncertainty strikes through laws and customs and legislation. The characteristic of this world is that nothing in it is settled. At a time when we hoped that the arbitration planned last summer at The Hague, Holland, would forever sheathe the sword and spike the gun and dismantle the fortress the world has on hand two wars which are digging graves for the flower of English and American soldiery. From the presence of such geological and social and national and international unrest we turn with thanksgiving and exultation to my text and find that there are things forever settled, but in higher latitudes than we have ever trod. "Forever, O Lord, thy word is settled in heaven."

High up in the palace of the sun at least five things are settled—that nations which go continuously and persistently wrong perish; that happiness is the result of spiritual condition and not of earthly environment; that this world is a schoolhouse for splendid or disgraceful graduation; that with or without us the world is to be made over into a scene of arborescence and purity; that all who are adjoined to the unparalleled One of Bethlehem and Nazareth and Golgotha will be the subjects of a supernal felicity without any taking off.

Do you doubt my first proposition—that nations which go wrong perish? We have in this American nation all the elements of permanence and destruction. We need not borrow from others any trowels for upbuilding or torches for demolition. Elements of ruin—nihilism, infidelity, agnosticism, Sabbath desecration, inebrity, sensuality, extravagance, fraud; they are all here. Elements of safety—God worshiping men and women by the scores of millions, honesty, benevolence, truthfulness, self sacrifice, industry, sobriety and more religion than has characterized any nation that has ever existed; they are all here. The only question is as to which of the forces will gain dominancy—the one class ascendant, and this United States Government, I think, will continue as long as the world exists; the other class ascendant, and the United States goes into such small pieces that other governments would hardly think them worth picking up.

Walk on in the cemetery of nations and see the long lines of tombs—Thebes and Tyre and Egypt and Babylon and Medo-Persian and Macedonian and Roman and Saxon heptarchy, great nations, small nations that lived 500 years.

Our own nation will be judged by the same moral laws by which all other nations have been judged. The judgment day for individuals will probably come far on in the future. Judgment day for nations is every day, every day weighed, every day approved or every day condemned. Never before in the history of this country has the American nation been more surely in the balances than it is this minute. Do right, and we go up. Do wrong, and we go down.

Another thing decided in the same high place is that happiness is the result of spiritual condition and not of earthly environment. If we who may sometimes have a thousand dollars to invest find it such a perplexity to know what to do with it and soon after find that we invested it where principal and interest have gone down through roguery or panic, what must be the worriment of those having millions to invest and whose losses correspond in magnitude with their resources! People who have their three or four dollars a day wages are just as happy as those who have an income of $500,000 a year. Sometimes happiness is seated on a footstool and sometimes misery on a throne. All the gold of earth in one chunk cannot purchase five minutes of complete satisfaction. Worldly success is an atmosphere that breeds the maggots of envy and jealousy and hate. There are those who will never forgive you if you have more emoluments or honor or ease than they have. To take you down is the dominant wish of most of those who are not as high as you are. They will spend hours and days and tears to entrap you. They will hover around newspaper offices to get one mean line printed depreciating you. Your heaven is their hell.

A dying president of the United States said many years ago in regard to his lifetime of experience, "It doesn't pay." The leading statesmen of America in letters of advice warn young men to keep out of politics. Many of the most successful have tried in vain to drown their trouble in strong drink. On the other hand, there are millions of people who on departing this life will have nothing to leave but a good name and a life insurance whose illumined faces are indices of illumined souls. They wish everybody well. When the fire bell rings, they do not go to the window at midnight to see if it is their store that it on fire, for they never owned a store, and when the September equinox is abroad they do not worry lest their ships founder in a gale, for they never owned a ship, and when the nominations are made for high political office they are not fearful that their name will be overlooked, for they never applied for office. There is so much heartiness and freedom from care in their laughter that when you hear it you are compelled to laugh in sympathy, although you know not what they are laughing about.

When the children of that family assemble in the sitting room of the old homestead to hear the father's will read, they are not fearful of being cut off with a million and a half dollars, for the old man never owned anything more than the farm of seventy-five acres, which yielded only enough plainly to support the household. They have more happiness in one month than many have in a whole lifetime. Would to God I had the capacity to explain to you on how little a man can be happy and on how much he may be wretched! Get your heart right and all is right. Keep your heart wrong, and all is wrong. That is a principle settled in heaven.

Some have wondered why graduation day in college is called "commencement day" when it is the last day of college exercises, but graduation days are properly called commencement day. To all the graduated it is the commencement of active life, and our graduation day from earth will be to us commencement of our chief life, our larger life, our more tremendous life, our eternal life. But what a day commencement day on earth is! The student never sees any day like it. At any rate, I never did. Old Niblo's Theatre in New York comes back to me. The gowned and tassel hatted professors behind us, and our kindred and friends before and above us, and the air redolent with garlands to be thrown to us. What a commencement day it was for all of us about to graduate! But mightier day will it be when we graduate from this world. Will it be hisses of condemnation or handclapping of approval? Will there be flung to us nettles or wreaths? Will it be a resounding "Come!" or a reverberating "Depart?"

Another thing decided in the high places of the universe is that this world, with or without us, will be made over into a scene of arborescence and purity. Do not think that such a consummation depends upon our personal fidelity. It will be done anyhow. God's cause does not go a-begging. If all the soldiers of Jesus Christ now living should become deserters and go over to the enemy, that would not defeat the cause. A large part of the Bible is taken up with telling us what the world will be. There is a large army, human and angelic, now in the field, but God's reserve forces are more numerous and more mighty than those now at the front, and if he could in Gideon's time rout the Midianites with a crash of crockery, and if he could in Shamgar's time overcome a host with an ox goad, and if in Samson's time he could defeat an army with a bleached jawbone, and if the walls of Jericho went down under a blast of perforated ram's horn, and if in Christ's day blind eyes were cured by ointment of spittle, then God can do anything he says he will do. As yet he has taken only one sword out of a whole armory of weapons. Do not get nervous, as if the Lord were going to be defeated.

Oh, that coming day of the world's perfection! The earth will be so changed that the sermonology will be changed. There will be no more calls to repentance, for all will have repented; no more gathering of alms for the poor, for the poor will have been enriched; no hospital Sunday, for disjointed bones will have been set and the wounds all healed, and the incurable diseases of other times will have been overcome by a materia medica and a pharmacy and a dentistry and a therapeutics that have conquered everything that afflicted nerve or lung or tooth or eye or limb—healthology complete and universal. The poultice and the ointment and the panacea and the catholicon and the surgeon's knife and the dentist's forceps and the scientist's X ray will have fulfilled their mission. The social life of the world will be perfected. In that millennial age I imagine ourselves standing in front of a house lighted for levee. We enter among groups filled with gladness and talking good sense and rallying each other in pleasantries and in every possible way forwarding good neighborhood; no looking askance, no whispered backbitings, no strut of pretension, no oblivion of some one's presence because you do not want to know him; each one happy, determined on making some one else happy; words of honest appreciation instead of hollow flattery; sauvities and genialities instead of inflations and pomposities; equipage and upholstery and sculpture and painting paid for; two hours of mental and moral improvement; all the guests able to walk as steadily down the steps of that mansion as when they ascended them; no awaking next moening with aching head and bloodshot eye and incompetent for the day's duties; the social life as perfect as refinement and common sense and culture and prosperity and religion can make it; the earth made better than it was at the start, and all through gospelizing influences, directly or indirectly.

Another thing decided in that high place is that all who are adjoined to the unparalleled One of Bethlehem and Nazareth and Golgotha will be the subjects of a supernal felicity without any taking off. The old adage says that "beggars must not be choosers," and the human race in its depleted state had better not be critical of the mode by which God would empalace all of us. I could easily think of a plan more complimentary to our fallen humanity than that which is called the "plan of salvation." If God had allowed us to do part of the work of recovery and he do the rest, if we could do three-quarters of it and he do the last quarter, if we could accomplish most of it and he just put on the finishing touches, many could look with more complacency upon the projected reinstatement of the human family. No, no! We must have our pride subjugated, our stubborn will made flexible and a supernatural power demonstrated in us at every step. A pretty plan of salvation that would be, of human drafting and manufacturing! It would be a doxology sung to ourselves. God must have all the glory, not one step of our heavenly throne made by earthly carpentry; not one string could we twist of the harp of our eternal rejoicing. Accept all as an unmerited donation from the skies, or we will never have it at all.

"Now," says some one, "if Christ is the only way what about the heathen, who have never heard of him?" But you are not heathen, and why divert us from the question of our personal salvation? Satan is always introducing something irrelevant. He wants to take it out of a personality into an abstraction. Get our own salvation settled, and then we will discuss the salvation of other people. "But," says some one, "what percentage of the human race will be saved? What will be the comparative number saved and lost?" There satan thrusts in the mathematics of redemption. He suggests that you find out the mathematical proportion of the redeemed. But be not deceived. I am now discussing the eternal welfare of only two persons, yourself and myself. Get ourselves right before we bother about getting others right. O Christ, come hither and master our case! Here are our sins—pardon them; our wounds—heal them; our burdens—lift them; our sorrows—comfort them. We want the Christ of Bartimeus to open our blind eyes, the Christ of Martha to help us in our domestic cares, the Christ of Olivet to help us preach our sermons, the Christ of Lake Galilee to still our tempests, the Christ of Lazarus to raise our dead. Not too tired is he to come, though he has on his whipped shoulders so long carried the world's woe and on his lacerated feet walked this way to accept our salutation.

By the bloody throes of the mountain on which Jesus died, and by the sepulcher where his mutiliated body was inclosed in darkened crypt and by the Olivet from which he arose, while astonished disciples clutched for his robes to detain him in their companionship, and by the radiant and omnipotent throne on which he sits waiting for the coming of all those whose redemption was settled in heaven, I implore you bow your head in immediate and final submission. Once exercise sorrow for what you have done and exercise trust in him for what he is willing to do, and all is well for both worlds. Then you can swing out defiance to all opposition, human and diabolic. In conquering his foes he conquered yours. And have you noticed that passage in Colossians that represent him "having despoiled principalities and powers, he made a show of them, openly triumphing," so bringing before us that overwhelming spectacle of a Roman triumph? But, oh, the difference in those triumphs! The Roman triumph represented arrogance, cruelty, oppression and wrong, but Christ's triumph meant emancipation and holiness and joy. The former was a procession of groans accompanied by a clank of chains, the other a procession of hosannas by millions set forever free. The only shackled ones of Christ's triumph will be satan and his cohorts tied to our Lord's chariot wheel, with all the abominations of all the earth bound for an eternal captivity. Then will come a feast in which the chalices will be filled "with the new wine of the kingdom." Under arches commemorative of all the battles in which the bannered armies of the church militant through thousands of years of struggle have at last won the day Jesus will ride, Conqueror of earth and hell and heaven. Those armies, disbanded, will take palaces and thrones. "And they shall come from the east and the west and the north and the south and sit down in the kingdom of God." And may you and I, through the pardoning and sanctifying grace of Christ, be guests at that royal banquet!

GREAT MEETING AT INDIAN HEAD

Sir Charles Tupper and Hon. Hugh John Macdonald Spoke.

Winnipeg, Nov. 16.—(Special.)—Sir Charles Tupper was tendered a great ovation at Indian Head last night. The Premier, Hon. F. W. G. Haultain and Hon. Hugh John Macdonald urged that the time had arrived for the Conservative party to get back into office, to carry out their policy, which the Liberals acknowledged they were appropriating.

Sir Charles Tupper spoke last. He gave an address of an hour and a half, punctuated with applause. Mr. Paterson's claim that the preferential tariff had increased our trade with Great Britain, he said, was absurd, and the figures quoted in support of the Minister of Customs were a pure fabrication. Sir Charles gave a history of what the Conservatives had done from Confederation downward.

Lion on the Bear's Trail.

London, Nov. 17.—According to the Bombay correspondent of The Daily Mail, a small Russian warship passed Aden yesterday, bound for the Persian Gulf, and the British third-class cruiser Pomone has been ordered to proceed thither.

Old Enemies Fighting Again.

Berlin, Nov. 17.—The Frankfurter Zeitung announces that Dr. Belck, the well-known German traveler, reports that fighting has taken place between the Armenians and Kurds in the Vilayet of Erzoroum, Armenia, 50 persons being killed.

Victoria Hospital, London, has been formally opened.

FOSTER, OSLER AND HENRY.

Address a Great Political Meeting in Brantford.

The Ex-Minister of Finance in Good Trim—In His Own Searching and Satirical Way Mr. Foster Trimmed the Laurier Government—Their Sins of Omission and Commission Trenchantly Reviewed.

Brantford, Nov. 16.—(Special.)—Hon. Geo. E. Foster delivered the last of his present series of addresses here to-night to one of the most enthusiastic and appreciative audiences ever assembled in Brantford. The large drill hall was filled, and the great audience listened with marked attention to a speech which was generally conceded to have been one of the best ever delivered in the city.

Dr. H. Frank, chairman of the Conservative Association of South Brant, occupied the chair, and the large platform was filled with about 200 of the most representative men of the city and neighborhood.

Mr. Henry Received an Ovation.

Mr. Robert Henry, the local leader of the Conservatives, was the first speaker. He received an ovation, which demonstrated his great popularity. His speech was short, pithy and to the point. After congratulating the people of Brantford upon having two such men as Hon. Mr. Foster and Mr. E. B. Osler present to address them, he made a number of happy allusions to local political matters.

Mr. E. B. Osler's Speech.

Mr. E. B. Osler, M.P. for West Toronto, was the second speaker. He was received with round after round of applause. He said that he had won the reputation of being a man who, whatever else he might be, was not guilty of making long speeches, and he would try not to lose that reputation. In a telling way he sketched the career of the Liberals since they came into power.

Mr. Foster's Speech.

Mr. Foster's reception was a magnificent one, the immense audience cheering for some minutes. He paid an eloquent tribute to Mr. Robert Henry, to whom the Conservatives owed a debt of gratitude for the splendid fights he had made in the past, and he hoped the day was not far distant when he would again go to Ottawa as the representative of South Brant. He endorsed what Mr. Osler had said as to the importance of the next election as a test of the conscience and right feeling of the electorate. He did not believe that the people were corrupt or indifferent to political morality, nor did he believe that mere smartness and trickery was the true road to political success. If he did he would bid farewell to public life.

A Jury Trial.

He asked the audience, especially Liberals present, to act as a jury while he reviewed the history of Liberal promises and performance. Then, with telling force, he went over their record of 18 years of opposition, with their ever-changing policies and varying promises. They had in turn asked their followers to shout for continental trade, for commercial union, then for unrestricted reciprocity with the United States, involving discrimination against Great Britain. Again, the party were asked to dance to the tune of free trade as they have it in England, and death to protection. All these policies had been cast to the moles and the bats, and now that the party is in power, they hardly even pretend that they intend to do a thing to which they pledged themselves when in opposition.

The Financial Record.

In '96 they came before the people, promising to reduce the annual expenditure, declaring that the taxation was needlessly and outrageously high, and pledging themselves to its reduction. They proclaimed their conviction that the public debt was millions greater than it ought to be, yet they had increased the expenditure, increased the taxation and added to the public debt. They denounced protection as a bane and a curse, and pledged themselves to destroy the last vestige of it; yet Mr. Tarte had declared that they had, while rearranging the tariff, been careful to preserve the grand principle of protection. In his opinion, and he wanted to be understood as deliberately stating it, no public man had ever said in the same length of time so many foolish things as had fallen from the lips of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, beginning with his famous boast that in one night he had changed Canada from a blotch on the map to a nation.

Sir Wilfrid's Recent Statements.

Mr. Foster traced Sir Wilfrid down through his recent speeches at Bowmanville, Kincardine, etc., and, by quotations from the public records, demonstrated that the Premier had been considerably less than truthful in his utterances. The claims that the Liberals had deepened the canals, secured for Canada the British markets, solved the Crow's Nest Pass difficulty, etc., were riddled, to the evident delight of the audience.

Taking up Sir Wilfrid's statement at Kincardine, that all the Liberal pledges had been redeemed except the reforming of the Senate, Mr. Foster showed that not even an honest effort had been made to redeem so much as one of them.

Liberals Have Done Something.

It might be asked, Why deal only with what the Liberals had failed to do? Why not speak of what they had done? Well, they had, as they said, settled the Crow's Nest Pass question, but how? At a cost of a couple of millions more than the Conservatives had secured an agreement to have the road built for, and by also giving away thousands of miles of most valuable coal lands to favorites. They had bungled the Yukon Railway business. They were only prevented by the Senate from losing more than a million dollars on the Drummond Railway deal. They had bungled the fast Atlantic service, so that instead of the fast line we should have had by now if the late Government's policy had been carried out, all they could show was a model of a bottle-nosed ship, which Mr. Dobell had presented to the Quebec Board of Trade, with the cheerful assurance that that was the kind of a vessel that might be built some time by somebody if ever the price of ocean vessels fell and the work in the British ship yards became slack.

A Word to Workingmen.

Mr. Foster asked the working-men present to say what would have been their condition to-day had the Liberals been true to their pledges, and destroyed the protective policy to which the country's manufacturing prosperity was due. Addressing himself to the Liberal manufacturers, Mr. Foster said that the Conservative party did not propose to legislate for party purposes, but for the general weal. It made no difference what might be the political leanings of any class in the community, the Conservative party would in the future, as in the past, favor the legislation which they believed would be in the general interest.

The Transvaal Contingent.

Turning to the question of the Transvaal contingent, Mr. Foster blamed Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. Tarte for the humiliating position in which Canada had been placed for a time. He declared that in their hesitation to come forward in the hour of the Empire's need, they had not spoken for any section of the country, English or French. Such men as Mayors Prefontaine and Parent, and as Mr. Bergeron, spoke the true sentiments of French-Canada, and not Mr. Tarte. The only raising of a race cry had been by the pusillanimous Mr. Tarte, when he tried to shelter himself behind his compatriots when justly attacked for his own lack of loyalty and manliness.

A Closing Ovation.

On resuming his seat Mr. Foster received another ovation, the whole audience rising and cheering enthusiastically, many of the ladies present waving their handkerchiefs. Mr. William Cockshutt of Brantford and Mayor Fisher of Paris moved and seconded a vote of thanks to Messrs. Foster, Osler and Henry, which was carried amid enthusiastic applause. The meeting dispersed after cheers for the speakers, Sir Charles Tupper, Mr. Whitney and the Queen.

FRALICK SET FREE.

Kingston Man Charged with the James Homicide Acquitted.

Kingston, Ont., Nov. 17.—Before the Police Court opened yesterday morning Magistrate Duff, County Crown Attorney Whiting and B. M. Britton, counsel for Charles Fralick, who shot John James Wednesday morning while the last-named was going through his hen-house, had a short consultation, after which Fralick was released, having spent 28 hours in the cells. The police found several articles near Fralick's hotel, and are trying to trace the identity of the men who accompanied James at the time of the shooting.

Wilson, the burglar who broke into C. H. Reid's general store at North Augusta on Friday night last, and was captured by the local police, withdrew his former plea of not guilty, and admitted the offence. He was sent to the Central Prison for one year and 360 days. He would not give the name of his accomplice, who escaped.

HAMILTON GIRL DUPED.

She Went to New York on an Advertisement for Actresses.

New York, Nov. 17.—Marion Partridge, who is 21 years old, and says her home is in Hamilton, Ont., called at the Yorkville Court to-day, and told the magistrate that she had seen an advertisement in a New York paper, which said that William Richards wanted to engage actresses for the "Black Crook and White Dove Company," which was to go on the road Nov. 1. She answered the advertisement and received a reply from Richards, telling her to come to this city. On her arrival she met Richards, and was promised $10 per week. Rehearsals were he'd often, but the company did not start out. Richards wanted to borrow money from her, and then proposed marriage. He then offered to send for the girl's sister and to measure her for some clothing. The girl refused all of Richards' offers. The girl secured two summonses for Richards, giving four addresses, where it was thought he could be found, but the man could not be located. When she left the court house the girl said she would sue Richards in a civil court.

Pugilist Apfel Dead.

New York, Nov. 17.—Henry Apfel, who was injured in a prize fight with John Fox at the Pelican Athletic Club on Saturday night, died in the Norwegian Hospital, South Brooklyn, early yesterday. Fox will be arraigned on a charge of homicide.

DOWN AMONG THE IRON MEN

Superintendent—Mr. B. F. Peacock.
Engineer—Mr. F. T. Peacock.
Assistant Superintendent—Mr. J. Starling.
Roller—Mr. Arthur A. Mitchell.

THE PRESIDENT,

Mr. Frank A. Mitchell, was born in 1855, in Norwich, Conn., and since 1878 has been engaged in rolling mills work, with the exception of a short time spent in mining operations in Arizona. Mr. Mitchell has thus, it will be seen, for upwards of twenty years had the active management of a rolling mill. He is married, and one daughter, very popular in Norwich society, blessed the union. Mr. Mitchell is an amateur musician and composer of note, one of his compositions having been played by the I.O.O.F. Band during the past summer.

MR. WM. ABBOTT,

Vice President of the Company, is the second son of the late Sir John Abbott, at one time Premier of the Dominion. Mr. Abbott was born at Montreal in 1853. He has been in the iron business since 1883, when the Abbotts built the mill so well-known throughout Canada, which was in operation until the plant was removed to Belleville. Mr. Abbott is married, one daughter being the sunshine of his home.

THE MACHINERY.

The machinery used by the concern has been brought from Montreal, Norwich, Conn., and Nashua, N. H. Some of this machinery has been in use before in mills, but a considerable portion of it is entirely new.

ROLLING MILLS MACHINERY.

Since the immense building has been erected a large force of men have been placing the machinery in position, and their operations have been watched with interest. It required not only hard work but considerable skill and ingenuity to place some of the machinery in position. An idea of the power and weight of some parts may be gathered from the fact that one of the immense wheels for running the train or mills is 28 feet in diameter, weighing a number of tons. There are other portions of machinery equally weighty. On the south side of the building is situated the seven furnaces of large dimensions. The boilers are placed on top of the furnaces. A number of mills or trains have already been placed in position and will soon be ready for the commencement of operations. These mills or trains are 9 inch, 12 inch and 18 inch or, in other words, as stated by the manager, they are known as 9 inch guide mill, 12 and 18 inch bar mill and 18 inch plate. This is what they are capable of turning out. The boilers are 5 feet in diameter and 16 feet in length.

At the western end of the building is situated two immense pairs of shears, which are used for cutting up the scrap iron into the required sizes. The material is placed upon a thin board manufactured for the purpose and after being cut is then placed in the furnace, where it is melted, and thence transferred to the machinery necessary for making it into bar or rolled iron. The whole course is one of interest and, of course, requires skilled mechanics. There are two furnaces for each, so that when one is empty the other is ready to go on with.

That the Company have an immense quantity of scrap iron on hand to commence operations with may be gathered from the fact that already over $20,000 has been expended for it. In this connection it will be of interest to note that recently there arrived upon the premises a large quantity of heavy plating which was taken off the celebrated steamer Great Eastern, which was broken up some time ago. This scrap iron is purchased in various parts of the world.

In addition to the scrap iron there is at present en route from England 250 tons of steel billets, which Mr. Mitchell stated would be rolled into smaller sizes. This is brought here as the Company does not manufacture steel.

MANUFACTURE OF NAILS AND SPIKES.

In the nail and spike department 38 machines are now in position and in a few days everything will be ready to commence operations. These machines are of various sizes and designs. They will manufacture at the commencement nails of various sizes, from what is known as a 4 penny shingle nail to an 18 inch spike. It is the intention of the Company to manufacture a large quantity of railway spikes, for which there is always a good demand. Later, machines for the manufacture of wire nails will be placed in position, a number of which are now upon the premises. The nails after being cut come from the machines in a rather rough style. They are then placed in what is known as a tumbler, a large revolving machine, which works after the principle of a washing machine, which revolves very rapidly, cleaning the nails and taking off the rough edges.

It is the intention of the Company to add other branches of work to the industry, such as the manufacture of horse shoes and horse shoe nails. For this purpose other buildings will be erected in the near future.

The machine shop is situated under the roof of the nail and spike factory and is at the eastern end. Here two forges are constantly at work making and repairing tools. In this department are lathes, drills, planers, etc., some of which machinery is very intricate in design.

SHIPPING FACILITIES.

This important part of the work has not been overlooked and the railway facilities are the best that could be obtained. A branch of the Grand Junction runs along Wharf st. and upon entering the west end of the premises branches off in three directions, one branch going to the western end of the rolling mills building, another between the large building and the nail and spike factory, and the third between the nail and spike factory and the warehouses. This will make shipping facilities easy. It is the intention of the company to have a roadway and a dock built out to the bay and thus have both railway and water facilities very convenient. The latter work has not yet been commenced, but will be begun during the winter and completed next spring.

NOTES

An item of no small magnitude is the quantity of coal which will be consumed. Mr. Mitchell stated that he had contracted for 6,000 tons for delivery here between now and May next.

Although the works are not yet running there are some 60 hands employed constantly, the pay roll for the month now being over $2,000.

One large iron manufacturing establishment in Canada has already advised Mr. Mitchell that they will purchase from the Company the iron necessary for their business, which in itself is an item of considerable magnitude.

AFTERNOON DESPATCHES.

A HOT TIME AT LADYSMITH

Heavy Bombardment From All Points of Compass.

Gen. Buller Cables Bad News About the Armored Train--Boers Refuse Information.

Lorenzo Marques, Nov. 17.—A local newspaper reports that Ladysmith was subjected to a very heavy bombardment all day Tuesday and that at midnight all the cannon on the hills surrounding the town opened fire simultaneously, pouring shells from all points of the compass. Several buildings on fire, the newspaper asserted, could be distinctly seen from the hills.

Estcourt, Nov. 16, (Afternoon).—The red cross train has again returned without bringing in the dead and wounded.

The Boers declined to give any information as to the names of either the killed or injured, referring the inquirers to the Pretoria press for all information. All that they would disclose was the fact that three of the British were dead and nine wounded.

London, Nov. 17.—Gen. Buller cables that 100 British were killed at the wreck of the armored train in Natal.

Pretoria, Nov. 9.—The following despatch has been received from the Boer camp at Elandslaagte under to-day's date: Ladysmith has been completely encircled by the Boer forces. Our second big gun was successfully placed in position on Bulwan hill, in front of Ladysmith. The firing of heavy guns commenced early this morning, with no casualties to the Boers up to the present.

Botha has heliographed from the south of Ladysmith that the British battery opened a heavy fire with big guns and continuously dropped shells into the works around Ladysmith. The Pretoria force was in a tight place, having taken up a position commanded by the big British fire, which was so hot that the position became untenable. The big gun, however, saved the situation.

London, Nov. 17.—The War Office has received the following despatch from Gen. Buller: Have received from Hildyard, Pietermaritzberg, a telegram dated Nov. 15, of which the following is the purport: "The officer commanding the troops at Estcourt reports at midday that an armored train left Estcourt this morning with a company of the Dublin Fusiliers and a company of the Durban Volunteers. North of Freere they encountered a party of Boers and began to withdraw. While returning some of the trucks were derailed.

The Dublins turned out and advanced towards the enemy, while the rest of the train appears to have returned without them to Estcourt. The officer commanding the troops reports that he was sending mounted troops in order to cover their withdrawal, but that about 100 are missing.

TRUE ELOQUENCE.

Its Effect Upon an Oratorical Tenderfoot From the East.

"Talkin about oratory," said Broncho Bob, "you ought to have been out to Crimson Gulch last fall, so as to hear some of the real thing."

"We have some pretty luminous specimens in congress," ventured the man who felt it incumbent on him to show a little local pride.

"Not a circumstance. I've read some of them kind of speeches. I've heard 'em too. A feller come from the east an started in to tell Crimson Gulch what it orter do. Some of the boys allowed things was gettin ruther slack, an they says anything fur a change. So they took his advice an blazed away an organized a city council."

"I see. You held an election."

"Nary. We didn't want any bloodshed. We jes' passed the word around that the city council was goin to be held an made it an open game. Everybody was there except Nevada Bill, an he didn't dare show up because he was under suspicion of sittin in a poker game with a private stock of blue chips which he had bought unbeknownst from a store in San Antonio. It wasn't long until, under the instructions of the tenderfoot, we had the city council in good shape. Only officers was allowed to wear their weapons durin the proceedin's, an nobody was barred from the debate. The first business we took up was the case of Nevada Bill. We reckoned that it wouldn't be no more than decent local pride to prevent the importation of any poker chips except by the duly recognized authorities fur said importation. Rattlesnake Pete said the only way to make the law bindin was to pervide that anybody breakin it should be shot at least once. The tenderfoot got r'iled in a minute. He jumped to his feet an got off the most long winded talk about constitutionality an the rights of citizenship an whereas an therefore that I ever heard. He talked hard, an he showed he had read books. But you orter have heard Three Finger Sam's historic reply. It jes' showed how quick a man who has the gift of genuine eloquence can end an argument. Crimson Gulch hasn't got through talkin about it yet. Three Finger Sam drawed himself up to his full height an p'inted his finger at the tenderfoot. 'I dön't desire to use no harsher words than is necessary,' says he, 'but I'd like to know what you mean, you low down, lop ear jack rabbit, by comin into this town an tryin to tell us whether a man needs shootin or not. Have we got to wait for some lantern jawed coyote to come wanderin in off the prairie an tell us what's good fur us? Beware!' says Three Finger Sam, still p'intin his finger an growin more eloquent every minute. 'Beware, you bowlegged burro! Don't you think you can come here an overawe people because you wear specs. Have a care, or the fust thing you know you'll be travelin out of this town with a bunch of patriotic citizens on your trail, every one of whom is dead anxious to shoot a freckle off'n the back of your neck!' The tenderfoot didn't have another word to say, an he left town the next mornin."

DAINTY TRIFLES.

Vinaigrettes are smaller than heretofore and come mostly in crystal with jeweled tops.

Hatpins are larger than ever. Rhinestones are used extensively. The most beautiful pins are set with genuine stones. Three or four hatpins are used in each hat.

If the buckles keep growing smaller, the stock clasps will be used for the belt ribbon after awhile. Some of the prettiest designs are in flower forms, enameled in natural colors.

Jet is advancing in favor, probably owing to the great amount of jetted tunics used this year. The jet Cyrano chains, jet buckles for belts and shoes and jet combs for the hair are effective with the light and white costumes to be worn this winter.

THE THORN'S DAY.

So green the hedges show, and delicate
With fairy leafage! Nothing can abate
The creeping, vernal tide of happy spring,
Which, as we gaze, submerges everything.
From rain wash'd orchards, o'er the grasses wet,
Shaken with gusts the cherry blossoms fall,
And apple boughs are budding on the wall—
Only the thorn is flowerless yet.

But soon the may will bloom and fall and pass,
Brief as the dawn dew shimmering on the grass!
And then what shyer speedwells will look up,
While pools are drap'd with water buttercup!
And overhead the young oak boughs shall sway
Crushing their golden leaves in tender strife
And murmur through our talk of love and life—
"Only the thorn has had its day."

—Pall Mall Gazette.

Afternoon Despatches.

THE INTELLIGENCER'S afternoon despatches are twelve hours in advance of the Toronto morning papers.

Can White Hold Out?

If So, Relief May Reach Him by Tuesday Next.

Strong Command, with Artillery, Ready to Start from Pietermaritzburg—Ennersdale Threatened.

(OTHER DESPATCHES ON INSIDE PAGES.)

Estcourt, Nov. 18.—It is hoped here that the relief of Gen. White can be achieved by Tuesday.

Gen. Lord Methuen's troops, it is announced, are ready to start from Pietermaritzburg. He is well supplied with artillery.

The Boers, 2000 strong, have taken up a position with eight guns near Ennersdale, five miles northwest of this place.

London, Nov. 18.—The War Office has received a dispatch from Gen. Buller which says that on Saturday, Nov. 11, all was well at Kimberly.

A runner from Ladysmith arrived at Estcourt on Nov. 17, saying that Gen. White reports all well at Ladysmith, adding that the Boer shells have no effect.

Gen. White recently made a sortie and drove the Boers from their gun position.

The British did not lose a man.

The town is healthful.

The bombardment of Ladysmith was continued almost daily with big guns.

The Boers endeavored on Tuesday, Nov. 14, to make a closer investment, but were repulsed.

Gen. White followed this up with a sortie which drove the Boers from all their positions with considerable loss.

The Boers are reported to be seriously short of provisions.

KINGSTON KICKERS

Easily Defeated the Local Team Yesterday Afternoon.

A goodly crowd gathered on the cricket field yesterday afternoon to see Queen's second team, of Kingston, play Rugby football with the local club. The result was pretty nearly a foregone conclusion, for the local team has only been organized a few weeks, but, though beaten, they were by no means disgraced. A little more practice and experience will make them worthy opponents for any junior team.

In the first half the Kingston men scored 8, and in the second half both teams scored six points each, the score at the finish being 14 to 6. Following are the names and positions of the players:

Ready to Wear Clothing

Not Much Money Needed.
Why continue smoking that old, bad smelling pipe, when 25 cents will buy a new one at MacCallum's. Other pipes cheaper and others more expensive, but this line at a quarter is worth seeing.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING

That the collection plate holds its own, though its a thing of the passed.

That just at this season of the year nearly every man can count an alderman or two among his friends.

That after this no one need say that a woman can't keep a secret. Ladysmith has not said a word for a week.

That an engagement will shortly be announced between Lady Smith and Pieter Maritzburg. Gen. White will be, of course, the best man.

That Belleville people who want to send Christmas boxes to the boys who will then be in Africa, must post them not later than Tuesday next.

That the people who went out north hunting haven't got it all their own way this year. Some of them may have venison, but we can eat dear meat, too.

That it is an ill wind which blows nobody good. Those contractors across line 45 who supplied "carrion" to the British military authorities inadvertently did Canada a good turn if our people will only take advantage of it. This great Dominion can give 'em plenty of beef that is neither "embalmed" or "rotten," and the British army and navy alone will be good customers.

That the Manager of the Opera House is to be commended for his action in having those Kingston rowdies ejected from the opera house last night. They may be able to play football, but that doesn't give them the right to kick up a row among the respectable patrons of the house. The public spanker of the Limestone City should take these fresh young men in hand, and, after a gentle castigation, provide each one with a muzzle before he again "wanders from his own fireside."

LET THERE BE LIGHT

Mr. W. H. Pearson Talks to The Intelligencer.

What the New Electric Light and Power Company Propose to do in this Vicinity.

Considerable interest being manifested by our citizens concerning the operations of the Company which is soon to begin business in this vicinity, a representative of THE INTELLIGENCER to-day had an interview with the President of the Company, Mr. W. H. Pearson, jr., who was this morning in the city.

"As you are coming to do public business here, Mr. Pearson," said our reporter, "would you mind letting us know what the objects and aims of your Company are?"

"Not at all," said Mr. Pearson.

"What is the name of the Company?"

"The Trenton Electric and Water Company," was the reply.

"You are extending your pole line in the city are you not?" said the newspaper man.

"Yes, we are."

"When do you think you will have your system completed?"

"Well," was the reply, "we are rushing the work now, and with fine weather should be able to reach all parts of the City before Christmas."

"And the prices," said the newspaper man, with an eye to the main chance, "how will they compare with the present rates?"

They will be very much less. In fact we have decided on a rate one-third less than present prices to start with."

"How can you afford to sell light at so much lower figure than is being charged at present?"

"Because," said Mr. Pearson, "we can supply it much more cheaply by water power than by steam."

"As to power, Mr. Pearson," said THE INTELLIGENCER man, "What position will your company be in to supply power for manufacturing purposes?"

"You may state," said the company's president, "that we are in a position to supply all the power required in the City of Belleville at a much lower rate than it can be produced by steam."

"Speaking in a general sense," said the scribe, "What do you estimate the saving will be to the citizens?"

"That is rather a difficult question," said Mr. Pearson, with a smile, "But, taking the present consumption of gas as a basis for comparison, I should say at least $10,000 per annum."

"How will pour rates compare with those charged in other places?" was the next question.

"Very favorably," was the emphatic reply. "Our rates will be much lower than in any other city, similarly situated, that we know of."

"Will your light be cheaper than coal oil?" said the inquisitive newspaper man.

"Yes," said Mr. Pearson, "taking everything into consideration, I can safely say that our Company will supply a cheaper light than coal oil," and, as he couldn't think of any more questions, our reporter took his hat and leave.

Painful Injuries.
Miss Foster, a daughter of Mr. R. W. Foster, a G. T. R. engineer, last evening sustained painful injuries in a rather simple manner. She was running upon the sidewalk near the station when she fell against a lamp post, dislocating her shoulder and bruising herself about the head. A physician was immediately summoned and attended to her.

ALD ROBINSON RESIGNS

City Solicitor Said He Had Forfeited His Seat.

Much Talk About Bad Streets—Another Effort to be Made to Open George St.—A Red-Hot Discussion Over Electric Light Matters.

Before the various committees convened in regular session last night, Ald. Robinson, who had not taken his place at the table with the other Aldermen, rose from his chair and asked if any communication had been received from the City Solicitor in respect to the wall paper transaction.

In answer to Ald. Robinson's question the City Clerk read a long opinion from the City Solicitor, setting forth that he had carefully considered all the facts, as far as he could gather them, together with the statute bearing upon the subject. The City Solicitor quoted Sec. 80, chap. 223, R. S. O. 1897, as bearing upon the case, and mentioned, as a precedent, Queen vs. Francis, 18 Q. B., 526. After stating that Ald. Robinson had been appointed a committee of one to see to the repairs of the Assay Office, the opinion says: "Having accepted the trust, and having deputed another to look after it for him and his agents, so to speak, employing Mr. Cummins to do the work for the City, not fixing any price for the work and materials and informing him that he could get the paper at Ald. Robinson's store and his going there and getting the paper gives Ald. Robinson an interest in the contract for the repairs of the Assay Office."

After stating that it may be open to argument that what took place did not amount to a contract, the opinion closes with the words: "I am, therefore, of the opinion that Ald. Robinson, from what has taken place, is disqualified from being a member of the Council at the present time."

After the City Clerk had finished reading the City Solicitor's opinion, Ald. Robinson rose and handed a document to the Clerk, then walking to the door he said "Good evening, gentlemen," put on his hat and passed out.

The document in question was as follows:

To the Mayor and Aldermen of the Corporation of the City of Belleville.

GENTLEMEN,—In pursuance of the fact that the City Solicitor has decided that I am no longer legally qualified to fill the position of Alderman for the Municipality of Belleville, on account of goods having been purchased at my place of business by a contractor, for corporation use, I hereby beg to tender the resignation of my seat in the Council of the corporation of said City of Belleville.

Respectfully,
A. ROBINSON.

Belleville, Nov. 17, 1899.

The letter was referred to the Council for action on Monday night.

The members in attendance at the meeting were: Mayor Johnson, Aldermen Jones, Hanley, LaRoche, Doyle, Taylor, Starling, Ponton and Bogart.

PUBLIC WORKS.

Ald. Hanley, Chairman, presided over this committee.

The following accounts were ordered to be paid: Street watering, $3.00; W. W. Chown, 25c; Marsh & Henthorne, 50c; W. Lott, $105.50; Pay sheet No. 23, $47.72.

A communication was read from Mr. C. C. Leavens in reference to a drain which was blocked on the corner of Wharf and Pinnacle streets.

On motion the matter was referred to the Street Surveyor, who stated that the blockade was caused by the G.T.R. building the siding to the rolling mills. The Surveyor was authorized to communicate with the G.T.R. authorities.

A communication from the Abbott-Mitchell company complained of a drain being blocked, and, in consequence, water was running into their premises.

On motion the chairman of the committee was authorized to do the best he could to remedy the difficulty.

The Street Surveyor was authorized to build two culverts over the drain on North Front street.

Ald. Starling moved that the Council rescind the motion passed at last meeting re George street and have that street opened. The mover spoke in favor of the opening up of the street. All that was asked from the City was $600, which had been appropriated.

Ald. Panter was in favor of opening up the street, but he was not prepared to give Mr. Sills $450 for the lot and erect a fence, which would cost $80 additional.

The Mayor said the people owning the property were more for the property than was at first anticipated. The building of a fence was something new.

On motion the Mayor, Aldermen Starling and Doyle were appointed a committee to wait upon Mr. Sills and Mrs. McAnnany, and offer the former $450 and the latter $200 for the property without any fences.

Ald. Panter said he had been spoken to in reference to having West Bridge street repaired. It was in a bad state.

The Mayor said that Albert street had been neglected and was in a frightful condition. It was the worst street in the city. It was there where the XV. Battalion got mired.

Ald. Taylor said something should be done to the road leading to the station. It was one of the worst streets in the City.

No action was taken in reference to these streets.

FIRE, WATER AND LIGHT.

Ald. Jones, Chairman, presided. The following accounts were passed without discussion:

Jas. Zebedee, $27.29; J. S. McKeown, $5.14; cartage, $2.00; G.T.R. freight, $90.00; pay sheet, $1.25; W.E. Vandervoort, $16.70; S. Smith, cartage, $21.65; Rathbun Co., $199.16; Alford & Lear, $9.15; J. W. Walker, $1.45.

Mr. J. V. Jenkins appeared before the Committee and stated that he considered he was paying too high a rate for the water service for Hotel Quinte, namely, $200 per year. This he considered was about 100 per cent. too much.

After some discussion a motion prevailed that Mr. Jenkins pay $75 for the half year and the matter of fixing a rate for the future be left with the Commissioners who will be elected in January.

This apparently pleased Mr. Jenkins,

CARPETS.

Crossley's Velvets.

There is no make of carpet that gives a richer effect then a good Velvet Carpet. Like all other pile carpets, the colors blend into each other so beautifully, and they have that softness of tone that harmonize so well with other furnishings in the room.

Crossley's Velvets are made from fine WORSTED yarns, which ensures wear and durability. If you want a carpet rich in appearance and sure to give satisfactory service, and moderate in price, you could not do better than buy one of our Crossley's Velvets.

We are showing some choice styles in these durable carpets at $1.25 per yard. As we are Crossley's sole agents for this district they can be had only from us.

English Tapestrys.

Just now we are showing a particularly choice lot of fine English Tapestry Carpets at 35c, 50c, 65c and 75c a yard. The ones at 65c and 75c have borders to match. These are made by thoroughly reliable English Carpet makers, and will give wonderful service when you consider the price.

Many of these patterns are copies of best Brussels, and it would take an expert to tell the difference between some of them and fine Brussels Carpets.

THE CONSERVATIVES READY.

Manitoba Dissolution Did Not Take Them By Surprise.

Organizer Hastings Had a Pointer About It and Had Told His Friends—In No Constituency Will There Be a Walk-Over—Two Independents in the Field—Conservatives Well Organized.

Winnipeg, Nov. 17.—(Special.)—W. H. Hastings, organizer for the Conservative party, is talking to a friend as well as to the conservative party throughout the Province was, to say the least, as well prepared for the three weeks' campaign as the Liberals. It is all "if the Government or their supporters imagine the Conservatives were taken by surprise in the course they have taken, they are grossly mistaken, as I had definite information of the coming dissolution some days ago, and had written letters advising our friends all over the Province of the fact, and at the same time told them I would wire as soon as the dissolution was officially announced.

"Early Thursday afternoon I wired all the different districts advising them of the exact date of the elections, so that our opponents have not got much of an advantage over us in that point."

It is a Full Field.

Regarding the Conservative candidates in the different districts, he stated that when nominations were made in Mountain, Manitou and Carillon, Winnipeg, in all of which Conservative nominations will be made at once, the list would be completed, as Hespeler was contesting Rosenfeld and Menzies Ethelstan as independent candidates, and it was not the intention of the Conservatives to place candidates in the field in those constituencies, but would leave the fight between the Government candidates and the independents.

As to Gilmie, Mr. Baldwinson will be the Conservative candidate there. There seats dispose of districts so far as the choosing of Conservative candidates is concerned, and will leave every seat in the Province contested, with 38 Conservatives and two independents against the 40 Government candidates.

Conservatives Well Organized.

Regarding the state of organization of the Conservative party, Mr. Hastings replied that it was all that could be desired. The party was united in every district and confident of victory.

Hugh John Leaves Law Firm.

The announcement was made to-night that Hugh John Macdonald has retired from the firm of Macdonald, Tupper and Phippen. This is in accordance with a promise made some time ago that he would retire from the local firm on the announcement of the election.

CHEESE MARKETS.

Brantford, Ont., Nov. 17.—At the Cheese Market to-day 2650 boxes of cheese were offered, of which 2500 were sold, namely: 2075 at 11 cents; 275 at 11¼, cents. Market adjourned for the season.

Iroquois, Ont., Nov. 17.—At the Cheese Board to-day 677 cheese were offered, all colored. Buyers present, Ault, Bissett, Logan and Smith. The bidding started at 10c, but finally 10¾ was offered by all the buyers, but none sold at that price. On the street all were disposed of at 10¾c to 10⅝c. Board adjourned to meet again Nov. 24th.

CROOKED BAGGAGE MASTER.

Angus Chisholm Sent Down for Circulating Counterfeit Money.

Amherst, N.S., Nov. 17.—Seven men were arraigned before Judge Morse to-day accused of being engaged in the circulation of counterfeit $2 Dominion notes. The cases have caused a great sensation on account of all those implicated being well known and hitherto regarded as honest and respectable citizens. The whole seven elected to be tried summarily, and five of these were disposed of to-day.

Angus Chisholm of Pugwash, baggagemaster on the Intercolonial Railway, was first arraigned on the charge of having in his possession $500 of counterfeit $2 bills. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary. In delivering sentence, Judge Morse charged him with being responsible for the whole of the wretched business. He had solicited and induced other men, hitherto of respectable character, to enter into the business.

The Other Culprits.

James Doyle of West Chester, James Barclay of Westworth and Wilson Moyer of Wentworth each pleaded guilty to having in his possession some of the $500 bills, and were each fined $100 or one year in jail.

Arthur Stewart of MacCaan pleaded guilty to having two forged bills, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $50 or six months in jail. Neil Herring pleaded guilty to having $77 in forged notes, and Thomas Cook $100. The latter two were remanded until to-morrow for sentence. In imposing fines, Judge Morse said he believed that this, with the fact of these men being in the community where the business was transacted, would be a far greater punishment than a sentence them to a few years in prison, and, as they had been led on in the way in the affair, he gave them this sentence instead of a term in prison.

D. L. MOODY STRICKEN.

Heart Trouble Attacked the Great Evangelist in Kansas City.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 17.—Dwight L. Moody, the evangelist, who has been preaching here to thousands nightly in Convention Hall, was stricken with heart trouble to-day. His engagement here was cut short, and to-night he is en route for his home at Northfield, Mass., in the care of Dr. Schauffler of this city and Mr. A. M. Vining, teller of the Union National Bank of Northfield, Mass., in the cars provided by the committee of churchmen who brought Mr. Moody to Kansas City, and are going over the Wabash, by way of Chicago and Buffalo.

Admitted to be Critical.

It is admitted that Mr. Moody's condition is critical, though when the evangelist was seen at his hotel shortly before being taken to the railway station, he expressed the belief that his condition was not serious. He stated that he was feeling very weak, and added: "I have had trouble with my heart for a good many years, but I never felt weak as I do now. There is nothing alarming about my condition, I believe."

Preached to Thousands.

Since last Sunday night the evangelist has been preaching in Convention Hall, where the audience on several occasions has numbered close to 15,000. Several times he has spoken with difficulty, and has been compelled at times to sit up all night, as he could not breathe while lying down. To-day he was too ill to go to the hall, and a large audience, which had gathered, was turned away.

FOR ESSAYS ON CHEESE-MAKING.

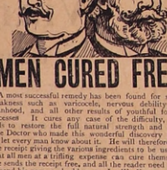

Cheese and Butter Association Offers $200 in Prizes.

Brantford, Ont., Nov. 18.—A meeting of the committee of the Cheese and Butter Association was held at the secretary's office in Brantford yesterday. It was decided to increase the value of the prizes and to offer $200 in all for essays on cheese and butter making, as follows.

For essays on butter making—First prize, $50; second prize, $25; third prize, $15; fourth prize, $10. Judges: Aaron Wenger, Ayton; H. H. Dean, professor of dairy husbandry, O.A.C., Guelph; Arch Smith, butter inspector for the province, Toronto and director of the Strathroy Dairy School.

For essays on cheese making—First prize, $50; second prize, $25; third prize, $15; fourth prize, $10. Judges: R. M. Ballantyne, Stratford; J. N. Paul, Canboro; and James Morrison, cheese instructor for the association.

It was decided that professors, instructors or anyone in the employment of the judges, should be ineligible to compete for the prizes, and also that the essays should be forwarded to the secretary not later than Saturday, Jan. 6.

MEN CURED FREE.

A most successful remedy has been found for sexual weakness such as varicocele, nervous debility, lost manhood, and all other results of youthful folly or excesses. It cures any case of the difficulty, never fails to restore the full natural strength and vigor. The Doctor who made this wonderful discovery wants to let every man know about it. He will therefore send the receipt giving the various ingredients to be used so that all men at a trifling expense can cure themselves. He sends the receipt free, and all the reader need do is to send his name and address to L. W. Knapp, M.D., 176 Hall Bldg., Detroit, Mich., requesting the free receipt as reported in this paper. It is a generous offer, and all men ought to be glad to have such an opportunity. 8-16-wks-17

REAL YOUTH.

When you see a man old enough to be a grandfather pick up a heavy trunk, and march off with it on his shoulder you realize that a man may be young at almost any age if his blood contains the elements that youth is made of. That is the sort of youth that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery puts into a man's veins. It gives him digestive power; it turns his food into good nourishing blood; it enables the liver to keep that blood pure and free from bilious poisons. It fills him with muscular strength and vitality. It makes him in the truest sense young again, and keeps him so.

"I am pretty well now, for a man of sixty-three years," says Mr. John Larson of Abbey, Grant Co., Minn. "I had been very badly troubled for many years with dyspepsia, also malaria, and got so bad and weak that I could not work.

"I could hardly eat anything without vomiting, had a pain in the stomach and a rumbling sensation coming into the throat. I took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets,' and can truly say these medicines have helped me wonderfully. I commenced taking them in the fall and used them all winter. I took fifteen bottles of the 'Discovery' and one of the 'Pellets' according to directions, and must say that both are good honest medicines.

"I improved right along from the very beginning. I just stopped taking medicine in the latter part of May and then felt as well as ever in my life. I can eat all kinds of food and doesn't cause me any pain in my stomach now as it always did before I took Dr. Pierce's medicines. I can cheerfully say to the public that I have used and benefited in taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for dyspepsia; it will eradicate and cure the disease if anything will.

If you are in poor health write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N.Y. It will cost you nothing whatever for his advice although he is at the very head of his profession in the treatment of obstinate chronic diseases.

"MURDER."

Jury Says Prisoner Williams and Deceased McIntosh Killed J. E. Varcoe at Toronto.

Toronto, Nov. 18.—Corroborative evidence only was adduced at the final sitting of the Varcoe inquest held in the court room at Police Headquarters last night. The prisoner, Harry Williams, was brought up from the cells.

After listening to the testimony of Joseph Allan Varcoe, Noah Thomas, Mrs. Armstrong, Miss Armstrong, Miss Loke, Harry Spottiswood, C. H. B. Johnston, Patrol Sergt. Willis and P. C. Dickson (199), the jury returned the following verdict:

"That John Edward Varcoe came to his death by reason of wounds produced by the bullets from revolvers fired at and upon the body of the said John Edward Varcoe by one Harry Williams and one Joseph McIntosh, alias Curtis, and that the said Harry Williams and Joseph McIntosh, on the 9th day of November, did feloniously, wilfully and with malice aforethought kill and murder the said Varcoe."

The jury in a rider praised P. C. Dickson (199) for his good judgment, bravery, alertness in the emergency and recommended that he receive all the rewards within the power of the regulations of the force.

OLIVER MANN PARDONED.

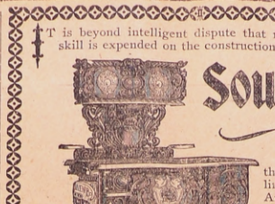

Freed in Answer to a Petition—Frank Greene Sentenced.

Ottawa, Nov. 18.—Oliver Mann has been pardoned by His Excellency the Governor-General in response to a petition signed by many leading citizens. Oliver Mann was convicted last December for two years for irregularities committed while he was acting cashier in the city water rates office. He was taken to Kingston on Dec. 13, 1898.

Frank Green of Gloucester Township, near Ottawa, was found guilty yesterday of an offence against Sara Bridget Foster, the 13-year-old daughter of a neighbor. The jury recommended Green to the mercy of the court, and in sentencing him Judge Falconbridge told Green the recommendation for mercy saved him from the lash. Green was then sentenced to two years, less one day, imprisonment in Central Prison. He is the son of a farmer, and is about 27 years old.

Patria Had to be Abandoned.

Hamburg, Nov. 18.—The officials of the Hamburg-American Line have received a despatch from Coxhaven, announcing that the company's steamer Athesia, from Philadelphia, Nov. 2, for Hamburg arrived there at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, with the crew of the Hamburg-American Line steamer Patria, which caught fire off Dover, Eng., on Monday. The Patria was abandoned in the North Sea, enveloped in flames, and there are no hopes of saving the vessel.

IT is beyond intelligent dispute that more money and skill is expended on the construction of the

than on any other line of stoves in America. It follows as a logical sequence that a higher standard of perfection is attained. Aluminum lined are so much superior to the ordinary oven as to be beyond comparison. For Fifty-six Years our stoves have been very largely used; not a hamlet in this broad Dominion but traffics in Souvenirs. Unequalled experience, large facilities, and special opportunities make great results possible. We claim for Souvenir Ranges that they have reached perfection, that is, so far as perfection is known in the science and art of stove building of today. The Aerated Oven is only one of their many special features. Sold by leading dealers everywhere.

Aerated Ovens

O'GRADY SHOOTS AT SMALL.

Lively Revolver Street Encounter Between Two Toronto Men.

Toronto, Nov. 18.—In full view of Police Constable Sockett, who was directing traffic at King and Church streets yesterday, just before 1 o'clock, John O'Grady, a well-known former hotel-keeper, drew a revolver from his pocket and fired straight at Peter Small, bailiff of the 10th Division Court of the County of York. The bullet missed its mark, and to guard himself, Small rushed into the Alhambra Saloon. Before the policeman could get to the sidewalk, O'Grady sent a second bullet after Small, and it went crashing through the plate glass window at the side of the hotel door.

At the risk of his own life the policeman closed in on O'Grady, and by wrestle to seize the revolver the constable locked O'Grady down. While the two men were struggling on the sidewalk the revolver was discharged three times. The policeman held his man in a safe position while he snatched the weapon from his hand. The prisoner, with some difficulty, was then lodged in Police Headquarters. He gave his address as 302 West Adelaide street, and declared that he fired at Small because he (Small) had done him an injury. The trouble between the two men is said to have arisen out of the transfer of the American Hotel license at the corner of York and Wellington streets. O'Grady also believed that Small was instrumental in depriving him of another hotel property.

In spite of the fact that there were five shots fired, and a large crowd on the street, nobody was injured. The excitement which followed the discharge of the first shot was intense. This bullet passed through Mr. Small's coat sleeve, and did no damage, with the exception of a slight bruise where it had grazed the skin.

It is said O'Grady has for some time been brooding over the death of his wife, which occurred a little over a year ago.

Naming Children in Persia.

The naming of the child in Persia is made an event of great rejoicing and a time for the gathering of relatives. When the guests are assembled sweetmeats are eaten, and then the infant in its swaddling clothes is brought in and laid on the carpet in the center of the room by one of the priests. Five names are written on as many slips of paper and placed between the leaves of the Koran. A chapter is read from this book and then one of the slips is drawn at random. The name on the slip is the one the child has to bear through life, and the priest takes up the slip, pronounces the name in the child's ear and places the piece of paper in its clothes. Gifts and congratulations follow.

The Company owns over twelve thousand acres of rich copper land in Texas, opened, tested, developed and NOW BEING OPERATED. Millions of tons of copper bearing clay and marl running from five to ten per cent., and large quantities of ore carrying from fifty to seventy per cent. copper in sight. Cheaply mined and treated, favorable climate, cheap fuel, and ample water. Stated by geologists, chemists, experts and engineers to be one of the greatest and best in the world. Amount of land, quantity and quality of ore, cheapness of mining and treatment, the increasing demand and profit in producing copper considered, the Boston and Texas Copper Company possesses unequalled advantages and affords the best kind of an investment.

This Company can produce copper as cheaply as any in the world.

COPPER MINING IS THE SAFEST AND MOST PROFITABLE OF ALL INDUSTRIES.

Calumet and Hecla ore averages 4 1-2 per cent. copper. It has paid $62,850,000 dividends
Tamarack ore averages 3 per cent. It has paid $5,910,000 in dividends.
Atlantic ore averages 85-100 of 1 per cent. It has paid $780,000 in dividends.
Boston and Montana ore runs 7 per cent. It has paid $10,775,000 in dividends.
Franklin ore averages 1 37-100 per cent. It has paid $1,290,000 in dividends.
The Quincy ore averages 1 8-10 per cent. It has paid $11,070,000.

THE AVERAGE OF BOSTON & TEXAS ORE IS OVER 50 PER CENT., and of copper marls and clays from 5 to 10 per cent. Both the ore, marl and clay are within a few feet of the surface of the ground, so that the expense of mining and hoisting is minimized. A party of New England capitalists who have just returned from an examination of the mines in conjunction with one of the ablest mining engineers in the country, report the property to be one of the largest and best in America, and to contain inexhaustible quantities of rich copper deposits.

It is estimated that the plant now being arranged for will produce $3,000 to $5,000 per day, NET.

Prospectus, engineers' reports, assays and full information will be furnished on application. Remit by check, P. O. order, draft or registered letter to Treasurer.

.. After the Feast ..

If people will partake of the inner man comforts too heartily they will eventually suffer. When too much food is crowded into the stomach the gastric juices are unable to dissolve it, consequently a mass of undigested food is left upon which the resolvent liquids act feebly. This matter turns sour and ferments, the same kind of action goes on in your swill pail on a hot summer day, and the poison generated permeates your system through the blood. When the foul taint reaches the brain it causes minute congestion of the delicate tissues there and a furious headache results. Nausea added to these horrors completes a not too pleasing list. Now it is possible to eat as much and as varied nourishment as one likes, Hutch makes it an easy matter. The action of Hutch is simple because it is natural. It induces the secretion of the gastric juices, the food becomes dissolved, it promotes assimilation, the wheat is separated from the chaff and what is beneficial to the body retained and by being slightly cathartic it expels all excrement, the chaff is thrown away, as it were. Another feature peculiar to Hutch is that it does not weaken. Purgatives, cathartics, etc., induce constipation and necessitate increased doses to be effectual. Hutch strengthens the entire system and every organ is toned up in like degree. Thus you will find that instead of increasing you will probably have to lessen the doses of Hutch.

THE CANADIAN CONTINGENT.

Will Do Garrison Duty, So the War Office is Alleged to Have Cabled.

Toronto, Nov. 18.—The World prints the following this morning: Timid relatives of members of the Canadian contingent for service in South Africa will be relieved to learn that there is little likelihood of the Canucks reaching the front. The World learned yesterday from a reliable souce that the contingent is to be assigned to garrison duty on its arrival in South Africa. It appears that when application was made by the Citizens' Committee to insure the lives of Toronto members of the regiment, the Imperial Life Company cabled to England enquiring the extent of the risk to be assumed. The War Office was communicated with, and the reply was that the Canadian soldiers would only be placed upon garrison duty, and thus the risk on their lives would be minimized.

SUDDEN AND TERRIBLE DEATH.

Peter Peterson Caught in the Belting of a Packing Factory.

London, Ont., Nov. 18.—Peter Peterson, first engineer at the Canadian Packing Company's factory, Pottersburg, met a sudden and horrible death a few minutes before 12 o'clock yesterday, while oiling some shafting in the killing room. Peterson was caught in the belting, and in a moment had both legs taken off, his arms broken and his head and body badly crushed. Peterson leaves a wife and six or seven children. Mrs. Peterson will receive $1,000 under an accident policy carried on the deceased by the Packing Company.

BURIED UNDER ROCKS.

Rancher Went Digging for Coal and Rocks Fell on Him.

Innisfall, N.W.T., Nov. 18.—Arthur Stanley Hatch, a rancher living about 60 miles from Innisfall, on the other side of the Red Deer River, was missing since the 8th of November. A searching party yesterday found him buried under rocks in the river, 200 yards from his house. He had been coal mining and was caught by a rock slide and crushed to death, one arm being seen as it protruded into the water.

SENTENCED TO BE HANGED.

Hilda Blake Will Have to Die Two Days After Christmas.

Brandon, Nov. 18.—At the Brandon assizes yesterday afternoon the Chief Justice sentenced Hilda Blake to be hanged on Dec. 27, and Agnes Glendenning goes to the Penitentiary for five years for manslaughter.

The former shot and killed Mrs. Lane, her mistress, and the latter left her child in a naked state out on the prairie to die.

Asthma Cured

After Twelve Years' Suffering—Toronto Physicians Advised Leaving Her Home to go to Manitoba—Clarke's Kola Compound Cures.

Mrs. McTaggart, 80 Vanauley st., Toronto, writes: "I have been troubled with asthma and bronchitis for twelve years, which gradually grew worse each year in spite of the hundreds of dollars my husband has spent with several doctors, and almost every remedy we could procure, which only afforded temporary relief. For the past two years I could not lie on my left side, and during the past year, previous to taking Clarke's Kola Compound, the asthma became so severe that I had not had a full night's sleep and during most of that time we had a doctor in attendance. We gave up several doctors, as I was becoming no better, and the last doctor, after about two months' treatment, told me he could do nothing for me, and advised me to go to Manitoba or some dry climate. We heard of Clarke's Kola Compound being a cure for asthma, and before taking this remedy made several inquiries from those who had taken it, and in each case found the result so satisfactory that we resolved to try it. After taking the first bottle I became much better, and began to sleep well at nights. Since taking the third bottle I have not felt the slightest symptoms of my former trouble. I have during the past six months gained nearly 20 pounds in flesh and feel perfectly healthy in every way. I can assure you that I will do all in my power to induce any sufferer from this terrible disease to try it."

£500,000 FOR BIG GUNS.

Some 120 Bought by Joubert Now Shelling Ladysmith.

Cape Town, Nov. 16.—From correspondents at Delagoa Bay, I learn that pandemonium reigns there. Hundreds of refugees are starving and the town is in a chaotic condition.

The Portuguese are in a humor to draw the sword at the first fresh provocation, one of their nationality having been pitched over the wharf by a British subject and drowned. An American is accused of having shot another, who died from his wound.

Rumors that have been circulated to the effect that the Schreiner Cabinet contemplates resignation, and also that it is internally divided, are without foundation.

The local courts are dismissing suits for recovery of claims on account of deaths incurred in the Transvaal war.

Apparently the Transvaal Government's secret service money is being expended for artillery. I learn from a high source that the Transvaal intrusted £500,000 to General Joubert, and that he purchased 120 big guns, that were placed around Ladysmith.

NETHERLANDS MUST STAY OUT.

Desire of British Government That There Be No Interference.

The Hague, Nov. 17.—In the second chamber of the States General of the Netherlands to-day, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, Dr. W. H. D. Beaufort said: "The Government infinitely regrets the sanguinary war in South Africa, and will always be found willing to take advantage of all means which may conduce to its termination. This good-will is not unknown to the combatants. Nevertheless, the Government does not think it desirable now to make public the steps that have been taken or may be taken in the future. The British Government has declared that it does not desire the intervention of foreign powers, and all powers have hitherto abstained."

ALMOST AT CLOSE QUARTERS

Ladysmith is Continually Bombarded Night and Day.

Gen. White Has Repulsed the Enemy at Every Turn—Sufficient Troops at Durban to Relieve the Besieged Town—Gen. Buller's Plans Are Unknown—News From the Seat of War.

London, Nov. 18.—(5 a.m.)—The absence of news of any serious movement against Ladysmith seems to show that the Boers are repeating the strategy adopted by them at Dundee when they appeared in front and endeavored to effect a surrounding movement. This seems to be their object regarding Estcourt; and since it is impossible that relief should reach there for some days to come, it is not unlikely that a further retiring movement on Mool River will be made. Major Wolfe Murray has returned to Pietermaritzburg to take command of the line of communication, and Col. Long of the Royal Artillery has taken command at Estcourt. The forces now at Pietermaritzburg are too weak to attempt to reopen communication. Artillery and cavalry especially are badly needed; and it will necessarily take a long time to obtain either, owing to the difficulty of entraining, and the necessity of allowing the horses to rest after the long sea voyage.

Buller's Plans Changed.

From the indiscriminate distribution of the various divisions at unexpected points, it seems clear that the original plans of Gen. Buller have been wholly changed. Not the slightest word regarding the new plans have been allowed to escape.

To Relieve Kimberley.

It has been reported that the Belmont fight arose owing to the advance of a British column to relieve Kimberley, but this seems incorrect, all the most reliable accounts representing the engagement as growing out of a reconnaissance. The announcement of the arrival of Gen. Methuen at Orange River, however, doubtless means that arrangements are in a forward state for an advance from that point, if the advance has not already began.

Kimberley Safe on Nov. 10th.

Kimberley was safe on Friday, Nov. 10. Last Tuesday, a Boer force of 600 entered Aliwal North, Cape Colony, and hoisted the flag of the republic. The activity of the Boers in this locality would almost point to the necessity of insuring the safety of the column marching to the relief of Kimberley from attack in this direction or from Bloemfontein.

No Use Speculating.

In view of the reticence of Gen. Buller it is almost useless to speculate regarding the report of a movement to relieve Kimberley. It can only be intended to withdraw the Boers, if possible, from Natal. The object of the occupation of Aliwal North is understood to be to prevent the large quantity of ammunition at Herschel being forwarded to Jamestown and thence to Queenstown. The Boers have notified the inhabitants that no looting will be allowed, and that all goods seized by their military authorities will be paid for at Queenstown.

There are reliable reports of mysterious movements of Free State commandos along the Orange River, and important developments are expected. Everything tends to shew that the relief of Kimberley could only be safely undertaken by a strong column.

More Joubert Stories.

Lorenzo Marquez continues to send Joubert stories, the latest being that no news has been received from him at Pretoria for three days, and that it is rumored he was taken prisoner.

It is announced that the Duke of Connaught was among the first to seek employment in the war, and even offered to waive his seniority for this purpose, but it was not deemed expedient that an officer so senior to Sir Redvers Buller should serve under him. The Duke was greatly disappointed.

The Prince of Wales and the Duke of Cambridge have promised to attend to-day's concert organized by Mrs. James Brown-Potter, the actress, in aid of the fund for fitting out the Maine as a hospital ship for use in South African waters.

LADYSMITH HARD PRESSED.

Bombarded Night and Day—Boers Repulsed at Every Point.

London, Nov. 18.—Special despatches from Pietermaritzburg and Lorenzo Marquez say that Ladysmith is bombarded night and day and hard pressed. On Nov. 9, having during the night placed men close to the town, the Boers, after a heavy bombardment, began an assault, but were repulsed at every point with heavy losses.

Tugela River Bridge Gone.

The Boers have destroyed one of the bridges over the Tugela River.

WILL TAKE THE AGGRESSIVE.

Gen. Hildyard Has Enough Men to Cope With the Boers South

London, Nov. 17.—The Admiralty announced this evening the arrival at Cape Town to-day of the troopship Arcana with a battalion of the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders (the Princess Louise's regiment), bringing the reinforcements up to 23,500, of which 7290 have already disembarked at Durban, with 18 field guns, a number of machine guns, engineers and hospital troops, as well as 700 mules. This force, with that already between Estcourt and Durban, is considered sufficient to enable General Hildyard to advance and to take the aggressive against the Boers south of Ladysmith.

Ladysmith Holding Out.

According to the latest advices, Ladysmith is holding out satisfactorily, everything having been well up to Wednesday.

Orders for Bridgework.

In view of the Boer destruction of bridges, the War Office has issued orders for the shipment of a quantity of bridge work between this and the end of the year.

OPENED FIRE AT MIDNIGHT.

Afrikander Cannon Set Buildings in Ladysmith on Fire.

Pretoria, Nov. 15.—In an engagement yesterday morning south of Ladysmith the British advanced with thirteen guns and attacked 380 burghers of the Transvaal. A big gun was fired on the troops, who retired at 3 o'clock to Kloof, near Ladysmith. The British loss is unknown. The Boers had one man killed and three wounded, and thirteen horses killed.

This Gives Details.

London, Nov. 17.—The following censored despatch from Pretoria gives details of the engagement referred to in the Associated Press despatch from Pretoria, Wednesday, Nov. 15, sent out to-day:

"The Free Staters had taken up a position on a small hill, when an English battery advanced and attacked them, sending a fiery hail of shells on the hill for an hour, when the Transvaal cannon put some shells right in the midst of the battery, and sent them to cover behind the hill. Two burghers were killed, and six were wounded. When the British fell back on Ladysmith several shells exploded among them, but their effect could not be seen.

"The Doomed City," They Say.

"At midnight all the Afrikander cannon on the hills surrounding the town opened fire simultaneously on Ladysmith, turning the quiet and darkness of night into a lurid inferno of whistling, shrieking shells, speeding from all points of the compass to the doomed city. Several buildings on fire were seen from Bulwano Hill. During the day the troops left the city deserted, and sought shelter on the edge of the hill to escape our death dealing shells."

BRITISH BUY BOER GUNS.

The Creusot Guns Ordered by the Transvaal Before the War.

London, Nov. 17.—It is reported that the British Government has purchased the Creusot guns ordered by the Transvaal, but not delivered.

Missing From the Train.

An official despatch confirms the statement that Capt. J. A. Haldane of the Gordon Highlanders, attached to the Dublin Fusiliers, and Lieut. T. H. C. Frankland (not Franklin), and 37 non-commissioned officers and men belonging to the Dublin Fusiliers are missing. The list of missing Durban and Natal men is to follow.

Capt. Haldane distinguished himself by his service in India, for which he received the D.S.O. (Companion of the Distinguished Service Order). He was also wounded at Elandslaagte.

Afraid of the Zulus.

London, Nov. 17.—Advices from Zululand testify to the growing uneasiness of British residents, whose stores are looted by the Boers, with the result that the Zulus themselves are growing insolent, giving rise to a fear that they may attack the unarmed British population.

GEN. BULLER'S BULLETIN.

Describing the Wreck of the Armored Train Near Colenso.

London, Nov. 17.—The War Office has received the following despatch from General Buller:

Cape Town, Thursday, Nov. 16.—(Evening)—Have received from Hildyard, Pietermaritzburg, a telegram dated Nov. 16, of which the following is the purport.

"The officer commanding the troops at Estcourt reports at midday than an armored train left Estcourt this morning with a company of the Dublin Fusiliers and a company of the Durban Volunteers. North of Frere they encountered a party of Boers and began to withdraw. While retiring some of the trucks were derailed. The Dublins turned out and advanced towards the enemy, while the rest of the train appears to have returned without them to Estcourt.

"The officer commanding the troops reports that he was sending mounted troops in order to cover their withdrawal, but that about 100 are missing."

Lord Methuen at Orange River.

Late News From Kimberley.

Kimberley, Nov 9.—(Evening.)—(Via Hopetown, Nov 12.)—The Boers were busy yesterday in throwing up fresh earthworks. There has been no further bombardment. The De Beers mines are practically closed. Thousands of the employes are now domiciled in the centre of the town, and are being provisioned by the Mayor's relief fund. The military authorities have ordered all civilians to give up their arms and ammunition, with the view of preventing irresponsible firing at the Boers in contravention of the laws of civilized warfare.

Natives report that the Boers cheered each shell as it was fired yesterday, believing it meant the destruction of Kimberley.

The Boers are now wearing khaki uniforms and blue puggarees, making it difficult to distinguish them from the British.

Locusts are appearing.

A TRYING EXPERIENCE.

A Nova Scotia Farmer Suffered for Fifteen Years.

Consulted Four Doctors, But the Only Relief They Gave Him Was Through Injections of Morphine—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Restored Him to Health and Activity.

From the News, Truro, N.S.

Mr. Robert Wright, of Alton, Cochester Co., N.S., is now one of the hardiest and hardest working farmers in this section. But Mr. Wright was not always blessed with perfect health; as a matter of fact for some fifteen years he was a martyr to what appeared to be an incurable trouble. In conversation lately with a News reporter, Mr. Wright said: "I am indeed grateful that the trouble which bothered me for so many years is gone, and I am quite willing to give you the particulars for publication. It is a good many years since my trouble first began, slight at first, but later intensely severe pains in the back. Usually the pains attacked me when working or lifting, but often when not at work at all. With every attack the pains seemed to grow worse, until finally I was confined to the house, and there for five long months was bed-ridden, and much of this time could not move without help. My wife required to stay with me constantly, and became nearly exhausted.

During the time I was suffering thus I was attended by four different doctors. Some of them pronounced my trouble lumbago, others sciatica, but they did not cure me, nor did they give me any relief, save by the injections of morphine. For years I suffered thus, sometimes confined to bed, at other times able to go about and work, but always suffering from the pain, until about three years ago when I received a new lease of life and a freedom from the pains that had so long tortured me. It was at this time that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People were brought to my attention and I got two boxes. The effect seemed marvellous and I got six boxes more, and before they were all used I was again a healthy man and free from pain. It is about three years since I was cured, and during that time I have never had an attack of the old trouble, and I can therefore strongly testify to the sterling quality of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Since they did such good work for me I have recommended them to several people for various ailments, and the pills have always been successful.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure by going to the root of the disease. They renew and build up the blood, and strengthen the nerves, thus driving disease from the system. Avoid imitations by insisting that every box you purchase is enclosed in a wrapper bearing the full trade mark, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

FROM BOER SOURCES.

A Second Big Gun Has Been Placed on Bulwan Hill.

Pretoria, Nov. 9.—The following despatch has been received from the Boer camp at Elandslaagte, under to-day's date:

"Ladysmith has been completely encircled by the Boer forces. Our second big gun was successfully placed in position on Bulwan Hill in front of Ladysmith. The firing of heavy guns commenced early this morning with no casualties to the burghers up to the present.

"Botha has heliographed from the south of Ladysmith that the British batteries opened a heavy fire with big guns and continuously dropped shells into the works around Ladysmith. The Pretoria force was in a tight place, having taken up a position commanded by the British fire, which was so hot that the position became untenable. The big gun, however, saved the situation."

Boers Are Enthusiastic.

London, Nov. 17.—A despatch from Lorenzo Marquez says: A Pretoria newspaper announced last Wednesday that 4000 burghers had left General Joubert's force around Ladysmith to join Commandant Botha's force near Estcourt, with a view of assisting to intercept the British advance to the relief of Ladysmith.

General Lucas Meyer, the Free State commander, has asserted in the course of an interview that he is convinced that the battle of Elandslaagte will be the first and last Boer defeat of the war.

PRISONERS AT PRETORIA.

British Officers and Men Who Fell Into the Hands of the Boers.

London, Nov. 17.—The despatch from Pretoria also says that the prisoners at that place include the 18th Hussars, four officers and 91 non-commissioned officers and men; the Dublin Fusiliers, 4 officers and 12 non-commissioned officers and men; the Irish Fusiliers, 10 officers and 533 non-commissioned officers and men; the artillery, 5 officers and 60 non-commissioned officers and men; the Leicesters, no officers, six non-commissioned officers and men; the Dragoons, one man; the Natal police, one man; political, 62 men; sick, 38 men.

The despatch adds: Trains are working excellently from Pretoria to Ladysmith. The Boers have ample food, but are short of clothes, boots and mackintoshes.

Are Well Cared For.

Durban, Thursday, Nov. 16.—A gentleman who was arrested at Johannesburg, taken to Pretoria and released, has arrived here via Delagoa bay. While at Pretoria he was confined on the race course, with the military prisoners, comprising 52 officers and 1275 non-commissioned officers and men from Natal, 10 officers and 25 non-commissioned officers and men from Mafeking, and four men from Fort Tuli. The prisoners' guard was almost exclusively Germans, and the artillery men manning the forts were also mostly Germans. The prisoners were well fed and were shown every consideration. Most of the officers were removed to more comfortable quarters in the town.

Doctors now agree that consumption is curable.

Three things, if taken together, will cure nearly every case in the first stages; the majority of cases more advanced; and a few of those far advanced.

The first is, fresh air; the second, proper food; the third, Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil with hypophosphites.

To be cured, you must not lose in weight, and, if thin, you must gain. Nothing equals Scott's Emulsion to keep you in good flesh.

THE LAST WORD.

Our time and space are too valuable to be occupied in a further controversy with he of the Ontario. His last whine and threat are, like its author, too contemptible for serious thought or consideration. The gentlemen referred to can well afford to laugh at the impotent rage of a creature like him.

He says he wants no "mud slinging." Then let him cease throwing it, or it will, as in the present case, prove a boomerang. It will be quite time enough to probe this subject to the bottom when twelve honest Hastings jurymen are asked to render a verdict in accordance with the evidence.

ALD. ROBINSON'S RESIGNATION.

By reference to other columns it will be seen that, in deference to the City Solicitor's opinion, Ald. Robinson has resigned his position as a member of the City Council, thus proving the truth of THE INTELLIGENCER'S contention in the matter.

Heintzman & Co. Pianos.

What Lieut. Dan Godfrey, for over forty years bandmaster of Her Majesty's Grenadier Guards, and England's famous British Guards Band has to say of these pianos: "The pianos of Heintzman & Co. astonish me. They have a fine tone quality, being very full and powerful. The singing quality, especially in the treble part, is beautiful, and the instrument is well balanced throughout the whole scale. I am not surprised at the success these instruments have met with in England." W. B. Riggs is sole representative of these famous pianos.

Interesting Lecture by Professor Alexander in Alberta Hall Last Night.

A large audience, among which were many ladies, assembled in Alberta Hall last night to hear Professor Alexander, M. A., of Toronto University, lecture on the subject which forms the caption to this article.

Rev. Canon Burke was Chairman, and in his introductory remarks expressed the hope that the course of lectures, of which the present one was the first, might be the means of affording some instruction as well as amusement to our citizens.

Professor Alexander treated his subject in a most thoughtful and scholarly way, with a total absence of oratorical fireworks. He traced the novel from its inception some 200 years ago through its gradual stages of development, showing how it differed from stories, which consisted of mere incidents strung together. Novel reading, he said, served a good purpose in that it tended to broaden the mind and enlarge the scope for enjoyment of worthy things. People who were denied the privilege of travel might find in reading a solace which they could not be too thankful for. Laying the educational features of novel reading aside, it was a great benefit in that it provided a channel for people to lay aside cares and for a time think about something beside their own personal affairs. Novels themselves might never have been the means of any great good ever being accomplished, but no one had ever read of Uncle Toby and Colonel Newcombe, of Jeanie Deans and Dick Sniveller, of Tom Jones and Mr. Micawber, of Little Nell and Henry Esmond, and the numberless characters which the theme brought to mind, without feeling that they owed a debt to the God-gifted men and women who had left their writings behind them as a blessing to the world.

After a hearty vote of thanks had been extended to the lecturer, "God Save the Queen" brought the evening's proceedings to a close.

Cheap Umbrellas.

The Oak Hall have just placed in stock some extra good value in $1.00 and $1.25 umbrellas. They are warranted thoroughly waterproof, fast colors and the frames are very strong. Both lines steel rods and the handles silver tipped.

A Lion's Heart.

The attraction announced for next Tuesday night, Nov. 21, at the Carman Opera House, is that sterling English melodrama, "A Lion's Heart," which has had such a phenomenal success in Europe and Australia. Mr. Carl A. Haswin, of "Silver King" fame, purchased the play while in London. He is playing the stellar role, that of Pierre Rizardo, a lion tamer. The story is one of intense interest, and many of the situations hold the audience spellbound. The plot is new, in fact, the whole production is a novelty and its scenic environment surpasses in grandeur and magnificence anything on the road this season. It does not depend on its stage surrounding, however, for its success for the story is strong enough to stand on its merits without scenic embellishments, while there is an abundance of bright and amusing comedy to relieve the several emotional scenes. A newly married couple is responsible for the fun, and there is lots of it.

The Famous Remedy for

GRIP

Is Grip with us again?

(From N. Y. Herald).

"It would appear from reports received from practising physicians in different parts of the country that Grip in more or less epidemic form is beginning to make its appearance. The symptoms are said to be of a distinctly catarrhal character and to tend toward pulmonic complications. This gives the disease a grave aspect."

"77" taken early cuts it short promptly.

Taken during its prevalence, preoccupies the system and prevents its invasion.

Taken while suffering from it, a cure is speedily realized.

MARKET AND CITY PROPERTY.

Ald. Panter, Chairman, presided over this Committee. He stated that $411 had been placed in the bank to the credit of the city re Mr. Cole and the elevator fund.

A communication was read from Mr. H. Corby, M.P., offering $250 for the ferry slip owned by the city near his elevator, he to give the rolling mills company the right of way for five years.

A number of the Aldermen seemed adverse to selling this property out, as it was the only water front owned by the city.

On motion the City Clerk was authorized to communicate with Mr. Corby in reference to the matter and see if some arrangement could not be made with him and the city still retain the ownership.

Ald. Panter said the City Hall had been engaged for some 7 or 8 nights.

Two accounts, Mr. Lott for $13 50 and J. Cornelius for $3 75, were passed.

The Chairman was authorized to secure tenders for heating apparatus for the City Treasurer's office and the Water Works office in the city building.

EXECUTIVE.

Ald. Doyle, Chairman, presided.

The accounts recommended by the other Committees were passed.

The Mayor stated he had a cheque for $100 from Mr. Corby, as his donation towards the building of the roadway around the Park.

The cheque was handed to the City Treasurer, and the Clerk was authorized to acknowledge the receipt of same, and tender to Mr. Corby the thanks of the Council for his generous gift.

TRENTON ELECTRIC LIGHT CO.

A deputation of the Trenton Electric Light Company was ushered into the committee's presence, consisting of Messrs. W. H. Pearson, jr., R. Weddell, J. Phillips and H. A. Moore.

The Mayor stated that he had addressed the following communication to Mr. Thompson, Manager of the Trenton Electric Company (Limited):

Belleville, Nov. 17th, 1899.

Mr. M. M. Thompson, Manager Trenton Electric Co., Limited.

DEAR SIR,—I have observed within the past few days that poles are being erected on Bridge st. and other streets of the city, and on making inquiry have been informed that they are being put up under your direction for the Trenton Electric Company, Limited.

Referring to the agreement between the City of Belleville and the Trenton Electric Company, Limited, bearing date the 19th day of May 1896 annexed to By-Law No. 843 of the Corporation of the City of Belleville, I find that the right to erect poles on the streets was granted by the Corporation to the Company on certain conditions which were to be performed within one year from the date of the agreement, "In default of which all the rights, privileges and powers granted, assigned or given to the Company by this agreement shall be forfeited and void." Such default having been made I now, in the performance of my duty as Mayor of the City of Belleville require you to stop the work of erecting poles on the streets of the City, and to be ready to remove the poles already erected. I have further to warn you against injuring or interfering with the shade trees on the streets of the City, cutting branches, trunks, or mutilating them in any way.

Yours faithfully,
J. W. JOHNSON
Mayor.

His Worship said he had taken this step in the interests of the City. He contended the Company had forfeited their rights to any privileges which might have been granted to them under the By-law which was passed on May 19th, 1896, and which stated that the conditions were that the Company should within one year from the above date have their ways and works so far completed that they would be in a position to supply if required at least 40 street arc lights and 400 incandescent electric lights in the City. They had not only failed to comply with the by-law but were liable to a penalty for trespassing upon our streets and could be fined not less than $1 or more than $50. They had no right to come upon our streets and erect poles on the principal thoroughfare. The trees, the pride of our citizens, would, no doubt, be mutilated. This company had not furnished one spark of electricity, and he had been informed that Mr. R. J. Graham had in consequence of their inability to furnish light been compelled to manufacture his own light, they having failed to do so to him as per contract. The Gas Company had provided Mr. Pearson with a larger main on Bridge st. and at the works had put in a new holder, new purifying plant, and yet we had neither cheaper nor better gas. He had also been informed that the head of water at Trenton was not of sufficient force to furnish all the power necessary. Another consideration was the fact that the City had about one-third of the stock in the Gas Co. and it should be protected, also the widows and orphans who were stockholders. The City received now $1000 a year from the concern, which, perhaps, they would not if this company went on. In concluding his address the Mayor said in other cities such companies were compelled to place their wires underground.

Mr. Pearson in reply stated that owing to litigation with the town of Trenton they had been delayed in this matter. They had sufficient power for all purposes and had an absolute lease for 25 years. He desired to give to the citizens of Belleville cheaper light. The Company desired no favors, all they asked was fair play. They had already expended a large sum of money. As for the poles on the street, if they did not suit, he would see that suitable ones were put in and the shade trees would not be mutilated.

Mr. M. M. Thompson stated that before putting in the poles, he had consulted with the City Surveyor and Ald. Hanley, Chairman of Public Works.

Mr. R. Weddell, of Trenton, spoke in a similar strain and endorsed the remarks of Mr. Pearson.

Ald. Jones and Bogart objected strenuously to poles being placed on Bridge st.

The Mayor to Mr. Pearson—Will you put the wires under ground?

Mr. Pearson—It is impossible.

After some further discussion the matter was referred to the City Solicitor for his opinion to be given on Monday night.

The Committees then adjourned.

PINEAPPLE ESSENCE

In the Shape of Dr. Von Stan's Pineapple Tablets is Curing Stomach Ailments of Every Kind.

The pineapple has a valuable constituent known as vegetable pepsin, a wonderful digester of food. Test this by mixing equal parts of pineapple and beef and agitating at a temperature of 103° Fahrenheit, when, in due time, the meat will be entirely digested. This rare juice is the principle ingredient in Dr. Von Stan's Pineapple Tablets, and anyone, at any time, can enjoy the healing virtues of the ripe fruit by their use. You eat them like candy. They are very palatable; harmless as pure milk. They afford instant relief in all cases of indigestion and dyspepsia. Their right use will cure all stomach troubles and establish sound health. Box of 60 Tablets, 35 cents. Sold by J. S. McKeown.

J. H. Garrett, of Liverpool, N. S., "I was a great sufferer for years from acute rheumatism. Was unable to walk or put my feet under me. I tried everything recommended, and was treated by best physicians, but relief was in vain. I was recommended to try South American Rheumatic Cure. I procured a bottle; when half of it was taken I had great relief. A few bottles cured me. I claim to-day it is the only remedy that will cure rheumatism." Sold by J. S. McKeown.

Discovered by a Woman.

Another great discovery has been made, and that, too, by a lady in this country. "Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night; and with two bottles, has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus writes W. C. Hamnick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Trial bottles free at J. S. McKeown's Drug Store. Regular size 50c and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed.

CITY AND DISTRICT

See those large Cabinet Photos at Bryant's, only $1.99 per dozen. Phone 254. tf

Three tramps were in the cells Saturday night and two last night.

The finest carload of scenery ever exhibited in our city or put on any stage will arrive here to-morrow morning for the production of "A Lion's Heart."

Our Colored Jubilee Singers will appear at the Cotton Fields Scene and the Auction Scene and will introduce their famous songs and dances. No one but a genuine negro can sing the old songs as they should be. The music is weird, the dancing grotesque. Spend an evening with the happiest people on earth.

Two large congregations assembled in the Tabernacle yesterday to hear Evangelist Matheson, who preached with great power. In the evening there appeared to be indications of a great awakening among the people and the promise of very much good being accomplished. An evangelistic meeting was held this afternoon in the Sunday School of an interesting character when many of the children and young people decided to live for Christ. The meetings will be continued each night this week.

The Lad's Reefer.

When the Oak Hall say that their boys' reefers are exclusively the best in Belleville, you may depend on it being a modest statement. We have had all these coats made to our own order. They have a special cut, special trimmings and special make. All grades and all prices.

THE PETITION GOES DOWN

Ten Thousand Persons Ask for Mackie's Release.

Napanee Beaver:—Messrs. Wilson & Wilson forwarded this week to the Minister of Justice for presentation to the Governor-General, the petition praying for clemency in the case of Albert Mackie, undergoing sentence of three years for complicity in the robbery of the Dominion Bank here. The petition bears upward of 10,000 signatures, and 2½ of the names appearing are those of the citizens of Toronto, Kingston, Belleville, Napanee, Cobourg, and many other towns in central and eastern Ontario, a number of M. P.s and M. P. P.s, clergymen, physicians, lawyers, bankers and leading men. It is a representative petition, and sets forth very strongly a reconsideration of the case. The petition will be fortified also in the production of new evidence favorable to the prisoner, which has recently come to light, and which is in the possession of Mackie's solicitors here.

Afternoon Despatches.

Gen. Clery's Tough Job

Task of Relieving Ladysmith Will Tax His Generalship.

The Present Week Will See a Change in the Defensive Tactics of the British in South Africa—Gen. Joubert Will Himself Oppose the British Advance.

(OTHER DESPATCHES ON INSIDE PAGES.)

London, Nov. 20.—The present week, according to the despatches from the front, ought to see a change in the defensive tactics hitherto maintained by the British in South Africa.

It is said that the task allotted to Gen. Clery, that of relieving Ladysmith, will tax his generalship to the utmost.

The Boers are developing a great deal of strength in the neighborhood of Estcourt, and Gen. Joubart is reported to be moving southward himself, in order to direct the movements to repel the British advance after, it would seem, attempting to isolate Estcourt.

This latter movement is already in progress. The Boers practically surround the town.

The so-called Boer attempt to rush Estcourt on Saturday was apparently merely a reconnaissance. It resulted in the Boers obtaining the information which they desired, namely that Estcourt is fairly strongly held and has naval guns in position.

THE WAR SUMMARY.

Boer commandos are converging on Estcourt.

On Saturday the British at Estcourt moved out, and after a short engagement the Boers retired precipitately.

Naval guns played a part in the action, showing that the British there are stronger in artillery than had been thought.

Major-General Hildyard, who will command the advance guard of the force for the relief of Ladysmith, was present throughout the action.

General Buller reports all well at Kimberly and Ladysmith. The garrison at the latter place inflicted heavy losses on the Boers in several engagements.

The Boers are reported to have blown up the bridge at Colenso with a view of retarding the British advance.

General Lord Methuen's force for the relief of Kimberly is gathering at Orange River and assuming large proportions. The force will march in light order.

A number of transports arrived at Cape Town on Saturday last.

Encouraging reports have been received from Fort Tuli, Rhodesia.

Lieutenant Churchill and fifty-five other British prisoners have reached Pretoria.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING

Give us cheaper light.

That the gas man's grip on this dear town is about to relax.

That some of Belleville's streets yesterday looked more like ploughed fields than thoroughfares.

That the Mayoralty candidates will soon be in the field. The names of some capable men are mentioned.

That if this weather keeps up some of the coal dealers will have a good deal of stock on their hands next spring.

That if gas can be brought down to $1.50 per thousand in this City it should be done. If not, give us electricity.

That those poles on Bridge st. are not an additional beauty to the thoroughfare, but we can stand a very large pole provided we do not have to longer pay the "robber's price" for light in our residences.

That, up to now, only a favored few have been able to indulge in the expensive luxury of gas. The man of moderate means now wants a chance to use something better than vile smelling coal oil.

That anyone walking around in the suburbs of Belleville yesterday and listening to the comments of the people on the streets would come to the conclusion that the following verse would just about hit off the popular feeling at the present time:

You have bought a nice steam roller, you have beautified the park,
You will soon have an electric fire alarm;
Now, then, kindly cast your optics on a subject rather dark
Though to you, perhaps, it may not have much charm.
You are absent-minded beggars and you are prone to forget
(All we can do is take you as we find you)
Just bear in mind, you aldermen, we outsiders have some rights
And there's one thing we won't stand for—we'll remind you—

East streets, west streets, all the back streets are bad
Most of the streets you look upon are still the same to-day
They ne'er have known gravel or stone since the day they first were made,
What do WE get for the taxes that we pay —pay—pay?

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Two of Our Citizens Write on Timely Matters.

Who Owns Our Streets?

To the Editor of THE INTELLIGENCER.

Sir,—That the citizens of Belleville have unnecessarily paid into the pockets of the Pearson Company and the Belleville Gas Company thousands of dollars, through the excessive price paid for both gas and electric light, will at once be apparent to anyone who contrasts the cost here with that charged in other similarly situated localities. An attempt was made in the by-law of the Trenton Electric Company to enforce a reasonable charge for light for private consumers. It was argued then that supply and demand would regulate cost—but our experience shows that it will not always do so where we must have light and where the supply is controlled by one, or by two who combine by lease or otherwise.

But a graver question than cheap light to the individual is before the Council now. It may be put very plainly before us (burdened as we are with taxation), and it is this—are we to assert ownership in our own streets? Are our franchises worth nothing? Times have changed in the last four years. Municipalities have awakened to their rights and no longer give valuable privileges for nothing; no longer give privileges beyond a very limited time.

Times have specially changed in Belleville. A new era of prosperity has begun, thanks chiefly to the enterprise of the Abbott-Mitchell Co. Our pulse beat's a little quicker. Our public rights have become more valuable assets. We have a future. Companies must, therefore, negotiate with us on business terms. We have nothing to give away (except to large employers of labor). Our Council, who are trustees for us, must see to it that no company or individual rides rough-shod over them, and appropriates, without legal warrant, what belongs to us, the tax-paying (and light paying) citizens. Let us have competition by all means, but that will come just as surely with, as without, a substantial yearly payment into the City Treasury.

It is a very specious pleading to cry "cheap light, cheap light," when a principle, far reaching in its effects on the public, is involved.

The attention of the people cannot be distracted from these well-established facts—that circumstances have entirely changed since 1896 and that rights which were then conditionally granted, not having been acted on, no longer exist. The City is therefore free to negotiate a new bargain for a short term.

I am no lover of the Belleville Gas Co. There is always a lot of bunkum talked about that Company's shareholders and the City stock. Let us charge the Gas Co., too, for public privileges if the law allows it. This is a broader matter than a gas meter, and it behooves us now to guard well our new civic future, at the portals of which we stand on this eve of a new century of hope and united enterprise.

Before closing permit me to say, with regard to a cognate subject as to City administration of streets, that I believe I voice the opinion of 90 per cent. of the citizens in condemning the shilly-shallying policy of the Council in regard to the opening up of George street. For three years the money has been voted—for three years diverted—for three years private subscriptions (of which there are too many in Belleville) have been obtained to supplement the City's grant—for three years the subscribers have been told that our representatives don't know their own minds. In the spring they expound, in the fall they contract. This year the failure has been not merely a matter of indecision but also to a certain extent a breach of faith with the great new industry, of which we already feel the beneficial effect through the weekly wage roll expended in our City, and with the residents of Foster Ward. Is the building of a board fence to stay the progress of liberal public policy in this City?

It is some years since I have written or spoken about municipal affairs, but I feel that it is now the duty of every man not merely to think, but to express his thoughts—not merely to bear burdens, but to endeavor to co-operate in devising means for lightening the load. This will not be done by petty economies and grudging and cheeseparing, but by a broad, progressive and expansive conduct of public development, and by realizing the value of our public rights and franchises, while at the same time generously encouraging all industrial enterprises properly so called.

Yours, etc.,
W. N. PONTON.

ABOUT THOSE POLES.

To the Editor of THE INTELLIGENCER.

Sir,—In reading the report of the Committee meeting of the City Council I was pleased with the stand taken by our Mayor and some of the Aldermen in reference to the rights a company calling themselves the "Trenton Electric Light Co." have, because anyone interested in keeping our streets in respectable appearance cannot fail to notice the unsightly effect it will have in placing the culls of a cedar swamp on them, for the benefit of a private company, to impose upon our citizens such terms and conditions for the use of electric light as they may think proper to offer. Now, sir, before we permit any such monopoly or privilege to any Company it will be time enough when we know what we are to receive in return, and even after such privilege is granted it will be in order to see that what is provided is to the satisfaction of some person in charge, with power to reject any materials not in accordance with a specification to be provided for such work.

As a taxpayer I most respectfully trust our Council will examine this matter carefully before it is too late.

Yours truly,
WALTER ALFORD.

THE MYSTERY OF COUNT LANDRINOF.

BY FRED WHISHAW

COPYRIGHT 1899 BY THE AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION.

And now, to confirm us in this view, an important letter arrived from Borofsky and arrived in the nick of time.

Borofsky wrote in a jubilant strain. He had not cared to write before, he explained, because, though he had soon hit upon the original of Percy's photograph, he had been unable, until now, to make any progress toward making acquaintance with him. But now there was at last something to report.

Borofsky had shadowed his man for several days, learning in this way where he took his meals and how he employed his time, and so on. Mr. Robinson—as Percy had called him in his telegram—seemed to have many friends in town and visited two or three every day. This did not surprise us. It rather pleased us, for it went to prove, as we agreed, that father could not be very seriously demented if he could visit his acquaintances, of whom, of course, he possessed many in London.

He took his meals at a restaurant in Tottenham Court road, Borofsky wrote. (I could not help laughing to hear this. Why, in the name of wonder, I thought, did father choose such a queer haunt for a retreat?) And it was at this place that Borofsky made his acquaintance. Having discovered father's weird eating house, Borofsky went one evening and dined there, choosing a table alongside that which father always occupied. (I am calling him "father" because both mother and I, and of course Percy, were at this time quite agreed that the unknown was certainly my father and none other.)

Half way through dinner father came in and sat down at the table next to Borofsky, who presently started a conversation. Father began by being brusque and silent, but warmed up by degrees. They spoke in French, neither being proficient in English, but Borofsky, desiring to show that Russian was his natural language, suddenly upset the salt on purpose, uttering an exclamation of anger in Russian.

"Vni Kajetsya Russki!" "(Why, you're a Russian!") exclaimed father in surprise, and from that moment conversation was easy, and the unknown one became, in the joy of his heart to have met a compatriot, more communicative.

Borofsky introduced himself as a young Russian compelled, for political reasons, to seek an asylum outside his native country. The unknown one laughed at this.

"Ah," he said, "there are many in that position. I, too, might tell a tale, but that in this country—which is nevertheless the best in the world for those situated as some of us are—one never knows who are the bona fide politicians and who are the spies!"

Borofsky laughed with his companion at this sally and declared that if the stranger felt any compunctions as to confiding in him he at least need not return the compliment, for no one in his senses and with any elementary notion as to "who is who" would ever dream of mistaking for a spy so well known a personality as—the unknown himself.

"Do you mean to tell me you know who I am?" asked Borofsky's companion, scanning him suspiciously and freezing up a little.

"Every one knows Count Landrinof!" said our acute little detective.

At this, wrote Borofsky, the count gave a great jump. Then he set down his knife and fork and began to laugh so that the table shook, "which shows," Borofsky commented, "that the count is not melancholy mad, whatever his ailment may be."

"Why," he said at last, "I did think I would pass unknown in these queer haunts, at any rate, but I suppose there are more people that know a big man like Landrinof than Landrinof knows."

"There would be many to wonder why so big a man should have the fancy to live in these queer haunts, as your excellence calls them," said Borofsky, and the other replied that he was living in London strictly incog. in order to inquire privately into certain financial speculations in which he was engaged. "It cannot matter much to my friends at home whereabouts in London I pitch my tent," he added, and Borofsky agreed that every man was free to live where he liked.

"The countess would laugh to see a grandee of Russia dining in a restaurant in Tottenham Court road," he added.

"My wife has given me a holiday," laughed the count. "You needn't mention having seen me here. I wish my incognito strictly preserved."

"Better to have no address than one in the purlieus of Tottenham Court road, excellence," said Borofsky, laughing also. "But what if your friends should be seriously anxious, being ignorant of your whereabouts?"

The count gave a great jump.

At this the count froze up at once. "That is a matter which may be left to my friends and myself," he said coldly, and the conversation closed for the evening.

This was the extent of the letter, which the writer had evidently penned while in a condition of great excitement. "The count parted from me in some displeasure," ended Borofsky. "But all will be well, for I intend to improve our acquaintance at the first opportunity, and if I do not bring the count back within a fortnight you need never trust me again."

CHAPTER XI.

DETECTIVE'S LIFE IN PERIL.

Borofsky's letter was the source of much thought and of much agitated conversation among our little party of three, for, though it seemed indeed to establish the fact that he had seen my dear father himself, yet it did little toward elucidating the painful mystery of his disappearance or the still more painful and bewildering mystery of his silence.

Here was father obviously a free agent and able if he chose to write home with explanations of his absence, yet he preferred to live a secret and semi-hidden life as a mummy, or at least third rate, quarter of London. He was free and living alone. Those rascals who had carried him off from Erinofka and conveyed him over the frontier and away were no longer with him. He was out of their power. But, if out of their power, why did he not return or write?

Had they some mysterious hold upon him, forbidding him under pain of sudden death—a death such as had befallen the unfortunate little taleberarer at Erinofka—to communicate in any way whatever with those who were familiar with him at home?

"No," said I heartily, when this

CANADA'S TRADE GROWING.

A Great Increase in the Circulation of Dominion Notes.

Ottawa, Nov. 18.—One of the most unmistakeable signs of a growing time is the circulation of Dominion notes, that is, the Government one and two-dollar notes. From a statement prepared by the Finance Department the following will show the increase which has taken place for the month of October, since 1894:

October, 1894	$ 7,031,308
October, 1895	7,293,398
October, 1896	7,583,712
October, 1897	7,940,520
October, 1898	8,612,052
October, 1899	9,421,885

It will, therefore, be seen that the circulation for October last was $809,283 greater than for October in the previous year, and nearly two million and a half greater than in 1894.

A Good Quarter.

The trade figures for the first quarter of the present fiscal year also show another satisfactory evidence of the prosperity of the country. The aggregate trade of the country in that time has increased by over twelve million dollars, and the revenue by over one million dollars, as compared with the first quarter in 1898, which was also a record-breaker. For October alone the increase in revenue from customs was over half a million dollars. The increase in the exports of animals and their produce for the four months was over six million dollars, as compared with the same time last year.

Exports Fell Off.

Ottawa, Nov. 18.—The trade figures for the month of October last, as compared with October, 1898, are as follows:

Exports for 1898, $19,089,862; exports for 1899, $18,737,012, showing a falling off of a million and a quarter. Imports for 1898, $11,727,896; imports for 1899, $17,957,960, showing an increase of nearly $3,000,000. The duty collected to date during the fiscal year shows an increase of $1,073,906.

Great Fire in Persian Town.

Teheran, Nov. 20.—A terrible fire broke out Wednesday night in Resht, about 15 miles southeast of Enzeliee, on the Caspian Sea, and raged throughout Thursday. It estimated that property of the value of $500,000 was destroyed.

Queen's Bounty for Triplets.

Quebec, Nov. 19.—The Queen's bounty of £5 sterling has been conveyed through His Excellency the Governor-General to Madame Dumont of St. Joseph de Levis, who gave birth to triplets in August last.

Analysis of Instinct.

An English traveler in northern Russia, telling how he made his way through a forest after a fall of snow simply by keeping that side of the tree to which the snow clung always in the same relation to his course, is led to examine how it is that a savage gains the instincts of his race.

We often hear of "the instinct of direction," as we may call it, possessed so marvelously by savage races. People profess to explain it in one of two ways. It is either said that the Indian actually does take note of the sun, the wind, the lay of the land or the course of the streams, which, as a fact, it is often, in the dense forest, impossible for him to do, or else it is set down simply as "instinct," and this, although it is nearer the mark, is in a sense to beg the question.

Instinct, however it may be in the case of animals, is here no doubt hereditary experience. The sun, the wind, the streams, are influences, but only that. The Indian does not consciously observe them. Just as you, using an experience gained in daylight, can follow without hands in the dark a winding staircase between the baluster and the wall, so with the Indian in his forest.

His "observation" is entirely subjective, an unconscious impression, the sum of small influences, to which by heredity his senses are alive, as the retina to light pictures. In the same way I had not consciously remarked the lay of the snow on the trees, yet the fact kept me from going astray.

The Inquisitive Youngster.

The old man was reading the paper, and little Reggie was playing around.

"Pa," said little Reggie, "did you learn to pull wool when you were a little boy?"

"Um — what's that? — uh-huh—lemme read!"

"And, say, pa, is mamma's hair wool?"

went on little Reggie.

"Uh-huh—run on and play now, kid, and lemme read this paper."

"But, pa, when you pull it do you mix it?" persisted the innocent little love of a boy, with a crafty, faraway twinkle in his off eye.

"Hey? What's that? What the dickens did you say?" inquired the old man, sharply dropping his paper.

"Oh, nothin," said little Reggie. "Only I heard ma tellin sis a while ago that if you think you're pullin the wool over her eyes you're mixed, that's all, and"—

A Star's Color.

The common opinion that Arcturus is a red or reddish star is corrected by Garrett P. Serviss, the well known astronomical writer, the fact being, as he states, that it is near the horizon. When rising, it often assumes a flowing appearance, owing to the unsteadiness of the air, but as it approaches the middle of the sky its ruddiness and also its flickerings vanish, and it shines with a pale yellowish light. On turning a telescope upon it, however, even when it is nearest to zenith, it appears of a rich orange hue and very beautiful. This, says Mr. Serviss, is one of the very greatest of the stars, so much so, indeed, that even Sirius probably would make but a poor showing in the comparison if placed at an equal distance. In fact, some of the estimates of the light and heat sent forth by Arcturus are almost incredible, and, if really correct, no planet could survive as near to Arcturus as the earth is to the sun.—New York Sun.

DEATH IN FRIGHTFUL FORM.

Charles Foster Torn To Pieces by Machinery in Ingersoll.

He Had Only Worked a Few Days—It Is Supposed That While Oiling Machinery His Clothing Caught and Drew Him In—James White, of Woodstock, Falls Dead While Shaving—Other Casualties.

Ingersoll, Ont., Nov. 20.—A terribly tragic and sudden death occurred at the Noxon's Company's Works here Saturday evening between 4 and 5 o'clock, by which a young man named Charles Foster lost his life. Deceased had only started work last Tuesday as fireman, assistant to his brother, who is engineer for the company. He was alone when the accident happened. It is thought that while leaning over a shafting oiling the machinery a heavy knitted smock he was wearing unbuttoned, caught in the cogwheels and drew him in, severing one of his arms from his body, and that in falling he was struck on the head with terrible force by a large drive wheel and thrown a considerable distance and badly mutilated. Deceased was 21 years of age and unmarried.

Two Men Probably Drowned.

Port Stanley, Ont., Nov. 20.—The schooner Maple Leaf left Cleveland last Friday morning with a load of coal oil bound for Rondeau. During the storm of Friday night, when about 25 miles off Cleveland, Evan Robson, the mate, was knocked overboard by the fore boom. His brother, Capt. Robson, launched the yawl to save him. The night was very dark and the wind blowing hard from the south-west at the time. The vessel dropped anchor and lay there till morning, but saw no sign of the boat and it is feared both men were drowned. The vessel lost all her canvas and drifted down the lake and was picked up and brought in here last evening by the tug Snowstorm. The cargo is all safe.

Fell Dead While Shaving.

Woodstock, Ont., November 20.—James White, a prominent citizen, brother of John White, the well-known dry goods merchant of this town, got up yesterday morning and shaved himself preparatory to going to church. Suddenly a pain shot through the arm that held the razor. He remarked that he felt ill. He was put to bed. Immediately his head fell forward. He was dead when a doctor examined him a few minutes later. Mr. White's father died in exactly the same manner years ago. Deceased was about 60 years of age.

Killed in a Football Game.

Des Moines, Iowa, Nov. 20.—The third football fatality of the season in Iowa occurred on the State University field at Iowa City Saturday afternoon. While playing in an inter-class game, Winfield F. Stephenson of Des Moines was thrown violently in making a tackle, and his skull was fractured. He died within 20 minutes.

Grand Central Agent Killed.

New York, Nov. 20.—William L. Todd, night station agent of the Grand Central Station, was run over and instantly killed by a locomotive in the railroad yard here on Saturday night. Todd had been in the employ of the New York Central Railroad for 20 years.

Fed 140 Feet and Lives.

Ottawa, Nov. 19.—Albert LeTourelle of Hull has been held on a charge of manslaughter in the case of the death of Wm. Reid of Ironsides.

A slight slip and Joseph Poivin of Hintonburgh fell 40 feet to the ground off the Ottawa Carbide Company's building on Middle-street this morning. His head struck each floor as he fell to the ground. Notwithstanding his terrible fall, half an hour afterwards the man became conscious and was able slightly to help himself. Poivin is a laborer in the construction of the Carbide building. He was working on the roof unloading a load of metals from the hoist. There was a big opening in the roof near the centre to permit of materials being raised to the top of the building. He lost his footing and fell to the ground.

The man was carried into the Carbide Works office and Dr. Scott of Hull was soon by his side. The head was fractured and there were internal injuries of considerable extent. The ambulance was summoned and the man was removed to the Water-street Hospital. It was found at the hospital that he had several ribs broken and some other bad internal injuries, but may recover.

"Oh! You Are Free!"

If you were in prison and a good spirit suddenly opened the door and said "Go! You are free!" you wouldn't stop to ask whether the key that opened the door was the regulation pattern or size. If it opened the door, that is enough. Thousands of women who are sick and suffering might speedily be made strong and well again if it was not for an unreasonable prejudice against any but so-called "regular" methods.

"Three years ago I was almost gone with womb trouble," says Mrs. Jennie J. Jackson, of Sergusson Wharf, Isle of Wight Co., Va., in a letter to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. "I tried many different medicines and got no better until I tried Dr. Pierce's medicines. By the first bottle gave me ease. I have taken six bottles and I feel as well as ever in my life.

"My doctor did not have any faith in 'patent medicines' but he says 'something has done you good.' I know if I had not taken Dr. Pierce's medicine I could not have lived long as I was nothing but a skeleton. I was so thin in flesh that it hurt me to lie down. Now I am well and can work hard all day and do as much walking as I ever did, and sleep well all night. I can never be thankful enough for the good Dr. Pierce's medicines did me."

Dr. Pierce is a regular graduated and educated physician. He has had a more practical life-long experience with all forms of women's diseases than any other doctor in this country. His "Favorite Prescription" for female complaints is the most marvelously effective remedy for this purpose in the world.

Suffering women need not hesitate to write to him. All letters are held sacredly confidential and free advice will be sent by mail in plain sealed envelope.

Constipation is a little illness that if neglected builds a big one. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation.

The Name of Mary.

Mary is one of the oldest names in use today. Women of all classes christen their children with the Virgin's name, and its universal use will never detract from its dignity. Marie is the French version of the name, and those bearing it look forward to Aug. 15, the festival of the assumption, the fete day when all Maries receive the floral offerings in honor of their patron saint. There is no name more favored throughout France than the name of Marie. It is borne by the peasants and by the young women of the house of Orleans. Notable among Maries is the Princess Waldemar of Denmark.

In some provinces of France almost every woman is christened Marie, with an after name—for example, Marie Antoinette. Many of the ancient houses of both France and England value the inheritance of Marie with their heirlooms and lands. The Noailles, Boisgelins, d'Andignes, Larochejagueleins all include one or more Maries in each generation. Even men in France bear the prenom of Marie, which is used in legal documents, though seldom, if ever, used in speaking.

And the Baptist Smiled.

A Baptist minister near Cape Cod catches a strange fish and asks the skipper:

"What manner of fish is this, my good man? It has a curious appearance."

"Yaas. Only been round here this year."

"What do you call it?"

"We calls 'em Baptists."

"Why so?"

"'Cause they spile so quick arter they come out of the water."—Nacomb Bystander.

At Death s Door—Dyspepsia Conquered. A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser an others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight decreased from 210 to 110 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

DETAILS OF TWO BATTLES.

Thrilling Descriptions Sent By London Correspondents.

British Bravery Again Shown—Gen. Symons Taught the Boers That British Infantry Must Not Be Judged By Majuba Hill—The Frays at Dundee and Elandslaagte—Carried By Bayonets—Awful Scenes.

London, Nov. 20.—Yesterday for the first time, the true story of the war was being told. It is more than three weeks old, and comes by mail, but it loses none of its thrilling interest thereby. We know at last why Gen. Symons ordered that terrible charge at Dundee, and how he received his death wound, and we have a vivid picture of the strange battlefield at Elandslaagte, which was unlike anything in the previous annals of war.

When Gen. Symons Fell.

The following is the Times' correspondent's unemotional account of the bloody day's work when Gen. Symons fell:

"As soon as the Boer guns were silenced by our artillery, Gen. Symons gave the order for an assault on Talana Hill. The hill rises 800 feet, and the distance to the top is more than a mile. The first portion of the ascent is gentle and over open ground to a homestead, surrounded by broken woods. Above the woods the ground is rough and rocky, the ascent is steep and half way up a thick stone wall runs around the hill as the fringe of a wide terrace of open ground.

"Above the terrace the ascent is almost perpendicular, and at the end of this was the Boer position on the flat top, so characteristic of African hills. Altogether, the position seemed impregnable, even if held by a small body against large forces, and Gen. Symons must have had extraordinary confidence in his men when he ordered 2,000 of them to take, in the teeth of a terrible and well-sustained fire, from superfor numbers of skilled riflemen. His confidence was fully justified.

"It is said that he deliberately resolved to show the Boers that Majuba Hill was not the measure of what British infantry could do, and if so, he more than succeeded. To find a parallel for the endurance, tenacity and heroic determination to press forward over all obstacles and at all hazards, one has to go back to Wellington's invincible infantry in the Peninsula.

Fought Without Breakfast.

"The men had to go through eight hours of fighting without breakfast. The wood was the first cover available, and in the rush for this position the Dublin Fusiliers led the way, though afterwards the three regiments went practically side by side.

"The advance of the infantry was covered by a vigorous cannonade, but the appearance of our men in the open was the signal for a storm of rifle fire from the Boers. Though our losses at this stage were extraordinary small, in the wood, which for some time marked the limit of the advance, they were considerable, and here, about 9.30 o'clock, Gen. Symons, who had galloped up to tell the men that the hill must be taken, fell mortally wounded. Throughout the morning he had exposed himself perhaps unnecessarily. His position was always marked by a red flag, carried by his orderly.

"By ten o'clock, our men, creeping up inch by inch, and taking advantage of every available cover, had gained the shelter of the stone wall, but for a long time further advance seemed impossible. As often as a man became visible, the Boers poured a deadly fire in his direction, while, whatever their losses from our artillery fire, they rarely afforded a mark for the rifle.

"About 12 o'clock, however, a lull in their fire allowed our men an opportunity for scaling the wall and dashing across the open ground beyond.

Where Losses Were Greatest.

"Then the almost sheer ascent of the last portion of the hill began. Here our losses were greatest, the Rifles losing most heavily. Col. Gunning, who was always in front of his men, was shot through the head. Near the top of the hill, Capt. Pechell, who had only arrived two days before from the Soudan, also fell. Out of 17 officers, the battalion lost five killed and seven wounded. As our men neared the top of the hill our guns were compelled to slacken their fire, and the Boers, of course, were enabled to strengthen their rifle fire accordingly.

"The last portion of the ascent was rushed with the bayonet, but the Boers did not await the charge. A few, who stood their ground till near the end, being seen flying precipitately across the top of the hill when our men reached the crest. About 30 dead and wounded were lying on the ground and cases of ammunition and Mauser rifles strewn about showed the hurry of the flight. Boer ponies were galloping about, and one of the humorous sights of the day was to see the Dublin Fusiliers gaily riding back these captive steeds."

BATTLE OF ELANDSLAAGTE.

G. W. Steevens' Vivid Account of the Strange African Fight.

It is a much more vivid account which G. W. Steevens gives of the strange battle at Elandslaagte, which did not begin until nearly five o'clock in the afternoon. He says:—

"Our guns moved to a position toward the right, and the Boer guns opened fire. Lord, but those German gunners knew their business. The third and fourth shell pitched into a wagon full of shells, with a team of eight horses hitched to it. We held our breath for the explosion, but when the smoke cleared away only the near wheeler lay on his side and the wagon had its wheels in the air. Our batteries bayed again, and the Boer guns were silent.

"The attack was to be made on their front and left flank. The Devonshires formed for the front attack and the Manchesters on the right. The Gordon Highlanders edged to the extreme rightward with a long boulder freckled hill above them. The guns flung shrapnel across the valley. The cavalry were in clash, straining towards the enemy's flanks.

A Heavy Rain Fell.

"It was about 4.45 and it seemed curiously dark.. No wonder, for as the men moved forward the heavens opened and from the eastern sky swept a sheet of rain. With the first stabbing drops the horses turned their heads and no whip or spur could bring them up to it. It drove through mackintoshes as if they were blotting paper. The air was filled with a hissing sound, and underfoot you could see the solid earth melting into mud, and the mud flowing away in the water. The rain blotted out hill, dale and the enemy in one gray curtain of swooping water. You would have said that the heavens had opened to drown the wrath of man.

"Through it the guns still thundered and the Khaki columns pushed doggedly on. The infantry came among the boulders and began to open out. The supports and reserves followed. Then, in a twinkling, on the stone pitted hill's face, burst loose that other storm, a storm of lead and blood and death. In the first line, down behind the rocks, the men were firing fast, and the bullets came flickering around them. The men started, staggered, and dropped limply, as if a string that had held them upright had been cut. The line pushed on, and a colonel fell, shot in the arm. The regiment pushed on, and they came to a rocky ridge 20 feet high. They clung to the cover, firing, then rose and were among the shrill bullets again. A major was left at the bottom of the ridge with a pipe in his mouth, and a Mauser bullet through his leg. His company pushed on.

A Mad Rush It Was.

"Down again, fire again, up again, and on. Another ridge won and passed, and only more hellish hail of bullets beyond. More men down, more men pushed into the firing line, more death-piping bullets than ever. The air was a sieve of them, they beat on the boulders like a million hammers, they tore the turf like harrows.

"Another ridge crowned, another welcoming whistling gust of prediction. More men down, more pushed into the firing line. Half the officers were down. The men puffed, stumbled on, another ridge taken. God, would this cursed thing never end! It was sown with bleeding and dead behind, it was edged with a stinging fire before.

"On, and now it was surely the end. Merry bugles rang like the cock crow on a fine morning. 'Fix bayonets!' Staff officers rushed shouting from the rear, imploring, cajoling, cursing, slamming every man who could not move into line, but it was a line no longer; it was a surging wave of men. The Devonshires, Gordons, Manchesters, and Light Horse were all mixed. Subalterns commanding regiments, soldiers yelling advice, officers firing carbines, stumbling, leaping, killing, falling, all drunk with battle. And there beneath our feet was the Boer camp, and the last of the Boers galloping out of it. There also, thank heaven, were squadrons of Lancers and Dragoon Guards storming in among them, shouting, spearing, stamping them into the ground.

"Cease fire!" It was over. Twelve hours of march, of reconnaissance, waiting and preparation and half an hour of attack, but half an hour crammed with the life of half a lifetime."

Victory Had to Be Won.

Lieut. Webb, a well-known Johannesburger, and a member of the Imperial Light Horse, who shared the charge up the precipitous hill at Elandslaagte, writes that the battle was a terrible slaughter, too terrible for the victory, which yet had to be won. "The artillery shells burst within ten yards of us all round," he says, "yet some of our men had to sit on their horse at attention under this fire for an hour.

"I saw some horrible sights. One Gordon Highlander got a shell right in the face, knocking his head clear off. We charged to the cannons' mouth, the Gordon Highlanders using the bayonet. The Boers were very plucky, shouted to us to come on, and stood to the last. The Lancers charged those who ran. Some, who went on their knees and prayed for mercy, were let off. Others did this and then shot our men as they went away. One cur killed a Gordon Highlander officer, who had spared him. Col. Schiel played the part of a man, when badly wounded, refusing help until our men had been attended to. We killed and wounded all their officers."

THIS BURGHER IS A BRUTE.

Shot Two Wounded British While a Doctor Was Attending Them.

The Telegraph's correspondent, referring to the charge that the Boers are killing wounded British soldiers, says he was present when two young officers made the following statement:

"During the engagement at Elandslaagte a British doctor was attending two wounded men, when a burgher came up, stopped before the little party, and, without saying anything, deliberately drew his pistol and killed both of the wounded men. Two British soldiers appeared before the assassin could escape. The burgher dropped his pistol and fell on his knees, begging for mercy. He got the mercy he deserved for so inhuman an act.

"Parties sent out to search for the dead and wounded were first fired on under Red Cross flags and then under flags of truce."

SIR WM. DAWSON DEAD.

The Celebrated Ex-Principal of McGill Montreal, Passed Away Rather Unexpectedly.

Montreal, Nov. 19.—(Special.)—The Canadian flag at half-mast from the cluster of university buildings announces the death of one of the Dominion's most eminent educationists, Sir William Dawson, for so many years principal of McGill, whose name has been a household word all over Canada and long before Confederation was formed, died a little past midnight. Sir William's death created surprise, it being so sudden; for, although the ex-principal had had a stroke of paralysis and had been left in a pretty weakened state, it was not felt by his family and friends that the grim destroyer had come so near. For a week past his state of health did not appear to be of a nature to create alarm. Consequently when it was announced this morning that Sir William Dawson had passed away, the most intense sorrow prevailed amongst all classes, and Lady Dawson and family have the deepest sympathy of friends far and near.

Funeral on Tuesday.

It has been arranged that the funeral shall take place on Tuesday afternoon, and it is said that there is already a scheme on foot to provide some kind of a memorial that will be both a reminder of Sir William's splendid work and beneficial to the university as well.

Biographical Sketch.

Sir William Dawson, C.M.G., F.R.S., LL.D., D.C.L., was born in Pictou, N.S., on Oct. 13, 1820, and came to McGill in 1855. He was a son of James Dawson and received his education at the Academy in Pictou, and Edinburgh University. After leaving the university he engaged in the study of geology and natural history in Nova Scotia and other parts of North America up to 1850. In 1847 he married Margaret, daughter of the late G. Mercer, of Edinburgh. In 1886 he became the first president of the Royal Society of Canada, and of the British Association for the Advancement of Science. His publications include Adamian Geology, 1855; Archaia, or Studies of the Narrative of the Creation in Genesis, 1857; Agriculture for Schools, 1864; Handbook of Canadian Zoology, 1871; The Story of Earth and Man, 1872; Life's Dawn on Earth, 1875; The Origin of the World, 1878; Fossil Men and Their American Analogues, 1880; The Chain of Life in Geological Time, 1881; The Geological History of Plants, 1888; Modern Science in Bible Lands, 1888; Handbook of Canadian Geology, 1889; Modern Ideas of Evolution, 1890; Some Salient Points in the Science of the Earth, 1893; The Ice Age in Canada, 1894; The Meeting Place of Geology and History, 1891; Salient Points in the Science of the Earth, 1894.

REPULSED AT LADYSMITH.

The Boers Had Another Heavy Loss of 800 Killed.

Gen. White's Forces Outwit the Enemy and They Were Driven Back at Every Point—The King's Rifles at the Double-Quick Got Into Boer Trench Opposite Ladysmith—A Rush on Estcourt.

Durban, Natal, Nov. 20.—The Times of Natal publishes the following, dated Nov. 15, from its special correspondent at Ladysmith:

The enemy made a determined attack on Thursday, Nov. 9. Apparently all the Boer force participated. Their artillery opened fire at 4 a.m., pouring in shell thick and fast upon the British positions, although with no great effect. They adopted the unusual tactics of advancing under cover of their guns to positions on the ridges and kopjes, adjacent to those occupied by the British troops, on the left of our camp. Continuing their advance, the Boers crept up, using every available bit of cover. Our infantry opened with a warm, steady and accurate fire, which beat back the enemy, notwithstanding a display of tenacity of purpose equal to their desperate stands on previous occasions.

Attacked on All Sides.

The Boer attack was most elaborate on all sides of the town. The main attack, however, was made between the Free State and Newcastle Railway lines, by a column composed chiefly of Johannesburg volunteers. A brigade of the King's Royal Rifle Corps made a splendid defence. The Boers were repulsed, but soon rallied and returned to the attack. Again the British fire, which was very hot, forced them to retire.

They had made a deep trench in front of the British lines, and while withdrawing for their horses, they left this unguarded, whereupon the King's Rifles, advancing at double quick, occupied the trench. This smart movement was not seen by the enemy, who soon scattered with their horses. Carefully reserving their fire, the King's Rifles allowed the Boers to advance almost to the edge of the trench, and then poured volley after volley into the astounded Boers, who turned and fled from across the open, where the artillery of the British poured in a terrible and effective shell fire. The enemy lost heavily.

Meanwhile another section of the Boers had brought a mortar into action, firing heavy shells. Our guns soon silenced this weapon, the enemy's artillerymen fleeing headlong. The Boers then advanced in force, with a view of repairing the mortar, but our artillery shelled and scattered them right and left. The fighting was all over at 11 o'clock.

Promptly at noon Gen. White ordered a salute of 21 guns in honor of the birthday of the Prince of Wales. As the cannon boomed, cheer after cheer rang out from the troops and a scene of enthusiasm probably without parallel in history followed.

Boers Lost 800 Men.

At Cassos' Camp, which protects the town on the southwest, the Manchester Regiment held the position. Descending under cover of the British guns for some distance on the furthest side of the hill, they detected several hundred Boers hiding in the ditch, out of the way of the British shells. They poured volley after volley into the enemy, scattering them widely, and inflicting heavy loss. The Boers were driven back at every point, with a loss estimated at 800 men.

Nothing important occurred until Tuesday, Nov. 14, when a strong force, chiefly cavalry and artillery, reconnoitering, came upon the enemy near the Colenso-road and drove them back to their main positions. Our shell fire was most effective, and is believed to have inflicted considerable damage. Our loss was one man. That same day a Boer shell killed a trooper of the National Mounted Rifles, who was sleeping in his tent.

All our men are fit, well and in good spirits.

It is reported that the Lyddite is terrifying the Boers, who have to be driven to their gun positions by revolvers pointed at their heads.

Ladysmith Good for a Month.

Ladysmith is able to hold out for months. On the other hand, it is reported that dysentery is making havoc in the enemy's camp.

Boers Occupy Colesburg.

Cape Town, Nov. 20.—Advices just received here show that on Nov. 16 a combined force of Free State and Transvaal burghers occupied Colesburg, Cape Colony, without opposition by the residents, and proclaimed the district to be Free State territory.

The British troopship Manila has arrived at Durban.

The Boers occupied Burghersdorp on Tuesday, Nov. 14, and it is believed that they were on the way to seize Stormburg Junction.

Queenstown, Cape Colony, Nov. 20—Major-General William Forbes Gatacre, with his staff and the Irish Rifles, arrived here on Saturday.

Commandant Olivier, with a portion of the Rouxville Commando, has occupied Jamestown, hoisted the flag of the Orange Free State and annexed the town.

No Colonial Burghers Wanted.

Cape Town, Nov. 20.—W. P. Schreiner, the Premier, has instructed all civil commissioners to announce that there is no intention to call out the burgher forces in the colony, as the Colonial Government considers the military forces of the Crown sufficient to preserve order and repel invasion.

"Ordinary citizens," the Premier declares, "are only expected to remain loyal, and not to give countenance to the enemy.

More Prisoners at Pretoria.

Pretoria, Nov. 18.—(Via Lorenzo Marquez, Nov. 19.)—At noon to-day 56 British prisoners, including men from the Dublin Fusiliers and several bluejackets, arrived here. There were large crowds at the railway station, but no demonstration was made. Winston Churchill, who is wounded in the hand, was taken to the Model school, while the rank and file are being sent to the race course. One spy was lodged in jail. The wounded had been treated at Colenso. The Boer version of the conflict in which these prisoners were taken says that two British were killed and ten wounded.

The Day's Work.

They steal upon us like a sigh,
Deft magic moods without a sound,
While carpet slippered hours go by,
These mornings when we potter round.

But with the flitting time awake
All claims of life in torrents gush,
And, oh, the lively gait we take
On afternoons we have to rush!

A STEADY BOMBARDMENT.

Eight Boer Guns Play Constantly on Kimberley—The Fort Artillerymen Have Close Shaves.

Kimberley, Nov. 11.—(Via runner to Orange River)—The Boers bombarded Kimberley again at 6.15 o'clock this morning, shelling the town briskly from three positions. Subsequently they maintained a desultory fire until 7.15 o'clock. One shell killed a poor old Kaffir woman in the street, and another fell on the roof of a barn, partially wrecking the building. Six shells were fired against the waterworks, but fell in the reservoir. Several artillerymen in the fort there had close shaves.

Our guns replied at long range, and two shells, at least, are believed to have found their mark, as the fire of the Boers in that direction was effectually silenced. Several of the enemy's shells fell in the native compound, and the inmates immediately rushed to dig them up. Several others landed on the mined floors, but did no damage. The bombardment freshened from ten o'clock until noon, the fire being directed at Otto's Kopje, whence our patrol at dawn had fired upon a Boer detachment, knocking down six of their horses.

British Casualties.

Our casualties were one policeman mortally wounded, and a Lighthorseman slightly wounded. The patrol fired coolly and steadily until the Boers dispersed.

A second patrol engaged the enemy, but meeting a superior force, was compelled to retire, losing only two horses. The Boers fired quite 300 shells to-day. The cases were dated from 1891 to 1896. The enemy have at least eight guns.

The prisoners they recently captured and conveyed to Bloemfontein have their arms pinned behind them and were tied to the trek chain of an ox wagon, remaining thus throughout the entire night, until their removal next day. The Boers are again busy blowing up railroad culverts. The heavy bombardment was renewed at 3.40 o'clock this afternoon from two positions. Our guns are now replying. The enemy's shells are falling harmlessly, though the artillerymen have found the range.

TRIED TO RUSH ESTCOURT.

Attempt Was Made by the Boers on Saturday Morning but Failed.

Estcourt, Nov. 18.—(1.40 p. m.)—At ten o'clock this morning the Boers attempted to rush Estcourt, but one shot from our naval gun, and several long-range volleys fired by the Dublin Fusiliers sent them back precipitately. The Boers had several guns posted on surrounding kopjes, but our naval men apparently astonished them, and their guns were withdrawn.

Later.—For several days it has been known that the Boers have been creeping toward Estcourt and had boasted that they would be in here this morning. They were met on their arrival with a reception that they little expected. At ten o'clock the Dublin Fusiliers took up their position and without waiting any time opened fire by volleys at long range on the advancing enemy, who were crossing the railway from the northwest of the town.

Bluejackets on Deck.

A loud report and a whizzing overhead told the tale of the bluejackets' watchfulness. A big puff of smoke indicated that their aim was good, the shell bursting in the midst of the Boers, several of whose horses were observed galloping about riderless.

Boers Were Dumfounded.

The Boers doubled back helter-skelter. On advantageous points of the surrounding hills the Boers' guns were posted, getting ready to cover the advance of their firing line. Their astonishment must have been great, as they speedily retired. One shot caused them to retire out of sight. They evidently did not dream that the British had a long range gun here, as they were coming on with the utmost confidence, evidently expecting to be in Estcourt within 15 minutes after crossing the railway.

The bluejackets abruptly arrested their progress and deserve credit for the accuracy with which they judged their range. Gen. Hildyard and his staff were beside the naval gun.

All is now quiet again.

GEN. METHUEN'S MARCH.

For the Relief of Kimberley is Without Baggage or Tents.

London, Nov. 20.—A special despatch from Orange River camp, dated Nov. 15, afternoon, says:

A brigade of the Guards arrived to-day by rail from Cape Town and marched to their quarters, looking perfectly fit. They were loudly cheered.

Other troops under General Methuen are rapidly pushing forward the preparations for the advance. Last night the Northumberland Fusiliers made a long night march in the brilliant moonlight. All troops are being exercised daily.

General Methuen has decided that only four newspaper correspondents shall accompany the forward movement, which may now take place at any moment. No baggage, tents or servants will be allowed.

NEW YORK MILLIONAIRES

Only a few people reading advertisements of bankers and brokers, saying that money could be made through speculation, realize that the richest men in America have commenced life in a humble way and have made their fortune through stock-exchange speculations.

Men like Jay Gould, who worked as a dry goods clerk in a small town at $10.00 a week up to his twentieth year, and commenced to operate with his small saving of $200.00 in Wall Street, left at his death 70 millions of dollars; Russell Sage, who worked as a grocery boy at $1.00 per week, and whose present wealth is estimated at 100 millions of dollars, is still operating the market, although 80 years of age, and so are thousands of others, who are enjoying all the luxuries life can offer, which is due to their success in speculation.

To the shrewd speculator the same opportunities are open to-day as to others in the past. The smallest lot which can be bought and sold is ten shares on 3% margin, making 30 dollars.

Anybody interested as to how speculations are conducted can get information and market letter free of charge upon application by letter to,

THE BINDER TWINE MONOPOLY.

A Grit journal in Halifax rises to remark:

"The fact that the Farmer's Binder Twine Company, of Brantford, Ont., made a profit of 100 per cent. on its last year's operations raises the question as to what has become of the Tory prophecy that placing binder twine on the free list would ruin the manufacturers of that commodity. They seem to be doing pretty well."

But what about the farmers? The Grit contention was that placing binder twine on the free list would make it cheap for the farmers and that they would no longer be swindled by bloated manufacturers, who were swindling them under protection. The result is that binder twine is costing the farmers more than double what it did under the wicked Tories, and that the factories connected with the trust are paying 100 per cent. dividends. The explanation is that with the assistance of the Governments at Ottawa and Toronto two Grit politicians secured all the binder twine manufactured in the Penitentiary at Kingston, and at the Central Prison at Toronto, at about 4½ cents per pound, and had control of the whole binder twine business of the Dominion, and "raked off" about a million dollars last year, which properly belongs to the farmers. The less Grit organs have to say about binder twine the better.

MENIER AND THE METHODISTS.

Mr. Menier, the owner of Anticosti, has secured a judgment against the Methodist settlers on that island, and the unfortunate people are ordered to remove from their homes at Fox Bay without delay.

These settlers came from Newfoundland many years ago under an arrangement with the former proprietor of the island, and they have lived there since by agriculture, fishing and hunting.

Mr. Menier, the Parisian millionaire, who owns the island, has tried various expedients with a view to getting rid of the Methodists; he has succeeded now owing to the fact that the poor people innocently, without knowing its efforts, signed a document acknowledging themselves as tenants and Mr. Menier as their landlord.

The triumph of Menier is a triumph also for Mr. Tarte; that Minister interested himself in Mr. Menier's case against the Methodist settlers, and declared in Parliament that they were wreckers, who put out false lights to lure ships and sailors to their doom.

Mr. Tarte's story was a dreadful libel upon simple, unoffending and deeply religious people, whose only crime was the circumstance that they were Protestants and therefore not welcome neighbors for the Parisian millionaire.

Catarrh Can Be Cured.

Japanese Catarrh Cure

Has Successfully Coped With This Most Dangerous Disease, and Cured to Stay Cured.

Miss A. Knott, of Beachville, Ont., writes: "If we had only known of Japanese Catarrh Cure years ago, my father would have been saved from spending hundreds of dollars, and I would have been free from the constant pain and annoyance of this most disgusting disease. I had catarrh for years. My head was stuffed up so that I could not breathe through my nostrils. My breath was very impure. I had almost a constant pain in my head and over my eyes. Nothing I could get gave me any permanent relief, until using Japanese Catarrh Cure. From the very first it gave me relief, and in a short time had removed the accumulation so that I could breathe freely through the nostrils. The pain left my head and eyes. Its effect upon my breath was truly wonderful, purifying and removing every vestige of the unpleasant odor, and during the past year since using this remedy have not felt the least sign of my former trouble. I can highly recommend it, and know of several others in our neighborhood whom it has cured."

Sold by all druggists. 50 cents. Six boxes, with cure guaranteed, for $2.50. A free sample sent to any address. Enclose 5 cents in stamps. Address The Griffiths & Macpherson, Co., 121 Church street, Toronto. Sold by D. M. Waters, cor. Front and Bridge sts.

SERMON TO YOUNG MEN

"He Was a Mighty Hunter Before the Lord."

Last Night's Sermon at Bleecker St. Was Chiefly Devoted to an Exposition of Y. M. C. A. Work—Eloquent Address by the Pastor.

At Bleecker street Methodist church last night the services were in the interests of Y. M. C. A. work. After the usual devotional exercises, Mr. C. M. Reid, an active officer of the Association, gave a short but pointed address on the aims and work of the Y. M. C. A. The pastor, Rev. J. J. Rice, also delivered an earnest and practical discourse to young men, taking as a foundation for his remarks the scripture text found in Genesis, 10th chapter and 9th verse:

He was a mighty hunter before the Lord, wherefore it is said, even as Nimrod, the mighty hunter before the Lord.

As the text indicates, Nimrod was a mighty hunter. He held an important place among men when upon earth. He was the third descendant of Noah. Nimrod founded that great city of Babylon and the great Babylonish empire. After the establishment of this empire he went on a hunting expedition out north and captured from his cousin Asshur the Assyrian territory. Modern researches show that at Babylon high morality was established through Nimrod. He was a representative man of his day. This is what young men should be to-day who have ambitions to do anything. They should be bold and aggressive. We have had recently an exhibition in this country of what strong young men can do and for what service they are selected. The Canadian contingent, at present en route to South Africa to assist in defending the rights of the British empire, are all young men, the larger proportion being under 25 years of age. They were selected because of their vigor and youth. Nimrod in youth was a great hunter and was eager to catch much game. Ministers should be hunters and fishers of men and fish after the youth for God in order that they may grow up active and strong in good works. He who begins early in life with good purposes will accomplish the most. The Boers are excellent shots from the fact that in early life they are trained in arms, and we cannot excel in anything unless we commence to train and live right in youth. This is so with the Christian. We should commence early in life to exercise Christian privileges. In youth we are not handicapped and can spend our vigor in assisting to revolutionize the world for Christ. The successful missionaries in foreign fields to day are our young men, are those who in early life consecrated their lives to the services of Christ. In youth begin to lay a foundation for greatness, not as some have done and failed. Saul was an active man, a great hunter, and a wonderful physical man. He founded a kingdom but he came to a premature death. In contrast to him we have had such godly men as Knox, Luther, Wesley and our present living Moody, men who accomplished much, having a tremendous force for good. Some of the most noted and learned scientists and classic literature men of the day were men of God. They were mighty hunters and became master minds. In youth we have or should have a desire to be ambitious, to rise to lofty peaks and accomplish something great. Press on, do not be afraid of aiming high, you will surely hit something. Young men, see to it that you honor God and he will honor you. You will never give character to your stature, or accomplish great good, unless you have high ambitions to do good and bend your energies in that direction. Hunters may be placed in three classes, namely, good, bad and indifferent. Seek God and His righteousness and you will prove a benediction to your race. The question is which side are you on? This is a personal question, which each person must decide. The Lord says he who is not for me is against me, he who is not for the right is for the wrong. We get in this world what we live for. We may amass worldly goods and wealth, but what will it profit us if we gain the whole world and lose our souls? We should have the strength of manhood and the grace of God in our hearts to resist temptation and live godly and sober lives. God sees our course of conduct, and He either approves of it or condemns it. Christ comes all the way from heaven to earth to hunt our souls. We are purged from dead works for Christ's sake. We should seek to do all the good we can in hunting for souls. It is our duty to recover the straying ones and bring them in the fold of the master. God's approval will never leave us, and we shall have blessing, and in death we shall be triumphant, and our eternal happiness will be lasting.

Discovered by a Woman.

Another great discovery has been made, and that, too, by a lady in this country. "Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night; and with two bottles, has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus writes W. C. Hamnick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Trial bottles free at J. S. McKeown's Drug Store. Regular size 50c and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed.

The deceased was about 75 years of age and had resided all his life near the village of Bloomfield. He was a gentleman well-known and highly respected, and his demise is sincerely regretted. It appears that on Saturday he was in his usual health and visited the town of Picton, returning home and partaking of the evening meal. He appeared to be well and was jovial. During the night he was taken ill and expired in a short time. Death is supposed to have resulted from heart disease. The deceased leaves a wife and one son, Mr. W. S. Morden, of this City. To the widow and members of the family will be extended the sympathy of a host of friends.

A JUMPING BEAN CLOCK.

The Clever Fraud Perpetrated by an Ingenious Jeweler.

A few years ago public curiosity was excited by the curious beans called the "devil beans of Mexico," which shopkeepers placed in their windows. They somewhat resembled roasted coffee beans in shape and color. They were also known as the "jumping beans" owing to the fact that from time to time they made spasmodic movements which propelled them quite a little distance. The beans grew on a small bush in the Mexican mountains, and it is conjectured that they belong to the order euphorbiaceae. The bean really consisted of three similar pods, which formed a single bean. It was usually a third of the bean which was exhibited as a curiosity. On opening the pod it was found that it contained a small larva, something like that frequently found in chestnuts. It is this little occupant which gives motion to the bean by its jerks and thumps against the side of its home. If the bean is slightly warmed, it begins to turn from side to side and perhaps with a sudden jump turns completely over and stands on one end and then, by successive jumps, moves quite a distance.

Those who are not in the secret are often greatly puzzled by this strange bean. An enterprising jeweler devised a scheme of utilizing them to make a magic clock. He accomplished this by imitating the shape of two of the beans, making the dummy beans out of soft iron. One he gilded and the other he silvered. The prepared iron beans were placed with the ordinary jumping beans on a thin white piece of pasteboard outlined and numbered like the dial of a clock, but devoid of the hands. This dial was located over the works of a large clock which was placed face upward on the floor of the store window. He fastened small magnets to the ends of the hands. The works were of course carefully hidden from view. All that was in evidence was the cardboard clock dial and the jumping beans, among which were the gold and silver painted iron beans. These were placed on the cardboard over the concealed hands with the magnets attached. The magnets were moved by the hands of the clock so that they were almost in contact with the cardboard. As they moved around they carried the iron beans with them, thus telling the time of day, and the public was greatly interested by the intelligence shown by the two beans, which distinguished them from their lively associates.—Scientific American.

MADE IT SHORT AND SWEET.

A Preacher's Experience With Cowboys Who Wanted a Sermon.

In the early days of Garden City district, in southwest Kansas, I was camped one night, sleeping under my buggy, in Kearny county, south of Hartland. There were five of us in the party. We were all sleeping, and our campfire had died down, when one of our number was awakened by a cowboy who wanted to know where the big preacher was. I was pointed out and awakened by a shake with his foot. He asked, "Are you the preacher?"

"I am," I replied.

"Well, hustle out. We want you to come to our camp and give us a chapter of the everlasting."

"I will be down in the morning," I replied.

He pointed his gun at me and said, "You will come now."

I immediately answered, "All right."

I hurried out and followed him nearly a mile away to a camp, where I found his comrades were waiting.

"Well, boys, what do you want?" I asked.

"The best you have in the shop, and we want it short and sweet and in old Methodist style," answered the leader.

"Then sit down," I said, "and as I cannot you must sing."

They sang with great vigor "Jesus, Lover of My Soul." When I prayed, I coupled prayer with watching, believing that under the circumstances the two should go together. I then preached them a sermon from Revelation iii, 20, entitled, "The Ladder to Glory." I have often used an hour on this sermon, but as the boys wanted it short I gave it to them in about 12 minutes and then bade them good night and started for camp.

"Hold on, come back here." They all seemed to speak at once. "We never let a preacher go off in that style. Pete, you take up the collection." And Pete seemed to understand his work as steward and turned me over $11.—Rev. A. P. George in St. Louis Christian Advocate.

His Target Practice.

When a warship goes out for target practice, it is the custom to place all glass, chinaware and other fragile articles in the hold of the ship—as close down to the keel as possible—in order to prevent breakage by the concussion that follows the firing of the guns. This led to an amusing incident at Manila after the destruction of the Spanish fleet. Life on board the Olympia was gradually settling down to its accustomed routine and dullness when one day at luncheon Commodore Dewey asked his colored boy, Jim, where some dish that he missed from the table had gone.

"I ain't had no chance to git it yit," was Jim's answer, "since I put it in de hol' just befo' dat target practice you had de udder day, commodore."—San Francisco Argonaut.

CLAY'S MOTHER'S TAVERN.

Something About the Mother of the Great Orator and Statesman.

Comparatively few people are now living who know that the mother of Henry Clay once "kept tavern" in Versailles, Ky., and fewer still have ever had it occur to them that had this not been the case Clay would most probably not have come to Kentucky at all.

The Watkins family arrived in Versailles about the close of the eighteenth century, bringing with them quite a retinue of slaves. I may say right here that there is little foundation for the popular idea that Henry Clay's boyhood was spent in the atmosphere of poverty, obscurity and absolute want. The mother of the "Mill Boy of the Slashes," Elizabeth Hudson, was a member of a wealthy Virginia family, and in wedding the Rev. John Clay (after whose death she married Henry Watkins) she married into a family of equal prominence with her own. The Clays and Hudsons probably lived in the rather gorgeous style of the Virginia gentry, and if the Rev. John Clay was poor it was no doubt due to the devastation wrought by the Revolutionary war. It is extremely unlikely that his poverty could have been so great as the story books would have us believe.

Henry Clay did not accompany his mother and stepfather to Kentucky, but remained in Richmond as deputy in the clerk's office and engaged in prosecuting his legal studies. The Watkinses shortly took charge of the only hostelry in Versailles, and "Watkins' tavern" became famous in the surrounding country. They had a two story stone house built at the corner of Main street and Court square by Henry Metcalfe, at that time a stonemason and afterward governor of Kentucky. Such places were a sort of political headquarters and a rendezvous for the discussion of the news of the day at a time when news traveled only by stage coach. The Marshalls, the Crittendens, the Blackburns, the Clays, the Watkinses and other prominent men no doubt planned campaigns at "Watkins' tavern," and here General Lafayette was entertained in 1826.

Mrs. Clay-Watkins was very attractive. While not a beauty, she was comely, with dark hair and eyes and rosy cheeks. Her manners were very engaging, and she was a most entertaining conversationalist. She had a well rounded and shapely figure, and possessed great vigor of mind and body. Her first husband, the Rev. John Clay, evidently realized fully his wife's charms, for, in making his will, he more than once gives directions "in case my beloved wife should intermarry betwixt this and then." And sure enough, at 33, the mother of nine children, she married Henry Watkins, "an elegant and accomplished gentleman" of 23, for whom she afterward bore seven children.

Mrs. Watkins was full of spirit, as a story told by one of her grandsons, T. B. Watkins of Lexington, proves. He says that the day after the burial of Rev. John Clay, the British Colonel Tarleton made a raid into Virginia, and his men devastated her place. Mrs. Clay reprimanded Tarleton so severely that he emptied a sack of coin on a table and told her to take that for her losses. As soon as Tarleton left, Mrs. Clay scraped the money off into her apron and threw it into the fire, saying that her hand "should not be polluted with British gold." She seems to have been a noble woman, much reverenced by those who knew her well, and with striking individuality and an imperious will.

About the year 1815 the Watkinses gave up their tavern in Versailles and settled upon a farm which they owned, three miles south of town. Here Mrs. Watkins died in 1829, at the age of 80 years. Her remains were buried in a country graveyard close by and rested there until 1851, when they were removed to Lexington by her son Henry.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Alas!

Behold him marching in the gay parade,
With halting step and dull, world weary eye,
With rumpled collar and with plume awry,
The saddest guardsman in the cavalcade,
Deserted quite by fortune, fickle jade.
He droops his head, he heaves a dismal sigh,
He swears profanely as he hobbles by
In all the glory of his bright gold braid.
What ails the man? Why, on this festal day,
Must he alone, in all this proud array,
A weight of tribulation seem to feel?
Why limps he thus forlornly on the way?
Because, if you must know, you blooming jay,
He has two soles with but a single heel.

An Infant Scalded.

Ready to Wear Clothing

Has a great many advantages—the most prominent that it is ready to wear. There's no waiting, no fuming because you don't get your clothes when promised, and the minute you see a ready-to-wear suit you know whether or no you like it. Our stock is large, our stock is varied. The prices are economical, the styles are the latest. The workmanship is perfect. We'll be pleased to see you.—Quick & Robertson.

Police Notes

The following cases were disposed of by the Magistrate this morning:

Ed. Walsh, charged with being drunk and disorderly was, owing to the misfortune of having but one arm, allowed to go.

Mrs. Bridges Clapper charged her daughter, Mrs. Alice Smith, with entering her house and taking photos and other articles which the complainant claimed were hers. The defendent said what she took belonged to her. Case dismissed.

Fred Palmer was taxed to the extent of $9.50 for the killing of a dog belonging to Samuel Harkins. Both parties reside in Thurlow.

Discovered by a Woman.

Another great discovery has been made, and that, too, by a lady in this country. "Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night; and with two bottles, has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz. Thus writes W. C. Hamblck & Co., of Shelby, N.C. Trial bottles free at J. S. McKeown's Drug Store. Regular size 50c and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed.

Mafeking in Bad Shape.

Fears That Baden-Powell and His Brave Men Have Gone Down.

Details of the Battle at Ladysmith on November 15—Boers Lost Heavily—Government Claims it is not Withholding News.

(OTHER DESPATCHES ON INSIDE PAGES.)

London, Nov. 21.—A despatch from Capetown shows that Mafeking is at the mercy of the Boers, if it already has not fallen.

Mafeking has been so worn down with waiting for aid and by the constant siege that for some time resistance has been little more than passive.

On the other hand the Boers have been gathering strength, and yesterday a force of 2000 arrived to swell the ranks of the enemy.

Boer losses have been reported from Mafeking, but the number was not considerable.

The next news expected is that of the city's fall.

In reference to the reports that the Government is withholding news the Chronicle claims to have authority to state that the War Office has published every particular it has received.

Estcourt, Nov. 21.—Details of the fight which was reported to have taken place at Ladysmith on Nov. 15th, have been received.

The Boers to the North of the town began a forward movement, but were checked by the British with infantry fire and several maxim guns.

The British then advanced, attacking the Boers, and forced them to retire.

The Boers were subjected to a galling fire and are reported to have lost 300 killed and 500 captured.

There are rumors that the Boers are preparing to withdraw from around Ladysmith.

London, Nov. 21.—Latest news from Ladysmith, dated Friday last, say nothing about tremendous battles, but distinctly state that beyond a false alarm and a little increased shelling everything was perfectly quiet and the garrison was chafing under its enforced inactivity. Nevertheless the special despatches from Estcourt to-day enlarge on the reported battles and insist that the Boers received a more terrible lesson Wednesday than any previous fight.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING

That if you will look at your calendar and find the 7th of December you will see Greenway's finish.

That it has taken Emperor Bill a good while to find out that blood is thicker than water, but then better late than never.

That some of our municipal candidates are in the position of the Yankee politician who "was not out for office, but was willing to be asked."

That we don't need to kick because the Canadian contingent is going to do guard duty. Somebody has got to do it, and it isn't likely that Gen. Buller is going to put amateurs in the leading roles when he has got trained professionals.

That Sergt. Tod, who, in the face of a galling fire, rolled boulders around his captain and saved his life, may not have a very high-sounding name, but it is evident he is no counterfeit. Such men are the glory of their countrymen.

That the electors are breathlessly waiting to see who the candidates will be for next year's Council. Don't be backward, gentlemen. Some of you have probably got a bump coming to you, but why not declare yourselves and let the band begin to play?

That one man in Africa got what he was looking for, anyway. When Col. Baden-Powell left England for Africa he told a friend he would be satisfied if they "gave him a warm corner." If the Colonel isn't satisfied with the corner he has had lately he must be hard to suit.

That history keeps right on repeating itself. British soldiers win fresh laurels whenever war breaks out. Other races may and do degenerate, and their soldiers and sailors, once great, become objects of pity, but the British army keeps on doing business in the same old way. Judging from appearances, if any eminent pessimist like Goldwin Smith is thinking of writing a book on the "Decline of the British Empire" he had better leave the task for some other man a few centuries hence.

That the Belleville City Council has a few inconsistencies in its make-up. It's all right to have an electric fire alarm, but how would it be if, after the alarm was sounded, the engine and hose carts got stuck in the mud? If there had been a fire on Octavia st. last Sunday it is doubtful if the fire horses could have pulled the carts along the street. And there are other streets just as bad. Perhaps, before the City gets into class Q, it would be as well to make the streets passable for the firemen.

A Disappointed Crowd.

Owing to the large amount of scenery carried by "A Lion's Heart" company they were unable to get it loaded in time after the performance at Hamilton last evening to make connection with the Grand Trunk in time to reach the city at noon to-day, consequently many were disappointed in not seeing it unloaded. It reaches the city at 5:30 this evening and will be unloaded near the post office. Every piece of scenery carried will be used on the stage at opera house to night.

BIRTH.

Ford—On Monday, November 20, to the wife of James D. Ford, a daughter.

THE WAR SUMMARY.

Boer forces are hovering in the neighborhood of Estcourt, and skirmishes are frequent.

Further hard fighting around Ladysmith, with heavy Boer losses in killed and prisoners, is reported.

The relief columns for Ladysmith and Kimberly are rapidly being completed, and the advance guard of the former is already reported at Estcourt.

Several more transports have arrived at the Cape.

Tae Basutos are reported to be quieter.

Report from Cape Town that Mafeking is believed to have fallen.

War Office claims it is not withholding news.

Arrived at Capetown.

The SS. Briton arrived at Capetown yesterday, having on board the 2nd Battalion of the Somerset Light Infantry. Mrs. F. R. Lingham, of this city, to day received a cable message from her husband conveying the news that he was a passenger on the above steamer, and that, at the time of sending the message, he was in good health and spirits.

To Wearers of Clothing.

It is a hard matter, we presume, for a stranger to decide where to buy his clothing. You read the different announcements, all advertising the best and you must be in an awful predicament. Well, if you are not acquainted with the character of the different houses, the best plan is to take a look around. The Oak Hall is not afraid of the results.

High Court of Justice.

Monday, Nov. 20

Orr vs. Orr—An action for alimony. The parties for years have resided in the village of Madoc. The plaintiff, Mrs. Wm. Orr, gave evidence as to the manner in which she had been treated by her husband, being abused to such an extent as to need medical assistance. Her evidence was corroborated by members of the family and others. The defence offered no evidence. His Lordship gave judgment for the plaintiff, leaving it with the local Master to fix the amount of alimony, and where same is to be paid. Mr. F. E. O'Flynn for plff., Mr. Wm. Cross for deft.

Culbertson vs. McCullough is an action based on an alleged entail in the will of John Culbertson more than fifty years ago. For some reason the entail does not appear to have been acted on recently, and now the heirs are seeking to have it enforced by ejectment against the persons who are in possession of the land in question. This land has in the meantime grown greatly in value, being part of the town of Deseronto. After hearing the argument the Judge reserved his decision. A. R. Walker and E. G. Porter, counsel for plaintiff; Northrop & Roberts for defendant.

Lucas vs. Phillips.—An action for ejectment. Verdict for plaintiff. Messrs. Porter & Farnham for plaintiff; J. E. Hallwell for defendant.

This Makes Us Tired.

After quoting The Intelligencer's remarks about the noisy footballers who were ejected from the opera house last Friday night, the Kingston News says: Poor dead Belleville. It should be fenced in. It does not like to be rudely awakened from its lethargy. When it gets to be the centre of commercial life, it will not become annoyed at the doings of lively young men.

LAST NIGHT'S COUNCIL MEETING.

City Solicitor's Opinion Was Not Handed Down.

A Long Discussion on the Electric Light Matter—Mayor Johnson Reads the Riot Act to Certain People—Executive Will Deal With the Question at a Special Meeting on Friday Night.

It was not hard to see that some fun was expected at last night's Council meeting, for the back benches were full when the proceedings opened. People expected there would be "wigs on the green," and in truth there was a good deal of plain Anglo-Saxon used, which, if there be any truth in an old saying, must have made a certain newspaper proprietor's ears burn.

Those present were: The Mayor, Ald. Doyle, Hanley, Jones, Humerford, Porter, Laroche, Starling, Bogart and Taylor.

After the minutes had been read and confirmed several communications were read. One was from Mr. Binninger, calling attention to a large hole on North Front st., which was dangerous to life and limb.

It will be remembered that the question of the Trenton Electric Company's having forfeited their charter was referred to the City Solicitor on Friday night last, and a communication was received from him last night setting forth that he would like the City to either obtain the opinion of some distinguished legal man or empower him to do so. At any rate he did not wish, as the question was a very intricate one, to personally give an opinion.

Mr. H. P. Knight asked for a granolithic sidewalk in front of his new house on William st., stating that he was prepared to pay his share.

The City Solicitor's opinion re the wall paper transaction was read, as already published.

Ald. Robinson's resignation was read.

A letter was read from Mr. H. Corby, M. P., stating that he was not at all particular about buying the ferry slip if he could not get full rights to it.

An account for $97.50 was received from W. C. Reid, for trees for the park.

Council went into Committee of the Whole on Communications, Ald. Bogart in the chair.

Then the fun began. The Mayor moved that the City Solicitor's request be granted, and that he be authorized to obtain other legal opinion. In this connection His Worship said that he wanted to make some statements, and he proceeded to make some which might fairly be pronounced startling in their character. He had stated on Friday evening that the Trenton Electric Company had forfeited their rights, and he had now to reiterate the statement. Two contracts had been made with the company, both on the same date, one, which dealt with lighting the city, and would endure in a year, he did not object, but to the other he did object. The Mayor read the clause, which said that the company should within one year from date of passage be in a position to furnish light from a certain number of arc and street lamps. They had not fulfilled their obligation, in default of which the contract was null and void. There was a clause which excused them—but it excused them as a going concern. They had never been a going concern, and the excuse did not apply in their case. There was no sentiment in the contract. The men who made it were all of age. The essence of the agreement was that they should be in running order within 12 months. Instead of being ready in 12 months they had waited 3½ years, and now we were in a position and had a right to say "no; the contract has expired,; conditions have changed; the franchise has reverted back to us; we will ask for new contracts, and when we have our tenders you will have an equal chance with the rest. The City had at one time told the Street Railway Company that if they ceased running their cars for twenty-four hours their franchise would revert to the City, and what was the law for one was certainly the law for another. He claimed that the franchise had now reverted back to the City, and it was valuable. We should ask for bids and let the City close with the best bidder. Among people who would tender for the franchise were Mr. Gilmour, of Trenton; Mr. Miller, of Frankford, and probably, also, the Gas Company, of Belleville. The Mayor then asked the courtesy of the members while he spoke on a somewhat personal matter. He knew his duty, he said, and he was not to be turned from it by any man or any newspaper. In 1896 the people of Trenton had taken out an injunction against the company and refused to allow them to take their power to build up a rival city unless they paid their own toll for it. In return for the franchise they had given the town of Trenton the following things—35 arc lights free each night, and, in addition, $2,250 per annum, payable quarterly. The rights of the town of Trenton came first, so we were in the position of a man who held a second mortgage. If anything went wrong they had a right to shut off Belleville and everybody else but the Town of Trenton. If we entered into that contract we would be paying for the lighting of the Town of Trenton, besides paying them $2,250 and the dividends of the stockholders besides. If the franchise was worth that much we should keep it ourselves. He honored Mayor Morrison of Trenton for the way he had stood up and fought this company in defence of the rights of his town. We had no right to question the action of the Council of 1896, but at present we had to face our duty. We would be fools to part with our franchise without getting something for it. The City had $25,000 stock in the Gas Co.—was it not worth while to save that much? Since it had owned the stock the City had received $60,000 from the Gas Co. His Worship then paid his respects to the Ontario, and quoted extracts from an article published on Saturday night last, which he characterized as a lie—i-e, lie, a falsehood of the worst kind. The article stated that he was supposed to own a large amount of stock in the Gas Co., and that he got it for 30 cents on the dollar. The truth of the matter was he owned just $1'000 worth of stock, and he paid dollar for dollar for it. The Ontario had last night published a letter from an anonymous correspondent which contained

BY FRED WHISHAW.

COPYRIGHT 1899 BY THE AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION.

theory was put forward by Percy, "certainly not. Father would never tamely submit to such a thing. Once out of their hands and free to do as he liked, father would soon find means to turn the tables on the rascals, blackmailers or whatever they may be, and it is quite possible, if they exist at all in connection with this affair, that they are blackmailers."

"What would they blackmail your father for?" asked Percy quite indignantly. "He is not at all the man to have a skeleton in the cupboard that he is afraid to show to all the world."

"Quite true," I said, "but there's that precious brother that mother told us of, the nihilist Johnny, who murdered or helped to murder some one. These chaps, if they exist, may have found out all about it and are threatening father with heaven knows what if he does not pay up some huge sum of money. But even this doesn't explain his silence or his mysterious journey to London, either, unless he has gone to raise funds. But he would have let mother know as soon as he was free I am cocksure of it."

"Unless they have driven him out of his senses for the time being," mother sighed.

"No, mother," I said, "I'll tell you what I think. I've come to the conclusion that those Erinofka rascals have nothing whatever to do with it or with us. Their affair was merely a coincidence as regards father and his disappearance. They were there, granted, and they were up to some game which needed secrecy and even murdered a man who divulged their secret, but the dragged man (I conclude he was dragged) or the sick man was not father. We thought we had struck a trail, but it was a false scent."

"God grant it, dear Boria," said mother, "for I cannot bear to think of your father having fallen into such hands. But why have you come to this conclusion?"

"For two reasons—one is that if these fellows had any good reason for bagging father and carrying him away they would not have let him go free as they have done, and the other is that, as I have said, now father is free and we know that he is. If his silence and disappearance and all had been brought about by these people, he would certainly communicate with us. There must be another reason for his flight. These Erinofka fellows had nothing to do with it."

Yet, neither I nor mother nor Percy could put forth any good theory to replace the old one, and the situation remained unchanged and the mystery unsolved. We must await further developments from the other side of the water, and trust to Borofsky's talent and exertions to bring light into our dark places, and this he could only do by restoring poor father to his right mind and persuading him to return to us.

I think I should have set out myself, presently, in order to see father and find out, in person, what ailed him and whether an appeal from me, and in mother's name, would restore him to reason, but a few days later we had a second and a very exciting letter from Borofsky.

"I have met with astonishing success since my last letter," he wrote, "though not without much patience and some personal risk."

"Personal risk!" echoed mother, interrupting me as I read aloud.

"Then those rascals are still hanging about. May God protect dear Vladimir and also this poor Borofsky!"

I, too, had been surprised to see the expression used—"personal risk." I continued to read the letter aloud.

"The count, at our last interview, had suddenly closed the conversation, angrily giving me to understand that he considered my last remark a liberty. He rose from the table, bowed and left the restaurant, I following a minute later. The count returned home. I saw him to his lodgings and I re-entered my own, which were nearly opposite, and wrote and posted my letter.

"That evening later I was surprised to see a cab drive up to the door of the count's lodging. The count himself then came out with his portmanteau, stepped into the vehicle and was driven toward Marylebone church.

"When I had recovered my breath, I seized my hat and rushed after his cab. Luckily I found a hansom at the corner. Jumping breathlessly into it, I bade the driver follow the cab at a respectful distance. So the count suspected me—heaven knows what of—and was endeavoring to escape me. He had nearly done it. What if I had been napping? I should not have had this great news to tell, that's all, and I might have lost touch with his excellence altogether.

"On drove the cab, and on I followed. Right down into Edgeware road it went and across into a street called Harrow road, and here it stopped at a small hotel. I bade my man drive a short distance farther, 100 paces or so, and then I stopped also and jumped out on the pavement, just in time to see the count disappearing with his bag into the hotel. Then I crossed the road and stood nearly opposite the dirty little hotel, pretending to look at shop windows, but keeping a good lookout upon the door within which our good count had disappeared.

"Presently he came out, looked up and down the road and started to walk down Edgeware road and toward Hyde park. It was dark now, except for the gaslight, and I hoped to be able to follow him unobserved, for, I thought, if I had an opportunity I would speak to him where it was quiet in order to bid him not be afraid, since I wished him no harm.

"So I walked after him, he never looking round not once, and so we came into the great park at the end of Edgeware road. The park was gloomy and deserted, and about half way down the middle road he suddenly turned and came toward me. I drew my hat over my eyes and hoped to pass unrecognized, for I was taken by surprise and had nothing ready to say. But, instead of going by me, he seized me roughly by the collar of my coat with his fingers in my neck and muttered through his teeth in Russian: 'Now, then, you little spying skotcena. I have you, you see. You are caught this time, my man!'

"'Let go,' I said, half choking, 'or I'll shout for help!'

"'Not I,' he said, 'there's a nice lake near here, and you're going into it unless you'd prefer this.'

"He showed me a revolver in his other hand.

"'Come, not a sound, now, or I'll shoot; I swear it!'

"He looked so evilly at me that my tongue froze in my mouth, and I could not have cried out if I had wished to.

"'I know you,' he said. 'You are a government spy, and there's only one place such offal is fit for, and that's the lake. Come; stop a moment. Open your mouth—quickly, I say.'

"Half dead with terror, I opened my mouth. He instantly pushed a rolled up handkerchief into it. I tried now to call for help, but could not utter a cry. He was twice my size and strength, and with a neckerchief that he wore he tied me round the face in such a way

AT GRANDMOTHER'S HOME.

A Family Greeting, Led by the Eldest Son of the Family.

Windsor, Nov. 21.—The Emperor and Empress of Germany and their party arrived here at 1.45 p.m. yesterday. They were received by the Prince of Wales, the Duke of Cambridge and the Duke of York, all wearing German uniforms.

The Prince of Wales kissed Emperor William on both cheeks and the Emperor embraced him. The Prince was visibly gratified by the reception accorded to the party, and frequently saluted in response to the cheers of the people.

The Imperial travellers entered the carriages in waiting, the Empress of Germany, Princess Henry of Battenberg, Princess Christian of Schleswig-Holstein, and the Duchess of Albany occupying the first carriage. The Emperor followed with the Prince of Wales, the Duke of York, and the Duke of Connaught. The crowds cheered enthusiastically, and amid more firing of cannon and the strains of the national anthem, the Imperial party was driven to the castle, where they entered by the Queen's private entrance.

Received by the Queen.

Queen Victoria received the Imperial travelers graciously, and, after a few minutes of affectionate salutation, the Emperor, the Prince of Wales, the Duke of Connaught and the Duke of York re-entered the castle quadrangle and inspected the guard. His Majesty then went to the apartments prepared for him and the Empress.

An Afternoon Stroll.

In the course of the afternoon the Emperor went for a stroll in Windsor Park, inspected the Queen's prize cattle and visited the armory. There was a family dinner party at the castle last evening. To-day an elaborate banquet will be given in St. George's Hall.

GERMAN-RUSSIAN TREATY.

An Echo of the Czar's Recent Visit at Potsdam.

Berlin, Nov. 21.—The Reichstag yesterday rejected the anti - strike bill. The Imperial budget estimates are as follows: Balance, 2,058,121,551 marks; recurring expenditure, 1,783,045,498 marks; non-recurring expenditure of ordinary estimates, 195,877,642 marks; of extraordinary estimates, 19,198,411 marks. A special loan bill is appended to the estimates covering the extraordinary expenditure for the army, navy and railroads, and aggregating 76,098,411 marks.

Lines of a Trade Treaty.

While the Czar was at Potsdam recently the general lines of a prospective commercial treaty between Germany and Russia were reached. The whole situation, including the financial crisis in Russia, which is largely due to the numberless industrial enterprises started under the Russian high tariff policy being obliged to curtail their output owing to insufficient coal supplies from the South Russian mines, was thoroughly discussed. When the workshops closed for lack of coal, prices rose enormously, and the Minister of Finance, M. De Witte, therefore arbitrarily fixed the price of railroad material required by the state railroad at about 50 per cent. below the price demanded. As many of these enterprises were started expressly to supply the Siberian Railroad, the result was disastrous. Berlin financial circles regard the crisis as only temporary and are inclined to further Russian financial and industrial expansion on the ground that they will thus be subscribing to their own interests in drawing apart Russia and France and in heightening Russia's power of purchasing German products.

TROUBLE IN COAL MINES.

Four Thousand Day Laborers Struck for More Wages.

Terre Haute, Ind., Nov. 21.—The 4,000 day laborers in the block coal mines in the Eighth District struck yesterday, demanding an advance from $1.75 to $2 per day. The men are under contract to work until April 1, and the operators say the advance will not be granted.

POLITICIANS UNITE ON THE Souvenir Range

It is not often political parties find common ground on which to meet. Their differences are mostly rich in discord. But we have an exception in the case of the celebrated Souvenir Kitchen Range. Laurier and Tupper, Hardy and Whitney, are of one mind on this subject.

"And now Hardy, Tupper, and Laurier too,
Use the Souvenir Range for political stew;
All gases escape through its fine aeration,
And good wholesome food now blesses the nation."

The strong point of the Souvenir stove is its aerated oven, which makes cooking a success under any circumstances; and the good nature of the politician—as well as the cook—is soon restored when a Souvenir stove is installed in the kitchen.

A neat Booklet entitled "Kitchen Wisdom," with illustrations by J. W. Bengough and J. S. Gordon, is yours for the asking, and it tells you a good deal about the Aerated Oven.

THE KAISER WAS TICKLED!

When the Band Played "Oh, Willie, We Have Missed You."

The Emperor of Germany Has Arrived in England, and Was Received at His Grandmother's Home With Kisses—Met at Portsmouth by the Duke of Connaught and a Brilliant Company.

Portsmouth, Eng., Nov. 21.—The German Imperial yacht, Hohenzollern, entered the harbor at 10.05 a.m. yesterday amidst the salutes of the guns of the warships and the forts. The Emperor and Empress and their two sons landed at 10.30, and were welcomed by the Duke of Connaught, who wore the uniform of the German Hussar Regiment, of which he is a honorary colonel, and by various court dignitaries. Emperor William wore the uniform of a British admiral, and the two young princes wore simple sailor-boy suits.

The Duke of Connaught, accompanied by Admiral Seymour, General Sir Baker Russell, a number of gorgeously attired court functionaries, and the members of the German Embassy, boarded the Hohenzollern, and warm greetings were exchanged with the Emperor, Empress, and the princes. The jetty was crowded with privileged spectators, and bunting and German and British flags were displayed everywhere. The bands played German and British national airs.

The Landing.

When the royal special train drew up the Imperial party landed. The Empress was the recipient of a handsome bouquet. The civil authorities were then introduced to the Emperor, who later inspected the troops and sailors forming the guard of honor. Their Majesties and Royal Highnesses took the train for Windsor at 11.30 amid salutes from the warships, bands playing and cheers from the crowds.

The Imperial suite includes Count Von Eulenburg, Count Von Buelow, Gen. Von Plessen, Admiral Von Sendenibran, Gen. Von Schell, Colonel Pritzelwitz, Col. Von Rasch, Count Von Platen, Lord Churchill, Lord-in-Waiting to the Queen, and the Dowager, Lady Churchill.

"Willie, We Have Missed You."

After playing national airs, the Marine Light Infantry band struck up "Oh, Willie, We Have Missed You." This seemed to please the Emperor greatly, and he shook hands with Lieut. Miller, who was in charge of the band.

The Company owns over twelve thousand acres of rich copper land in Texas, opened, tested, developed and NOW BEING OPERATED. Millions of tons of copper bearing clay and marl running from five to ten per cent., and large quantities of ore carrying from fifty to seventy per cent. copper in sight. Cheaply mined and treated, favorable climate, cheap fuel, and ample water. Stated by geologists, chemists, experts and engineers to be one of the greatest and best in the world. Amount of land, quantity and quality of ore, cheapness of mining and treatment, the increasing demand and profit in producing copper considered, the Boston and Texas Copper Company possesses unequalled advantages and affords the best kind of an investment.

This Company can produce copper as cheaply as any in the world.

COPPER MINING IS THE SAFEST AND MOST PROFITABLE OF ALL INDUSTRIES.

Calumet and Hecla ore averages 4 1-2 per cent. copper. It has paid $62,850,000 dividends

A party of New England capitalists who have just returned from an examination of the mines in conjunction with one of the ablest mining engineers in the country, report the property to be one of the largest and best in America, and to contain inexhaustible quantities of rich copper deposits.

It is estimated that the plant now being arranged for will produce $3,000 to $5,000 per day, NET.

Prospectus, engineers' reports, assays and full information will be furnished on application. Remit by check, P. O. order, draft or registered letter to Treasurer.

At Death s Door—Dyspepsia Conquered. A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser an others told me I ould not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

Pain.

Quesnel says: "We rarely confess that we deserve what we suffer." Yet most pain and sickness is the result of neglect or indiscretion. If you would be healthful, keep your system in order by the daily use of Abbey's Effervescent Salt. It cures indigestion and its many kindred ills.

AN INSURGENT REVIVAL.

A Brush Near Imus—Filipinos Fired and Skipped Out.

Manila, Nov. 21.—There has been a revival of insurgent activity south of Manila, particularly in Cavite Province. At Imus yesterday the Filipinos fired a smooth bore cannon, but this was soon silenced by the American artillery. In the course of the morning Major Cowles, with a battalion of the 4th Infantry and two guns, scattered the enemy from the districts around Imus and in the direction of Perez das Marinas. The Americans could not pursue the retreating insurgents, because their ammunition was exhausted. The Filipinos were under the command of General Mariano Trias. Spies report that the insurgents are coming into Cavite Province from Calamba, in Laguna Province, and the other southerly provinces. The insurgents have smooth bores and two modern cannon. Firing was in progress during the afternoon, and it is reported that there are more insurgents in the vicinity of Imus than ever before.

SEVEN AMERICANS WOUNDED.

A Force Sent Out From Imus and Bacoor Met With a Reverse.

Manila, Nov. 21.—Two columns, one from Imus, and the other from Bacoor, converged on the Seapote bridge, where they found a deserted Filipino camp.

Two troops of the 4th Cavalry, four companies of the 4th Infantry and two guns of Capt. Riley's battery proceeded to Annaboo, south of Imus, and came upon the enemy entrenched at that point. They scattered the Filipinos, bue, as the latter were subsequently reinforced, the Americans returned to Imus under fire, seven of our men being wounded. Our scouts found 15 dead insurgents at Annaboo.

Madrid, Nov. 21.—An official despatch from Manila says that 800 Spanish prisoners have been sent to the Province of Panay, and that the Americans have consented that a vessel with food and clothing shall be sent to get them.

AGRICULTURAL UNION.

As the college was established in 1874, the quarter-century anniversary of the institution will be celebrated in a special way at the time of the union meeting.

A good opportunity will be afforded those in attendance at the union meeting to visit the Guelph Fat Stock Show, which is to be held on the 6th, 7th and 8th of December.

RAILROAD'S RIGHT OF WAY.

A Decision Adverse to the Claims of the Northern Pacific.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 21.—Judge Prather, on Saturday rendered an oral decision at Spokane against the Northern Pacific, of a claim to 200 feet on each side of the track as its permanent right of way. The case involves millions of dollars. The claim of the company rests on the contention that, once granted 200 feet on each side of its track through the public domain as right of way, no part of this property may ever be taken up. The decision of the court is that except for a strip of land actually needed for the railroad's right of way, the public can acquire full title to the remainder by adverse possession. The railroad company will appeal.

WENT OVER THE FALLS.

Stranger Drove to Prospect Point and Walked Into the Rapids.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., Nov. 21.—A middle-aged, well-dressed man engaged a hack here yesterday afternoon and was driven to Prospect Point, overlooking the Falls. Arriving there he brushed past a number of people and deliberately walked into the rapids, passing over the Falls almost immediately. There is no clue to his identity.

CASTRO HAS A FOOTING NOW.

The Revolutionary Government Recognized by Uncle Sam.

Caracas, Venezuela, Nov. 21.—The United States Government has officially recognized the de facto Government headed by General Cipriano Castro, the victorious revolutionary leader.

Robbed on His Way Home.

Forest, Ont., Nov. 21.—Mr. James Stubbs of the Port Frank celery farm was in town on Saturday disposing of a load of celery, and on his way home after night was held up by two masked men near the Jura school house, Bosanquet, and relieved of fifteen dollars and then allowed to proceed on his way. There is no trace of the highwaymen.

GEN. JOUBERT MOVES SOUTH.

Will Prevent a Junction of British Forces If He Can.

All Quiet at Ladysmith, Where It Is Believed the Number of the Enemy Investing the Town Is Only Small—Boer Casualties Confirmed—British Are to Invest in Three Columns—Starving Boers Foraging for Food.

London, Nov. 21.—(5 a.m.)—The reports of the heavy fighting at Ladysmith last Wednesday have not been confirmed. On the contrary the most reliable advices from Estcourt indicate that there was nothing more than a desultory cannonade. Probably the rumor of a serious engagement grew out of the fact that the Boers threw a few harmless shells late Tuesday night, leading to the supposition than an attack was imminent. Nothing, however, happened Wednesday.

Beyond the fact that the Boers are daily receiving fresh reinforcements and supplies, there is practically nothing new from the front.

Boer Invasion Continues.

The Boer invasion of Cape Colony continues steadily and rapidly. There are 1300 Boers at Colesburg, and news has reached East London that Lady Grey, near Aliwal North has been deserted by the British and is now in the hands of the enemy.

British Prisoners at Pretoria.

A Pretoria despatch announces the arrival there among the British prisoners of Major Haldane, Lieut. Brockie and Lieut. Railway. It also declares that the British on Sunday made two unsuccessful attempts to oust the Rustenburg commando from a position near Mafeking, and that severe fighting took place.

From Delagoa Bay come reports of the arrival of more German officers and artillerymen, who have volunteered to serve with the Transvaal forces.

More Troops Ordered From India.

The War Office semi-officially asserts that all news received from Africa has been published, with the exception of demands for the renewal of stores, war material and the like. There is an unconfirmed rumor that more troops have been ordered from India to the Cape.

The Operations on Both Sides.

The plan of operations on both sides is slowly unfolding itself. Gen. Joubert is evidently moving south to prevent, if possible, the junction of the British relieving force with the forces at Estcourt and Ladysmith, while on the Orange River border the Boers are believed to be concentrating at Donkerpoort to oppose Gen. Buller's advances. It is said that 6000 Boers have already laagered at Donkerpoort.

A Three-Fold Advance.

The English plan seems to be a three-fold advance—from Durban to Ladysmith, from Orange River to Kimberley and from East London by way of Queenstown to Burghersdorp. Gen. Buller has wired the commanding officer at Queenstown announcing the despatch of Gen. Gatacre, with the 1st Battalion of the Seventh Brigade to East London. This was the place from which it was originally intended that Gen. Gatacre's column should start. Thus, it is possible that Gen. Buller's first plans have suffered less modification than some have supposed.

Gen. Gatacre will be able to keep the Boers on the Orange border sufficiently occupied to preserve Gen. Methuen from undue molestation, especially if rumors from various sources are well founded, that describe the Free State burghers as in no wise enthusiastic for fighting.

Buller's Headquarters.

It has been reported that Gen. Buller will take up his quarters at De Aar. This seems doubtful. De Aar, where a vast amount of stores has been collected, is the base for Gen. Methuen's advances, and Gen. Buller may have been there for a day or so. It is believed, however, that he still has his headquarters at Cape Town.

Although Kimberley is supposed to be the objective of General Methuen, many military critics are of the opinion that his advance will be not toward Kimberley but across the Orange Free State, in order to secure complete command of the Orange River.

Debarkation of Troops.

The debarkation of troops at Cape Town is proceeding in the most satisfactory manner. One thousand eight hundred and fifty railway carriages have been collected here for the conveyance of troops northward, and there is talk of suspending the suburban traffic so as to accelerate military work.

JOUBERT CHANGES.

Goes South From Ladysmith to Prevent the Junction of the British Forces.

London, Nov. 21.—The Standard publishes the following from Ladysmith, dated Sunday, Nov. 19: "The arrival of the relief column at Estcourt has completely modified the plans of the enemy, and Gen. Joubert has moved to the south in an effort to prevent the junction of the two British forces."

To Meet Methuen's Forces.

Hope Town, Cape Colony, Nov. 16.—Yesterday the Boers occupied Camp Bell in West Griqualand.

Latest From Ladysmith.

Ladysmith, Thursday, Nov. 16.—(By runner to Estcourt.)—All well here, with nothing important to report. We are amply supplied with ammunition and confident of our ability to hold out. Information from outside is very scarce, but it is believed here that the Boers now investing the town are only a small force. The heavy weather continues and the rain is hampering the Boer operations severely.

6,000 BOERS ARE STARVING.

They Are Now Busy Foraging Toward Greytown.

Pietermaritzburg, Nov. 20.—A party of British heliographers, cut off by the Boers outside Estcourt, contrived to escape to New Hanover, on the Grey Town line, and arrived here to-day. They report that 6000 Boers, driven by starvation, are foraging toward Grey Town. No alarm is felt, but it may require a division of the relieving column to annihilate them.

HEAVY FIGHTING AT LADYSMITH.

On Nov. 9, 15 and 16 Boers Met With Great Losses.

London, Nov. 20.—A special from Estcourt, dated Nov. 20, says a report has reached there of a battle at Ladysmith Wednesday, Nov. 15, lasting from daybreak until 2 in the afternoon. Many Boers are said to have been killed, and many are reported to have been taken prisoners.

The British losses are reported to be much less.

Another battle is said to have occurred Thursday. It is described as the heaviest yet fought. The Boer dead number hundreds, while the British losses were comparatively small.

300 Killed, 500 Captured.

Estcourt, Nov. 20.—A despatch from Ladysmith tells of brilliant British victories with comparatively slight loss on our side, and heavy slaughter of the enemy. Ladysmith is full of wounded and captured Boers. It is reported that in the fighting on Nov. 9 the enemy lost 300 killed and 500 in captured.

Ville Marie Bank Trials.

Montreal, Nov. 21.—The Ville Marie Bank trials began here yesterday. A mixed jury was chosen. Solicitor-General Fitzpatrick appeared for the Crown, while Mr. William Weir and his associates are being defended by Mr. Donald MacMaster, Q.C.

When the children are hungry, what do you give them? Food.

When thirsty? Water.

Now use the same good common sense, and what would you give them when they are too thin? The best fat-forming food, of course. Somehow you think of Scott's Emulsion at once.

For a quarter of a century it has been making thin children, plump; weak children, strong; sick children, healthy.

THE LIGHT THAT SAVES.

One dark night during the siege of Santiago Harbor a Spanish Torpedo boat darted out under cover of darkness to launch its deadly missile against an American war vessel. If she had been struck she would have gone to the bottom. What saved her? Was it her big 13-inch guns? No, it was her search-light: the dazzling white beam of light that shot straight out like a sword-thrust through the darkness, revealed the approaching danger.

What is it that saves thousands of men from death every day in the year when the deadly foe of disease is creeping unsuspected upon them? It is the white light of science; the educated understanding that reveals the source of danger and indicates the exact point of attack.

While the ordinary doctor gropes around, with the feeble tallow-candle light of stereotyped, conventional, routine treatment, a physician like Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., instantly illuminates the subject with the clear day-light ray of practical knowledge; the irresistible search-light of advanced and life-sustaining science.

"I was afflicted for four years," says John F. Zingsheim, Esq., of No. 9 Lark St., Amsterdam, N. Y., in an earnest letter to Dr. Pierce. "My suffering was extreme and the trouble gradually increased notwithstanding the fact that I tried many different kinds of treatment. After becoming physically incapacitated and unable to work at all, and after much hesitation, I wrote you. I am very happy to state that your advice has done me great good. You advised Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and also his 'Pleasant Pellets.' I must here state that they have cured me. I wish to thank you most heartily for what you did for me. All suffering has vanished and I have gained about twenty five pounds in weight. I used only one bottle of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and one vial of the 'Pellets.'"

Do not hesitate to write to Dr. Pierce. He will send confidential advice absolutely free. Send 31 one-cent stamps to cover cost of customs and mailing only, for paper-covered copy of the Common Sense Medical Adviser. Cloth-binding 50 stamps Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

BOERS MAY FALL BACK.

Transvaal Government Shipping Supplies to Pietermaritzburg.

Cape Town, Nov. 20.—It is believed here that the Boers, after losing a decisive battle in Natal, will abandon the invasion and flee with all haste to the Zoutpansberg region, northeast of Pretoria, whence, owing to the rocky, wooded and almost inaccessible nature of the passes, it will be extremely difficult to dislodge them. Information has been received here confirming this view. It is learned that the Transvaal Government is transporting vast stores of provisions and ammunition to the Pietersburg district. Pietersburg, 200 miles northeast of Pretoria, is the northern terminus of the Pretoria & Pietersburg Railway.

WAS IT YANKEE BEEF?

"Embalmed Beef" Alleged to Have Been Relabeled and Sold to the British Admiralty.

London, Nov. 21.—The Daily Chronicle, in its "war diary," says this mornig: "Hitherto we have hesitated to speak of the quality of the tinned meats supplied to our troops, much of which has had to be thrown overboard; but we have made enquiries in quarters not likely to be influenced by mere rumor, and we find there are suspicions that some of the meats suppl'ed to the Government for use on British transports was meat which had been rejected by the United States during the hostilities in Cuba, where it was picturesquely known as "embalmed beef," and re-labeled with the mark of the current year. Whatever blunder there may have been must be laid not at the door of the War Office but at the door of the Admiralty, which has undertaken to feed the troops. Not a single complaint has come to hand regarding the quality of the War Office stores."

The Estcourt Enemy Located.

Escourt, Natal, Nov. 20.—(4.45 p.m.)—Major Bethuen's patrols have located the enemy on the northwest, about 10 miles off. The Boers would not be drawn.

Fighting is reported at the Mool River.

The Boers are doing more looting than fighting, and all their parties south of Ladysmith are foraging on the farms.

The Boers are trying hard to influence and conciliate the Natal Kaffirs.

Basutos Will Be Quiet.

Maseru, Monday, Nov. 13.—Since the interview between Sir Godfrey Lagden, British Resident Commissioner in Basutoland, and the Basuto chiefs, the natives are more quiet. Chief Joel's attitude is due to intrigues of Field Cornet Raumenbach.

Sir Godfrey Lagden and Chief Lerothodi are in perfect agreement as to the importance of quietly defeating Field Cornet Raumenbach's intrigues.

Chocolate for Her Brave Boys.

IS THIS ANOTHER MURDER?

George Howeson Arrested at Norman on Such a Charge.

Rat Portage, Nov. 21.—A man named George Howeson, or Houston, a tailor, was arrested at Norman Sunday evening on a charge of murdering John Quinn, merchant tailor, with whom he had been lately employed in Norman. Quinn and Howeson came to Rat Portage on Friday evening, and were around town together until they left for home. They were seen by Conductor Kay at the same place, a short distance west of the Main-street crossing soon after, and they were apparently quarrelling at the time, and that was the last seen of Quinn and Howeson cannot account for his disappearance. The prisoner has told several different stories as to where he left Quinn, and it was this fact that led to his arrest.

A Big Warship Launched.

Glasgow, Nov. 21.—The Sutlej, the first of the four new armored cruisers of the Cressy class now building for the British Government was launched at the Clydebank yards of John Brown & Co. Saturday. The Sutlej is a vessel of 12,000 tons displacement. Its engines, fed by 30 Belleville boilers, are from the works of the Clydebank Company and are capable of developing 21,000 indicated horse-power. The armor belt is of six-inch Krupp steel and the vessel will carry two 8.2-inch, twelve 6-inch and seventeen smaller quick-firing guns.

The Robsons Were Drowned.

St. Thomas, Ont., Nov. 21. — It turns out that the fears of the loss of Capt. Ralph Robson and his brother, John, from the wreck of the schooner Maple Leaf, as reported Sunday, were but too well grounded. The two men were drowned, and the two surviving members of the crew, David Adams, and J. A. McIntosh, had a terrible experience. The storm struck them some twenty-five miles north of Cleveland on Friday night. Captain Robson was engaged to be married on Wednesday to Miss Clara Foster of Leamington.

Bouquet to Mr. Latchford.

Ottawa, Nov. 21.—At a meeting of Ottawa citizens last night it was decided to give a banquet to Hon. Frank Latchford. It is to be of a non-partisan character. P. D. Ross of the Evening Journal was selected to preside. The banquet will take place at the Russell House on Dec. 12.

Jane O'Reilly at the Assizes yesterday was awarded $23 damages against Patrick Hickey for breach of promise.

Serious Floods in Greece.

Athens, Nov. 21.—The lower parts of Athens and Piraeus, the port of Athens, were flooded, as the result of the heavy rains yesterday and last night. Several Houses have fallen, and furniture, goods and cattle have been swept away. There has been some loss of life, and railway communication is interrupted.

WHY ARE CANADIANS LEFT.

Officers Want to Go to War But Applications Are "Queered."

Imperial Government Has Given Permission for Sixteen to Go to the Front for Educational Purposes, but for Some Reason Canada Fails to Take Advantage of the Chance—Major Dobell.

Montreal, Nov. 21.—A Star special cable from London says:

The War Office and the Colonial Office are being besieged with applications from colonists, including Canadians, some of whom have come specially to England, from Canada, asking for opportunity to serve in South Africa.

The invariable official reply is that, recognizing the importance of officers of the colonial forces acquiring experience in the field, the Imperial Government has given permission for two additional officers to accompany each colonial unit of 125 for instructional purposes. This gives Canada 16 extra officers.

The other colonies have sent their officers. Canada alone, so I learn officially, has failed to take advantage of this splendid educational opportunity. Why, nobody here can understand.

Major Drummond, Lord Minto's military secretary, is the only one from Canada, and he is not, of course, a Canadian. To the surprise of officials here, General Hutton last week cabled to one Canadian applicant here that there was no appointment available.

Supplies From Canada.

Halifax, Nov. 21.—Negotiations are being conducted which will probably result in a number of steamers leaving here for Cape Town with supplies. Overtures have been made to owners of steamships and in one case, that of the Tiber, the offer is said to have been accepted.

$10,000 Will Be Subscribed.

St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 21.—A public meeting was held here yesterday to promote subscriptions to the British South African war fund. It is expected that $10,000 will be subscribed. Addresses were delivered by Governor McCallum, Bishop Jones and Bishop Howley.

MAJOR DOBELL CAN'T GO.

War Office Declines to Allow Him to Leave Hongkong.

Ottawa, Nov. 21.—The War Office has refused to sanction the appointment of Major Dobell, son of Hon. R. R. Dobell, as a special service officer attached to the Canadian contingent for South Africa. Major Dobell is with his regiment in Hongkong.

Nothing is known here of the statement that the battalion of the Royal Canadian Regiment now en route to South Africa will not be sent to the front and the militia authorities discredit it. Such a matter would rest with General Buller, and it is thought no decision will be made until he has seen the men comprising the contingent.

FOR WIDOWS AND ORPHANS.

American Citizens of British Nativity Cable $1,000 to London.

Spokane, Wash., Nov. 21.—At an enthusiastic meeting of American citizens born on British soil, held in the rotunda of the Hotel Spokane last night, $1,000 was subscribed to the Mansion House fund for the widows and orphans of British soldiers killed in the Transvaal war, and that sum was cabled across the Atlantic. The gathering was marked by the recitation of the "Charge of the Light Brigade," and the hearty singing of "God Save the Queen" and the "Maple Leaf."

The meeting resulted in the formation of a permanent British Benevolent Association.

BRYAN WILL BE THE MAN.

Silver, Imperialism and Trusts Will Be the Main Issues.

Chicago, Nov. 21.—The Democratic national campaign for 1900 was practically inaugurated yesterday, when the members of the National Democratic Executive Committee met in secret session at the Sherman House.

Senator Jones, the chairman, voiced the sentiments of all the committeemen present when he said that silver, imperialism and trusts would be the main issues, and that Bryan, without any doubt, would be the nominee. Senator Jones would not discuss the relative importance of the three future planks, saying that this depended entirely upon the section of the country in which the matter was up for discussion.

Broke His Neck By a Fall.

Toronto, Nov. 21.—The new residence in course of construction for Mrs. E. A. Massey was the scene yesterday morning of a fatal accident. Timothy Martin and William Mason, builders' laborers, were standing on a scaffold, when one of the supports gave way and they fell to the ground, a distance of 25 feet. Martin alighted on his head on a plank, which covered a drain, directly under where he was working. His neck was broken, death being instantaneous. Mason alighted on a heap of earth, and escaped with a severe shaking up.

Toronto, Nov. 21.—Jack McCormick arrived here yesterday from Philadelphia to finish up training for Saturday night's international contest with Joe Goddard of Australia. Goddard is still a slight favorite among the betting fraternity.

The Porte's Queer Demand.

Constantinople, Nov. 21—The Porte has addressed notes to the powers re-demanding the suppression of the foreign post-offices in Turkey. It is not believed the demand will be acceded to.

Death of Lady Salisbury.

London, Nov. 21.—Lady Salisbury, wife of the Premier, who suffered a second stroke of paralysis in July last, died yesterday. She was a daughter of the late Hon. Sir Ed. Hall Anderson, a baron of the Court of Exchequer, and was married to the Marquis of Salisbury in 1857.

England Regrets His Death.

London, Nov. 21.—The death of Sir William Dawson has caused a widespread feeling of regret among British scientists. The Times says that by Sir William Dawson's death Canada loses a distinguished geologist and naturalist.

NEW YORK MILLIONAIRES

Only a few people reading advertisements of bankers and brokers, saying that money could be made through speculation, realize that the richest men in America have commenced life in a humble way and have made their fortune through stock-exchange speculations.

Men like Jay Gould, who worked as a dry goods clerk in a small town at $10.00 a week up to his twentieth year, and commenced to operate with his small saving of $200.00 in Wall Street, left at his death 70 millions of dollars; Russell Sage, who worked as a grocery boy at $1.00 per week, and whose present wealth is estimated at 100 millions of dollars, is still operating the market, although 80 years of age, and so are thousands of others, who are enjoying all the luxuries life can offer, which is due to their success in speculation.

To the shrewd speculator the same opportunities are open to-day as to others in the past. The smallest lot which can be bought and sold is ten shares on 3% margin, making 30 dollars.

Anybody interested as to how speculations are conducted can get information and market letter free of charge upon application by letter to,

LAST NIGHT'S COUNCIL MEETING.

many falsehoods, but they had not published a letter from Mr. John Bell, Q. C., which contained the truth. He did not know who the anonymous liar was—

Ald Jones—"Some Coward."

Continuing the Mayor said he had shut the Ontario off from attacking him ten years ago by means of a letter—here His Worship waved a letter in his hand. "This," he said, "is a copy of a letter I wrote to Mr. T. S. Carman ten years ago. I will give ten dollars to the Hospital if he will give me permission to have it printed in THE INTELLIGENCER and Sun; I will give $10 more if he will publish it in the Ontario." The Mayor then referred to the interview with Mr. Pearson which had appeared in THE INTELLIGENCER on Saturday night and claimed that some of the statements were misleading. The Mayor went on to say that the City had taken over the Waterworks—why could they not run their own lighting plant. After many arguments to show the soundness of his position, the Mayor contended that the franchise was now in the hands of the City Council. It was their duty as citizens to see that they got the most they could for it. He wished everybody to understand that he would defend the rights of the citizens, whether he pleased anybody or not.

Ald. Bogart thought the case was a plain one. He was not afraid to state his position in the matter, but the case had been referred to the City Solicitor for his opinion and until we knew where we stood we could do nothing. It all, in his judgment, depended on the legal opinion.

Ald. Hanley said the Solicitor was evidently at sea. He did not think, from the experiences we had had in the past, that the Council should rush into a law suit. He would move an amendment to the Mayor's motion that the matter be referred to the Executive Committee, to see if they could not have a conference with Mr. Pearson and come to some arrangement. He thought we should deal with the Company fairly. They had been to a good deal of expense, and it was a peculiar thing that nothing had been said about trespassing when they were putting down their poles on the west side of the river.

Ald. Panter said he was a member of the Council in 1896 when this matter was dealt with. The City at that time thought they were bettering themselves, and the Council had entered into the agreement in good faith. They had thought then that, though they might lose the Gas stock, the advantages accruing from cheaper light would more than offset it.

Ald. Starling agreed with Ald. Hanley and thought the Executive should deal with the matter.

Ald. Bogart was strongly in favor of cheaper light, and thought the $25,000 Gas stock which the City owned should not stand in the way of our getting it. But in the face of the City Solicitor's letter he thought we could do nothing.

Ald. Hungerford said he was a member of the Council which passed the by-law. It was closely watched. Everything possible was done in the interests of the City. He agreed with Ald. Hanley and Starling, and thought the Executive should meet and confer with Mr. Pearson. The Company had entered into the agreement in good faith, and he thought they had done their best. If they had thought they had forfeited their franchise they would not have gone on spending money putting up poles. It was not a pleasant task to talk against the interests of the Gas Company, some of the stock in which was owned by widows and orphans, but he hoped they could make better arrangements, and they were in duty bound to fulfil their contracts.

Ald. Doyle said he was also a member of the Council when the contract was made. Every clause was fought hard. There was no gainsaying the fact that everybody was complaining about expensive light. The rate had been raised—very curiously. We had a grievance—we were paying too much for our light. He would like to see the Executive meet Mr. Pearson and reach an agreement. Of course Mr. Pearson had spent a lot of money, but our duty was to the citizens of Belleville.

The Mayor said that every word which had been said by the various aldermen bore him out in his contention, and if he had not taken the steps he did last Friday night nothing would have been done. He wished to say that Ald. Hanley's statement was not fair. So far as the poles not being objected to on the west side of the river, he would say that he did not know that the poles were being put up till he saw one being put up after dark on Campbell st.

Mr. M. M. Thompson here interjected a statement that the pole on Campbell st. was not put in after dark.

The Mayor said he saw it being done.

Mr. Thompson—"No, you didn't."

The Mayor spoke sharply to Mr. Thompson about the impropriety of interrupting him in the Council Chamber. Continuing, he said the first he knew of the poles being put in was when he saw them on Campbell st., and when the company went to Bridge st. he wrote the letter.

Ald. Hanley did not think it would be fair to take advantage of the company on a technicality.

Ald. Jones agreed with Ald. Hanley, and thought we should try to settle the matter ourselves if we could. He thought the Executive should meet Mr. Pearson and come to some arrangement if we could.

Mr. Pearson, who was in the auditorium, in answer to a question, stated that he would be pleased to confer with the Executive at any time.

Mr. M. M. Thompson here asked leave to make a statement, and his request was granted. He explained that his contradiction of the Mayor occurred through a misunderstanding. As manager of the Gas Company he purchased nothing but the best materials, and, in general, did the best he could for everybody.

Ald. Taylor thought the Mayor was right in his objection.

After some further discussion the Mayor's motion, that the City Solicitor's request be granted, was read, and then Ald. Hanley's amendment, that the Executive meet Mr. Pearson on Friday night next, to try and come to an amicable arrangement with him.

Some discussion ensued and then the question on the amendment was put and it carried, the vote standing:

YEAS.—Ald. Hanley, Starling, Hungerford, LaRoche, Jones, Doyle and Panter.

Nays.—The Mayor and Ald. Taylor.

Ald. Panter then moved that the City Solicitor be requested to be at the meeting next Friday night and be ready to give his opinion in the matter if it was asked for.—Carried.

Mr. H. P. Knight's request for a sidewalk was granted.

Mr. H. Corby's communication was received and no further action was taken.

It was decided to have heating appliances put in the City Hall, and the contract was awarded to Messrs. Lewis & Co. for $200.

Ald Robinson's resignation was accepted.

The various accounts of the different Committees were passed.

The Committee rose and reported.

INTRODUCTION OF BY LAW.

On motion of Ald. Doyle the rules were suspended to allow of the reading of the by-law concerning the bonus to the Rolling Mills.

Council went into Committee of the Whole on By-laws, Ald. Hungerford in the chair.

The by-law was read clause by clause and agreed to, read a second and third time, passed and numbered 936.

Some discussion took place about the opening up of George st., and it was arranged that the Committee appointed to take steps in the matter—the Mayor, Ald. Doyle and Ald. Starling—should meet the parties interested and report on Friday night next.

Council adjourned.

Mr. Bell's Letter.

THE INTELLIGENCER has been requested to publish the following letter, which was sent yesterday to the Ontario, but failed to find a place in its columns:

To the Editor of The Daily Ontario, Belleville.

SIR,—In your issue of Saturday last, under the heading of "Opposing Civic Progress," you state as follows: "We understand that he (that is the Mayor) and Mr. John Bell have more stock in the Gas Company than any two other people. We believe that they bought the stock at thirty cents on the dollar and at the price the company charges for the gas they are able to receive four per cent. dividend and leave a handsome amount to their credit for their own use."

I am sorry to say that your statement, so far as saying that I am one of the largest stockholders in the Gas Company, is correct, but your statement that I got the stock for thirty cents on the dollar is simply untrue. I took the larger portion of the stock that I hold to assist the Gas Company in improving their appliances and in extensions of the gas mains to the Institute and also to the station. For the money given for those purposes I received stock at par, and with regard to any other stock that I hold in the Gas Company I paid one hundred cents on the dollar for all of it.

Yours, etc.,
JOHN BELL.

IMPORTANT STATEMENT FROM A POSTMASTER

Paine's Celery Compound Saved His Life Years Ago.

HAS NOT BEEN ILL A SINGLE DAY SINCE HE WAS CURED.

If there are doubters who in the past have questioned the efficacy of Paine's Celery Compound in saving life, they must, after carefully reading Mr. Kilbride's second letter, come to the conclusion that the great medicine is worthy of closer thought and attention than they were disposed to give it weeks or months ago.

Mr. P. J. Kilbride, postmaster of Inverness, P E.I., is no idle theorist or speculator, neither has his important testimony been unduly obtained. This second letter, vouching for a permanent and lasting cure, is allowed to be made public for the advantage and weal of thousands of sufferers who are anxiously looking for new life and freedom from the power of disease. Mr. Kilbride says:

"Nearly six years ago Paine's Celery Compound cured me—in fact, saved my life. At this time I am still feeling well and have not been ill a single day since I used your famous Compound. I truly owe my present health and strength to Paine's Celery Compound; it saved me from insanity and the grave. I shall never forget the awful state I was in before I used your grand life restorer. Now I can sleep and eat well, for which I thank God and your wondrous curing medicine. I have answered over two hundred and fifty letters written to me by other sufferers after my first testimonial letter was published. These letters have come from all parts of Canada and the United States."

A Popularity That Increases With Mighty Strides.

Diamond Dyes First in All Points That Make Perfection.

Notwithstanding the fact that imitation and crude package dyes and soap-grease dyes are before the public seeking recognition, the fame and popularity of the Diamond Dyes increases with mighty strides.

Those who have the misfortune to try any of the inferior dyes sold by some dealers know well how deceptive they prove. The users are utterly disheartened and disappointed. Their work with these common dyes show muddy and dull colors, and anger is kindled because valuable garments and materials are spoiled.

The Diamond Dyes, simple and easy to use, have a standard of excellence that no others can approach. They give true, uniform and honest results when used in the mansion or cottage. Bright, clear and brilliant colors are always obtained on all kinds of goods—all wool, all cotton or mixed goods—when the plain directions are followed.

Do not be deceived by any dealer when he offers you something just as good as the Diamond Dyes. There are no other dyes in the world that can equal the "Diamond;" no others that can so successfully make old things new.

A FIGHT FOR LIBERTY.

Rev. Dr. Black of Toronto Says British Success Means Liberty.

At St. Andrew's Church, Toronto, Rev. Dr. Armstrong Black, the recently-inducted pastor, preached a powerful sermon to the 48th Regiment.

Dr. Black spoke from Ephesians, vi., 10 to 20, especially the clause in the 12th verse: "For we wrestle not against flesh and blood." Dr. Black referred to the writer, who was then a poor decrepit harmless-looking man, but who had been a great soldier. They were then in the garb of war in an hour of peace. It was hard to realize that the sound of war was in the air, but they all had great battles to fight in their own natures; battles for which the stake was their eternal happiness.

Referring to the Transvaal trouble, he said the nation of which they formed a part might have made mistakes in striking when they should not, and in withholding when she should have struck, but it could truly be said that her flag never fluttered in the war breeze unless liberty was at stake. Britain's rule had ever been a most beneficient one, and no reasonable man could deny that it would be a good time for all if British rule prevailed in the Transvaal. No government at the head of which was such a peace-loving Queen would ask what was selfish or unjust of any nation, nor demand what could be attained by peaceful measures. He believed God had seen some great wrong that had to be righted which was worth the price of blood. There was no cure for some national evils other than war, and that was why he prayed for the success of British arms. There would surely come a time when he who had no sword should sell his garment and buy one. At the present time, with all nations armed as they were, and with interests so interwoven, who knew how great a fire any spark might kindle? They must have soldiers and patriots at heart; might their efforts be inspired by unselfishness, and in the hour of victory might they be conspicuous in humility.

Milking Whales For Consumptives.

In London some years ago ...

tention was attracted by a huge sign on the opposite side of the street, and also by the number of people flocking into the building. The sign read as follows: "Whaloid, Infallible Cure for Consumption. Dispensary hours, 8 to 10 a.m., 3 to 5 p.m."

Entering the building I was at a loss what to make of the matter, as all I could see was the crowd and a large tank in the centre of the room. This tank was some seventy feet long, thirty feet wide, and as I learned afterward, about thirty feet deep having been constructed at great expense. While waiting patiently for developments I found that the liquid was being lowered or let out by some means. Soon a smooth black surface appeared to view, and as the water continued to recede I became aware that a captive whale was on exhibition. Surprised at not having to pay any admission fee, I was soon made aware of the reason. A framework had been constructed on which the animal rested, and soon an expert milkman was engaged in extracting whaloid, or whale's milk, which was greedily absorbed at five shillings per glass. This plan seems to be identical with that of the milkmen in Naples, who lead a cow to the door and deliver the fluid in the presence of the consumer, so that the latter can be satisfied that no illegal dilution is indulged in. I had hardly recovered from my surprise at this unique method of getting nature's own emulsion when I was to encounter a severer shock. Joining the throng who were drifting further down the street I went to Southampton Row. The place of attraction was a smaller building, also labelled in a mysterious manner: "Codloids. Authorized agency protected by letters patent. Supplied to subscribers only. Specific for rheumatism and consumption."

Now what do you suppose codloids proved to be? Why, eggs of the codfish, and wonderfully large ones too. They were retailed at two shillings per egg, and eaten raw with a little sodium chloride, which in plain English means salt.

A long step ahead in quality —yet never ahead in price.

The subject to-day is Overcoats.

Naturally, with so many handsome lines, we are anxious to introduce you to our elegant garments—anxious to again demonstrate the superiority of the "Quick & Robertson quality"—anxious to show you that selections from our fashionable, new Overcoats are not priced higher than garments of unknowable age and uncertain quality are marked elsewhere.

Overcoats for Gentlemen, $4 to $14.

Covering a wider range of fabrics than we've ever shown before, beginning with the staple lines at $4, passing up the finer goods to $14, through full lines of Kerseys, Irish Frieze, Meltons, Cheviots, Beavers, Vicunas and the new Llama Wool. Colors of Oxford Grey, Iron Grey, Soft Dark Grey, Black, Blue and Brown.

At $10 we show a beautiful All-wool English Beaver Overcoat with Silk Velvet Collar and stitched with silk throughout, best of linings and interlinings, and that graceful fit for which our garments are so well known.

Overcoats are cut a trifle longer this year, with plump fullness of body, roomy sleeves, shapely shoulders, and velvet collars not quite as wide as last year.

Fall Top Coats—full lines—$5 to $10.

For Young Gentlemen, 16 to 19 years—An equally large assortment of ultra fashionable Overcoats, with prices $5, $6, $8 to $12 50.

These comprise pleasing selections in the new mixtures popular with exclusive custom tailors. English Cheviots, fine and smooth Kerseys—correct style in every line.

For the "Little Gentlemen," 7 to 15 years— Are the nobbiest Overcoats ever shown in Belleville, prices $2.50 to $7.50.

These are in Coverts, Cheviots, Friezes and Beavers. Made after the fashionable mold of the Men's Overcoats, and with a little extra effort in finish.

Reefers for the Boys, 3 to 17 years, $1.25 to $5

Made from Serges, pure All-wool Chinchillas and Friezes with those big warm storm collars—button over the little breast and close up to the chin. Ideals of comfort and fashion, with never a doubt of satisfactory wear.

Men's Heavy Ulsters for $5.

For $5 we are showing an extra heavy All-wool Frieze Ulster, tweed lined, in brown and claret shades. This is without doubt the best coat shown to-day at that price. See it.

Come with confidence – there's no loophole for disappointment to follow your buying here.

A young daughter of Mr. Fred Hillman, of the 2nd concession of Sidney, yesterday afternoon sustained painful and serious injuries. A physician from the City was called to attend the injured one. As to the result of the accident at present it is difficult to foretell.

The Plan of Campaign

British Will Advance in Three Columns, Simultaneously.

Newspaper Correspondents are Having a Hard Time.—Collet, of Daily Mail, Liable to be Shot as a Spy.

(OTHER DESPATCHES ON INSIDE PAGES.)

London, Nov. 22.—The British plan of campaign, it now develops, is to advance in three columns, and the relief movement will begin in a few days.

Gen. Clery is now in Natal with 11,000 English regulars, the Border regiment, the local forces and Naval Brigade, making a total of 13,000.

Gen. Gatacre will move in central Cape Colony with 5,000 men, already advancing from east London to retake Stormberg, Burghersdorp and Aliwel.

On the west Gen. Methuen has 14,000 English regulars and is gradually advancing on Kimberley.

Strong reinforcements are arriving daily to increase all the columns.

Gen. Buller remains at Capetown for the present, directing the operations of the three columns. He plans a simultaneous advance.

The newspaper correspondents are having a hard time in Africa. The best men are helpless in Ladysmith, and some have been captured, while only four are permitted to go with the Kimberley relief column.

Collet, of the Daily Mail, was taken prisoner a few days ago at Burghersdorp while carrying a message from Premier Schreiner to President Steyn. The Boers declared he was a spy and sent him to Bloemfontein.

There is no direct news from Winston Churchill, but it is believed he is safe at Pretoria.

THE WAR SUMMARY.

The British have reoccupied Naauw Poort, Cape Colony.

Constant skirmishes are occurring around Estcourt.

A small Boer commando is reported in the neighborhood of Pietermaritzburg.

The Ladysmith relief column will advance at the end of this week.

The Kimberly relief force now numbers nearly 15,000, and its advance guard is said to have moved out.

The latest despatches from Ladysmith report that all is well and the garrison can hold its own indefinitely.

Cape Town military authorities confirm the report of a sharp action with a Boer repulse at Kuruman.

President Kruger refuses to allow the American Consul at Pretoria to act as an agent for the British Government in regard to the British prisoners.

A late despatch from Durban says that telegraphic communication with Estcourt has been interrupted.

Relieving force will advance in three columns simultaneously.

Most Delightful.

Every body was delightful with Professor Hunt's Piano and Song Recital in aid of the Hospital two weeks ago. Miss Mabel de Guerre and Professor Hunt, two of the three performers on that occasion, together with some other local stars, will assist in Bridge Street Church's opening the new piano entertainment to-morrow evening. We advise all lovers of music to be on hand.

BIG FIRE AT TWEED.

Sash and Blind Factory Burned—No Insurance

(From our own Correspondent.)

Tweed, Ont., Nov. 22.—At about half-past six this morning fire broke out in Mr. R. F. Houston's sash factory here.

The main building was completely destroyed and the machinery is almost a total loss.

Mr. Houston estimates his loss at from six to eight thousand dollars. No insurance.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING

That there's no use talking, the ladies are bound to come to the fore these days. There are lady lawyers, lady doctors, lady barbers, etc., and now all the world is talking about a lady smith.

That, talking about mills, it is possible to have too many of 'em. Of course, rolling mills and flour mills and saw mills are all right, but if we had a few mills knocked off the rate of taxation it would be a good thing.

That John Bull has got three K's on his hands at once—Kaiser, Khalifa and Kruger, and it may safely be said that none of them are jays, though, alphabetically speaking, they are next door to it.

That the manager of the opera house had a narrow escape last night. He knows a good deal about scenery, but he was not prepared to have a whole street scene dropped on his nose, which act some of the scene shifters performed last night. He says the shooting stars may have disappointed some people, but he saw 'em all right.

That the Kingston people owe us Belleville people a few. We stopped their back drivers nuisance, taught some of their young men good manners, and now they are going to model their City Council after ours. We may be able to make something of Kingston yet.

THE VIOLIN RECITAL.

Pleasing Musical Entertainment Given by Three Talented Young People.

A large and fashionable audience gathered at the City Hall last night, the raison d'etre being the violin recital given by Miss Sidna Hume Brown (pupil of Mrs. (Dr.) McColl), assisted by Miss L. M. A. Thompson, pianist, and Mr. Erwin R. Gordon, vocalist. The stage was beautifully decorated with ferns and flowers, and the fair young ladies made a charming picture when on the platform. Mrs. McColl's versatility as a teacher was exemplified last night, and many complimentary references were heard. Miss Brown shows improvement with each reappearance, and her technique is really excellent for one so young. She performs with a good deal of feeling, and undoubtedly her best work was done in the andante passages. In the "Broken Melody" she was at her best, but her rendition of the "Andante and Rondo," by Dancla, was a gem of tasteful execution. Miss Brown's position playing was as true as a bell, her only faults being a slight tendency to show nervousness in bowing and, on very rare occasions, it is true, her chords were not perfectly harmonious. However, for one so young, she showed splendid technique, and played tastefully and at times brilliantly.

Miss L. M. A. Thompson, the pianist, is too well and favorably known to require an extended critique. She was thoroughly at home in her selections and her playing was listened to with delight.

Mr. Erwin R. Gordon's vocal selections were well rendered, and the excellence of his method spoke volumes for the thorough skill of his teacher, Mrs. MacColl. His best number was St. Quentin's "Indienne," which he rendered tastefully and with excellent expression. His other numbers were pleasing, but slightly marred in some places by a rather too heavy obligato. Following was the programme:

Chopin—Ballade Op. 47	Piano
Miss L. M. A. Thompson.
Becker—(a) Romance	Violin
Haydn—(b) Ox Minuet
Lohr—"Fries'ds"	Vocal
(Violin Obligato.)
Mr. Erwin R. Gordon
Beethoven—Sonata, Op. 12 No. 1	Violin
Allegro Con Brio
Andante Con Moto
Allegro
Wagner-Beudel—Preislied	Piano
Miss L. M. A. Thompson.
Von Blene—Broken Melody	Violin
St. Quentin—Indienne	Vocal
Mr. Erwin R. Gordon.
Borowski—(a) Minuet	Piano
(b) La Coquette
Miss L. M. A. Thompson.
Wellings—"Forget, Forgive,	Vocal
(Violin Obligato).
Mr. Erwin R. Gordon.
Dancla—Andante and Rondo	Violin

The piano used was a Heintzman, furnished by Mr. W. B. Riggs.

THE LAST ROLL CALL

Answered by Charles H. Moon, a Crimean Veteran.

Found Dead in His Residence Late Yesterday Afternoon—Epilepsy Was the Cause—No Inquest Deemed Necessary.

For some time past Mr. Charles Henry Moon has lived alone in a house situated in the 2nd concession of the Township of Thurlow, a short distance northeast of the G.T.R. station. Yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock his lifeless remains were found in the house by friends who knew him well. He had apparently been suddenly summoned when preparing to retire. From Mr. Wm. Doctor the following story was obtained as to the case:

The deceased was a friend of Mr. Doctor and daily visited his place. On Saturday last he was there apparently in his usual health. On Sunday and Monday his familiar form was absent, and as he did not put in an appearance yesterday Mr. Doctor became uneasy and thought that something had happened to him. At about 5 o'clock yesterday Mr. Doctor walked over to Moon's residence and rapping upon the door was not answered. He then peered into a window and saw the unfortunate man lying across the foot of a bed partially undressed. Mr. Doctor thought he was asleep. He however called upon a G.T.R. employee near by to come to the place and both, after looking carefully, came to the conclusion that something was wrong. They did not make an attempt to break into the premises, but sent word to Dr. Yeomans, a coroner, who in a short time was upon the scene. They broke open the door and discovered that Moon was dead, and the physician was of the opinion that he had been dead about 48 hours. He gave as a cause epilepsy, and did not think an inquest was necessary. The remains were shortly after taken care of by undertaker Tickell and prepared for burial.

The deceased was well-known about the City. He was an Englishman about 62 years of age, having been born in Sussex, Eng. He was a Crimean veteran, having been a Sergt. in Her Majesty's 62nd Light Infantry. He was possessed of the Crimean and Turkish medals, and also had the Balaclava bar. For 36 years he had been a resident of this vicinity. Mrs. Moon has been dead a number of years, but he leaves a family of 6 daughters. His son, it will be remembered was killed a few months ago in a G. T. R. accident. The daughters are: Mrs. J. H. Snider, Mrs. T. F. Houston, and Miss Bertha, of Toronto; Mrs. W. Patterson, of Montreal; Mrs. J. Cousins, of Portsmouth, N. Y., and Mrs. H. Lavoie, of this City.

The remains have been taken to his daughter's residence on Charles street, from whence the funeral will take place.

At the funeral to-morrow the Veterans will attend and from their numbers will be selected the bearers.

The Piano

Used at the concert in the City Hall last night was a Heintzman & Co., supplied by Mr. W. B. Riggs. These pianos are universal favorites with our local musicians, and stand quite as high with musicians all over Canada. Their Uprights are made exactly the same as the $1,000 Grand, which distinguishes them from all others.

EARLY MORNING BLAZE.

Old Landmark on Victoria Avenue Destroyed This Morning.

An old landmark of the city was partially destroyed by fire at an early hour this morning. It was the frame residence situated on Victoria Avenue, just west of the Emmanuel Reformed Church. The premises were found to be on fire shortly after 2 o'clock, the flames having gained considerable headway when discovered, and in consequence the place was gutted before the fire was extinguished. The building was owned by Mr. W. H. Ketcheson, and in it was stored a quantity of military clothing belonging to the 49th Battalion which was, however, saved. Mr. Ketcheson estimates his loss at $1000 and there was an insurance of $400 in the Phoenix. The origin of the fire is unknown.

TO ABOLISH THE WARD SYSTEM.

Probable that Kingston City Council Will Take Steps in that Direction.

At Monday night's meeting of the Kingston City Council Ald. Behan again introduced his resolution for presentation to the Ontario Legislature praying that body to further amend the municipal act so as to give the councils of cities of a population of 20,000 and under the privilege of submitting a by-law to the electors providing for the election of aldermen by general vote, and also for the reduction of the present number in Kingston to ten.

In speaking to his motion Ald. Behan instanced the case of Belleville.

A Pleasant Evening With the Templars.

The first of a series of open pleasant evenings was held last night in the Temperance Hall, there being a large attendance of members and friends. The chair was taken by Mr. J. T. Burns. Solos, etc., were rendered during the evening by the Misses Fairfield and Walker and Mr. Burns. Instrumental music was rendered by Mrs. Cornell and Messrs. Lewis and A. Chown. Addresses were delivered by Rev. C. W. Watch, Dr. Goldsmith and W. W. Chown, and readings were given by Messrs. T. P. Bennett and Croxford. These open meetings are to be continued.

There are always those who know more about one's affairs than one himself and such seems to be the case in Belleville. THE MYSTERY OF COUNT LANDRINOF.

BY FRED WHISHAW.

COPYRIGHT 1899 BY THE AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION.

just my mouth remained gaping. Then he took my arm and walked me toward the lake, called the Serpentine, going over grass and railings; I praying half the while, for I thought the man was stark mad and that my last hour had come."

CHAPTER XII.

THE SUPPOSED COUNT IN DISGRACE.

"My poor Vladimir!" groaned my mother at this point of Borofsky's batter. "How could he mad to have acted in this way. Just think of it, Boris! This violence, this murderous anger, from your dear father!"

"It is not a bit like him, I admit," I said. "He must have been furiously angry for some reason. Shall I go on? He did no harm to Borofsky, at any rate, for Borofsky is all right—vide his letter."

I continued to read:

"The count dragged me to the very shore of the lake and there stopped. I thought he would now push me in and was prepared to fight for my life, but instead he spoke:

"'You deserve death unheard,' he said, 'but I shall allow you to speak once in your defense, but observe, speak low and do not raise your voice, or you are a dead man. I have the revolver ready; see here. Now, be warned!'

"He unfastened the gag.

"'Now,' he said, 'explain. Why have you followed and dogged me? Are you a government spy?'

"'Before heaven, no!' I exclaimed.

"'Swear it!'

"'I do swear it. I am not in the service of any government or body whatever, and, if I am a spy, it is only for the advantage of those upon whom I am paid to keep a watch.'

"'Oh, then, you are paid to dog me, and by whom?'

"'It is a secret!' I faltered.

"'Speak, by whom?' he repeated.

"'The secret is not my own,' I began, but the count furiously bade me speak, or he would swim, and I was obliged to admit that her excellence the Countess Landrinof, being most anxious and unhappy by reason of her husband's prolonged and unexplained absence, had employed me to find him and, if possible, to bring him back to St. Petersburg; at all events, to see him and report upon his condition.

"The count laughed aloud." (My poor mother shuddered as I read this part of the letter and cried quietly as she listened.)

"'Why, what does she think ails me?' he said.

"'I cannot tell you,' I replied.

"'Speak, you fool!' he repeated angrily. 'What does she think ails me? She thinks I am mad; is that it?'

"I admitted that this was the case, and I admitted it in fear and trembling, for I, too, was assured that the poor count was not in full possession of his reason, so different was his conduct from that which I should have expected in one whom all Russia knows and respects.

"'Mad to have left my beloved wife's side, though only for a short holiday abroad, eh?' he laughed. 'Why, I am alive, what queer things these women are! Can't a man take a little holiday and enjoy a trip abroad without dragging his whole establishment with him Besides, I'm away on business.'

"The countess is distressed because she has heard nothing of your excellence. I murmured, 'and was not even aware of your intention to depart or of your present whereabouts.'

"'What!' he said, as though surprised. 'Has she not received my letters?'

"'I believe not one,' I said.

"'Why, man alive,' he said, 'I am a very model of a husband. I came in a hurry, true. But I sent word of my departure by the man who drove me to the station. Since then I have written—as a husband should—nearly every day. Have the letters miscarried?'

"'They must have. So far as I am aware the countess has received none at all.'

"'The rascals, the rascals!' said the count, as though to himself. 'You must know, my friend,' he continued, addressing me, 'that I have enemies. You look surprised. It is odd that so good and universally respected a man as I should have enemies. They are men, you must understand, who are jealous of my position, and—er—of my favor with the czar. These men are building up a plot against my reputation. I tell you this in strict confidence. I am here in order to escape the worry of their persections if only for awhile. I—I—you will laugh over it, as I do now—I took you for their spy. You will forgive me? My anger was excusable. Imagine, my friend, these men will not allow a man to write to his own wife, but must needs intercept the letters. Is it not too bad? You will forgive me? Come, we will return and sup together.'

"'Willingly,' I said, and in my heart I thanked heaven and all the saints in the calendar that the count's anger was over and he was now in a quiet and reasonable frame of mind.

"We left the park and walked up Oxford street, and we stopped together as he had suggested. During this meal the count bade me explain how I had found him.

"'The credit of it is not my own, excellence,' I said, 'but belongs to the young Englishman. Mr. Morris—Percy, as they call him.'

"'Who?' said the count, looking bewildered.

"I repeated Mr. Percy's name. 'He who met you one day, soon after your arrival, in Oxford street,' I added, 'and greeted you in Russian.'

"'Oh, ah, yes!' said the count. 'I remember, of course. He knows me well and recognized me. Is it not so?'

"'He has so often staid at your house, both in town and country,' I said, 'that he could scarcely meet you without recognition. Nevertheless, neither your wife nor your son was quite prepared to believe that he could have seen yourself here in London until this same Percy cleverly took your photo and sent over a copy.'

"The count started and looked angry at this.

"'What,' he exclaimed, 'took my photograph? For what purpose? Explain, sir, at once. How dared he take my photograph?'

"'For the consolation of the countess, only,' I hastened to reply. 'That she and the young count might recognize that you were indeed your excellence and no other.'

"This the count's face softened, and he laughed.

"'Of course, of course!' he said. 'Naturally, not having received my letters, they would be unaware of my presence in London and disinclined to believe I could have gone so far afield without letting them know—ha, ha! So they must verify my photograph taken by this youth, my son's friend! It is good, and very good—a curious turn and combination of events! And on receiving the portrait at once, I wife recognized the it can have been but a mere dash of a thing, done by a boy, eh!'

"'The countess recognized it at once, though she pronounced you haggard and worn as if with trouble.'

"'Ha, trouble! That's this infernal conspiracy that I told you of. Haggard with trouble. Lord, I may well be all that, my friend, and more. Well, and the lad, the young count, he swore to me, too, no doubt, eh? One doesn't forget one's father in a week or two, even though worn with trouble and so on, eh?—ha, ha!—a good lad, this young count. So he knew me by the portrait? It came unconscious and at 7 o'clock yesterday morning he had an attack of angina pectoris, from which he never rallied. His death followed at 8:30 o'clock. Mrs. Hobart, Dr Newton and Mrs. Newton, who is a cousin of Mrs. Hobart, and the nurse were at the patient's bedside constantly from the time he became unconscious.

At 7:30 o'clock the Vice-President's private secretary, Mr. Evans, called up the White House by telephone and notified President McKinley that Mr. Hobart was dying. At 8 o'clock Mr. Evans communicated again with the President, notifying him of the Vice-President's death.

A Successful Man.

Garrett A. Hobart was eminently successful, both in business and in politics. His reputation as a man of affairs placed him one of the greatest men in the country was, perhaps, greater than his reputation as a political leader and statesman up til his election to the Vice-Presidency three years ago. Mr. Hobart was born in 1844, at Long Branch, N.J. His ancestors on his father's side were English, and on his mother's side Dutch. Thirty-three years ago he was graduated from Rutger's College and began teaching school. Three months later he entered upon the study of law. In 1869 he was admitted to the bar, and the same year he married the daughter of Mr. Tuttle. Mr. Hobart made his way rapidly at the bar of his native state, and he had held him early into politics. Through his business connections and his law practice he built up a large fortune.

Will Have No Successor.

Washington, Nov. 22.—By the death of Mr. Hobart the office of Vice-President of the United States becomes vacant for the rest of President McKinley's term, as the law provides no succession. A President pro tempore of the Senate will be elected by Congress when that body assembles, who will hold the office until March, 1901. Senator William P. Frye of Maine is now President pro tempore of the Senate. He will call that body to order when it assembles on Dec. 4, and preside until a successor is chosen. That he will succeed himself is generally conceded. All the flags in Washington have been ordered at half mast to the memory of Vice President Hobart.

Will Pay a Last Tribute.

Vice-President Hobart's funeral on Saturday will be ordered by the President and his Cabinet, the Supreme Court, the Senate in a body, and a large committee from the House of Representatives, besides many other high dignitaries of the Government, who will journey to Paterson to pay their last tribute of respect to the memory of the Vice-President.

MR. LEARY IS PRACTICAL.

The Governor of the Isle of Guam Made Everybody Marry.

New York, Nov. 21.—Gov. Leary of the Isle of Guam, as it appears on the official Gubernatorial seal, is having novel experiments in an altogether unique community. Infrequency of communication with the outside world makes the reports from Guam far between, and that they are often wholly unofficial is evident from the last one received, says The Tribune's correspondent.

Gov. Leary reported that the islanders were inordinately lazy and he had issued an order to compel each adult native to contribute to the support of the Government by engaging in food production. Each citizen was ordered to have at least 12 hens and one rooster in his possession on them indefinitely. He must bring eggs, chickens and vegetables to the Governor's house to sell, and to the barracks, at stated intervals, and must pay taxes and discharge other indebtedness.

Made Everybody Marry.

A second order, issued Sept. 15, demanded that concubinage, which had been general all over the island, should stop, and the Governor commanded immediate weddings for the whole adult population. He made the licenses and ceremony free until Nov. 3. As a result the officers in charge of licenses and marriages were worked half to death before everybody on the island had been legally married and the rush to obey the order had ceased.

Three Young Men of Norwich.

Norwich, Ont., Nov. 21.—Chinese laundry here was burglarized on Sunday night last of $100. Detective Murray was summoned, and to-day arrested Poldon, Haley and Hawkins, three young men, who were brought before Barr and Moore, and will be committed for trial.

Nine Hours a Day.

Kingston, Ont., Nov. 21.—At a meeting last night of the Local Union of Carpenters it was decided that on and after Jan. 1 next nine hours would constitute a day's work. Contractors will be advised to this effect. The rate of wages will be fixed at a later meeting.

LAUGHING GAS.

If They Were Only True.

If all the adages were true,
What glory we should win!
But troublesome exceptions to
The rules keep coming in!
If we could safely feel that Wrong
Must yield, some day, to Right,
How bravely we should trudge along
Through gloom into the light!

If we could know that he who tries
And tries and tries again
Must certainly and surely rise
To honor among men,
What noble deeds we all should do,
What glories we should win!
But there are those exceptions to
The rules that wriggle in.

In so way threatening a successful termination of the agreement, and by no means constituting a hitch.

Undertaker Marsh of Iroquois has arrived here, and leaves to-morrow morning with the body.

Expert Drug Man on Hutch.

W. J. Nichol, Phm. B., 170 King Street East, Toronto, is one of the foremost druggists in the city, and his establishment is replete with the most up-to-date and elegant appointments. Mr. Nichol has a very large trade and is an authority on drug matters. Speaking of Hutch, Mr. Nichol said that a number of people stated that it was doing them a great deal of good. He was selling more Hutch than any other dyspeptic treatment, and for that matter any other proprietary preparation. From the manner of its selling, Hutch was evidently making cures, and from that Mr. Nichol had no hesitation in recommending it. Hutch induces the secretion of the gastric juices, properly assimilates food, and by being slightly cathartic expels all excrement from the intestines.

At Death's Door—Dyspepsia Conquered. A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical advisor an.. others told me I ould not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. THE WOMEN CREATED A RIOT.

Wives and Mothers of Strikers Fought Non-Union Coal Miners.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Nov. 21.—The wives and mothers of striking miners in the Nanticoke and Glen Lyon districts created excitement amounting to a riot this afternoon in an endeavor to prevent non-union men from going to work in the mines. The result was that Sheriff Harvey was asked for assistance and left here at 11 o'clock with 60 armed deputies.

The women held a meeting yesterday and decided to take concerted action. They posted themselves at the three collieries early to-day, armed with rolling pins, pokers and clubs. When the pump runners started for work they found determined opposition. Several fights took place. A woman knocked a special policeman senseless with a rolling pin. Michael Corrizon, a constable, fired at the women and wounded a boy in the arm. John Tomkin was stoned from his horse while trying to rescue a pump runner whom the women were belaboring. He got a black eye and many bruises, and Idris Thomas, a foreman, is suffering from the effects of a dose of red pepper, thrown in his eyes. Guy Clemons lost half of his clothing in getting away from the women. But after he got to work his wife succeeded in inducing him to join the strikers. Several women were injured.

It is said the company, although short-handed, would be able to run the pumps to-day.

Now George Owns the Home.

Washington, Nov. 21.—Papers were to-day drawn up by Mrs. Mildred Dewey, wife of Admiral Dewey, transferring all right and title in the Dewey home to the admiral's son, George Goodwin Dewey. The deed will be recorded this afternoon or to-morrow.

Ottawa, Nov. 22.—The trial of Nelson Gordon on the charge of burglarizing the house of Rev. Dr. Herridge was continued at the High Co rt this morning. Further evidence was heard for the defence, after which the case was given to the jury. The jury announced that they were unable to agree. They stood 10 for conviction and 2 against. Gordon will be tried in another court.

OUR BOYS WILL GET A SHOW.

Hon. Mr. Aylmer Thinks They Will Be Called On to Fight.

The Canadian Contingent Will, However, Require a Month's Steady Drill and Rifle Practice Before They Go to the Front — The Adjutant-General Thinks the Garrison Duty Story is All Bosh.

Ottawa, Nov. 21.—Col. Hon. Matthew Aylmer, Adjutant-General, who is still suffering from the accident to his foot, gives the following views of the Transvaal war. He says: "I was in England when the intelligence was first received of Canada's intention to send out a contingent, and the announcement caused great delight. It materially tended to show the reality of Greater Britain. Those who attended the Queen's Jubilee, however, needed no stronger evidence of colonial loyalty and unity in the Empire's interest. In England it was thought that the Boers could be wiped out in a few weeks, but after recent developments I think they have changed their tune. The country is quite large and full of rocky fastnesses and almost impervious passes. To my mind, at least 100,000 men will be required to bring the issue to a successful termination."

"Do you think the Canadian contingent will be called on to fight?"

"That is what they've gone out for, but it will be some time before they are ready—they will need a month's systematic drill and practice in rifle shooting before being called into action.

"That story about the contingent being detailed for garrison duty exclusively is all bosh," continued Col. Aylmer. "The War Office, if it ever entertained such an idea, would never give it out. If you went on your knees for such information you would never get it from the War Office. There's surely nothing in such a rumor. The men will probably spend the first month in Cape Town in disciplinary and other drill."

CANADA WILL BE THERE.

Pan-American Fair Directors Say Our Exhibit Will Be Second Only to That of the United States.

Buffalo, Nov. 21.—The directors of the Pan-American Exposition were notified officially to-day by State Department at Washington that the Dominion of Canada had accepted with pleasure the invitation to be represented at the Exposition, which is to be held in this city in 1901. The directors were much gratified at the receipt of this news, and expressed themselves as certain that Canada's exhibit will be second only to that of the United States.

SHIPPING OF MONTREAL.

Falling Off in the Number of Ocean Vessels From Last Year.

Montreal, Nov. 21.—(Special.)—There are still three vessels to arrive in the port of Montreal, and ocean navigation will then be over for the season. The Bengore Head, Laurentian and Assyrian have arrived to-day, leaving only the Dunmore Head, Andern and Mayflower, which will arrive in a day or so. The Manchester Enterprise was also on the list, but it was ascertained to-day that she had foundered.

The total number of vessels which have arrived in port this year, counting the three yet to come, is about 800, as compared with 868 last year. This is a serious decrease—about 65 vessels of all kinds. The tonnage returns are not made up yet, but there is certain to be a large falling off in tonnage also, though not so great as in the ships, as the new ships, which have been on the St. Lawrence route this year, are of larger tonnage than those which they have replaced. The number of vessels in 1897 was 796, about the same as this year. In fact, the shipping all round is about the same as in 1897.

McIntyre Will Go Again.

Aylmer, Ont., Nov. 22.—A convention of East Elgin Liberals was held here yesterday afternoon to nominate a candidate to fill the vacancy caused by the unseating of C. A. Brower, the late Conservative member. The delegates resolved to make their nomination in open convention, and, on motion of D. Thompson, Reeve of Yarmouth, and Freeman Chute of Port Burwell, D. McIntyre, the candidate at the last ele tion, was unanimously chosen standard bearer for the party in this cont st.

Se e teen schooners were driven ashore at different points on the coast during the recent gale, all b ing completely wrecked.

Cobourg, Ont., Nov. 22.—Yesterday was o e of Cobou g's "turkey days." All day long farmers have been coming into town bringing in dressed turkeys for s ipment to the English market. Mr. J. A. Gen. Hutton's Latest Scheme.

Ottawa, Nov. 22.—Major-General Hutton has formulated a scheme for bringing out an Imperi l cavalry officer as an expert in his branch of the service, and having him appointed to the Canadian militia in a capacity similar to that occupied by Col. Stone in the artillery. It is said that the Government has decided not to adopt the colonel's scheme.

THE RELIEF OF LADYSMITH.

The Move is Expected to Begin About the End of This Week.

All Will Then Be Ready—Her Majesty's Troops Have Re-Occupied Naauwport, The Last Strong Fighting Position South of the Orange River — Communication With Estcourt Believed to Have Been Cut.

London, Nov. 22.—The Daily Mail publishes the following despatch from Pietermaritzburg: "An official communication from Ladysmith, dated Nov. 18, says the garrison is maintaining its position.

"A Boer force is reported to the rear of Boston, about a day's ride from here."

Relief for Ladysmith.

London, Nov. 22.—The war correspondent of The Standard at Estcourt telegraphs as follows, under Monday's date:

"No actual confirmation can be obtained of the report that General Joubert has moved from his position in front of Ladysmith. Our patrols and spies have ascertained beyond a doubt that several small commandos are working southward. There is a growing belief here that we will move toward Ladysmith about the end of this week."

Nothing in the Story.

Estcourt, Natal, Monday, Nov. 20.—The rumors of a glorious victory achieved by General White Wednesday last are still unconfirmed. Little credence is attached to them, especially as it is added that General White threatened to place many hundreds of prisoners in conspicuous places should the shelling of the town continue.

Reports received from the southward say that the Boers are separating into foraging and pillaging parties, who are looting stores, stealing cattle and ransacking houses. It is added that one farmer became so incensed that he stalked a party of 160, eventually shooting eight of them.

A Boer force occupies a position on the Mool River, 10 miles below the Mool River Station.

More Fighting at Estcourt.

Durban, Monday, Nov. 20.—Seven hundred Boers from Weenen took up a strong position on the highlands 13 miles south of Estcourt Sunday, occupying Turner's farm, northeast of the Mool River. Major Thorneycroft, with a detachment of mounted infantry, and the Estcourt carbineers engineers engaged the Boers, of whom three were killed, including their commandant. The Boers withdrew, taking 200 head of cattle, captured at Turner's farm. The main Boer force south of Estcourt is reported to have retired.

Ladysmith Awaits News.

Durban, Nov. 21.—The Government has received the following advices from Col. Royston, commandant of the volunteers at Ladysmith, under date of Nov. 16: "All the volunteers and police are well, and there are plentiful supplies for man and horse. All was quiet yesterday (Wednesday), and the same condition exists this morning. There has been no further bombardment, and the effects hitherto have been trifling. We are anxious for news from the south."

British Occupy Naauwport.

Cape Town, Nov. 21.—The British troops reoccupied Naauwpoort.

Naauwpoort is the junction of the branch line of De Aar, 69 miles from De Aar, and connects the Midland with the Western system of railways. The latter road runs north to Kimberley and Mafeking.

Boers Repairing Bridges.

Cape Town, Nov. 21.—It is announced from Naauwpoort that the Boers are repairing the bridges previously destroyed by them. This, according to The Cape Times, is because the Boer invasion of Cape Colony was against orders. The authority asserts that no defence of Bloemfontein is intended.

Care of Boer Prisoners.

United States Consul General Stowe, who has just visited the Boer prisoners on board the Penelope at Simonstown, is interesting himself to secure good treatment for the prisoners at Pretoria, and has authorized Mr. Macrum, United States Consul there, to honor the requests of British officers to the extent of £1500, and generally to do his best in their behalf.

FROM BOER SOURCES.

Report From Joubert's Headquarters Read at the Transvaal Council of War.

Pretoria, Nov. 21.—(Via Lorenzo Marquez.)—Monday's report from General Joubert's headquarters, which was presented to the Transvaal Council of War to-day, says: "Heavy gun firing was heard in the direction of Estcourt on Saturday, and continuous rifle firing is proceeding south of Ladysmith.

"A small sortie from Ladysmith this morning was repulsed. The Transvaal heavy guns fired a number of shells into the town this afternoon."

KRUGER'S END NEAR.

The Old Man Objects to McCrum Acting as British Agent.

London, Nov. 21.—President Kruger's refusal to allow United States Consul Macrum to exercise the powers of British agent at Pretoria has resulted in great disappointment. There were many callers at the United States Embassy to-day, who were informed that the United States was no longer able to forward messages or secure information regarding the British prisoners. Though Mr. Macrum apparently still remains the nominal agent of Great Britain, he is practically deprived of all powers pertaining to the position. It is understood that President Kruger objected to Mr. Macrum representing Great Britain, saying the United States claims to neutrality were prejudiced by her evident friendship for Great Britain. All communications to the British prisoners now go through the ordinary military channels, which render their ultimate delivery doubtful and certainly slow. The British Government so far has not taken any steps to ameliorate the present condition of the prisoners. A Government official informed a representative of the Associated Press that he did not see any good in trying to get any other power to act in their behalf, as President Kruger would, doubtless, treat its representative in the same manner that he had treated the representative of the United States. "Moreover," the official added, "it is not likely that President Kruger will be there long. If we did ask any other power to act in behalf of Great Britain, it would possibly be Portugal."

LATEST NEWS FROM MAFEKING.

One British Killed and 33 Wounded—Enemy's Loss Heavy.

London, Nov. 22.—Late last evening the War Office made public two despatches from General Buller at Cape Town.

The first had been received from General Clery, dated Monday, Nov. 20, and announced that three privates were wounded the previous day at Mool River.

The second was from Col. Baden-Powell, dated at Mafeking, Nov. 6, saying: "All well here. We have had a few successful sorties. Our loss is 2 officers and 17 men killed and 4 officers and 29 men wounded. The enemy's loss is heavy. His numbers are decreasing, but his guns remain, and shell us, keeping out of the range of our small guns. Have had no news from the outside since Oct. 20."

London Mail Man Arrested.

Cape Town, Nov. 21.—Mr. Collet, the correspondent of The London Daily Mail at Stormberg, while bearing a message from Mr. Schreiner, the Cape Premier, to President Steyn of the Orange Free State, with Sir Alfred Milner's sanction, was arrested by the Boers in the mountains and conveyed to Bloemfontein. It is understood that Mr. Schreiner's letter was a protest against the impressment of British subjects in Cape Colony.

Aliwal North and Queenstown.

Cape Town, Sunday, Nov. 19.—A native from Herschel, Cape Colony, reports that the Boers left the Camp at Aliwal North in temporary charge of native followers, who bolted, taking with them a number of horses and rifles.

A Queenstown, Cape Colony, despatch, dated Friday, Nov. 17, says communication is constantly interrupted by Boer incursions, but is restored as soon as interrupted.

Farmers in Greytown Defiant.

Durban, Nov. 21.—The Natal Witness says: "The German farmers in the Greytown district have rejected the Boer ultimatum to swear allegiance or to quit their farms, and have defied the Boers to oust them from their homesteads."

Loyalists Will Be Protected.

Durban, Nov. 21.—General Clery, acting under instructions from General Buller, has issued a proclamation, announcing that the Government will exact full compensation for damage done to the property of loyalists.

Victoria Cross for Col. Hamilton.

London, Nov. 20.—The Manchester Guardian states Colonel Ian Hamilton has been recommended for the Victoria cross for his bravery in the fighting at Elandslaagte.

London, Nov. 20.—The cable ship Anglia yesterday started laying a cable from Cape Town to St. Helena.

A Lie Nailed.

The Times announces that it is authorized to deny the statement recently made by a French newspaper that Prince Louis Napoleon, who is a colonel in the Russian army, desired to join the Boers, and asked Emperor Nicholas for permission. As a matter of fact, he never had any such idea.

"JUST DRAGGING AROUND."

How many thousands of women understand the sad and pitiful meaning of that simple phrase: "Just dragging around." Women everywhere who feel that they have a work and a mission of womanhood to accomplish in this world will appreciate instantly the disheartened spirit of Mrs. Mattie Venhans, of Tioga, Hancock County, Illinois.

"I had been sick for seven years," she says; "not in bed, but just dragging myself around. At last I took three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and five of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and it is impossible to describe in words the good these medicines did me. My husband says 'Golden Medical Discovery' is the best medicine he ever tried for a cough. No praise is too high for Dr. Pierce's medicines."

Another lady, Mrs. R. P. Monfort, of Lebanon, Warren Co., Ohio, says, "I think Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery the finest medicine on record. I have taken a number of bottles and it is the only medicine that relieved my terrible headaches."

Women who suffer should write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. He will send them the best professional advice that can be had anywhere in America and entirely without charge. Neither the "Golden Medical Discovery" nor the "Favorite Prescription" contains any alcohol to inebriate or create a morbid craving for stimulants.

Every woman should own a copy of his splendid book "The Common Sense Medical Adviser." It is the grandest medical book for popular reading ever written. It contains a fund of knowledge of precious value to women. It has over a thousand pages elaborately illustrated with engravings and colored plates. The first great edition of more than half-a-million copies was sold at $1.50 each. The profit from this induced Dr. Pierce to carry out his cherished intention of issuing a free edition one copy of which in paper covers will be sent for the bare cost of customs and mailing, 31 one-cent stamps; or a heavier, cloth bound copy for 50 stamps

WIFE DEAD BESIDE HIM.

Bothwell Girl, Married at 15, Found Dead by Her Husband.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 21.—Mrs. Anna Hare, the 19-year-old wife of John Hare, a paper-hanger, was found dead in bed this morning. It is supposed she died of morphine poisoning self-administered, but whether with suicidal intent or not cannot be stated. Mrs. Hare was a Bothwell, Ont., girl, and her parents still reside there. She was married when but 15 years of age. The couple did not get on well together, and last night when Hare came home at 11 o'clock he found his wife moaning and apparently very ill. He paid no attention to her whatever, but went to bed, and when he woke up this morning his child wife was cold in death beside him. The police are investigating, and Hare in the meantime is detained at police headquarters.

Short of Food She Was Abandoned by Her Crew Nov. 19.

London, Nov. 21.—A despatch from Christiansand, Norway, has been received, which states that the captain and 10 of the crew have landed there from the missing overdue British steamer Coquet, Captain Garrod, from Quebec Oct. 3, for Sunderland, which was reported by the British steamer Benwick to have been left by her on Nov. 7, 100 miles north of Uist, one of the Shetland Islands, with propeller gone and short of provisions. The seamen reported that all the crew left the Coquet in two boats on Nov. 19 in lat. 63 north, long. 5 east, on account of being short of food. The whereabouts of the other boat, which contained 11 persons, was not known. It was supposed that the Coquet had drifted farther north.

It is stated that the battle lasted two days, ending at noon of Nov. 16. More than 1000 rebels were killed, and 2000 were wounded. About 10,000 men on both sides were engaged in the fight.

It is reported that General Pablo Emilio Villar, of the revolutionary forces, was killed.

She was a two-masted, single-funnel iron vessel, of 3678 tons gross and 2514 net. Her length was 360 feet, width 46 feet, and depth 28 feet. Her value is roughly estimated at $200,000. This was her fifth trip to this port this season. She was commanded by Captain W. J. Wright, and manned by a crew of 45 sailors. Her cargo was a general one of about 1600 to 1700 tons.

In replying to the students' address of welcome, Principal Grant spoke on the rumors of moving the university to Ottawa. He said that money was a thing which could have little effect upon this university, and made this statement:

"I can see no reason why Queen's should be uprooted from the old Ontario strand. Years ago," he continued, "the authorities and graduates said, 'Nay,' when Government aid was offered to Queen's to remove to Toronto. That settled the matter," said the principal.

Great applause followed these words.

ANGLO-SAXON FELLOWSHIP

Was Warmly Spoken of at Delmonico's in New York.

Whitelaw Reid the Orator — Occasion Was 131st Annual Banquet of the Chamber of Commerce—Five Hundred Business Men Heard the Ex-Ambassador to Paris Speak the Pleasant Word.

New York, Nov. 21.—The 131st annual banquet of the Chamber of Commerce was held at Delmonico's to-night, and brought together five hundred representative business men of New York. There were also a number of distinguished guests. President Jessup presided. His introductory remarks were brief. After congratulating the members of the chamber upon the prosperous condition of the country he proposed the toast: "The President of the United States." The toast was drunk standing.

Next President Jessup proposed a toast to Queen Victoria, while the orchestra played "God Save the Queen."

The Orators.

The principal speakers were Governor Roosevelt, Hon. Thos. B. Reed and Mr. Whitelaw Reid. Mr. Reid spoke to the toast, "The existing friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain," and said:

"Long ago Thomas Jefferson remarked that, of all the nations of the earth, Great Britain could do us the most harm, and, therefore, we should sedulously cultivate a cordial friendship with her. These later days have shown that, of all the nations of the earth, Great Britain and the United States can give each other the most cheer and do each other the most good. There is a nobler motive on both sides for the same sedulous cultivation of the same cordial friendship.

The Lamentable Wars.

"In the lamentable wars in which both are for the moment involved, the utmost either need do is to hope for the other, as for itself, an honorable and a speedy end to conflicts which neither began. Few thinking people seriously suppose either war can have any but the one obvious and inevitable result. The heavier battalions will win. For the rest, whatever may be the natural sympathies aroused for the feebler side in either war, and whatever may be urged in partial justification of the attacks by which they precipitated hostilities, the dispassionate observer will not doubt that in both cases the end which is thus foreseen from the beginning will be best for the security of personal rights, for the ordered liberty and the advancing civilization of the world.

Tribute to the Dutch.

"We canont but regret that in one case the victory will bring some natural pangs to as noble a race as dwells in Europe—the race that stood like a rock when the flood of Spanish aggression threatened to overthrow the continent; the race that gave to England William of Orange, and to America the City of New York. But Dutch sympathy, with illusory Afrikander aspirations, will breed no blood feud. Meanwhile it cannot prevent the return of good relations between the two peoples of the world nearest to ourselves in origin, aims and interests, the two great Indo-Germanic peoples, ruled from London and Berlin. That is an event momentous in the world's history, auspicious for us, and auspicious for the solution of the Eastern problems, in which we must now bear our share.

Duty to Cultivate Friendliness.

"No doubt it is our duty to cultivate friendly relations with all peoples, and they may be right who say that in general we should seek no special relations with any. But you cannot overrule the forces of nature or blind with the parchment of diplomatists the hidden and irresistible influences of blood and history. I say without hesitation that if there are three great nations in the world that God and nature meant for eternal peace and amity with each other, those three are Great Britain, Germany and the United States.

As to Britain and Germany.

"There is obviously every reason why England and Germany should now be friends. Yet more should we, the United States, welcome and prize the growing friendship of each. We are rivals in trade, just as you friendly merchants of New York are all rivals in trade. But we are also indispensable customers to each other, and we have a common interest in the East, the interest of the open door. Here and there one still hears a discordant voice declaring that the United States cannot do what it committed itself to do in the treaty of Paris--maintain the policy of open door in its Eastern possessions. But this is a notion based upon confusion as to the different uses of the term of the United States in the constitution. No use of it justifies the contention that territory or other property is necessarily an integral part of the United States; and the unbroken line of decision by the highest courts for over half a century sustains the absolute right of our country to acquire such territory anywhere and govern it as we please.

Pledged the Open Door.

"We have pledged the open door in the Philippines to Spain, by a document which is now the supreme law of the land; as well as the constitution, and what we give to Spain we shall not refuse to the most favored nations. The Philippines then are, through our possession, added to the commercial map of the world, and I venture to think that in the century that is dawning they will fill a large space upon it.

Some Pointed Questions.

"Does anyone in this company of great merchants ask what good our trade with them will be to us, if they are open to everybody? Let me answer by asking what good our trade with Great Britain is to us. It is open to everybody. Or our trade with France or with Germany. Does anyone believe that, with the political control and with the Pacific Ocean in our hands, we must still be such feeble competitors in Eastern markets that we cannot command trade? I have not thus rated the enterprise or the ability of my countrymen.

Welcome to All the World.

"So we welcome to the East all the world, and are sure that those we shall oftenest meet there will be our English and our German friends. Together we shall enter the vast, awaking unknown, where dwell one-fourth the people of the world, and together in peaceful rivalry we must bear our respective shares of the white man's burden in the dark places of the earth."

NEW YORK MILLIONAIRES

Only a few people reading advertisements of bankers and brokers, saying that money could be made through speculation, realize that the richest men in America have commenced life in a humble way and have made their fortune through stock-exchange speculations.

Men like Jay Gould, who worked as a dry goods clerk in a small town at $10.00 a week up to his twentieth year, and commenced to operate with his small saving of $200.00 in Wall Street, left at his death 70 millions of dollars; Russell Sage, who worked as a grocery boy at $1.00 per week, and whose present wealth is estimated at 100 millions of dollars, is still operating the market, although 80 years of age, and so are thousands of others, who are enjoying all the luxuries life can offer, which is due to their success in speculation.

To the shrewd speculator the same opportunities are open to-day as to others in the past. The smallest lot which can be bought and sold is ten shares on 3% margin, making 30 dollars.

Anybody interested as to how speculations are conducted can get information and market letter free of charge upon application by letter to,

WANT BETTER REPRESENTATION.

Taxpayers Organize With the Object of Getting Good Men in the City Council.

THE INTELLIGENCER was this afternoon called on by a committee of workingmen, who explained that their object was to let us know that a number of the ratepayers of Belleville were about to organize themselves into a society, the object and aims of which was to obtain better representation in the City Council.

"What do you propose to do, gentlemen?" said the editor.

"We intend," said the spokesman, "to hold a series of meetings and examine into the record of any man who runs for municipal office. If his record is a bad one, or not above suspicion, we intend to use our best endeavors to defeat him, and I believe we can do it, don't you?"

"Very likely," said the scribe.

The committee informed us that they were meeting with a good deal of success in their canvass, and they believed they were going to do good.

"Will your meetings be public?" was asked.

"Open to everybody," was the answer, "and all candidates are especially invited."

"This kind of a movement has done good in other places," said one of the deputation, "and we believe we can do good here. Good-day."

"Good day," said the newspaper man.

Discovered by a Woman.

Another great discovery has been made, and that, too, by a lady in this country. "Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night; and with two bottles, has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus writes W. C. Hamnick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Trial bottles free at J. S. McKeown's Drug Store. Regular size 50c and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed.

PERSONAL ...AND... SOCIAL.

The INTELLIGENCER invites all its readers to contribute to this column all items of a personal nature, such as the arrival or departure of guests, the movements of well-known people, business men, &c. All that is required is to send a post card to or telephone the INTELLIGENCER.

Manager Adams believes this will be the best performance of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" ever seen in Belleville, and probably the only company to visit us this season.

Belleville Man in Trouble.

(By Associated Press To-day)

Toronto, Nov. 22.—Thomas Roberts, formerly of Belleville, a young law student in the office of Miller, Ferguson & Hughes, was convicted at the police court this morning of stealing several small sums of money by doctoring the firm's books, appropriating stamps and similar practices. The Magistrate, in consideration of Roberts' previous good character, sentenced him to only 60 days in the central.

PARSON'S CLOTHES.

Some Remarkable Attire Seen in the British Isles.

One evening when living in London lodgings the landlady appeared. "There is a person waiting to see you," she said, almost severely; his card says he is a clergyman, but he don't look it." I ran downstairs to recognize an old clerical friend, conscious all the while that the landlady was following me with glum looks. When I saw him I made allowance for prejudice. He was dressed all in gray, but neither trousers nor coat matched, and he had on a red tie. I took him up to my rooms, but I was conscious that I had lost caste with my landlady, and would never regain it. Sitting in my club smoking-room one night when a couple of persons in mufti, a nautical friend came in and sat down beside us. One of my friends asked a question as to parsons as passengers, which unloosed the sailor's tongue. He denounced parsons (at sea) and their ways in such plain English as reminded one of our army in Flanders, and told stories not redounding to clerical credit.

At length his tales became so decided in manner, and telling him that, I kicked him gently. "Pray don't stop him," said one friend, who unluckily had noticed the manœuvre; "though we are parsons we like to hear the truth; indeed, there is nothing we enjoy so much as stories to the discredit of the cloth." In the dress of the church clergy of 20 or 30 years ago there were subtle differences, which enabled one to decide at first sight whether the wearer belonged to the school of Pusey or was a follower of (say) Daniel Wilson. I believe there was once a time when the well-set parson was accustomed to wear swallow-tails all day long. If I remember rightly, the Rev. Septimus Harding, the sweet old precentor of Barchester, always did. I used to know a clergyman, very recently dead, who, till within the last half dozen years—when his last dress coat got too old for service—never wore any other kind of coat. It need hardly be said he was hyper-evangelical. I have noticed that in the matter of coats and trousers there is getting to be a clerical laxity. Short coats even in London are quite usual, due, I suppose, to the leveling influence of the bicycle. At the last Church Congress there was one parson who appeared in cycling costume of black, except that his stockings were variegated and his cap brown. As he wore a short surplice he was quite a marked figure in the robed procession to church. Not so long ago in Holborn, I saw an elderly clergyman I knew, habited in a cassock, gravely waltzing by himself to the music of a piano organ. He had so admiring a crowd around him that I thought it best not to speak. Afterward I found that there was to be a dance in connection with his church that night, and hearing the organ grinding out a waltz, thought it would be a good opportunity to practice his steps. The cassock seemed to get in his way a great deal. Broad Churchmen do not care whether their ties are white or black; indeed, I met one the other day who sported an up and down collar and a lavender tie.—The Church Gazette.

GUARANTEED BY THE EDITOR.

How Reporter Jack Rogers Got a Free Ride to Des Moines.

Jack Rogers was a newspaper reporter and broke. He had hung around the Dubuque newspaper offices for a job until he had been requested to move on. So he decided to move on to Des Moines, says a writer in The San Francisco Bulletin. But how to get there was the question. Jack put on his thinking cap and the result was that two hours later he found himself on a train and the conductor standing by his seat.

"Ticket!" said the conductor.

"See here, conductor," said Jack, easily, "my name's Rogers, and I'm a reporter on The Des Moines Air Blast. I'm broke and I'm in a hurry to get back home with a good big scoop. You let me ride and the office'll fix it up with you. See?"

"Well," said the conductor, "I guess that'll do all right. The road feels friendly towards The Air Blast. In fact, the editor is in the back coach. Come along and I'll introduce you. If he says you're all right it goes."

Jack was knocked all in a heap at the turn things had taken, but he had nothing to do but follow the conductor. They halted in front of a man in the back coach, and the conductor said:

"Mr. Smitem, this is Mr. Rogers. He says he's a reporter on your paper and wants the office to pay for his transportation when he gets to Des Moines."

"How do you do, Mr. Rogers," said the editor, pleasantly, extending his hand. "Glad to see you. Sit down here with me." The conductor didn't wait for any more, but went off.

"Well, this is nice of you," said Jack, too astonished and embarrassed to talk straight. "Of course, I'm not on your paper, but I'm broke and yarned to the conductor, hoping to get a job and square it up later."

"Oh, that's all right, my boy," said the other. "Neither am I on the paper. I'm riding on the editor's pass."—Chicago Times-Herald.

Using the Sun's Heat.

The utilization of the sun's heat has long been a favorite theory. Chicago inventors have built a mirror ten feet in diameter which has a reflecting area of 84 square feet. It throws a beam of light which when focused on a reduction lens melts the most refractory metals which have long defied human skill to melt, such as tantalum, orbium, paladium, ormium. This mirror boats the electrical furnace. Its rays can be concentrated to a single point or distributed over an area of one to twelve inches. It has driven a solar engine, has generated electricity and has lighted buildings by reflected light. A bigger mirror to be fifteen feet in diameter is now being made to be used for business purposes.

Hurlyburly's Never Done.

I am fond of excitement and fond of the town,
But I'm getting my fill these days;
When I step on the sidewalk, I'm nearly run down
By the teams on their way to a blaze;
Then the "L" road I take, and the car catches fire,
And the women all try to jump out,
And when I get down town—well, there's a live wire
All flinging destruction about.

There's a trolley car this way, a cable car that,
And the loop groans and snaps overhead,
The insurance patrol and police running flat—
And the things that the truck drivers said!
There are cabmen so gay, and the automobile,
And down drop the elevators;
With big hook and ladders and women awheel
I believe I am safer indoors.

But They'll Kiss When They Meet.

"I understand it was a case of love at first sight," he said.

"It was," replied the dearest friend of the woman in question. "It had to be. If he had looked a second time he never could have fallen in love with her."—Chicago Post.

The present hunting season has brought many visitors to the neighborhood. The weather has been most favorable, and good success has attended their excursions. When the railway lines are all completed to this place doubtless the number of such visitors will be greatly increased as the gentry from the front towns and cities will have an extensive choice of favorable districts for their sporting operations, including the great Algonquin Park....Telephone communications are now established among the business men here and shortly electric lights will be the order of the day. ....The great demand for laborers for the railway lines and and lumbering operations makes this a place of great activity, which, if the present prospects of the sale of limits are realized, will probably greatly increase....The developments of our widespread mineral deposits in addition is only in the bud.

Asthma Cure vs. Asthma Relief.

It is a recognized fact among those suffering from asthma that the longer they use the temporary relief asthma remedies which require to be burned, the worse they become, until it loses its effect entirely. Clarke's Kola Compound is not among this class, but will permanently cure the worst case of asthma in from 60 to 80 days. Mr. F. J. Painton, proprietor of Painton's Music Store, Vancouver, B. C., writes: "I have been a great sufferer from asthma in its worst form for over 15 years, and had consulted many physicians both in England and Canada, but obtained no relief. A friend of mine who had been cured by the Kola Compound advised me to try it, and three bottles have entirely cured me; it is now over two years since my recovery and asthma has not troubled me since; and previous to taking Clarke's Kola Compound I have many nights had to sit up nearly all night. It is a truly a wonderful remedy, and it affords me much pleasure in attesting my appreciation of anything so worthy." Clarke's Kola Compound is sold by all druggists. A long step ahead in quality
—yet never ahead in price.

The subject to-day is Overcoats.

Naturally, with so many handsome lines, we are anxious to introduce you to our elegant garments—anxious to again demonstrate the superiority of the "Quick & Robertson quality"—anxious to show you that selections from our fashionable, new Overcoats are not priced higher than garments of unknowable age and uncertain quality are marked elsewhere.

Overcoats for Gentlemen, $4 to $14.

Covering a wider range of fabrics than we've ever shown before, beginning with the staple lines at $4, passing up the finer goods to $14, through full lines of Kerseys, Irish Frieze, Meltons, Cheviots, Beavers, Vicunas and the new Llama Wool. Colors of Oxford Grey, Iron Grey, Soft Dark Grey, Black, Blue and Brown.

At $10 we show a beautiful All-wool English Beaver Overcoat with Silk Velvet Collar and stitched with silk throughout, best of linings and interlinings, and that graceful fit for which our garments are so well known.

Overcoats are cut a trifle longer this year, with plump fullness of body, roomy sleeves, shapely shoulders, and velvet collars not quite as wide as last year.

Fall Top Coats—full lines—$5 to $10.

For Young Gentlemen, 16 to 19 years—An equally large assortment of ultra fashionable Overcoats, with prices $5, $6, $8 to $12 50.

These comprise pleasing selections in the new mixtures popular with exclusive custom tailors. English Cheviots, fine and smooth Kerseys—correct style in every line.

For the "Little Gentlemen," 7 to 15 years—Are the nobbiest Overcoats ever shown in Belleville, prices $2,50 to $7.50.

These are in Coverts, Cheviots, Friezes and Beavers. Made after the fashionable mold of the Men's Overcoats, and with a little extra effort in finish.

Reefers for the Boys, 3 to 17 years, $1.25 to $5

Made from Serges, pure All-wool Chinchillas and Friezes with those big warm storm collars—button over the little breast and close up to the chin. Ideals of comfort and fashion, with never a doubt of satisfactory wear.

Men's Heavy Ulsters for $5.

For $5 we are showing an extra heavy All-wool Frieze Ulster, tweed lined, in brown and claret shades. This is without doubt the best coat shown to-day at that price. See it.

Come with confidence—there's no loophole for disappointment to follow your buying here.

In the Crude Old Days.

The royal will is being proclaimed.

"His most gracious majesty," shouts the herald, "is pleased to promise to the victor in today's tourney the hand of his beautiful daughter in marriage!"

"Oh, I feel dreadfully cheap!" protests the princess.

"Ungrateful child, be thankful that I am not offering you for a progressive euchre prize!" replies the king sternly.

For in those crude old days progressive euchre prizes were mostly procured at the 5 and 10 cent stores. Of course it is different now.—Detroit Journal.

His Parthian Arrow.

"Proud, insolent beauty," exclaimed the mortified young man rising to go, "I know why you refuse me!"

"Oh, do you?" she said, her lip curling in scorn.

"Yes! You refuse to marry a poor man because you aspire to a more glorious destiny. You want to be the cashier of some dairy lunch counter!"—Chicago Tribune.

Every drop of blood in the body goes through the kidneys for the removal of its impurities—every three minutes—night and day—while life lasts. Of our continual optical advertising is to awaken this community to the fact that it possesses eyes, and that they may require glasses if such be not already used; or that, if they be already used, they may not be the best ones for the eyes. We want members of the public to come to us to find out about these points, and when they do e they are satisfied that we know our business.

Afternoon Despatches.

THE INTELLIGENCER'S afternoon despatches are twelve hours in advance of the Toronto morning papers.

Troops Are Going North.

Transports Constantly Arriving at Capetown and Leaving by Train.

Many People Think a Majority of the Free State Boers are Against the War—Fighting at Mooi River.

(OTHER DESPATCHES ON INSIDE PAGES.)

Capetown, Nov. 22 (Evening)—The constant arrival of transports and the entraining of troops for the mysterious north are the chief incidents among the military.

Although the authorities exercise a strict watch over the transmission of news, it is permitted to say now that they are prepared to act against the Boers' aggression in the north.

Although it is absurd to underrate the Free Staters, it is the opinion of many competent to judge that if a plebiscite were taken it would show a majority against war.

Mooi River, Natal, Nov. 23.—The Boers guns began to shell the camp at 5 a.m. The British artillery is in a position on high ground to the east, west and north of the station.

The artillery duel was continued until 8 o'clock, when it ceased for one hour. The Boers recommenced at 9 and dropped three shells into the camp.

High Court of Justice.

Rogers vs. Morrow.—An action brought by plff. to set aside a will. This case occupied the attention of the court until a late hour last evening when it was concluded. Judgment on a point of law was reserved. Clute, Williams and Morden for plff.; H. S. Blake, Q. C., and E. G. Porter for defts.

Kern vs. G.T.R.—This was an action arising out of the Murray Hill disaster. To plff., a lad 10½ years of age seeks to recover damages from the railway for injuries sustained and loss of father and mother in the accident. Judgment reserved. Moss, E. G. Porter and J. Boyd for plff.; Messrs. W. Nesbitt, Q.C., and J. Bell, Q.C., for defts.

Winter Weather

Is fast approaching, and you haven't bought your heavy overcoat yet. Isn't it about time you were thinking of it? Quick & Robertson want you to see their stock, because we feel sure that we can give you what you want as to price and quality. We can't insist upon your buying here. We only want you to compare our goods and prices with other places. We won't have any trouble in getting you for a customer.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING

That, judging by appearances, Gen. Buller is delaying his advance till the Canadians get there.

That, for fear somebody may forget it, it may again be remarked that Ladysmith is all right.

That before long the municipal candidate will know how a man feels when a searchlight is turned on him.

That this thing of "Autumn lingering in the lap of winter" is all right. We have no kick coming to speak of.

That the fashion papers may be right when they say the veil is the cause of red noses, but the veil isn't the only pebble, "there are others."

That, just at present, if the municipal candidates will put their ears to the ground they will hear a peculiar rumbling sound—it is the taxpayers waking up.

That all the newspaper jokes about Ladysmith, Ladygrey and Ladybrand may, perhaps, serve a useful purpose—they may make people like the good old-fashioned word "woman" a little better.

That a certain newly-married man in the city has delivered himself of an epigram. He says marriage isn't a failure, but a married man strongly resembles a fool in one respect, because he and his money are soon parted.

That when that new Society for the Improvement of Municipal Affairs gets to work and drafts its platform, the following would be a good plank: "So far as possible, all work performed for the Corporation shall be done by day labor and not by contract."

That if any Belleville people ever said anything about Kingston they should take it back at once. She has trouble enough. The locomotive works threaten to leave unless they get a bonus of $75,000. Poor old Kingston—to hold on she'll have to consent to be held up.

That a good many remarks are being made about a sad case here in town, the victim of which, a young married woman, is liable to permanent disability. Medical treatment is needed, and needed badly, but irrevocable harm is being wrought by the so called faith cure. The faith cure is all right, but this is the way to apply it—get a good doctor and then have faith in him

THE WAR SUMMARY.

General Methuen's force has crossed the Orange River and is advancing to Kimberley.

The Boers are concentrated on the line of march, and are expected to offer a stout resistance.

Boer forces estimated at 6000 strong hold a position on the Mooi River on the line from Pietermaritzburg to Durban.

They are confronted by British forces, and have already exchanged artillery fire.

A fierce battle is expected here.

South of Estcourt the Boers are raiding and looting and have succeeded in capturing stud horses valued at £15,000.

It is reported from London that another army division will be mobilized for service in South Africa or elsewhere.

Telegraphic communication with Estcourt is still interrupted, but the garrison there is strong and aggressive.

A Boer account says that a sortie from Ladysmith on Monday last was repulsed.

LONDON TIMES' NEWS AND VIEWS.

What the Military Expert of the "Thunderer" Says on the Situation.

London, Nov. 23.—The military expert of The Times, in an editorial leader this morning, says:—The morning's news from South Africa is inconclusive, and in some respects a little difficult to understand. We are led to believe, for example, that there is a considerable British force at Estcourt, and we are told to-day that the British forces at Mooi River, fifteen miles south, are large. Yet the line between Estcourt and Mooi River appears to be in possession of the Boers, so that communication with Estcourt is evidently interrupted, we hope presently to be restored. But it seems odd that a considerable Boer force should be allowed to place itself with impunity right upon the line of communication between two important sections of the British forces. That the Boer force is considerable is inferred with some confidence from the statement that they posted guns upon the hills and actually shelled Mooi River camp from the north for a moment. Therefore we have a reproduction of the Ladysmith, Glencoe and Dundee situation. That is to say, three bodies of British troops, having no effective communication with each other, are faced, if not surrounded, by Boer commandos. This is a state of affairs out of which an issue must shortly be forced, unless the old difficulties about transport hampering our Generals arise.

IN HIS NEW PARISH.

Words of Praise for Rev. R. S. Forneri, Formerly of St. John's Church, Belleville.

Of the Rev. R. S. Forneri, formerly Rector of St. John's Church, this City, who has lately moved from Adelphastown to Merrickville, Ont., the paper published in the latter town has the following to say:

"We hear nothing but praises for our new clergyman, Rev. R. S. Forneri. Last Sunday he preached a very powerful and stirring sermon from the text: "I write unto you, fathers, because ye have known Him that is from the beginning. I have written unto you, young men, because ye are strong and the word of God abideth in you and ye have overcome the wicked one." He dwelt with peculiar emphasis on the loyalty displayed by the Canadian volunteers in so readily offering to assist in defending the flag of our forefathers now unfurled in South Africa. He referred to the high courage shown by our troops in their trials in Egypt and the Northwest. He closed his discourse with the thought that this innate courage is a result of the word of God abiding in them."

On leaving the Rural Deanery of Lennox and Addington Rev. Mr. Forneri was presented with an address by the clergy of the Deanery, expressing the regret they felt at parting from him and voicing the universal wish that his new lines might lie in pleasant places. The address says: "It now remains for us to assure you that you carry away with you a large share of our esteem for a genial and sincere neighbor, our affection for a loyal and amiable brother churchman, and our respect for a Diocesan Officer whose conscientious discharge of his duties, always arduous, often thankless, has been an inspiration to us all."

Citizens of Belleville who remember Rev. Mr. Forneri will heartily join in the expressions of good will towards a high-minded Christian gentleman. THE INTELLIGENCER wishes Rev. Mr. Forneri all success in his new field of labor.

Shoddy in Clothing.

There is a big difference between selling cheap goods and selling goods cheap. Low prices alone is a poor inducement to buy clothing. The Oak Hall have not an ounce of shoddy in the store, to our knowledge. We have no use for satinets or pressed or printed worsted or any other base fabrics meant only to deceive. Wear is the greatest virtue in clothing and the only test of value is time. We never did and never will sell clothing that won't wear.

Accident on the Midland.

A peculiar accident occurred yesterday morning upon the express on the Midland line which leaves here at 5:40 a.m. and runs to Peterboro. When near Campbellford the water gauge of the locomotive burst with a loud report as of a violent explosion and the cab immediately filled with smoke and steam. In the confusion the fireman, Jos. Sullivan, an Emmismore man, thought that a serious accident had or was about to occur and he jumped from the cab to the ground with the train running at full speed. Fortunately he escaped with comparatively slight injuries. His head and one ear were rather badly cut and one leg was also cut somewhat. His injuries were dressed at St. Joseph's hospital, Peterboro.

THE MYSTERY OF COUNT LANDRINOF

BY FRED WHISHAW

COPYRIGHT 1899 BY THE AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION.

my enemies. Tell the countess that I may return at any time, maybe this very week—who knows? Perhaps we shall return together, you and I.'

"With that," wrote Borofsky, "we parted, but though we parted, I made sure that his excellence returned to the hotel, for I followed him. This was last night, and today we have not spoken. The count is considering, he told me, whether to risk a return at once. In a few days we shall know for certain—a week at latest. Have I done well? I have done my best."

CHAPTER XIII.

THE COUNT'S RETURN PROMISED.

Borofsky had done well—indeed he could scarcely have managed better.

Nevertheless the whole of the story his letter told us, though undoubtedly a true story, rang, somehow, in a false key.

This picture of father was not like my dear old dad as I knew him, and I could not help feeling, though I said nothing of it to mother, that if Borofsky had exaggerated nothing in describing his violence and the eccentricity of his behavior, then my poor father must certainly be irresponsible, for the present, for his words and actions—in a word, something or some combination of circumstances had bereft him of his senses.

God grant Borofsky would succeed in bringing the poor, dear old man safely home with him! The soothing influence of quiet home life and the loving attention of his wife would be more likely to restore him to himself than any other treatment.

I could see that mother felt much the same as I about it. She looked at me with tear laden eyes when I had finished the letter.

"Is that all?" she asked.

"That's all, mother," I said, and I dared add nothing to this for fear of betraying myself. Neither did my mother speak for some little while, and, though I scarcely glanced at her, I knew well that she cried quietly.

"Borofsky will bring him back in a few days, dearest," I said at length, "and a little quiet home life will soon make him quite himself again."

"God grant it!" she said. "God grant it! Oh!" she added suddenly, with a burst of emotion. "What has my poor Vladimir ever done to be visited by so terrible an affliction, and what manner of calamity could have occurred to such a man that could be sufficiently overwhelming to unhinge his mind?"

These were questions which I could not answer, for they were the very ones that were vexing my own soul as well as hers.

"We shall know all, mother, in God's good time," I said. "Let us be patient and face the trouble. When father comes, we will make it our business to rid him of these delusions and fears, as though any one could possibly conspire against dear old pater! He hasn't an enemy in the world. I'm sure of it. What can possibly have put such ideas into his head? He imagines he has written constantly, you see, and that his letters have been intercepted. He has not intentionally left us without news even in this terrible time of mind unhinged and of many sad delusions."

It comforted mother to talk, and we conversed in this way for an hour and more, but without coming to any other conclusion than that father was undoubtedly out of his mind temporarily, and that the sooner our excellent little Sherlock Holmes succeeded in bringing him home the better.

How anxiously we awaited the next letter or telegram! No words could adequately describe the anguish of suspense we suffered. What if Borofsky should have failed, after all, to induce the poor, dear, delusion haunted old man to accompany him home? He might take fright at any moment and mistrust Borofsky's good faith, or, worse still, become violent and attack, perhaps even murder, the man in a paroxysm of madness. Merciful heaven forbid it, what a terrible thing that would be! I did not mention my forebodings to mother lest I should frighten her, but I spoke to Percy, who said he had felt the very same fears.

Then came Borofsky's third letter, a very short one, but a letter that gladdened our hearts and caused us to feel that all was well, or nearly so.

"I have persuaded the count to come," he wrote, "and we shall start tomorrow. I shall telegraph on Tuesday from the frontier if we shall have arrived so far in safety. Meanwhile, a few words of caution: Treat the count as though nothing had happened. Do not allude to his delusion. Further, he has expressed a hope more than once that you will not speak of his return. He would rather see and be seen by none but his own household, and the servants should be warned to say nothing of his absence or of his home coming. He imagines, you will bear in mind, that he has many enemies. These, says the count, should be left to suppose he is still absent from St. Petersburg; otherwise he will not be allowed to dwell in peace."

Alas, poor old father. Well, at any rate, he was coming home. The future was in wiser hands than ours.

Tuesday found us all in a condition of unspeakable excitement. The Berlin express would reach the frontier early in the afternoon, and our telegram should arrive at about 4 or earlier.

How we got through the morning, mother and I, I cannot remember. I can recall nothing of that day excepting that Percy almost compelled me to go with him for a walk and tried to talk cricket to me and Oxford and Toddlestone and all manner of subjects, but that I would have none of them and could only speak of telegrams and the frontier and the time of day, and so on.

Luncheon time came and passed and the afternoon slowly wore. Three o'clock was reached and done with; then half past and then 4, and still the telegram had not arrived. Had Borofsky failed, after all?

Then it came.

The message was placed in my hands by one of the men. I tore the envelope open and read

Vseo blagopoluchno. (All well.)

BOROFSKY.

And with the document I rushed to my mother.

"It's all right, dearest," I blurted. "Borofsky has got him. Tomorrow evening dad will dine with us!"

I think we cried together over that telegram—tears of pure relief and rest from anxiety.

This was the happiest afternoon and evening we had spent for two months. True, tomorrow's meeting would be painful no doubt; but, oh, the difference to have father with us, ill though he might be, rather than to think of him as a poor lost soul alone in London, helpless and friendless and demented!

I thought the evening of that Wednesday would never come. How slowly the wingless moments crawled! We prepared everything for father's comfort; we made his rooms look as in-

PREMIER GREENWAY AFRAID.

Would Not Hear Mr. Fisher, Russell's Independent.

He and His Party Left, but the Audience Remained and Mr. Fisher Made a Rattling Speech to Them — Stewart Tupper's Arraignment — Government Resorting to Bribery Tricks to Save Themselves.

Winnipeg, Nov. 22.—(Special.)—There was a large attendance at the meeting at Russell last evening called in the interest of Mr. Crerar, the Government Candidate. Mr. James Fisher, Independent, had called a meeting for the same evening at Millwood, but cancelled it in order to meet the Premier. When the meeting was called to order Mr. Fisher asked to have an opportunity to speak during the evening. He explained he had already asked Mr. Crerar and the chairman, who had refused, after consulting the Premier. He further said that the chairman had intimated that if the audience chose to remain after the regular speaking was over, there would be no objection to his (Mr. Fisher) addressing them, but the Government candidate and party would not remain. Against this decision there were loud protests.

Mr. Greenway said he was a strong believer in the Hudson Bay Railway, and promised a ten-cent rate to Lake Superior.

At the close of the speech Mr. Greenway and his party, including the Government candidate, left the hall, while on the platform was left the chairman and Mr. Fisher alone, the audience nearly all remaining.

Mr. Fisher addressed them at length, dealing with the Dauphin and Southeastern Railway schemes, and the gerrymander.

There was much comment on the action of the Government party in refusing to let Mr. Fisher take part in the discussion in their presence, and Mr. Fisher's friends claim that his cause has gained thereby.

The general impression here is that the fight will be really between Mr. Fisher and Mr. Mullins, the Conservative. Mr. Greenway speaks here on Friday night.

The Government Party Scared.

J. Stewart Tupper, son of Sir Charles, in a speech last night, declared that the Government was discredited, as was apparent by the fact of their attempting to steal the election by springing it on without proper notice; also by the Prime Minister's confession of weakness in his own constituency. Afraid of certain defeat, he had gerrymandered the constituency of Mountain, cutting off 150 votes. The opponents of the Government would have to be on the alert, and prepare themselves, for the Government were willing to resort to any means to save themselves. The speaker said he had just heard of a supporter of Mr. Macdonald being offered a tempting bribe by a man in high position to induce him to act against his convictions and support the Government. Other influences and schemes might be resorted to, and the Conservative party would adopt a means to combat them. He urged all to work for the bringing out of the honest will of the people, which was all the Conservative party desired. The feeling throughout the province was for a change of Government. [Applause.]

QUEBEC SOLDIERS ARE INSURED.

Private Individuals Have Done for Members of the Contingent What Government Funked On.

Montreal, Nov. 22.—(Special.)—While the Dominion Government so signally failed to carry out the program of insuring the members of the Canadian regiment now on the way to South Africa on the Sardinian, individual effort is doing much to counteract the effect. It is announced this morning that a line of straight life insurance has been effected by the people of Quebec, and the married men of the Quebec company now carry $500 each on their lives, besides, of course, the $1000 policy which was written on them before their departure. This insurance, which has just been written in the London & Lancashire, was made possible by the arrangements which the Standard, the British Empire and the London & Lancashire Companies completed for the insuring of the entire contingent, and which the country was led to believe the Government meant to do.

Man and Horse Killed.

Springford, Ont., Nov. 23.—Ephriam Monk, an old resident of this vicinity, was instantly killed at noon yesterday by the western express at the M.C.R. crossing. His daughter was badly hurt, and the horse they were driving was killed.

Did you ever notice the man in the switching-tower? Does it ever occur to you that the lives of every living person on a train frequently depend on the promptness and intelligence with which he moves the switch levers under his control?

If men could only realize how small a thing may act at the critical instant to switch them from a dangerous track on to one of perfect safety, the yearly deaths from lung diseases would be less by many thousands.

"I had a regular consumptive cough, of which I was afraid, and everybody cautioned and warned me concerning it," says Mr. A. F. Novotny, P. O. Box 1437, New York, in a significant letter to Dr. R. V. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y. "When I started to take your medicine I was losing weight rapidly; I was very pale and had no appetite whatever. I used three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and now my condition is changed entirely. I do not cough at all; I have gained eight pounds in weight, have gained my healthy color; and my appetite is enormous. I can and will recommend your medicine to everybody who may be in need of it; as it is a sure cure, and no humbug as so many other patent medicines are. It is by far the superior of all."

One chapter of Dr. Pierce's great thousand-page illustrated book, The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser tells of nearly one hundred men and women thus promptly switched from the track of death by this matchless remedy. This book is sent free for the bare cost of customs and mailing, 31 one-cent stamps, or cloth-bound for 50 stamps.

BRITISH ON THE DEFENSIVE.

Joubert's Plan to Destroy Mooi Bridge and Cut Off Retreat.

Situation in Natal is Now at the Boiling Point and Both Forces Are in Close Quarters—Lord Methuen Is Moving North—Has Crossed the Orange River and Is Advancing to Kimberley.

London, Nov. 23.—Although it is evident that the situation in Natal is again becoming sufficiently alarming, nothing can be officially ascertained to allay public anxiety or the curiosity felt regarding the disposition of the reinforcements recently landed at Durban. The War Office despatches are confined to a mere recital of a few casualties at Mooi River, which confirm the reports of skirmishes there, but give no details as to how the engagements have happened. The special correspondents are only permitted to describe Major-General Barton's camp at Mooi River vaguely as "large" or "ample."

Near Pietermaritzburg.

One correspondent says that 7000 Boers are within 25 miles of Howick's Falls, near Pietermaritzburg, and that the inhabitants are fleeing to the capital.

Evidently a considerable force of the enemy is now within 30 or 40 miles of Pietermaritzburg, but it is officially announced from there that no anxiety prevails, the garrison numbering 1000 men, with [illegible] guns.

Gen. Joubert's Plan.

General Joubert's plan, apparently, is a daring attempt to defeat the British relieving column from Durban in detail, while still attempting the reduction of Ladysmith. A serious attack on Mooi River camp is now hourly expected, with the object of destroying the bridge at Weston. Should this be accomplished, the Boers would be free to turn their attention again to Estcourt, while if it fails the enemy would retire again on Weenen and join the investing forces around Ladysmith.

Little in the Story.

The Boer report that General Hildyard's messenger, asking General White for assistance, was captured, caused some uneasiness, but it is argued that if General Hildyard had not been strong enough to hold out he would some time ago have been ordered to retire on Pietermaritzburg. Therefore, small credence is given the story.

How Are the Garrisons?

Nothing is known regarding the food supplies of the garrisons thus isolated. It is believed that Estcourt is well provided, but there is less confidence in the case of Mooi River.

There is no further news from the western frontier, except the list of casualties, showing that one trooper was killed and nine were wounded at Kimberley on Nov. 16, and confirming the accounts of the sortie previously reported from Boer sources.

Outsiders Join the Boers.

It is announced from Paris that Col. De Villebois Mareuil, a French officer, has accepted the post of chief of staff to General Joubert, in succession to Col. Schiel, the German officer who was wounded and taken prisoner at Elandslaagte. From the same source it is reported that two Russian officers—Lieut.-Col. Gonetzki of the Guards and General Seletz of another crack Russian regiment—have resigned and are going to join the Boers.

More Gifts.

An Australian, who wishes his name withheld, has given £10,000 to the war fund. A Britisher who prefers to remain anonymous has undertaken to defray the cost of distributing all gifts to troops in South Africa.

BRITISH ON THE DEFENSIVE.

Boers Made Desperate Attempt to Capture Position at Mooi River.

Durban, Nov. 22.—(10 p.m.)—To-day's engagement at Mooi River found the British almost entirely on the defensive. A correspondent of The Natal Advertiser says the Boers' second shell fell within a few yards of a detachment of British infantry, that the shells did little or no damage, and that firing continued for about half an hour, at intervals of from three to four minutes. According to this account, the British troops prepared with the utmost promptitude and advanced under cover wherever possible. The British artillery was in position behind the hotel, where General Barton and his staff were being accommodated. Major Thorneycroft's mounted infantry moved to cover on a ridge on the enemy's left flank. The Devonshire Regiment and the Royal Welsh Fusiliers occupied the trenches. There was but little firing, the correspondent says, but the enemy possessed at least one howitzer, with a range of five miles, besides several six-pounders.

Prince Christian Victor has been appointed to the staff of Captain Percy Scott, the Durban commandant.

AGAIN IN CLOSE QUARTERS.

Boers Surround the Mooi River Station—Looting the Farmers.

London, Nov. 23.—The Daily News has the following from Pietermaritzburg, under date of Wednesday:

"Your correspondent managed to escape from the Mooi River district yesterday before the arrival of 6000 Boers, who are looting the farmsteads in all directions. The Natal Boers, encouraged by the success of the Transvaalers, join in the looting.

"The main body of the Boers made a rapid march from Ulundi, southwest of Estcourt, to a point near Fort Nottingham, South Frailway, in a single day. They are within 40 miles of Pietermaritzburg at the farthest, and it is thought they intend to attack the town."

Boers Near Nottingham Road.

London, Nov. 23.—A despatch from The Daily News from Nottingham Road, Natal, dated Tuesday, says the Boers have arrived near there.

Boers Opened Fire.

Durban, Nov. 22.—The Boers opened fire with artillery on Mooi River camp from the north, but without casualties to the British.

British Fired in Return.

Mooi River, Natal, Nov. 22.—(8 p.m.)—The British fired several shells, which are believed to have caused havoc among the Boers, the latter taking advantage of the heavy rain and retiring. The Boers' shells were apparently aimed at the bridge. It was a surprise attack, but had been fully guarded. The British had three wounded.

Boers Coming From the West.

Durban, Nov. 22.—About 3000 Free State Boers, with guns, are marching from the west by way of Fort Nottingham.

Surround the Mooi River Station.

London, Nov. 23.—The Morning Post correspondent at Pietermaritzburg, telegraphing Tuesday evening, says: "The Boers are now all around Mooi River station, where another of your correspondents is reported to be with the troops."

LATEST FROM PRETORIA.

White's Forces Endeavored to Make a Sortie, but Were Driven Back.

Pretoria, Tuesday, Nov. 21.—The following despatch has been received from the Boer headquarters near Ladysmith:

"The field cornets of the Pretoria commando reported that British gun carriages and some horsemen had been heard moving last night in Ladysmith. Our outposts observed the British endeavoring to sortie toward Lombard's Kop and Bulwana Hill, where the Maxims opened fire. The range was too great, and therefore our artillery began shelling, which drove the British back. About daybreak the British batteries fired upon our positions. Two burghers were wounded.

"It is supposed that the object of the sorties was to relieve the Estcourt force, who had sent an urgent message to Ladysmith requesting aid. The burghers captured the messenger, but finally allowed him to proceed."

It is reported that the Natal police have captured a number of Transvaal despatch riders.

In his latest report General Joubert says: "I am cutting off the retreat of the [illegible] troops to Pietermaritzburg and driving them back on the Tugela River."

It is also reported that the Boer commander with the forces near Ladysmith has "comprehensively surveyed the different points from which the fall of Ladysmith can be assured."

SOUVENIR..

"A Dainty Dish to set before a King" if cooked in a Souvenir.

THE cook in the kitchen, with years of experience backing her, will know to a turn how much of each article is needed to give perfection to the dainty dish she has in preparation. Then comes the cooking. Here's the rub—here's where the daintiest dish comes to grief in an ordinary oven.

A constant rushing of pure, fresh air throughout the aerated oven makes impossible the retaining of any flavors that may have come from the foods previously cooked, whilst the fact that these ovens are lined with aluminum makes it impossible that anything adhere to them. Never any disappointment where a Souvenir is installed in the kitchen.

—For the asking you are welcome to a copy of a pretty little booklet —entitled "Kitchen Wisdom," illustrated by J. W. Bengough and J. S.
—Gordon, which tells you more about this wonderful aerated oven.

MR. BRYCE'S OPINIONS.

He Holds That Colonial Independence Is Checked by Affection.

London, Nov. 23.—Right Hon. James Bryce, M.P., former president of the Board of Trade, and ex-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, paid considerable attention to the colonies in addressing his constituents of Aberdeen yesterday. He said the spirit of independence in Australia was kept in check by affection for the Mother Country and pride in her greatness, seconded by complete identity of blood and speech. In Canada also, Mr. Bryce added, the spirit of independence was restrained by the same influence, aided by the natural rivalry existing between Canadians and the people of the United States.

Comment is made on the opinions expressed by Mr. Bryce by the Pall Mall Gazette, which says everybody appeals to Canada as an example.

At Death's Door—Dyspepsia Conquered. A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

LINES BROKE—LADY KILLED.
Miss Eleanor Moore, Teacher at Alma College, Dies of Her Wounds.

St. Thomas, Nov. 23.—A terrible accident occurred here between 12 and 1 o'clock yesterday morning. A party of young people were returning from Fingal, where two of the ladies were taking part in a concert.

When coming down the steep hill on Talbot-street the lines broke, causing the horses to run away.

Miss Eleanor Moore, teacher at Alma College, who was chaperoning the party, was thrown out and was so severely hurt that she died from the effects half an hour afterwards. Her neck was broken.

Miss Robb, a student at Alma, was badly injured, but Miss Ellis, the third young woman, escaped without injury.

The two young gentlemen who accompanied the party were badly shaken up, but were not otherwise injured.

Miss Moore's home was near Islington, a few miles from Toronto, and she went to Alma College last September as a teacher of science and mathematics.

THE FOX BAY METHODISTS.
An Attempt Now Being Made to Settle Them in Manitoba.

Montreal, Nov. 23.—Mr. Mills, a Toronto barrister, Rev. Dr. Griffiths, pastor of the Quebec Methodist Church, and Mr. L. A. Cannon, advocate, of Quebec, left there on Wednesday night by the Intercolonial Railway, and Rimouski yesterday by the Government revenue steamer Constance, for Anticosti. It appears that they are going to the Island as delegates of the Federal Government to offer homestead lands on the banks of Lake Winnipegosis, Manitoba, to the Fox Bay settlers, in order to provide them with future homes and to put an end, if possible, to their difficulties with Mr. Menier. This is all that is known at present of their mission, but it is understood that before leaving they had several prolonged interviews with the Hon. F. G. Marchand of the Quebec Government, and it is thought that the latter will also do something towards giving the Fox Bay families a new start in life in the Prairie Province.

SUSPENSION OF COASTING LAWS.
Delegation Goes to Ottawa and Protests Against Their Suspension.

Ottawa, Nov. 23.—E. B. Osler, M.P., and B. M. Britton, M.P., headed a delegation that waited on the Government yesterday afternoon and protested against the suspension of the coasting laws on the lakes.

In addition to declaring that the suspension was illegal, the delegates pointed out that it would ultimately destroy Canadian shipping and Canadian ship building. It was also shown that it was not necessary. Mr. Osler pointed out that only one American boat took advantage of it.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that the other side of the question would have to be heard. However, the Government had only changed the law temporarily, and had no intention of making it permanent.

GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER.
Verdict in the Case of George Harding in London.

London, Nov. 23.—The trial of George Harding on the charge of killing Andrew Gowanlock at the O'Neil House stables on the evening of Aug. 28, was begun at the Middlesex Fall Assizes at 10 o'clock yesterday morning before His Lordship Chief Justice Armour. The Crown endeavored to prove that Gowanlock's death was caused by a blow struck by Harding while the two men were engaged in a rough-and-tumble-fight. The case for both the defence and Crown was finished before 5 o'clock, and shortly after the jury returned with a verdict of guilty of manslaughter. Harding will be sentenced Saturday.

LORD SALISBURY IS ILL.
The British Premier Laid Aside by Influenza—Will He Retire From Office?

London, Nov. 23.—The Marquis of Salisbury is suffering from an attack of influenza and is unable to attend to public business.

Were a Devoted Couple.

London, Nov. 23.—The death of Lady Salisbury has evoked a pathetic note of personal sympathy with the Premier, for, despite his reticent shyness concerning domestic affairs, it is well known that the couple was a peculiarly devoted one. Though the papers here are naturally silent on the subject, it is the general impression that Lord Salisbury will not remain in office after the close of the way. His own health is far from robust, while this loss must certainly seriously affect his mental and physical powers.

Will Chamberlain Be Premier?

Already the matter of a successor is discussed, the choice lying between Mr. Chamberlain and Lord Rosebery, the majority of the old-fashioned Tories preferring the latter, who will have also a strong Liberal as opposed to Radical backing.

PROBABLY ALL HANDS LOST.
Tidings of the Grace Rice, Which Sailed From Halifax Months Ago.

Halifax, N. S., Nov. 23.—John Ellis, storekeeper at A. N. Whiteman's warehouse, has received tidings of the missing Nova Scotia schooner Grace Rice, which left Halifax for Porto Rico several months ago. Sergeant Joseph H. Waters of the United States Infantry, wrote to Mr. Ellis from Porto Rico that the wreck of a large three-masted wooden schooner had drifted ashore there, bottom up, and that a number of barrel heads bearing the name, "John Ellis," and also some packages with the marks, "J.J." inside of a diamond, supposed to be the marks of A. G. Jones & Co., had come ashore. There can be little doubt that the hull is that of the Grace Rice. She was loaded with dry, pickled and smoked fish. Several packages which were washed ashore contained smoked herrings. The Rice was never heard from after leaving here, and probably foundered at sea with all hands. She was a vessel of 145 tons, owned by John H. Killam of Yarmouth. Capt. G. L. Walsh was her commander.

HAS DE WITTE BEEN CROOKED?
Count Muravieff Has Been Instructed to Find Out.

Berlin, Nov. 23.—The Deutsche Zeitung yesterday published the following despatch from St. Petersburg: "The Czar has instructed Minister of Justice Muravieff to investigate the allegations that M. De Witte, Minister of Finance, has been manipulating the Bourse to his personal advantage. M. de Witte has made an ineffectual attempt at suicide. His wife requested an audience with the Czar, but her request was rejected. Several high financiers and officials are said to be implicated."

Nothing is known in Berlin regarding these statements. Dr. Miquel, the Minister of Finance, who is an intimate friend of the Russian Minister of Finance, said he knew nothing about the matter, except that the antagonism between M. Muravieff and M. De Witte was of long standing.

AGUINALDO HAS GOT AWAY.
Gen. Young Did Not Nab Him as Expected.

Manila, Nov. 23.—Gen. Young reports that Aguinaldo, with a party of 250, including some women and a few carts, passed Aringay, on the coast between San Fabian and San Fernando, in the Province of Union, on Friday, Nov. 17. The general adds that Aguinaldo probably intended to strike inland through the Binquet Mountains, towards Bayombong, in the Province of Nueva Viscaya. Gen. Young, with cavalry and Macabebes, is pursuing the Filipino leader, part of the American force taking the direction of San Fernando. In a fight with Aguinaldo's rear guard at Aringay one Macabebe was wounded and the insurgents retreated. Their loss is unknown.

Some cough mixtures smother the cough. But the next breeze fans it into life again.

Better put the cough out. That is, better go deeper and smother the fires of inflammation. Troches cannot do this. Neither can plain cod-liver oil.

But Scott's Emulsion can. The glycerine soothes and makes comfortable; the hypophosphites give power and stability to the nerves; and the oil feeds and strengthens the weakened tissues.

THE COMING SERMON.
FUTURE DISCOURSE WILL BE FULL OF A LIVING CHRIST.

NO DIDACTIC TECHNICALITIES.

This Living Christ Will Be One Who Means Pardon and Sympathy, Condolence and Brotherhood, Life and Heaven, For the Poor Man and Also For the Rich.

Washington, Nov. 19.—In this discourse Dr. Talmage addresses all Christian workers and describes what he thinks will be the modes of preaching the gospel in the future; text, Romans xii, 7, "Or ministry, let us wait on our ministering."

While I was seated on the piazza of a hotel at Lexington, Ky., one summer evening, a gentleman asked me, "What do you think of the coming sermon?" I supposed he was asking me in regard to some new discourse of Dr. Cumming of London, who sometimes preached startling sermons, and I replied, "I have not seen it." But I found out afterward that he meant to ask what I thought would be the characteristics of the coming sermon of the world, the sermons of the future, the word "Cumming" as a noun pronounced the same as the word coming as an adjective. But my mistake suggested to me a very important and practical theme, "The Coming Sermon."

Before the world is converted the style of religious discourse will have to be converted. You might as well go into the modern Sedan or Gettysburg with bows and arrows, instead of rifles and bombshells and parks of artillery, as to expect to conquer this world for God by the old styles of exhortation and sermonology. Jonathan Edwards preached the sermons most adapted to the age in which he lived, but if these sermons were preached now they would divide an audience into two classes—those sound asleep, and those wanting to go home.

But there is a discourse of the future. Who will preach it I have no idea. In what part of the earth it will be born I have no idea. In which denomination of Christians it will be delivered I cannot guess. That discourse of exhortation may be born in the country meeting house on the banks of the St. Lawrence or the Oregon or the Ohio or the Tombigbee or the Alabama. The person who shall deliver it may this moment be in a cradle under the shadow of the Sierra Nevadas or in a New England farmhouse or amid the rice fields of southern savannas, or this moment there may be some young man in one of our theological seminaries in the junior or middle or senior class, shaping that weapon of power, or there may be coming some new baptism of the Holy Ghost on the churches, so that some of us who now stand in the watch towers of Zion, waking to a realization of our present inefficiency, may preach it ourselves. That coming discourse may not be 50 years off. And let us pray God that its arrival may be hastened while I announce to you what I think will be the chief characteristics of that discourse or exhortation when it does arrive, and I want to make my remarks appropriate and suggestive to all classes of Christian workers.

First of all, I remark that that future religious discourse will be full of a living Christ in contradistinction to didactic technicalities. A discourse may be full of Christ though hardly mentioning his name, and a sermon may be empty of Christ while every sentence is repetitions of his titles. The world wants a living Christ, not a Christ standing at the head of a formal system of theology, but a Christ who means pardon and sympathy and condolence and brotherhood and life and heaven, a poor man's Christ, a rich man's Christ, an overworked man's Christ, an invalid's Christ, a farmer's Christ, a merchant's Christ, an artisan's Christ, an every man's Christ.

That sermon or exhortation of the future will not deal with men in the threadbare illustrations of Jesus Christ. In that coming address there will be instances of vicarious suffering taken right out of everyday life, for there is not a day when somebody is not dying for others—as the physician saving his diphtheritic patient by sacrificing his own life; as the ship captain going down with his vessel while he is getting his passengers into the lifeboat; as the fireman consuming in the burning building while he is taking a child out of the fourth story window; as in summer the strong swimmer at East Hampton or Long Branch or Cape May or Lake George himself perished while trying to save the drowning; as the newspaper boy, one summer, supporting his mother for some years, his invalid mother, when offered by a gentleman 50 cents to get some special paper, and he got it, and rushed up in his anxiety to deliver it and was crushed under the wheels of the train and lay on the grass with only strength enough to say, "Oh, what will become of my poor sick mother now?" Vicarious suffering — the world is full of it. An engineer said to me on a locomotive in Dakota: "We men seem to be coming to better appreciation than we used to. Did you see that account the other day of the engineer who to save his passengers stuck to his place, and when he was found dead in the locomotive, which was upside down, he was found still smiling, his hand on the airbrake?" And as the engineer said it to me he put his hand on the airbrake to illustrate his meaning, and I looked at him and thought, "You would be just as much a hero in the same crisis."

A German sculptor made an image of Christ, and he asked his little child, 2 years old, what it was, and she said, "That must be some very great man." The sculptor was displeased with the criticism, so he got another block of marble and chiseled away on it two or three years, and then he brought in his little child, 4 or 5 years of age, and said to her, "Who do you think that is?" She said, "That must be the one who took little children in his arms and blessed them." Then the sculptor was satisfied. Oh, my friends, what the world wants is not a cold Christ, not an intellectual Christ, not a severely magisterial Christ, but a loving Christ, spreading out his arms of sympathy to press the whole world to his loving heart!

The trouble is we preach audiences into a Christian frame, and then we preach them out of it. We forget that every auditor has so much capacity of attention, and when that is exhausted he is restless. That accident on the Long Island railroad years ago came from the fact that the brakes were out of order, and when they wanted to stop the train they could not stop, and hence the casualty was terrific. In all religious discourse we want locomotive power and propulsion. We want at the same time stout brakes to let down at the right instant. It is a dismal thing, after a hearer has comprehended the whole subject, to hear a man say, "Now to recapitulate," and "A few words by way of application," and "Once more," and "Finally," and "Now to conclude."

Paul preached until midnight, and Eutychus got sound asleep and fell out of a window and broke his neck. Some would say, "Good for him." I would rather be sympathetic, like Paul, and resuscitate him. That accident is often quoted now in religious circles as a warning against somnolence in church. It is just as much a warning to ministers against prolixity. Eutychus was wrong in his somnolence, but Paul made a mistake when he kept on until midnight. He ought to have stopped at 11 o'clock, and there would have been no accident. If Paul might have gone on to too great length, let all those of us who are now preaching the gospel remember that there is a limit to religious discourse, or ought to be, and that in our time we have no apostolic power of miracles. Napoleon in an address of seven minutes thrilled his army and thrilled Europe. Christ's sermon on the mount, the model sermon, was less than 18 minutes long at ordinary mode of delivery. It is not electricity scattered all over the sky that strikes, but electricity gathered into a thunderbolt and hurled, and it is not religious truth scattered over and spread out over a vast reach of time, but religious truth projected in compact form that flashes light upon the soul and rives its indifference.

When the religious discourse of the future arrives in this land and in the Christian church, the discourse which is to arouse the world and startle the nations and usher in the kingdom, it will be a brief discourse. Hear it, all theological students, all ye men and women who in Sabbath schools and other departments are toiling for Christ and the salvation of immortals—brevity, brevity.

But I remark also that the religious discourse of the future of which I speak will be a popular discourse. There are those in these times that speak of a popular sermon as though there must be something wrong about it. As these critics are dull themselves, the world gets the impression that a sermon is good in proportion as it is stupid. Christ was the most popular preacher the world ever saw, and, considering the small number of the world's population, had the largest audience ever gathered. He never preached anywhere without making a great sensation. People rushed out in the wilderness to hear him, reckless of their physical necessities. So great was their anxiety to hear Christ that, taking no food with them, they would have fainted and starved had not Christ performed a miracle and fed them. Why did so many people take the truth at Christ's hands? Because they all understood it. He illustrated his subject by a hen and her chickens, by a bushel measure, by a handful of salt, by a bird's flight, and by a lily's aroma. All the people knew what he meant, and they flocked to him. And when the religious discourse of the future appears it will not be Princetonian, not Rochesterian, not Andoverian, not Middletonian, but Olivetic — plain, practical, unique, earnest, comprehensive of all the woes, wants, sins and sorrows of an auditory.

But when that exhortation or discourse does come there will be a thousand gleaming scimiters to charge on it. There are in so many theological seminaries professors telling young men how to preach, themselves not knowing how, and I am told that if a young man in some of our theological seminaries says anything quaint or thrilling or unique faculty and students fly at him and set him right and straighten him out and smooth him down and chop him off until he says everything just as everybody else says it. Oh, when the future religious discourse of the Christian church arrives all the Churches of Christ in our great cities will be thronged!

A mother with a dead babe in her arms came to the good Siva and asked to have her child restored to life. The good Siva said to her, "You go and get a handful of mustard seed from a house in which there has been no sorrow and in which there has been no death and I will restore your child to life." So the mother went out, and she went from house to house and from home to home looking for a place where there had been no sorrow and where there had been no death, but she found none. She went back to the good Siva and said: "My mission is a failure. You see I haven't brought the mustard seed. I can't find a place where there has been no sorrow and no death." "Oh!" says the good Siva. "Understand, your sorrows are no worse than the sorrows of others. We all have our griefs, and all have our heartbreaks."

Laugh, and the world laughs with you;
Weep and you weep alone;
For the sad old earth must borrow its mirth;
But has trouble enough of its own

We hear a great deal of discussion now all over the land about why people do not go to church. Some say it is because Christianity is dying out, and because people do not believe in the truth of God's word, and all that. They are false reasons. The reason is because our sermons and exhortations are not interesting and practical and helpful. Some one might as well tell the whole truth on this subject, and so I will tell it. The religious discourse of the future, the gospel sermon to come forth and shake the nations and lift people out of darkness, will be a popular sermon, just for the simple reason that it will meet the woes and the wants and the anxieties of the people.

There are in all our denominations ecclesiastical mummies sitting around to frown upon the fresh young pulpits of America to try to awe them down, to cry out: "Tut, tut, tut! Sensational!" They stand to-day preaching in churches that hold a thousand people, and there are a hundred persons present, and if they cannot have the world saved in their way it seems as if they do not want it saved at all.

That religious discourse of the future will be an everyday sermon, going right down into every man's life, and it will teach him how to vote, how to bargain, how to plow, how to do any work he is called to do, how to wield trowel and pen and pencil and yardstick and plane. And it will teach women how to preside over their household and how to educate their children and how to imitate Miriam and Esther and Vashti and Eunice, the mother of Timothy, and Mary, the mother of Christ, and those women who on northern and southern battlefields were mistaken by the wounded for angels of mercy fresh from the throne of God.

Yes, I have to tell you, the religious discourse of the future will be a reported sermon. If you have any idea that printing was invented simply to print secular books and stenography and phonography were contrived merely to set forth secular ideas, you are mistaken. The printing press is to be the great agency of gospel proclamation. It is high time that good men, instead of denouncing the press, employ it to scatter forth the gospel of Jesus Christ. The vast majority of people in our cities do not come to church, and nothing but the printed sermon can reach them, and call them to pardon and life and peace and heaven.

So I cannot understand the nervousness of some of my brethren of the ministry. When they see a newspaper man coming in, they say, "Alas, there is a reporter!" Every added reporter is 10,000, 50,000 100,000 immortal souls added to the auditory. The time will come when all the village, town and city newspapers will reproduce the gospel of Jesus Christ, and sermons preached on the Sabbath will reverberate all around the world, and, some by type and some by voice, all nations will be evangelized.

The practical bearing of this is upon those who are engaged in Christian work, not only upon theological students and young ministers, but upon all who preach the gospel and all who exhort in meetings and all of you if you are doing your duty. Do you exhort in prayer meetings? Be short and spirited. Do you teach in Bible class? Though you have to study every night, be interesting. Do you accost people on the subject of religion in their homes or in public places? Study adroitness and common sense.

A dying Christian took out his watch and gave it to a friend and said: "Take that watch. I have no more use for it. Time is at an end for me, and eternity begins." Oh, my friends, when our watch has ticked away for us the last moment and our clock has struck for us the last hour, may it be found we did our work well, that we did it in the very best way, and whether we preached the gospel in public, or taught Sabbath classes, or administered to the sick as physicians, or bargained as merchants, or pleaded the law as attorneys, or were busy as artisans or husbandmen or as mechanics, or were, like Martha, called to give a meal to a hungry Christ, or like Hannah, to make a coat for a prophet, or like Deborah, to rouse the courage of some timid Barak in the Lord's conflict, we did our work in such a way that it will stand the test of the judgment! And in the long procession of the redeemed that march around the throne may it be found that there are many there brought to God through our instrumentality, and in whose rescue we exult. But let none of us who are still unsaved, wait for that religious discourse of the future. It may come after our obsequies. It may come after the stonecutter has chiseled our name on the slab 50 years before. Do not wait for a great steamer of the Cunard or White Star line to take you off the wreck, but hail the first craft, with however low a mast and however small a hulk and however poor a rudder, and however weak a captain. Better a disabled schooner that comes up in time than a full rigged brig that comes up after you have sunk.

Instead of waiting for that religious discourse of the future (it may be 40, 50 years off), take this plain invitation of a man who to have given you spiritual eyesight would be glad to be called the spittle by the hand of Christ put on the eyes of a blind man and who would consider the highest compliment of this service if, at the close, 500 men should start from these doors saying: "Whether he be a sinner or no, I know not. This one thing I know—whereas I was blind, now I see."

Swifter than shadows over the plain, quicker than birds in their autumnal flight, hastier than eagles to their prey, hie you to a sympathetic Christ. The orchestras of heaven have strung their instruments to celebrate your rescue.

And many were the voices around the throne,
Rejoice for the Lord brings back his own

BOTH ENGINE CREWS KILLED.
Two Engineers and Their Firemen Victims of an Indiana Wreck.

Garrett, Ind., Nov. 23.—A heavy Baltimore & Ohio limited passenger train, drawn by two locomotives, ran into the rear end of a freight train near McCool, a small station 50 miles out of Chicago, yesterday afternoon. Both passenger engines were ditched and their crews killed. The freight train was almost a total wreck. Its conductor, Mr. Butts, and rear brakeman, Hamilton, are missing, and it is supposed they are buried under the debris of their caboose. A special train brought the following named victims from the wreck:

Dead—Henry Bradford, engineer; E. H. Sarber, engineer; Elmer Orr, fireman, John Stine, fireman.

Injured—James Gannan, Allegheny; F. A. Ferguson, Chicago; B. J. Bloomer, Newark, O., and Frederick Hudson, Columbus.

Old Lady Fatally Mangled.

Chatham, Ont., Nov. 23.—At the Wellington-street crossing of the C.P.R. here at about 5.10 o'clock yesterday morning, Mrs. Catherine O'Keefe, an old lady of 65 years, attempted to cross the track and was struck by a C.P.R. freight and thrown beneath the wheels, several of which passed over her. One leg and both arms were so badly mangled that amputation of both hands and the leg was considered necessary. The victim was removed to St. Joseph's Hospital, in the ambulance, where she now lies in a precarious condition. The attending surgeons are of the opinion that the unfortunate woman cannot live.

NEW YORK MILLIONAIRES

Only a few people reading advertisements of bankers and brokers, saying that money could be made through speculation, realize that the richest men in America have commenced life in a humble way and have made their fortune through stock-exchange speculations.

Men like Jay Gould, who worked as a dry goods clerk in a small town at $10.00 a week up to his twentieth year, and commenced to operate with his small saving of $200.00 in Wall Street, left at his death 70 millions of dollars; Russell Sage, who worked as a grocery boy at $1.00 per week, and whose present wealth is estimated at 100 millions of dollars, is still operating the market, although 80 years of age, and so are thousands of others, who are enjoying all the luxuries life can offer, which is due to their success in speculation.

To the shrewd speculator the same opportunities are open to-day as to others in the past. The smallest lot which can be bought and sold is ten shares on 3% margin, making 30 dollars.

Anybody interested as to how speculations are conducted can get information and market letter free of charge upon application by letter to,

NOT A HOPELESS CASE.

A correspondent writes:

I read your suggestion in "What People are Saying" about making candidates pledge themselves, with a good deal of interest. But, my dear sir, if my memory serves me aright, pledges have been given by many of our aldermen before.

The above statement may be true, but that doesn't make the case a hopeless one. If any of the aldermen pledged themselves to do certain things during the past year, and did not perform them, the remedy is in the hands of the people—don't vote for any man who went back on his pledged word. As before stated in this paper, there has been too much trusting to luck among the municipal electors of Belleville. Some people say "Oh, we can't be bothered," and others say "Oh, you get too much abuse in the Council," and as a matter of fact both these people are wrong. It used to be said of a prominent City Councillor in Montreal that "he was by profession an alderman." It is not necessary to state that a statement of that kind cannot truthfully be made about any Belleville alderman, but the fact remains and cannot be gainsaid that in many instances we have had men sitting in the Council who did not by any means represent the largest municipal ownership in the city. Why do not more of the men who have the largest interests in the city come out and run? They are the chief tax-payers, it is to their interests to see that the city's money is properly expended.

The opinion is expressed by many citizens that the Council of 1899 erred, if anything on the side of being too progressive. They had their heads among the clouds. They were going to do great things—and they did, and they left the little things undone. They sold the elevator and bought the steam roller and beautified the park and boulevarded Queen st., and allowed many of the other streets and sidewalks to get into bad repair.

However, the things they did perform were well done, there's no denying that. The steam roller did splendid work as far as it went. The park is now a thing of beauty, instead of an eyesore, as it was formerly, and it is not probable that Queen st. will require any more repairs for a year or two, so, these things being done, the next Council can turn their attention to something else.

Would it not be well for the Council of 1900 to remember the day of little things? Instead of undertaking any lofty enterprises, let them, in a quiet way, spend the money which is appropriated for public works on the many streets of our City which, after a couple of days' rain, look like ploughed fields. Never mind undertaking any great schemes which will serve as monuments for posterity, put some stone and gravel on the streets which are now nothing but banks of clay, put the sidewalks in such a condition that elderly people won't be afraid to go out after dark, and they will find next year, if they seek re-election, they will enjoy the confidence of the electors to a large degree.

Discovered by a Woman.

Another great discovery has been made, and that, too, by a lady in this country. "Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night; and with two bottles, has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus writes W. C. Hamnick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Trial bottles free at J. S. McKeown's Drug Store. Regular size 50c and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed.

FOUND UNDER A STUMP.

A Store of Silver and Copper Coins Unearthed in Emily Township.

While Robert Wilson, of lot 5, con. 6, Emily, near Omemee, was pulling stumps on his farm one day last week he found under one monster root a considerable number of old silver and copper coins. They had evidently been buried for a great many years, and one of the old residents of the township thinks the coins were hidden by a member of the volunteer force called out at the time of the Fenian invasion in 1866. A Lindsay man who went to the front with the Victoria Company says the discovery clears away a long-standing mystery. The Emily men, he said, were very slow in getting away, and he supposes that it is due to the fact that the men somehow learned that one of their number had secreted his pile. They delayed their march to repel the invaders in order to hunt for the treasure.—Review.

Loss in the Apple Trade.

The season so far has been a disastrous one, we are so informed, for the apple buyers who have shipped and are still shipping fall fruit to the Old Country market. Several consignments have resulted in a loss. The supply appears to be greater than the demand, and it may be that the fruit is not arriving in first-class condition. Unless they can pull up on the winter stock the shippers stand to lose heavily. Carelessness in packing will give Canadian fruit a bad reputation in the Old Country markets, which will work a serious injury to an important trade—Colborne Express.

Glorious News.

Comes from Dr. D. B. Cargile, of Washita, I. T. He writes: Four bottles of Electric Bitters has cured Mrs. Brower of scrofula, which had caused her great suffering for years. Terrible sores would break out on her head and face, and the best doctors could give no help, but her cure is complete and her health is excellent. This shows what thousands have proved,—that Electric Bitters is the best blood purifier known. It's the supreme remedy for eczema, tetter, salt rheum, ulcers, boils and running sores. It stimulates liver, kidneys and bowels, expels poisons, helps digestion, builds up the strength. Only 50 cents. Sold by J. S. McKeown, Druggist. Guaranteed.

The Socialists in the reichstag now talk of abolishing the leze majesty paragraph in the penal code. If they succeed in that, they may confidently expect to abolish the mailed fist of Unser Wilhelm.—Syracuse Post-Standard.

Another endless chain has just been started by an unwise maiden. The state legislatures that meet next winter should take some action in the direction of protecting the public from this overworked nuisance.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

San Francisco has a $36,000 fund on hand for the building of a Dewey monument. San Francisco could make quite a hit by giving the money to the admiral and permitting him to keep on being his own monument.—Chicago Times-Herald.

If the report is true that a machine or a process has been found by which the soft coal of the west, heretofore regarded as noncoking, can be turned into coke, the result will be something of an industrial revolution, and the area of all kinds of metal industry will be greatly broadened.—Philadelphia Ledger.

TABLE LINEN.

Only white cloths are in vogue now, and no colors are introduced.

Fringe does not appear on new cloths, doilies or napkins. Hemstitched and embroidered edges are employed instead.

Conventional borders are not employed on the new tablecloths, but irregular garlands, looped at the corners with love knots, are used in their place.

Elaborately embroidered and lace trimmed cloths to be used over silk foundations are employed only for breakfasts, luncheons and suppers, but never at dinners.

The fashion for woven monograms in table linen has been relegated to hotels and boarding houses, and only hand embroidered and appliqued monograms are considered correct.

Large patterns are preferred to the smaller, delicate ones. Large roses, chrysanthemums, sprays of locust and bunches of snowballs are seen on some newly arrived table linen.

"The first thing a woman looks at in table linen," said a linen dealer recently, "is the pattern, and until she is suited with that there is no need to talk quality to her. The finest cloth ever woven would not satisfy her if she happens to dislike the pattern."

ADVICE TO YOUNG WIVES.

Never discuss servants at table.

Never disturb a man when he is reading his paper.

Never speak to a man until he has had something good to eat.

Never ask a fat man for anything while he is pulling on his boots.

When he looks injured and plaintive, examine his plate; there is sure to be a vacancy.

If he comes to breakfast on the eve of sobs, ask not the reason, for he will answer that he had but one towel.

If you want him to do anything, never tell him it is good for him, for he will not be "tied to a woman's apron strings."

If he lies on the sofa after dinner and shakes the house with his snores, accuse him not of sleeping, for he is "merely thinking with his eyes shut."

When you want anything, wait until your husband has had his breakfast, and then help him tenderly into his coat, and while behind him, smoothing his collar the right way, ask for it.—Woman's Life.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Fresh raw meat is the best bait for mousetraps.

The best pieces cut out of worn tablecloths make dainty tray cloths. They may be as elaborately trimmed as you please.

Dipping any colored silk in strong salt and water before it is washed will preserve its color and brightness and prevent the colors running.

Where marble is spotted sprinkle some powdered borax where it is stained or soiled, and then wash the marble with warm water, using a flannel.

It is well to remember when papering a small room that blue in all light shades makes a room look larger. Dark colors or papers with large patterns have the opposite effect.

TRUST THRUSTS.

The final price of coal is not yet determined, probably because the trust has not yet learned how much money we have.—St. Paul Dispatch.

New Jersey having in the last year incorporated new companies capitalized at $3,000,000,000, it may be said to be the most extensive promoter of waterworks in the country.—Indianapolis Journal.

Are we to have a Bible trust too? It looks so. The competition in the business of selling the holy word is about as keen as it is anywhere, and competition is what the trusts are supposed to be designed to counteract.—Boston Herald.

A Pathetic Ballad.

[A young woman in Nebraska has brought suit for damages against a man for kissing her when she was asleep in a hammock.—Daily Newspaper.]

Do not kiss me when I sleep!
Think you it is naught
That I choose my lips to keep Jealously unsought?

Ah, you did not count the cost
Nor my gnawing pain,
When I think what I have lost,
I can ne'er regain.

So, alas, I now must weep
To drink this bitter cup!
Do not kiss me when I sleep—
Wait till I wake up!

THE PORT OF BOTTLES.

A Peculiarity of a Dead Spot In the Caribbean Sea.

"There is a dead spot in the Caribbean sea," said the first officer of a Brazilian ship, "that ought to be called the port of bottles. It lies very nearly midway between Cartagena, in Colombia, and Kingston, Jamaica, and at a guess I should say it was due east of Cape Gracios a Dios. It is out of the steamer tracks, and the action of the great currents going one way and another has left a space of stagnant water without any real movement at all. Anything that gets into the dead spot is apt to stay there unless driven out by some big storm and will simply drift round and round, gathering sea grass and barnacles.

"The last time I saw the place was in 1895, when I was on board a tramp from Rio that had changed its course a little to take up some rubber at a Central American port. While we were passing through we noticed a floating spar, and among a lot of rubbish attached to it was a peculiar looking round object, bright red in color. We put off a boat to investigate, and it proved to be a patent buoy which had been set adrift from a Florida lighthouse station in 1893 and was part of a systematic attempt to ascertain the speed and direction of currents. Inside was an official memorandum, which was afterward returned to the navy department with data of when and where found. But what is a good deal more interesting is the fact that while we were securing the buoy we discovered three bottles sticking in the drift, all covered with weeds and slime. One was empty, and the other two had papers inside. The first was a memoranda that the bottle had been dropped from a yacht off the Grand Cayman, in, I think, the year 1892, and the other inclosure showed that it came from a ship bound for Montevideo, on what date I forget. In each case it was evidently the whim of some idle passenger, but it was a little odd that we should find the whole collection together.

"I noticed a lot of other driftwood in the dead spot, and I am confident that no end of bottles could be culled from the place. Hundreds are dropped overboard every year, but very few escape being knocked to pieces unless they happen to find their way to some such a still place as I have described."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

YOU MUST NOT FORGET.

A Practical Man Says Forgetfulness Is Mainly Due to Laziness.

A successful business man said that there were two things which he learned when he was 18 and which were ever afterward of great use to him—namely, never to lose anything and never to forget anything. The story of this lesson is printed in The Country Gentleman.

An old lawyer sent the young man with an important paper, giving him definite instructions what to do with it.

"But," inquired the young man, "suppose that I should lose it, what shall I do then?"

"You must not lose it," said the lawyer, frowning.

"I don't mean to," said the young man, "but suppose I should happen to."

"But I say you must not happen to. I shall make no provisions for such an occurrence. You must not lose it."

This put a new strain of thought into the young man's mind, and he found that if he was determined to do a thing he could do it. He made such a provision every contingency that he never lost anything.

He found this equally true about forgetting. If a certain matter of importance was to be remembered, he pinned it down on his mind, fastened it there and made it stay. He used to declare:

"When a man tells me that he forgot to do something, I tell him he might as well have said, 'I did not care enough about your business to take the trouble to think of it again.'

"I once had an intelligent young man in my employ who deemed it sufficient excuse for having neglected an important task to say, 'I forgot.' I told him that would not answer. If he was sufficiently interested, he would be careful to remember. It was because he did not care enough that he forgot. I drilled him with this truth.

"He worked for me three years, and during the last year of the three he was utterly changed in this respect. He did not forget a thing. His forgetting, he found, had been a lazy and careless habit of mind, and he cured it."

A Wise Critic.

The late Francisque Sarcey was for 40 years a figure of great prominence in French literary life. As a critic of the drama he was looked upon as one having authority, and praise from him meant success to the struggling playwright.

His criticisms were honest, fearless and independent, and it is remembered of him that he refused the honor of belonging to the French academy lest he should come under obligation to favor the plays written by other members.

Sarcey's good sense was often put to the test. One day a friend came rushing into his room, waving a paper.

"What is the matter?" inquired the critic.

"Here's some one," cried the other, "who has been calling you an 'imbecile' in print! Are you going to challenge him?"

Sarcey smiled. "Certainly not," he replied. "I owe him my thanks. The public will soon forget the word 'imbecile' and will only remember having read my name.'

A Dry Lunch.

A parson staying in Wales for his holiday set out with his three sisters one day to go up Snowdon. After a long and tiring climb of some three hours they arrived at the summit and sat down to enjoy some sandwiches which the reverend gentleman had carried all the way in a brown paper parcel. The string was cut. Four pairs of eyes looked eagerly and hungrily at the parcel. The paper was unfolded, and two or three nightshirts were exposed to view. The parson had taken the wrong parcel.—Church Times.

PITCH-IN AT MALLORYTOWN,

A Caboose and Several Cars Destroyed—No Person Seriously Injured.

The pitch-in on the line of the G. T. R. at Mallorytown, on Wednesday night, resulted in considerable damage to rolling stock. The G.T.R. way freight was coming east as the depot to unload freight and although the semaphore was put up for protection, a freight train following, hauled by one of the big freight engines, ran past and pitched in, wrecking the caboose and two cars and smashing the drawbars on several others. The engine sustained no damage except to the cowcatcher. The cause of the accident was due to the engineer mistaking the tail lights on the caboose for those at the depot. Considerable quantity of wheat was spilled. No person was seriously hurt.

Painful Accident.

Mr. George Winters, a G. T. R. brakesman residing at Brockville, met with a painful accident near Trenton yesterday. He was engaged on a work train near Murray Hill, and in stepping off an engine his foot became caught between ties, causing him to fall heavily, with the result that his right leg was broken. A Trenton physician reduced the fracture, and last evening Mr. Winters was removed to his home at Brockville.

THE INTELLIGENCER'S afternoon despatches are twelve hours in advance of the Toronto morning papers.

Criticizing Lord Methuen

Thought in London that His Victory Was Dearly Bought.

Situation in Natal Not Satisfactory to the British Public—Gen. Buller Off to the Front.

(OTHER DESPATCHES ON INSIDE PAGES.)

New York, Nov. 24.—The Journal's copyright cable from London to-day says:

Although Lord Methuen reports a complete British victory near Belmont, there is a good deal of comment on account of his heavy losses and failure to pursue and capture any great number of Boers.

It is evident the victory is similar to these at Glencoe and Elandslaagte, where the British captured the Boers' position, only to have the enemy come back in great numbers and force the British to give way.

Lord Methuen, it was popularly expected, would sweep triumphantly on to Kimberly, carrying everything before him. But this movement is the fight, in which the finest regiments in the British army, the Coldstreams, Grenadiers and Scots, were pitted against a smaller force of irregular Boer troops, has not resulted in any great English triumph, although it is probable that Lord Methuen rightly claims a victory. His dispatch, stating that if he had waited longer before attacking the losses would have been very heavy, has not an assuring ring.

The British have a much stronger force, of course, on the whole, and will eventually go on.

Meantime, the situation in Natal is not satisfactory to the British public. The reintorcements have been there more than a week and yet there has been no advance.

Gen. Buller left Capetown yesterday, and will hasten to Natal to brace things up.

Capetown, Nov. 24.—Reports have arrived here that Gen. White recently caught the Boers in a trap at Ladysmith, and induced them to venture into the open country. A battle took place and the Boers lost a thousand in killed and wounded.

THE TWEED FIRE.

Another Account of Yesterday's Conflagration—Accident to the Fire Chief.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Tweed, Nov. 22.—About 6:30 this morning fire was discovered issuing from R. T. Houston's planing mill on Metcalf st. and, owing to the inflammable nature of the building and its contents, had spread so quickly that the fire brigade on their arrival could do nothing but save the lumber yard and out buildings. Streams were kept playing on the fire for six hours and, as a consequence, some of the machinery will be saved.

Mr Houston's loss is estimated at about $8,000, with no insurance.

E. R. Huyck, chief of the fire brigade, had a rib broken by being struck by the wheel of the hose cart.

It is supposed that the fire originated in the dry kiln.

Glorious News.

Comes from Dr. D. B. Carpile, of Washita, I. T. He writes: Four bottles of Electric Bitters has cured Mrs. Brower of scrofula, which had caused her great suffering for years. Terrible sores would break out on her head and face, and the best doctors could give no help, but her cure is complete and her health is excellent. This shows what thousands have proved,—that Electric Bitters is the best blood purifier known. It's the supreme remedy for eczema, tetter, salt rheum, ulcers, boils and running sores. It stimulates liver, kidneys and bowels, expels poisons, helps digestion, builds up the strength. Only 50 cents. Sold by J. S. McKeown, Druggist. Guaranteed.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING

That the Boer artillery practice is on the bomb.

That the light question is a weighty question in Belleville just now.

That a good many people would be happier if it was as easy to beat a carpet as it is to beat their creditors.

That things are coming our way at last. The "Gentlemen in khaki" have begun to "hammer Paul" in good style.

That, for the size of its population, Belleville has more cultivated musicians within its borders than any place in Canada.

That the broken plank in the sidewalk in front of Dr. Yeomans', Pinnacle st., may be the cause of a broken leg and a suit for damages.

That the people who make the staff of life in this vicinity should bear in mind that, though we want light, we don't want light bread.

That with seven sons and fifty grandsons in the Boer army Kruger may safely be said to have more than a casual interest in every battle.

That Kruger and Greenway will be in a position to sympathize with each other soon—they have both got a severe shock coming before very long.

That the good old rule, "Children should be seen and not heard," does not seem to be in beautiful working order in Belleville, especially at public entertainments.

That an exchange makes some pertinent remarks in the following paragraph: "Please send your items of news when they are fresh. We don't like to publish a birth after the child is weaned, a marriage after the honeymoon is over, a death after the widow is married again, nor the notice of an entertainment after the jobwork is done elsewhere and the editor charged for admission."

A Sure Rheumatic Cure.

Mr. Robt. Collett, 70 Elliott street, Toronto, writes: I can heartily recommend Griffith's Menthol Liniment for Rheumatism. Half a bottle has entirely removed every trace of a painful attack in my shoulder, which had troubled me for some time. I have also found it excellent for sore throat. Price, 25 cents, by all druggists. Sold by D. M. Waters, cor. Front and Bridge sts.

THE WAR SUMMARY.

Ladysmith still holds out.

General Buller has left Cape Town for Natal.

An outbreak of fever, caused by impure water, is reported at Mafeking.

Official despatches from Kimberly give accounts of a week's ineffectual bombardment, and successful sorties by the garrison.

A latter official despatch to the War Office gives news of a brilliant British victory won by General Lord Methuen's force at Belmont.

General Gatacre also reports that as a consequence of forward movements the Free State forces are retiring into their old territory.

General Methuen's force seems to be well on its way toward Kimberley. It is expected that the Boers will offer strenuous opposition to the advance.

The British forces are still holding the Mooi River bridge and the artillery is constantly exchanging shots with the Beers, who have some long-range guns with them. The British casualties are small.

It is reported that General Gatacre is advancing from Naauw Poort, with the object of attacking the Boers at Colesburg and other frontier towns.

While Estcourt is still isolated, it is known that, far from Major Hildyard's force being cooped up there, the British are acting on the aggressive.

It is reported that on Sunday last General White made a sortie from Ladysmith and captured some of the enemy's guns and war materials.

In a skirmish in Rhodesia on the 18th inst., Col. Plumer's force lost three men. The enemy retired.

The latest despatches say Gen. Methuen's victory was too dearly bought.

He Fooled The Surgeons.

All doctors told Renick Hamilton, of West Jefferson, O., after suffering 18 months from Rectal Fistula, he would die unless a costly operation was performed; but he cured himself with five boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the surest Pile cure on earth, and the best Salve in the world. 25 cents a box. Sold by J. S. McKeown, druggist.

Police Court.

George Keegan and Edward Kellaway, the two boys charged with the theft of a wheelbarrow and an axe from Joseph Blackburn, were brought before the P.M. yesterday afternoon. Keegan was allowed to go with a warning and if convicted of another offence will be sent to the reformatory. Kellaway was allowed to go, as he did not appear to be a principal in the theft, although consenting to it.

John Mitchell, on a charge of vagrancy, was committed to jail for ten days.

Harry Vanmeer was charged by John Sparrow with using abusive language. He pleaded guilty and was fined $1 and costs. Both parties reside in Tyendinaga.

If not, Why not?

If you have rheumatism and refuse to take the proper cure for it, how can you expect relief? Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure really cures. Try it and see for yourself. Mr. S. Donaldson, Pittsburg, P. M. at Dufferin Post Office, was lame with Muscular Rheumatism for two years. One bottle of Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure cured him completely. This preparation is taken internally, 50 cents a bottle, containing ten days' treatment. For sale at all drug stores.

Make Their Own Light.

At the rolling mills last evening the interior of the premises was lighted by a number of arc lights. This light is manufactured upon the premises and gives a fine illumination. A number of incandescent lights will also be used, the machinery for the manufacture of the same being in position. Mr. Geo. Thompson, electrician of this city, put in the plant.

OPENING OF THE NEW PIANO.

Excellent Entertainment in the Parlors of Bridge St. Church Last Night.

An unique entertainment, undoubtedly one of the best of its kind ever given in this vicinity, was the means of delighting a good-sized audience in the parlors of Bridge st. Church last night. Talk about variety! there was pretty nearly everything that one could think of. The vocal music ranged from the silvery tones and exquisite method of Miss de Guerre down to the little tot who could hardly pronounce the big words.

The instrumental music was really excellent. Not very often does one hear so many good piano players in one evening. None of the instrumental numbers descended to the ordinary—some of them were far above it. The piano duet by Miss Cunnington and Mr. Hunt was a fine number. It was a great pity that it was somewhat marred by talking among the audience.

The solos by Miss Edith Sharp, Miss Jessie Elliot, Miss Sidna Brown, Miss Cunnington and Miss Mills were beautifully played, the latter young lady interpreting her very difficult number with a smoothness of technique and comprehensive grasp of her subject which showed her to be possessed of a good deal of musicianly genius, as well as an infinite capacity for hard work in the way of practice. The scores by Miss de Guerre, Miss Mabel Vormilyea, and Miss Watson were sweetly rendered. Worthy of special mention was the quartette, by Misses de Guerre and Watson, Messrs. Vermilyea and Burns. It was a simple composition well sung by four good voices, and the effect was pleasing to a degree. Mrs. Larke's recitation was beautifully rendered, and, as for the little tots, will they just covered themselves with glory. Following was the programme:

Piano Duet—"Midsummer Night's Dream," ..... Mendelssohn
Miss E. Cunnington, Mr. Hunt.
Song—"Sailor Boy," ..... Clay
Harry Wallace, Ernest Dickens, Harold Chown, Garnet Berkley, Harold Alford, Nathan Jones.
Piano Solo—"Sonata Pathetique," ..... Beethoven
Miss Jessie Elliott.
Song—"Mattina," ..... Paola Tosti
Miss Mabel Vermilyea.
Recitation—"The Curious World" .....
Harley Douglas.
Song—"God Has a Work for All." .....
Nina Yeomans.
Violin Solo .....
Miss Sidna Brown.
Song, Contralto—"Tatters." ..... Gerald Lane
Miss Watson.
Piano Solo—"Valse A Flat, op. 42." Chopin
Miss Cunnington.
Quartette—"Selection" .....
Miss De Guerre, Miss Watson
Mr. Vermilyea, Mr. Burns.
Reading—"The Death Bridge of the Tay," ..... W. Carlton
Mrs. Larke.
Piano Solo—"Valse Ballet" ..... Chaminade
Miss Edith Sharp.
Song—"The Wax Doll" .....
Ivy Dickens.
Recitation—"The Raggedy Man." .....
Harry Hunt.
Solo—"Lullaby" ..... Kate Vannah
Miss Mabel de Guerre.
Piano Solo—"The Flying Dutchman" ..... Wagner-Liszt
Miss Mills.
God Save the Queen.

Toronto and Trenton for Twenty Years.

To the Editor of THE INTELLIGENCER.

SIR,—It is apparent that the real public vital issue of the Electric Light question now opened up, namely, the value to the whole city of our public franchise and the unwarranted usurpation of our streets, is being kept in the background by the dazzling cry to the individual "cheaper light." Let us have competition. At least one of the Directors of the present Company who have planted their poles on our streets knew that Belleville would not submit tamely to be trampled on, so that the trespass "without your leave" was deliberate. Now, who are putting up the poles and defying the head of this Municipality, representing the citizens? A company with whom we have no contract, a new company created by charter in September last, numbering among their Directors such Toronto and Trenton capitalists as W. E. Hart-Massey, Joseph W. Flavelle, of Robert Simpson & Co., and Robert Weddell. The City of Belleville has not and never had any contract with these men, or with a company directed by them. This is not a question of this year or next—it is one of twenty years. We have been long-suffering enough, and we hope that the company will offer as a matter of business, and not of generosity, acceptable terms, or if not, that our Council will realize their responsibility in guarding our future, and in securing from one of many competitors a new and easily terminable contract with such safeguards as will protect the individual consumer as well as the City as a whole—for through the City's consumption of light a large portion of our taxes finds its exit. If the City does not now assert itself, the Gan Company will fall into the hands of the Electric Company and we will then be saddled with another and greater monopoly for twenty years more. It is the importance of this matter which induces me to write again as one of the public affected, even at the risk of jarring the sensibilities and equilibrium of a City official who has spent the past few weeks in climbing the Pearson poles.

Yours, etc.,
W. N. PONTON.

Rushed? Well!

Had we had any idea of the furore our announcement of a special sale for one hour only yesterday afternoon would produce, we would not have been so rash as to announce another one for this afternoon. However, we live up to our advertisements, no matter what the cost, though the sale this afternoon is positively the last one at that discount.

Numbers of clerks and parties who could not get down during the afternoon have reproached us for what they term an unfairness to them. Now, we want to be fair to all our customers, but we think it no kindness to ask them to select goods in such a jam (no other word describes it) as we have had the last two afternoons, even though the discount be fifty per cent. So we are going to double the time and a trifle less discount. On we will offer everything in our store (excepting school books and fountain pens, which are debarred by contract with the makers), at a DICOUNT OF 33 1-3%. The two lines mentioned are the only things left out of this wonderful sale, which starts on the stroke of eight and stops on the stroke of ten.

Saturday Evening from Eight until ten

To Clean Furs.

Furs will look much improved if they are cleaned with bran. The bran should be placed in an earthen receptacle and heated in the oven. When hot it should be rubbed well into the fur. Flannel is the best thing to use for rubbing the bran into the fur. After the husk has remained in the garment for about half an hour shake it thoroughly to remove all particles and brush until the article is perfectly clean. Fur collars that have become soiled from rubbing against the hair may be made to look like new by using hot bran on them. Two applications of the bran, and probably three, will be necessary if the fur is badly soiled.

Care to the Eyebrows.

The eyebrows should be carefully washed every day, and a tiny brush and comb used to keep them soft and smooth. They should always be rubbed from the roots to the ends, and never the "wrong way." Vaseline should be rubbed over them once or twice a week. When they get scruffy, vaseline should be put on the spot, and they should be washed with hot water and a little soap, but on no account should they be rubbed.

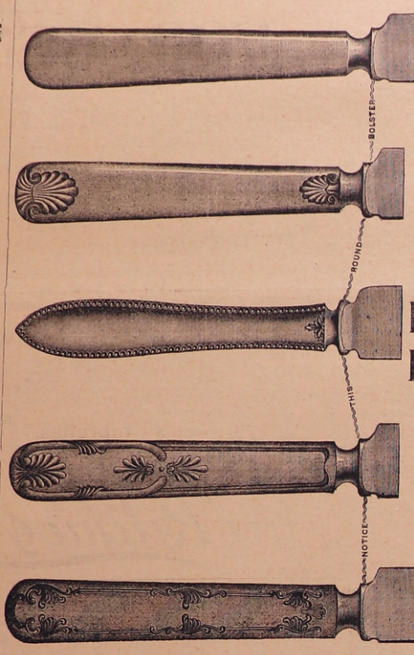

The eyelashes of children may be made to grow long and curly by being clipped slightly now and then, but not be case of a grown person this would make them coarse and stubby.

AYER'S Sarsaparilla is the BEST SARSAPARILLA.

"Best" is an easy boast. But there's no best without a test. You expect something extra of best; something extra in bread from best flour; something extra in wear from best cloth; something extra in cures from best medicines. It's that something extra in Ayer's Sarsaparilla that makes Ayer's the best. That something extra is quality. Remember it's quality that cures, not quantity. Geo. Smith of the People's Drug Store, Seymour, Conn., says: "I have sold your goods for twenty-five years and when a customer asks me for

The Best Preparation for the Blood

I say: 'If you will take my opinion, use Ayer's Sarsaparilla; I will guarantee that you will receive more benefit by using one or two bottles of Ayer's than you would by using half a dozen bottles of some other kind.' When they take it, I never hear any complaint."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla cures all diseases that have their origin in impure blood: sores, ulcers, boils, eruptions, pimples, eczema, tetter, scrofula, etc. It cures cheaply, it cures quickly, and it cures to stay. That's why it's best.

"After twenty years' experience as a druggist, I consider Ayer's Sarsaparilla superior to any similar preparation on the market, and I give it the preference over all others."
A. C. WOODWARD, Worcester, Mass.

"In our estimation, as regards Sarsaparilla, Ayer's is the standard. We have never heard it spoken of in other than the very highest terms."
W. E. TERRILL & CO., Pharmacists, 9 State Street, Montpelier, Vt.

"I consider Ayer's Sarsaparilla the best blood purifier on the market."
Dr. GRISE & CO., West Gardner, Mass.

"During fifteen years of experience with Ayer's Sarsaparilla, I have yet to learn of a single case wherein it failed to cure if used according to directions."
F. O. COLLINS, Druggist, Paris, Mo.

"I believe Ayer's Sarsaparilla contains more medicinal value than any other similar compound."
JAMES DOANE, Dispensing Chemist, Kingsville, Ont.

Toronto, Nov. 24.—Receipts of live stock at the Cattle Market yesterday were light, 35 loads, composed of 376 cattle, 833 hogs, 727 sheep and lambs, 8 calves, and 2,000 turkeys. There was little change in the quality of fat cattle offered, only a few of the better classes coming forward, which were readily picked up, but medium qualities were slow of sale. There are few exporters being offered, and few are wanted, space being scarce at present on the ocean boats. Trade and prices were much the same as on Tuesday last. Several dealers and farmers were on the market, looking for feeders, and, as the best qualities of heavy steers were scarce, prices were firm.

Toronto, Nov. 24.—Joe Goddard of Australia arrived here yesterday in splendid condition for his 20-round bout Saturday night with Jack McCormick, the Philadelphia heavyweight, at the Crescent Athletic Club. The men are about as evenly matched as possible, though Goddard's cleverness and ring experience have made him a favorite in the betting at 10 to 8. Windsor, England, Nov. 23.—The Secretary of State for the Colonies, Mr. Joseph Chamberlin, arrived at the castle on a flying visit during the day, which, in view of his recent visit to Hatfield House, the residence of the Premier, is causing much speculation. PARTITION OF SAMOA.

Two Treaties Have Been Drawn Up and One of Them Has Already Been Signed.

Washington, Nov. 23.—Two treaties for the final partition of the Samoan Islands have been drawn, and one of them has already been signed. The main treaty is trinational in character; between the United States, Great Britain and Germany, by which the territorial arrangement of the Islands is fixed. It is quite brief, comprising only four or five articles, the essential features being that Great Britain and Germany renounce all claims and interests in the Island of Tutuila and the outlying islets, which go to the United States, and this Government and Great Britain renounce interests in Upolo and Savaii, which go to Germany. The present explanation is that this treaty will be signed in Washington, in which case Secretary Hay and Ambassadors Pauncefote and Von Holleben will be the signatory parties, although it is still possible that the execution of the document may occur in London.

The second treaty is between Great Britain and Germany, and is longer than the first, covering the rights and interests in the Tonga and Solomon Islands and other settlements, brought about by the Samoan partition. The United States does not sign this treaty, and is only indirectly concerned. It is understood that this collateral treaty has already been executed in Berlin; and that the signing of the trilateral treaty will bring to a close the negotiations for the division of the Islands.

AGUINALDO FOR PEACE.

Will Pay Back the $7,000,000 and Agree to American Occupation Till Cash Is Paid.

New York, Nov. 23.—The World says its Hong Kong correspondent knows an American who lives in the Philippines and who has recently seen Aguinaldo. He has been through the lines and has been two weeks with the insurgent commander-in-chief. What was said by Aguinaldo this American jotted down and forwarded to Hong Kong through the mails, to his business correspondent there.

Aguinaldo wants peace, and to get it he is willing to repay the $20,000,000 which the United States paid to Spain for the Philippines, and will consent to American soldiers remaining in Manila till the debt is cancelled. He wants a republic to consist of a president, congress and judiciary.

The letter detailing the interview is dated Manila, Oct. 14. It adds: "Aguinaldo said that he had been repeatedly informed that McKinley would never consent to a compromise; that unconditional surrender was the only thing the American President would accept; that to conquer the Filipinos McKinley would expend a thousand millions of dollars in gold and 200,000 lives of American soldiers."

FOR FIRST-CLASS WORK.

For coughs, colds, bronchitis and all lung and throat troubles, there is no preparation r medicine can compare with Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which causes difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relie to that depressing tightness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and huskiness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous. If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety, trouble and expense, let them procure a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the Syrup according to directions

At Death s Door—Dyspepsia Conquered. A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I ould not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. Totally Deaf.—Mr. S. E. Crandell, Port Perry, writes:—"I contracted a severe cold last winter, which resulted in my becoming totally deaf in one ear and partially so in the other. After trying various remedies, and consulting several doctors, without obtaining any relief, I was advised to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

Mrs. Plunkett, of Ottawa, has received a letter from her supposed murdered brother, George Kirkwood of Dyer's Bay, stating that he was alive and had not left for Windsor. He is working in the Georgian Bay lumber camps, and was not the man murdered near Forest.

A despatch from Coronel, Chili, says that the British ship Duntrune, Captain Winterton, from Barry, June 17, for Junin, was dismasted in a gale and is supposed to have foundered. Part of the crew have landed at Sandy Point. Searchers sent out for the remaining members have returned, unsuccessful in finding them or the vessel.

Mr. J. B. Charleson, who superintended the construction of 740 miles of telegraph line from Bennett to Dawson City, is in Montreal. The line, he says, cost $137,000, $180 per mile. The C.P.R. said it would be $350, the Great Northwestern figured it at $400 per mile. He considered, therefore, that the Government line has been built at an exceedingly low rate.

It is agreed that his retiring allowance shall be about $2,000 per annum. He has been a bishop since 1862, and is now 72 years of age.

HONOR TO CANADIANS.

Cape Town People Preparing to Give Our Boys a Grand Welcome on Arrival.

London, Nov. 23.—(Telegram Cable.)—A cablegram from Cape Town to The Daily Mail says a hearty reception is being prepared for the Canadian South African regiment. It is probable that the municipality of Cape Town will give the Canadian troops an official welcome. This is somewhat surprising, in view of the Government's pro-Boer tendencies. When Sir Redvers Buller arrived not a flag was hoisted on a single Government building. The loyalists, however, will make up any shortcomings on the part of the Government. They are making every effort to obtain permission for the Canadians to march through the town, instead of entraining at the docks, as do other troops, but in any event the soldiers of the Dominion are sure to be accorded an enthusiastic welcome.

Permission Granted.

Cape Town, Nov. 23.—The military authorities have given permission to the Canadian contingent on its arrival to march through the city, which will be beautifully decorated, and the day will be observed as a holiday.

French-Canadian Loyalty.

London, Nov. 23.—(Telegram Cable.)—The Daily Chronicle cabled its correspondent in Toronto concerning French-Canadian feeling in regard to the war with the South African Republic. The correspondent's reply is to the effect that on the whole the feeling in Quebec, as in Canada generally, is one of active sympathy with Great Britain and general contentment under British institutions.

Commenting on its correspondent's views, The Chronicle says it is inclined to think that the cablegram is reassuring. The colonies, having intervened on so generous a scale, may fairly claim a share in the settlement. There can be no doubt, The Chronicle continues, that the colonial voice will be raised to reinforce the moderate party in the Cabinet and in the country.

Canada Has a Full Quota.

Ottawa, Nov. 23.—In respect of the statement that Canada was the only colony that did not avail herself of the opportunity of sending officers for special service with the Transvaal contingent, Col. Pinault, Deputy-Minister of Militia and Defence, states that evidently some misapprehension exists on the point. Canada's complement of officers with the contingent was 35, whereas 50 were sent, 15 being for the purpose of special service and observation. This does not include Capt. Dixon and other non-combatants. As a matter of fact, Major-General Hutton has been fearing that he forwarded too many for special service.

New Zealand Contingent.

Cape Town, Nov. 23.—The steamer Waiwera, with the New Zealand contingent of troops on board, has arrived here.

"SAVE THE BABY!"

The first instinct of the mother-heart is to preserve her little one. Its life and health take precedence even over her own. The common dread which women who are looking forward to the coming of a new and precious baby into the world first feel, is that they may not themselves be able to go safely through the trying ordeal, and secondly comes the fear that the darling little baby's life or health or general well-being may somehow be sacrificed.

But there is no real need of apprehension in either direction. If any woman who is expecting to become a mother will follow the example of Mrs. Orrin Stiles, of Downing, Dunn Co., Wis., the most perfect confidence may be felt in the happy outcome of this critical period, both for the mother and the child.

"I have been intending to write to you ever since my baby was born," says Mrs. Stiles in an interesting letter to Dr. R. V. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y., "in regard to what your 'Favorite Prescription' has done for me. I cannot praise it enough, for I have not been as well for five years as I now am. In July last I had a baby boy, weight 11 lbs. I was sick only a short time, and since I got up I have not had one sick day. I have not had any womb trouble since I got up. I was not only surprised myself but all of my friends here are surprised to see me so well."

The properties of this grand "Prescription" and what it has accomplished for thousands of women, are more fully described in one chapter of the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser by R. V. Pierce, M. D., a splendid thousand-page illustrated volume. It will be sent free paper-bound, for 31 one-cent stamps to pay the cost of customs and mailing only; or, cloth-bound for 50 stamps.

The "Favorite Prescription" is entirely free from alcohol; unlike nearly all other proprietary medicines for women, which merely give a temporary stimulation and are likely to induce a morbid unhealthy craving. The "Favorite Prescription" gives energy and nerve-tone that is real, healthy and permanent.

NOVEMBER CROP BULLETIN.

The New Fall Wheat Looking Well, But of Less Acreage.

Fall and Spring Wheat Both Suffered During the Past Year, and the Falling off in Yield Was Greater Than Was at First Anticipated—A Good Crop of Barley—Other Crops.

Toronto, Nov. 24.—The following is a report of the crop conditions, made to the Ontario Department of Agriculture by a special staff of correspondents:

The Weather.—The most noteworthy feature of the three months period, August-October, was the heat and drouth of August, the temperature being over three degrees above the average, and the rainfall only 0.81 inches. This was followed by abundant rain in September and October, the weather of the former months being cooler than usual, while October was four degrees above mean temperature.

Fall Wheat.—The extent to which the fall wheat suffered from winter-killing entailed a considerable decrease in the yield, and later unfavorable conditions have made the falling off greater than was anticipated. The crop has been a poor one in many parts, more especially in the west, the grain being light and shrunken, owing to over rapid ripening. Rust and chess have occasioned injury in some directions, but there has been a noticeable absence of insect pests. Reports from the eastern counties are slightly more favorable, although some loss is indicated to grain on low lying lands from heavy summer rain storms. In the northern and northwestern portions of the Province the fall wheat has yielded well.

The New Fall Wheat.—Owing no doubt to the unsatisfactory experience of this season, the acreage devoted to fall wheat has been, if anything, somewhat reduced. Reports from many of the western counties indicate a decrease which will hardly be counterbalanced by some increase in the Lake Ontario counties. The time of seeding covers a wider range than usual, owing to the dryness of the ground, which induced many farmers to postpone sowing until late in the season in hope of rain. As usual, most of the work appears to have been done in the earlier half of September, the ground in most localities being in good condition apart from the lack of moisture. The young plants are generally looking well, having received the benefit of later rains, and although somewhat backward in places, seem promising, and cover the ground well, having a heavy top. There are few complaints of insect pests, except that Hessian fly, the joint worm and wire worm have done some damage

Spring Wheat.—The same causes which have injuriously affected the fall wheat, more especially the dryness of the season and the prevalence of rust, have been felt by the spring wheat crop. In some localities the grain is light, but the general tenor of the reports from those neighborhoods where the crop is still growing is encouraging, and indicate a fair output.

Barley.—There has been an exceedingly good crop of barley in all parts of the Province. The yield is large and excellent in quality, the berry being usually plump and bright, though in some instances discolored. The crop has suffered but little from parasites, though a few cases of smut and rust are mentioned by correspondents.

Oats.—This has been a particularly fine crop in nearly all localities, the grain being generally full and heavy, and the production per acre being in excess of the average.

Peas.—The pea weevil or "bug," as it is popularly termed, has wrought much havoc with this crop, but for which the crop would have been above the average, as reports from localities which are free from the pest are mainly favorable.

Buckwheat.—This will be a light output, owing to the injury occasioned by the dryness of the weather and losses sustained by frost. The grain is frequently small where the yield has been fairly good.

Corn.—This has been a bad year for corn. Much of it matured too early, the ears being small and light and there were serious losses from frost and floods, so that there will be considerable shortage in the crop. There will be a fair yield for silage in the west and the Lake Ontario counties, but further east and north the crop is decidedly poor.

Tobacco.—There has been a great falling off in the cultivation of tobacco, and there are but few reports concerning this product by our correspondents. It appears to have been generally successful where grown.

Beans.—The bean crop has felt the effects of drouth severely, and the returns are very variable. Where produced in eastern localities it appears to have yielded better than in the western counties.

Clover Seed.—A very large proportion of the clover crop was winter killed, and consequently the yield of seed under any circumstances would have been much below the average. Correspondents are almost unanimous in stating that the drouth has so injured the second crop that very little seed has been secured. The midge has also proved destructive in many neighborhoods.

Potatoes.—The potato crop is for the most part of excellent quality, having been housed in sound condition and free from disease, except in a few localities where rot has appeared, which in some cases attacked the crop after it was taken up. The plant has been remarkably free from injury from insect pests. The effect of the drouth in numerous neighborhoods has been seriously to diminish the yield. The comparative effect of early and late planting has been very variable. In the western section the later planted seem generally to have yielded better than the earlier varieites, while in the eastern counties the reverse was the case in some instances. The exceptionally fine fall weather was specially favorable to the securing of the crop.

Turnips.—The drouth has seriously injured the turnips in common with other crops, and the yield has been light. The best returns have come from those sown early in the season. Insect ravages are reported from many quarters.

Mangels.—The yield of mangels has been satisfactory. The quality of the crop is first-class.

Sugar Beets.—This crop is confined to comparatively few localities, and has thriven well considering the want of moisture at a critical season.

Fruit and fruit trees.—The condition of fruit trees and vines as a rule is excellent, the principal drawbacks being the effects of drouth in a few localities, injuries from winds and recent snow storms, and more especially the damage inflicted by tent and forest caterpillars, which has been severe where spraying has been neglected. These and other insects—notably the codling moth—have seriously affected the apple crop, much of the fruit being wormy and inferior. Another cause of shortage was the heavy rain while the trees were in blossom, which interfered with fertilization. In most fruit-producing sections there was, however, a considerable surplus, especially of apples, over local demands, and many heavy shipments are noted, though the crop on the whole was much below the average. The quality was very variable. But little mention is made of the San Jose scale.

Pastures and Live Stock.—Fall pastures as a rule has not been good, the fields in most localities being dry and bare until a comparatively late period in the season, when they were revived to some extent by the heavy rains. Live stock are reported in a healthy condition, though thin for the most part in consequence of short pasture, but there is no allusion to any form of animal disease. There is plenty of fodder in nearly all localities for the winter's supply, especially of corn and coarse feed, but the hay crop has been light, and it commands a high price in many places.

The Dairy.—The dairy industry, though injured to some extent by the dryness of the season, has on the whole been flourishing under the stimulus of good prices. In many parts—more particularly in the west—the manufacture of butter is gaining upon that of cheese, though the latter still generally maintains the lead as a factory product. The movement for the manufacture of butter in cheese factories in the winter season has become general.

Poultry.—The returns regarding the poultry industry are generally of a highly encouraging character, indicating that farmers in all parts are devoting more care and attention to this department, and engaging in poultry raising more extensively than hitherto. The profits have been good wherever fowls have received proper treatment. The egg production has been above the average and prices have been remunerative. A large number of turkeys are ready for market in some parts, though the season was not too favorable for raising them successfully. Poultry generally are in fine condition, and there has been but little disease of any kind.

The Apiary.—Bees wintered badly, many hives having been lost. The season has been very unfavorable for honey production, there being little nectar available, and the supply of honey will be a good deal short of the average, and the quality is frequently inferior.

Fall Plowing.—The fine autumnal weather has enabled farmers to make good progress with their fall plowing, as the ground for the most part was in splendid condition, excepting in a few localities, where operations were delayed somewhat by drouth.

Farm Improvements.—There has been fair progress made in underdraining, the work being chiefly done by hand, tile drain machines not having given satisfaction.

Labor and Wages.—Except at harvest time, when there was a scarcity of help in many quarters, the supply of farm laborers has been sufficient for the demand. Correspondents report the exodus of a large number of young men from Ontario farms to the Northwest, and some are of opinion that this will mean an increase in farm wages in this Province in the near future.

BROWER IN THE FIELD.

Every Polling Sub-Division in the Riding Represented in the Nominating Convention at Aylmer.

Aylmer, Ont., Nov. 23.—At one of the largest and most enthusiastic conventions ever held in East Elgin, C. A. Brower was unanimously renominated as the Conservative candidate for the Local Legislature. Every polling subdivision in the riding was represented, and the delegates expressed themselves determined to re-elect Mr. Brower to the seat, of which he had been deprived by what even the judges characterized as a trivial violation of the law by an agent.

Speeches were delivered by the candidate, by A. B. Ingram, M.P., and A. W. Wright, Conservative organizer for Ontario.

Mr. Brower's speech was brief and telling. He claimed that the result of the recent election trial had left no stain, either upon himself or the party supporting him.

SLAUGHTER OF DERVISHES.

British-Egyptian Force Killed Four Hundred of Them.

Cairo, Nov. 23.—Gen. Wingate, with an Egyptian force, moved from Fakikohi yesterday to attack the forces of Ahmed Fedil, reported to be at Nefissa (Dreissa?), 23 miles from the River Nile, on the road to Gimeh. The Sirdar, Gen. Kitchener, has telegraphed to Lord Cromer, the British Minister, as follows:

"Omdurman, Nov. 23.—Wingate found Nefissa evacuated, pushed through to Abriadil, four miles farther, and found Fedil's forces encamped. They were forthwith engaged by the mounted troops, under Mahon, with four Maxims and two guns, and the Jehadieh, under Gerringe. The Dervishes charged, with all their old dash, to within 80 yards of the guns. Wingate, with the infantry, arrived in time to support Mahon, and cleared the whole camp. The Dervishes bolted through the bush, pursued by the mounted troops. Wingate estimates Fedil's force at 2500 men, of whom 400 were killed.

"Wingate captured many prisoners, grain, rifles and spears. The Egyptian casualties were three wounded."

Her Slipper.

My lady's slipper had its power
When love was young and life was sweet;
I worshiped in each wooing hour
The glancing of her tiny feet.

That dainty slipper now—how sad!
Deep awe inspires, for, lack a day,
When her small son is rude and bad
She smites him in the good old way.

THEY ROUTED 3,000 BOERS.

Another Brilliant Victory Won by the British Forces.

Advancing to the Relief of Kimberley the Column Took Strong Positions at Belmont—Imperial Losses Were Very Heavy and It Was Another Costly Victory—Guards Carried Last Ridge at the Point of the Bayonet.

London, Nov. 24.—(5 a.m.)—Before anxiety as to the situation in Natal had been relieved there comes news of a great battle at Belmont. This has happened sooner than was expected. Only the official account is yet to hand, but so far as can be gathered the fighting appears to have been almost a repetition of the battle of Elandslaagte. A despatch of the previous day estimated that the Boers in the vicinity numbered 2000, and that they had five guns, and, judging from the absence of any statement to the contrary in the official despatch, it is believed that the British were slightly superior in numbers to the enemy.

Guards Bore the Brunt.

The Boers had chosen a position with their customary skill, and were strongly entrenched. The British were obliged to carry three ridges in succession. Apparently the Guards bore the brunt in carrying the last ridge by a bayonet charge after its defenders had been shaken with shrapnel.

Nothing is said as to whether the positions thus gained were held, and the destruction of ammunition seems to indicate that the contrary was the case.

Another Costly Victory.

While Gen. Methuen can be congratulated upon a brilliant victory, it is again with a cost of a heavy loss of officers and men.

BATTLE AT BELMONT.

Official Despatch From General Lord Methuen Giving Details of the Victory, Which Was Complete.

London, Nov. 23.—The Secretary of War has received the following despatch, through General Forestier-Walker, from General Methuen, dated Belmont, Nov. 23:

Attacked the enemy at daybreak this morning. He was in strong position. Three ridges were carried in succession, the last attack being prepared by shrapnel. Infantry behaved splendidly and received support from the naval brigade and artillery. The enemy fought with courage and skill. Had I attacked later I should have had far heavier losses.

Our victory was complete.

Have taken 40 prisoners. Am burying a good number of the Boers, but the greater part of the enemy killed and wounded were removed by their comrades. Have captured a large number of horses and cows and destroyed a large quantity of ammunition.

Brigadier-General Fetherstonhaugh was severely wounded in the shoulder, and Lieut.-Col. Crabbe of the Grenadier Guards is reported wounded.

Our other casualties are:

GRENADIER GUARDS—Third Battalion, killed, Lieut. Fryer; wounded, Lieut. Blundell, dangerously.

Buller Now in Natal.

Cape Town, Nov. 23.—General Buller has gone to Natal. He is expected to return here shortly.

KIMBERLEY, NOV. 12 TO 17.

No Serious Engagements Between Those Dates—Casualties Small.

London, Nov. 23.—The War Office this evening issued a despatch from Cape Town, which is a brief official diary of events at Kimberley from Nov. 12 to 17. It shows that no serious engagement occurred between those dates; that the British losses have been infinitely small, and that the Boer losses were probably very small. The final entry indicates that the Boers, anticipating the advance of the relief column under General Methuen, have taken up defensive positions to the south of the town.

Dairy of Kimberley.

The despatch follows:

Kimberley, Nov. 12.—The Boers fired 400 shells yesterday. Our expenditure up to date is about 200 shells.

Nov. 13.—There was a desultory bombardment to-day, the Boer practice being indifferent.

Nov. 14.—The bombardment continued to-day.

Nov. 16.—At daybreak our mounted troops made a sortie. The morning was misty and our scouts came suddenly on the Boers, who fired wildly. An artillery engagement ensued. We had two men wounded.

Nov. 17.—There was another sortie at 2 o'clock yesterday from Bulfontein, which drove the enemy to the edge of Alexander's-fontein. Our only casualty was a captain wounded. It is reported that the Boers are concentrating south of Kimberley and now occupy laagers at Stagsteinfontein station and Scholz Nek. Their camp is practically surrounded by coppice and the country is suitable for their tactics.

EQUAL FREEDOM FOR ALL.

Sir Alfred Milner Dispels False Reports Sent Abroad.

Cape Town, Nov. 23.—Sir Alfred Milner has issued a proclamation to the people of the colony, in the course of which he says: "It is my duty to dispel false reports regarding the policy and intentions of the Imperial Government. Misleading manifestos from beyond the border represent the Imperial authorities as desiring to oppress the Dutch, and the idea has spread abroad that the Dutch will be deprived of their constitutional rights. There is absolutely no truth in such allegations. The Imperial Government desires the greatest freedom of self-government for both Dutch and British, and it is the extension, not the curtailment, of the constitutional rights that are solely endangered by rebellion. The Imperial Government adheres firmly to the principle of equal freedom for all loyal colonists."

ARREST OF THE DUTCH.

Influential People at Naauwpoort, but Suspected of Disloyalty.

Queenstown, Cape Colony, Wednesday, Nov. 22.—For strategical reasons and to reassure the British population, General Gatacre has decided on a partial forward movement after the reinforcements arrive to-night.

Several further arrests have been made at Naauwpoort and in that neighborhood of influential Dutch suspected of disloyalty.

Gen. Clery Gets Dragoons.

London, Nov. 23.—The Admiralty announces that the 1st Dragoons left Cape Town to-day for Durban to reinforce General Clery, whose advance is delayed by lack of cavalry.

Arch Traitor Arrested.

Cape Town, Nov. 23.—Van Rensburg, the ringleader of the rebels at Colesburg, was arrested just as he was joining a Boer commando. Under orders from Gen. Gatacre, he will be tried for treason.

Transports at Durban.

London, Nov. 23.—The British transports Pavonia and Cephalonia arrived at Durban to-day with about 3000 troops, making the total arrivals of the first division 11,600 men. Another 4000 are expected within a few days.

Mafeking Safe on Nov. 15.

Cape Town, Nov. 23.—The Boers occupied Steynsburg, southwest of Burghersdorp, on Monday.

Mafeking was safe as late as Nov. 15.

BRITISH MUST HAVE THEM.

No Settlement but a United South Africa on Canadian Plan.

London, Nov. 24.—The Daily Chronicle says: "We learn that the Cabinet has decided that the basis of settlement in South Africa will be a united South Africa, modelled upon the Canadian plan. The details have not yet been settled, but it is practically certain that no terms of peace will be accepted by the British Government short of the British occupation of Pretoria and Bloemfontein."

Gen. White Still at Work.

Durban, Nov. 23.—(7.45 p.m.)—The Natal Times this evening says: "During a night attack on Sunday, Gen. White captured several Boer positions with guns and much material."

NEW YORK MILLIONAIRES

Only a few people reading advertisements of bankers and brokers, saying that money could be made through speculation, realize that the richest men in America have commenced life in a humble way and have made their fortune through stock-exchange speculations.

Men like Jay Gould, who worked as a dry goods clerk in a small town at $10.00 a week up to his twentieth year, and commenced to operate with his small saving of $200.00 in Wall Street, left at his death 70 millions of dollars; Russell Sage, who worked as a grocery boy at $1.00 per week, and whose present wealth is estimated at 100 millions of dollars, is still operating the market, although 80 years of age, and so are thousands of others, who are enjoying all the luxuries life can offer, which is due to their success in speculation.

To the shrewd speculator the same opportunities are open to-day as to others in the past. The smallest lot which can be bought and sold is ten shares on 3% margin, making 30 dollars.

Anybody interested as to how speculations are conducted can get information and market letter free of charge upon application by letter to,

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver, of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in my back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately a friend advised trying 'Electric Bitters;' and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50cts guaranteed, at J. S. McKeown's Drug Store.

ELECTRIC LIGHT.

No little excitement exists in the city just now owing to the action of the Electric Light Company in taking possession of the streets and erecting poles thereon, under, it is contended, an agreement entered into with the corporation some few years ago; and the steps taken by the Mayor to prevent further work being done by the Company on the ground that the concessions formerly granted no longer exist, the company not having complied with the terms and conditions embodied in said agreement. Whether these contentions on the part of the Mayor and the Company be legally correct will have to be decided by the courts, unless there are mutual agreements on the part of the parties interested.

If the agreement to which reference is made is not binding on the part of the City, then it is the duty of the City Aldermen in the interests of the people to secure from the Company all advantages possible in any new arrangement or agreement into which they enter. It has been too much the practice in the past, to dispose of city franchises without any consideration in return; therefore, in the future, no exclusive rights should be given without a substantial consideration in return as has been done in other cities. At the same time no unnecessary obstructions should be thrown in the way of securing benefits to the citizens whereby their taxation would be lessened, whether directly or indirectly.

Other cities receive large revenues from the granting of exclusive privileges. Why should not the taxpayers of Belleville, in their disposal of its franchises, be relieved, if possible, of a portion of the heavy taxes which they now pay? This is a plain business proposition, which every reader can understand. Whether the introduction of the electric light, as proposed, will have that effect, is a question for the consideration of the people, without indulging in acrimonious controversy and attributing improper motives to those who differ in opinion as to the best way of guarding the City's and individual interests.

The City has an interest in the Gas Company in the way of stock to the extent of $25,000, upon which the present lessee of the Gas Works pays the City 4%, being $1,000 per annum. Is that interest to be jeopardized, or rendered valueless by the introduction of a general system of electric lighting? Then again, it is a question whether the cheapening of light to the consumer by at least one third below that now paid for gas would not more than compensate the taxpayers for any loss which might be incurred from the substitution of electricity for that of gas.

That a reduction of ⅓ of the sum now paid by the consumers of gas for the same amount of light, would more than compensate for such a loss is beyond question; but before any concessions are made the Company should be bound in such a manner as to put that question beyond doubt. This, we understood from the statements made by Mr. Pearson in the interview had with him by THE INTELLIGENCER, he is willing to guarantee. Here we may add, that that interview was had with Mr. Pearson and published, not for the purpose of extorting money under the pretence of giving the views of Mr. Pearson publication (that kind of journalism is only applicable to those who are always ready and willing to sell their columns for a consideration) but for the purpose of laying before our readers the position in which the Company stands to the people, in order that they might the better judge of the proposition made by those interested in furnishing the City with electric light.

That the Lessee of the Gas Works in Belleville has been charging exorbitant rates for gas, when compared with that charged in other cities and towns, is incontrovertable. Let, us in any arrangements or agreements into which the City may enter, see that this question of charges is so guarded that there can be no advantages taken in future.

Electric light is, we understand, furnished to consumers in other cities at from $1.00 per light per annum to ½ cent per light per night. Can this be secured for Belleville, or a rate somewhere in that vicinity? The people will await with some anxiety the result of the conference to be held between a Committee of the City Council and the Electric Company.

It is alleged that the concessions made by the Company to Trenton are many and valuable, but it must not be forgotten that that town invested a large sum of money in creating the water power which has been given to the Company.

First, let Belleville ascertain the rights which the Company now has in the city, and then negotiate for the future. That could be ascertained by a mutual submission to an eminent lawyer, whose decision should be final. This would avoid litigation and enable negotiations to be proceeded with more intelligently.

THE GLOBE—THE CONTINGENT AND THE LAURIERITES!

Tarte's admirer and defender, the Toronto Globe, says:

During all the years since Confederation that the Conservatives were in office they did not contribute a dollar nor a man to the wars of the Empire.

The Liberal Government, at a cost of some hundreds of thousands of dollars, has sent a contingent of 1,000 men to fight for the Empire in South Africa.

It is not long since that the Globe told its readers that Sir Wilfrid had said:

"I do not see how we could send troops. How could we do so without Parliament voting the money? We simply could not do anything. Parliament would have to be summoned before a soldier could be enrolled. And so it is that we have not offered a Canadian contingent to the home authorities. The Government has not discussed the question."

Children Cry for

What was it that changed the mind of this versatile Premier? His Excellency, the Governor-General, told us in his speech at the Hallowe'en Concert in Montreal on the 30th of October last, when he said:

"The contingent went to South Africa because the people of Canada insisted upon it going."

In addition to this Le Soleil, the organ and spokesman of Laurier in Quebec, told its readers that the Governor-General insisted upon action being taken by his Ministers or he would dismiss them. Yet in the face of these facts the Globe sings the praises of Laurier for sending a contingent, and at the same time lauds and extols Tarte, he having opposed the sending of a force from Canada to aid in the maintenance of British power in South Africa.

A loyal contemporary commenting upon the Globe's declaration, truly says:

The Liberal Government is entitled to the credit of sending the Canadian contingent to South Africa about as much as it is entitled to the credit of developing the Northwest by its railway policy, or of building up Canadian industries by the policy of protection. The Premier is ever doing the things he does not want to do and declares that he abhors and is not above claiming credit for what he does most reluctantly and under the sternest compulsion.

Laurier showed himself lacking in statesmanlike ability; ungrateful to a people who have honored him with their confidence and loaded him with favors; and wanting in devotion to a Sovereign who has crowned him with honors. For his organs to claim credit for him doing what he was shamed and driven into doing indicates that they do not give their readers credit for much intelligence.

Canada, during the Conservative regime, made a magnificent contribution to the defence of the Empire by the construction of those great strategic works, the Canadian Pacific and Intercolonial Railways. That the strategic value and intent of these works was well recognized is shown by thousands of sneers by Grit writers and speakers, who objected to the spending of Canadian money for purposes declared by them to be chiefly imperial. There is lots of that kind of rubbish to be found in Hansard and in the fyles of a certain Grit paper published in Toronto called the Globe.

This gentlemen Laurier, who was first in the colonial contingent in the Jubilee parade, when the colonists were facing nothing more dangerous than medals, decorations, and royal favors, was last in the colonial procession when our Queen needed help in time of danger. What did the colonial contingent of 1897 mean, if it did not mean that the colonial swords drawn to salute Her Majesty were ready to be drawn to defend her cause in time of need? If the Government organs are well advised they will claim no credit for the Government for its tardy and unwilling action in sending the Canadian contingent to the Transvaal. It is in the Government's interest that the electors should have a chance to forget the shameful incident—if they can.

The next thing we shall hear is the Globe declaring in the most solemn manner, that Tarte never opposed the sending of a Canadian regiment to South Africa, under any circumstances. The Globe will soon be understood, and appreciated by all Liberals, who desire to see this country continue British, and honestly governed.

Discovered by a Woman.

Another great discovery has been made, and that, too, by a lady in this country. "Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night; and with two bottles, has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus writes W. C. Hamnick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Trial bottles free at J. S. McKeown's Drug Store. Regular size 50c and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed.

SNAP SHOTS AT TIMELY TOPICS.

—The Boers have captured or are besieging practically all the war correspondents in South Africa. It would seem that ought to satisfy them without also cutting all the telegraph wires.

—"Can nothing be done," asks the Montreal Star, "to cheer up the Toronto Globe?" Why, certainly. Give it a few more cubic miles of coal.—Mail and Empire.

Fie, fie, give more coal area and its troubles would be increased, as its whole space would have to be occupied in trying to convince its readers that it is honest.

—"There is more real patriotism in J. I. Tarte's little finger than in the whole carcass of the average Tupperite."—Hamilton Times. So sings McGillicuddy—

Hurrah for Tarte, so bright and smart,
Hurrah for Mulock, too,
McGillicuddy and everybuddy
That fights the Tupper crew.

—The threshing machine has changed its name. It was the Hardy-Ross Government not so long ago; now it is the Ross Government. And we are asked to suppose that this change is a "purification." A great poet says:

Howso' great their clamour,
Whatsoe'er their claim,
Suffer not the old king
Under any name.

—Le Soleil, the Government organ in Quebec city, says the Ottawa Ministers did not offer Britain a second contingent.

Le Soleil says if an offer was made to the Imperial authorities it was made by the Governor-General on his own responsibility.

Le Soleil adds that the Quebec followers of Sir Wilfrid are opposed to the giving of help to Great Britain.

—When the Boers entered the town of Ladygrey in Northern Cape Colony the English postmistress there was the one representative of England's authority who refused to surrender. She ordered the Boers out of her office and they went. They raised the Free State flag over the building and she hauled it down and raised the British flag instead. They posted a proclamation declaring the town annexed and she tore it down and posted in its place the British proclamation in regard to treason. At last accounts she was still holding out. ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION.

G. T. R. Employees Bid Adieu to Their Late Locomotive Foreman.

Some time ago Mr. A. A. Scott, Locomotive Foreman on the G. T. R. here, was dismissed by the company, after being in their service nearly three years. It is the intention of that gentleman to remove from Belleville, and the employees of the road here desired in some manner to express to him their appreciation of his worth and their admiration for him as a fellow employee. Last evening a large number, including many ladies, gathered at the hall of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, where the presentation was made.

The meeting was called to order, and ex-Ald. Taylor, an engineer, was moved to the chair, prayer being offered by Rev. T. J. Thompson.

The chairman in a few well chosen words, explained the object of the gathering. Mr. H. Smith was next called upon and read to Mr. Scott an address, which expressed regret at his departure and wished him success in the future, wherever his lot might be cast. They asked him to accept from them a tea service as a slight token of their regard. The service was handsome and costly. Upon the plate was an inscription beautifully engraved, denoting by whom the present was given. The address was signed by Messrs. John Kain, Thos. Duboe, Wm. W. Mair, T. Marshall, John Gurney, Jesse Barlow, the committee. Mr. Scott was taken completely by surprise, but replied in a feeling and suitable manner.

The remaining portion of the evening was devoted to speech making and song. Amongst those who spoke were Messrs. W. Mair, T. Daly, Geo. Teal, J. Macleay, J. Kain, H. Gorman, F. Palos, T. Elliott and H. Acton, all of whom referred to Mr. Scott as a gentleman whom they admired, and whom to work with was a pleasure. Rev. T. J. Thompson also addressed the gathering, expressing his regret at Mr. Scott's departure. The addresses were interspersed with songs by Mr. S. Burrows, Miss May Duboe, Miss Vanorman, and recitations by Miss Jessie Robertson, Miss Watkins and Mr. F. Palos.

During the evening refreshments were served, and at an early hour the proceedings were brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

A Crisis in Japan Missions.

We have already informed our readers of the present edict issued by the Government of Japan, forbidding the teaching of any religion in schools in that Empire. To-day's Globe contains the following.

In the absence of Rev. Dr. Carman, Rev. Dr. Ryckman presided at the special meeting of the Executive Committee of the Methodist Board of Missions, held yesterday afternoon. There were also present Rev. Drs. Sutherland, Henderson, Briggs, Toronto; Williams of Montreal, Wakefield of Thorold, Revs. J. H. Hazlewood of Dundas, Alfred Brown, Jos. Edge, London; W. R. Young, Port Hope; and Geo. J. Bishop, Brampton; Hon. J. C. Aikins, Messrs. J. J. Maclaren, W. J. Ferguson, Toronto; W. Johnson, Belleville; Richard Brown, Toronto; and Wm. Bowman, London. The situation of the Methodist school in Tokio, in the light of the recent action of the Japanese Government, was thoroughly discussed, and it was decided to take every possible action which would lead to the repeal of the regulations which forbid religious instruction in schools. Combined action will be taken by the Methodists throughout Canada and the United States to bring pressure to bear upon the Japanese Government to allow the former regulations to prevail in connection with private schools.

The Khalifa Was Killed.

A Little War News from Egypt for a Change

Dutch Farmers are Rising and Joining the Free State Forces—News Regarded as Grave at Capetown.

(OTHER DESPATCHES ON INSIDE PAGES.)

Cairo, Nov. 25.—Lord Cromer, the British Minister here, has received the following despatch from Gen. Kitchener:

"Wingate's forces came up with the Khalifa's force seven miles southeast of Godid and attacked. After a sharp fight we took his position. The Khalifa, who was surrounded by a bodyguard of Emirs, was killed, and all the principal Emirs were killed and captured except Osman Digna, who escaped.

The Dervishes were utterly defeated. Their whole camp was taken and thousands surrendered.

A large number of women, children and cattle also fell into the hands of the Anglo-Egyptians.

London, Nov. 25.—The gravest news from Cape Town to-day comes from the northern part of Cape Colony, where it is now evident that numbers of Dutch farmers have risen and joined the invading Free State forces in the Berchell and Barkley east district. A despatch from Queenstown, via Cape Colony, Gen. Gatacre's headquarters, announces that four hundred colonial rebels, including the ex-Magistrate of Berkley east, have joined the enemy at the latter place, and that the whole force is reported to be marching on Dordrecht.

F. Fairman, trotting over lower bridge, dismissed.

M. Mackie, J. Wilson and H. Bergeyne, all small boys, for disorderly conduct around opera house, discharged with a caution.

E. Hayes, V. Brennan and W. Nicholson, disorderly conduct on Bridge st. Brennan was fined $1.50 as the aggressor, and other two dismissed.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING

That the day of the pumpkin pie social is at hand.

That, as might be expected, Dewey's troubles began when he got married.

That 1001 loyal Canadians won't be sorry when they set their feet on dry land to-day.

That this year the Mayoralty seems to be seeking the man, and not the man the office.

That a large number of distinguished men are not going to run for municipal office this year.

That, as a topic of conversation, electric light matters are fairly dividing the honors with the war news to-day.

That Lord Methuen's victory seems to have been a pretty decisive sort of an affair, after all. It may not have been good enough for the British, but it was certainly bad enough for the Boers.

That after people have wept for the killed and wounded, cheered for the heroes and cussed the muleteers in South Africa, they might shed a tear or two for the war correspondents, who seem to be in hard luck.

That the Laurier Club of Ottawa has given more evidence of the loyalty of the French-Canadians. They have just adopted resolutions condemning the Government for sending the Contingent to Africa.

That the United States people must possess a large amount of fickleness. Who would have thought a couple of months ago that Admiral Dewey would, with his voice broken by sobs, have said: "I hardly feel like living in a country where I can be attacked in so outrageous a manner," yet that was the speech made by the hero of Manila the day before yesterday, and the country he referred to was the United States. It didn't take long for the gilt to wear off the gingerbread.

"FORFEITED AND VOID."

Such Was the Opinion Given by the City Solicitor,

Concerning the Franchise Given in 1896 to the Trenton Electric Light Company -- No Further Action Taken.

Last night's committee meeting, held for the purpose of conferring with Mr. W. H. Pearson, came to a sudden and dramatic termination. After a long speech by the Mayor, in which he made many statements which seemed to fall in with popular views, judging by the applause which came from the back benches, Mr. Pearson replied, and, in the way he marshalled his facts, gave evidence of the shrewdness which has always been associated with him. Then things dragged a little. Some of the Aldermen wanted Mr. Pearson to make a proposition. Mr. Pearson stated that his sole object in attending the meeting was to find out what the Aldermen proposed to do. The Aldermen wanted something better than the old contract. Mr. Pearson was deaf to any hints or suggestions which many of the Aldermen made. Like the immortal Mr. Micawber, the City Fathers and the audience were waiting for something to turn up, when the Mayor arose and said that, as it was evident by his actions Mr. Pearson did not intend to grant the concessions which he had suggested, and, as Ald. Panter had, on Monday night last, introduced a resolution, which was carried, requiring the City Solicitor to be present with his opinion as to the forfeiture of the Trenton Electric Light Company's franchise, he would ask the City Solicitor to render his opinion. This was taking the bull by the horns with a vengeance, and things grew exciting. The City Solicitor gave as his opinion that the charter was forfeited and void, and so ends the first chapter.

When the proceedings began Ald. Doyle was in the chair, and, with the exception of Ald. Hungerford, all the City Fathers were present.

Ald Doyle announced for what purpose the meeting had been called. The people of the City, he said, were greatly interested, and wanted the matter to receive a full and impartial consideration.

Ald. Hanley said the main question before the meeting was how to obtain the best light possible for the citizens. The cost of the operations of the Company to date must be great, and it would not, in his opinion, be fair to take advantage of them on a technicality. He thought it was the desire of the citizens that the matter should be settled in an amicable manner. He thought that the by-law which was passed in 1896, giving the Company the powers they claimed, should be read, and made of record to that effect, which carried, and the Chairman read the by-law.

Ald. Bogart said the ratepayers were crying out for cheaper light, and he was heart and soul with them. There was no other city or town in Canada which had to pay so much as we did for it. Some three years ago the contract had been made, and frankly he thought it should be amended on a more favorable basis. We did own some Gas stock, but in his opinion if, by giving up the Gas stock we could get cheaper light, we had better give up the stock. But he thought the Council had entered into the contract in good faith, and if we could get fair treatment from the Company we should give them fair treatment in return.

Ald. Panter said that as a member of the Council of 1896 he would say that the franchise by-law was drafted under the direction of the late Ald. Yeomans, than whom no better business man ever sat in the Council. He thought the universal opinion was that a fresh agreement should be entered into, but that the Company should not be treated harshly.

Ald. Panter sat down and for some little time, as the novelists say, "Silence reigned supreme."

Ald. Taylor wanted to know if the Trenton Electric men had anything to offer.

Ald. Panter wanted clause 2 considered, which fixed the rate at one cent per light per night.

Ald. Hanley did not think the clause was imperative. Nobody was obliged to take the light if they did not want to. Coal oil was not dear, and if the electric light was too dear the people would not use it. So that cheap light was to the interest of both Company and citizens. In other places they got cheap light, so why not in Belleville? He contended that the clause was not an imperative one.

Ald. Bogart did not agree with Ald. Hanley. He wanted light at a reasonable price, and he wanted to see the agreement fixed.

Ald. Hanley said it was to the interest of the Company to have that clause changed.

Ald. Doyle hinted that some doubts existed as to whether the franchise had not been forfeited.

Ald. Starling said he had always fought for cheaper light. Mr. Pearson had had control of the Gas Co. for eight years and a half and we had gradually been getting cheaper light. He thought the city should make a new contract with the Company.

Ald. Taylor heard that Mr. Pearson had better terms to offer, and moved that he be heard.

Mr. Pearson did not respond to this invitation.

Ald. Jones pointed out that it was unfair to the merchants to charge them a flat rate for light, when during many months in the year they hardly used it at all. There were certain clauses in the by-law he did not consider right, and the opportunity had arrived to have them righted.

Mr. Pearson said people could have meters if they wanted them.

Ald. Taylor asked if there was any charge for meters and was informed there was not.

Mr. Pearson said he had come to hear the Council's proposition. He wanted to find out what they wanted. He was here to meet them in a fair way.

Ald. Doyle said he understood that in Peterboro light was furnished to private houses at $1 per year.

Ald. Panter wanted to know Mr. Pearson's terms. Would he give them light at $1 per year per light, or $1.25, or what would he do.

Mr. Pearson said he would sell them electricity so that it would equal in price gas at $1.50 per thousand feet.

in the line of such remarks as were made by two customers in our store during the HOUR sale of yesterday afternoon. These parties made the remark that "we had raised our prices."

Such an assertion was nothing less than a base falsehood. Our goods were and always have been marked in plain figures, and a pretty time we would have to go through a $35,000 stock and raise prices for an hour's sale. We could not do such in a week's time even were we so disposed. The strange part is that those who made the remark were those who purchased most heavily during the hour, and under the circumstances we request that they please return the goods and get their money. We do not care to sacrifice goods and take abuse for it. It was certainly not our desire to sell many goods at such prices; that was our reason for limiting the sale to one hour, not dreaming that we would be forced to handle so many goods during a single hour. We shall certainly not repeat the half price sale.

AGUINALDO IS DONE UP."

General Otis' Story to the Government at Washington.

Filipinos Are Now All Scattered—Cannot Claim to Have a Government and Are Playing the Role of Banditti—President and Some of Its Cabinet Officers Hiding in Central Luzon—Others in Otis' Hands.

Washington, Nov. 25.—Gen. Otis summarizes the situation in Luzon in a despatch to the War Department yesterday, in which he says that the insurgent Government can no longer claim to exist, its troops and officers scattered, and Aguinaldo in hiding. The despatch follows:

"Manila, Nov. 24.—Claim to Government by the insurgents can be made no longer under any fiction. Its Treasurer, Secretary of Interior, and President of Congress are in our hands; its President and remaining Cabinet officers in hiding, evidently in different localities. Some of its generals and troops in small bands, scattered through the provinces, acting as banditti, or dispersed, playing the role of 'Amigos,' with arms concealed. Indications are that Aguinaldo did not escape through the lines of Lawton or Wheaton, but fled westward from Bayombong railway station. Telegraphic communication to Dagupan established, probably to San Fabian to-day; by relaying nine miles of track with material at hand, railway communication at that point re-established. Labor of troops must attend maintenance."

Details of Carpenter's Fight.

Fuller details of the sharp engagement between Carpenter's command and the insurgents in Iloilo reached the War Department yesterday in the following despatch from Gen. Otis, dated Manila, to-day:

"In Panay, 21st inst., when Dickman drove enemy vicinity Jaro, Carpenter, with two battalions, 18th Infantry and Bridgeman's Battery, had severe engagements at Pavia, north Iloilo. His casualties five killed, 20 wounded, now in Iloilo hospital, others slightly wounded with command; enemy driven north with reported very heavy loss; particulars not received. Carpenter passed on to insurgents' stronghold, Santa Barbara, which he captured 22nd inst., without loss. Apparently Visayans friendly, not taking active part; enemy consists of 2,000 Tagalos. Hughes, Iloilo, reports enemy driven back into mountains; insurgent capital, Cabanatuan, captured. Only serious action that of Carpenter at Pavia; total casualties, five killed or since dead of wounds, 27 wounded; captured 10 prisoners, 18 cannon, six rifles, quantities of ammunition. Enemy's casualties not stated."

It Appears to Be True.

Manila, Nov. 25.—Bautista, President of the Filipino Congress, presented himself to Gen. MacArthur yesterday and formally renounced all connection with the insurrection. He was one of the influential Filipinos who hesitated at the beginning of the war as to the side on which to cast his lot. He was offered a judgeship of the Supreme Court, but declined. He now announces that he desires to accept the position, and says the Filipino Congress and Cabinet are scattered, never to reassemble. Some of the members have returned to their homes, while others are fleeing for safety. Many of the Congressmen have resigned, and he believes the Filipino soldiers will lay down their arms everywhere as soon as they learn the truth.

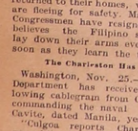

The Charleston Has Sunk.

Washington, Nov. 25.—The Navy Department has received the following cablegram from Capt. Leutze, commanding the naval station at Cavite, dated Manila, yesterday:

"Culgoa reports Charleston dispeared."

Some One Told on Him.

Manila, Nov. 25.—Senor Buencamino, a former member of the so-called Cabinet of Aguinaldo, has been brought to Gen. Otis, a prisoner on board the transport Brutus. He had sought refuge in a village near San Fabian, with Aguinaldo's mother and son. The natives disclosed his identity to Major Croin, who captured him. Gen. Young is still in the mountains, on the trail of Aguinaldo.

MEN CURED FREE.

A most successful remedy has been found for sexual weaknesses such as varicocele, nervous debility, lost manhood, and all other results of youthful folly or excesses. It cures any case of the difficulty, never fails to restore the full natural strength and vigor. The Doctor who made this wonderful discovery wants to let every man know about it. He will therefore send the receipt giving the various ingredients to be used so that all men at a trifling expense can cure themselves. He sends the receipt free, and all the reader need do is to send his name and address to L. W. Knapp, M.D., 25 Hull Bldg., Detroit, Mich., requesting the free receipt as reported in this paper. It is a generous offer, and all men ought to be glad to have such an opportunity. 8-16-wkly

FRANCE'S FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

Delagoa Bay Incident Brought up in the Chamber of Deputies.

British Action Was All Right—Belligerents Had the Right to Ascertain the Nationality of any Vessel—The Open Door in China Must Be Maintained—M. Delcasse, Minister of Foreign Affairs, is Level-Headed.

Paris, Nov. 25.—In the Chamber of Deputies yesterday, during the discussion of the foreign estimates, Count Montaigu, conservative, asked for an explanation as to the incident of a British cruiser stopping and boarding a French steamer, the Cordoba, in Delagoa Bay.

M. Delcasse, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, replied that it was not an isolated case. Belligerents during a war, he explained, had a right to ascertain the nationality of any vessel, and he added, if the British cruisers only did this they had acted within their rights.

The Situation in China.

Turning to the situation in China and the recent incidents in Kwang-Chan-Wan Province, the Minister reviewed the concessions obtained by other nations, and said France's share had been inferior to that of Britain's, adding: "We took what we think is the most convenient spot. But we must husband our resources, for efforts in our vital interests may render it necessary. Our immense empire and frontier in China ought to keep us from impatient enterprise which might cost us dearly. The partition of China is not imminent. Russia has reached Pe-Chi-Li because she has not met with great resistance. Our zone of influence lies beyond Tonkin. The point in dispute is in a poor province, but what is important to us is that China has undertaken not to yield the neighboring province to the influence of any one power."

This statement was greeted with cheers. "We must seek to maintain the open door."

No Interference.

Referring to the Transvaal, the Foreign Minister said he favored mediation and arbitration, but did not deem it opportune to take the initiative, as the powers had not yet signed The Hague protocol.

Touching upon the lingering newspaper strictures as to the Fashoda settlement, the Minister remarked: "Some papers make it a business of dwelling on national humiliation. The Government took a decision which it was quite justified in doing, and a subsequent treaty gave France vast territory and consolidated our African empire. The Government deferred to the wish France to be powerful in Europe, and insist that she ought to intervene everywhere. They unceasingly demand territorial aggrandizement, as if we did not have already an immense colonial empire to develop. We shall consult the country's interests and not seek doubtful popularity. When the Government considers where our vital interests lie, and the fact that the population of France increases but little, it comes to the conclusion that it ought rather to devote its efforts to maintain what is acquired rather than seek aggrandizement.

How to Obtain Friendship.

"It is by endeavoring to smooth difficulties, by conciliating interests, and by suppressing, as far as possible, the sources of conflict, that we have obtained the friendship of some and certainly the esteem of all.

"I am aware that some journals urge an opposite policy, the policy of shaking the fist at all the world, a policy which implies stupifying ignorance or the shameless exploitation of the noblest sentiments. Who does not see what risks to dignity and safety to our country would run by such an attitude? But you will never tolerate such a policy. Buster does not mean strength." (Cheers.)

Always Remember Germany.

Loud cheers followed this statement of policy.

The speaker then denounced "those the noble sentiment of the country unscrupulous politicians who exploit the noble sentiments of the country in order to excite public opinion against the Government." He recalled the fact that Germany, on the morrow of her victories, was obliged to seek an alliance, and said: "The Franco-Russian alliance, opposed to the Dreibund, has been drawn closer, and this alliance guarantees peace at present, admits of far-reaching projects in the future, and ought to encourage us to persevere in the existing line of policy."

The Chamber then adjourned until Monday.

The general opinion in the lobbies was that the speech of M. Delcasse would produce an excellent impression at home and abroad. The entire Chamber, except the Nationalists and the anti-Semites, applauded. The Foreign Minister was very careful to avoid saying anything calculated to wound the susceptibilities of any country. An explanation of his allusion to the dual alliance is found in his recent conference with the Russian Foreign Minister, Count Muraviéff, in Paris and St. Petersburg.

The perches should all be at one elevation and far enough apart to prevent the soiling of fowls one by another.

When the hens are molting, a few drops of the tincture of iron may be put into the water to a good advantage.

Hens should be made to exercise. Without exercise the best of flocks will soon become worthless and unprofitable.

Cramp in the limbs is prevalent in flocks that are confined and fed too highly on concentrated food. The fowls walk with difficulty.

It is from well matched parents that the most vigorous offspring comes. Select the most vigorous and motherly hens for next year's breeders.

If the rooster is faulty, do not breed from him, even if the pullets are up to the standard. Everything in point of plumage and symmetry depends in the sire.

If filth, dampness and vermin are avoided, there will be little trouble in keeping fowls healthy, and with good health assured they can readily be made profitable.

Civil Governors For Cuba and Porto Rico —The Philippines.

Washington, Nov. 25.—President McKinley has received a synopsis of Secretary Root's annual report, which he is now considering in connection with his message to Congress. These are the most important recommendations:

The immediate appointment of civil governors for Cuba and Porto Rico.

The substitution of civil government, either by commission or a civil governor, for the Philippines, immediately following the suppression of the present insurrection.

A complete system of suffrage in the Philippines, Cuba and Porto Rico, with educational and property qualifications required for all voters.

The immediate construction by the Government of a cable between the United States and the Philippines.

Combine in the Salmon Trade.

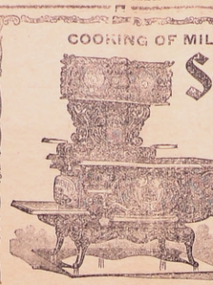

Vancouver, B.C., Nov. 25.—It is understood that arrangements are going on, on a new plan, for a combine of the salmon canneries of the province, and that the principals in the case are Senator Cox and other eastern Canadians. A meeting of the cannery proprietors was held at Victoria a couple of days ago, and the question of the proposed combine was discussed. No definite action was taken, however, but it is said that when other meetings are held they will result in a definite plan being formulated for the carrying out of the combine.

COOKING OF MILKY FOODS

Souvenir

A Perfect Success

EVERY cook appreciates, somewhat disappointingly too often, the difficulty of getting milky foods to "do" just right.

Milk is of an impressionable nature and takes to itself everything with which it is surrounded.

If you've cooked a roast in the oven previously the aroma remains usually in the oven and imparts its flavor to the rice pudding or custard or other dish containing milk that goes in next.

This trouble is overcome completely with an aerated oven. Food cooked in this way is always surrounded by pure, fresh air. There is a constant flow of this health-giving element in and out all the time, making impossible the retention of any foul odors to destroy the flavor of the most delicate and carefully prepared dainty.

The Aerated Oven is found only in the Souvenir Range, Sold Everywhere, One will Last a Lifetime.

200 MORE GIRLS

Have Gone Out of the Eagle Knitting Mills at Hamilton in Sympathy With the Others.

Hamilton, Nov. 25.—Two hundred women and girls, employed in the Eagle Knitting Mills, quit work yesterday morning in sympathy with the 100 who struck because a new scale of wages, claimed to be lower, was inaugurated on Tuesday. Only 40 or 50 hands were working yesterday in the big mills. The committee of strikers who waited on John Moodie, jr., president of the company, reported to Mayor Teetzel that the company would not concede anything. His Worship then sent a long letter to Mr. Moodie, pointing out that the strikers had waited on him and stated large suits had been made in their wages and that, in view of the good times and the exemption given the mills by the city, the company's course was unjust.

Mr. Moodie states that he has secured between 70 and 80 new hands and expects to have most of the strikers' places filled in the course of a few days. He declined to discuss the letter received from Mayor Teetzel on the ground that it had not yet been considered by the officers of the company.

Mr. Moodie would not undertake to predict the outcome of the strike, but expressed the belief that the company would not be willing to take back all the strikers.

French Counterfeiters Cases.

Paris, Nov. 25.—In the High Court (Senate) to-day several witnesses in the conspiracy case were heard, to the effect that the Royalists paid workmen to make a demonstration Oct. 25. He had asked President Weir if the amount was in the vaults and he had stated that it was not, and that it was missing.

At Death s Door—Dyspepsia Conquered. A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I ould not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

Toronto, Nov. 25.—The run of live stock at the Cattle Market yesterday was light, 45 loads, composed of 404 cattle, 2,060 hogs, 858 sheep and lambs, 10 calves and about 5,000 live turkeys. The quality of fat cattle was only medium, those of best classes being very scarce and not enough coming forward. Few exporters offered and few wanted on account of scarcity of space on boats. EAST BUFFALO CATTLE MARKET.

East Buffalo, Nov. 24.—Cattle—There were two loads on sale, and the good kind sold full strong, but the market on the poor kind is still in very bad position. Western receipts are lower, and buyers are extremely reluctant to take them even at a heavy decline in the basis. Calves were in moderate supply, fair demand and steady at the quoted figures. Choice to extra were quotable at $7.50 to $7.75; good to choice, $7 to $7.50.

Sheep and Lambs—The total was 48 loads, including 120 loads of Canada lambs. There was a fair trade at the prices. Sheep were rather dull. Lambs, choice to extra, were quotable at $4.85 to $5; good to choice, $4.50 to $4.75; common to good, $4 to $4.25. Sheep, choice to extra, $4 to $4.25; good to choice, $3.75 to $4; common to fair, $2.50 to $3.50. Canada lambs sold on the basis of $5.05 to $5.15. There was a fair general clearance. The general strength to the wool market is a sustaining feature to the sheep and lamb trade at the present.

LATEST FROM LADYSMITH.

Gen. White Says Says on Nov. 22: "The Situation is Unchanged."

Durban, Nov. 24.—An official message from General White at Ladysmith, dated Nov. 22, says: "Situation unchanged. Troops well and cheerful."

To Pacify the Dutch.

Cape Town, Nov. 24.—Sir Alfred Milner's proclamation to the people of Cape Colony, which draws attention to the innumerable proofs given by the Queen that she does not favor one race at the expense of another and gladly recognizes that the majority of the Dutch have remained loyal and proved worthy of Her Majesty's confidence, will, it is believed, have a good effect. Premier Schreiner heartily endorses it, and has directed the magistrates to give it the widest publicity. He also invites the clergymen to disseminate it to their congregations.

WILL STAND NO NONSENSE.

Kruger Must Receive United States Consul Macrum.

Washington, Nov. 24.—Mr. Macrum, the United States Consul at Pretoria, has been instructed by cable to impress upon President Kruger that in the view of this Government the usages of all civilized nations sanction the ministration of a neutral representative in the interest of the citizens and captives of one of the parties to a war, and he must further insist upon performing the sacred duties imposed by all considerations of humanity. This is practically an announcement of the insistance of the United States Government upon the execution of the trust it assumed to look after the interests of British citizens in the South African Republics.

Cork, Nov. 24.—Eleven officers and 517 men of the Royal Irish Regiment sailed from Queenstown to-day for the Cape.

Will Rhodes Go Skyward?

London, Nov. 24.—The Cape Town correspondent of The Daily Telegraph, telegraphing Thursday, says: "Nothing is known here concerning the report that United States Consul Macrum has been refused permission to leave Transvaal territory. I am told that Mr. Cecil Rhodes keeps a big balloon ready at Kimberley to escape, if driven to that extremity."

HAS THE SARDINIAN ARRIVED?

Private Cablegram Says So, but the News Is Not Confirmed.

London, Nov. 24.—(Telegram Cable.)—A private cable from Cape Town states that the transport Sardinian, bearing the Canadian South African regiment, has arrived. Your correspondent made enquiries at the War Office, but received no confirmation. Nothing was known there of the Sardinian's arrival at Cape Town.

The Canadian contingent will march through the town, and a holiday will be proclaimed in Cape Town in honor of the occasion.

Difficulties at Mafeking.

Magalapio, Cape Colony, Sunday, Nov. 19.—A despatch received here from Mafeking, dated Wednesday, Nov. 15, says:

"The garrison is cheerful, but the position is daily growing more difficult. The Boers are always drawing their entrenchments closer and are incessantly plying the British with artillery and musketry fire. The garrison is living almost entirely in underground shelters, and the health of the troops is suffering."

BIG GREENWAY MEETING.

A One-Sided Gathering at Which the Premier Replied to President Mellen's Letter.

Winnipeg, Nov. 24.—(Special.)—Selkirk Hall was crowded to-night, when Premier Greenway, Hon. Col. McMillan and P. C. McIntyre, the latter two Liberal candidates in Winnipeg, delivered addresses.

Their reception was very cordial, and, as it was a one-sided gathering, there was nothing to mar the proceedings. The various speakers defended the policy of the Government, and Mr. Greenway expressed his confidence that the Liberals would be returned on Dec. 7. He also said he was going to get a 10-cent rate on grain to lakeboard, and if negotiations with private companies failed, he believed in the policy of the Government building a railway to secure it. He replied to the Northern Pacific's letter, claiming that he acted in the interests of the province in not acceding to the wishes of the company.

W. F. MILLER HAS SKIPPED.

$15,000 in Cash Seized by the Police Authorities.

New York, Nov. 24.—William F. Miller, head of the Franklin Syndicate, which has accepted the deposits of thousands of persons in Brooklyn under promise of paying dividends of 10 per cent. a week, or 520 per cent. per annum, and Cecil Leslie, his secretary, were indicted by the King's County grand jury this afternoon. Bench warrants were issued for the arrest of these two men, but up to a late hour to-night neither had been found, the police saying that they had disappeared in the afternoon. To-night the police, under charge of Capt. Reynolds, chief of detectives in Brooklyn; Inspector Brennan, and Police Captain Lee, raided the premises occupied by the Franklin Syndicate on Floyd-street. There was a great crowd of people around the building, and the police surrounded it. Inspector Brennan arrested Louis Miller, brother of the head of the syndicate, and the cashier of the concern, and took possession of $15,000 in cash. There were forty employes engaged at work in the offices, and these were allowed to go.

It was stated by Louis Miller to the police that the offices were then in the hands of ex-Sheriff Daly, of Richmond, to whom he said the concern had assigned.

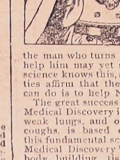

Even when the place was raided to-night by the police, a number of those around the office were waiting to deposit money with the Franklin Syndicate.

One of Miller's trusted employes is responsible for the statement that the Franklin Syndicate man has taken in over $4,000,000. It is known that when the banks shut down on him yesterday, and refused to accept his deposits any longer, that he withdrew $150,000 in the Wells-Fargo Bank. It is asserted to-night that Miller deposited $100,000 with the German Consul.

The cut is after an old painting of a man gambling with Death with his life as a stake. Behind the man stands his good angel striving to save him.

This game with life as the stake is the every-day game of men and women. Behind the player stands the good angel Nature, striving to preserve the life. Even when the game is almost in Death's hands, the man who turns to Nature and lets her help him may yet save himself. Medical science knows this, and its highest authorities affirm that the utmost medical skill can do is to help Nature.

The great success of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in curing wasted bodies, weak lungs, and obstinate and lingering coughs, is based on the recognition of this fundamental scientific truth. "Golden Medical Discovery" supplies Nature with body building, tissue repairing, muscle making materials, in condensed and concentrated form. With this help Nature supplies the strength to throw off diseases of the lungs, heal the sick stomach, reestablish the digestive and nutritive organs in sound health, purify and enrich the blood, and nourish the nerves.

(Box 544), he states: "I have, since receiving your diagnosis of my case as stomach trouble and liver complaint, taken eight bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and must say that I am transformed from a walking shadow (as my friends called me), to perfect health. I value your remedies very highly and take pleasure in recommending them to any and all who suffer as I did. KIDNEY DISEASE.

The Result is Often a Life of Pain and Misery.

Mr. David Crowell, of Horton, N. S., Was an Intense Sufferer and Almost Despaired of Finding a Cure—Tells the Story of His Release.

The Acadian, Wolfeville, N.S.

Recently a reporter of the Acadian was told another of those triumphs of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which are becoming very common in this vicinity. The fortunate individual is Mr. David Crowell, a highly respected resident of Hortonville.

Below is his experience, in substance, as he gave it to us: "About two years ago, for the first time in my life, I began to realize fully what ill health meant. The first symptom was a feeling of overpowering drowsiness which crept over me at times. Often I would be at work in the field when the drowsiness would seize me and I would find that it required the exercise of all my will-power to keep awake. In a short time I was attacked by sharp piercing pains, which shot through the lower part of my back. At first this did not trouble me very much during the day, but at night the pain became almost unendurable and often I would not close my eyes throughout the whole night. Gradually a nausea and loathing for food developed. Sometimes I would sit down to a meal with a keen appetite, but after a mouthful or so had passed my lips, sickness and vomiting would follow. I became greatly reduced in flesh and in a short time was but a wreck of my former self. The doctor said the trouble was disease of the kidneys, but his treatment did not help me. My mother, who was something of a nurse, urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and at last to satisfy her more than from hopes of being cured, I took up their use. After taking one box I seemed better and I resolved to try another. Before the second box was used my condition was improved beyond gainsay and I felt sure the pills were responsible for it. I took two more boxes and before they were all used the pain in my back had wholly disappeared, my appetite had returned and I felt like a new man. For the sum of two dollars I cured myself of a painful disease. There cannot be the least doubt but that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills was the sole cause of my recovery, and I consider them the best medicine in existence.

Sold by all dealers in medicine or sent post paid at 50c. a box or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. Refuse all substitutes.

He did not fear prosecution by Mr. Sifton.

THE BELMONT ENCOUNTER.

The Boers Lost 500 Killed and 150 Wounded in that Charge.

Further Details of the Terrific Series of Battles—More Skirmishing Near Estcourt—Five Thousand British Reconnoitre the Locality and Meet the Enemy—Eighty Boers Were Bayoneted All Quiet at Ladysmith.

London, Nov. 25.—(5 a.m.)—Thus far the special despatches describing the battle of Belmont bear a stereotyped character, proving that the hand of the censor has been at work upon them. They are too incoherent to enable the reader to form an accurate idea of the event or to place a proper estimate upon the value of the victory. All the accounts agree respecting the splendid fighting qualities displayed on both sides. Nothing could have exceeded the steady courage and pluck of the British infantry in the face of terrific fire; while the Boer guns were splendidly served, the gunners standing to them with dogged determination, exposing themselves until the very last moment and only becoming wild and inaccurate in their aim during the final deadly charge of the British infantry.

British Need Cavalry.

All admit, however, that the victory could not be properly followed up, and utilized, owing to the want of sufficient cavalry. The pursuit of the defeated enemy by the Fifth Lancers was evidently not very effective, and, curiously enough, while all the correspondents report the capture of Boer guns, Lord Methuen's own report omits any mention of such an achievement. On the whole it almost seems safe to assume that the Boer guns were not captured.

3 Killed, 44 Wounded.

A despatch to The Times from Mooi River gives the British casualties in the Willow Grange affair as three killed and forty-four wounded. This is the first news of such a heavy loss, and the correspondent suggests a repetition of General White's action of Oct. 30.

METHUEN TO HIS TROOPS.

He Said He Had No Fear of the Result With Such Men.

Cape Town, Nov. 24.—After the battle of Belmont, Lord Methuen, addressing his troops, said:

"Comrades, I congratulate you on the complete success achieved by you this morning. The ground over which we had to fight presented exceptional difficulties, and we had as an enemy one who is a past-master in the tactics of mounted infantry. With troops such as you, a commander can have no fear of the result.

"There is a sad side to all this, and you and I are thinking as much of those who have died for the honor of their country and of those who are suffering as we are thinking of our victory."

500 BOERS KILLED.

And 150 Wounded Before Methuen's Forces Took Their Positions.

London, Nov. 25.—The Daily Mail publishes the following despatch from Belmont, describing the battle:

The Boers held a position which British troops would hold against almost any force. The British victory is complete.

My estimate of the Boer losses is 500 killed and 150 wounded.

Mr. Knight, correspondent of The London Morning Post, was wounded.

The Boer prisoners are ignorant, dirty and wretched. They say that half their commando, tired of the war, will refuse further service.

The whole force of the fearful fight was borne by the infantry, who were obliged to climb 500 feet, straight into a terrific stream of missiles. The Ninth Lancers pursued the enemy with great vigor, but, the Boers, well mounted, and familiar with the hills, melted before them.

Possibly, however, the victory would have been even more decisive had we possessed more cavalry."

12,000 IN THE BELMONT BATTLE.

British Had 7,000 and the Boers 5,000—Latter in Strong Positions.

Cape Town, Nov. 24.—A special despatch received here from Belmont says that Gen. Methuen's force numbered 7000 men, and that the Boers had 5000 men. The latter held an exceedingly strong position on a series of hills extending a dozen miles. They were strongly entrenched and their cannon were posted strongly, and were excellently served. The battle began at 7 o'clock and raged for several hours. The Boers held their positions with great stubbornness and splendid courage. The British riflemen forced the attack under a raking fire and carried position after position with superb dash, driving out the Boers with great slaughter. The engagement was really a series of battles, during which the Boers were constantly carrying off their dead and wounded.

BOERS PURSUED FIVE MILES.

After Being Driven From Their Positions at Belmont.

Belmont, Cape Colony, Nov. 24.—(10 o'clock, morning.)—The entire western division moved on the Orange River Tuesday and bivouacked at Witteputs. Two companies of mounted infantry and a detachment of Lancers were sent to hold Thomas' Farm. Their pickets prevented the Boers from advancing. The Boers fired cannon and the British artillery arrived on the scene and silenced the Boers' fire. At 2 in the morning the Guards brigade moved steadily forward to a hill, a few miles east of Belmont Station.

Fierce Fire Staggered Guards.

The Scots and Grenadiers advance to within 50 yards of the base, when the Boers poured in a scathing fire, which staggered the Guards momentarily, but, quickly recovering, they returned a deadly fire into the Boers. The duel was continued for half an hour. When the artillery commenced the Boers evacuated their front position and the Scots Guards rushed the hill with the bayonet and amid lusty cheers.

Stormed the Second Position.

The Ninth Brigade then moved forward in extended order and the Boers started a terrible cross fire from the surrounding hills. The Coldstreams, supported by the Scots, Grenadiers, Northumberlands and Northamptons, stormed the second position in the face of a constant and effective Boer fire. The Ninth Brigade then advanced the artillery, in the meantime maintaining excellent practice. The British infantry never wavered, and when a tremendous cheer notified them of the charge, the Boers fled and succeeded in gaining a range of hills in the rear in spite of the Lancers' flanking movement. The infantry again gallantly faced the fire and the naval brigade came into action for the first time at a range of 1800 yards. The infantry was well supported by the artillery, and the Boers, unable to withstand the death-dealing volleys, retired and were again forced to abandon some minor positions.

Pursued the Boers Five Miles.

The British cavalry charged the Boers and pursued them for five miles. Possession was taken of the Boer laager and the Boer stores were destroyed.

More Dirty Tactics.

The Boers hoisted a white flag over their second position, whereupon Lieut. Willoughby, of the Coldstream Guards stood up and was immediately shot down. The Boers twice repeated the same tactics.

Wounded Are Doing Well.

London, Nov. 24.—The War Office to-day issued the following advices:

Cape Town, Nov. 24.—(Afternoon.)—Gen. Methuen further reports this morning that the wounded are doing well. There are over 50 prisoners, including a German commandant and six field cornets; 19 of these prisoners are wounded. We are unable to estimate the Boer losses. The prisoners say that yesterday's attack was a surprise, and that it is the only beating they have had. A large amount of correspondence has been secured. The reservists are doing well. Col. Pole-Carew replaces Fetherstonhaugh in command of the 9th Brigade.

Lieut. Blundell Dead.

Lieut. Blundell of the Grenadier Guards, who was dangerously wounded at the battle of Belmont yesterday, has since died of his wounds.

The Queen Thanks Methuen.

London, Nov. 24.—The Queen has sent General Methuen her congratulations on "the brilliant action of my guards, the naval brigade and the other brave soldiers."

A SKIRMISH NEAR ESTCOURT.

British Went Out 5,000 Strong and Bayoneted 80 Boers.

Durban, Nov. 24.—The Natal Advertiser confirms the report of fighting near Willow Grange. It says: "Five thousand British left Estcourt Wednesday afternoon for a reconnaissance. They surprised the Boers at 3 o'clock Thursday morning, and occupied the Boer position, bayoneting 80 of the enemy. At daybreak the Boers opened with quick-fires. The British artillery was unable to reach the Boers, and the British position, therefore, became untenable, and was evacuated. Subsequently the artillery was brought into action, and the Boers fell back. Their object having been attained, the British returned to Estcourt.

THE LIGHT QUESTION.

In other columns will be found a report of last night's meeting of the Executive Committee in regard to electric light matters. It will repay an attentive perusal. The views expressed by the Mayor and the various Aldermen may fairly be said to reflect public opinion pro and con, and, as important interests are involved, a careful study of the matter by our citizens cannot help but be productive of good results.

Catarrh of Long Standing Relieved in a Few Hours.

It is not alone the people of our own country, and prominent citizens like Urban Lippe, M. P., of Joliette, Que., and other members of Parliament, who, having used Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder, pronounce it the most effective remedy they have ever known, but people everywhere are expressing their gratification at the effectiveness of this medicine. C. G. Archer, of Brewer, Maine, says; "I have had catarrh for several years. Water would run from my eyes and nose days at a time. About four months ago I was induced to try Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder, and since using the wonderful remedy I have not had an attack. I would not be without it." It relieves in ten minutes.

A PLEASING ENTERTAINMENT.

Life and Personal Experiences of Mr. J. S. McMurray in the Hawaiian Islands.

The entertainment given in the City Hall last evening by Mr. J. S. McMurray and others, in connection with the Citizens' Lecture Course, was all that could have been desired. The first part of the programme, consisting of vocal and instrumental selections, was delightful. Miss Florence Dafoe opened the proceedings with a piano solo, "Le Jet D Eau," which demonstrated that she is an accomplished musician. Mr. McMurray's beautiful baritone voice was heard to much advantage in two solos which he rendered. His voice is rich, clear and pleasing. His rendition of "Beautiful Hawaii," as a Euphonium solo, showed him to be a skilled musician, which the audience was not slow to appreciate. A duet, "Old Kentucky Home," by Mr. McMurray and his daughter, Miss Kathleen, was a pleasing number, showing great power of expression in both voices.

The second portion of the programme was equally delightful. One hundred magnificent stereopticon views were shown, illustrating Mr. McMurray's personal experience in the Hawaiian Island, where, as he states, he spent two years, during which period he sang before the Queen of the Islands and other nobility. The views were colored and were explained by Mr. McMurray so that all present could understand them. Life among the natives, their manners and customs were to be seen, also the prominent places and persons, of the Islands. The views of the great active volcanos were of especial interest and were beautifully presented. The concluding portions of the views were rare colored pictures from nature and were beautiful to behold. The entertainment was not only delightful but instructive, showing as it did that that country is, as it has been described, the paradise and inferno of the Pacific.

The musical portion of the programme was as follows:

"Le Jet D'Eau,"—Piano.... Miss F. Dafoe
"The Slave Ship,"—Baritone. Mr. McMurray
"Beautiful Hawaii," Euphonium, written for, and dedicated to, Queen Liliuokalani, by.......... J. S. McMurray
"Old Kentucky Home,"—Duet..........
....Miss Kathleen and Mr. McMurray
"All are at Rest,"—Song....Mr. McMurray
Accompanist, Miss Florence Dafoe.

The piano used was a Heintzman & Co., supplied by W. B. Riggs. Mr. McMurray expressed himself as delighted with the pure and singing quality of the tone, and the admirable evenness and elasticity of the action.

Famous Passion Play Coming.

The Vitascopic reproduction of the world renowned Passion Play of Oberammergau, made by the electrical wizard Thomas A. Edison, and which created more interest than anything ever presented in Ottawa, Montreal, and Toronto, will be presented in the Opera House for the entire week commencing November 27.

This beautiful creation, born of the pious fervor of the peasants of Bavaria, and periodically presented by them every ten years on Holy week, gives a practical idea of Christ's earth life and imparts an insight into His Character. Children's special representations on Wednesday and Saturday afternoon.

Catarrhozone when inhaled is volatile enough to impregnate the minutest cells of the lungs and bronchial tubes, where it attacks the disease at its foundation. It cures because it is sure to reach the right spot. Sold by all druggists or by mail, price $1.00. For trial outfit send 10c in stamps to N. C. POLSON & CO., Box 507, Kingston, Ont.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver, of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in my back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately a friend advised trying 'Electric Bitters;' and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50cts guaranteed, at J. S. McKeown's Drug Store.

—The Boers have raided a stock farm and captured 300 blood horses. This isn't so good a joke as the killing of a dog by the Mafeking bombardment, though the Boers probably will laugh harder over it.

—Can there be any doubt that the Boers are a barbarous people when one considers the violent antipathy they are exhibiting to telegraph wires and railroads?

"FORFEITED AND VOID."

Ald. Jones wanted to know how many nights a thousand feet of electricity would run as compared with a thousand feet of gas. He would like to have, if possible, the relative value of each explained by comparison.

Mr. Pearson referred him to the Company's Electrician, who was in the audience, and Mr. Moore, the gentleman in question, gave an answer in technical terms which was as clear as mud to nearly all the Aldermen and reporters.

Ald. Jones said he would like his question answered in plain English.

While Mr. Moore was trying to figure the matter out so that ordinary mortals could understand it, Mr. Pearson said that the electric light meters were easily looked into, and were examined by a Government Inspector.

The Mayor said that, judging by the remarks made by the previous speakers, everyone was agreed that the course he had taken was right. So far only one phase of the question had been alluded to. What about the franchise of our streets? It was an important thing we had to consider. On Monday night he had referred to an unpleasant duty which he had performed—that of stopping the men who were putting up poles on our streets. He had supposed that the interdiction would be adhered to, but they had again violated the law, and the promoters of the Company were liable to a fine not exceeding $50 for every hole dug. He had asked the men who gave them orders to continue the work and they had told him Mr. J. C. McLellan, and that if he wanted any further information he could obtain it from the Company's electrician, Mr. Moore, at Hotel Quinte. On Tuesday he saw Solicitor Masson, and Mr. Masson saw Mr. Thompson and told him that the Company had no rights there, but the men went on without proper authority. The scripture says that no man can serve two masters, but the question came to him and to many citizens if Mr. Thompson was not serving two masters. He had defied the Council and the Chief Magistrate of the City, while at the same time he was a City employee. He was sorry to say that Mr. Soles, another City employee, was among the laborers who had broken the law. Did the citizens consider it right that men should be paid for us and work for others? He proposed to give them some historical records. He had met Mayor Morrison, of Trenton, while he was attending court and told him that the Trenton Electric Company were trying to force themselves on Belleville. The Mayor stated that Mayor Morrison had told him how the town had fought the Company legally. The case was finally settled out of court by the Company agreeing to furnish the town with 35 arc lights per night and give the town $2,250 per annum, payable quarterly. The question was, if the power which they obtained from Trenton was worth $2,250 and 35 arc lights, what was the franchise of our streets worth? The Mayor pointed out that the Bell Telephone Company paid $250 per year for the privilege of putting their poles on our streets, just as the other Company ought to pay. Another illustration was the market. Every man who went to the market to sell his goods had to pay for the privilege, why should not this Company pay for the privilege of selling their light to our citizens? The Mayor said he wished to strongly emphasize the next point he had to make. The Company which had obtained that charter had gone out of existence. They had amalgamated with the Trenton Water Company. Here the Mayor read an advertisement from the Ontario Official Gazette, which showed that on September 23, 1899, Mr. W. H. Pearson, sr., of Toronto, Mr. W. H. Pearson, jr., of the same place, Mr. Flavelle of the same place, and Mr. Weddell, of Trenton, had formed themselves into a joint stock company and acquired the rights of the former company. The company which was now trespassing was not the company they had granted the franchise to at all. To legalize the transfer they had to get the sanction of the citizens of Belleville, which they had not asked for. Were we to be bought like sheep in the shambles? Never before was such an act performed. Millionaires coming here to make profit out of us and give nothing in return. As to price. He wanted cheap light as much as anybody, but he wanted the conditions down in black and white, and he would put no trust in anything which was not in the contract. In Napanee the people got light for $1 a year. We had a right to get the same. The Mayor said there never was a bolder attempt than this to take the City by the throat. Mr. Pearson had had control of the Gas Company and had not given us cheaper light. The citizens would not get cheaper light unless they opened the matter up to competition. If it came to that and all things were equal he would give Mr. Pearson the preference, but not one cent more. They needn't shed any tears over the case of these millionaires, but should save some of their sympathy for the Gas Company, which was composed of Belleville people. Another thing was, the twenty year term was two long. The most they should give was five years. The Mayor spent some further time in discussing his contentions, which practically amounted to this: The Company to pay for their franchise; franchise to be for five years instead of twenty; rate per light to be the same as at Napanee; any arrangement which gave another city or town the preference over Belleville to be voided. In conclusion he mentioned the names of Messrs. Gilmour, of Trenton; Miller, of Frankford, and the Belleville Gas Co. as possible competitors for the franchise.

Mr. Pearson said the Mayor had made some statements which were not accurate. They had given the consideration to Trenton because they wished to sell the whole of their power, and they had bought it on the basis of $1 50 per horse power. Trenton had no power to stop them at any time. The Company would give bonds that they would furnish light, if not by water power in some other way. He did not believe there was a Company in existence which was taking a five year franchise. As to the price of gas, it had not been in his power to reduce it, owing to the exorbitant demands the company made on him. It was misleading to say they were only getting 4 per cent. When he came to the Gas Company they were glad to secure him; people told him he was a fool for going. As to the people who composed the Company, he did not think it made much difference where the capital came from. The reason for cheap light in Napanee was because there was a fight there. Two electric light companies and a gas company were cutting prices. They were willing to go by any other cities. The Company thought they had a good contract with the City, and they wanted to settle matters amicably and get to work.

After some more talking had been done Mr. Pearson said he was ready to discuss the matter. He thought the contract was fair. What did they want him to do.

The Mayor said it had come to this point—Mr. Pearson evidently contends that the contract holds good, and he does not intend to make any concessions. He would now ask the City Solicitor's opinion as to whether the Company had forfeited their franchise or not.

Mr. Pearson wanted to speak again, but the Mayor pointed out that as he had asked for the Solicitor's opinion, that question took precedence of all other matters.

In reply to a question by the Chairman, City Solicitor Masson intimated that he was prepared to give an opinion.

After considerable cross-firing between the aldermen, the City Solicitor gave it as his opinion that under clause 2 of the by-law the Company's charter was forfeited and void.

Ald. Jones asked that the 6th clause be read, which was done.

Ald. Hanley said it was now best to adjourn. He moved that the Light Committee should meet and draw up a proposition to present to this or any other Company.

The Mayor said it was now his duty to warn these people that they were trespassers, and, so far as he could, he should enforce the rights of the citizens. He thought the Council should meet and discuss this matter when no prospective contractors were present.

Mr. Pearson asked that Mr. E Guss Porter, who was with him, should be heard in reference to the work being allowed to continue while negotiations were pending, but the Mayor objected and warned the Council against granting the Company any privileges.

Mr. Pearson said the city had rights, but he merely wanted them to waive their rights to expedite matters.

The Mayor said we had waited three years and a half for these people and we could wait a couple of weeks longer.

After some slight repartee the Committee adjourned, with the understanding that a special meeting of the Council will be called to discuss the matter in the near future.

BEYOND COMPARISON

There is Nothing in the World to Compare in Curative Value with Dr. Von Stan's Pineapple Tablets for Dyspepsia.

Vegetable pepsin is the most valuable constituent in the pineapple. Barring the digestive juices of the human system, no other article or product has the power to digest all kinds of food, except vegetable pepsin. One's general health would be amazingly improved if he could eat a pineapple a day, but hardly one person in a thousand could do so because of the trouble and expense of getting them when out of season.

Dr. Von Stan's Pineapple Tablets have all the virtues of the ripe fruit—they are largely made up of the precious pineapple acid. They cure dyspepsia and all stomach troubles. Box of 60 Tablets, 35 cents. Sold by J. S. McKeown.

FIRST STAGE, easy to "break up"—feeling of lassitude, chilliness, yet flushed face and heat in head, lameness and soreness in limbs and bones.

SECOND STAGE, cure takes longer—headachy; thirsty, yet water don't taste right; fulness over eyes and nose; easy flowing discharge from nose; dryness, scrapy raw feeling in throat.

THIRD STAGE, is the full development of the disease and requires persistent treatment, but always yields to "77"—it may be La Grippe, or a Stubborn Cold; Influenza or Catarrh; Sore Throat or Diphtheria; Bronchitis or Pneumonia.

ASTHMA CAN BE CURED

And is Being Permanently Cured Daily by Clarke's Kola Compound--Here is What a Hamilton Lady Says:

Mrs. Gilbert, 105 Rebecca street, Hamilton, writes: "I suffered from a bad form of asthma for over nine years, and, notwithstanding all the doctors could do for me, got worse and worse, so that my neighbors looked for my death at any time. I spent money lavishly in the efforts to get relief, but all to no purpose. For six weeks at a time I could not get up or down stairs, and was in a miserable condition. My daughter, who clerks in a drug store, had heard a good deal of Clarke's Kola Compound, and urged me to try it as a last resort. I paid $2 for a bottle, but that is nothing, for it is worth more than that for every teaspoonful. Two doses gave me splendid relief, and, after using but one bottle, I am a marvel to all who know me. I am doing my own work, can get around as well as ever, and feel like a new creature. Clarke's Kola Compound has been a Godsend to me, and I look upon it as a marvellous remedy. You may use this testimony as you see fit, and I shall be glad to give fuller particulars to any one inquiring. I gratefully endorse Clarke's Kola Compound."

Sold by all druggists. A free sample will be sent to any person troubled with this disease. Address The Griffiths & Macpherson Co., 121 Church street, Toronto, Ont. Sold by D. M. Waters, cor. Front and Bridge sts.

A Railroad Kick.

The train from Coe Hill, long, long behind its schedule time as usual, was delayed by an accident to its defective locomotive for seven hours near Malone tonight. A locomotive sent from Trenton to the relief of the delayed train succeeded in making connection with the G. T. R. midnight express. For reasons purely economical material refreshments were denied the passengers on board, and one of the most famished groups of belated travellers that has ever visited Trenton routed up "Old Smoke" and regaled themselves on the good things provided by his well-known hostelry.—Com.

Trenton, Nov. 24, 1899.

Archbishop Lewis to Resign.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the diocese of Ontario at Kingston, Thursday, Archbishop Lewis, Bishop of Ontario and Metropolitan of Canada, tendered in writing a notice of his intention, on account of age and infirmities, to resign the see, the retirement to occur at the synod of May, 1900, when it is proposed to have his successor elected. It is agreed that his retiring allowance shall be about $2,000 per year.

About Those Medals.

"Some" of the medals for service in 1866, so long since earned, have been received in Canada. The High Commissioner will present those belonging to Canadian ex-militiamen on the roll of decoration, now resident in Great Britain. Those for Canadians residing here are not yet ready for distribution on account of the non arrival from England of the ribbon. If delayed much longer, half of the old veterans will be dead.

NEW YORK MILLIONAIRES.

Only a few people reading advertisements of bankers and brokers, saying that money could be made through speculation, realize that the richest men in America have commenced life in a humble way and have made their fortune through stock-exchange speculations.

Men like Jay Gould, who worked as a dry goods clerk in a small town at $10.00 a week up to his twentieth year, and commenced to operate with his small saving of $200.00 in Wall Street, left at his death 70 millions of dollars; Russell Sage, who worked as a grocery boy at $4.00 per week, and whose present wealth is estimated at 100 millions of dollars, is still operating the market, although 80 years of age, and so are thousands of others, who are enjoying all the luxuries life can offer, which is due to their success in speculation.

To the shrewd speculator the same opportunities are open to-day as to others in the past. The smallest lot which can be bought and sold is ten shares on 3% margin, making 30 dollars.

Anybody interested as to how speculations are conducted can get information and market letter free of charge upon application by letter to,

A High Compliment.

The "Elsueur," in the Mail and Empire of Saturday, makes the following reference to the article by Mayor Johnson which recently appeared in these columns: "One of the best accounts I have read of the departure of our boys in the Sardinian for South Africa has been written by Mr. J. W. Johnson, the Mayor of Belleville, and printed in the Belleville INTELLIGENCER of November 9. It is a strikingly good narrative of an important historical event.

British Disaster Is to be Feared

Have the 9th Lancers been Led Into a Trap?

Reported Serious Losses of Officers of Naval Brigade—Gen. Metheun Capture Much Boer Ammunition—General Advance Upon Colenso Ordered.

(OTHER DESPATCHES ON INSIDE PAGES.)

London, Nov. 27.—Have the 9th Lancers met the same fate at Gras Pan, as the 18th Hussars at Dundee, and the Gloucesters at Nicholson's Nek? The interrogation is being echoed only after the receipt of General Metheun's incomplete dispatch, reporting Saturday's battle near Belmont, his second on the way to relieve Kimberley. Gen. Methuen has not reported his losses, and it is almost certain that they were immense.

Admiral Harris reported serious losses in officers of the naval brigade and the British casualties must have been sadly heavy. The Lancers dashed in pursuit of the Boers after the infantry had forced them out of their position, just as the hussars did at Dundee and fell into a trap set by the Boers.

Cape Town, Nov. 27 (Afternoon).—It is reported that Gen. Metheun has captured Honey Nest Kloof, 10 miles north of Gras Pan and two million rounds of ammunition.

London, Nov. 27.—War Office received from Gen. Buller:

Pietern aritzburg, Nov. 26.—Hildyard, from Estcourt, made a successful attack, Nov. 26, with three battalions, one field battery, naval gun and 700 mounted troops, on the enemy occupying Beacon Hill, which dominates William Grange, and had interrupted his communication. As a result of the operations the enemy is retiring and the lines have been restored between Estcourt and Weston. Our loss was about 14 killed and 50 wounded.

Hildyard advanced to a position near Frere as he hopes to cut off enemy who is believed to be retiring on Colenso via Weenan. Barton from Weston has advanced to Estcourt. As soon as communication is restored will telegraph particulars.

So far as can make out the operation is one for which Hildyard and the troops deserve credit.

The railway is now open to Frerd.

Durban, Sunday, Nov. 26.—The reports of Gen. Hildyards losses at Beacon Hill engagement show 13 men were killed and 72 wounded. The West Yorkshire Regiment suffered heavily. Major Hobbs was captured and several men missing.

Despatches from President Kruger and Gen. Joubert found on a Boer prisoner said the Boer losses at Belmont were 10 men killed. It added in order to reassure the burghers it had been deemed necessary to fall back on Warrentin.

A pigeon message from Colonel Ian Hamilton and Duff at Ladysmith undated reported all well. Another naval contingent from the British first-class cruiser Terrible with two 4.7 inch guns started for the front to-night.

Estcourt, Sunday, Nov. 26.—The railroad bridge at Frere spanning a wide stream has been destroyed by the Boers, who are retiring rapidly.

A general advance upon Colenzo has been ordered, and a flying column has left here to intercept the Boers raiding parties.

A reliable messenger from Ladysmith, says he gathered from the Boers that they had proposed a combined attack all over the country for to-day. Gen. Joubert is expected to dispute the passage of the Tugela river.

Stole Coats and Other Articles

On Saturday evening a man named Wm. Blakely, who gave his residence as Warkworth, was arrested, charged with stealing two coats, a belt and pair of gloves from John Hayes, at the O'Brien House. He was brought before the P.M. this morning and pleaded guilty, stating he sold the coats at a second hand store. He was sentenced to a month in jail.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING

That Kitchener is something of a fighter himself.

That the Boers will probably protest against the British bayonets next.

That some bank cashiers are wonderful men. One fellow in the States is six feet high and $12 000 short.

That another apt name has been found for Laurier. The Regina "West" says he is a "wooden nutmeg."

That the rocks of adversity sometimes wreck domestic happiness, but oftener it is the absence of rocks which does it.

That the Montreal Star is catching it. The Hamilton Times calls it a "reptile sheet." This may safely be termed expert testimony.

That something should be done to make drivers keep on their own side of the road. One would think that, for their own protection, the people in question would act like sensible men.

That the fresh young fellow who was ejected from his boarding house deserved what he got. He asked the landlady if the ham they had for breakfast had been cured by Christian Scientists.

That there is a dangerous spot at the corner of Grier and Evans sts. The manhole there is covered by loose planks, which might easily become displaced. If that happened there would be a disagreeable surprise for anybody who walked over that particular spot at night. Residents of the locality say the old tank there is full of stagnant water. Will the Board of Health kindly make a note of this?

That the Ontario papers which are talking of "conciliating Quebec" are not very consistent. The worst offence that can be charged against Conservative newspapers in Ontario which have published matter about the Contingent is that they have told the truth. Things have come to a pretty pass if we have to lift our hat and apologize to a man because we have had to tell the truth. In the words of the stout old Yankee Indian fighter, "Be sure you're right, then go ahead."

A Good Thing From Hungary.

Under the auspices of the Apollinaris Company, London a very valuable mineral water, adapted for medicinal purposes, has been introduced into this country under the name of "Apenta." This product is a bitter water, derived pure and in a perfectly natural condition, from springs situated near Budapest, Hungary.

It belongs to the class of purgative waters; but its action happens to be of a mild and non-irritating character, due to the presence of a large quantity of sulphate of soda. The former is the milder purgative, and the somewhat crude action of the soda sulphate of other waters is therefore safe to be avoided in "Apenta."

A FATAL ACCIDENT.

G. T. R. Brakesman Terribly Lacerated by Cars.

Both Legs and Arms Broken and Other Injuries Inflicted--He Dies in the Hospital Here.

An accident occurred at an early hour on Sunday morning on the line of the Grand Trunk Railway at Trenton, and as a result terminated fatally. John A. Linton, a brakesman, whose home is in East Toronto, was engaged in coupling cars, when by some manner he fell, and before he could extricate himself from the perilous position, some cars passed over him, injuring him in a shocking manner. Both legs and arms of the unfortunate man were broken and mutilated, and he received other wounds.

As soon as possible after the deplorable accident Linton was brought to the city where the ambulance was in waiting to receive him and convey him to the hospital. From the first it was known that the unfortunate man's injuries were of such a nature that he could not survive. Everything possible at the institution was done to relieve his suffering, which were excruciating. Three hours after being admitted to the hospital he died. The remains were prepared for burial and at 2:20 were sent to his late home.

The unfortunate employee had been on the road for some time and was universally respected by all who knew him. He was an route with his train to Brockville when the accident occurred. He was 38 years of age and leaves a wife and two children.

A CHURCH WEDDING.

A Young Lady of the City United in Marriage to a Trentonian.

At St. John's church at 8:30 this morning a number of the fair sex gathered to witness an event which is always interesting in its character. It was the marriage of Miss Jessie Munro, daughter of Mr. James Munro, Albert street, to Mr. Adrian Forbes, of Trenton. Rev. Rural Dean Bogert, Rector, officiated. The bride who was becomingly gowned, was assisted by her sister, Miss Edith Munro, and the groomsman was Mr. Nathan Duffin, of this City. At the conclusion of the ceremony the company repaired to the residence of the bride's father, where a sumptuous repast was partaken of. At noon the young couple left for the west for a wedding trip, and after their return will reside in Trenton. Mrs. Forbes was the recipient of a large number of handsome and useful presents. The many friends of the young couple will wish them every happiness and prosperity in their journey through life, in which THE INTELLIGENCER heartily joins.

Wedded in Salimas Cal.

San Francisco Examiner: Information comes from Salinas that Miss Helen Mar Hambly, one of San Jose's most prominent and beautiful society ladies, was married in that city Tuesday last, to Walter Lowery Hollenbeck, of Pacific Grove. The news is a surprise to even the most intimate friends of the bride, in this city, as Miss Hambly was supposed to be on a visit with her mother in Salinas and the engagement had not been announced. The wedding took place at the rectory of St. Paul's Episcopal church at Salinas, the Rev. L. C. Sanford officiating. Mr. Hollenbeck is a prominent young business man of Pacific Grove, and the son of W. M. Hollenbeck, the capitalist. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. E. L. Hambly, and the sister of Frank J. Hambly, the attorney.

viting as loving hands could render them; we adorned them with flowers and pretty hangings and photographs; we spent hours in doing all this, and yet the time would not move on quickly enough for us.

The train was due at or about the dinner hour, and Percy and I were at the station half an hour before time.

Now that the supreme moment had arrived I felt unaccountably nervous and somewhat depressed. Percy rallied me upon my foolishness.

"Why, hang it, old man," he said, "this ought to be one of the happiest moments of your life!"

"So it is," I murmured. "I am awfully happy. But I don't know what it is—I feel as though even now fate will disappoint us somehow, as though all this were not a reality. What if this man should turn out to be not father, after all, but"—

"Oh, rot!" said Percy rudely. "Let's talk of something else. If you get thinking that kind of thing, you'll force yourself to believe that he isn't he, even when you see him with your own eyes."

"Oh, no! I shall know father," I murmured, "if he really comes."

"Of course he'll really come," said Percy. "Whom do you expect? Come now, don't be an old ass, Boris. Your nerves are playing old Harry with you."

Then, almost as we spoke, the train came groaning and creaking in. It pulled up, and the passengers began to get out and walk on the platform, and the usual crowd formed.

In the crowd, as we went to and fro looking for our travelers, I saw suddenly Borofsky and another.

At the first glance I thought it was my father, and my heart gave a great bound for joy. Then I looked closer, and—

"Percy," I whispered—"Percy, for the love of heaven, tell Borofsky"—

"Well, tell him what? Where is he? Do you see them? What's up, old man?" said Percy.

"Tell Borofsky to wait. I must get home and prepare my mother. Tell him —come behind these boxes so that they don't see us—tell him it isn't father, Percy. I'd swear with my last breath it isn't."

"Good heavens, man!" began Percy.

"See if you can avoid bringing him home at all." I continued. "But in any case give me time to get back and warn mother or the shock will kill her. No, don't speak. Tell you, man, it is not father. Do you think I don't know?"

I left Percy on the platform and rushed away. My heart felt like lead. God help us, I thought! What will happen now!

CHAPTER XIV.

MISTAKEN IDENTITY.

Each attempt to unravel the mystery which lay like a black cloud over our lives had only served to deepen the gloom. Here was darkness indeed.

Destiny was treating us too cruelly. Who was this, this scoundrel who had hoodwinked our detective and actually meditated the personation of father in his own home? Could it be my precious uncle, escaped somehow from Siberia? Where was father? Did this man know? Was he concerned in father's disappearance?

My brain ached with the hopeless weight of these questions as I drove rapidly homeward. And as I neared the house another came crushing down upon my heart. How should I break this news to my poor mother, waiting at this moment in joyful expectation to clasp her beloved husband? God grant the shock did not kill her!

I had no time to think or invent or to arrange my scattered thoughts. I rushed up to mother's room.

"Has he come?" she cried, meeting me. "Is he well? Oh, Boris, what is it?"

"Be brave, mother, darling, and brace yourself for a cruel blow," I began, speaking so huskily that I wonder she understood me.

"Tell me at once!" she muttered, suddenly seating herself on the nearest chair. "He is dead—is that it? He was mad and"—

"No, no, dearest, not that, thank God!" I faltered. "This man is not father. I have seen him, and it is not father!"

"Ah, I can bear that, if that is it," she said. "But perhaps you are mistaken, Boris! Stop—I could not bear to greet and speak to him if he were not my Vladimir. What shall I do, Boris? Can I see him and remain unseen? Where could we go, you and I? We will make sure, quite sure, that we must be disappointed before we will allow our hearts to break over it."

"Dear mother, you are brave," I said, kissing her. "Let us sit in the porter's little room in the great hall. We can peep through the window and watch them arrive."

"Come!" said mother, and together we made for the wide staircase that led down into the huge entrance hall. But before we had reached the hall the carriage drove up. Mother heard and grasped my hand.

"We are too late," she whispered. "But now we are here, we will stand our ground together."

The hall porter, an old servant, ran to the big doors and flung them open, bowing low and greeting "Vladimir Antonich" (my father's patronymic).

A tall man entered with Percy and Borofsky. He took no notice of the old Gregory's greeting, save as good a quantity of common sense as possible.—New York Journal.

Conversing with Borofsky, whose Percy followed, silent and depressed. In my mother's arm I heard us. Mother's hand tightened over mine. She gave me a convulsive grip and then loosed me again. I saw her eyes brighten as she caught sight of his face and quickly grow dull again. He was like enough to father to flatter her hopes for but one second; then she saw as she must instantly see, how unlike was the likeness. The little group reached us and paused a moment. Borofsky was about to speak, but he suddenly realized how matters stood and refrained. Mother bowed and passed down stairs with me. Percy turned and came with us. Borofsky and the other continued their journey up stairs. I distinctly heard the fellow ask Borofsky who the lady was. This man that was her husband, forsooth, and my father!

Poor mother sank upon a couch in the hall and cried quietly. Thank God that she did that! I could say nothing to comfort her, excepting to blurt out that we should yet find father and receive him to her one day.

"At all events, he is not mad, as we feared, mother," I added. "Almost anything is better than that. Have you the heart to go on hoping, in the face of this blow?"

Mother played the heroine that night Not only did she assure me that she was still full of hope and confidence, but she comforted poor old Percy, who was disconsolate, declaring that this last miss fire and all the disappointment of it was entirely his fault (which it certainly was in a way), by telling him that if she and I could be taken in by the portrait it was surely no wonder that he was taken in by the original.

"They are marvelously alike," said mother, "and yet, oh, how unlike! This is his brother, of course!"

"Mother, do you really think so?" I exclaimed. "How can he have escaped from Siberia?"

"That is another mystery," she said.

"Perhaps the mystery of dear father's disappearance is connected with this one, and that with this wretched Andre delivered thus, as it were, into our hands we may learn something from him."

"Bah! I shall kick him out of the house in ten minutes if I have to get a couple of policemen to help me!" I raved.

"No, my son, we will allow him to remain. We will give him shelter and show him kindness. Then perhaps if he knows anything and if there is any particle of good in him he may help us in some way to unravel our mystery."

"Mother, it's impossible!" I said. "We can't have a brute of a fellow like this murdering, nihilistical rascal sleeping in the house. I shouldn't feel that you were safe. He would murder the whole lot of us for the price of a dinner."

"We will take precautions, of course. Let him remain, Boris—tonight at least."

"It would be wiser to give him money and turn him out of the house. Offer him more on condition he keeps away and still more for any news he can give us of father."

"Do nothing in a hurry," said mother. "He shall stay tonight at least. Tomorrow we shall see how the land lies. What do you think, Percy?"

Percy agreed with mother, and the result was that the impostor remained. Borofsky came presently. He was depressed and very disconsolate. He had realized that the whole enterprise—on the brilliant success of which he had so prided himself—had actually proved an utter failure and fiasco. The impostor had been too clever for him and had already confessed, or rather triumphantly declared, that he was an impostor, but that, having secured a footing in these comfortable quarters, he did not intend to relinquish it in a hurry. He was going to pass for the count, he declared, so far as the outside world was concerned. If the countess and her young whelp (meaning me) did not choose to acknowledge him, why, they needn't, but if they valued the honor of their family, and perhaps their lives, they had better not give him away

First or Third Person.

Jim Webster was being tried for bribing a colored witness, Sam Johnsing, to testify falsely.

"You say the defendent offered you $50 to testify in his behalf?" asked the lawyer of Sam.

"Yes sah."

"Now repeat what he said, using his exact words."

"He said he would gib me $50 if I would"—

"He didn't speak in the third person, did he?"

"No, sah, he tuck good care dat dar were no third pusson 'round; dar was only two—us two."

"I know that, but he spoke to you in the first person, didn't he?"

"I was the first person myself."

"You don't understand me. When he was talking to you did he say: 'I will pay you $50'?"

"No, sah; he didn't say nothin' 'bout you payin' me $50. Your name wasn't mentioned, 'ceptin he told me ef eber I got into a scrape you was de best lawyer in San Antone to fool de judge an' de jury—in fac', you was de best in town to carry up reskelitty."

For a brief, breathless moment the trial was suspended.

Didn't Break on the New Piece.

About 60 or 70 years ago, when the manufacturing trade was in its infancy, several poor Scotsmen settled in Manchester, who ultimately became millionaires, and whose descendants are still connected with the city. We were speaking a short time ago with a very old woman, who knew one of these men in his early struggles. His landlady thought he paid too little for his room, and was determined to raise his rent from 4s 6d to 5s 6d a week. This the Scotsman stoutly resisted, and was resolved to pack up his baggage and be gone rather than pay a fraction more than eightenpence. After gaining his point he concluded the dispute with this axiom, which ought to be remembered by our young men:—"It isn't that I mind so muckle for the odd tuppence; but, ye ken, Betty, it's the breaking into a fresh piece o' siller."

A Bad Habit.

The way some people drag miscellaneous French phrases into their conversation and letters reminds one of the currants distributed through a third rate bun—what they lack in quality they make up in quantity. The use of a French term that has no English equivalent is a different matter, of course.

A man who, as one of his friends puts it, knows how to keep silent in 11 languages and has made a handbook of Chinese conversation as well as a treatise on modern Greek might be in darkest ignorance of any language but English for all his conversation shows. So severe is his taste for plain English that he scrupulously translates all of the foreign phrases that have crept into general use. He even disdains to say creme de menthe, and simply asks for cream of mint when he happens to want it. It really sounds rather distinguished.—Philadelphia North American.

Fruit Pits in Demand.

Growers of stone fruits can count upon a new source of revenue. The pits of peaches, apricots, nectarines plums and prunes, heretofore thrown away or used as fuel, have a market value. Especially is this true of peach and apricot pits. This year there is a strong demand for them at from eight to ten dollas a ton, delivered in San Francisco. The kernel is the product sought. From the apricot kernel that delicious French "nut candy" is made, displacing the almond. Cinnamon, allspice and nutmeg are adulterated with this same pit, ground and highly prepared for the purpose. Prussic acid and essence and oil of almonds are made from the peach and prune pits, and these flavors are used in a thousand different ways. The pits are cracked in San Francisco and the kernels are then sent east.

DUBE MAKES A CONFESSION.

Alleged Murderer of Thomas Mooney Admits the Killing.

Quebec, Nov. 26.—Dube, who is charged with the murder of Thomas Mooney, at Lake Beauport, has made the following statement to High Constable Gale:

Two years ago, Mrs. Thomas Mooney, a widow, asked him to go to the States in order to kill her husband. Dube stated that he refused to go, and that, since then, she has tried to get a divorce, in order that she could marry him (he accused) this fall. He added that she had been coming him for a few days to kill her husband, after his return home, telling him that he was no man if he did not do it. She told this to him on the Thursday before the murder. I told her, said Dube, that my heart would not stand it.

Thomas Mooney had then gone ahead of him to the bush, to work. The accused followed him, and they worked together up till 4 o'clock in the afternoon, when they returned, and had tea together, and, after doing the chores, the accused went home, where he remained for the night. Dube stated that he left home in the next day, on Friday morning, and went to the bush about 8 o'clock, where Tom Mooney was working. The two worked together for about 20 minutes, when, Dube alleges, the deceased grew angry over his labor. Mooney had said it was no good. Dube stated that it was as good as his horse. Mooney, after this, Dube alleges, ran after him with an axe in his hand, and that he, the accused, caught one of the measure sticks and struck Mooney across the front of the head with it, and that, in falling, his head struck the side of the axe. He left him lying where he fell, and went straight into Mrs. Mooney's. It must have been at that time half past nine, or a quarter to ten. He went into some older bushes and gave two whistles, when Mrs. Mooney made her appearance. I told her, says Dube, not to be uneasy if Tom did not come home to dinner that day. Mrs. Mooney did not know what had happened to her husband.

I did not tell her then not since, how her husband had come to his death.

AYER'S Sarsaparilla is the BEST SARSAPARILLA.

"Best" is an easy boast. But there's no best without a test. You expect something extra of best; something extra in bread from best flour; something extra in wear from best cloth; something extra in cures from best medicines. It's that something extra in Ayer's Sarsaparilla that makes Ayer's the best. That something extra is quality. Remember it's quality that cures, not quantity. Geo. Smith of the People's Drug Store, Seymour, Conn., says: "I have sold your goods for twenty-five years and when a customer asks me for

The Best Preparation for the Blood

I say: 'If you will take my opinion, use Ayer's Sarsaparilla; I will guarantee that you will receive more benefit by using one or two bottles of Ayer's than you would by using half a dozen bottles of some other kind.' When they take it, I never hear any complaint."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla cures all diseases that have their origin in impure blood: sores, ulcers, boils, eruptions, pimples, eczema, tetter, scrofula, etc. It cures cheaply, it cures quickly, and it cures to stay. That's why it's best.

"After twenty years' experience as a druggist, I consider Ayer's Sarsaparilla superior to any similar preparation on the market, and I give it the preference over all others."
A.C. WOODWARD, Worcester, Mass.

"In our estimation, as regards Sarsaparilla, Ayer's is the standard. We have never heard it spoken of in other than the very highest terms."
W. E. TERRILL & CO., Pharmacists, 9 State Street, Montpelier, Vt.

"I consider Ayer's Sarsaparilla the best blood purifier on the market."
Dr. GRISE & CO., West Gardner, Mass.

"During fifteen years of experience with Ayer's Sarsaparilla, I have yet to learn of a single case wherein it failed to cure if used according to directions."
F. O. COLLINS, Druggist, Paris, Mo.

"I believe Ayer's Sarsaparilla contains more medicinal value than any other similar compound."
JAMES DOANE, Dispensing Chemist, Kingsville, Ont.

KHALIFA WAS KILLED.

Father Details of the Attack of the British on the Dervish Forces—The Sirdar's Despatches.

Cairo, Nov. 25.—Lord Cromer, the British Minister here, has received the following despatch from General Kitchener:

"Wingate's force came up with the Khalifa's force seven miles southeast of Godid and attacked it. After a sharp fight we took his position. The Khalifa, who was surrounded by a bodyguard of emirs, was killed, and all the principal emirs were killed or captured except Osman Digna, who escaped."

"The Dervishes were utterly defeated, their whole camp was taken and thousands surrendered. A large number of women, children and cattle also fell into the hands of the Anglo-Egyptian force.

Is He the Great Khalifa?

If the Khalifa referred to as having been killed in battle is Abdullah El Taleb, the great chieftain of the Soudan, who has given the British so much trouble, it may be said that the power of the Dervishes is probably crushed. He was one of three Khalifas who in 1882 helped the famous Mahdi to overthrow the Government of Egypt in the Eastern Soudan and establish the Despotism of the Mahdi in its place.

Osman Digna a Good Fighter.

At the battle of Omdurman, Sept. 2, 1898, Gen. Kitchener utterly defeated the forces of the Khalifa, with tremendous slaughter, but the Khalifa, with his harem and Osman Digna, the most famous of the Soudanese generals, escaped, and have since been fugitives. There may be some further trouble for the British in the Soudan, owing to the fact that Osman Digna has escaped. He is a man of undoubted courage and remarkable military skill.

Soudan is Now Open.

General Kitchener also wires: "Wingate's Arab scouts located the Khalifa's position at Gwdebtaka. Our force marched from Gedil in the moonlight, and frequently had to cut its way through the bush. It arrived before dawn, and at 5.15, the Dervishes attacked. Our guns opened fire, and soon the action became general. Half an hour later the whole line advanced and swept through the Dervish position for over two miles, till the camp was reached. The mounted troops pursued and captured most of the fugitives.

Made a Gallant Stand.

"The Khalifa, with most of his men and the Emir's bodyguard, made a gallant stand. Among the Emirs killed were the Khalifa's two brothers and the Mahdi's son. Osman Digna left immediately after the firing began, and is probably concealed somewhere in the vicinity. I hope, eventually to get him. We took the entire Dervish camp. All the Dervishes not killed surrendered. I cannot speak too highly of the excellent behavior of the troops and their endurance during the long, tedious marches preceding the final action. From four o'clock in the morning of Nov. 21 till five o'clock in the morning of Nov. 24, they marched sixty miles and fought two decisive actions.

"The Soudan may now be declared open."

Wingate's Forces.

A letter from an officer at Omdurman says Wingate's force, which recently defeated the Dervishes near the Nile, south of Khartoum, consisted of five squadrons of cavalry, two infantry brigades, two Howitzers, ten maxim guns and 1000 camels. The letter adds: We shall have to attack the Khalifa this winter. There is no probability of his attacking Omdurman. But he will do his utmost to create risings and will attempt a raid along the west bank of the White Nile. He is known to have 3500 riflemen, 7000 spearmen and more cavalry. These are reported to be full of fanatical zeal. We shall probably find our chief losses due to fever, scarcity of water and the cattle fly. But I assure you that when we begin the Khalifa will be vigorously pursued to prevent his doing any more harm among the scattered Dervishes in South Darfur."

Sir Francis Captured 9,000.

Cairo, Nov. 26.—Sir Francis Wingate, in the battle with the Khalifa's force, near Godid, captured 9000 men, women and children. Osman Digna, the principal general of the Khalifa, is still at large.

Germans Are Glad.

Berlin, Nov. 26.—The German newspapers give an almost flattering reception to the news of the British victory in the Soudan.

Billville Literary Notes.

"Bill of Billville" is the name of a new novel by Colonel Jones of Jonesville. It is a great "hit." Fact is we haven't been quite well since it struck us.

After carrying the mules the other day and splitting six cords of firewood our leading poet wrote an ode on Dewey, for which he got 30 days.

The Woman's Literary club is a failure. They elected six presidents, 15 vice presidents, seven secretaries and six treasurers, after which they adjourned forever, having held office two hours.

A prize of one ox, two brindle cows and a copy of Tennyson's poems has been offered for the best poem on the Billville fair.

A LA MODE.

Red will be even more popular for the autumn and winter than it has been the past summer.

Some of the new fur capes for the cold days of late autumn are fashioned to fit the shoulders closely and reach below the waist. They have high, stylish collars.

Excepting in yellow and black, satin this season is not considered as fashionable as peau de soie satin matelasse, victoria silk, faille, bengaline and other qualities of repped silk.

For practical autumn uses there is now a great demand for fabric gloves of suede finished cashmere in black, dark gray and all the varying shades of tan and russet. The stitching is in tiny silk points.

At Death s Door—Dyspepsia Conquered. A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I ould not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. Totally Deaf.—Mr. S. E. Crandell, Port Perry, writes—"I contracted a severe cold last winter, which resulted in my becoming totally deaf in one ear and partially so in the other. After trying various remedies, and consulting several doctors, without obtain any relief, I was advised to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

LADY SALISBURY.

Obsequies of the Gentle Lady Who Was the British Prime Minister's Most Trusted Adviser.

London, Nov. 27.—Lord Salisbury's health is not seriously affected by his domestic bereavement. He is not likely to draw out of public affairs, but rather to plunge into them more deeply. The daughter of the law baron, who was once considred a poor match for one of the Gascoyne Cecils, was buried at noon yesterday with a close approach at feudal simplicity, under the shadow of Hatfield House. All the Cecils were there except Lord Edward, who was fighting at Mafeking, and the coffin, made of oak from Hatfield Park, was borne to the ivy-draped grave on the shoulders of the workmen of the estate. The burial service was attended by the powerful Cecil Clan and its retainers and its servants, and was extremely simple. Few wreaths, save those of the Queen and the Prince of Wales, were laid among the evergreens in the quiet nook in the church-yard, where the gentle lady, who had been the Prime Minister's most trusted adviser in public affairs, was buried. The service at the same hour in the Chapel Royal, at St. James', was attended by the diplomatic corps, ministers of state and court functionaries. It was solemn and impressive, with music that was sung with singular beauty and feeling.

A WIDOW'S SON KILLED.

Bernard Hislen, of Adjala, Killed While Out Shooting.

Tottenham, Ont., Nov. 27.—A sad case of accidental shooting, which terminated fatally, occurred Saturday evening. Bernard, the 14-year-old son of Mrs. Bernard Hislen, Adjala, was out shooting with a number of companions, and, after he had crossed a small stream, one of the party handed him his gun, muzzle foremost, to take over. He reached for it, and, as the owner let the end fall to the ground, it went off, the charge penetrating the abdomen of young Hislen. He was carried into a neighboring house, where medical attendance was procured, which, however, was of no avail, as he gradually sank, and passed away at 10 o'clock that night. Much sympathy is felt for his widowed mother.

A SMASH AT BRADFORD.

Rear Cars of a Separated Train Crash Into First Section.

Bradford, Ont., Nov. 27.—About 1 o'clock yesterday morning five cars of a southbound lumber train separated probably three miles from this place, from the front cars. On reaching this depot the first section stopped for the purpose of shunting on to the switch. The back section, which had been following in the rear quite unknown to the train crew, crashed into the front one. The collision derailed one car and broke two others into kindling wood, as well as tearing up about fifty feet of the track. All the men fortunately escaped without injury. The two broken cars were burned.

CABINET CRISIS IN QUEENSLAND.

Reported Railway Deal.

Montreal, Nov. 27.—It is freely stated that a Rutland syndicate has purchased the United Counties Railway, which runs from Iberville to Sorel, and that a new road has been leased, making a connecting link with the Canada Atlantic at Lacalle. The Sorel connection is to secure deep water connection at the mouth of the Richelieu.

MORINE IS ASKED TO RESIGN

Great Political Excitement Prevails Because Morine Has Friends Who Say They Will Certainly Defeat the Ministry—Governor MacCallum Says Premier Winter Is Responsible for the Request for Morine's Resignation.

St. John's Nfld., Nov. 25.—Governor McCallum to-day called upon Fisheries Minister Morine to resign from the Winter Cabinet, Premier Winter having demanded his resignation, alleging that internal differences existed. Mr. Morine had previously declined to resign on the Premier's demand, asserting that it was unjust. The Governor explained that Mr. Winter was responsible for the request, and expressed his personal regret, while thanking Mr. Morine for his valuable services.

Mr. Dawe, Minister without portfolio, resigns also, as a protest against Mr. Morine's treatment. Messrs. Robinson, Shea, Carty and Pitts support Premier Winter. The Government party in the Legislature is divided, some supporting the Premier and others Mr. Morine. The Ministry will certainly be defeated when it meets the House. Great political excitement prevails.

MILLER STILL AT LARGE.

The Big 10 Per Cent. Boomer Escapes the Police.

New York, Nov. 26.—William F. Miller and his secretary and chief boomer, Cecil Leslie, of the Franklin Syndicate, the 10 per cent. a week concern of 144 Floyd-street, Brooklyn, have not yet been arrested. The extensive operations of the syndicate and the exhaustless credulity of the American people are shown by the number of dividend drafts which are held by the different city banks. These drafts were sent through the mails by Miller to subscribers living at distant points, and they deposited them in their local banks for collection. The local banks in turn sent them to the New York banks, which act as their agents. These drafts arrived on Saturday. Many more are expected this week. As the syndicate has assigned, the drafts will be returned to their dupes. The National City Bank alone has about 200 of the drafts.

The chiefs of police of every city in this country and Canada have been asked to look out for Miller and detailed descriptions have been telegraphed to them. The chiefs of police at all ports in Great Britain and the Continent visited by steamers sailing from New York have also been cabled to arrest Miller should he bob up on the other side.

John Linton Killed.

East Toronto, Nov. 26.—(Special)—Mr. John Linton of Norwood-road, a brakeman on the Grand Trunk Railway, met with a frightful accident, near Trenton, about 3 o'clock this morning, by which he lost a leg and an arm, and from which he died five hours later. Mr. Linton was on the track, loosening a pin from a shunting freight train, and was on the side of the car upon which there is no grapple. When the cars moved, it is supposed that he reached for the grapple, supposing it to be there, missed his footing, and was run over. The injured man was at once put on board the train and taken to Belleville Hospital, where he died at 8.15. Mr. Linton came to Little York from Pickering about eight years ago, and has been a continuous resident here ever since. He leaves a wife and two children, to mourn his untimely death.

Killed While Repairing Wires.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., Nov. 25.—(Special.)—While repairing wires in the factory of the Union Carbide Company to-day noon, John Sheffield was instantly killed by coming in contact with the primary terminals of a switch. Two thousand volts passed through his body. Sheffield was 26 years old and leaves a brother in Kingston and a mother and sister in England. He was from Peterborough, Ont., and had been in this city about nine months. He holds a scholarship in electrical engineering from McGill University, Montreal, and was considered one of the best electricians in Niagara Falls. The coroner took charge of the body and wired his relatives. His brother will get here to-night and will probably take it back to Canada with him.

Talk of a General Election.

Montreal, Nov. 26.—(Special.)—Sir Wilfrid Laurier arrived here to-day from Ottawa, and, strange to say, the talk of a general election following the Manitoba local is revived at the hotels and clubs this evening. A leading Liberal said this evening that it began to look like an appeal to the people, should Greenway win, but he ridiculed the idea of the Ottawa Government going to the country in the face of a reverse in the Prairie Province.

135,000 MEN IN SOUTH AFRICA.

Another Army Division of 35,000 Men and Another 10,000 Being Sent From India.

New York, Nov. 26.—The London correspondent of The Times says: "That no thoughts of peace enter the minds of our officials or the soldiers in the field is sufficiently proved by the circumstances that at the present moment the utmost energy is being displayed in organizing at Aldershot a final army division of unusual strength, probably of over 35,000 men, with a view to their early despatch to the seat of war. Part of this division will have to be drawn from the militia, I am told, and after it has been sent we can have no regular troops worth speaking of beyond a few recruiting sergeants left in this country. Another 10,000 men is also being sent from India, and should all these troops be poured into Africa we shall have an army there from first to last of more than 130,000 men.

"This probably means an expenditure of from £1,500,000 to £2,000,000 a week. It may be a smaller sum, if we are lucky in our transport facilities, and in the health of our men, cavalry horses and baggage animals, but it will be well to count upon the larger amount in preparing estimates of the cost of the war. Up to now the nation has not given a single calm thought to this side of the question, and the time for reflection is yet some distance off."

Had to Bounce the Editor.

New York, Nov. 26.—A London despatch to The Sun says: "The Daily Chronicle, which has been the most outspoken opponent of the Government's policy in South Africa and has suffered thereby, may be expected to change its tone on Monday, as Editor Massingham severed his connection with the paper to-day.

AGAIN IN FIERCE CONFLICT.

Gen. Methuen Came Upon the Enemy at Gras Pan.

After Three Hours Desperate Fighting He Routed Them—Losses Were Heavy on Both Sides—The Naval Brigade's Brilliant Action—Gen. Buller Now at Pietermaritzburg—British Column Make a Junction at Frere.

London, Nov. 27.—(5 a.m.)—No further news respecting Lord Methuen's advance has been received, and the absence of official details regarding his losses creates the greatest suspense, especially since the publication of the heavy sacrifice endared by the naval brigade. No alarm, however, is felt as to his position, despite the evidence that the Boers intend to contest every foot of the way. It was known that, in the absence of sufficient cavalry, he would be compelled to advance slowly, and he has a preference for night or early-dawn attacks, which events seem to have justified, the Boers being decidedly averse to darkness for their operations. The fact that in the Gras Pan action one British battery fired 500 rounds proves the desperate nature of the fight, and there is little doubt that the casualties were heavy. It is now known that no guns were captured in the Belmont engagement.

Gen. Methuen.

News From Natal More Hopeful.

Meanwhile the news from Natal is distinctly more hopeful from the British point of view. The details are rather vague, but it seems certain that the Boers are retiring, that railway communication is being reopened and that the British relief forces are joining hands. All this, taken with General Buller's arrival at Pietermaritzburg, is expected to make matters move briskly soon. General Hildyard's reconnaissance is praised as a work of very great difficulty admirably executed.

The troopship Medic arrived at Cape Town yesterday with the Australian contingents.

The Pindari and the Idaho arrived there Saturday, bringing three batteries of much-needed artillery.

Boers Whipped in Bechuanaland.

Five hundred Boers attacked Kuruman, in Bechuanaland, on Nov. 13. The fighting lasted continuously for six days and nights, but the Boers were finally beaten off, with a loss of 30 in killed and 28 in wounded. The British lost 1 killed and 1 wounded. The Boers suddenly disappeared, for some reason unknown to the British.

DESPERATE FIGHTING.

Lord Methuen's Column Routes 2,500 Boers From the Heights Near Gras Pan.

London, Nov. 27.—Yesterday afternoon, the War Office posted the following despatch, dated Cape Town, 12.30 p. m., from Gen. Forestier-Walker:

Lord Methuen reports that he moved yesterday (Saturday) at 3.30 a.m., with the Ninth Brigade, the Mounted Corps, the Naval Brigade and two bateries, the guards following with the baggage.

Near Gras Pan, about ten miles north of Belmont, on the railway line to Kimberley, 2500 Boers, with six guns and two machine guns, oopposed him.

The action began at 6 a. m.

Our batteries fired shrapnel very accurately till the heights seemed clear. Then the Naval Brigade and Infantry advanced to the assault.

The fighting was desperate until 10 a.m., when the heights were carried. The Boers retreated on the line, where the Ninth Lancers were placed to intercept them. The result was not known at the time of telegraphing. The artillery took immediate advantage of the enemy's retirement.

Early in the action 5000 Boers attacked our rear guard. The brigade met this, and also protected the rear flanks. The Naval Brigade acted with the greatest gallantry, and suffered heavily, but no particulars are yet known.

The enemy showed the greatest stubbornness, and must have suffered greatly Twenty were buried. It is known that 31 were killed and 48 wounded. More than fifity horses were found dead in on eplace. One battery fired 500 rounds.

Our force must halt one day at Gras Pan to rest and replenish ammunition.

The force worked splendidly, and is prepared to overcome any difficulty.

The Naval Brigade, the Royal Marines, the Light Infantry, and the 1st Battalion of the North Lancashire Regiment especially distinguished themselves.

Regarding Thursday's fight, 81 Boer killed are accounted for. Sixty-four wagons were burned. A large quantity of powder, 50,000 rounds of ammunition and 750 shells were blown up. Commandant Albrecht (chief of the Orange Free State Artillery) commanded the Boer artillery. Gen. Dolewy was in chief command.

SOME OF THE CASUALTIES.

Commander Ethelston of the Powerful and Major Plum Killed.

London, Nov. 27.—The Admiralty is in receipt of the following despatch from Rear-Admiral Harris, dated Cape Town, Nov. 26:

I deeply regret to report the following casualties in the action at Gras Pan yesterday:

Killed—Commander Ethelston, of the Powerful; Major Plumb, of the Doris; Capt. Guy Leulor of the Royal Marines, of the Monarch.

Wounded—Flag Capt. Prothero, of the Doris, severely; Lieut. Jones, of the Doris.

The other casualties are not yet known. Commander DeHorsey, Capt. Mergan and Lieut. Wilson, all of the Monarch, have proceeded to join the Naval Brigade with Lord Methuen.

METHUEN IS PUSHING ON.

Relief Corps in Heliographic Communication With Kimberley.

London, Nov. 26.—A special despatch from Durban, dated Nov. 24, says:

"The Times of Natal has received news by way of Delagoa Bay that both Mafeking and Kimberley have been relieved."

This is not only improbable but it is discredited by a special despatch from Cape Town, which states that General Methuen is in heliographic communication with Kimberley, which indicates that the relieving force pushed forward after the battle of Belmont. If this be true, stirring news may be expected shortly, as the Boers are in force at Modder River and Spytfontein.

Buller on the Right Spot.

Durban, Nov. 25.—Sir Redvers Buller, looking the pink of health, arrived here this evening, and immediately proceeded up the country in the Governor's car. He was enthusiastically cheered by the people.

Buller at Pietermaritzburg.

London, Nov. 27.—Special despatches from Pietermaritzburg announce the arrival of General Buller there. He met with a splendid reception.

Railway communication between Estcourt and Mooi River has been restored by Lord Dundonald's force, and the Mooi River column entered Estcourt yesterday (Sunday), the Estcourt column immediately starting the advance toward Colenso.

Wires to Estcourt Again.

Durban, Nov. 26.—(Noon.)—Telegraphic communication with Estcourt has been restored.

Joubert Retires to Ladysmith.

Estcourt, Nov. 26.—(Noon.)—Commandant Gen. Joubert is retiring from Mooi River on Ladysmith.

Boer Did Not Wait.

Cape Town, Nov. 26.—On the arrival of the Belmont wounded, with the Boer prisoners taken in that engagement, most of the wounded will be lodged in Beaufort Hospital, where 125 beds have been prepared.

One of the Boer prisoners, who was wounded in the Orange River engagement, on being asked what he thought of the British bayonet charge, answered: "Almighty! do you think I waited for that?"

It Was a Cowardly Action.

Cape Town, Nov. 26.—The Cape Argus says: "Lord Methuen's letter to the Boer commandant warned him that the British commander would not recognize anything but a fair flag of truce, adding: 'To place a white handkerchief on a rifle, and to take advantage of your enemy, is a cowardly action, which neither you nor I can countenance.'"

Chinese Railway Open.

Shanghai, Nov. 26.—The first through train from Tallen-Wan, on the new Chwang and Munkden Railway, left on Friday with engineers for Port Arthur.

STOP WOMEN

from exercising common sense? You can't do it. As the old rhyme runs:

"The man's a fool who tries by force or skill
To turn the current of a woman's will
For if she will, she will, you may depend on't
And if she won't she won't, so there's an end on't."

Common sense tells a woman that when she's sick she needs a doctor.

Common sense tells a woman that in disease the first question is not of man or woman, but of recognized medical ability.

Common sense applied to advertisements which invite women to "write to a woman because she is a woman and understands women," will show the women so appealed to, that it's no use to write to any woman about disease unless that woman is a physician.

Common sense used in the reading of advertisements will discover that no claim is made in them to a physician's knowledge or diploma. And that is not because the claim would be morally culpable as a lie, but because it would be legally punishable as a fraud. The law permits you to masquerade as a doctor in an advertisement, just so long as you don't actually claim to be a doctor, or put M. D. after your name. That's why the advertisement is worded "write to a woman" instead of write to a doctor.

Common sense has brought more than half-a-million women, afflicted with some form of female disease, to Dr. R. V. Pierce as one of the most expert physicians in the United States in the treatment of female diseases. Dr. Pierce is a specialist. He has given more than thirty years of active practice to the treatment of female diseases. Dr. Pierce is not a "physician" by courtesy. He is a physician regularly graduated, legally empowered to practice and with thirty years of experience in the treatment of diseases of women, which he has made his specialty.

The offer of free consultation by letter made by Dr. Pierce is a real offer, an honest offer. It is an offer backed by a medical institution, with a world-wide reputation, a staff of nearly a score of regularly graduated physicians, a practice which reaches every state in the Union and a record of more than half-a-million women treated and ninety-eight out of every hundred perfectly cured.

Write to a doctor. That's the first thing. Write to the doctor. That's the next thing. The woman's doctor, is Dr. R. V. Pierce, of the Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

IS JOUBERT GOING SOUTH?

The Story of the Kaffir Servant of the General.

Durban, Saturday, Nov. 25.—Advices from Mooi River say that a Kaffir brought in yesterday, who was impressed at Johannesburg and allotted to General Joubert as a servant, asserts that General Joubert and four sons, with a commando, are coming south. The Kaffir estimated the Boer strength at from 2000 to 3000 men. According to his story, the British smashed one or two of the enemy's big guns at Ladysmith.

There was a heavy thunderstorm at Mooi River last night. All is quiet there and two guns for the naval brigade have arrived.

Troops Are at Mooi River.

Durban, Nov. 26.—(Noon.)—Advices from Mooi River announce a reconnaissance in force, with the troops still out.

BOERS OCCUPY STROMBERG.

At Junction Between Midland and Eastern Railway.

Cape Town, Nov. 26.—(Midnight.)—The Boers occupied Stormberg, Cape Colony, Sunday morning.

Stormberg is the point where the Midland and Eastern Railway systems are connected.

THIS FROM BOER SOURCES.

A Letter Purporting to Be From Gen. Joubert Printed in Berlin.

Berlin, Nov. 26.—The Deutsche Zeitung publishes a letter purporting to come from Gen. Joubert and dated Ladysmith, Oct. 27, in which the writer says: "Even if we do not succeed in preventing the concentration of Gen. Buller's troops, the British army will be weakened from natural causes to such an extent that not more than 35,000 efficient troops or 40,000 at the outside can take the field. The others must be employed to protect communications. In this connection, it is to be borne in mind that not only Natal but Cape Colony, with a base of operations covering 435 miles, must be considered.

Boer Bases of Supply.

"Our bases of supply are at home and organized on the relay system in three directions. To protect these does not require 500 men. If one base should be seriously threatened, the supplies will be destroyed. A war of defence, of which we need not think for a considerable time, would present far greater advantages than an offensive war. We are at home in the highlands of the Transvaal and the Orange Free State. The British will have to contest every step under inconceivable difficulties and must be prepared at every moment to fight on two or three fronts.

Will Begin a Guerrilla War.

"Then will begin a guerrilla war, which the British will not be able to endure. Already we have 50,000 men in the field. So we do not need to calculate upon a rising of the Boers in Cape Colony and Natal. Nevertheless if the British stir up the natives and employ them to fight us, a rising of the whole of Afrikanderdom is certain."

THE TIMES ANXIOUS.

The Hitherto Optomistic Thunderer Turns Pessimistic.

London, Nov. 27.—Despite the brighter outlook to-day, The Times, in its review of the situation, voices the anxiety felt, and says: "The activity the Boers display at points separated by hundreds of miles, their ability to invest several towns, their readiness to offer battle at Belmont and again at Gras Pan, their widespread operations south of Orange River and their bold and offensive action in Natal seem to indicate numbers far in excess of our estimates. It is clear that the military requirements were at first greatly underestimated, and that a sixth division ought immediately to be prepared for embarkation." This coming from the hitherto optimistic Times is significant.

A Prize Court Established.

Durban, Nov. 26.—The Governor of Natal, Sir Walter Hely-Hutchinson, in his capacity of vice-admiral, has proclaimed the establishment of a prize court to deal with prizes captured by British warships.

Eight Killed, Forty-Two Wounded.

London, Nov. 27.—A special despatch from Estcourt, dated Thursday, Nov. 23, and describing the engagement at Willow Grange, says the British losses are estimated at eight killed and forty-two wounded.

Boer Prisoners at Cape Town.

Cape Town, Nov. 26.—(Evening.)—The Boer prisoners from Belmont arrived this evening. The wounded prisoners were sent to the Military Hospital at Wynberg, and the others to the convict station, which has been converted into a military prison. All appeared to have lost heart and were in a fearfully delapidated condition.

Advancing to Colenso.

London, Nov. 27.—A special from Estcourt, dated Sunday, says: "The Mooi River column has joined General Hildyard's forces, and is bivouacking this morning at Frere, about midway between Estcourt and Colenso.

Eighty Boer Casualties.

Cape Town, Nov. 26.—Reports received here of the brilliant success of Lord Methuen at Gras Pan say that the Boers had 80 killed and many wounded, and the British took numerous prisoners.

Coal Scarce in Russia.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 27. — It is stated that Finance Minister De Witte has sanctioned the import tion free of duty of 135,000,000 poods of coal, owing to the scarcity which prevails in the Warsaw district.

Trolley Collision in Detroit.

Detroit, Nov. 27.—Two Detroit Railway electric cars collided Saturday night at the corner of Warren-avenue and 23rd-street, injuring six people. Of those hurt, Mrs. Otto C. Eckart received internal injuries and had ribs broken, and her condition is critical.

Guilty of Manslaughter.

Wilmington, Del., Nov. 27.—Monty A. Cole of Sherbrooke, Que., was on Saturday night found guilty of manslaughter for the killing of William A. Montague of Wyoming, Del., with a baseball bat last May.

Alleged Walkerton Horse Thief.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 27.—Herbert Pettin was arrested by detectives Saturday morning. He is wanted in Walkerton, Ont., for the alleged theft of a horse and buggy.

MR. PATTULLO'S OPPONENT.

North Oxford Conservatives Have Again Selected Mr. Montague.

Dr. Vrooman Is the Choice of the South Victoria Conservatives to Run for the Commons—The Doctor Accepted the Nomination—Hot Shot for Greenway—Liberals Condemn His Railway Policy.

Woodstock, Ont., Nov. 26.—(Special.)—The Liberal-Conservative convention for North Oxford met at the Town Hall, Woodstock, yesterday. The chair was taken by C. A. Muma, the president, who announced that the Hon. George E. Foster had promised to address a public meeting in Woodstock during the month of January. Reference was also made to the formation of a Young Men's Liberal-Conservative Club in the town. The membership had already reached 300, and there was every prospect that within a few weeks at least 700 members would be enrolled. Mr. Fred Richards has been chosen president of the club and, with the assistance of other active Conservatives, it is evident that the club will play an important part in future political contests. Four other clubs have been formed in the constituency, and on every hand demands were being made for organization. At one time Woodstock had given a Conservative majority, and to-day the Liberals were undoubtedly in a minority in the town.

Local Government Discredited.

Throughout the riding there was a widespread feeling, even among lifelong Liberals, that the Local Government was discredited and a disgrace, which must give place to an honest administration.

A resolution was passed thanking the publisher of The Times for bring out a daily edition.

Those Nominated.

The following gentlemen were nominated to contest the riding for the Local House: E. Caister, R. W. Bass, C. A. Muma, T. L. Sproule, Fred Richards, T. Y. Ormsby, Abraham Montague. All of the nominees except Mr. Montague retired, and the latter received and accepted the nomination.

The candidate, in a brief speech, announced his intention of conducting a clean and honest campaign, free from any of the devices peculiar to the "Grit threshing machine."

Speeches were made by those who had been honored by a nomination and also by Mr. Leavitt of Toronto.

A resolution was carried conferring upon the executive authority to secure a candidate to contest the riding for the Commons, and the meeting adjourned to meet at the call of the president, after giving three cheers for Mr. Montague and the Queen.

HOT SHOT FOR GREENWAY.

At Mayor Andrews' Meeting Saturday Night Prominent Liberals Condemned His Railway Policy.

Winnipeg, Nov. 26.—(Special.)—Mayor Andrews, the Opposition candidate in Centre Winnipeg, had a rousing meeting last night. The Opera House was crowded. W. W. Buchanan and A. Bethune, Liberals, were the assisting speakers. They criticized and condemned Mr. Greenway's railway record at the committee room meeting.

Mr. Davin ridiculed the campaign which the Liberal leaders from the East, Sifton, Paterson and Fraser, had carried on, saying that the cold reception accorded them at most places was a good protest against the ill-treatment and neglect which the Laurier Government had dealt to the people of the West. Mr. Davin then reviewed the tariff policy of the Laurier Government, claiming they had broken their promises at every step. He quoted figures to prove that the tariff was not so high under the old protection policy of the Conservatives as it is to-day under the Liberals.

Hon. N. C. Wallace on Deck.

Hon. N. Clarke Wallace, M.P., arrived from the East on Saturday, and it is his intention to deliver a series of addresses in the Province in support of Opposition candidates. During the course of an interview, Mr. Wallace said that he had never before seen so much interest in politics in Eastern Canada, at a time when there was no election in sight, as there was at present. He had no knowledge as to when a general election was likely to take place. Speaking in regard to the Winnipeg vacancy, Mr. Wallace said: "The Dominion Government dare not trust you Winnipeggers, and you must submit to disenfranchisement."

After the elections are over in Manitoba, Mr. Wallace will visit Nicholas Flood Davin's constituency, Western Assiniboia, and deliver several addresses there.

Hon. G. E. Foster and Hon. Hugh John Macdonald will address a mass meeting here Monday night.

DR. VROOMAN THE CHOICE.

South Victoria Nominates and He Accepts the Nomination.

Lindsay, Ont., Nov. 25.—The Liberal-Conservatives of South Victoria met in convention here this afternoon. The Town Hall was filled with delegates and friends of the party from all parts of the riding. In point of enthusiasm and unity, the meeting was all that could be desired. Ex-Warden Lithgow was elected president of the association. The following gentlemen were nominated as candidates for the House of Commons at the next election: Messrs. J. D. Flavelle, James Boxall, ex-Warden Lithgow, John McSweyn, J. H. McQuade, R. Bryans, W. J. Reid (Bobcaygeon), Johnston Ellis, Charles Fairbairn, W. C. Switzer and Dr. A. E. Vrooman. All the nominees retired in favor of the last-named, and Dr. Vrooman is again the standard-bearer of the party in South Victoria.

The doctor was received with the heartiest applause as he accepted the nomination, and addressed the meeting in a few well-chosen words. He assured the party that his best services would be tendered, and asked the earnest co-operation of every Conservative to carry the riding at the next election.

Mr. A. W. Wright of Toronto was on hand and delivered a rousing address. He dealt chiefly with the records of the two parties, the past deception and present falsehood of the Liberals, who by duplicity had got into power, and since broken every ante-election pledge. The Conservatives had made promises and never broken any of them. Their policy had been the same from early days. To them was due the development of the country in every respect, and their conduct in Opposition accounted for the present good times. Under such a leader as Sir Charles Tupper, they would again carry the country and continue the great work that they had begun and advanced so far.

Mr. Wright was heard for over an hour and a half. When he was through, strongly worded resolutions, expressing confidence in Sir Charles Tupper, Mr. Whitney and the Conservative policy, were unanimously adopted, and the meeting broke up with the usual cheers.

PRESTON IS THE CHOICE.

Newspaper Man Chosen to Fill the Vacancy in South Brant.

Brantford, Ont., Nov. 26.—At a largely-attended meeting of the Liberals of South Brant, held here to-day, T. H. Preston, proprietor of The Brantford Expositor, was the unanimous choice of the meeting, to be the standard-bearer for South Brant Reformers, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Hon. A. S. Hardy.

Trinidad Short of Funds.

St. Thomas, Danish West Indies, Nov. 26. —The finances of the Island of Trinidad prevent the ratification of a convention with the United States, and petitions have been sent to Mr. Joseph Chamberlain to negotiate arrangements on a basis suitable to the colony's position.

Coachman Was Awarded $3,000.

Ottawa, Nov. 26.—Napoleon Richer, who was coachman for the late County Treasurer Cowan, and who was seriously injured in the railway tragedy which caused the death of Mr. Cowan and his son Holmes Cowan, at Ottawa East, was awarded $3,000 damages against the Ottawa and Parry Sound Railway, at the assizes here to-day.

The carriage in which Cowan and his son were seated was driven by Richer, and was run into by an Ottawa and Parry Sound passenger train, the horses taking fright, and becoming unmanageable.

Nelson Gordon was given five years in the Kingston Penitentiary for burglary.

McCormick Beat Goddard.

Toronto, Nov. 27.—There were 2000 at the Crescent Club's boxing show Saturday night, who saw Jack McCormick put out Joe Goddard in the second round. They boxed furiously all the way until a right jolt on the point of the jaw sent the Australian into dreamland for fully five minutes. Fred Wyatt stopped Pat Kilty in six rounds, while Cull and Nichols fought a 5-round draw. John R. Bennett was referee.

Broke His Mother-in-Law's Skull.

Petrolea, Ont., Nov. 27.—Walter Westby, in a drunken fit Friday night, struck his mother-in-law, Mrs. Cairns, who keeps a boarding-house, with a chair in the head, cutting it through the skull. Dr. Dunfield put seven stitches in the cut. Westby was promptly arrested by Chief Jackson and locked up.

A MOURNFUL MISFIT.

The Man Who Has a Genius For Being Inopportune.

"There goes a man," said a Canal street philosopher, "who has made a failure of life in spite of exceptional equipment for success. He is honest, affable, highly educated and industrious as a beaver. He has no bad habits, and I couldn't name a man in New Orleans who possesses a kindlier disposition, yet he is continually out of a job and is studiously avoided by everybody who knows him. The mysterious part of it is that nobody can tell you just why, and the poor fellow doesn't understand it himself. He is beginning to think that somebody has worked a rabbit's foot on him, but the secret is really this:

"He has a genius for the inopportune. By some malign freak of fate he always says and does the wrong thing at the wrong time. It is not lack of tact; it is destiny. For example, I like him, but he never called on me in his life that his visit wasn't highly unwelcome. He is morally certain to drop in just in time to catch one doing something foolish or discreditable, and you know how we hate the innocent chance witness of our follies.

"He made a mortal enemy of Colonel —— because he happened to walk into his office while the old man was dying his mustache. He chanced on a certain prominent lawyer smirking before a mirror, rehearsing an impromptu after dinner speech, and the prominent lawyer got even by knocking him out of a valuable contract. Those are two cases out of dozens. He never gossips or tattles, but the mere fact that he has seen things he oughtn't to see and heard things he oughtn't to hear makes his very presence embarrassing to the other fellows.

"It's most unfortunate, and all fate. If he were introduced to a man whose grandfather had been hanged he'd be absolutely certain to begin talking about rope inside of two minutes. As I said before, he has a genius for the inopportune. My wife loathes him because her false frizzes blew off on the street one day and landed on top of his umbrella. He had nothing whatever to do with either the frizzes or the elements, but now I can't ask him to my house. Terrible to be under such a curse, isn't it?"—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Not His Funeral.

Mrs. Smith repeatedly reminded her husband that the silver was hers, the furniture was hers, and so on, until poor Smith almost wished he had married a girl without a penny. The other night Mrs. Smith awoke to hear strange voices in the lower part of the house and, vigorously punching her husband in the ribs, called: "John, get up! There are burglars down below!"

"Eh?" inquired Mr. Smith sleepily.

"Burglars—down stairs!" shrieked Mrs. Smith.

"Burglars?" said Smith as he turned over. "Well, there's nothing of mine there!"

Originality.

Original things are not often good. The best that any writer can do is to absorb facts and smiles as a cow does grass; then give as good a quantity of the milk of common sense as possible.—New York Journal.

POLITICS DEGRADED.

WEST TORONTO REFORM ASSOCIATION DEFEND TARTE!

Is Canada to judge the Reform party by the utterances of some of its members? It is difficult to fathom the depths in political infamy to which they descend in defending the actions and utterances of their leaders.

Fortunately the Liberals of Canada are not all of the West Toronto stripe of politicians. If they were there would be little hope for the future of the Dominion.

The West Toronto Reform Association on Saturday, Nov. 11th, rushed to the defence of that, which in a British Province is the most indefensible, the attitude of the Hon. J. Israel Tarte, a sworn adviser of the Crown, in his declarations that he is French before British, and an opponent to the sending of a Canadian Contingent to aid the Motherland in her struggle against tyranny and oppression in South Africa.

This Association at its Saturday night meeting passed resolutions in condemnation of what its members call the tactics resorted to by the Conservative party and their press in "maligning" the Minister of Public Works by imputing wrong motives. And then it proceeds to say: "We further believe such conduct to be detrimental to the best interests of our country, inasmuch as it is a misrepresentation of our public men abroad, and tends to create racial and religious feelings at home. We, on the contrary, desire to express our confidence in the honor, ability and patriotism of the Hon. J. Israel Tarte, and can assure the hon. gentleman that his traducers do not enjoy the confidence of this province."

This declaration of opinion on the part of a Reform Association, when analyzed, simply means: That if the Conservative press dare to denounce a declaration by a Minister of a British Cabinet that he is French before he is British, and for opposing even his own colleagues in sending British subjects to aid the British Crown in the maintenance of British power in the world, and defending the rights and liberties of British subjects, is "creating racial and religious feelings at home." Or in other words, that because Tarte is French and Roman Catholic, he must be permitted to declare his preference for a foreign country and its institutions to the land of his birth, and prevent, if in his power, aid being rendered to the Crown to which he has sworn to bear true allegiance, in silence, for fear of being accused of creating "creed and religious animosities in the country.

Fortunately the outspoken loyalty of the leaders of public opinion in the Province of Quebec, of all Conservatives, and many Liberals, stamp such opinions as those of that section of the Liberal party who passed the above resolution as a slander upon their race and upon their creed.

How long will honest, loyal Liberals permit themselves to be ruled by a Tarte and dictated to by such men as those who constitute the "West Toronto Reform Association," and the Toronto Globe, which journal has for the past few months been indulging in sycophantic sophistry in defence of Tarte and his un-British utterances?

TWO FINE SPECIMENS

Of Physical Manhood.

No form of athletic exercise demands such perfect physical condition as prize fighting. Every muscle in the body must be fully developed and supple, and the heart, lungs and stomach must act to perfection.

Whether we endorse prize-fighting or not, it is nevertheless interesting to know the manner by which men arrive at such physical perfection.

James Jefferies, the present champion heavy weight of the world, and his gallant opponent, Tom Sharkey, in the greatest pugilistic encounter that has ever taken place, both pursued much the same course of training and the first and most important part of this training was to get the stomach in condition, and to keep the digestion absolutely perfect, so that every muscle and nerve would be at its highest capabilities.

This was not done by a secret patent medicine, but both of these great pugilists used a well known natural digestive tablet sold by druggists under name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and composed of the digestive ferments which every stomach requires for healthy digestion.

The gallant fighter, Sharkey, says: "Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets remove all discomfort after eating. They rest the stomach and restore it to a healthful condition. I heartily recommend them." Signed, Thos. J. Sharkey.

The advantage of the daily use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is that they keep people well and ward off sickness and are equally valuable to well persons as to the dyspeptics. Another advantage is that these tablets contain no cathartics, or poisons of any character, but simply digestive ferments which are found in every healthy stomach, and when digestion is imperfect it is because the stomach lacks some of these elements and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets supply it.

They are no cheap cathartic, but a perfectly safe and efficient digestive and the demand for them is greater than the sale of all other so-called dyspepsia cures combined. No remedy could possibly reach such a place in public esteem except as the result of positive merit.

Full sized packages are sold by all druggists at 50 cents and the best habit you can possibly form is to take a Stuart Tablet after each meal. They make weak stomachs strong and keep strong stomachs vigorous.

Fatal Runaway Accident.

CHRISTIANS NEED STIRRING UP

A Practical and Earnest Discourse by Rev. Mr. Gustin.

Religious Duties not Burdensome, but Should be Labors of Love — Our Lives Should be Living Examples to the World at Large.

At St. Thomas' Church on Sunday morning Rev. Mr. Gustin, Curate, occupied the pulpit and preached a practical and earnest discourse from the scripture text found in 2nd Peter, 1st chapter and 13th verse:
I think it meet to stir you up by putting you in remembrance.

A great many people dislike to be stirred up. Human nature is a creation which much prefers to be left alone. But, fortunately, human nature does not always get its own way, else its condition would be most pitiable. If we were not frequently stirred up in all departments of human life we should indeed be bad off. Whether in social, political or religious life, a little goading is necessary to inspire any degree of excellence. In political life were it not for outside influence brought to bear sometimes on any particular party, good government, he feared, would be only the after result. In religion little better is often the case. The human heart, sad to say, often waxes cold. It is, however, a happy thought that many never weary in well doing. Many a derated man and woman have given their lives for the sake of religion. Year after year, in season and out of season, their religion is the dearest thing on earth to them. For such God be praised. But there are those who need to be continually stirred up in order to keep alive their interest in that which pertains to the welfore of the soul. The spirtual life is of first importance, and its worth cannot be calculated within the range of commercial or mathematical calculations. It is therefore of great importance, that we should in this matter be zealous and interested, beliving examples to whom others will look to value the worth of religion. Those who think little of religious matters, who are not moved to spiritual activity, in fact whose lives are not in accordance with those profession have a great responsibility upon themselves, for they are a positive hindrance to the cause of Christ, for in their lives they are certainly for for Him, and those who are not for Him are against Him. There are many whom the love of Christ constraineth. Religious duties should not become a burden, but should always be labors of love. There has in the past been stirring up in religious matters. In each of the last two centuries we find a noteworthy example of a general awakening. It was Wesley and Methodists who warmed the chilled blood of the church of England once more into activity by the doctrines of love. The external religious duties had also been neglected. It was about 75 years ago that the last great stirring up had its beginning to the Catholic revival which had, like Methodism, its practical beginning in the halls of Oxford. Through the teachings of the church we have heard of the labors and travels of the Apostles and of the extension of the religion of the cross. We have heard the exhortations from scripture to act in our lives the moral precepts which it contains and to fashion our lives after that perfect pattern of manhood who told His disciples to take up their cross and follow Him. We should not neglect the overtures of divine mercy. The word of God far too often meets the fate of the seed that fell by the wayside and among the thorns, instead of falling on good ground where it is allowed to bring forth much fruit. Know that your salvation depends on what we have done for ourself and how we have benefitted by His finished work. We must remember what Christ expects in return. Do not imperil your soul by saying the Lord delayeth His coming, for in such an hour as ye think not the Son of Man cometh. He may send soon His messenger of death to call you home. We should ask ourselves the question, am I prepared to meet God if He should summons me suddenly before His presence. Let me urge upon all the necessity of being prepared to meet God whenever He should send His messenger of death.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver, of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in my back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately a friend advised trying 'Electric Bitters;' and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. AN INCIDENT OF CITY LIFE.

Pathetic Case of a Pretty Girl That Appealed For Sympathy.

One o'clock in the morning. The ambulance clatters over the cobblestones in the street, glides more smoothly upon the paved driveway in the city hall grounds and draws up suddenly in the radiant circle made by the arc light in front of the Receiving hospital.

Quickly the hospital doors open and the steward runs out to lend a hand with the stretcher. Although for most persons it is long past bedtime, a small and curious crowd has gathered from the outer darkness to see what the trouble is.

"Ready?" calls the steward.

"Aye," answers the policeman.

They lift the stretcher out of the ambulance and carry it into the hospital. It sags low in the middle under the weight of a body. From beneath the blanket the head of a woman protrudes.

"She is young for this business," the policeman ejaculates as he helps to lay his burden upon a leather covered operating table.

The girl is quite insensible and groans faintly. Her yellow hair has come undone and her head seems to rest on the table in a bed of light. She has a doll-like, pretty face, with small features, and her clothes are poor, but not shabby.

"Lovesick, I suppose," the policeman remarks, while the surgeon and the steward are busy making ready. "Her fellow went back on her, maybe, and then she did it. It worries me what fools these girls are."

"All right now," the doctor says. "Will everybody but the steward and the matron please retire?"

The several attaches, the reporters and the policeman walk into the outer office. The policeman is still talking:

"I found her lying on the sidewalk in a quiet corner. 'Poor thing,' thought I, and rang for the wagon"—

The surgeon sticks his head out of the door of the operating room and follows it with his body. He is wiping his hands on a towel. The policeman springs to his feet.

"Doctor, is she dead?"

"Not yet."

"Carbolic acid?"

"No."

"What was it, then?"

"Plain whisky. The girl is merely drunk."

FISH THAT UTTER SOUNDS.

Lungfish and Drumfish Bark, and the Dogfish Is Quite Noisy.

It is freely admitted that fish that utter sounds are not rare to a remarkable extent, but to translate these sounds into the English or any other language and be able to appreciate the feelings of the denizens of the deep at various thrilling stages of their uncertain careers is beyond the ken of ordinary mortals. We are told that a fisherman out at sea landed a strange fish in his boat and that the finny captive immediately opened its mouth and began to grunt and groan so loudly as to attract attention. The fisherman took it up and was so convinced that it was talking and begging for liberty that he tossed it back into the brine.

More musical than the noise made by any fish is said to be that of the eel, while the loudest sound uttered by a fish is that of the dogfish. Both the lungfish and the drumfish utter singular barking sounds of peculiar resonance, and whales have been known to cry out as if for help when they have been stranded. Of the salmon and the trout little has been learned so far as fish talk on their part is concerned, but this may be due in a measure to the fact that the man with the rod has never felt inclined to devote his ear to patient listening of a well stocked stream. If these favorite fish could talk, what tales they might unfold, what reputations they might blast.

Perhaps it is best for us all that the trout is not gifted with eloquence like the eel and gizzard shad. Perhaps, too, it were better for us to continue on merely a glancing acquaintance, a gastronomical acquaintance. If fishes talk, they might even betray us to ourselves and take away from us the joy of our own deceptions. Nevertheless, it is a question for debate whether the noises produced by certain fish can be considered as a language or as expressions of the emotions fraught with meaning. Without a doubt we shall soon be in receipt of a batch of communications from mountain resorts and watering places throwing light on the matter of fish talk, and it is not improbable that we may learn that some Bostonian scientist has already prepared a table of codfish sounds and their meanings so that a fisherman may sit still with line or net and call the fish to him at will.—San Francisco News Letter.

A BROOM CORN SEED.

Franklin Should Be the Patron Saint of Housewives.

Every housewife is supposed to know how to handle a broom, but it is safe to say that not one in ten has any clear idea of what her sweeping utensil is made of or how it is made or where the material came from. Brooms are made from the heads or brushes of the broom corn, a first cousin of our common field corn. And in this connection is told a very pleasant little fairy story concerning Benjamin Franklin. "Poor Richard," by the way, seems to have been about the biggest jack of all trades that ever helped the United States to become the richest and most powerful nation of the world. If this story is true, he is the patron saint of the housewife and the broommaker, as well as a kiteflier, lightning catcher, printer, publisher, editor, author, philosopher, statesman and other things "too numerous to mention."

Now, broom corn first grew in India. From there it was carried to Europe. The story goes that Dr. Franklin was examining a whisk broom that had been brought over from England in the days before we had any broom corn of our own. He found a single seed on the broom, picked it off, planted it and raised a stalk of corn from which is descended, so to speak, all the broom corn of the United States.

However this may be, broom corn grows much like its first cousin, our maize, which originated here. The head is larger, however, and the seeds grow on the head instead of in ears. The heads are cut off, leaving about six inches of stalk, and the seeds are scraped off by a machine which does a clean job and does not injure the broom. The seeds are valuable in a way. They are fed to horses and poultry and ground into meal for cattle.

In the making of the broom the corn is put around a handle of basswood or soft maple turned in a lathe. Each layer is wound tight with twine or wire until the desired size is attained. The broom is then pressed out flat and sewed to keep it in that shape. Whisk brooms are made in the same way.

Pleasant Memories.

Pleasant memories are of perennial growth. They perpetuate themselves year by year. They do not die out with the close of each summer. They are fresh in the autumn. They have life through the winter. They blossom anew each spring without any new sowing. Yet pleasant memories may be planted in a fitting soil in a single hour. A kindly look and word to a young child may be the seed of glad and grateful memories to that child for a lifetime. An assurance of sympathy in time of sorrow and need to one who is heavily burdened may fix remembrances for all coming years of the loving heart that gives its expression. The seed sowing is of the hour. The harvest is continuous and unending. Now is the time to sow for that harvest. The sowing is deliberate, the growing and reaping are unconscious and involuntary. There is no harvest where there was no sowing. If we neglect to sow now, others may never reap from our good labors.

He Made Allowance.

A French journal reports the case of a man who entered a coffee house and sat down near a customer who was reading the morning newspaper, which belonged to the establishment.

"After you with the paper, if you please," said the newcomer.

The other man nodded assent and went on reading, but at the end of half an hour had hardly finished the first column.

Just as the waiting customer was about making a second and perhaps impatient application he noticed that the reader had lost one of his organs of sight. His resentment vanished.

"Ah," said he in a low voice, "I am not surprised. The poor man has only one eye and has to read everything twice over."

A Queer Gold Coin.

Colonel J. J. Sullivan of the Central National bank is something of a numismatist and owns many rare coins, among them a gold eagle of the date of 1800, in splendid preservation, and a $50 goldpiece minted in 1851. There are but two other such coins in Ohio as far as known, one held by the First National bank of Pomeroy and the other by the First National bank of Fremont. The piece is not in the least unwieldy. In shape it is octagonal, bearing the date and the full name of the assayer on the rim, while the reverse, showing nothing but fine lathe lines, bears the number "50." Colonel Sullivan was six years finding this $50 coin and prizes it far beyond its intrinsic value.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

In Italy helping a friend to salt at table was formerly thought to be an indication of undue familiarity, and when salt was offered by one gentleman to the wife of another it was deemed sufficient cause for jealousy and quarreling.

Japanese Catarrh Cure.

Mr. Joseph Little, the well-known millowner of Port Essington, B.C., formerly of Vancouver, writes: "Japanese Catarrh Cure has completely cured me of catarrh, which had troubled me for twenty-five years. I have at different times spent over one thousand dollars with different specialists in Toronto, Buffalo and San Francisco, besides trying all other remedies, but the result was only temporary relief. Hearing of the remarkable cure throughout the West by Japanese Catarrh Cure, I purchased six boxes while in Vancouver about two years ago and since completing this treatment have not felt the slightest symptoms of my former trouble. I feel that I cannot say too much in its favor; the first application gave great relief. We also keep a supply in the mill for cuts, etc., and find it superior to any other remedy for healing."

If you have tried all other remedies without success, and are at all skeptical as to the merits of Japanese Catarrh Cure, enclose 5 cents in stamps, and we will mail you free a trial quantity sufficient for nearly two weeks' treatment. Price, 50 cents, or six for $2.50, with guarantee to cure or money refunded. By all druggists or by mail post-paid. Address the Griffiths & Macpherson Co., 121 Church st., Toronto. Sold by D. M. Waters, cor. Front and Bridge sts.

THE AIM

Of our continual optical advertising is to awaken this community to the fact that it possesses eyes, and that they may require glasses if such be not already used; or that, if they be already used, they may not be the best ones for the eyes. We want members of the public to come to us to find out about these points, and when they come if they are satisfied that we know our business.

The Lancers Not Captured

Heavy Losses of the Yorkshire Regiment at Gras Pan.

All Well at Ladysmith on November 24—The Casualty List Growing Fast.

(OTHER DESPATCHES ON INSIDE PAGES.)

London, Nov. 28.—General Buller gives the casualties of the battle of Gras Pan, officially called the battle of Englin, at 198. The Yorkshires apparently bore with the Naval Brigade the brunt of the fighting, as in addition to three officers 48 of the rank and file men were killed, wounded and missing.

The list contains the casualties of the 9th Lancers, which disposes of the fears that the cavalry were captured.

London, Nov. 28.—The War Office has received the following despatch from Gen. Buller, dated Pietermaritzburg: "Our last news from Ladysmith, Nov. 24, said all well."

Lieut. Bathbridge, Rifle Brigade, died of wounds. Other wounded generally doing well. Health of troops good.

Six wounded Dublin Fusiliers captured on armored train south of Colenso sent here to day.

The casualties in the reconnisance of the armored train Friday, Nov. 24, were: Killed, Lieut. F. Owen-Lewis, Bombay Infantry, and one private; wounded, one

In the reconnaissance of Sunday, Nov. 26, 9th Lancers, wounded, Lieut. J. C. Starling and one trooper.

THE WAR SUMMARY.

For the first time since the war commenced the British forces in Natal are assuming the offensive, and assuming it in such grim earnest that the relief of Ladysmith cannot long be delayed. The Boers have been forced back at all points in Natal after their raiders had done a considerable amount of damage.

General Buller attributes the Boer retreat from Natal to be due in a large measure to Major-General Hildyard's brilliant tactics around Estcourt, and particularly at Willow Grange (Beacon Hill)

The Sardinian is not yet reported at Cape Town.

Gen. Buller announces that the casualties at the battle of Enslin amounted to 198.

The rumor that the 9th Lancers were captured was untrue.

The Oak Hall are selling a line of beaver overcoats at $5 that are really wonderful value. They are made both single and double breasted, good trimmings, deep velvet collar and as good a fitting coat as we have in the store. No coat to compare was ever shown in Belleville before at $5.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING

That the "Passion Play" is an inspiration to religious people.

That it is a good thing for the Boers they are mounted these days.

That it can't be so dreadfully wrong to marry for money, because all ministers do it.

That counterfeiters and Grit politicians are alike in one respect—they both pass bad bills.

That at last something more than natural gas seems to be in sight in the light question.

That Boer bullets are like Tory ballots in bye-elections nowadays—only a fraction of them count.

That by firing after hoisting a flag of truce the Boers showed the white flag and the white feather, too.

That with a fight every ten miles or so the relieving force in South Africa can't complain of monotony.

That Joubert only bore a partial resemblance to Cæsar—he came and saw, but that was as far as he got.

That the relief of those beleaguered garrisons in South Africa will also bring relief to the whole British Empire.

That the Boers have made the British run at last, but they are running in the wrong direction to suit the former.

That if this kind of weather keeps on Santa Claus will have to leave his reindeer home and come on his automobile.

That for a little while the Kingston people forget all about the war and cheered their champion footballers. The boys gained a great victory—even if they had to borrow a few men to do it.

That the time has arrived for Christmas advertising. Come and make arrangements with the paper that has a thousand more subscribers than any publication between Toronto and Kingston.

That a great deal depends on the point of view. Some of the British officers have been writing home to their friends talking of their great luck in getting a place at the front. Most people would consider themselves lucky to be a long distance away from the front.

HIS FOURTH ANNIVERSARY.

Rev. T. J. Thompson Gets the "Glad Hand" From His Congregation.

The fourth anniversary of the induction of Rev. T. J. Thompson as pastor of the John st. Presbyterian Church was commemorated last evening by a gathering in the lecture room of the Church and was largely attended.

Prof. Coleman, of the D. and D. Institute, presided, and in a few well chosen words welcomed the audience present, and called on Rev. Dr. Gregg, first pastor of John street church, to lead in prayer.

Instrumental and vocal selections were rendered by Mr. Leo Riggs, Miss Cunnington, Miss Coleman, Mrs. Dr. McColl and Mr. F. Brenton.

The Chairman then introduced Rev. D. Strachan, B. A., pastor of St. John's church, Brockville, the speaker of the evening.

The Rev. gentleman gave a very interesting and graphic account of a trip he had taken to the Continent, calling at Gibraltar. He gave a vivid description of the long-buried City of Pompeii, and described in glowing terms many of the beauties of the chief cities and countries of the Old World.

At the conclusion of the address, the Chairman moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Strachan, which was carried unanimously, after which refreshments were served.

The Passion Play.

The Passion Play, as presented at Obermmergau, Bavaria, and reproduced by Thos. A. Edison's peerless device, the vitascope, was presented at the Opera House last evening to an audience which highly appreciated it. It is a representation of the life of Christ in living pictures which are true to nature. It is one of the grandest spectacles ever presented in Canada, and must be seen to be appreciated. Rev. Smith Warner explained graphically the pictures presented. The play will be at the Opera House every evening this week, and we bespeak for it a liberal patronage.

IT'S UP TO THE ELECTRIC COMPANY

Meeting of the Light Committee Last Night.

The Matter Down to a Business Basis --Seven Propositions Drawn Up to be Submitted to the Trenton Electric Company--Text of the Document.

A meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee of the City Council was held last night in the Committee Room, for the purpose of considering the question of light. As a result of the Committee's deliberations, seven propositions were adopted and submitted to the Trenton Electric and Water Company for their consideration. Nothing further can be done in the matter until the Company have considered these propositions and reported thereon.

Those present at the meeting were: Mayor Johnson, Aldermen Jones, Panter, Hanley, Doyle, Taylor, Bogart and LaRoche.

Ald. Jones, Chairman of the Committee, presided, and stated the object of calling the Committee together, namely to consider the question of lighting the City. He thought there were four main points to be considered, namely, 1st, are our streets worth anything or not? 2nd, the right price to pay for use of same; 3rd, should we accept an offer from the Trenton Electric Company? 4th, should we ask for tenders and allow any company or person to tender.

The Mayor said all knew his opinion as to the worth of our streets. The Telephone Company have to pay at the rate of $1 per year for each subscriber, or about $250 per year.

Ald. Bogart said all the ratepayers desired cheaper light. Any company with which we negotiate he did not believe would pay anything for the use of our streets. If we did charge them for the use of the streets they would charge us more for light. He did not believe in charging them for the use of the streets if we desired to make a satisfactory franchise.

Ald. Hanley—Is the Gas Company prepared to tender for lighting?

The Mayor—Not that I am aware of.

Ald. Hanley thought that we should advertise for tenders. If we would give our streets free we would no doubt get cheaper light.

The Mayor said that when he stated at a recent meeting that wires could be put under ground we were told it could not done. But he had since learned that in Toronto in certain districts these wires were contemplated to be placed underground where a contract was to be entered into for a period of only five years. Our poles were placed in the centre of the trees and they have been mutilated.

Ald. Hanley said the soil here was different, being so much rock and requiring much blasting. In Toronto no blasting was required to be done.

Ald. Bogart—No company would put in a plant here and place their wires all under ground, although he would like to see them so placed.

Ald. Panter said we should try to make a satisfactory arrangement for cheap lighting.

Ald. Jones said the companies in operation in Toronto, Galt, Gananoque, Woodstock, Port Hope, Kingston and other cities paid nothing for the use of the streets.

Mayor Johnson—All he wanted was a fair amount for the privileges granted to the company. We should fix a maximum rate that would be fair. The Telephone Company have voluntarily paid us for the use of the streets although they are not compelled to do so. Any company should be asked to contribute something to the city's revenue for the use of the streets.

Ald. LaRoche said the Street Railway Company had erected poles and they paid nothing for the use of the streets.

Ald. Doyle read a communication from Peterboro which stated that the company which supplies light in that town pay a premium for their franchise. Gas is supplied at the rate of $1.80 per thousand.

The Mayor thought we should have a flat rate so that our citizens would know what they had to pay for.

Ald. Panter said that in Trenton, he was informed, they paid $2.50 per light for the year.

The Mayor stated that he had communicated with Mr. W. S. Miller, of Frankford, asked if his Company would be willing to make an offer for supplying light. They had great power there, and lots to spare. He had, however, not yet received any answer to the communication.

Ald. Jones produced a telegram, which stated that the President of the Company of which Mr. Miller was a member would not tender.

Considerable talk of a somewhat personal nature occurred at this juncture, as to information which had been received.

The Mayor stated that there appeared to be a great influx of information produced from some source or other.

Ald. Jones said the telegram he had read he had paid 62 cents for out of his own pocket.

After some further discussion pro and con, in which the Aldermen all appeared to talk at once, Ald. Hanley moved that we ask for tenders for lighting with or without the franchise of the streets.

The Mayor said he had no other desire than to deal fairly with the present company. We might possibly be able to make a better contract with some other company.

The question of a law suit with the Trenton Electric Company was spoken of by some members.

Ald. Jones—We are being dragged into a law suit for the benefit of the Gas Company. If we are defeated, in what position will we be?

The Mayor said he was not thinking of the Gas Company. He had been for the last two years in favor of bringing power from Trenton, which should dispel the idea that he was working in the interests of the Gas Company. He had stock in

MISUNDERSTANDING.

So often are we spoken to regarding leaving Belleville that we are forced to think people have not carefully read our first announcement. Now listen, this is it in short:

1st. We offered the business for sale.
2nd. We will sell if we can.
3rd. If we sell we will go into the Wall Paper alone with head Eastern branch at Toronto.
4th. Our sale is to reduce the stock to an amount where we may hope to find a customer.
5th. We will not sell for less than 100c on the dollar, for our stock is worth it.
6th. If by February 1st, when we have our stock reduced, we have not yet found a customer, we will continue the Eastern branch here hoping to later find a customer.
7th. We cannot close out the business here unless selling and transferring the lease, for we have an unexpired term on our lease of five years.
8th. We are even more anxious than we were two years ago to sell the Belleville branch, as our responsibilities in the Wall Paper end of our business have become so great that we wish to become relieved of the detail of the Book, Stationery and Fancy Goods branches of the business.
9th. We will, therefore, sell the Books, Stationery and Fancy Goods end of the business with the transfer of the lease if a customer can be found.

We make this announcement simply because so many seem to have made up their minds we are selling our stock to leave the city. Such is not the case. We are reducing our stock in the hope of finding a customer for the business just as we have advertised. We have no wish to deceive. We put the facts plainly in our advertisement when making our announcement and there is no reason for any misunderstanding.

Just read our first advertisement again. If you cannot find it come to us, we will provide you with a copy of it.

The facts are so many run through such an announcement and take a lot for granted, and after a while make themselves believe white is black.

We hasten to correct any such errors, although not made by ourselves. We have and ever mean to live up to the very letter of our advertisements.

THE MYSTERY OF COUNT LANDRINOF

BY FRED WHISHAW.

COPYRIGHT 1899 BY THE AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION.

either to the police or any one else, for he had a card or two up his sleeve that he could play if he liked, and he knew a thing or two, besides, that he might let out one day if he were left in peace and decently treated, something, indeed, which would be greatly to our advantage did we but share his knowledge!

"Oh, what does he mean, Borofsky, what does he mean?" interrupted mother. "Does he know where my dear husband is to be found? Go back and tell him he shall live in peace and all quietness and luxury, he shall have the best of everything that it is in my power to provide, no one shall interfere with him or know what he is—is not what he desires to be taken for—he shall have money, as much as he will, if only"— At this point poor mother collapsed suddenly. She burst into tears and retired from the room, leaving Percy and Borofsky and me sitting like three dummies, silent and depressed, not one of us possessing spirit enough to discuss the situation, or indeed, for some little while, to open his lips to make any kind of remark whatever.

CHAPTER XV.

THE IMPOSTOR'S THREAT.

When the silence was broken at length, it was poor old Percy who broke it.

"This is a pretty business," he said.

"And what a blithering, blundering pedigree ass I have made of myself! It is all my fault, old man, and I feel—I really do—that to chuck myself into the Neva is the only and certainly the most appropriate and endurable fate left for P. J. M. to do."

"Nonsense!" I said. "It will all come right. We shall never find the right track until we have tried and rejected each wrong one that crosses it and leads us astray. Don't look so glum, Percy, nor you Borofsky either. It isn't your fault. You did your best, and did it well. How could you tell he was not father, when even mother and I passed the photo as authentic?"

"Still one feels what a mess one has made of the thing," said Borofsky. "But look here—Count Boris, and you, too, Mr. Percy, you may both be witnesses—I hereby swear that I haven't done with this sham count yet, not by a long way! He has got the better of us this time, but one day I shall turn the tables on him!"

"Don't frighten him, Borofsky," I said. "We shall be more likely to make him of use to us if we let him be awhile."

"All right, all right," said Borofsky. "I shall do nothing foolish. I intend to win next time, my friend; my reputation has leeway to make up. If you are kind enough to forget it, I cannot."

"So has mine," said Percy, "and I'm with you in this, Borofsky. If we can score off the rascals, we will. Is it a league?"

"League or no league," growled Borofsky, who was despondent and not very genial, "I'm not going to rest until I'm quits with the fellow. We ought, of course, to inform the police that he is here—whoever he may be—and let them take this matter over. He is sure to be up to no good. But the countess wishes him left to himself, and I would prefer it that way, because if the police get a finger in the pie the fellow is as good as delivered out of our hands, and I, for one, have not done with him."

"Only don't forget, Borofsky," I said, "that the main idea is to find father. If there were not the hope of getting this rascal to disgorge some important information about the count, which mother seems to think he may possess, I should be in favor of letting the police have him."

"And remember, you," said Borofsky, "that he will not stick at a lie, nor at a hundred lies, in order to be left in the house undisturbed! Why do you suppose he has come here?"

"To live well and luxuriously on nothing a year, I should think," I laughed.

"Not a bit of it," said Borofsky, who was not overpolite tonight. I forgave him his discourtesy because he was sore after his defeat and disappointment. "Not a bit of it. He would not risk so much for the sake of comfortable quarters. He has a game on, a deep and probably a most infernal and murderous game, of some sort, and he is going to play it from the safe and convenient sanctuary of Count Landrinof's town mansion and to pass—having found that he can do so with impunity—as the count himself. There, mark my words, and I will remind you of them presently. This man is going to play a deep game. He is a revolutionist, probably a nihilist, and he is taking the advantage of his unexpected likeness to the count, your father, in order to carry on his machinations without suspicion. Do you follow me?"

"God, Borofsky!" exclaimed Percy, with admiration. "It's a jolly good idea!"

I concurred.

"But," I said, "how is father's discovery to be advanced by allowing this fellow, or seeming to allow him, to do as he likes and hatch all manner of deviltry from the shelter of our house?"

"We mustn't hurry," said Borofsky. "We shall watch him. He may have the mystery of your father's absence in the hollow of his hand. We must catch the rascal in some plotting and get him into our power and force his secrets out of him by threatening him with the police and Siberia."

"What if he is my father's brother?" I said.

"Well, but so he is, in all probability. I asked him, but he denied it, which, of course, means nothing, one way or the other. There could scarcely be another like the count."

"But, for heaven's sake, Borofsky, let us be careful what we do. What if the fellow were to commit a crime and be arrested as Count Landrinof and punished under his name!"

"We don't want him to commit any crime, of course, but we do want him to conspire, so that we may watch him and get him into our power; that's all."

"It's dangerous, Borofsky, in many ways. Look at the disgrace of it, if anything were to go wrong, the horrible disgrace and dishonor to our family name, rather a name to be mixed up with vile, murderous plottings and crimes! Bah! I hate to think of it."

"My dear sir," said Borofsky, "it need never come to that. If we move, we shall move carefully, and nothing shall be left to chance."

"And what if he should be my uncle Andre? Shall we deliver him up to justice when we have done with him?"

"Now you are going too fast!" laughed Borofsky. "We have to catch our hare first before we can cook him. I should think, when one has an uncle of this kind, the sooner one gets rid of him, whether by means of the police or any other way, the better."

"Ought we not to organize some method of combined spying, Borofsky?" said Percy. "One doesn't like the work, but we must be spied upon if we wish to find out anything useful."

"We will do so, of course, presently. But for awhile he must be left to himself, for he must not have the faintest suspicion that he is suspected or watched. Give the bird a short period to get over its first fear, so that it may learn to hop about freely and pick up the seeds prepared for it. Bring the net along when it has forgotten its fears!"

So for a little while we left the impostor count alone and allowed him to do what he would and go where he liked, unwatched and undisturbed.

During this period only Percy and Borofsky ever spoke to him of our party. I would not allow my mother to go near the wretch; neither would I trust myself to approach or speak to him.

Borofsky played his game well. He gave the fellow to understand that all in the establishment had the countess' orders to see that he had everything he could possibly desire and that she was anxious to see him well satisfied in the hope that, if only in gratitude for her hospitality and kindness, he would repay her presently with some information as to the mystery of father's disappearance.

"Ha, ha!" said our visitor at this. "I owe you some little make up for the trick I played you, Borofsky, eh? You are very young, my son, and must learn your business by painful experience. All right; you shall have my secret some day—that is, if none of you play the fool before the time comes."

"Play the fool!" said Borofsky "How; in what way?"

"In any way that would displease me," growled our impostor. "Never fear. I shall soon know it if any of you start playing the fool."

But Borofsky disclaimed all intention of playing either the fool or anything else and repeated that the countess wished her guest treated well and hoped for the return he had indicated as soon as possible.

"Well, she shall have it," said the other, "when the time comes!"

"News of her husband—that is what her excellence is longing for," continued Borofsky. "She believes, rightly or wrongly, that you may be in possession of knowledge which would assist her to find the count."

"Yes, rightly or wrongly, she believes this," said the impostor, with an ugly laugh. "Ha, ha! I shall have plenty to tell her when the time comes."

"When will that be?" asked Borofsky

"Oh, come, come! Let a man rest after his journey!" said the impostor. "Everything comes to those who wait."

CHAPTER XVI.

ANDRE LANDRINOF, THE COUNT'S BROTHER.

So we three men settled down to watch the one man, though we allowed him to observe no indication that we were interested in his actions. And at first we thought we must be mistaken as to his connection with revolutionary people, anarchists and malcontents and shady characters generally, for his conduct was quiet and exemplary, and he came and went in and out of the house, mistaken by most of those who saw him for Count Landrinof.

"Confound the fellow!" said Percy

Ask your doctor how many preparations of cod-liver oil there are.

He will answer, "Hundreds of them." Ask him which is the best. He will reply, "Scott's Emulsion."

Then see that this is the one you obtain. It contains the purest cod-liver oil, free from unpleasant odor and taste. You also get the hypophosphites and glycerine. All three are blended into one grand healing and nourishing remedy.

Among new fashions comes that of making out of door coats and likewise jacket bodices for indoor wear quite long in front but short at the back, or short in front with greatly elongated backs.

There are few enthusiastic admirers of the shapeless box coat, where there are hundreds who prefer the new carefully fitted tailor jackets of cloth with stitched revers, kaiser collar and plain, close sleeves.

Black and white effects both in dress and millinery are still in the height of favor. Many designs in silk and wool fabrics appear in these quiet combinations, and some are more expensive by the yard than silk.

The newest black and white gowns worn at day weddings and receptions are those in brocaded patterns over checked taffeta of very rich quality; also in mateisse silks and satins and in plain or flowered stripes, both wide and narrow, in silk and satin alternately.

NEW POET "DISCOVERED."

All Australia is talking of a new poet who has just come to light. His name is Henry Lawson. He is a poet of the people, as the following extract shows:

FACES IN THE STREET.

They lie, the men who tell us in a loud, decisive tone
That want is here a stranger, and that misery's unknown;
For where the nearest suburb and the city proper meet
My windowsill is level with the faces in the street—
Drifting past, drifting past,
To the beat of weary feet—
While I sorrow for the owners of those faces in the street.

And cause I have to sorrow in a land so strong and fair,
To see upon those faces stamped the look of Want and Care;
I look in vain for traces of the fresh and fair and sweet
In sallow, sunken faces that are drifting through the street—
Drifting on, drifting on,
To the scrape of restless feet;
I can sorrow for the owners of the faces in the street.

SOUVENIR

The great financier pays his cook $10,000 a year to have his stomach treated fairly. The "thousand and one" delicacies that this king of the kitchen prepares for his master, if not cooked in a good stove, would count for naught. Cooking, whether by a Vanderbilt cook or a Mrs. Rorer, depends for its all on the stove—THE OVEN OF THAT STOVE.

Here's where the Souvenir kitchen range excels. It is the only stove with an aerated oven, which insures, by its peculiar methods of construction, perfect cooking.

Mrs. W. Marriott, writes: "Bread bakes a lovely nut-brown all over, and it never has to be touched from the time it is put in until it is taken out." Again: "The convenience of the aerated oven is the great saving of time, patience and nerve to the cook, for she can have as hot a fire as she need be in preparing the dinner, and the bread, meat and pudding (all of which may be in the oven at the same time), never burn or dry up, as they do in ordinary ovens."

To Keep Gilt Frames Clean.

To clean gold picture frames, beat the white of an egg; add to it one pint of cold water; moisten your frames with this mixture, using a sponge. Then with a soft flannel carefully wipe. Take a second cloth, perfectly dry, and give the frames a light rubbing. If the frames are not clean and bright after this treatment you had better take them to a gilder and have them regilded.—Ladies' Home Journal.

CHEQUE FOR $62,000.

Sir William C. McDonald Sends That Amount to Found Dawson Chair of Geology in McGill, Montreal.

Montreal, Nov. 28.—At a meeting of the governors of McGill University, held here, a cheque was received and accepted from Sir William C. McDonald for $62,000, which he desired to be utilized for the purpose of endowing a memorial chair in the University to the late Sir William Dawson. The conditions attached to the gift were that an annuity of $2,500 should be provided with it for Lady Dawson while she lived. The wishes of the donor are that the chair should be known as the Dawson Chair of Geology, this being the subject with which the late Sir William Dawson was most closely identified during his life.

IS THIS THE RIGHT MAN?

Night Watchman Meteaif Swears John Murray Is a Bank Robber.

Bowmanville, Ont., Nov. 28.—One of the men who has served a term of six months in the jail at Hull, and who was suspected of burglarizing the Standard Bank in this town on the night of May 13th last, was arrested on Friday at Hull, by Chief Richard Jarvis, on his release from imprisonment, and brought here on a warrant charging him with assaulting and robbing Henry Metcalf, the nightwatchman, on that night of June 13th, the name of John Murray, and claims the United States as his home. He was brought before Mr. George Haines, police magistrate, here yesterday, and committed for trial at Cobourg. The evidence against him was given by Metcalf, who was very positive that Murray was the man who led the assault on that night, and gave the command to bind him. Murray will be taken to Cobourg to-day, where he will be tried at the next session of the County Court.

NO SERIOUS HITCH.

But the United States Declines to Accept Disposition of Samoan Question.

Washington, Dec. 28.—The United States has declined to accept the agreements as to the disposition of the Samoan question reached by Great Britain and Germany. There is no serious hitch and the reasons which influenced the State Department here in rejecting the British-German arrangement when it was submitted for approval of the minor matters touched rather upon the form than the substance of the arrangement.

The United States has submitted a draft of a treaty which, it is hoped, will be acceptable to the three powers.

Plot to Kill the Sultan.

Constantinople, Nov. 28.—A number of arrests of Mussulmans have been made, including a general of division and several important officials, charged with being engaged in a plot to assassinate the Sultan with dynamite bombs on the occasion of the Selamlik on Friday. Four bombs have been seized. The accused have been exiled to Yemen (Turkish Arabia). The Mussulmans of Stamboul are greatly excited. Vigorous measures have been taken to preserve order.

Winter Work on Canals.

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 28.—The Government canal engineers are all here, having conferences with Chief Collingwood Schreiber on the work to be done during the winter. All the large canals are virtually closed down. On the Soulanges the electric plant will be put in during the winter, ready for the spring opening.

Don't Want Civil Government.

Havana, Nov. 28.—At a meeting of the National League on Sunday night it became apparent that there is wide opposition to the appointment of a civil governor for Cuba. General Comin is against it, and men of all grades of political opinion believe it would mean vexing complications, if not serious trouble.

Australian Wheat Crop.

Sydney, N. S. W., Nov. 28.—The Herald estimates that the year's wheat crop will result in a probable exportable surplus of over 3,000,000 bushels, and anticipates that the yield will be 9.8 bushels to the acre, against 7 bushels in 1898, giving a total of 18,000,000 bushels, compared with 9,000,000.

MOURNING STATIONERY.

The Black Borderer and How She Does Her Work.

Ninety-nine people in every hundred, when they receive funeral notices, use slives of black edges on envelopes and paper that give them cold shivers down their spines, take it for granted that the black edges are put on with a printing press. Nine in ten of the retail stationers who sell this paper are of the same mind. All are alike misinformed.

It is because even the printing press has its limitations that the black borderer is called on to satisfy the needs for mourning stationery, and members of this obscure craft—most of them women—find good in the wind that blows ill to others.

The black borderer is unique in earning larger wages probably than are paid to women in any other trade that requires only manual dexterity and a true eye. She makes frequently as much as $35 a week, and the most expert black borderers have been paid even $40 a week.

Wearing black tips on the ends of her fingers to shield them, she sits at a broad table, on which a pot of glossy black paint, with a flat brush in it, is backed by piles of fresh stock, it may be cards, envelopes or paper.

Taking 20, 30 or even 50 sheets of paper in her hands, according to quality and the width of border to be put on, she spreads them, or "fans" them out, as she says, till the edge of each protrudes beyond that of the one above it just far enough to leave exposed the width it is desired to make the border. This spreading is not done at right angles to the edge of the sheet, but diagonally, so that borders on one side and one end of the sheets are exposed at once.

All this is done quick as a wink, but it must be done just so. The width exposed must be the same for the different sheets, and the border of any one sheet must be of the same width all the way along. This much done, the handful is given a quick outward sweep with the brush and laid aside to dry. No rule is used. The eye alone determines when the paper has been fanned out far enough. Each bunch handled must be not only uniform within itself, but with other handfuls of the same lot.

Cards, envelopes and other stationery are handled in the same way. After the two edges treated at the first handling are dry, which is in a short time, since quick drying paint is used, the paper is fanned out again and the other edges clad in mourning.

CONCENTRATION

You can fire a volley of advertising at the whole city of Belleville through THE INTELLIGENCER—reaching the homes every evening.

INTELLIGENCER advertising is the main force in covering the city. This main force is necessary to success on the Belleville field—other media acting as the scattering shots of the skirmishers—useful, perhaps, but not absolutely necessary.

A concentration of force wins success.

THE INTELLIGENCER is the advertising medium of Belleville, because everybody knows it is.

The people have chosen their advertising medium—so that one cost will cover the field.

To reach the country as well as the city use the Weekly INTELLIGENCER.

For coughs, colds, bronchitis and all lung and throat troubles, there is no preparation or medicine can compare with Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which causes difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relief to that depressing tightness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and huskiness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous. If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety, trouble and expense, let them procure a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the Syrup according to directions

It is easer to be good than great—there is less opposition.

At Death s Door—Dyspepsia Conquered. A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser an.. others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. Totally Deaf.—Mr. S. E. Crandell, Port Perry, writes—"I contracted a severe cold last winter, which resulted in my becoming totally deaf in one ear and partially so in the other. After trying various remedies, and consulting several doctors, without obtaining any relief, I was advised to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the u eo' this medicine."

TELEPHONE COMBINE.

The Proposed $30,000,000 Trust Receives a Staggering Blow.

Philadelphia, Nov. 28.—The Evening Bulletin yesterday published the following: "The colossal plan to control all of the independent telephone companies in the United States, and to combine therewith the great telegraph companies and the five Atlantic cable companies, for which purpose the Telephone, Telegraph & Cable Company of America was incorporated Nov. 9, with a capital of $30,000,000, received a severe blow to-day, the effect of which may be far-reaching. This was none other than the withdrawal from the scheme of William C. Whitney, Thomas F. Ryan, Anthony N. Brady, William L. Elkins, P. A. H. Widener, and Thomas Dolan, the men whose support made the success of the enterprise possible, and whose opposition or indifference may be fatal to its existence."

SASH FACTORY EXPLOSION.

Three Men Reported Fatally Injured—Ten Others Injured.

Montreal, Nov. 28.—A serious explosion took place yesterday morning shortly before 7 o'clock in the sash and door factory of Messrs. Paquette, on Parthenais street, as the result of which three men are in the Notre Dame Hospital and are likely to die as the result of their terrible injuries. Their names are:—August Lizotte, Narcisse Hahaie and Joseph Lacroix. About ten others were slightly hurt. When the men congregated for work it was customary to stand around the boiler for warmth. When thus located yesterday a valve burst, fearfully scalding the above named three men.

FRANCE'S FOREIGN POLICY.

M. Cochin Thinks Now Is a Cood Time to Tackle England.

Clericals Leader Disapproves of Fist-Shaking, But Is Equally Averse to a Cross-Arms Policy—Urges More Active Policy in China—While Having No Confidence in Government Will Vote It Money Needed.

Paris, Nov. 28.—In the Chamber of Deputies yesterday the discussion of the foreign policy of the Government was resumed. The Minister of Foreign Affairs, M. Delcasse, protested against the attacks of the Opposition, which, he said, did not recoil even before the risk of embroiling France in external difficulties.

This statement called forth Leftist cheers and Nationalist protests.

M. Denys Cochin, leader of the Clericals, expressed surprise at the importance attached to Anglo-French newspaper polemics, which, he said, were only froth. He added that he was no partisan of the policy of fist-shaking, but he thought the war in South Africa gave the opportunity to seek certain settlements. Although he disapproved of fist-shaking he equally disapproved of the policy of crossed arms.

Nationalist cheers greeted this statement. M. Denys Cochin concluded with urging a more active policy in China.

M. Delcasse then moved the re-establishment of the credit for an embassy at the Vatican as a matter of national interest to France, a great Catholic nation, adding that as long as the Government interested itself in the relations of the French clergy with the Curia, an embassy at the Vatican was absolutely necessary.

Replying, M. Denys Cochin said that while the clericals would vote for the credit, it must not be construed as a vote of confidence in the Government.

TANGLED UP.

Newfoundland Politicians Split Into So Many Factions That Government Is Next to Impossible.

St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 28.—A unique political situation has been created by Mr. Morine's withdrawal from the Colonial Ministry. Sir. Jas. Winter, the Premier, can rely upon a following of ten in the Legislature. Mr. Morine has the same number of supporters. Mr. Bond, the leader of the Opposition, has ten, and Mr. Morris leads six Independents. It is practically impossible to bring about a fusion between any two of these factions. Early in January the Legislature will meet, and the Winter Ministry is almost certain to be defeated. What will happen after that it is impossible to predict.

A Boy's Foolish Freak.

St. Catharines, Ont., Nov. 28.—Yesterday, Curtis Tallman, a young man from Campden, was before the magistrate, charged with assault, occasioning bodily harm upon Roy Haist. The boys were coming home from school, when Tallman held a knife against a tree, and seizing Haist, pushed him against the open blade, saying, "I'll kill you." The blade entered the little boy's neck. The evidence was such that the magistrate sent the case on for trial at a higher court.

Where the Plague Rages.

San Francisco, Nov. 28.—A special to The Chronicle from Tacoma says:

"Yokohama advices state that a terrible condition of affairs prevails at New Chwang, Manchuria, with respect to the bubonic plague. Hundreds of deaths are occurring weekly, the mortality reaching 40 to 50 every day. The disease is beginning to spread over Manchuria, owing to the fact that the Chinese authorities have utterly refused to take sanitary or quarantine precautions.

NINTH LANCERS ARE MISSING

They May Have Been Captured as Reported From Boer Sources.

The Corps Was Sent in Pursuit of the Boers From Gras Pan—East African Cable Again Interrupted and War Office Has No Further Details From Gen. Methuen—Losses in the Recent Encounters.

London, Nov. 28.—(4.30 a.m.)—A fresh interruption in the East African cable service at this interesting moment has caused a cessation of war news. As yet the War Office has not received Lord Methuen's detailed list of casualties, nor is any information at hand regarding the whereabouts of the 9th Lancers, who were sent in pursuit of the Boers from Gras Pan.

Were the 9th Lancers Captured?

The Daily Mail says that a private telegram announces that the Lancers are still scouting ahead of Methuen's advancing column; but, as he announced yesterday that he was giving his men a day's rest, this is hardly possible. Indeed the greatest anxiety is felt, and more especially in view of the fact that a Berlin journal, The Deutsche Warte, which regularly prints Boer communications, announced yesterday before it could have been ascertained from British sources that the naval brigade lost 100 men at Gras Pan, and that the 9th Lancers were captured.

A Sixth Army Division.

It is understood that the Government yesterday decided to proceed immediately with the mobilization and embarkation of a sixth division of 6000 men under a well known lieutenant-general.

Hildyard's Achievement.

Gen. Hildyard's achievement at Beacon Hill is beginning to be recognized as one of the best things the campaign has yet shown, as it has relieved the tension of the situation in Natal, and has brought the relief of Ladysmith within measurable distance. Gen. Buller appears to be confident of Lord Methuen's ability and is devoting all his energy to Ladysmith.

Gen. Hildyard.

Wrecking Bridges a Business.

An attempt will be made presumably to reach Colenso in time to cut off the retreat of the Boers from Weenen over the Tugela River. It is feared, however, that the enemy will get there first and destroy the bridge. At Frere bridge the British found two massive spans utterly wrecked by dynamite, one piece weighing 224 pounds having been hurled 200 yards.

Preparing for Refugees.

Sir Alfred Milner has warned the various relief committees in Cape Town to be prepared for the arrival of 10,000 refugees from Kimberley as soon as the siege has been raised.

Another Bridge Destroyed.

According to a despatch from De Aar, dated Sunday, the Boers had destroyed the bridge at Steynsburg the previous day, and were being reinforced at that point.

Dr. Jameson Back in London.

London, Nov. 27.—Dr. Jameson, the leader of the famous raid, has arrived here from South Africa.

GENERAL BULLER'S BULLETIN.

Hildyard's Forces Opened Up Railway to Estcourt and Frere.

London, Nov. 27.—The War Office has received the following despatch from General Buller, dated Pietermaritzburg, Natal, Sunday, Nov. 26:

"Hildyard from Estcourt made a successful attack Nov. 23 with three battalions, one field battery, a naval gun and 700 mounted troops, on the enemy occupying Beacon Hill, which dominates William Grange, and who had interrupted his communication. As a result of the operations the enemy is retiring and the railway and telegraph lines have been restored between Estcourt and Weston.

"Our loss was about fourteen killed and fifty wounded.

"Hildyard has advanced to a position near Frere, as he hopes to cut off the enemy who is believed to be retiring on Colenso via Weenen.

"Barton from Weston has advanced to Estcourt.

"As soon as communication is restored I will telegraph particulars.

"So far as I can make out the operation is one for which Hildyard and the troops deserve much credit.

"The railway is now open to Frere."

TOTAL CASUALTIES WERE 105.

Midshipman Huddard and 10 Sailors Killed at Gras Pan.

London, Nov. 27.—The commander-in-chief at the Cape has sent the admiralty an additional list of casualties among the British naval brigade engaged at the battle of Gras Pan as follows:

Midshipman Huddart of the cruiser Doris and ten sailors and marines killed, and thirteen petty officers and seamen and 76 non-commissioned officers and men of the marines wounded.

Total casualties 105, including the names of those already cabled.

The Queen's Message.

The following message has been telegraphed to the commander-in-chief at the Cape:

"The Queen desires you to convey to the Naval Brigade, who were present at the action at Gras Pan, Her Majesty's congratulations on their gallant conduct, and at the same time express the Queen's regret at the losses sustained by the Brigade."

15 KILLED, 72 WOUNDED.

Durban, Natal, Sunday, Nov. 26.—The latest reports of General Hildyard's losses at the Beacon Hill engagement show 15 men were killed and 72 wounded. The West Yorkshire regiment suffered heavily. Major Hobbs was captured and several men are missing.

Despatches from President Kruger and General Joubert found on a Boer prisoner said the Boer losses at Belmont were ten men killed and forty wounded. It added that in order to reassure the burghers it had been deemed necessary to fall back on Warrenton.

A pigeon message from Colonels Ian Hamilton and Duff at Ladysmith, undated, reported all well.

Another naval contingent from the British first-class cruiser Terrible with two 4.7 inch guns started for the front tonight.

Destroyed the Frere Bridge.

Estcourt, Sunday, Nov. 26.—The railroad bridge at Frere, spanning a wide stream, has been destroyed by the Boers, who are reported to be retiring rapidly.

A general advance upon Colenso has been ordered, and a flying column has left here to intercept the Boer raiding parties.

A reliable messenger from Ladysmith says he gathered from the Boers that they had proposed a combined attack all over the country for to-day.

General Joubert is expected to stoutly dispute the passage of Tugela River.

THE GUARDS AT BELMONT.

Eight Officers and 21 Men Were Killed and 88 Wounded.

London, Nov. 27.—At Wellington Barracks the following telegram, undated, was posted from Col. Crabbe of the Grenadier Guards respecting the fight at Belmont:

"The Grenadiers on the right and the Scots Guards on the left successfully carried a height east of Belmont. The battalion fully maintained the reputation of the regiment."

The casualty list shows that, in addition to Lieut. Fryer killed and Col. Crabbe and six other officers wounded, 21 men were killed and 88 wounded, with 5 unaccounted for.

WHAT GEN. JOUBERT SAYS.

Says It's No Vanity to Say That the Boers Will Triumph.

Berlin, Nov. 27.—General Joubert, commander-in-chief of the Boer forces, writing to a friend in Magdeburg, says: "It is no vanity on my part to assert that we will triumph. We prepared secretly for the war. We knew it was inevitable. The war will probably last a year, but I am convinced that the blood spilled will never be upon our children."

All the Saloons Driven Out.

Topeka, Kansas, Nov. 28.—A sign writer has just completed the labor of decorating E. D. Heydes' big grain elevator with a large number of Bible texts that may be read far out on the prairie. Mr. Heyde is a member of the City Council and has just won a great victory by driving out the last saloon in the town.

For more than four years Mrs. Bender has been using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery as a family medicine.

Mrs. E. A. Bender lives in Keene, Coshocton Co., Ohio, and from there she writes:

"As a cough remedy and blood purifier there is nothing better, and after having the grip is just the right medicine for a complete bracing up. Our boy has taken three bottles for St. Vitus's dance. He was very nervous and constantly jerking and twitching, but now is as steady as any one; in fact seems entirely cured."

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is a medicine that will help you no matter what ails you. This is true because it works directly at the roots of all disease—the digestive system, the blood, the nerves. Keep these in healthy condition and you cannot be sick.

Many of the cures of the "Golden Medical Discovery" seem almost miraculous. Its effect is almost immediate. It takes hold at once. It tones up the stomach, invigorates the liver, regulates the bowels.

It gets right into the blood and carries strength and comfort to every fiber of the body. It nourishes and invigorates the weakened, irritated nerves and puts the entire system in perfect tune.

It is a safe medicine. Safe for adults—safe for children. It contains no sugar, syrup, whisky, alcohol or dangerous opiates. Therefore, it does not create a craving for stimulants. It is distinctly a temperance medicine.

If a medicine dealer tries to substitute some other preparation when you ask for "Golden Medical Discovery"—look out for him. He is either ignorant or dishonest and you can't trust him.

PRINCIPAL GRANT ON THE WAR.

He Sympathized With the Boers at First, but Has Changed His Mind.

Kingston, Nov. 27.—Principal Grant, who sympathized with the Boers while they were arguing their cause, has naturally changed his opinion, a new issue being presented. The ultimatum of the Transvaal Government was insolent and positively childish. The crisis was met in a spirit worthy of the best days of the British people. The principal commended the spirit displayed by the colonies.

The war had demonstrated that the British Empire feels itself more a living unity than ever before. It has been forced into a fight, and the fight is for liberty, justice and civilization.

If the war had not been entered upon it would have permitted the triumph in all South Africa of primitive conditions of life and an inferior ideal of society.

The principal hopes that, whatever the future settlement of South Africa may be, nothing shall be done to place the base elements in the saddle. The base elements are represented by Cecil Rhodes and the mining capitalists generally. The principal agreed with much Hon. J. I. Tarte has said: "It would never do, as a rule, to allow the Goernment to commit us to a war without the consent of Parliament; to spend money before any discussion has taken place on the subject," said he. "It is also quite true that if it is to be our policy, as I think it should be, to take part in Imperial affairs, we should understand the principle that should regulate our participation, and to this a thorough discussion in Parliament is indispensable.

"I think that all who are interested in Parliamentary Government and Imperial Federation should be grateful to him."

PLAN OF HOME RULE.

U. S. Secretary Root Is Preparing Such a Scheme for the Government of the Philippines.

Washington, Nov. 27.—Believing that the war in the Philippines is practically over, and that the major part of the insurgents, who have been misled by Aguinaldo and the handful of aggressive men who have supported him, will be willing to accept the new conditions and lay down their arms, Secretary Root has already taken up the question of a government for the islands.

What to do with Aguinaldo is one of the hardest propositions he is required to meet. Positive conclusions have not been reached, but according to the tentative program mapped out, he will be dealt with generously. It is not probable that his personal property will even be confiscated.

It is, however, believed that it would be unwise to permit such a disturbing element to remain on the island while the people are passing through the transitory stage preliminary to home rule, and he may, for that reason, be banished from the island at the pleasure of the Government.

It is the intention ultimately to permit the people to elect their own Legislature and to enact their own laws, subject, like the present territories of the United States, to the approval of Congress.

The Government will be, so far as possible, derived from the consent of the governed, and a measure of home rule will be guaranteed.

At the outset this republican form of government will be organized chiefly in the towns and small provinces, as at present in the case of Cuba and Porto Rico.

The leading men engaged in the insurrection, like Buencomino and natives of that calibre, after they have taken the oath of allegiance, will be given places in the new Government, because it is appreciated that some of these men have the intelligence necessary to make them good officials.

The courts, at first, will be composed of native jurists, versed in local law, who have acknowledged American sovereignty.

The reorganization of municipalities by the election of alcaldes by the popular vote of the people has already begun in those towns within the American lines, and this will be extended as rapidly as practicable.

It is the intention of the Government, and Gen. Otis has been instructed to prove to the people on all possible occasions that home rule, absolute freedom in internal affairs and an entire absence of coercion and oppression are to be guaranteed.

The natives will be convinced that the sovereignty of the United States and the presence of the flag in the islands means an era of peace, prosperity and contentment, such as the Philippines have never known.

McKINLEY HAS A SURPRISE.

Will Expound Strong Views on Expansion of Trade With China.

New York, Nov. 27.—President McKinley has a surprise in store for Congress, says the Washington correspondent of The Press. He proposes to take up the Chinese question and handle it in a radical manner from the viewpoint of trade expansion. It is said that a special message, following the annual communication to Congress, will continue the discussion of the subject and deal with it in greater detail. The President will call the attention of Congress and the country to the opportunities which exist in the opening for the upbuilding of vast commercial relations with China.

He will advise in the most urgent language the advisability of the United States retaining and increasing its share of the trade in China. It is not understood that he will recommend acquisition of territory on the Asiatic mainland to accomplish this purpose. He is satisfied to take our new possessions in the Orient as a basis for commercial operations, but will say that we must insist upon a fair field and a free contest in the international game of commerce.

THE KAISER IN ENGLAND.

Shooting in Wolferton Woods With the Prince of Wales.

Sandringham, Nov. 28.—Emperor William, the Prince of Wales and the Duke of York went shooting in the Wolferton Woods yesterday morning, and the Imperial and royal ladies joined the party at lunch. The covers have not been shot this season, so game was plentiful.

Chicago, Nov. 28.—Alonzo J. Whiteman, former State Senator in the Minnesota Legislature, and prominent in politics in that State, who disappeared after being convicted of forgery in this city, and who was recently re-arrested in New York, was taken to the House of Correction to-day to serve a sentence of two years.

PRESIDENT WEIR IS GUILTY.

That Is the Verdict of the Ville Marie Bank Jury.

A Recommendation to Mercy Accompanies the Verdict Against the Head of the Defunct Bank—The Charge Was Making False Returns to the Government—Government Counsel and Judge Charged Strongly Against Prisoner.

Montreal, Nov. 28.—"We find the accused guilty of the charge laid against him in the indictment, and recommend him to the mercy of the court."

Such was the verdict rendered late yesterday afternoon by the jury sworn to try William Weir, president of the defunct Banque Ville Marie, charged by the Crown with sending false returns to the Government. Mr. Donald MacMaster, Q. C., delivered an eloquent address, maintaining that the doctor's certificates find that William Weir did not really realize what he was doing when he signed the returns and that the accountant was responsible.

Solicitor-General Fitzpatrick followed eloquently for conviction, and Judge Wurtele also charged strongly against the accused.

The jury, after being out a quarter of an hour, returned the verdict as given above.

The court said in ordinary cases the law was the same for the rich and poor, but in view of the fact that Mr. Weir had lived a long life of rectitude, the recommendation would be considered when sentence came to be pronounced. In the meantime a reserve case was asked for, and, if this is granted, the case will go to the Court of Appeals in February.

Mr. Weir did not appear to realize his position, and the general opinion is that Mr. MacMaster's premises were sound.

WAR HAS GREAT HARDSHIPS.

Aguinaldo Appears Now to Be in a Last Strait.

Manila, Nov. 28.—The insurgents have evacuated Mangalaren, Province of Pangasinan, leaving seven American and 94 Spanish prisoners, who escaped in the turmoil of the Filipino retreat. They report that two Americans who were unable to escape are with the insurgents.

Colonel Bell of the Thirty-fourth Volunteers arrived at Mangalaren yesterday evening after a hard march, and fording the Agno. He found that Fowler's company of the 33rd had occupied the town for two days. The insurgents, General Alejandrino commanding, had retreated to the mountains behind the town, short of food and ammunition. Besides this his men were deserting, and six cannons, which the insurgents were dragging, impeded their march. Col. Bell proposes to follow the Filipinos until he can bring about a decisive fight or they are scattered.

Aguinaldo's youngest child, which was recently christened at Tarlac, with great ceremony, died, and was buried at Dayamban, in the midst of Aguinaldo's flight.

General Wheaton reports that natives have threatened violence to Aguinaldo's mother, who is now sheltered in a convent with a guard. General Otis has ordered her to be brought to Manila for safety.

SOCIETY MAN'S SUICIDE.

Son-in-Law of the Late Sir Hugh Allan Shoots Himself.

Montreal, Nov. 28.—J. Turner Routledge, a well-known society man, committed suicide at his country residence at Georgeville, Que., shooting himself through the head. Routledge came to Canada from England some years ago, and married the youngest daughter of Sir Hugh Allan, the Canadian steamship magnate. He started an extensive ranch in the Northwest Territories, which he conducted for some years. He lately returned to Montreal, and took up his residence at Georgeville, in the Eastern Townships. Domestic trouble is supposed to have been the cause of suicide.

BANK WAS ROBBED

Of Fifteen Thousand Dollars—Thieves Blew Open the Safe.

Montmagny, Que., Nov. 28.—La Banque Nationale was robbed Sunday night of all its funds, some $15,000. Tramps were seen at St. Pierre and around here during the day. They broke into the trackmen's tool-house and secured crowbars, etc. The safe was inside of a brick vault, and both were blown open. The robbery was discovered early yesterday by Mr. Lesperance, watchman of the building.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

A telegram from Ottawa of the 27th inst. gives the following information. As this information is only advertised in Grit journals of limited circulation, intended for Grit contractors only, we copy it for general information:

The Department of Railways and Canals is calling for tenders for constructing an additional section of the Trent canal, viz, that from Trenton to Frankton, a distance of nine miles. The work includes the deepening of the Trent river between these two points, the construction of seven locks and seven dams. As the works on the St. Lawrence are nearly completed, thus freeing a number of our contractors, it is expected that the competition for this work will be very keen.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

In view of the fact that in the past much feeling has been aroused by anonymous letters in the local papers, some people even going so far as to say that newspaper men have written the letters themselves, THE INTELLIGENCER must in future request correspondents who are writing on matters of public interest to sign their own names to the articles. It seems to us that, if a letter is "pro bono publico," there is no need of any writer hiding his light under a bushel. If the matters contained in the letter are not for the public good it should not be published at all, either under an assumed name or any other way.

An International Favorite.

The N. Y. Tribune says:

Apenta, a Hungarian aperient water, bottled at the springs, Budapest, is a purgative water, but of a mild and non-irritating character, due to the presence of a large quantity of sulphate of magnesia, considerably exceeding the sulphate of soda. Professor Althaus, of London, author of "The Spas of Europe," says that this is an excellent combination, rendering the water superior to the other aperient waters which contain too large a proportion of sulphate of soda. Analyses made at different times by Professors Lieberman, of Buda pest; Tichborne, of Dublin, and Pouchet, of Paris, point to the constancy of the constituents of Apenta, confirmed by a certificate of Professor von Fodor.

Professors Althaus, Bogoslowsky, Lancereaux and Liebreich lay great stress on the medical supervision at the Apenta Springs, and the constancy of the water.

The name of the Apollinaris Company, which appears on the Apenta labels, is in itself a guarantee of quality, but with the additional indorsements of the scientific and medical men quoted here it is easy to understand why Apenta ranks so high as a laxative and purgative, and is used in all the principal hospitals of Europe and the United States.

Native Indian Missionary In Bridge St. Church.

Enthusiasm has always marked the Missionary Anniversaries of Bridge St. Church, and last Sunday was no exception. The presence of a native Indian missionary, the direct result of the labors of Methodist missionaries in British Columbia, added much to the great interest taken in the occasion. The Rev. W. H. Pierce, whose Indian name is La-th co-rd, meaning heart in wrong place, proved himself to be a gentleman possessing keen insight into human nature, a skilful manager of men, an incisive reasoner who told three times to unusually large audiences, in good English, with considerable pathos not unmixed with quaint humor, incidents of his own conversion from heathenism to Christianity, of what the religion of Jesus Christ had done for the pagan Indian tribes, and of the manners and customs of his people. They were recitals that stirred many hearts and convinced all that the money spent on missions to the Indians was, from patriotic and commercial standpoints, a good investment. In view of Mr. Pierce's addresses yesterday, the following quotation from the 75 h annual report of the Missionary Society of the Methodist Church will have added point:

"Results of missionary toil among our Indians are not to be despised. The death rate hitherto has been in excess of the birth rate, but under improved modes of living the latter is gaining upon the former, so that the two columns are well-nigh balanced. Thus the hand of the destroying angel, which had threatened to wipe out the last Indian tribe, is stayed. It is interesting to be assured that the economic value of the Christian Indian is in excess of that of his pagan brother. As a pagan, the Indian is, or was, a liability; as a Christian, he is becoming an increasing asset to the nation. There is a healthy growth perceptible in the interest taken by the Indian in education."

The Society had last year 533 missions, 647 missionaries and teachers. The church membership on these missions was 47,236. The income of the Society was $265,979, the largest in its history. The Bay of Quinte Conference contributed $22,164, the Belleville district, $2,076; this city, $1261 71, namely, Bridge st., $936 82; Tabernacle, $142 45; Holloway st., $112 90; Bleecker Avenue, $69 52.

We have heard it charged against societies similar to this one that the cost of management was so great that there was not much left for the beneficiaries after the cost of management was paid. That this does not apply to this Society will be apparent by the following table clipped from the annual report, showing how every dollar received last year was divided between different departments of the work:

THE LIGHT MEETING.

that Company but he was perfectly willing to sell out.

Ald. Jones spoke of some of the Gas stock being watered.

The Mayor said there was no watered gas stock.

As the majority of the members appeared to be in favor of making some proposition to the Trenton Electric Company, the following propositions were made by the Mayor:

1. The maximum price of light and power to be fixed for all classes, including power for water works system.
2. Time of the franchise not to exceed ten years.
3. Annual price to be paid for franchise.
4. To satisfy the Council that Belleville shall not be subordinate to any other place or any factory in the matter of securing light and power.
5. Security for proper fulfilment of contract.
6. A definite amount of horse power.
7. Insure safety of trees.

Some of the Aldermen spoke of a ten years' term contract.

The Mayor thought these propositions were reasonable. We should do all we could to protect the City's rights. He thought a seven years' term was long enough, but he would make it ten years. The contract should, however, he thought, be open to the world. It was true that the present Company was in a better position than any other Company would be, from the fact that they were upon the ground. An important question to be considered was the agreement with the town of Trenton. If that town had a preference it might seriously interfere with Belleville.

A number of the Aldermen spoke in favor of the Mayor's propositions, which, on being submitted, were unanimously adopted and the City Clerk was instructed to mail them immediately to Mr. Pearson, jr., President of the Company.

The Committee then adjourned.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver, of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in my back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately a friend advised trying 'Electric Bitters;' and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50cts guaranteed, at J. S. McKeown's Drug Store.

Runaway Accident at Madoc

On Saturday afternoon Mr. D. E. K Stewart, barrister, of Madoc, was the victim of a runaway accident. He was about to start off for a drive when the horse bolted and threw him out. He managed to retain possession of the lines and was dragged for some distance with the result that a rib was broken and he was otherwise severely bruised. To-day he was reported to be doing well.

Beware of False acd Deceptive Promises Made by Manufacturers of Inferior and Imitaion Dyes.

Beware of dyes prepared for home use that promise to wash and dye goods at one operation. The soap in such dyes may do a trifle of cleansing, but the coloring work will be a flat and decided failure.

Beware of dyes that claim to dye all wool and cotton goods with contents of one package. This is a chemical impossibility. The operator will of course get a color—something muddy, clouded and streaked that will arouse indignation and anger because of disappointment and loss of matrials.

Diamond Dyes give fast, brilliant and perfect colors, but they do not promise to cleanse or wash soiled garments or materials. A washing machine may do good washing, but it cannot pretend to do the ironing as well.

Diamond Dyes prepare special dyes for all wool goods, and for cotton and union goods, and guarantee perfect work when directions are observed. If you desire to color all wool goods, ask for Diamond Dyes for Wool; if you have cotton or mixed goods to dye, ask for Diamond Dyes for Cotton and Mixed Goods.

Crude imitation dyes and soap grease mixtures can never cope with those great chemical triumphs—Diamond Dyes.

A Glow of Coal and Gas That Has Not Ceased During a Century.

A mountain which has been on fire for more than 100 years is situated just west of Newcastle, Colo. So close is it that its shadow envelops the town at 5 p. m., and yet the people thereabouts think no more of it than of the beautiful Grand river which washes the feet of the huge pile where the fire has burned so long. To the tenderfoot, however, the glittering patches of deep red fire, where it breaks out on the side of the mountain and is exposed to view, there is nothing in all the state quite its equal.

The fire is fed by a big vein of coal which the mountain contains. Just how the coal became ignited is not known. The oldest resident says it was on fire when he came, and the Ute Indians, who once lived there, say it was burning many years before the first white man crossed the continental divide. The supposition is that the coal was ignited by a forest fire at an early date in the present century. It has smoldered and steadily burned until this day. At night when the moon is dark is the best time to see the fire. Then it is that it resembles the regions of inferno as given us in the word painting of Dante. The earth covering the coal is loosened by the heat and falls away, exposing the sheet of fire.

The escaping gas probably assists in stripping off the rocks and dirt, and wherever the vein of coal approaches the surface the fire can be seen. The first fire I saw was fully 50 feet square. It had a peculiar red tint, while the burning gas coming up at the base of the coal vein added a bright blue coloring to the scene. In many places the surface of the mountain has sunken, showing where the fire has burned out its course.

Efforts have been made to extinguish the fire. Some time ago a company which owns a large amount of coal land constructed a ditch from a point several miles above the mountain, into which it succeeded in turning the water which goes to form Elk creek.

Previously a shaft had been sunk in the mountain, and into this shaft the water was permitted to flow. The shaft was soon filled, but the fire was above the level of the water, and the effort was a failure.

One Thing Barred.

A correspondent of the Detroit Free Press in rural Tennessee recently heard a mother shouting from the door of a cabin:

"Yank Tyson! Tim Tyson!" she cried, "what yu'uns doin?"

"Foolin," was the reply.

"Be yu'uns smokin?"

"Ye'um."

"Be yu'uns chawin?"

"Ye'um."

"Be yu'uns chawin twist an smokin cob pipe?"

"Ye'um."

In Giving the News of the Great Cures Effected by South American Nervine—It Has Saved an Army of Sufferers From the Pangs of Indigestion and Nerve Troubles.

L. M. Holmes, of Peterboro, N. S., was taken severely ill about a year ago with nervousness and indigestion, and for some time was completely prostrated. He consulted best doctors, but they failed to help him. A newspaper advertisement brought South American Nervine to his notice. He tried it with the result that he was greatly benefitted from the first bottle, and six bottles completely cured him, and he would be pleased to give all details of his case to any person asking him. A FAMOUS MURDERER

THE TRUTH ABOUT EUGENE ARAM AND HIS CRIME.

The Hero of Bulwer's Novel and Hood's Poem Was a Liar and a Thief Who Abandoned Wife and Children and Knew No Remorse.

Eugene Aram, the scholar and murderer, who inspired two of the masterpieces of English literature—Hood's poem and Bulwer's novel—was hanged on Aug. 6, 1756.

The real Eugene Aram was a liar and a thief, who, despite his learning, surrounded himself with low companions and who was the author of a plot to kill a shoemaker for the sake of a little money. He abandoned his wife and children to shift for themselves for 14 years, and on trial for his life, instead of show ing remorse, he conducted his own defense in a most masterly attack on circumstantial evidence.

Aram was born in 1704 in Yorkshire. By the time he was 14 years old he was regarded in the neighborhood as a prodigy of learning. His fame for piety and gentleness as a scholar spread, and as a result he was invited to Knaresborough to open a school in 1734. There a strange development took place in Aram's character. He formed an association with a drinking, turbulent crowd of men, the opposite of himself. Among them Daniel Clark, who kept a little cobbler's shop; Richard Houseman, a flax dresser; Terry, an alehouse keeper, and Iles, a pawnbroker, were prominent. In 1745 Clark married a woman with a small fortune of £200. Immediately he and his companions devised a scheme to rob her and her friends. Clark was to obtain all the goods he could on credit and hand them over to Aram and Houseman, who were to deposit them in a safe place. Then after securing the plunder Clark was to decamp, leaving his wife to shift for herself, and the property was to be sold and divided between the three men. This was the scheme in which the noble Eugene Aram of Lord Lytton was to and did bear his full part.

Clark went about procuring a wide variety of articles on credit. He pretended he was about to give a great wedding feast and borrowed silver tankards, salvers, spoons, etc., from whomever would lend them. As fast as the different articles were obtained Clark, accompanied by Aram and Houseman, carried them to a place called St. Robert's cave, situated in a field adjoining the Nid, a river near Knaresborough. All the plate was hammered down flat and the smaller articles got in a shape difficult of identification under the supervision of Aram. When Clark had "borrowed" about everything valuable his acquaintances had to lend, the plotters decided it was time for him to disappear. So in the early morning of Feb. 8, 1745, he, Aram and Houseman went to the cave to divide the spoils before Clark left. Aram and Clark had quarreled a good deal during the progress of predatory operations. At the entrance to the cave the quarrel was renewed, and Aram, who was a man evidently of great strength, pushed Clark away and rained down tremendous blows on his head and chest. Clark fell and died in a moment.

Houseman, terrified at the sight and, as he said, afraid of meeting the same fate, turned and ran away. Aram did not show a particle of remorse or fear. He gathered up the booty and carried it to his house, where he buried part of it in the garden. He buried Clark's body and heaped stones over the grave. In the afternoon he went for Houseman and threatened him if he disclosed the murder and made him believe he was equally guilty in law. Aram's wife heard the two men whispering over the deed. She told Houseman she believed her husband had made way with Clark. Houseman told the gentle Aram, whereupon he said they could admit the woman into the room and shoot her. Mrs. Aram, greatly terrified, asked no more questions.

Clark's disappearance was not noticed for a day or two. Then the people from whom he had "borrowed" jewelry and plate began to make inquiries. Suspicion was directed at Aram in some way. The village authorities searched his house and found a bundle containing plate and clothing stained with blood. Notwithstanding this evidence of Aram's complicity in an intended robbery, no action seems to have been taken by the authorities, nor was it suspected that Clark had been murdered. The neighbors began to jeer at the learned schoolmaster, however, and Aram suddenly left his wife and children and walked to London.

For 14 years his family heard nothing of him. He spent the greater part of the time wandering about from place to place, at last finding a situation as usher in a school at Lynn. In June, 1758, a horse dealer who had known him in Knaresborough met him in the Lynn market. Aram denied his identity. By a singular coincidence, almost the day the horse dealer accosted the now gray haired schoolteacher, a skeleton was found by some workmen digging a pit in Thistle hill, in Knaresborough.

A country town has a keen recollection of everything that has occurred to disturb it, and immediately the disappearance of Clark 14 years before was remembered. Houseman, still alive, got drunk first and then joined the crowd of villagers looking at the exhumed skeleton. "Clark," he said, with drunken gravity, "was never buried here."

The latter, still too drunk to realize the gravity of his position, muttered that Clark's body would be found in St. Robert's cave. The crowd made a rush for that place, and soon a skeleton was exhumed.

"I did not kill him," gasped Houseman, now thoroughly sober and terrified. "It was Aram. I had no part."

Houseman was taken to the village jail and a warrant was sworn out for Aram. When the officers took him away from the school the pupils cried. The government used Houseman as a witness to convict Aram. The latter's speech in his own defense has come down complete—a masterly attack on circumstantial evidence, showing the intellectual power of the man. Aram made a half confession the night before his execution, followed by an attempt at suicide. According to the custom of the time his body was hanged in chains, and it swung in Knaresborough forest until 1778. Years later, when the details of his crime were dim, his remarkable career attracted Hood and Bulwer, and thus the obscure, talented, perverted man became a part of English literature.

NOBODY KNOWS BUT MOTHER.

How many buttons are missing to-day?
Nobody knows but mother.
How many playthings are strewn in her way?
Nobody knows but mother.
How many thimbles and spools has she missed?
How many burns on each fat little fist?
How many bumps to be cuddled and kissed?
Nobody knows but mother.

How many hats has she hunted to-day?
Nobody knows but mother—
Carelessly hiding themselves in the hay—
Nobody knows but mother.
How many handkerchiefs wilfully strayed?
How many ribbons for each little maid?
How for her care can a mother be paid?
Nobody knows but mother.

How many muddy shoes all in a row?
Nobody knows but mother.
How many stockings to darn, do you know?
Nobody knows but mother.
How many little torn aprons to mend?
How many hours of toil must she spend?
What is the time when her day's work shall end?
Nobody knows but mother.

How many lunches for Tommy and Sam?
Nobody knows but mother—
Cookies and apples and blackberry jam—
Nobody knows but mother.
Nourishing dainties for every "sweet tooth,"
Toddling Dottie or dignified Ruth—
How much love sweetens the labor, forsooth—
Nobody knows but mother.

How many cares do a mother's heart know?
Nobody knows but mother.
How many joys from her mother love flow?
Nobody knows but mother.
How many prayers by each little white bed?
How many tears for her babes she has shed?
How many kisses for each curly head?
Nobody knows but mother.

How to Prolong Life.

American Journal of Health:—"Intemperance anticipates age," so said the late Sir Benjamin Ward Richardson. The more the social causes of mental and physical organic diseases are investigated, the more closely the origin of degenerate organic changes leading to premature degeneration and decay are questioned, the more closely does it come out that intemperance, often not suspected by the person himself who is implicated in it, so subtle is its influence, is at the root of evil. When old age has really commenced its march toward final decay it is best delayed by attention to those rules of conservation by which life is sustained by the least friction and the least waste. The prime rules for this purpose are—to subsist on light but nutritious diet, with milk as the standard food, but varied according to season; to take food in moderate quantities four times a day, including a light meal before going to bed; to clothe warmly, but lightly, so that the body may in all seasons maintain its equal temperature; to keep the body in fair exercise, and the mind active and cheerful; to maintain an interest in what is going on in the world, and to take part in reasonable labors and pleasures, as though old age were not present; to take plenty of sleep during sleeping hours; to spend nine hours in bed at least, and to take care during cold weather that the temperature of the bedrooms is maintained at 60 degrees Fahr; to avoid passion, excitement and luxury.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver, of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in my back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately a friend advised trying 'Electric Bitters.' And to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life and robbed the grave of another victim." 50c and $1 at all druggists fail to try them. Only 50cts guaranteed, at J. S. McKeown's Drug Store.

The Sardinian Has Arrived

Gen. Methuen Tells How Modder River Battle Was Won.

Troops Fought for Ten Hours in the Burning Sun Without Water or Food, and Won One of the Most Trying Fights in the Annals of the British Army.

(OTHER DESPATCHES ON INSIDE PAGES.)

London, November 29.—Gen. Buller cables the War Office:

Gen. Methuen reports: Modder River, Tuesday, Nov. 28.—Reconnoitered at 5 a.m. enemy's position on Modder River and found them strongly entrenched and concealed. No means of outflanking, river being full. Action commenced with artillery, mounted infantry and cavalry at 5:30. Guards on right, 5th brigade on left. Attacked position in widely extended formation at 6:30 and, supported by the artillery found itself in front of the whole Boer force, 8000 strong, with two large guns, four Krupps, etc.

The Naval brigade rendered great assistance from the railway.

After desperate hard fighting, which lasted 10 hours, our men, without water or food, and in the burning sun, made the enemy quit his position.

Gen. Pole-carew was successful in getting a small party across the river, gallantly assisted by 300 sappers.

I speak in terms of high praise of the conduct of all who were engaged in one of the hardest and most trying fights in the annals of the British army.

If I can mention one arm particularly, it is two batteries of artillery.

It is believed that after the relief of Kimberley Lord Methuen will proceed to the relief of Mafeking, about which anxiety is still felt.

The War Office publishes a revised list of the wounded in the Belmont fight.

The British lost four officers killed and 22 wounded, and 44 men killed and 225 wounded.

It is reported that Gen. Methuen's force is constantly harassed by sharpshooters.

The British complain that the Boers have shot at their stretcher carriers.

Only two officers of the Naval Brigade remain alive.

SARDINIAN HAS ARRIVED.

A cablegram has been received stating that the Sardinian has arrived at Capetown.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING

That the Sardinian is a good safe boat, but her best friends will never accuse her of breaking any records.

That Sir Thomas Lipton didn't go broke over the Shamrock. He has just given $50,000 to the British soldiers' and sailors' relief fund. Long may he wave.

That the Boers who swore not to wash any more till the British were driven from South Africa should emigrate to Canada and live with the Galicians.

That the party who took away the contribution box from Hotel Quinte last night had better return it at once. He is known and may save himself a lot of anguish by taking a gentle hint.

That in Lord Methuen's last grand military ball he made a radical change from the usual custom. He didn't introduce the Lancers till the close of the ball, though they generally have the place of honor.

That we were pleased at the send-off the boys got at Quebec and proud to think of a welcome being organized for them at Capetown, but, after all, the most interesting thing to us is—what kind of a reception are our friends the enemy going to give 'em?

That public safety is threatened by ruins which are standing in certain parts of the City. In one instance the walls of a high building on Front st. are mentioned as being so dangerous that some people won't walk past them on that side of the street. At a slight cost they might be put in a safe condition.

That the Montreal Star's war poet paints a vivid word picture when he says:

"Queen Victoria plants one foot on Australia
And the other on Canada in splendid regalia."

It is a brilliant idea, but if Her Majesty ever got in that position her faithful subjects might well cry "God Save the Queen."

That people who do their own doctoring may get a useful point from Mr. Dooley. If a man gets a cold on the chest the best thing to do is to "get Casey's mixture f'r man an' baist, put him in bed, slap a mustard plaster on him that'll keep his mind employed, an' lave him to fight it out. May th' best man win. If th' patient is alive in th' mornin' he'll not have stren'th to cough."

That the Hon. G. W. Ross doesn't let a little thing like truth stand in his road when he wants to make a point against a political opponent. This is evidenced by the fact that he said Mr. Whitney opposed the appointment of Minister of Agriculture in the Ontario Government, which was a matter of fact, Mr. Whitney did not enter political life till some years after that action was taken.

That one of our citizens who was up late last night heard a curious conversation. He thought he heard loud talking and listened. An electric light pole on the west side of the river was talking to a pole on the east side. The west pole said: "Hello, how are you getting on over there?" The east pole said: "Keep in your proper station, my friend. Get a coat of paint on before you attempt to mix with us people." The citizen listened intently, but could hear no more talking; the west side pole was evidently crushed.

THE WAR SUMMARY.

The additional list of casualties sustained by General Methuen's force at Gras Pan, officially known as Enslin, brings the total up to 197, and shows that the battle, despite its fierceness, was not so costly as the engagement at Belmont, where the losses were 226. This is generally attributed by military men to the effective use made of the British artillery before the infantry stormed the Boer position.

Doubts as to what befel the 9th Lancers after the battle are removed by the fact that they were engaged in a reconnaissance on Sunday, in which an officer and a trooper were wounded.

General Methuen was on Monday evening within eight miles of the Modder River, or about 40 miles from Kimberly.

In Natal the situation remains cheerful. The British force at Frere, not far from Colenso, is receiving strong reinforcements, and a stiff battle is hourly expected.

General Buller has cabled to the War Office a message, under date of Friday, the 24th instant, showing that the besieged garrison was in good spirits and the wounded were doing well.

There is news from the southern border of the Orange Free State that Generals Gatacre and French, who are confronting Boer commandos at Stormberg, Colesburg and other points, are marching forward.

Mafeking and the British posts in Rhodesia have not been heard from for several days.

Catarrh.

Statistics prove that 97 per cent. of our population is affected with some form of Catarrh, but since Catarrhozone, the new medicated air treatment for Catarrh and kindred diseases, has been introduced, this percentage has decreased. Catarrhozone never fails to cure Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma and Hay Fever, and is warranted to cure the most chronic cases of these diseases, even after all else has failed. It cures by inhalation. No danger, no risk, pleasant to use. For sale at all druggists or direct by mail, price $1.00. For trial send 10c in stamps to N. C. POLSON & CO., Box 507, Kingston, Ont.

AT HYMEN'S ALTAR.

Young Prince Edward Lady Married a Resident of Belleville.

A wedding took place this afternoon at Huff's Island, Prince Edward County, in which a well-known young gentleman of this city was a participant. It occurred at the residence of Mr. Alger H. Huff, being the marriage of his daughter, Miss Annie, to Mr. Albert Blackburn, jeweler, of this city. A number were present to witness the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. W. A. Bunner, Methodist minister, of Ameliasburg circuit. The bride looked charming in a dress of Queen cloth trimmed with white silk, and was assisted by her sister, Miss Mary Huff, of Montreal, who was attired in a costume of pale blue silk. Mr. Wm. Harwood, of this city, was the best man. The groom presented the bride with a handsome gold watch, to the bridesmaid a gold bracelet and to the groomsman a filagree pin. After the ceremony the party were handsomely entertained. Mr. and Mrs. Blackburn will take up their residence in the city and will receive the congratulations of their numerous friends. THE INTELLIGENCER wishes them all happiness and prosperity.

PATRIOTIC LECTURE.

Pleasing Entertainment at Holloway St. Church Last Night.

An entertainment, patriotic in its character, was held last evening in the basement of Holloway St. Methodist Church, and was well attended. The greater portion of the evening was devoted to a lecture delivered by Mr. D. Barragar, principal of the Canifton Road School, the subject being "The History and Meaning of the Union Jack." The lecturer went thoroughly into the history of the flag, the meaning of Greater Britain, and its growth during the century. The lecture showed careful preparation and much thought must have been used in preparing it. The audience was not slow in appreciating Mr. Barragar's abilities. The chair was occupied by Col. Ponton, who in an ideal chairman, and last evening, if possible, excelled himself in the performance of his duties.

The musical portion of the programme was in thorough touch with the lecture, consisting of stirring songs by Messrs. S. Barrows, J. S. McMurray and F. J. Brenton, all of whom sang in excellent form. Mr. H. Farley gave a reading touching upon the history of England, which was much appreciated. Misses F. DaFoe, E. Grills and Mills rendered piano solos, and phonograph selections were given, operated by Mr. Addison Vandervoort.

At the conclusion of the lecture a vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. Barragar, being moved by the pastor, Rev. C. W. Watch, and seconded by Mr. S. A. Gardner. This was carried by a standing vote and appropriately tendered to the lecturer by the chairman. Votes of thanks were also given to those who participated in the programme. The proceedings were brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

The Passion Play.

A fair-sized audience was present at the Opera House last night to witness the Vitascopic reproduction of the above great sacred drama. To Bible students, the representation is one of intense interest. The pictures present the life of the Saviour from the time the message is given by angels to the shepherds to the time of the Divine One's reunion with the Father. Everyone, irrespective of belief, creed or denomination, should witness this beautiful spectacle. It will be given again this evening at 8:15.

Local Legal.

Trial Court—Before Ferguson, J.

Culbertson vs. McCullough.—Judgment in action, tried without a jury at Belleville, brought to recover possession of land. The plaintiffs are the only children of the late Archibald Culbertson, whose father, John Culbertson, died in 1854, having devised to him the land in question in the following terms: "I give and bequath to my son Archibald . . . all that certain piece of land . . . which shall be and is hereby entailed on my said son Archibald and his heirs forever." Archibald Culbertson went into possession, executed a mortgage in fee simple in favor of John Stevenson in 1859, which was duly registered, and died in 1892. Held, that the words in the will above set out relied on as creating an estate tail were not only ambiguous, but repugnant, and that the earlier part of the clause giving an estate in fee could not be cut down to an estate tail by the subsequent ambiguous words. Held, also, that the execution of the mortgage barred the entail, if one existed. Action dismissed with costs. A. R. Walker (Belleville) Solicitor for plaintiffs and E. Guss Porter (Belleville) counsel for plaintiffs; W. B. Northrup (Belleville) for defendant.

Good Advice.

A citizen of Belleville recently gave his son, who had just got his first situation, some very good advice. He said, "For years I have been buying the clothing for you, your brothers and myself from the Oak Hall. On every suit and overcoat I saved a little. Now you should begin the first thing to save money, and one of the sure ways is to keep on buying your clothing from the Oak Hall."

MISUNDERSTANDING.

So often are we spoken to regarding leaving Belleville that we are forced to think people have not carefully read our first announcement. Now listen, that is if in short:

1st. We offered the business for sale.
2nd. We will sell if we can.
3rd. If we sell we will go into the Wall Paper alone with head Eastern branch at Toronto.
4th. Our sale is to reduce the stock to an amount where we may hope to find a customer.
5th. We will not sell for less than 100c on the dollar, for our stock is worth it.
6th. If by February 1st, when we have our stock reduced, we have not yet found a customer, we will continue the Eastern branch here hoping to later find a customer.
7th. We cannot close out the business here unless selling and transferring the lease, for we have an unexpired term on our lease of five years.
8th, We are even more anxious than we were two years ago to sell the Belleville branch, as our responsibilities in the Wall Paper end of our business have become so great that we wish to become relieved of the detail of the Book, Stationery and Fancy Goods branches of the business.
9th. We will, therefore, sell the Books, Stationery and Fancy Goods end of the business with the transfer of the lease if a customer can be found.

We make this announcement simply because so many seem to have made up their minds we are selling our stock to leave the city. Such is not the case. We are reducing our stock in the hope of finding a customer for the business just as we have advertised. We have no wish to deceive. We put the facts plainly in our advertisement when making our announcement and there is no reason for any misunderstanding.

Just read our first advertisement again. If you cannot find it come to us, we will provide you with a copy of it.

The facts are so many run through such an announcement and take a lot for granted, and after a while make themselves believe white is black.

We hasten to correct any such errors, although not made by ourselves. We have and ever mean to live up to the very letter of our advertisements.

THE MYSTERY OF COUNT LANDRINOF.

BY FRED WHISHAW.

COPYRIGHT 1899, BY THE AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION.

one day after a fortnight or more of this blameless existence. "When is he going to start nihilist meetings in the house, and so on? He gives us nothing to go upon!"

"A watched pot never boils," I laughed; "at least not till one is sick of watching."

Nevertheless presently a little steam began to issue from the spout of our kettle, and we knew that the water was on the move.

In other words, our friend began to show a little activity. He went about the town more frequently. Queer, weird looking people came at intervals to see him and sat in father's study in consultation with the impostor. The time had come for us to start work as amateur detectives, an occupation I most cordially disliked.

But father was still unfound. Indeed we were no further on toward clearing up the mystery than we had been a week after his disappearance, and mother fretted and wept.

Great heavens! To set all this right and see dear mother happy once more I should spy with the best and meanest.

One evening Borofsky returned home in the best of spirits.

"What is it, Borofsky?" I inquired, for I saw that he was longing to be asked.

"I've had a good haul today," he said, rubbing his hands. "Our friend's busy over some deviltry, I'd stake my existence on it. He has been present at a secret committee meeting this afternoon, and I know where they met and how many were present."

"And what they plotted," I asked, "and who they were?"

"You are going too fast, my dear sir!" said Borofsky. "How could I possibly know all that? I was not in the room and all these people I have seen today for the first time."

"But how did you get to see them at all?" I asked. "Didn't you run a great risk?"

"Some risk, no doubt, but I wasn't Borofsky, mind you—I was disguised. I went to my lodgings early in the afternoon and put on a beggar's dress that I have in stock—a perfect disguise. In this I returned here, standing outside this very door till our friend came out. I did the same yesterday, but he kept me waiting several hours and never came at all. Well, this afternoon I had hardly been here a quarter of an hour when out comes my man, jumps into a drosky and drives away.

"Luckily I, too, had a drosky waiting round the corner and into this I jumped, throwing the cloak over me that was already prepared for my use in case of need and lay folded ready on the cushion.

"I followed his drosky right across to the island side, down the first line, over the Tuchkof bridge and into the Peterburgskaya. He turned into a small street that led out of the prospekt, and I stopped in the main thoroughfare a few yards farther on, threw the cloak to my driver and hurried back to the corner of the small street.

"His drosky was returning empty, and he had disappeared, and I thought I had lost my man; but almost immediately another trap drove up, turned into the street and stopped at a little wooden house half way down it. So I limped toward the gate of that house—a beggar again, now—and took my stand near by.

"No less than seven other individuals drove or walked to that gate, sir, and entered the little wooden house, though I was not exactly on the spot when all arrived, for the first that came gave me a grievnik (10 kopecks) and bade me go farther, very much farther; but we need not specify the destination he had fixed upon me. The next was no more polite, and rather than cause anger or rouse suspicion I moved a few doors away. When all had arrived—nine or ten there must have been in all—I waited a few minutes and then departed."

"Well done, Borofsky," said I. "You have certainly advanced matters today. It was undoubtedly a meeting of sorts. Our friend is up to no good, I'll be sworn! Well, now we know one of his haunts, anyway! We'll catch him out yet, and then we'll name our terms for saving his head from the only place it's fit to fill, and that's the noose."

"What manner of men were these friends of his?" asked Percy; "the other members of this charming committee? A set of desperate looking cutthroats, I'll bet."

"They were very mixed," said Borofsky. "There were some who looked quite respectable—officers; two fellows in civilian uniform; one or two awful looking specimens and a couple of students with plaids and long hair and white faces and spectacles, all complete. Our own men were far the most respectable looking of the company."

"I was disguised."

We made Borofsky happy by praising him for his skill this afternoon. He had been and still was very sore over his London fiasco and needed encouragement.

This interregnum was very trying, however, to mother and to me. To be obliged to hang about without advancing the matter we had so deeply at heart until such time as our impostor should think fit to commit himself to some villainy and we should find means to suspect or discover it and thus put himself in our power was tantalizing indeed.

Besides, there was always the chance that he had lied throughout and that in reality he had nothing to reveal as to father's fate. Perhaps he had never seen father and knew nothing more of him than his name, excepting the fact that, by a stroke of excellent luck, he must so nearly resemble the real Landrinof that he was able to pass as the count with all but his closest relations, and that the count's house was uncommonly comfortable and that, thanks, from beginning to end, to the accidental resemblance, his lot had fallen in extremely pleasant places.

My mother was assured that our disreputable guest was none other than my father's brother Andre. He could be no other, she said, for, though she now knew that there was nothing in the man's face to recall that of her dear Vladimir excepting the shape of the features and that it had been the grossest calumny upon the count even to mistake this other's photograph for his, yet the cast of the features was the same, and the man could be no other than the wretched Andre—supposed at this moment by the police to be far away in Siberia.

Our friend, however, had assumed an absolute ignorance of the existence of any such person as Andre Landrinof, the count's younger brother, when taxed by Borofsky with being that very individual. He had never heard of the man, he said. As for his own name, Borofsky would have to contrive to exist without knowing it if it depended on himself to tell it, because, said he, it was not Borofsky's business to know it.

But one evening our excellent friend rather gave himself away. He had taken to indulging somewhat freely in vodka, the spirit, distilled from rye, which is the favorite drink of the Russian people, and the vodka loosened his tongue.

Borofsky often sat with him of an evening, the only one of us who did, and on this occasion our guest, being slightly overrefreshed, suddenly broached the subject of Andre Landrinof.

"That brother of the count's you were talking about the other day, Borofsky," he said; "where is he, and what is he doing? Is he a count, too, and rich?"

"He isn't a count, but an infernal blackguard," said Borofsky, "and I should say he is just about as rich as the folks he has robbed are the poorer."

"Ha, ha! Good!" said the fellow

FOSTER A HIT IN WINNIPEG

Spoke to the Old and Scored the New Liberal School.

Hon. Mr. Fielding, at New Glasgow, N.S., Makes Some Queer Deductions—Remarkable Assertions of the Finance Minister at a Political Banquet—Declared That the Opposition Did Not Challenge Rushed-Through Estimates.

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 28.—(Special.)—The largest hall in the city was crowded to the doors to-night to listen to Hon. G. E. Foster. His reception was one of the most enthusiastic ever accorded a public man in Western Canada. He addressed himself largely to the old Liberals and unmercifully, and amid the plaudits of the hundreds assembled, scored the new Liberal school, which had violated their sacred pledges made to the people for the past 18 years.

His speech was very independent in tone, just suited to a Winnipeg audience, and was declared by competent judges to be among two or three of the greatest deliveries ever heard in this city. His advice to the people when they found a party not fulfilling its pledges was to smash it, and if its successor failed to fulfill its pledges then smash it, and party leaders would learn that they must keep faith with the electorate.

He answered Paterson and Sifton effectively, and scored the practice of bribing electors by Ottawa Ministers in other provinces for the purpose of maintaining friendly Governments at the Provincial capitals.

Mr. Foster speaks at Portage la Prairie to-morrow night. If he retains his present form throughout his tour he will do great damage to new Liberalism in Manitoba.

Hon. Hugh John Macdonald spoke, predicting success for his party, and Dr. Nellson, candidate for North Winnipeg, delivered a very good speech.

SOUTH ONTARIO CAMPAIGN.

Hot Work Begun by a Joint Meeting at Brougham.

Brougham, Ont., Nov. 28.—The red-hot work in the South Ontario campaign began to-night. It is many years since the contending parties held joint meetings to discuss matters before the electors, but to-night the good old custom was revived, and, according to arrangement entered into between the candidates, a joint debate took place in the Town Hall here.

This Was Calder's Meeting.

According to arrangement, Mr. Calder had charge of this meeting, and Mr. S. H. Stephenson, a leading Conservative, was placed in the chair. When the speakers were called Mr. Calder, accompanied by Mr. J. Ball Dow, a prominent lawyer of Whitby, and Hon. John Dryden, accompanied by J. P. Graham, M.L.A., appeared on the platform, each side cheering its own champion. The program allowed Mr. Calder 30 minutes, Mr. Dryden, Mr. Dow, Mr. Graham, 45 minutes each, and Mr. Calder 15 minutes in conclusion.

Mr. Calder's Speech.

Mr. Calder was well received and occupied almost his entire time in dealing with local affairs. The corruption which occurred during Mr. Dryden's time was, he said, only the fringe of what had occurred. He also referred to Hon. A. S. Hardy being dumped out of the Government, and assured the people of the riding that Hon. John Dryden had not accomplished anything for them, and he could do no less.

Mr. Dryden's Address.

Mr. Dryden was also loudly cheered when rising to speak. He spoke of his first meeting in that house, some twenty years ago, and referred at some length to the history which had been made and the development that had taken place in Ontario during all those years. He strongly defended A. S. Hardy from the attacks that were being made on him and outlined the new policy of the Ross Administration. Turning his attention to local matters, he pointed out that if a comparison were made the Liberal party would not be sufferers, and in the prosecutions in the County of Ontario the Liberals would not be the hardest hit.

To-morrow night the same speakers will be at Columbus, but the order of speaking will be reversed.

Canadian Fruit Sold Well.

London, Nov. 29.—Canadian shipments of grapes arrived in excellent condition, and commanded good prices and ready sale.

QUEER DEDUCTIONS.

Hon. Mr. Fielding Insinuates That Opposition Practically Sanctioned the Government's Enormous Expenditure.

New Glasgow, N.S., Nov. 28.—The banquet given here to-night by Pictou Liberals to Finance Minister Fielding was an unqualified success. One hundred and sixty guests sat down to a dinner, every seat in the hall being occupied. The hall was nicely decorated with flags and portraits of Laurier, Fielding and Provincial Premier Murray.

"The Queen" duly honored, the chairman read an address to Hon. Mr. Fielding.

Mr. Fielding's Speech.

When Mr. Fielding rose to reply he received a great ovation, the cheering and applause lasting for some time. When quiet had been restored Mr. Fielding delivered a speech lasting nearly two hours, his points being greeted from time to time with deafening applause.

The Finance Minister dwelt for some time on affairs of the province while he was at the head of the Nova Scotia Government, and then turned to the questions affecting the Dominion at large.

Defends His Own Department.

Speaking of the financial management of the past three years, the improved condition of the country, and referring to this year's surplus of $4,838,000, he vigorously defended the railway policy of the Government and its administration of the Yukon country, and continued in part as follows:

In connection with the general outcry of our opponents respecting the increased expenditure, I would call the attention of the people to a very important fact. Before any of these moneys can be expended by the Government they must be voted by Parliament.

This Is Rich Reasoning.

Estimates are laid before the House, which deal with these proposals with very considerable detail. These moneys must be voted item by item. Every item of importance passes under review of the whole House. There is ample opportunity for discussion and for action. We have a vigorous Opposition, including many gentlemen of recognized ability, who certainly have no desire to let the Government make improper appropriations without protest. It is not too much to say that, if our Opposition friends really believed that our proposed expenditures were unnecessary, or improper, they would have manifested their want of confidence by challenging any proposals to which exception is taken, and placing on record by vote in Parliament their protest against them.

How About the Last Batch?

Now they say we have been voting some $50,000,000 or $60,000,000 for this year. But much of this vast sum has been specifically challenged in Parliament and protested against by vote? Surely it would be supposed by those who have read the Conservative criticisms that the Opposition must have repeatedly moved against these appropriations and recorded their votes against them. But is this the fact?

Oh, Oh!

Turn to the journals of the House of Commons and you will find that out of all these many millions that are constantly talked about, only three or four small items, aggregating the comparatively small sum of about $32,000, were challenged in Parliament by vote of the Opposition. I think this very clearly shows that our friends of the other side, while they are willing to talk in a general way about increased expenditure, fully realize that each one of these appropriations was necessary and proper, and therefore they were not prepared to record their votes against them.

Banging at the Conservatives.

The expense of a business house should have some regard to the volume of business done. So in the case of a nation. I find that under Conservative administration, for a number of years the expenditure of the Government chargeable to consolidated fund ranged from 15 per cent. to 18 per cent. of the total trade of the country. Last year our expenditure chargeable to similar account was less than 13 per cent. of the total trade of the country. Thus it will be seen that while the total expenditure of the Government is increasing, it is only because Canada is doing much more business than ever before.

The Debt Increases.

I desire to invite your attention now to the question of the increase in the public debt. It is a common cry among the Opposition that there has been an enormous increase in the public debt under Liberal administration. No attempt has ever been made to justify this by facts and figures. The statement is made in a general way, and I have no doubt that many Conservative and possibly some Liberals have been led to believe that the charge is well founded. But, as a matter of fact, the increase in the public debt of Canada under Liberal administration has been quite moderate. Indeed, when we remember the liberal manner in which all the public services have been sustained, and great public works that have been undertaken, the only wonder is that the increase is so small.

The Increases Compared.

The net debt of Canada increased from 1878 to 1896 to the extent of $118,000,000, showing an average increase of $6,500,000 per annum for the whole of the 18 years. During the three years from 1896 to 1899, the net debt increased to the extent of a little over seven and three-quarters million dollars, making an average annual increase of $2,500,000 under Liberal rule, against an average annual increase of $6,500,000 under Conservative rule. But this statement, favorable as it is to the present Administration, does not tell the whole of the story. The expenditures of the past three years, which have produced this moderate increase in the public debt, include large sums which have been paid out not for obligations of the present Government but for obligations arising before the Government came into power. We have paid out on capital and revenue account over $1,300,000 for debts incurred by the late Government. In the Militia Department alone we had to provide $685,000; for arrears in the Postoffice Department we had to provide about half a million dollars to meet an old claim of the Province of Manitoba. These, with other items of a smaller character, make up a sum of $2,657,000 which we have had to pay in discharge of obligations due by Canada under the late Government. In the face of such facts and figures as these, we should hear nothing more about the increase in the public debt under the present Administration. Under the old Government the debt increased by leaps and bounds; under the present Administration the increase of debt has been remarkably small.

Revision of the Tariff.

In the addresses presented to me to-night, reference was made to the question of revision of the tariff. Perhaps no more important question ever arose in our Canadian politics. Our opponents no doubt would have been well pleased if we had entered upon that subject in a hasty and ill-considered manner, but the Government appreciated from the beginning the necessity of prudence, of caution, of moderation. One of the evils of a high tariff system is that there is a tendency on the part of manufacturers and others directly interested to rely too much on tariff advantages.

The Liberals Held—Conservative Policy.

The Liberals held that the business of the country generally, and even the permanent interests of the manufacturers, might prosper more under a lower tariff. Many men in the country were slow to learn this lesson. They feared the consequence of tariff change, and the various business interests of the country were so interwoven that if a rash policy had been adopted a business panic might have ensued. It was necessary to let the country understand that the Government appreciated the gravity of the situation and were prepared to deal with the whole subject in a sensible way.

A Careful Enquiry.

A careful enquiry was made by the Tariff Commission. Every representation that was entitled to any weight received the fairest consideration. Business men were made to understand that, while moving forward in the right direction, the Government were determined to give no just cause for alarm to the business world. The tariff measure was so prepared that, while in part it would take effect at once, in part it would come into operation at a later day. Thus the country was prepared for well-considered changes, and the work of tariff revision was carried out with complete success. The business of Canada went on as before, but much faster. Confidence was established, the burdens of industry were lightened, trade and commerce flourished, every interest in Canada began to prosper. The very manufacturers who were supposed to be specially selected for ruin found their business improving.

What About Sugar?

The duties on many of the articles in common use were indeed "cut unsparingly." The reduction of the rate of taxation on goods imported was in itself a very considerable sum, but the important fact to bear in mind is that manufacturers everywhere in Canada readjusted their prices to meet the altered conditions, and thus the public obtained the benefit of a reduction not only on the articles imported but on the price of similar articles when manufactured at home.

Mr. Fielding closed by referring to the reduction of the postage rate, and complimented Mr. Mulock, and incidentally the Government.

Other speakers at the banquet were: Premier Murray, Sir Louis Davies, Hon. A. G. Blair and Attorney-General Longley.

Little Troubles.

Getting Acquainted.

A Ravenswood man tells this story about a friend of his whose business takes him away from home frequently:

For the last month or so he has had a respite, and his neighbors have noticed the unusual length of his visit to his own house. One of them asked him recently if he had got pretty well acquainted with the members of his family.

"I think I am making an impression," he responded. "My little girl went to her mother the other day and said, 'That man who comes here sometimes spanked me today.'"—Chicago News.

Hutch in the Rossin House Drug Store

Thanks to the very high standard our Canadian Government demands in pharmacy, the druggists who practise in this country are an exceptionally gifted set of men and have anatomy, materia medica, etc., at their finger tips. Toronto is especially fortunate in this respect, and among those whose name is a synonym for rigid purity, and only the best in drugs, is George Harbottle, the proprietor of the Rossin House Drug Store. Mr. Harbottle was chatting with several friends the other night, and expressed some pretty outspoken views on Hutch. "Hutch," said he, in his terse, vigorous style, "is to my mind a perfect treatment for dyspepsia. It is quick, you don't have to wait an hour to be relieved from pain, and it is ultimately beneficial. We have several people who claim to be cured by Hutch after every other treatment has been tried by them. Everybody is taking Hutch, and some of our high civic notabilities are among its warmest friends. Hutch cures. When I have an efficaceous remedy I recommend it. I recommend Hutch every time."

CONCENTRATION

You can fire a volley of advertising at the whole city of Belleville through THE INTELLIGENCER—reaching the homes every evening.

INTELLIGENCER advertising is the main force in covering the city. This main force is necessary to success on the Belleville field—other media acting as the scattering shots of the skirmishers—useful, perhaps, but not absolutely necessary.

A concentration of force wins success.

THE INTELLIGENCER is the advertising medium of Belleville, because everybody knows it is.

The people have chosen their advertising medium—so that one cost will cover the field.

To reach the country as well as the city use the Weekly INTELLIGENCER.

For coughs, colds, bronchitis and all lung and throat troubles, there is no preparation r medicine can compare with Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which causes difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relief to that depressing tightness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and huskiness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous. If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety, trouble and expense, let them procure a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the Syrup according to directions

At Death s Door—Dyspepsia Conquered. A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I ould not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. Totally Deaf.—Mr. S. E. Crandell, Port Perry, writes—"I contracted a severe cold last winter, which resulted in my becoming totally deaf in one ear and partially so in the other. After trying various remedies, and consulting several doctors, without obtain any relief, I was advised to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

EAST BUFFALO CATTLE MARKET.

East Buffalo, Nov. 28.—Cattle—There were about 12 loads which were left over from Monday, and they were principally medium weights. The demand for good butcher cattle was fair considering the fact that this is poultry week. There was no particular demand for medium weights. Sheep and Lambs—There were about 20 loads, including 13 loads of Canada lambs. There was a fair trade at full yesterday's figures to a shade higher. Choice to extra native lambs were quotable, $5.15 to $5.40; good to choice, $4.85 to $5.15; common to fair, $4 to $4.50. Sheep, choice to extra, $4.15 to $4.40; good to choice, $3.75 to $4.15; common to fair, $2.50 to $3.50; Canadian lambs, choice to extra, $5.25 to $5.50. There was a fair clearance and a steady close.

ITALY HAS A BIG SURPLUS.

Revenue Was 42,000,000 Lire More Than Ministry Expected.

Rome, Nov. 29.—Dr. Bacelli, Minister of the Treasury, presented his financial statement in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday. He said the budget of 1898-99 closed with a surplus of over 15,000,000 lire, owing almost entirely to the increased revenue, exceeding the estimates by 42,000,000 lire. The expenditure exceeded the estimates by 27,000,000 lire. The increase of revenue was a sure indication of the notable revival in the economic conditions of the country. The anticipated budget for 1899-1900 would show a deficit of 11,500,000 lire, although possibly this would be covered if the increased receipts continued.

KIMBERLEY SAFE ON NOV. 23.

Gen. Forestier-Walker Then Said Health of Garrison Was Good.

More Details Concerning the Victory at Enslin, as Gras Pan Is Officially Called—The Ninth Lancers Were Forced to Retreat—Mr. A. J. Balfour Defends the War Policy—Difficulties of Great Britain.

London, Nov. 29.—(5 a.m.)—Virtually the only fresh news from the front is contained in the despatches of Gen. Forestier-Walker, to the War Office. The cables continue silent, presumably because of Gen. Buller's desire to prevent leakage regarding important movements now being carried on. It seems clear, however, that Lord Methuen is continuing to advance rapidly, and that, finding the railway much damaged, he left it behind him. When telegraphic communication is resumed, it is quite possible that news may come of four simultaneous battles—at Modder River, Arundel, Stormberg and Colenso. As the Boers, according to Gen. Forestier-Walker's advices, were leaving Kimberley for the south, it is regarded as not impossible that Col. Kekewich is already marching with 2000 troops to meet Lord Methuen. It is believed that after the relief of Kimberley, Lord Methuen will preceed to the relief of Mafeking, about which considerable anxiety is still felt.

Lieut.-Gen. Sir Charles Mansfield Clarke, it is reported, will be the commander of the sixth division.

The latest phase of the mobilization of the reserves has proved as satisfactory as had former calls. Out of 9786 men summoned, 9553 have rejoined the colors.

FROM KIMBERLEY ON NOV. 23.

Unimportant Skirmishes—Cronje and 3,000 Men Marching South.

London, Nov. 28.—Gen. Forestier-Walker sent the following despatch, dated Cape Town to-day, to the War Office:

"Kekewich reports from Kimberley: From Nov. 18 to Nov. 23, some unimportant skirmishes with the Boers. Wounded: Capt. Bodley, Lieut. Hawker and three troopers, all doing well. The health of the garrison is good and the water supply plentiful.

"Native reports to Kekewich state that the enemy's camps to the south of Kimberley have been vacated, and that Cronje, with 3000 Boers, is marching to the south. The Boers are disappearing from the vicinity of Kimberley. The enemy seems restless.

"The railway line was repaired to a point six miles north of Gras Pan Sunday, and the telegraph was reopened to within eight miles of Modder River, or 33 miles from Kimberley.

Enemy Retires From Gatacre's Forces.

"Later—Gatacre occupied Bushman's Hoek yesterday with a battalion of infantry. His main body is at Putter's Kraal. The enemy retired toward Molteno."

More Transports at Cape Town.

London, Nov. 29.—The transports Scot, with 33 officers and 1086 men, and the Bavarian, with 83 officers and 2810 men, arrived at Cape Town Tuesday.

CRONJE WAS WITH THE BOERS.

Owing to the Severe Fire the Lancers Were Forced to Retire.

London, Nov. 29.—A despatch from Orange River, dated Monday, Nov. 27, describing the battle of Enslin, says:

"The Boers successfully retreated. The Lancers attempted to intercept and reach them, but a severe fire opened from a hill forced the Lancers to retreat. General Cronje was with the Boers.

"Among the Boer prisoners are Alderman Jeppe and Commandant Rossik, who led the Boer force. Many of the Boers voluntarily surrendered.

"The Boers were shelled during the retreat, and must have lost heavily, but they succeeded in getting away northward with their six guns. The British were badly in need of more cavalry.

"The bulk of the fighting was on Free State territory, and the engagement was admirably planned. Thirty Boer wounded are under treatment here. At the close of the action Lord Methuen complimented the Naval Brigade upon their splendid behavior, and expressed his regret at their losses."

STRIKE VIGOROUS BLOWS.

Orders of Presidents Kruger and Steyn to the Boer Generals.

Berlin, Nov. 28.—The Duetsch Zeitung publishes the following despatch, dated Pretoria, Nov. 27, received through Boer diplomatic channels:

"President Kruger and President Steyn have instructed Gen. Joubert and Gen. Cronje not to split their forces into small detachments, but to strike vigorous blows. Gen. Joubert has three corps, one holding Ladysmith, the second commanding the Tugela and the third east of Estcourt, in order to cut off the British retreat. Gen. Cronje's forces are divided into three contingents, one at Kimberley, another at Modder River and the third in the rear of Gen. Methuen."

ALL WELL AT LADYSMITH.

Gen. Joubert Makes a Satisfactory Explanation About Firing on a Red Cross Flag.

London, Nov. 28.—The War Office has received the following despatch from General Buller, dated Pietermaritzburg, Natal, Nov. 28:

"Our last news from Ladysmith, Nov. 24, said all well.

"An old message, dated Nov. 19, just arrived, begins: 'Joubert has explained firing on one Red Cross flag, previously reported. Have accepted explanation as satisfactory.

"'Lieut. Lethbridge, Rifle Brigade, died of wounds; others wounded generally doing well. Health of troops good. Six wounded Dublin Fusiliers captured on armored train south of Colenso sent here to-day.'"

THE BATTLE OF ENSLIN.

General Buller Gives a Further List of Casualties at Gras Pan.

London, Nov. 28.—The War Office has received from General Buller a list of the casualties at the battle of Enslin, on Nov. 25. It shows that among the wounded of the Second Yorkshire Light Infantry were Captain C. A. Yates, Lieut. H. C. Fernyhough and Lieut. C. H. Ackroyd.

The casualties among the non-commissioned officers and men of the various regiments engaged were: Killed, 10; wounded, 71; missing, 9.

More Casualties.

London, Nov. 28.—The casualties in the reconnaissance of the armored train Friday, Nov. 24, were:

Killed—Lieut. F. Owen-Lewis, Bombay Infantry, and one private. Wounded—One.

In the reconnaissance of Sunday, Nov. 26: Ninth Lancers, wounded, Lieut. J. G. Sterling and one trooper.

Further News From Gen. Buller—Ninth Lancers Are All Right.

London, Nov. 28.—A despatch has been received here from Gen. Buller, giving a list of the casualties among the troops engaged in what has been known here as the battle of Gras Pan, but which is now officially designated the battle of Enslin. It proves that the British success was heavily bought. The losses announced today, added to the naval brigade casualties previously noted, make a grand total of 198 as the cost of Gen. Methuen's second battle. The Yorkshires apparently bore, with the naval brigade, the brunt of the fighting, as there were, in addition to three officers, 48 of the rank and file killed, wounded and missing.

Ninth Lancers All Right.

The fact that the list contains the casualties of the 9th Lancers seems to dispose of the fears that the cavalry was surrounded and captured, especially as none of the Lancers are reported missing.

THE CASE OF PRESIDENT WEIR.

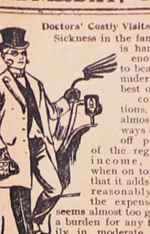

Mr. McMaster Moves for a Reserve Case—Decision About Dec. 6.

Montreal, Nov. 29.—Yesterday morning at the opening of the Court of Queen's Bench, Mr. Donald MacMaster, Q.C., appeared for Mr. Wm. Weir, and moved for a reserved case, citing his reasons for such.

Judge Wurtele said he had to attend his brother's funeral at River David, and then attend the Court of Appeal at Quebec, consequently a decision would be given in this case about Dec. 6. Mr. Weir's bonds for $20,000 were renewed.

Hessian Fly in Indiana Wheat.

Crawfordsville, Ind., Nov. 29.—The Hessian fly has made its appearance in the wheat of Indiana, and a failure even more pronounced than that of the season of 1899 seems imminent for next year.

Doctors' Costly Visits.

Sickness in the family is hard enough to bear under the best of conditions. It almost always cuts off part of the regular income, and when on top of that it adds unreasonably to the expense it seems almost too great a burden for any family in moderate circumstances to endure. But there is a way to avoid most of these unnecessary expenses besides preventing a great deal of the sickness itself.

"Doctor's visits come high," says Mrs. Bela F. Howard, of Glen Ellen, Sonoma Co., Cal. "I have been in this place sixteen years and have only had a doctor once in my family since that time, thanks to Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser and his medicines. This book saves doctor's visits. I cannot do without it in the house. I have had two copies but cannot keep them. Enclosed I send one-cent stamps for another copy." Another lady, Mrs. Jennie Warren, of Clifton, Graham Co., Arizona, says "With pleasure I write to you again to let you know that I feel as well and strong as I ever did. With your kind and good advice and Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription I have been entirely cured I thank you a thousand times for your good advice. I think that if every person who is sick in any way will write to you for advice and will take the medicine you prescribe, according to directions, no other doctor's services will be needed."

The great thousand-page Medical Adviser will be sent free paper-bound for 31 one-cent stamps to pay the cost of customs and mailing only; or in cloth-binding 50 stamps. Address R. V. Pierce, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y. He will send professional advice (in a plain sealed envelope) free of charge. All letters are considered in sacred privacy, and never published except by the writer's permission.

BALFOUR DEF[illegible]

London, Nov. 28.—[illegible]aur J. Balfour, the Government leader [illegible] the House of Commons, addressing the National Conservative Conference at Dewsbury to-day, repelled the charge that the Government's motive in the war in South Africa was the acquisition of the gold fields.

He asked if, during the last 100 years, any British statesman had favored taxing the colonies for the benefit of the Mother Country. Britishers were now sacrificing the lives of those dearest to them, he asserted, for the sake of the security and honor of the Empire. The first acts of the drama were being played in Cape Colony and Natal, but the denouement would be played, he trusted, in dominions not now subject to the Crown.

Why the Boers Declared War.

"I have now come to the conclusion," he said, "that the declaration of war by the Transvaal and the Free State was not any despairing struggle for liberty, but a bold bid for Empire, a bid to make themselves the nucleus of a Dutch-speaking paramount power in South Africa, and to exclude for ever the hated Britisher from a dominating influence in that part of the world. These people have risked their all upon the stake of war, and it is incredible that such a risk would be run merely to prevent the Uitlander getting a vote. Their dream may be madness, but it is intelligent madness, when we consider the whole situation and the military difficulties that beset Great Britain in a South African campaign. They have also vainly courted the party system, and another reason may be found in their profound contempt for British arms."

Bravery of the Troops.

Passing to a high eulogy of the "brilliant bravery of our troops, the courage, patriotism and endurance" of the small colony of Natal, so transcendently displayed, and the "patriotic spirit of the colonies generally," he continued, "Last, but not least, may we not on this occasion express our thanks to American relatives, who have done all that is possible in a case like this, namely have provided and equipped the Maine, not only in the interest of humanity but, as I well believe, to show sympathy for those engaged in this great fight."

In the course of an eloquent peroration, in which he said that he was not entitled to lift [illegible] veil hiding the future, Mr. Balfour e[illegible]d confidence that an era of peace, [illegible] [illegible]ity and freedom would follow, "[illegible]rk struggles."

A TERRIBLE VOYAGE.

Sufferings of Uncle Sam's Soldiers on Board the Transport Manuense Bound For Manila.

Manila, Nov. 29.—The transport Manuense, from San Francisco, Oct. 26, with Lieut.-Col. Webb Hayes and three companies of the 31st Infantry, has arrived here. She narrowly escaped disaster. The officers and soldiers were for 12 days bailing with buckets. The vessel was unseaworthy, undermanned and short of provisions. Her engines broke down and she rolled three days in a typhoon.

When the Manuense anchored in Manila Bay this morning 33 days from San Francisco, there were several feet of water in the hold, and 400 grimy, greasy, hungry, exhausted soldiers and sailors who had been passing buckets of water since Nov. 17, day and night. First Assistant engineer Dundeavy was under arrest, and, according to Col. Webb Hayes' official report, the chief officer would also have been under arrest had there been any one to replace him. The colonel's report also declares that the captain of the vessel told him that the only thing which brought them through was the fact that the men were greenhorns and failed to realize their danger, while experienced seamen would have deserted the ship and taken to the boats in mid-ocean.

It is asserted that during the last week of the voyage the men lived almost entirely on whiskey, beer, and hard tack. The officers and soldiers were utterly exhausted when they reached Manila. They declare the engineers were grossly incompetent. The officers also say that the behavior of the troops was beyond praise. For days they worked in the dark, suffocating hold with water sometimes up to their shoulders, and planks washing about in a manner dangerous to life and limb. The officers took the lead in bailing and encouraged the men.

Horses and Mules Pounded to Death.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 29.—With a cargo of dying horses and mules and 55 empty stalls, the United States transport Victoria returned to port late last night, having been forced by an unprecedented stress of weather off Cape Flattery, to turn back from her voyage to the Philippines. Of the 410 horses and mules carried by the Victoria, 55 were literally pounded to death against the sides of their stalls in the storm and the remaining animals are so badly bruised that the [illegible]als of the vessel believe t[illegible] [illegible] of them cannot be saved. T[illegible] [illegible]ia sailed for the Philippin[illegible] [illegible]23.

STATUS OF SAMOA QUESTION

Report That a Hitch Had Occured Stated to Be Misleading.

Merely a Matter of the Grammatical Wording—Some Slight Changes Will Be Made and the Agreement Will Then Go Through—Presumed That the German Understanding With the U.S. Is in a Similar Plight.

London, Nov. 29.—It is officially reported that the statement that the United States has rejected the agreement between Great Britain and Germany regarding Samoa, and has submitted a new draft of an agreement, is misleading. A representative of the Associated Press has been informed that the exact status of the Samoan question is as follows:

Consequent upon the signing of the Samoan treaty between Germany and Great Britain, to which the United States had signified its assent, there was drawn up a new form of agreement between Great Britain and the United States. This was necessitated by the new order of things, but in no wise affected the validity of the German-British agreement, which included spheres of influence in Africa, and other matters entirely foreign to American interests. The statement that the agreement had been rejected is based, according to the British officials, entirely upon the suggestions made by the United States of a change in the wording of the draft of the agreement between herself and Great Britain. These changes are entirely grammatical, and will be acceded to. That the United States submitted a new treaty affecting the three powers concerned is emphatically denied, as the United States, though consulted, was not a signatory to the British-German treaty. It is presumed that the United States has pending with Germany an agreement similar to that with Great Britain. But in relation to the draft over which differences as to the wording arose Germany has no concern. The Foreign Office expresses entire satisfaction with the progress of the negotiations, and it is said officially that there is apparently no danger of any hitch.

THE GERMAN ROYAL GUESTS

London, Nov. 29.—The Emperor and Empress of Germany left Sandringham to-day and took a train at Wolferton for Port Victoria at 10 o'clock. The Prince and Princess of Wales, the Duke and Duchess of York, the Duke of Cambridge and other members of the royal family preceded Their Majesties to the railway station, the approaches to which were lined by crowds of people, assembled from the surrounding country. After Their Majesties had entered the train the Prince and Princess of Wales stood at the door of the carriage, repeating their farewells. They embraced the Emperor, and Empress and the train moved off amid the acclamations of the officials and villagers.

At Port Victoria.

Port Victoria, Nov. 29.—The Emperor and Empress of Germany arrived here at 1.36. The Duke of York escorted the Empress on board the Hohenzollern, followed by the Emperor and his suite. LAW SUI'S GALORE

A writ has been issued at the instance of Mr. A. E. Philp, of Brandon, Man., against Sir Charles Tupper, claiming $20,000, charging that gentleman with slander and defamation of character, as the result of statements made in his speech in Brandon. Mr. Philp wrote Sir Charles while in Brandon, stating that what he had said about him was false, and asking him to call at his office and learn the truth of the matter. This Sir Charles declined to do. The statements objected to were to the effect that Mr. Philp had taken whiskey into the Yukon in violation of the existing regulations, and had peddled the authority from the Government to do this, offering it for $3,000. The writ was served on Sir Charles' arrival in Winnipeg, the Hon. gentleman laughed, and intimated that Mr. Philp might fire away.

To make things lively, Sir Charles, at a meeting in Virden, Man., after devoting some time to vigorous criticism of the Winnipeg Free Press, said he would enter a libel suit against that paper if it did not retract certain statements.

Sir Charles has, in the past, compelled Grit papers to withdraw and apologize for statements and charges which they made in reference to and against him.

A Guaranteed Asthma Cure.

Clarke's Kola Compound Cures.

Some years ago this would have been considered an impossibility, but Dr. Clarke has solved the problem since completing his experiments with the wonderful Kola plant in England. In December, 1895, he found that by combining extracts from the Kola with other extracts made from the Grendano plant, which grows in California, that the compound would cure the severest cases of asthma. Upon experimenting in one of the leading London hospitals he found that 95 per cent. of the cases were cured in from 60 to 90 days' treatment. Since the introduction of this remedy into Canada in 1895 there have been over 800 cases cured in Canada alone. Mr. R. N. Hume, C.P.R. engineer, Western Division, writes: "I have been a great sufferer from asthma in its worst form for over twelve years, and never succeeded in getting anything to help me permanently until the C. P.R. doctor prescribed Clarke's Kola Compound for me in December, 1895, when two bottles entirely cured me; at least I have not since had any return of the asthma. I am personally acquainted with at least six persons who have been cured from asthma by Clarke's Kola Compound, and feel it my duty to recommend it to all who may be troubled with this disease."

Three bottles are absolutely guaranteed to cure. A free sample bottle will be sent to any person troubled with asthma.

TWO FINE SPECIMENS

Of Physical Manhood.

No form of athletic exercise demands such perfect physical condition as prize fighting. Every muscle in the body must be fully developed and supple, and the heart, lungs and stomach must act to perfection.

Whether we endorse prize-fighting or not, it is nevertheless interesting to know the manner by which men arrive at such physical perfection.

James Jefferies, the present champion heavy weight of the world, and his gallant opponent, Tom Sharkey, in the greatest pugilistic encounter that has ever taken place, both pursued much the same course of training and the first and most important part of this training was to get the stomach in condition, and to keep the digestion absolutely perfect, so that every muscle and nerve would be at its highest capabilities.

This was not done by a secret patent medicine, but both of these great pugilists used a well known natural digestive tablet sold by druggists under name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and composed of the digestive ferments which every stomach requires for healthy digestion.

Champion Jefferies says: "Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets prevent acidity, strengthen the stomach and insure perfect digestion. They keep a man in fine physical condition." Signed, James J. Jefferies, champion of the world.

The gallant fighter, Sharkey, says: "Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets remove all discomfort after eating. They rest the stomach and restore it to a healthful condition, I heartily recommend them." Signed, Thos. J. Sharkey.

The advantage of the daily use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is that they keep people well and ward off sickness and are equally valuable to well persons as to the dyspeptics. Another advantage is that these tablets contain no cathartics, or poisons of any character, but simply digestive ferments which are found in every healthy stomach, and when digestion is imperfect it is because the stomach lacks some of these elements and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets supply it.

They are no cheap cathartic, but a perfectly safe and efficient digestive and the demand for them is greater than the sale of all other so-called dyspepsia cures combined. No remedy could possibly reach such a place in public esteem except as the result of positive merit.

Full sized packages are sold by all druggists at 50 cents and the best habit you can possibly form is to take a Stuart Tablet after each meal. They make weak stomachs strong and keep strong stomachs vigorous.

HOW IS THIS, MR. COLLINS?

A Correspondent Unfolds a Tale of Curious Doings on the C. O. Railway.

To the Editor of The Intelligencer.

Dear Sir.—On Friday last, just as the C.O.R. mail train (late as usual) had started out of this station, I noticed the attention of the train conductor being called to a young lumberman some three hundred yards away making frantic efforts to reach the train. The conductor considerately pulled the bell rope, the steam whistle shrieked and the brake chains creaked until the train was brought to a standstill, thus enabling the belated woodsman to get on board. This incident following closely on one of an entirely dissimilar character, which occurred here on Monday, the 20th inst., has caused me some reflection. On the latter date the mail train, it is needless to say, arrived at this station behind time. The mail courier here, on receipt of his mail from the train, proceeded with all despatch to make an exchange of mails with the office, nearly a mile away, while the Postal Clerk on the train, went, as was his usual custom, to get luncheon at the nearest boarding house. In twenty minutes time both the clerk and the courier had arrived within a hundred yards of the station on their return, when the train steamed out, leaving them behind. The same conductor who on Friday took such a kindly interest in the lumberman was in charge of this train, and Mr. Collins, Superintendent of the road, was also on board. Both these gentlemen were informed of the close proximity of the clerk and the mails, as the train was leaving the Station, but Mr. Collins was obdurate and stoutly refused to allow a moment's detention to pick them up.

In looking over the public accounts for last year I find that the Central Ontario Railway received some $7,000 per annum from the Post Office Department for the transportation of mail. In view of this fact, it is only reasonable to suppose that the department has a right to expect that a decent regards to its interests will be paid by the officials and employees of the road. Yet by Mr. Collins' high handed act last Monday not only was the safety of over fifty mails between Coe Hill and the compound would cure the severest cases of asthma. Upon experimenting in one of the leading London hospita's he found that 95 per cent. of the cases were cured in from 60 to 90 days' treatment. Since the introduction of this remedy into Canada in 1895 there have been over 800 cases cured in Canada alone. Mr. R. N. Hume, C.P.R. engineer, Western Division, writes: "I have been a great sufferer from asthma in its worst form for over twelve years, and never succeeded in getting anything to help me permanently until the C. TWO FINE SPECIMENS

Of Physical Manhood.

No form of athletic exercise demands such perfect physical condition as prize fighting. Every muscle in the body must be fully developed and supple, and the heart, lungs and stomach must act to perfection.

Whether we endorse prize-fighting or not, it is nevertheless interesting to know the manner by which men arrive at such physical perfection.

James Jefferies, the present champion heavy weight of the world, and his gallant opponent, Tom Sharkey, in the greatest pugilistic encounter that has ever taken place, both pursued much the same course of training and the first and most important part of this training was to get the stomach in condition, and to keep the digestion absolutely perfect, so that every muscle and nerve would be at its highest capabilities.

This was not done by a secret patent medicine, but both of these great pugilists used a well known natural digestive tablet sold by druggists under name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and composed of the digestive ferments which every stomach requires for healthy digestion.

Champion Jefferies says: "Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets prevent acidity, strengthen the stomach and insure perfect digestion. They keep a man in fine physical condition." Signed, James J. Jefferies, champion of the world.

The gallant fighter, Sharkey, says: "Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets remove all discomfort after eating. They rest the stomach and restore it to a healthful condition, I heartily recommend them." Signed, Thos. J. Sharkey.

The advantage of the daily use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is that they keep people well and ward off sickness and are equally valuable to well persons as to the dyspeptics. Another advantage is that these tablets contain no cathartics, or poisons of any character, but simply digestive ferments which are found in every healthy stomach, and when digestion is imperfect it is because the stomach lacks some of these elements and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets supply it.

They are no cheap cathartic, but a perfectly safe and efficient digestive and the demand for them is greater than the sale of all other so-called dyspepsia cures combined. No remedy could possibly reach such a place in public esteem except as the result of positive merit.

Full sized packages are sold by all druggists at 50 cents and the best habit you can possibly form is to take a Stuart Tablet after each meal. They make weak stomachs strong and keep strong stomachs vigorous.

Sensible Table Knives.

Birks' catalogue is not only a compendium of current art in jewellery, it contains much of interest to the practical house-wife. For instance it tells of hand forged Sheffield steel blade Table knives and Carvers with Xylonite handles. The common-sense of these knives is that they are made to cut, an appreciable distinction between them and the average "silver" article which is often anything but a practical cutting utensil. The Xylonite handle is better than ivory because neither hot water nor the Canadian climate will cause it to crack, yet it so accurately resembles mellowed ivory that none but an expert can say it is not ivory.

These knives are good enough to be put into sterling silver company. They cost from $4.00 to $9.00 per dozen, according to shape, the quality being the same in all.

Birks' catalogue illustrates and fully describes these v s.

THURLOW LADY BADLY INJURED.

Kicked by Vicious Horses and Her Life Now in Danger.

Mrs. Wm. McPherson, who resides with her husband and family in the second concession of Thurlow, was last evening kicked by horses to such an extent that her life is in danger. It appears that the male members of the family were absent from home and Mrs. McPherson went into the stable to attend to the horses, when one of the animals kicked her, knocking her down, and whilst prostrate another horse also kicked her, in fact both animals struck her a number of times. She was found some time afterwards assisted to the house, and a physician from the City was summoned to attend her. Upon examination it was found that she was severely injured internally, and although no bones appear to have been broken, she was badly bruised in various parts of the body. Her condition to day was such that the physician was unable to state definitely what the result would be.

A Thousand Tongues

Could not express the rapture of Annie E. Springer, of 1125 Howard st., Philadelphia, Pa., when she found that Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption had completely cured her of a hacking cough that for many years had made life a burden. All other remedies and doctors could give her no help, but she says of this Royal Cure—"It con removed the pain in my chest and I can now sleep soundly, something I can scarcely remember doing before. I feel like sounding its praises throughout the Universe." So will everyone who tries Dr. King's New Discovery for any trouble of the throat, chest or lungs. Price 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottles free at J. S. McKeown's Drug Store; every bottle guaranteed.

BEN. L. HARGROVE DEAD

A Former Well-Known Clerk in the Belleville Post Office.

The Picton Gazette in its issue of yesterday says: Mrs. J. H. Spencer, of Salmon Point, received a telegram from New York last night which stated that her brother, Benj. L. Hargrove, was dead. No particulars were received, but death must have come to him suddenly, as he was in good health when heard from a few days ago. The deceased was a son of Capt. W. H. Hargrove, of Detroit, Mich.

"Benny," as he was familiarly called, was for some months a clerk in the post office here and also at Picton. Whilst in this City he made a host of friends. Being always genial and reliable he commanded the respect of everybody. His demise will be sincerely regretted.

A Pertinent Query.

To the Editor of The Intelligencer.

Sir,—Is it not a sad sight to see the Rev. Dr. Griffith, so well known in Kingston and Brockville, and the Methodists of Quebec joining hands with Monsieur Mesler, Monsieur Macdonald and Monsieur Israel Tarte to hound out the Fox Bay Settlers from the Island of Anticosti and to compel them to go to the west. Such a proceeding as this in Ireland would be heralded all over the world, but politics, it seems, go before religion in Canada now-a-days. So much the worse. Why must these go west and the other inhabitants be allowed to remain on the island.

IN HYMEN'S BONDS.

Two Pretty Weddings in This Vicinity Yesterday and To-day.

SHACKEL—HUDGINS.

At noon to-day a quiet wedding took place on College Hill, the contracting parties being Miss Minnie L. Hudgins, daughter of the late W. G. Hudgins, and Mr. W. H. Shackel, insurance agent, of this city. The event occurred at the residence of the bride's mother and the ceremony was performed by Rev. N. Hill, pastor of the Tabernacle Church, assisted by Rev. Dr. Dyer, Principal of Albert College. After the nuptial knot had been tied the few invited friends partook of a wedding dinner. The young couple left on the afternoon train for the west and will return to the city to reside.

ARTHURS—SMITH

Mr. Alex. Arthurs, of Trenton, and Miss Mary Smith, of this City, formerly of Tyendinaga, were married in St. Thomas' Church Hall yesterday afternoon by Rev. Canon Burke. Miss Bone was bridesmaid and Mr. R. Weaver, of Trenton, was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Arthurs left for Trenton, where a reception was awaiting them at the groom's home.

The bride's dress was of fawn cloth, tailor made, and she looked very charming in a purple velvet hat. The bridesmaid was dressed in fawn cloth with a black velvet hat. The bride received a number of handsome and useful presents.

A Beautiful Toned Piano.

Mrs. Howe, organist, and Mr. Fax, choir master of John Street Presbyterian Church, say that at the entertainment given in that church last night everybody was talking about the beautiful toned piano, and several asked them what make it was and where it came from. Of course, they did not hesitate to tell that it was a Heintzman & Co., and was supplied by Mr. W. B. Riggs.

Of Course

Everybody did not have the opportunity of hearing the beautiful toned Heintzman & Co. piano supplied by Mr. W. B. Riggs, at the entertainment given in that Church last Monday evening, but everybody will have an opportunity of hearing one of these superb pianos at the 'Prentice Boys' concert on Dec. 15th in the City Hall, providing they can all get in. The way the tickets are selling in advance looks as if everybody would be there. Pay particular attention to the tone of the piano.

Afternoon Despatches.

Couldn't Stand Cold Steel.

Small Losses Through Bombardment at Ladysmith.

Gen. Hildyard's Night Attack Was too Much for the Boers—Methuen Asks for Reinforcements.

(OTHER DESPATCHES ON INSIDE PAGES.)

London, Nov. 30.—A cable was received from Gen. Buller to-day.

Railway and telegraph lines are now open from Capetown to Modder River.

Kimberley was all right on Nov. 23.

Gen. Gatacre reports that on Nov. 28 the situation was unchanged.

A despatch from Ladysmith says the Boers were beaten back with great loss on Nov. 9.

The British casualties were remarkably small.

From Nov. 9 to 25, when the messenger left Ladysmith, no attempt had been made to attack the town in force.

During the entire siege only eight men were killed by shells and in all the battles only 100 men have been killed.

A despatch from Estcourt, dated Monday, says the 12th Lancers are reported to have attacked the enemy at Weenen and inflicted a great loss on the Boers.

Boer prisoners report that Gen. Hildyard's night attack with cold steel paralyzed the Burghers, whose loss was 30 killed and over 100 wounded. They also say that their killed at Belmont was 140 and at Gras Pan 400.

Gen. Methuen has sent an urgent request for reinforcements and they have been sent to him.

Young Conservatives to Meet.

The following circular has been received by many in the city, which explains itself:

You will please attend a meeting at Alberta Hall, Friday, December 1st, 1899, at 8 p.m., to form a Liberal-Conservative Auxiliary. Bring your Conservative friends. Signed—Friend Andrews, D. Barragar, Dr. Clark, L. B. Cooper, W. A. G. Hardy, Alf. J. McCredan, Dr. McKeown, W. C. Mikel, Dr. Thompson.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING

That if the ladies want to keep their skirts clean nowadays they must raise them over two feet.

That Oom Paul has probably realized by this time what kind of a Christmas box he has coming to him.

That there is a probability of the ladies who indulge in the game of golf giving a swell dance in the near future.

That the new cry "Ross and Reform" sounds well, but say, isn't that rather rough on his predecessors, Mowat and Hardy?

That the sons of Bonnie Scotland will be full of sentiment and various other good things to-night. This is St. Andrew's day.

That some of the plum puddings which went to the Contingent may be useful after all. The artillery can use them for solid shot.

That, talking about fighting, the English soldier seems to be slightly in it, too. There were no Highlanders or Irishmen at Modder River, but the same old story was told.

That a certain Belleville newspaper man should hire a hall and give a recital. They say he can blow his own horn in more different ways than any man that ever came down the pike.

That a youngster recently got off a good thing. When told that it was only right to eat oysters in a month with an R in it, he asked if it would not be better if people only drank whiskey in a month with a W in it.

That lovers of church music will be sorry to hear of the death of Dr. Robert Lowry, who was the author of many beautiful hymns, among them "Shall we Gather at the River?" "Where is my Wandering Boy To-night?" and many others.

That a law should be enacted to punish people who start tom-fool stories in circulation. The rumor in yesterday's Toronto papers that the Sardinian was supposed to be lost made many anxious hearts in Belleville. There are sufficient grounds for anxiety without getting up any artificial ones.

That some of the Liberals in Manitoba are having a nice sociable time together. A Liberal paper in Winnipeg calls another Liberal paper a Galician, and the last named retorts by calling the first a viper. And it won't be long before the name of the whole of them will be "Dennis."

That people who take stock in weather lore will find something to interest them in the native Indian belief that the first day of December rules that month; the second day of December rules the month of January, and the third day of December rules the month of February. Keep tabs on it now, and see how it turns out.

THE WAR SUMMARY.

On Tuesday General Methuen's force, advancing along the western border of the Orange Free States to the relief of Kimberley, met and defeated the Boers at Modder River.

The engagement was the most desperate battle of the war, lasting ten hours, during which the British troops had no food or water. The enemy, 8,000 strong, with many guns, occupied a splendid position and held it with tenacity.

On the British side the whole was engaged, the artillery particularly distinguishing themselves. During the engagement Major-General Pole-Carew, bravely assisted by 300 sappers, managed to get a small detachment of the force across the river, presumably on pontoons. This indicated that the whole British force later crossed without opposition. So far as mere marching is concerned, the relieving column could reach Kimberley in two days.

It is, however, reported that a further force of the enemy is lagered at Spytfontein, about eleven miles south of Kimberley, and another hot battle may be fought at that point.

According to the Globe's special cables from the London Times, General Methuen's force is existing entirely upon fresh food, commandeered and bought as the advance proceeds.

Modder River is about twenty-five miles from Kimberley.

There is no further news from the southern border of the Orange Free State nor from Natal.

The casualty list of General Methuen's last battle had not been issued at the time of going to press, but it is expected to be the heaviest of the war.

Later despatches say that the camp at Ladysmith has been greatly strengthened, and no fears are entertained.

ELECTRIC LIGHT MATTERS.

Some Items Which Will Prove Interesting.

Something About the Price Charged in Peterboro—Technical Phrases Explained.

Without attempting to make a pun one may say that the light question is a burning question in Belleville just now, and any information in regard to it will be welcomed. As has already been pointed out, it is not fair to take the town of Napanee as a criterion, for there are three companies there, and they are cutting each other's throats, but the town of Peterboro may, we think, be safely accepted as holding a position nearly analagous to that of Belleville.

Mr. John Doyle, Chairman of the Executive Committee, wrote on Sunday night last to Mr. F. D. Mackay, of Peterboro, asking him to be good enough to forward any information relating to the electric light system in Peterboro which he thought would be of interest. Mr. Mackay very courteously replied the next day, his letter being as follows:

Nov. 27, 1899.

John Doyle, Esq., Chairman Executive Committee, Belleville, Ont.

DEAR SIR,—In reply to yours of the 27th, received this morning, I have pleasure in giving what information I have.

The charges for light in the stores are: 50 cents per lamp per month for 15 c.p., or by metre 15 cents net for 1000 Watt hours. The charge for private residences is all on a metre basis and is 10 cents net per 1000 Watt hours.

Street lamps cost the town $65 per lamp per year for the first 80 lamps, then $60 per lamp per year for all over 80. The Company pays a pole rental of $400 and their poles and wires are assessed the taxes thus paid amounting to something over $100.

The Company's franchise is for seven years and has four years yet to run.

Hoping this will give you the information you desire,

I remain, yours, etc.,
F. D. MACKAY.

It will be noted that the Peterboro contract was made about the same time as the Belleville one which the City Solicitor has declared void.

Thinking that perhaps the technical terms in Mr. Mackay's letter might not be clear to all our readers, THE INTELLIGENCER this morning took the trouble to visit a gentleman thoroughly posted in such matters, who was kind enough to state the case in plain English, as follows:

The average gas burner is a five foot one, so that 1000 feet of gas, with a five-foot burner, will last 200 hours. The charge for that in Belleville at present is $2.25. Comparing that with electricity we find that a $2.25 rate would equal 21½ cents per thousand Watt hours.

It will be remembered that at the meeting of the Executive Committee Mr. Pearson offered to supply electricity at a rate to equal gas at $1.50 per thousand feet, which would mean 14½ cents per 1000 Watt hours. Gas at $1.25 per thousand would equal electric light at 10 cents per thousand Watt hours.

Taking the electric lamp most in use in private residences or stores as a criterion to go by, it may be said in a nutshell that 1000 Watt hours will burn 18 hours.

In conversation with a gentleman thoroughly posted on electric light matters THE INTELLIGENCER had its attention called to the following points, which would be of vital interest in a new contract:

1st—As to the time of service; in some places the term night service means until midnight, other places from dark to daylight.

2nd—As to the lamp used and the quality and lighting power of same, some being only 4 candle power, some 8 candle, some 12, some 16. Very necessary that the candle power be designated.

3rd—Quality of lamps a most important consideration.

SOME PEOPLE CRITICIZE

Our selling at half price and ask why it was done and if it will be repeated.

It was done for two reasons:

One that we could advertise our sale more speedily.

Another that we clear off all of last year's goods before the arrival of our new holiday stock now en route from the foreign markets.

We were not anxious to sell largely during the hour sale else we would not have limited it to the hour you may depend, and we did not sell very largely, such is impossible during a single hour and in a rush such as we had.

Our half price sale will not be repeated this year.

Some people say, too, we are always having sales. Well, we venture to say that the prominent business houses in this city have sales ten to one one. Autumn sales, spring sales, Friday sales, remnant sales, etc., etc., and it's their own business if they have twenty to our one, we do not object. It's a year now since we have had a sale and that was when we purchased the Flower stock last autumn. But when we put on a sale we do it right, have a real sale, a satisfactory sale or none.

THE MYSTERY OF COUNT LANDRINOF.

BY FRED WHISHAW.

COPYRIGHT 1899, BY THE AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION.

"So you think badly of him. Why?"

"Ask the police," said Borofsky.

"Not I! A set of infernal rascals!" exclaimed the other. "I tell you they are 50 times worse, any one of them, than this Andre Landrinof. Now, Andre"—

"Whom you don't know," laughed Borofsky.

"Wait—I—I think I have met him under a different name. I think he is one who is or was known as Kornilof. I met him in London."

"Not in Siberia—are you sure?" Borofsky put in.

"Curse you, why do you interrupt me?" shouted the other angrily. "I tell you I know nothing of Siberia. I met this man in London—Kornilof. He lives in London owing to persecutions in this infernal country, and has lived there for years."

"Then it can't be Andre," interrupted Borofsky again, "for Andre has spent the flower of his life in the mines of Siberia, where, it is to be hoped, he still blooms and will continue to bloom until judgment day or so."

"Oh, indeed! You seem to know a great deal of this Andre!" said our guest, with tipsy dignity and scorn. "Would you be surprised to learn that he is not such a confounded fool as you suppose, and, at the present moment, is thou—thousands of miles from Siberia and has no intention of re—returning there?"

"Kornilof, that is?" suggested Borofsky.

"Yes, Kornilof, or Andre—same thing—same man. Siberia is for fools, my friend, and the sooner you go there yourself the sooner you'll be in the place that's best suited for you."

CHAPTER XVII.

ANDRE'S STUDENT VISITOR.

After this conversation Borofsky declared that he had no doubt whatever that our sham count was Andre Landrinof. But, though mother and I were quite disposed to agree with him, we could not think of any way in which this fact could be brought into connection with the mystery of father's disappearance.

Nevertheless, though we knew it not, we were now at last on the eve of more important discoveries than that of the mere identity of our guest. We were about to strike a trail and a strong one.

Among those who visited our guest, whom I shall crave permission to call Andre henceforth, since it was from this time that we became accustomed to regard him as undoubtedly father's worthless brother; among the shabby looking persons who visited Andre and held long consultations with him in the apartments set aside to his use was a student, one of that plaided and spectacled class of individuals, half famished and obviously ill nourished and poverty ridden, of whom there are many hundreds in St. Petersburg and from among whom the ranks of the disaffected are principally recruited, for the lot of the Russian student is a miserable one indeed, and it is no wonder that he is a reckless, discontented individual, only too ready to become the dupe or the accomplice of those who preach crusades against property and those who possess it. For he is not like the undergraduate of Oxford or Cambridge, passing rich upon a more or less liberal allowance from his father or his guardian. The Russian student keeps himself and pays his own fees in most cases. He gives lessons during the hours which are free of lectures, and by means of the income thus earned he gains just enough to pay his university fees and to starve handsomely on what is left over. The little student who visited Andre caused poor Borofsky an immense amount of annoyance and trouble, for he was the only one of Andre's visitors (of whom there were several) whom he had hitherto failed to track to his home, wherever that might be. Borofsky now knew the address of all the rest of the friends of our highly respectable guest. He also knew all the houses haunted by Andre himself, which were doubtless the homes of these same worthies, but the student had been too clever for Borofsky and would never allow himself to remain long enough in view to be shadowed for more than a few minutes at a time.

"He's like a will o' the wisp," Borofsky complained. "You think you've got him safe in your eye, and, batz!—he's gone—whither? Heaven knows; I don't. Yet he doesn't suspect me. He has never seen me, except in disguise, and not twice in the same. Why is he so suspicious?"

"Bad conscience," said Percy, and I've no doubt he hit the right nail on the head.

One afternoon in November Borofsky came hurriedly into the billiard room, where Percy and I were busy knocking the balls about for want of a better occupation.

"I want your help, both of you," he said. "That confounded young student is in with Andre. When he goes away, we must make another attempt to follow him. I must and will know where he goes. Will you help, both of you?"

Though I did not quite see of what use the addresses of all these rascals were to be to us, excepting as strengthening a case against Andre in the event of our requiring such evidence, I consented to help Borofsky to shadow his will o' the wisp, and so did Percy.

"Good," said Borofsky. "Now, see here. I am going to take up my stand at the corner of the palace bridge. I shall be in disguise. One of you can go toward the Liteynaya, to the right along the quay, and watch in some gateway or porch in case he goes that way. The other should wait until he hears the fellow departing. Keep this door open, and you'll hear him go down into the grand hall. I shall warn the porter to look which way he turns up or down the quay and to let you know the instant you appear. Don't lose a minute, but follow him."

Percy and I tossed up for the choice of duties, and I won. I chose that of shadowing our man from the very door. I preferred a chase to an ambush, having a strong objection to shivering in a gateway in hopes of catching sight of the quarry.

So away went Borofsky to the Dvortsovni Most, or palace bridge, and out sallied Percy to stand and shiver in his porch up Liteynaya way. I sat and read, expectant, prepared to dart forth after my quarry, like a tiger that lies and waits for the native postman just about due (as he knows) to trot through the jungle with the afternoon post; like a spider on the lookout for the fly which is audible, buzzing close at hand, but has not yet quite made up its mind to come and be eaten, and like a great many other things too numerous to specify.

At last I heard Andre's door open and shut. There were light steps running quickly down the marble stairs into the hall, the great door was open, and—and then I was up and after him.

"He's gone to the left," whispered

HARASSING THE BRITISH.

Boers Keeping Up Their Cannonade of Ladysmith.

London, Nov. 30.—The Standard publishes the following despatch from Ladysmith, dated Nov. 21: "Last Saturday I had a whole sackful of my correspondence returned to me, showing the difficulty of communication with the outside world.

"The Boers cannonade us almost daily, but there have been few casualties. Evidently the object of the enemy is to exhaust th spirits of the British troops by incessant harassing. The prospects of the British advance from the south has impelled them to redouble their efforts. They are mounting more guns, and drawing the lines of investment closer."

News From Ladysmith.

Ladysmith, Nov. 20.—(By Messenger to Mooi River.)—All are well and cheerful. The Boers are not shelling to-day, and we have no fear that they will attack the town. Our position we have made very strong with redoubts and breastworks, and we look forward confidently to the ultimate result.

CHAMBERLAIN SPEAKS.

British Would Have Earned the Contempt of Mankind If Arms Had Not Been Taken Up.

London, Nov. 29.—Addressing a meeting of 7000 people in Leicester this evening, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain devoted the greater part of a long speech to a justification of the Government's policy in South Africa, and to a refutation of the arguments of the Earl of Kimberley, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman and others.

"According to Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman," said Mr. Chamberlain, "we ought to have skulked back to our holes when Mr. Kruger refused to listen to our peaceful representations. That would have lost us South Africa, weakened our hold upon India, and earned us the contempt of mankind."

He reiterated that the war was inevitable, although doubtless Mr. Kruger would have preferred to wait until England was involved with some other power.

Referring to the conditions under which the Gladstone Government granted the convention of 1888, he denied that the grant was made because Mr. Gladstone feared a general Dutch rising.

"The real reason," he asserted, "was because the Gladstone Government believed the annexation of the Transvaal in 1877 occurred under a misapprehension by Lord Beaconsfield that a majority of the Boers desired annexation. It was afterwards proved that this was not their desire, and the annexation was cancelled."

Referring to the basis and conditions of settlement after the war, Mr. Chamberlain said: "I do not like to divide the skin before I have caught the bear. But I must insist that the Boers, by their own action, have created a clean sheet upon which we can write what we please; and I feel convinced that our loyal fellow subjects in Cape Colony and Natal would regard no solution as durable, which did not provide beyond the shadow of a doubt for the supremacy of the British flag—the only guarantee of settled peace and the only security for the just treatment of all the races of South Africa."

Canadian Hay for Africa.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 29.—The sailing of the steamer Montauk, which has been loading hay for South Africa, has been delayed a number of days, as much of the hay has failed to pass inspection. This delay not only is unsatisfactory to the British Government, as the hay is greatly needed by the cavalry in South Africa, but it is also a matter of no small expense to the Government, as the demurrage on the steamer is $250 a day. Canadian officials acting for the British Government have agreed to get the steamer Montauk at Cape Town by the first day of January, however.

THE HOME STRETCH.

Nomination Day in Manitoba and No Probable Walk-Overs—Mr. Kloepfer in South Wellington.

Winnipeg, Nov. 29.—(Special.)—To-morrow is nomination day in the Provincial contest, excepting Gimli and Dauphin, where dates have been postponed. No acclamations seem probably. James Fisher, the third candidate in Russell, is likely to retire in favor of Mullins, the Conservative.

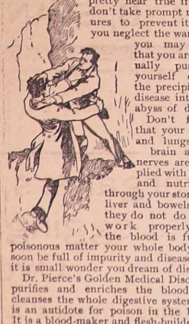

Sir Charles Tuper had a very successful meeting at Emerson.

A number of Liberals are said to have signed Hon. Hugh John Macdonald's nomination paper.

Hon. Clarke Wallace is speaking once or twice every day from now till the close of the campaign.

J. T. Gordon telegraphs to-night from Baldur, in Mr. Greenway's constituency: "If all the seats in the province are as Mountain, the Greenway Government will be wiped out of existence." Gordon is opposing Greenway.

When you dream that somebody is pushing you over a precipice it's time you looked after your stomach and liver. You may not believe in dreams but that particular sort of dream is likely to come pretty near true if you don't take prompt measures to prevent it. If you neglect the warning you may find that you are actually pushing yourself over the precipice of disease into the abyss of death. Don't forget that your heart and lungs and brain and nerves are supplied with blood and nutriment through your stomach, liver and bowels. If they do not do their work properly—if the blood is full of poisonous matter your whole body will soon be full of impurity and disease, and it is small wonder you dream of disaster.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery purifies and enriches the blood. It cleanses the whole digestive system and is an antidote for poison in the blood. It is a blood-maker and flesh-builder and is good for the nerves. It brings restful sleep and a clear head. It contains no alcohol, whisky, sugar, syrup, or dangerous opiates.

"I used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets' and have had no trouble with indigestion since," writes Mr. W. T. Thompson, of Townsend, Broadwater Co., Montana. "Words fail to tell how thankful I am for the relief, as I had suffered so much and it seemed that the doctors could do me no good. I got down in weight to 125 pounds, and was not able to work. Now I weigh nearly 160 and can do a day's work on the farm."

BLOODIEST OF THE CENTURY.

Lord Methuen's Victory Over 8,000 Boers at Modder River.

They Were Strongly Entrenched and After Desperate Fighting for Ten Hours Were Forced to Quit His Position—Message to the Queen Says the Charge Was Terrible—No Details Yet.

London, Nov. 30.—The War Office has received the following despatch from General Buller:

Cape Town, Tuesday, Nov. 28.—Gen. Methuen reports: Modder River, Tuesday, Nov. 28.—Reconnoitered at 5 a.m. enemy's position on River Modder and found them strongly entrenched and concealed.

No means of outflanking, river being full.

Action commenced with artillery, mounted infantry and cavalry at 5.30.

Attacked position in widely extended formation at 6.30, and supported by the artillery, found itself in front of the whole Boer force, 8,000 strong, with two large guns, four Krupps, etc.

The Naval Brigade received great assistance from the railway.

After desperate hard fighting, which lasted ten hours, our men, without food or water, and in the burning sun, made the enemy quit their position.

Gen. Pole-Carew was successful in getting a small party across the river gallantly, assisted by 300 sappers.

I speak in terms of high praise of the conduct of all who were engaged in one of the hardest and most trying fights in the annals of the British army. If I can mention one arm particularly, it is two batteries of artillery.

Bloodiest Battle of the Century.

London, Nov. 30.—A special despatch from Windsor says that General Methuen's despatch to the Queen after the battle of Modder River says:

"The battle was the bloodiest of the century. The British shelled the enemy out of trenches and then charged. The result was terrible."

NO DETAILS YET.

Speculation Is Useless, as No Word Has Arrived From Lord Methuen but the Above Despatch.

London, Nov. 30.—(4.30 a.m.)—Twelve hours' reflection upon Lord Methuen's brief despatch has only served to increase public anxiety and suspense. All kinds of speculation are indulged in. In the absence of any indication as to whether the Boers occupied the north or south bank of the Modder River, the best opinion inclines to the latter theory, and it is pointed out that the British must have been utterly exhausted if they could not follow up the retiring Boers and crush them as the enemy crowded over the bridge, their compulsory line of retreat.

Are the Boers South of the River?

The Morning Post's military correspondent, who has usually shown great ability, suggests that the Boers are still on the south side of the river, and that the bridge is in their hands. He points out "the great danger to the small British forces which crossed on pontoons."

Speculation is Useless.

The importance attached to this pontooning operation is proved by the fact that Gen. Pole-Carew, one of the only two brigadier-generals, was selected to superintend it. No word has since arrived, either from Lord Methuen or from Natal. Speculation, therefore, is useless. It is believed that Lord Methuen will be instantly reinforced from Cape Town by two battalions of infantry, a detachment of cavalry and a battery of artillery.

The Question of Food.

Some surprise is expressed at the fact that Lord Methuen had to fight without food or water. It seems, however, that he is not using the canned rations. He seizes and pays for fresh food. Usually he begins a march about 3 in the morning, after a breakfast of cocoa. Then he does his fighting or marching, and afterwards pitches his camp near the best water, dining when his transport arrives. Their afternoons are given over to resting. Only bare necessities are allowed.

Three Battles in Seven Days.

As one correspondent describes it, the British are fighting "an omnipresent but almost invisible foe." Unstinted admiration is everywhere expressed of the splendid work of Lord Methuen's column. With a force really inadequate, he has marched 53 miles and fought three battles within seven days.

Has Ladysmith Fallen?

While no credence is given to the rumor that Ladysmith has fallen, the scare serves to impress the public with the danger of what is still within the bounds of possibility. Such a misfortune would produce a formidable revolt among the Cape Dutch. The Daily News says: "Whatever comes, we must brace our nerves to meet it. Certainly to-day it looks as if we had before us a very stern and earnest struggle, before we see our way clear to final victory."

Times Calls for More Forces.

The Times comments upon the fact that thus far the Boers have been able to compel attacks by inadequate forces upon their well-chosen positions, while keeping the initiative in their own hands. It says: "Ample numbers are our greatest need, and the decision to send out the sixth division has certainly not been taken too soon. Now that disloyalty in Cape Colony has to be faced, even greater efforts will have to be made. The only wise course is to turn to account the somewhat bitter lessons of the last six weeks, and to employ a large factor of safety."

SARDINIAN AT CAPE TOWN.

Canadian Contingent Reaches South Africa All Well.

Montreal, Nov. 29.—A Star special cable from London says:

London, Nov. 29.—News was received this afternoon of the safe arrival at Cape Town to-day of the Allan liner Sardinian, with the Canadian contingent on board; all well.

The citizens of Cape Town had been waiting for several days for the coming of the Canadians, to show them, in common with the Australians and the detachment from New Zealand, how much the British people of South Africa recognized the importance of this outward sign of unity of the Empire in the hour of stress.

When the Sardinian was signalled from Table Mountain the popular enthusiasm became intense, and many hundreds of people made their way to the wharf to be the first to cheer the bearers of the visible helping hand from distant Canada.

Details have not yet come to hand concerning the demonstration which will be tendered to the Colonial regiments, but there is no doubt that it will prove a historical event in the history of the Empire and the world.

SORTIED FROM KIMBERLEY.

British Went Out in the Dark and Nine Boers Were Killed.

Pretoria, Monday, Nov. 27.—General Dutort reports that the British made a sortie from Kimberley early Saturday morning and fired on the Boers with artillery and infantry in the darkness. He says:

"The British sortied where the Bloemhof Boer force was stationed. On our side there were 300 men. General Dutort, who was nine miles off, hastened to the assistance of the Bloemhof Contingent with 100 men. Nine burghers were killed, 17 were wounded and there were some missing. The British left on the field a private and a sergeant.

It is reported that the British attempted to leave Kimberley on the east side to assist the troops from Belmont.

"Commandant Lubb was slightly wounded.

"The British have repaired the damage to the railroad.

"The Free Staters engaged with the British were overwhelmed by numbers and, after a brave stand, until the afternoon, we were compelled to take up another position on the other side of the railroad.

"Delary says it is impossible to give the numbers of killed and wounded Boers, but the loss is not great."

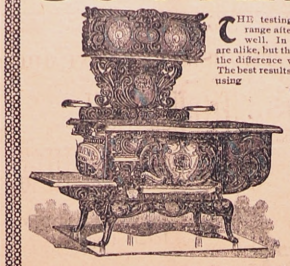

The Boers had four guns to the British 24.

The general says the Free Staters are full of courage.

London, Nov. 29.—The latter part of the Pretoria despatch from "The Free Staters" onward evidently refers to either the battle of Belmont or the battle of Enslin (Gras Pan).

Guilty of Manslaughter.

Perth, Nov. 29.—At the Assizes here the most important case was the criminal one, the Queen v. Blake. The prisoner Blake of Smith's Falls is accused of murdering his wife last September. The wife was found dead in her house last September, and the prisoner had told many citizens of Smith's Falls that he had beaten her with a club, which resulted in her death. The prisoner found deceased in bed with another man and thus the crime. Evidence was given, showing that prisoner was subject to epileptic fits. The judge's charge to the jury was favorable to a verdict of manslaughter against the prisoner. The jury, after a short deliberation, brought in a verdict of guilty of manslaughter. The prisoner was sentenced to 2½ years in the Kingston Penitentiary.

Montreal, Nov. 30.—Reverend Dr. Griffith and Mr. J. A. Cameron of Quebec and Mr. Mills of Toronto, the delegates who went to Anticosti to investigate the difficulty between the Fox Bay settlers and Mr. Menier, and to try to arrange the trouble satisfactorily, returned yesterday, after a stormy trip, during which they were compelled to take refuge at Esquimaux Point from Wednesday to Friday last, when they left for Fox Bay, which they reached the same evening, and where they remained all day Saturday. It is understood that an amicable settlement has been come to, the particulars of which will be made known later.

MONTREAL MISCREANTS.

Warrant Issued for the Arrest of Lemieux—Burglars Sentenced.

Montreal, Nov. 30.—When the case of Ferdinand Lemieux, ex-accountant of the defunct Bank Ville Marie, was called yesterday morning before Judge Wurtele, Lemieux was not on hand and his bail bonds of $20,000 were declared forfeited, and a bench warrant issued for his arrest.

This was the second trial in the series against the officials of the bank, charged with issuing a false statement of the affairs of the bank to the Dominion Government.

The four burglars who were captured by detectives in their rendezvous one night about a month ago, just after they had blown and robbed a safe in Walker & Co.'s warehouse, were sentenced yesterday. Edwards, Brennan and Rogers got ten years, while Doyle, who was with them when captured, was given three years.

PHILADELPHIA GOT A ROAST.

$3,000,000 Worth of Property in Heart of City Burned.

Philadelphia, Nov. 30.—An electric spark in the basement of Partridge & Richardson's big departmental store at Nos. 15 to 29 North Eighth street, started a fire yesterday that in less than four hours laid in ashes nearly an entire block of business houses and caused an estimated loss of over $3,000,000. The heaviest losers are J. B. Lippincott & Company, book publishers, 716 to 720 Filbert street, whose big six-story brick building contained rare and valuable plates and machinery, which was completely gutted, involving a loss estimated by a member of the firm at $2,000 000. Hundreds of men and women have been thrown out of work by the fire. All the losses are probably covered by insurance.

Mr. Kloepfer Is Their Man.

Guelph, Nov. 29.—(Special.)—A convention of the Conservatives of the riding of South Wellington was held in the City Hall here this afternoon for the purpose of nominating a candidate to represent them at the next general election. The attendance of representatives from all parts of the riding was large, notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Kloepfer, M.P., who was so triumphant in the last contest, was likely to again be the unanimous choice. The meeting was of a very enthusiastic nature throughout, and in the preliminary addresses the utmost confidence in Mr. Kloepfer as representative of the riding was expressed.

Mr. Kloefer was nominated by Mr. McGill and R. L. Torrance. The nomination was received with the utmost enthusiasm. When Mr. Kloepfer's name was presented by the chairman, the convention rose and sang lustily, "For He's a Jolly, Good Fellow," which was but a fitting tribute to the one who has so acceptably represented the riding in the Opposition of the present Liberal Administration.

Mr. Kloepfer was absent from the meeting when the nomination was made, but when informed by a deputation of his being the unanimous choice he graciously consented to be their candidate.

As he stepped forward to address the convention, he was greeted with round after round of applause. After expressing to the electors his appreciation of the honor they had conferred upon him and the confidence shown in him by again making him their candidate, Mr. Kloepfer proceeded to give an outline of his career in Parliament.

Resolutions were passed by the convention expressive of their confidence in the ability and zeal of the Hon. Sir Charles Tupper and members of the Opposition, and congratulating Mr. J. P. Whitney upon the fight he has made for better administration of the affairs of the Province of Ontario and clean election contests.

Departure of the Hohenzollern Marked by a Grand Display.

German Warship Hela as Escort—Eight British Torpedo Boat Destroyers Went 20 Miles Out With the German Vessels—Kaiser and Empress Received in a Most Cordial Manner by Queen Wilhelmina and Queen Mother.

Sheerness, Nov. 30.—The Imperial German yacht Hohenzollern, with the Emperor and Empress of Germany and their party on board, left here for Flushing at 7.50 a.m. yesterday. The Hohenzollern was escorted by the German warship Hela and eight British torpedo boat destroyers, which went 20 miles out to sea with the German ships. Guards of honor on board all the various British warships, which were covered with bunting, presented arms as the Hohenzollern steamed down the Medway. As she passed the British battleship Sanspareil, the port admiral's flagship, a royal salute was fired, the band on board the battleship played the German National Anthem and the band of the Hohenzollern replied with the British Anthem.

Then the Emperor and Empress, after affectionate farewells, entered the train in waiting and departed.

At Death s Door—Dyspepsia Conquered. A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I ould not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. MURDER AT NIAGARA FALLS.

Ugly-Tempered Italian Cuts His Wife's Jugular Vein.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Nov. 30.—A cowardly murder was committed here last evening about 6.30 o'clock. The scene of the crime was a dingy little frame building just outismmm little frame building just outside of the town limits, near the village of Drummondville.

It seems Frank Werke, an Italian laborer, about 62 years of age, lived with his wife, about 50 years age, in the above mentioned of age, in the above-mentioned place. With them iived another Italian as a boarder.

The husband spent most of his earnings in drink and would come home in this condition and abuse his wife, who was a hard-working, thrifty Italian woman, and through her economy and hard work accumulated enough to buy the little home.

It is supposed Werke came home last evening drunk and got into his usual mood of abuse on his wife, and in the altercation he struck his wife with a knife in the foreacad, inflicting two ugly gashes.

She then screamed to the boarder, "Get up, he is killing me." The man, who was in his bed asleep, jumped up and ran out to the room where the man and his wife were found, the woman standing holding a towel to the wounds in her forehead, from which blood was freely flowing. Behind her stood her fiendish husband. As soon as he saw the boarder coming to his wife's assistance the husband grabbed a large carving knife that laid on the supper table, and, with a terrific thrust, plunged it into the back of his wife's neck.

Fell Dead With a Scream.

The woman, with a scream, fell dead upon the floor, expiring in a few minutes.

Werke then turning to the man, who was completely paralyzed with the horrible scene enacted before him, said: "If any one asks you who did this, tell them I did."

Werke then hurriedly left the house. The boarder ran to give the alarm of the crime.

The couple have three grown-up children, one son and two daughters, one of the girls being married to Italian Frank, in this town.

The Italian murderer was captured on the American side by Chief Young's men and American police at 10.30 last night.

FORECAST OF THE MESSAGE.

Washington Correspondent Tells Document's Contents.

The Philippines Will Be Held—A Recommendation to Read the Report of the Philippine Commission for Reasons for This Policy—Cuba and Porto Rico Recommended to Have Civil Government Instead of Military.

New York, Nov. 30.—A forecast of the President's forthcoming message is telegraphed from Washington to the Herald. It says:

The most important feature of the message relates to the new dependencies and to the financial question. The essential features on these topics are:

Philippines to Be Held.

Sovereignty is to be established throughout all the Philippine Islands and to be permanently maintained. Civil government is to be extended throughout the islands as rapidly as possible on lines somewhat similar to the arrangements effected for the government of the Islands of Negros.

Attention is invited to the report of the Philippines commission, as to why it is impossible for the United States to part with the islands and as to the great commercial advantages in holding them.

Cuba and Porto Rico.

Attention is called to the fact that the Cuban census will not be completed till Dec. 1, and as the Spaniards have, under the treaty, until next April to decide whether they will become citizens of the island, it will not be possible until that time to hold general elections to determine upon the future government of the island. The question of annexation is therefore left open. Great stress is laid upon the improvement in the island during the year. President McKinley recommends that civil government immediately replace the military in Porto Rico, a civil governor to be appointed and a council or legislature to be elected by the people properly, and educational qualifications to be prescribed for voters.

Territorial Government in Hawaii.

As to Hawaii, the President suggests immediate legislation to put in effect a territorial form of government and the modification of the pending bills to correspond more nearly with the present government of the islands.

Trade Situation in China.

The President refers to the trade situation in China, and the verbal assurance received by this Government from powers having spheres of influence in that Empire, that American trade rights will be respected. He has requested that these verbal assurance be placed in writing.

This feature of the President's message is looked forward to with considerable interest by the diplomatic corps.

Trusts, Army and Navy.

The regulation of trusts and great commercial combinations so as to prevent the stifling of competition, but without hampering the development of American manufactures and commerce, will be urged.

The construction of an inter-oceanic waterway is again urged; three armored cruisers, three protected cruisers and 12 gunboats are asked for and also for authority for the purchase of Krupp armor; an increase of officers and men in the navy, and increase in the army to meet new conditions in connection with colonies are pointed out as necessary.

COL. BELL'S VICTORY.

It Was a Chase of the Filipinos Down the Mountains and Through the Marshes.

Manila, Nov. 30.—A despatch from the Associated Press correspondent at Namacpacan, Province of Union, dated Sunday, Nov. 26, says: The Oregon, Samara and Callao, with 160 bluejackets and marines from the Oregon, captured the Port of Vigan, Province of South Ilocos, north of here, yesterday. The Samara and Callao ran close inshore, a few shots were fired, and then the three vessels engaged in a sharp bombardment of Vigan. The firing from the shore ceased almost immediately, and the sailors and marines, with a field-piece, were landed. It is reported that 1,700 insurgents, under Generals Tino and Pilar, are massed at Tagudin, ten miles north.

Col. Bell's Victory.

At daylight, Nov. 28, troops emerged from a timbered canon upon the divide running into the rebels' advance guard west of Mangalaren, who retreated to the main body before shooting. Col. Bell, who was in advance with the scouts and one company, had the rebels in full rout before the main body of his troops arrived, and they fled down the mountain to the swamps between Mangalaren and Aguinas, leaving ten dead and many wounded, and abandoning two Nordenfeldts, one two-inch Krupps, one Maxim and one Hotchkiss. They were chased through the swamps, and thoroughly dispersed. Col. Bell captured all their artillery, supplies and clothing, many Mausers and Remingtons, some American Winchesters, and a thousand rounds of ammunition.

THE WHEELS OF LIFE.

THEY GREATLY RE-INFORCE MAN'S PHYSICAL CAPACITY.

DR. TALMAGE'S THANKSGIVING.

What the Wheel Has Done for the Domestic World, the Agricultural World, the Traveling World and the Literary World—How It Enables Man to Conquer the World.

Washington, Nov. 26.—The discourse of Dr. Talmage is a sermon of preparation for the national observance of this week and in an unusual way cal s for the gratitude of the people; the text, Eze i l x, 13, "As for the wheels, it was cried unto them in my hearing, O wheel!"

Next Thursday will, by proclamation of President and Governors, be observed in thanksgiving for temporal mercies. With what spirit shall we enter upon it? For nearly a year and a half this nation has been celebrating the triumph of sword and gun and battery. We have sung martial airs and cheered returning heroes and sounded the requiem for the slain in battle. Methinks it will be a healthful change if this Thanksgiving week, in church and homestead, we celebrate the victories of peace, for nothing was done at Santiago or Manila that was of more importance than that which in the last year has been done in farmer's field and mechanic's shop, and author's study by those who never wore an epaulet or shot a Spaniard or went a hundred miles from their own doorsill And now I call your attention to the wheel of the text.

Man, a small speck in the universe, was set down in a big world, high mountains rising before him, deep seas arresting his pathway, and wild beasts capable of his destruction, yet he was to conquer. It was not to be by physical force, for compare his arm with the ox's horn and the elephant's tusk, and how weak he is! It could not be by physical speed, for compare him to the antelope's foot and ptarmigan's wing, and how slow he is! It could not be by physical capacity to soar or plunge, for the condor beats him in one direction and the porpoise in the other. Yet he was to conquer the world. Two eyes, two hands, and two feet were insufficient. He must be re-enforced, so God sent the wheel.

In domestic life the wheel has wrought revolution. Behold the sewing machine. It has shattered the housewives' bondage and prolonged woman's life and added immeasurable advantages. The needle for ages had punctured the eyes and pierced the eyes and made terrible massacre To prepare the garments of a whole household in the spring for summer and in the autumn for winter was an exhausting process. "Stitch, stitch, stitch!" Thomas Hood set it to poetry, but millions of persons have found it agonizing prose.

Slain by the sword, we buried the hero with "Dead March in Saul," and flags at half mast. Slain by the needle, no one knew it but the household that watched her health giving away. The winter after that the children were ragged and cold and hungry or in the almshouse. The hand that wielded the needle had forgotten its cunning. Soul and body had parted at the seam. The thimble had dropped from the palsied finger. The thread of life had snapped and left a suffering human life dropped into the grave. The spool was all unwound. Her sepulcher was digged, not with sexton's spade, but with a sharper and shorter instrument—a needle.

Besides all the sewing done for the household at home, there are hundreds of thousands of sewing women. The tragedy of the needle is the tragedy of hunger and cold and insult and homesickness and suicide—five acts.

But I hear the rush of a wheel. Women puts on the band and adjusts the instrument, puts her foot on the treadle and bends. Before the whir and rattle, pleurisies, consumptions, heddaches, backaches, heartaches, ar headaches, backaches, heartaches are routed. The needle, once an oppressive tyrant, becomes a cheerful slave—roll and rumble and roar until the family wardrobe is gathered, and winter is defied, and summer is welcomed, and the ardours and severities of the seasons are overcome, winding the bobbin, threading the shuttle, tucking, quilling, ruffling, cording, embroidering, underbraiding, set to music; lock stitch, twisted hoop stitch, crochet stitch, a fascinating in entity. All honors to the memory of Alsop and Duncan and Greenough and Singer and Wilson and Grover and Wilcox for their efforts to emancipate woman from the slavery of toil! But, more than that, let there be monumental commemoration of Elias Howe, the inventor of the first complete sewing machine. What it has saved of sweat and tears God only can estimate. In the making of men's and boys' clothing in New York City in one year it saved $7,500,000, and in Massachusetts, in the making of boots and shoes, in one year it saved $7,000,000.

Secondly, I look into the agricultural world to see what the wheel has accomplished. Look at the stalks of wheat and oats, the one bread for man, the other bread for horses. Coat off and with a cradle made out of five or six fingers of wood and one of sharp steel, the harvester went across the field, stroke after stroke, perspiration rolling down forehead and cheek and chest, head blistered by the consuming sun and lip parched by the consuming August air, at noon the workmen lying half dead under the trees. One of my most painful boyhood memories is that of my father in harvest time reeling from exhaustion over the door-step, too tired to eat, pale and fainting as he sat down. The grain brought to the barn, the sheaves were unbound and spread on a thrashing floor, and two men with flails stood opposite each other, hour after hour and day after day, pounding the wheat out of the stalk. Two strokes and then a cessation of sound. Thump, thump, thump, thump, thump, thump! Pounded once, and then turned over to be pounded again, slow, very slow. The hens cackled and clucked by the door and picked up the loose grains and the horses half asleep and dozing over the mangers where the hay had been.

But hark to the buzz of wheels in the distance! The farmer has taken his throne on a reaper. He once walked; now he rides; once worked with arm of flesh, now with rod of iron. He starts at the end of the wheatfield, heads his horses to the opposite end of the field, then rides on. At the stroke of his iron chariot the gold of the grain is surrendered, the machine rolling this way and rolling that, this way and that, until the work which would have been accomplished in many days is accomplished in a few hours, the grainfield prostrate before the harvesters.

Can you imagine anything more beautiful than the sea island cotton? I take up the unmelted snow in my hand. How beautiful it is! But do you know by what painstaking and tedious toil it passed into anything like practicality? If you examined that cotton you would find it full of seeds. It was a severe process by which the seed was to be extracted from the fiber. Vast populations were leaving the south because they could not make any living out of this product. One pound of green seed cotton was all that a man could prepare in one day, but Eli Whitney, a Massachusetts Yankee, woke up, got a handful of cotton, and went to constructing a wheel for the parting of the fiber and the seed.

Teeth on cylinders, brushes on cylinders, wheels on wheels. South Carolina gave him $50,000 for his invention, and instead of one man taking a whole day to prepare a pound of cotton for the market now he may prepare three hundred weight, and the south is enriched, and the commerce of the world is revolutionized, and over 8,000,000 bales of cotton were prepared this year, enough to keep at work in this country 14,300,000 spindles, employing 270,000 hands and enlisting $281,400,000 of capital.

When I see coming forth from this cotton production and cotton manufacture enough cloth to cover the tables of a nation, and enough spool thread to sew every rent garment, and enough hoisery to warm the nation's feet, and enough cordage to fly the sails of all the shipping, and enough wadding to supply the guns of all the American sportsmen.

Thirdly, I look to see what the wheel has done for the travelling world. No one can tell how many noble and self-sacrificing inventors have been crushed between the coach wheel and the modern locomotive, between the paddle and the ocean steamer.

I will not enter into the controversy as to whether John Fitch or Robert Fulton or Thomas Somerset was the inventor of this steamboat. They all suffered and were martyrs of the wheel, and they shall be honored. John Fitch wrote:

The 21st of January, 1873, was the fatal time of bringing me into existence. I know of nothing so perplexing and vexatious to a man of feeling as a turbulent wife and steamboat building. I experienced the former and quit in season, and had I been in my right senses I should undoubtedly have treated the latter in the same manner; but, for one man to be teased with both, he must be looked upon as the most unfortunate man in the world.

Surely John Fitch was in a bad predicament. If the steamboat boiler did not blow him up, his wife would. In all ages there are those to prophesy the failure of any useful invention. You do not know what the inventors of the day suffer. When it was proposed to light London with gas, Sir Humphry Davy, the great philosopher, said that he should as soon think of cutting a slice from the moon and setting it upon a pole to light the city. Through all abuse and caricature, Fitch and Fulton went until yonder the wheel is in motion, and the Clermont, the first steamboat, is going up the North river, running the distance—hold your breath while I tell you—from New York in 32 hours. But the steamboat wheel multiplied its velocities until the Lucania of the Cunard and the Majestic of the White Star line and the Kaiser Wilhelm of the North German Lloyd line cross the Atlantic ocean in six days or less, communication between the two countries so rapid and so constant that whereas once those who had been to Europe took no airs for the rest of their mortal lives—and to me for many years the most disagreeable man I could meet was the man who had been to Europe, despising all American pictures and American music and American society because they had seen European pictures and heard European music and mingled in European society—now a transatlantic voyage is so common that a sensible man could no more boast of it than if he had been to New York or Boston.

What a difference between John Fitch's steamboat, 60 feet long, and the Oceanic, 704 feet long! The ocean wheel turns swifter and swifter, filling up the distance between the hemispheres and hastening the time spoken of in the Book of Revelation when there shall be no more sea.

While this has been doing on the water James Watt's wheel has done so much on the land. How well I remember Sanderson's stagecoach, running from New Brunswick to Easton, as he drove through Somerville, N.J., turning up to the post-office and dropping the mail bags with ten letters and two or three newspapers, Sanderson himself on the box, 6 feet 2 inches and well proportioned, long lash whip in his hand, the reins of six horses in the other, the "leaders" lathered along the lines of the traces, foam dripping from the bits!

It was the event of the day when the stage came. It was our highest ambition to become a stage driver.

Some of the boys climbed on the great leathern boot of the stage, and those of us who could not get on shouted "Cut behind!" I saw the old stage driver not long ago and I expressed to him my surprise that one around whose head I had seen a halo of glory in my boyhood time was only a man like the rest of us. Between Sanderson's stagecoach and a Chicago express train what a difference, all the great cities of the nation strung on an iron thread of railways!

See the train shove out of one of our great depots for a thousand mile journey! All aboard! Tickets clipped and baggage checked and porters attentive to every want, under tunnels dripping with dampness that never saw the light, along ledges where an inch off the track would be the difference between a hundred men living and a hundred dead, full head of steam and two men in the locomotive charged with all the responsibility of whistle and Westinghouse brake. Clank! clank! e ho the rocks. Small villages only hear the thunder and see the whirlwind as the train shoots past, a city on the wing. Thrilling, startling, sublime, magnificent spectacle—a rail train in lightning procession.

While the world has been rolling on the eight wheels of the rail car or the four wheels of the carriage or the two wheels of the gig it was not until 1876, at the Centennial exposition at Philadelphia, that the miracle of the nineteenth century rolled in—the bicycle. The world could not believe its own eye, and not until quite far on in the eighties were the continents enchanted with the whirling, flashing, dominating spectacle of a machine that was to do so much for the pleasure, the business, the health and the profit of nations. The world had needed it for 6,000 years. Man's slowness of locomotion was a mystery. Was it of more importance that the reindeer or the eagle rapidly exchanged jungles or crags than that man should get swiftly from place to place? Was the business of the [illegible] or the roebuck more urgent than that of the incarnated immortal? No. At last we have the obliteration of distance by pneumatic tire. At last we have wings. And what has this invention done for woman? The cynics and constitutional growlers would deny her this emancipation and say, "What better exercise can she have than a broom or a duster or a churn or rocking a cradle or running up and down stairs or a walk to church with a prayer book under her arm?" And they rather rejoice to find her disabled with broken pedal or punctured tire half way out to Chevy Chase or Coney Island. But all sensible people who know the tonic of fresh air and the health in deep respiration and the awakening of disused muscles and the exhilaration of velocity will rejoice that wife and mother and daughter may have this new recreation. Indeed life to so many is so hard a grind that I am glad at the arrival of any new mode of healthful recreation. We need have no anxiety about this invasion of the world's stupidity by the vivacious and laughing and jubiliant wheel, except that we always want it to roll in the right direction, towards place of business, towards good recreation, toward philanthrophy, towards usefulness, towards places of divine worship, and never towards immorality or Sabbath desecration.

Fourthly, I look into the literary world and see what the wheel has accomplished. I am more astounded with this than with anything that has preceded Behold the almost miraculous printing press! Do you not feel the ground shake with the machinery of the New York, Brooklyn, Boston, Philadelphia, Washington and western papers? Some of us remember when the hand ink roller was run over the cylinder and by great haste 800 copies of the village newspaper were issued in one day and no lives lost. But invention has crowded invention, and wheel jostled wheel, stereotyping electrotyping, taking their places. Benjamin Franklin's press giving way to the Lord Stanhope press, and the Washington press and the Victory press and the Hoe perfecting press have been set up. Together with the newspapers comes the publication of innumerable books of history, of poetry, of romance, of art, of travel, of biography, of religion, dictionaries, encyclopedias and Bibles. Some of those presses send forth the most accursed stuff, but the good predominates. Turn on with wider sweep and greater velocity, O wheel—wheel of light, wheel of civilization, wheel of Christianity, wheel of divine momentum!

And now I gather on an imaginary platform, as I literally did when I preached in Brooklyn, specimens of our American products, and it seems as if the waves of agricultural, mineralogical, pomological wealth dash to the platform, and there are four beautiful beings that walk in, and they are garlanded, and one is garlanded with wheat and blossoms of snow, and I find she is the north, and another comes in, and her brow is garlanded with rice and blossoms of magnolia, and I find she is the south, and another comes in, and I find she is garlanded with seaweed and blossoms of spray, and I find she is the east, and another comes in, and I find she is garlanded with silk of corn and radiant with California gold, and I find she is the west, and coming face to face, they take off their garlands, and they twist them together with something that looks like a wreath, but it is a wheel, the wheel of national prosperity, and I say in an outburst of Thanksgiving joy for what God has done for the north and the south and the east and the west, "O wheel!"

At different times in Europe they have tried to get a congress of kings at Berlin or at Paris or at St. Petersburg, but it has always been a failure. Only a few kings have come. But on this imaginary platform that I have built we have a convention of all the kings—King Corn, King Cotton, King Rice, King Wheat, King Oats, King Iron, King Coal, King Silver, King Gold—they all bow before the King of Kings, to whom be all the glory of this year's wonderful production.

COL. SAM AND THE MAJOR-GENERAL.

All readers of newspapers know that there was a ruction between the gallant commander of the 45th Batt. of Volunteers, Lieut.-Col. Sam Hughes, and Major-General Hutton. It was the general opinion that the cause of all the difficulty arose out of the somewhat irregular way in which the Col suggested the raising of a volunteer regiment for service in the Transvaal. There seems to have been another reason for the General's ire, which our facetious contemporary, the Bobcaygeon Independent, explains as follows:

Col. Sam Hughes sailed with the Contingent on Monday, but was in no way attached. It is a good thing for Gen. Hutton that Sam has gone. It will be better for the General if the Colonel does not return. Before leaving, Col. Hughes wrote Mr. Laurier, fully stating his reasons for demanding the resignation of the General, and when the Colonel gets back to his Parliamentary duties he will make the General understand that nothing struts on two legs that can ever give slack to a Canadian. No, sir. Col. Sam is a Canadian clean through, and from the heels up. The difference between him and the General commenced at Niagara last summer. Col. Sam had his 45th regiment of Volunteers at the Camp. The Colonel had camped before and he knew a suitable bit of ground when he saw it, so at once selected the best site for his boys. Later on, a city corps arrived and the General ordered the Colonel to move his regiment of farmers and give place to the city chaps. Not much, said Colonel Sam. My boys are as good as any on the ground. If I move, I move home. The conversation between them was not exactly according to Army rules, doncherno, and the 45th's tents remained where their Colonel placed them. Now you know why Col. Sam is not Major of the Contingent, and when you see the General's scalp hanging from the tower of the Parliament buildings next spring you will know how it came there.

A Remedy has been Discovered that will Permanently Cure Catarrh.

Japanese Catarrh Cure Cures.

This is not merely the words of the makers of this remedy, but the assertion is backed up by leading physicians and the honorable testimonies of hundreds of cured ones. And more, there is an absolute guarantee to cure in every package, or money will be refunded. We will also send a two weeks' trial quantity free to any person suffering from this dangerous disease. Japanese Catarrh Cure is a new discovery, being a prescription perfected by one of America's most successful specialists in treating this disease. It is a soothing, penetrating and healing pomade, prepared from stainless compounds of Iodine and Essential oils, to be inserted up the nostrils. The heat of the body melts it, and the very act of breathing carries it to the diseased parts. It reaches soothes and heals every part of the mucous membrane, curing invariably all forms of catarrh of the nose and throat, and all forms of catarrhal deafness. Mr. Joseph Little, the well-known mill-owner of Port Essington, B.C., writes: "Japanese Catarrh Cure completely cured me of catarrh, which had troubled me for 25 years, during which time I had spent over $1,000 on remedies and specialists in Toronto and San Francisco. About two years ago I procured six boxes of Japanese Catarrh Cure, and since completing this treatment have not felt the slightest symptoms of my former trouble. I can highly recommend it. Relief came from the first application. We always keep a supply in the mill for cuts and burns and consider it superior to any other remedy for healing."

Catarrhozone never fails to cure Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma and Hay Fever, and is warranted to cure the most chronic cases of these diseases, even after all else has failed. It cures by inhalation. No danger, no risk, pleasant to use. For sale at all druggists or direct by mail, price $1.00. For trial outfit send 10c in stamps to N. C. POLSON & CO., Box 5?7, Kingston, Ont.

A DASTARDLY DEED.

An Attempt Made to Blow up a Residence Near Bridgewater with Dynamite.

The Tweed News in its issue of this week says:

A most dastardly and partially successful attempt was made on Sunday night last about nine o'clock to blow up the residence of Fred Kellar, about three miles north west of Bridgewater. The report of the explosion was plainly heard in Bridgewater and the concussion was so great that nearly every window in the village rattled. The general belief was that the Powder Works in Tweed had exploded and it was not until the following morning that the villagers learned just what had happened. One side of Mr. Kellar's house was partly blown out as a result of the explosion and a partition inside completely demolished. Mr. and Mrs. Kellar, who were sleeping upstairs, very fortunately escaped without injury. No motive can be assigned for the commission of the act, Mr. Kellar being a quiet and inoffensive citizen.

A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver, of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in my back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately a friend advised trying 'Electric Bitters;' and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. Story of a Jack-knife.

More than 70 years ago a man owned a jack-knife, which he sold for a gallon of rum, and by retailing it by the glass made enough to buy two gallons, and by selling that he was able to increase the quantity he purchased. He got a barrel, then a cask, and at last a large stock, and having a turn for business and industry he became rich—and when he died left $80,000 to his three sons and one daughter. The daughter married a man who spent her money, and she died. The sons entered into folly and extravagance, and two died of dissipation and in poverty. The last of the family lived for many years on the charity of those who had known him in his prosperity.

He died a short time since, suddenly, in a barn, where he laid himself to take a drunken sleep. On his pockets being examined, all that was found in them was a string and a jack-knife.

So a jack-knife began and ended the fortune of that family.

This is a true story; and the father who bought and sold rum, no doubt had plenty of it in his house and on his table. In giving and recommending it to others, his sons learned to like it.

They were like the little boy who was following his father through a field of potatoes. The father several times cautioned his son not to tread on the potatoes.

At last the boy said, "Father, I am walking exactly in your footsteps."

Let every father ask himself, "Do I wish my son to walk in my footsteps?" and let every boy ask his father, "Do you wish me to walk exactly in your footsteps, father?"

The Honest Jap.

A lesson in artistic and commercial honesty comes to us from Japan, from one whom we would be quick to term a heathen. An English merchant, interviewing Oka, the great modern Japanese carver of ivories, said to him: "Why do you waste your time on carving the under part, which is never seen? You could work much quicker and make money far more rapidly if you leave that part plain." And the carver answered: "God, who gave me skill and taste, can see the under part. I dare not leave it uncarved."

That is the spirit in which the work is done in far Japan. Small wonder that it excels in beauty and individuality.
